CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF TAMIL PRINTED BOOKS, WITH INTRODUCTORY NOTICES.

COMPiled BY JOHN MURDOCH.

MADRAS:
The Christian Vernacular Education Society,
PRINTED BY CALEB FOSTER, AT THE FOSTER PRESS, 23, RUNDALL'S ROAD, VEPERY.
1865.
PREFACE.

Honest John Bunyan made the confession, "the Latin I borrowed." The compiler has to make a far more extensive acknowledgment. The idea of publishing such a Catalogue was borrowed from the Rev. J. Long; the plan has been copied from the Report of the International Statistical Congress; the Introductory Notices have been chiefly selected from the works enumerated below. The compiler’s knowledge of Tamil is so very slight, that he is incapable of forming an independent judgment of books in that language. He has, therefore, been obliged throughout to avail himself of the aid of competent Native Scholars, with occasional assistance from European friends. His work has been that of abridging materials already available, and of entering, under appropriate heads, books which he collected.

As a rule, references are given to the works from which extracts have been made. The following have been chiefly consulted, and the compiler would take his opportunity of recommending them to the attention of all who wish fuller details on many points:—

Dr. Caldwell’s Comparative Grammar of the Dravidian languages.

Article, by the Rev. H. Bower, on the Tamil Language and Literature in the Calcutta Review. Vol. XXV.

Catalogue of Oriental Manuscripts* and other works by the Rev. W. Taylor.
The Tamil Plutarch.
Ellis’s Cural.
Beschi’s Grammar of the High Dialect of Tamil.
The above refer specially to Tamil. A free use has also been made of the writings of Wilson, Max Miller, Muir, and others.

* This work in three volumes, may be obtained at Rs. 2½ each at the Government Book Depot. The Tamil books are, noticed chiefly in the Third Volume.
The compiler’s principal assistant in the preparation of the Catalogue was the Rev. S. Winfred, an excellent scholar, and himself the author of some useful Tamil works. He also derived valuable help from C. Rajagopal Pillai, Head Pundit in the Madras Government Normal School, and T. S. Condswami Iyer, in charge of the Mackenzie Manuscripts. The Pundits of Presidency College were consulted on some difficult points.

The compiler is deeply indebted to several friends for valuable aid, given with great cheerfulness. They were, indeed, “eyes to the blind.” Dr. Caldwell kindly suggested a course of Tamil reading for Missionaries, and answered several queries with respect to treatises on Philosophical Hinduism. In addition to the “borrowing” already acknowledged, the compiler obtained the loan of about a hundred volumes of Tamil works, some of them now scarce, from the library of the Rev. H. Bower, who also was a willing referee when Native Scholars differed in opinion. One of the worthiest sons of the bibliomaniac, Dr. Dibdin, the compiler has met with in India, is the Rev. C. E. Kennet. In search of a rare book, he shows the keenness of scent and tenacity of a bloodhound. Several of the most useful portions of this work were obtained from sources which he indicated. The Rev. P. Percival, and the Rev. J. P. Ashton, also kindly aided in different ways.

The primary object of the compiler in preparing this Catalogue was to aid in his immediate work. The Christian Vernacular Education Society for India, with which he is connected, issues annually nearly half a million of publications in the languages of India and Ceylon. It is evident that an acquaintance with native literature is of great importance in forming a judgment as to which books should be published.

It is hoped, that the Catalogue will also be of some use to Missionaries and others in various ways.

The following summary shows the number of works whose titles have been collected and arranged in classes:—

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class A. Religion.</th>
<th>Nos. of Works</th>
<th>Percentage on Whole</th>
<th>Totals of Classes</th>
<th>Percentage of Classes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I. Protestant Theology</td>
<td>587†</td>
<td>33.4</td>
<td>1218</td>
<td>69.4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II. Roman Catholic Theology</td>
<td>87</td>
<td>4.9</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>III. Hinduism</td>
<td>508</td>
<td>28.9</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>IV. Muhammadan</td>
<td>36</td>
<td>2.0</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Class B. Jurisprudence.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class C. Philosophy.</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I. Logic</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>III. Philosophy</td>
<td>48</td>
<td>2.7</td>
<td>50</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Class D. Science.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class E. Arts.</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I. Mechanical Arts</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>0.16</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II. Music ‡</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>0.16</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Class F. Literature.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class G. Philology.</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I. Dictionaries and Grammars</td>
<td>32</td>
<td>1.8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II. Educational Works</td>
<td>144</td>
<td>8.2</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Class H. Geography and History.*

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class I. Periodicals &amp; Newspapers.</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I. Periodicals</td>
<td>17</td>
<td>0.9</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>II. Newspapers</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>0.5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Class J. Books for Europeans studying Tamil

| | | 34 | 1.9 | 34 | 1.9 |

† Including 376 Tracts.
* Exclusive of School Books.
‡ All by Europeans.
The compiler is fully aware that the Catalogue has many defects. It was hurriedly got up when he was preparing to leave for England on account of his health. In familiar phrase, it was Hobson's choice. The sheets had to be hastily printed, and, notwithstanding every effort, he has been obliged to leave a portion of the work in rough manuscript to be set up after he has left Madras.

In the Catalogue there are many omissions. The proper title should be a "Contribution towards a Catalogue of Tamil Printed Books." There are, doubtless, also several mistakes in entries. In a great many cases copies of the works could not be obtained. If two native scholars, consulted separately, coincided in their account of a book, it was inserted under the head they mentioned. If they differed, further information was sought. It is to be expected, however, that there will be some errors. But in spite of defects, it is hoped that the Catalogue will be found useful for the present, and worth the expense of purchase.

The compiler would earnestly direct the attention of Tamilians who have received a good English education to the great desirableness of publishing a series of works illustrative of their native language and literature. Let them be assured, that so long as they despise their mother-tongue, they have merely a thin whitewash of civilization.

F. Schlegel, one of the greatest scholars in modern times, remarks as follows of his countrymen in his "History of Literature":—

"The more that national feelings and recollections were revived, the more also our love awakened for our mother-tongue. That acquaintance with foreign languages, whether dead or living, which is necessary for men of letters and fashion, was no longer associated with neglect of their vernacular speech; a neglect which is always sure to work its own revenge on those who practise it, and which can never be supposed to create any prejudice either in favour of their politeness or their erudition." Vol. I. pp. 3, 4.
The following might each form the subject of a volume:—

I. The Rise of the Saiva system in South India, notices of the principal Saiva Temples, a full list of Saiva books, with summaries of their contents, and some illustrative extracts.

II. A corresponding work on the Vaishnava System. A full account of Ramanuja is desirable. The differences between the Vadakalai and Tenkalai should be stated.

III. An account of the works on Philosophical Hinduism, with analyses of their contents and copious extracts. The differences between the Sects should be stated, and the books advocating the tenets of each should be grouped together.

IV. A complete account of the works on Astrology, Divination, and Magic. This would be valuable in several respects. It would be interesting as showing how far the eastern and western ideas corresponded. Another question is, to what extent is Mesmerism known and practised in India? In connection with this subject it may be mentioned that good service would be done by little works in Tamil, in a lively style, bantering the people on their belief in astrology, omens, &c.

V. An account of Tamil Medicine, with descriptive notices of books and select extracts.

VI. A work on Tamil Poetry. Specimens of versification should be given. In addition to descriptive notices of books, it would be interesting to give translations of passages both from Valmikis and Kamban’s Ramayana, showing the differences between the works. The Popular Songs of the country should be noticed.

Books on the above subjects, well got up would meet with a remunerative sale in India, Europe, and America, and gain some name for their authors. There are also nobler considerations. Educated Tamilians, instead of sinking into sloth, or being absorbed by mone-making, might well devote their leisure to such a cause.

Still less is known of Telugu and Canarese literature than of Tamil. Corresponding works treating of these languages would be equally useful.

Complete Descriptive Catalogues are also a desideratum. They could best be prepared when important subjects have been investigated separately. Still, better Catalogues than any now available might be got up without much difficulty.

Still more is it incumbent upon Native scholars, who have received an English education, to make known to their countrymen, through the vernaculars, some of the knowledge they have acquired. Remarks on this subject by E. B. Powell, Esq., Director of Public Instruction, addressed to the Graduates of the Madras University, deserve to be carefully pondered.

In Romanising Tamil words in this Catalogue, letters have simply been transliterated—they have not been altered to express the pronunciation. From want of accented vowels, the long sounds have not been indicated. Other classes of letters might have been represented according to the system of Max Muller; but the compiler was so pressed for time, that this could not be attended to. As the titles, where necessary, are also given in Tamil, this is of less consequence.

The following abbreviations may be explained:—

C. V. E. S. Christian Vernacular Education Society.
M. S. B. S. Madras School Book Society.
M. T. S. Madras Tract Society.
S. I. C. S. B. S. South India Christian School Book Society.
S. P. C. K. Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

* An asterisk prefixed to a title, shows that at present is out of print.

Indian Money.

12 pie = 1 anna, 1½d. 16 annas = 1 Rupee, 2 Shillings, an. = anna, as. = annas. Re = Rupee.
TABLE OF CONTENTS.

INTRODUCTION.

THE TAMIL LANGUAGE.

TAMIL LITERATURE.

STUDY OF TAMIL.

NEW TAMIL PUBLICATIONS WANTED.

UNIVERSITY AND GOVERNMENT SCHOOL TEXT-BOOKS.

TAMIL TYPOGRAPHY.
Duty of Government with respect to Vernacular Literature. - - - -
Tamil and Bengali Publications Compared Brief Notices of Tamil Authors. - - - lxiii.

Catalogue.

Class A. Religion.

Division I. Protestant Theology. - - - 1
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TABLE OF CONTENTS.</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

DIVISION II.

Roman Catholic Theology.

DIVISION III.

Hinduism.

phy, 122. Bhagavat Gita, 125. Estimate of Hindu Philosophy, 125. V. HINDU CONtroversy, 138. Sittar School, 138. Sect-tarial Disputes, 141. Vaishnavas against Saivas, 141. Saivas against Vaishnavas, 142. Disputes between Vaishnava Sects, 142. Against the Madras Brahma Samaj, 143. Against Christianity, 143. VI. Astrology, 145. Divination, 147. Magic, 149.

DIVISION IV.

Books Published by Muhammadans. 151
Introductory Remarks, 151. Religions, 152.
Ethics, 155. Tales, Battles, &c. 155.
Medicine, 156.

Class B. JURISPRUDENCE.

Law, 156. Police Regulations, &c. 157.

Class C. PHILOSOPHY.

Logic, 157. Metaphysics, 157. Moral Philosophy, 158.

Class D. SCIENCE.

I. General View, 168. II. NATURAL SCIENCE,
168. Natural Philosophy, 169. Astro-
omy, 169. Natural History, 169. III.
MEDICAL SCIENCE, 170. MATHEMATICS., 177.

Class E. ARTS.

I. Mechanical Arts, 178. II. Fine Arts, 178.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Class F. LITERATURE.

Class G. PHILOLOGY.

Class H. GEOGRAPHY & HISTORY.
Geography, 130. History, 231.

Class I. PERIODICALS & NEWSPAPERS.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Addenda</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>INDEX TO TITLES OF BOOKS.</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>241</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INTRODUCTION

TO CATALOGUE OF TAMIL PRINTED BOOKS.

THE TAMIL LANGUAGE:

Importance.—Max Muller divides all languages, exclusive of Chinese and the dialects of America and Africa, into three grammatical families—the Semitic, the Aryan, and the Turanian. The third family includes a large number of languages, spoken by nations scattered over a vast region, extending from Australia to Finland. Of all the Turanian languages Tamil is probably the most highly cultivated, and possesses the richest stores of indigenous literature. Its name signifies sweetness*, and though it has not the softness of the Telugu, "the Italian of the east," it is an harmonious tongue. "Perhaps no language," remarks the Rev. P. Percival, "combines greater force with equal brevity; and it may be asserted that no human speech is more concise and philosophic in its expression as an exponent of the mind. The sequence of things—of thought, action, and its results—is always maintained inviolate."† Dr. Caldwell thus estimates its literary stores:

"Though Tamil literature, as a whole, will not bear a comparison with Sanscrit literature as a whole, it is the only vernacular literature in India which has not been content with imitating the Sanscrit, but has honorably attempted to emulate and outshine it. In one department, at least, that of ethical epigrams, it is generally maintained, and I think must be admitted, that the Sanscrit has been outdone by the Tamil."‡

As it is only about thirty years since the Tamils

* This is the etymology according to Tamil grammarians; but Dr. Gundert derives it from Dravida, through the Canarese.
† The Land of the Veda, p. 97.
‡ Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 84.
began to print any of their classical works, many of them, as yet, are found only in manuscript, and are little known. Ample fields lie open to reward future research.

Territorial Limits.—The great plain of the Carnatic is the seat of the Tamil race. From a short distance beyond Pulicat, about 20 miles north of Madras, it stretches along the coast nearly to Trevandrum in Travancore. Westward it is bounded by the Ghats. It includes a great part of the districts of Salem and North Arcot, and the whole of the Madras, South Arcot, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, Tanjore, Madura and Tinnevelly Collectories, with South Travancore. Tamil is also the language of about half the population of Ceylon. Most of the military stations in the Dekhan and British Burmah contain Tamil communities. Tamil coolies have emigrated to Mauritius, Natal, and the West India Islands.

Including North Ceylon, the area of the Tamil country is about 58,000 square miles, the same as that of England and Wales. Tamil is the vernacular of about 12 millions.

Three Stages of Language.—Max Muller shows that originally language was monosyllabic, and every word was distinctly significant. This he terms the Radical Stage. It is best represented by ancient Chinese.

In the second stage, of two roots which coalesce to form a word, one retains its radical independence, and the other sinks down to a mere termination. This is called the Terminational or Agglutinative Stage. “The conjunction and declension can still be taken to pieces; and although the terminations have by no means always retained their significatory power as independent words, they are felt as modificatory syllables and as distinct from the roots to which they are appended.”* The root must never be changed, as in the English take, took, though the terminations, in some cases, may vary. Formerly languages of this class were grouped under the title of Scythian. Max Muller proposes the term Turanian, from tura, swiftness, expressing the wandering character of the tribes.

Science of Language, p. 297.
THE TAMIL LANGUAGE.

It is essential in Nomadic languages, that the radical portion should stand out clear to be intelligible to many, though their intercourse be but scanty.

In the third stage all the roots may coalesce or have their original distinctness blurred by phonetic corruption. This is called the Inflectional or Amalgamating Stage. It is best represented by the Semitic and Aryan families. "The difference between an Aryan and a Turanian language is somewhat the same as between good and bad Mosaic. The Aryan words seem made of one piece, the Turanian words show clearly the sutures and fissures where the small stones were cemented together."

Every inflectional language was once agglutinative, and every agglutinative language was once monosyl-labic. The three stages, to some extent, blend into each other. Some dialects of Modern Chinese show signs of agglutination; Turkish has made great advance towards inflectional forms.

Dravidian Family of Languages.—The largest number of languages probably belong to the Agglutina-tive Stage. Among them are included Australian, Japanese, Malay, Siamese, the Dravidian languages of India, Turkish, Magyar, and Finnish.

The languages of India may be divided into two great classes, the Northern, with Sanscrit as the preponderating element, and the Southern, with an independent basis.

"The colloquial languages of India," says Dr. Caldwell,
"are divided by the Sanscrit Pandits into two classes, each containing five dialects. These are denominated respectively 'the five Gauras', and 'the five Draviras.' By the Gaudi or Gaura languages are meant the 'bhashas,' or popular dialects of Northern India, at the head of which stands the Bengali, the Gaura proper......The five Dravidas or Draviras, according to the Pandits, are 'the Telinga, the Karnataka, the Maratha, the Gurjara and the Dravira, or Tamil proper. The Maratha and Gurjara are erroneously included in this enumeration. Both possess certain features of resemblance to the languages of the South, which are possibly derived from the same or a similar source; but, notwithstanding the existence of a few analogies of this nature, those two languages differ from the Dravidian family so widely and radically, and are so closely allied to the northern group, that there can be no hesitation in transferring them to that class."

"Properly speaking, the term 'Dravida' denotes the Tamil country alone (including Malayalam), and Tamil Brahmans are usually styled 'Dravida Brahmanas.' 'Dravida' means the 'country of the Dravidas;' and a Dravida is defined in the Sanscrit lexicons to be a 'man of an outcaste tribe, descended from a degraded flesh-eater.' This name was doubtless applied by the Brahmanical inhabitants of Northern India to the aborigines of the extreme South prior to the introduction amongst them of Brahmanical civilisation, and is an evidence of the low estimation in which they were originally held."

The term Dravidian, adopted by Sanskrit writers, is used to designate the Southern languages.

In addition to the Tamil, the principal Dravidian languages are the following:

Telugu.—This language, the Andra of Sanskrit writers, is spoken along the eastern coast from about Pulicat to Chicaço, where it begins to yield to the Uriya. Inland, it extends to about the middle of the Peninsula. Formerly Telugu appears to have been spoken as far north as the mouths of the Ganges. There are numerous Telugu settlers in the Tamil country and in Mysore. The Telugu language is spoken probably by fourteen millions.

Canarese.—This language, properly the Kannadi, is spoken throughout the plateau of Mysore, and northward about as far as Beder in the Nizam's Territory. It is also the prevailing language in Canara on the Western Coast. The Canarese people may be estimated at nine millions.

MALAYALAM.—This language is spoken along the Malabar Coast on the Western side of the Ghats, from about Tellicherry to Trevandrum. Dr. Caldwell supposes that the Malayalam people were originally a colony of Tamilians who entered the country by the Palghaut Gap, and thence spread northward and southward. The separation of Malayalam from Tamil evidently took place at a very early period before the Tamil was cultivated and refined. In structure Malayalam differs chiefly from Tamil in disuse of the personal terminations of the verbs. It is the vernacular of about three millions.

Tulu.—This language was once prevalent in the District of Canara, but it is now spoken only about 150,000 souls; in the neighbourhood of Mangalore: It holds a position midway between the Canarese and the Malayalam, but more resembles the former. Probably it will soon disappear.

The remaining Dravidian languages are destitute of written characters and entirely uncultivated.

The Gond.—This is the language of the rude indigenous inhabitants of the northern portion of the Central Provinces. Its chief difference from the other Dravidian dialects consists in its peculiarly elaborate and complete conjugational system.

The Ku.—The Khond, or Ku, language prevails in Goomsur, in the south-west of Orissa. The Khonds were notorious for their human sacrifices.

Dravidian dialects are also spoken by the Tudavers and Kotars on the Nilgherries. The tribe inhabiting the Rajiñatāl Hills use a language which is in the main Dravidian. "The Brahui, the language of the mountaineers in the Khanship of Kelāt in Beluchistan, contains, not only some Dravidian words, but a considerable infusion of unquestionably Dravidian forms and idioms."

The Dravidian languages, though sprung from a common origin, are not to be considered as mere provincial dialects of the same speech, but as distinct though affiliated languages. They are as distinct one from the other as the Spanish from the Portuguese, the Irish from the Welsh, the Hebrew from the Aramaic, the Hindi from the Bengali."

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 11. The whole account of the Dravidian languages is abridged from the same work.

Infusion of Sanskrit.—While the Dravidian languages have an independent origin, they have adopted, in different proportions, numerous Sanscrit words. Of the cultivated Dravidian languages, the percentage of Sanskrit words is smallest in Tamil and greatest in Malayalam. The proportion is less in Telugu than in Canarese. In Telugu about half the vocabulary consists of Sanskrit words, either pure or modified. An examination of ten pages in different parts of Winslow's Tamil Dictionary gave 40 per cent. as the proportion of Sanskrit words. Dr. Caldwell remarks:

"It is in Tamil prose compositions and in the ordinary speech of the Brahmans and the more learned Tamilians that the largest infusion of Sanscrit is contained; and the words that have been borrowed from the Sanscrit are chiefly those which express abstract ideas of philosophy, science, and religion, together with the technical terms of the more elegant arts."

In the other Dravidian tongues composition is regarded as refined in language in proportion to the amount of Sanskrit. In Tamil poetry the reverse holds good. The principal writers in the other languages have been Brahmans. "In Tamil, on the contrary, few Brahmans have written anything worthy of preservation. The language has been cultivated and developed with immense zeal and success by Tamilian Sudras; and the highest rank in Tamil literature which has been reached by a Brahman is that of a commentator."

Dr. Caldwell further observes:

"Trench's expressions respecting the character of the contributions which our mother-English has received from Anglo-Saxon and from Latin respectively, are exactly applicable to the relation and proportion which the native Dravidian element bears to the Sanscrit contained in the Tamil. "All its joints, its whole articulation, its sinews and its ligaments, the great body of articles, pronouns, conjunctions, propositions, numerals, auxiliary verbs, all smaller words which serve to knit together, and bind the larger into sentences, these, not to speak of the grammatical structure of the language are exclusively Anglo-Saxon (Dravidian). The Latin (Sanskrit) may contribute its tale of bricks, yea of Goodman and polished hewn stones, to the spiritual building, but the mortar, with all that holds and binds these together, and constitutes them into a house is Anglo-Saxon (Dravidian) throughout."

Tamil Alphabet.

There are three Dravidian alphabets at present in use, viz., the Tamil, the Malayalam and the Telugu-Canarese. They are all supposed to be derived from the early Deva-nagari, or from the still earlier characters that are contained in the cave inscriptions. There is no tradition extant of the existence of Tamil characters older than those which the first Brahman immigrants introduced.

The present Malayalam character is derived from the Grantham (the book) in which Sanskrit was written in the South. The Tamil character has the same origin. "The modern Telugu-Canarese differs considerably from the modern Tamil, and departs more widely than the Tamil from the Deva-nagari type; but there is a marked resemblance between many of the Telugu-Canarese characters and the corresponding characters that are found in early Tamil inscriptions."

The custom in the Dekhan of writing on the leaf of the palmyra palm with an iron stylus, has had a considerable influence in modifying the shape of the characters.

Letters.—The Tamil alphabet contains thirty letters, viz., twelve vowels and eighteen consonants. Tamil grammarians designate vowels as uyir or the life of a word; consonants as mey, or the body; and the junction of a vowel and consonant as uyirmey, or an animated body.

Vowels.

a ā i ĩ u ū e ē āi o ō au

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 32. † Ibid, p. 93.
Consonants.

Gutturals, \( \mathbb{g} \), \( \mathbb{m} \)
Palatals, \( \mathbb{i} \), \( \mathbb{y} \), k ng
s or gn.

Linguals,* \( \mathbb{c} \), \( \mathbb{c} \), \( \mathbb{r} \)
Dentals, \( \mathbb{t} \), \( \mathbb{d} \), d n l l t n.

Labials, \( \mathbb{p} \), \( \mathbb{m} \)
Undecided, \( \mathbb{y} \), \( \mathbb{r} \), \( \mathbb{g} \), \( \mathbb{a} \), \( \mathbb{r} \), \( \mathbb{p} \) p m y r l v n r.

Differences of opinion exist with regard to the classification of some of the letters. \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{a} \), \( \mathbb{o} \), \( \mathbb{w} \), \( \mathbb{r} \), \( \mathbb{p} \), are grouped together as semi-vowels or liquids. The sound of \( \mathbb{p} \) seems peculiar. Rhenius says, "it is a mixture of \( r \) and \( l \), and imperceptibly coalescing by turning the tongue upward to the roof of the mouth."†

In the north of the Tamil country it has the sound of \( r \); in the south it is pronounced \( l \). Drs. Caldwell and Pope transliterate it by \( r \); other writers represent it by \( rl \) and \( zh \). The Sub-Committee of the Madras Literary Society remark, "General use and analogy are in favor of considering it a cerebral \( l \)."‡

As the word \( \mathbb{p} \) is written Tamil, in the following pages \( \mathbb{p} \) is transliterated by \( l \); Tamil grammarians divide consonants into three classes:—

Strong Class. \( \mathbb{g} \), \( \mathbb{h} \), \( \mathbb{c} \), \( \mathbb{r} \), \( \mathbb{m} \).

None of these can end a word.

Soft Class. \( \mathbb{g} \), \( \mathbb{h} \), \( \mathbb{c} \), \( \mathbb{r} \), \( \mathbb{m} \).

Each letter is the corresponding nasal to the strong class. Only \( \mathbb{g} \), \( \mathbb{h} \), and \( \mathbb{m} \), are initial: All except \( \mathbb{m} \) may be final.

Middle Class. \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{u} \), \( \mathbb{u} \).

Of these \( \mathbb{u} \) and \( \mathbb{u} \) only are initial: all are final.

Of all the Indian languages, Tamil has the most limited alphabet. It is destitute of the aspirate \( h \), of aspirated consonants, and of the Sanscrit sibilants. On the other hand it abounds in linguals. Some of the Tamil letters are employed to represent the absent characters, though in an imperfect and inconvenient way. The same consonant which is a surd at the be-

* Sometimes called cerebrals:
† Grammar, p. 16.
‡ Report, p. 13.
ginning of a word is a sonant in the middle. "The letter ś," remarks Dr. Pope, "has no less than five sounds. The palatal t can only be expressed by a double r, and the 'cerebral' t by doubling the ū of the same class. It has but one character for r, ph, b, and bh; as also for k, kh, g, gh; and for s, ch, chh, j, and jh."*

Old Tamil writers seem almost to have entertained a jealousy of Sanscrit, and restricted themselves as much as possible to pure Dravidian sounds, forms, and roots. Sanscrit words when introduced were altered to accord with the Tamilian laws of sound.
The other Dravidian languages being cultivated chiefly by Brahmans, there was not the same feeling.†
The Devanagari alphabet has been adopted and Sanscrit words are correctly represented. The use of several Sanscrit letters, written in the Grantham character as śh, ē s, ē h, ē j, &c., is gaining ground among educated Tamilians. Dr. Pope says, "This change is a beneficial one, adding both to the force and precision of the language." A friend, who regards it very differently, writes as follows:—

"When we take a word from Latin or Greek, Hebrew or French, or from Tamil, we never think of bringing in the Greek or Hebrew or Tamil letters, nor Latin or other endings. The English (or Roman) letters are made to come as near the original word, as the language and letters will admit. This rule is observed in all Dictionaries I have seen.

"Again, if our Tamil alphabet is defective, the only way is to add the needed letters to the alphabet, and let the child learn all his A, B, C. But this would be a blemish. Do we add Greek and Hebrew letters in English because the exact sound of those letters cannot be enunciated by English letters?"

"Tamil lexicographers have evidently followed the old rule, and when a Sanscrit or Telugu or Arabic or Hindustani word has been transferred to Tamil, they have used

* One Alphabet for all India, p. 3.
† Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 31.
Tamil letters. If Sanskrit letters are introduced, why not Telugu, Arabic, or English?"

Combinations of Letters—"No other combination of consonants is admitted than the duplication of mutes, and the junction of the nasal and the mute."* Dr. Caldwell remarks,

"The chief peculiarity of Dravidian syllabation is its extreme simplicity and dislike of compound or concurrent consonants; and this peculiarity characterises the Tamil, the most early cultivated member of the family, in a more marked degree than any other Dravidian language.

"In Telugu, Canarese, and Malayalam, the great majority of Dravidian words, i.e. words which have not been derived from Sanscrit, or altered through Sanscrit influences, and in Tamil all words without exception, including even Sanscrit derivatives, are divided into syllables on the following plan. Double or treble consonants at the beginning of syllables, like 'str,' in 'strength,' are altogether inadmissible. At the beginning not only of the first syllable of every word, but also of every succeeding syllable, only one consonant is allowed. If, in the middle of a word of several syllables, one syllable ends with a consonant and the succeeding one commences with another consonant, the concurrent consonants must be euphemically assimilated, or else a vowel must be inserted between them. At the conclusion of a word, double and treble consonants like 'gth' in 'strength,' are as inadmissible as at the beginning; and every word must terminate in Telugu and Canarese in a vowel; in Tamil, either in a vowel or a semi-vowel, as 'l,' or 'r,' or in a single nasal, as 'n' or 'm.' It is obvious that this plan of syllabation is extremely unlike that of the Sanscrit.

"Generally 'i' is the vowel which is used for the purpose of separating inadmissible consonants, as appears from the manner in which Sanscrit derivatives are Tamilised. Sometimes 'n' is employed instead of 'i.' Thus the Sanscrit preposition 'pra' is changed into 'pira' in the compound derivatives, which have been borrowed by the Tamil; whilst 'Krisha' becomes 'Kiruttina-n' ('tt,' instead of 'sh') or even 'Kittina-n.'

"The Finnish, the Hungarian, and other languages of the same stock, allow of only one consonant at the beginning of a syllable...... When the first consonant is a sibilant, it is formed into a distinct syllable by a prefixed vowel; e. g. 'schola' becomes 'iskola.' How perfectly in accordance with Tamil this is, is known to every European resident in Southern India who has heard the natives speak of establishing, or sending their children to an English 'iskool.'”

* Rev. H. Bower, Calcutta Review.

Max Muller observes that there are analogous cases nearer home. "It seems that the Celtic nations were unable to pronounce an initial s before a consonant, or at least that they disliked it. Richards says, 'No British word begins with s, when a consonant or w follows without setting y before it. We prefix a y before such borrowed words as schola, ysgol.'" Max Muller adds that the Tamil iskool is as good as establishing for stabilire.†

CONSTRUCTION.

Dr. Schmid remarks of Tamil, that "the mode of collocating its words follows the logical or intellectual order more so than even the Latin or Greek."

The leading principles are the following:—
The cause precedes the effect.
That which qualifies precedes that which is qualified.
The similitude precedes that which is similar, and the comparative that which is compared.
The secondary clause precedes the primary one.
The noun precedes the preposition.
The verb ends the sentence.‡

Dr. Schmid adduces the following passage from Horace as precisely in accordance with the rules of Tamil collocation:

"Linguenda tellus, et domus, et placens
Uxor, neque harum, quas colis, arborum
Te, præter invisas cupressos,
Ulla brevem dominum sequetur."

Carm. Lib. II. 13.

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, pp.1 38—140.
† Science of Language, 2nd Series, pp. 195, 196.
Dr. Caldwell points out the principal differences in grammatical structure between the Dravidian languages and the Sanscrit. Some of them are the following:

1. In the Dravidian languages all nouns denoting inanimate substances and irrational beings are of the neuter gender.

2. Dravidian nouns are inflected, not by means of case-terminations; but by means of suffixed postpositions and separable particles. The only difference between the declension of the plural and that of the singular, is that the inflexional signs are annexed in the singular to the base.

3. The Dravidian dative 'ku, 'ki,' ' or 'ge' bears no analogy to any dative case-termination which is found in the Sanscrit or in any of the Indo-European languages.

4. In the Dravidian languages adjectives are incapable of declension.

5. The existence of two pronouns of the first person plural, one of which includes the party addressed; is a peculiarity of the Dravidian Dialects of many of the Scythian languages; but is unknown to the Sanscrit and the languages of the Indo-European family.

6. Relative participles are used instead of relative pronouns.

7. Dravidian verbs have no passive voice properly so called.

8. New verbal bases can be produced by the mere addition of certain letters, which give to every verb a negative or causative meaning.

9. Continuative participles are preferred to conjunctions.

10. The situation of the governing word is characteristic of each of these families of languages. In Sanscrit and the Indo-European family it usually precedes the word governed; in the Dravidian and in all the Scythian languages, it is invariably placed after it.

Though the vocabularies of the Northern languages of India are mainly Sanscrit, the grammatical construction, in some important points, is Dravidian. Dr. Caldwell thus enumerates the principal particulars in which the grammar of the North Indian idioms accords with that of the Dravidian languages:

(1.) The inflexion of nouns by means of separate post-
fixed particles; (2), the inflexion of the plural by annexing to the unvarying sign of plurality the same suffixes of case as those by which the singular is inflected; (3), the use of a dative or dative accusative in 'ko' or 'ku'; (4), the use in several of the northern idioms of two pronouns of the first person plural, the one including, the other excluding the party addressed; (5), the use of post-positions instead of prepositions; (6), the formation of verbal tenses by means of participles; (7) the position of the governing word after the governed."*

It is an interesting question whether the tribes of North India, with whom the Aryans amalgamated, were of the same Turanian family as the Dravidians. Dr. Caldwell is inclined to believe that they belonged to a later immigration. "The differences which appear to exist between the Dravidian languages and the Scythian under-stratum of the northern vernaculars induce me to incline to the supposition that the Dravidian idioms belong to an older period of the Scythian speech."† Dr. Wilson of Bombay considers that this is certainly the case with regard to the Marathi.‡

Dr. Caldwell gives lists of glossarial affinities between Dravidian, Aryan, and Semitic vocables.||

The relationship between the Northern and Southern languages of India will be indicated in some measure by the following vocabulary and specimens of declensions. For a thorough investigation of the subject, the student should consult Dr. Caldwell’s Comparative Grammar.

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 40.
† Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 70.
‡ Preface to Molesworth's Marath Dictionary.
|| Dravidian Comparative Grammar, pp. 437—489.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>English</th>
<th>Tamil</th>
<th>Malayalam</th>
<th>Canarese</th>
<th>Telugu</th>
<th>Marathi</th>
<th>Sanskrit</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>I</td>
<td>nan</td>
<td>nan</td>
<td>nanu</td>
<td>nenu</td>
<td>mi</td>
<td>aharn</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>me</td>
<td>ennai</td>
<td>enne</td>
<td>nannamu</td>
<td>nanna</td>
<td>mala</td>
<td>mam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>we</td>
<td>nam</td>
<td>nangal</td>
<td>navu</td>
<td>memu</td>
<td>amhi</td>
<td>vagyam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>'us</td>
<td>nammal</td>
<td>nammo</td>
<td>nammannu</td>
<td>nammunu</td>
<td>amhās</td>
<td>asman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>thou</td>
<td>ni,</td>
<td>ni, nin</td>
<td>ninu</td>
<td>nunu</td>
<td>tun, tu</td>
<td>twam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>thee</td>
<td>unnai</td>
<td>nenne</td>
<td>nimmannu</td>
<td>nimmunu</td>
<td>tula</td>
<td>twām</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ye</td>
<td>ningal</td>
<td>ningal</td>
<td>nivu</td>
<td>nivu</td>
<td>tubmi</td>
<td>yuyam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>you</td>
<td>ungkalai</td>
<td>ningale</td>
<td>miru</td>
<td>ninu</td>
<td>tumhas</td>
<td>yushman</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>he</td>
<td>avan</td>
<td>aven</td>
<td>avanu</td>
<td>vadu</td>
<td>to</td>
<td>sah</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>him</td>
<td>avanai</td>
<td>avenna</td>
<td>avanammu</td>
<td>vani</td>
<td>tyas</td>
<td>tam</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>they</td>
<td>avar kal</td>
<td>avar</td>
<td>avaru</td>
<td>varu</td>
<td>te</td>
<td>te</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>them</td>
<td>avar kal</td>
<td>avarre</td>
<td>avarannu</td>
<td>varinī</td>
<td>tyas</td>
<td>tan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>one</td>
<td>onru</td>
<td>onna</td>
<td>ondu</td>
<td>okati</td>
<td>ek</td>
<td>eka</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>two</td>
<td>irandu</td>
<td>renda</td>
<td>eradu</td>
<td>rendu</td>
<td>don</td>
<td>dwa</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>three</td>
<td>munru</td>
<td>munna</td>
<td>muru</td>
<td>mudu</td>
<td>tin</td>
<td>tri</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>four</td>
<td>nangu</td>
<td>nalla</td>
<td>nalku</td>
<td>nalugu</td>
<td>char</td>
<td>chatur</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>five</td>
<td>eindu</td>
<td>anjha</td>
<td>aidu</td>
<td>aidu</td>
<td>panch</td>
<td>panchan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>six</td>
<td>aru</td>
<td>ara</td>
<td>aru</td>
<td>aru</td>
<td>saha</td>
<td>sah</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>seven</td>
<td>eru</td>
<td>aira</td>
<td>elu</td>
<td>edu</td>
<td>sat</td>
<td>sapta</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>English</td>
<td>Tamil</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>eight</td>
<td>ettu</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>nine</td>
<td>onbatu</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ten</td>
<td>pattu</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>father</td>
<td>appan</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>fathers</td>
<td>appanmar</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>mother</td>
<td>tay, amma</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>son</td>
<td>maken</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>daughter</td>
<td>makal</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>head</td>
<td>talai</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>eye</td>
<td>kan</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>mouth</td>
<td>vai</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>hand</td>
<td>kei</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>foot</td>
<td>kal</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>tree</td>
<td>maram</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>trees</td>
<td>marangkal</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sun</td>
<td>gnayiru</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>moon</td>
<td>tingal</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>day</td>
<td>nal</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>night</td>
<td>iravu</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>fire</td>
<td>neruppu</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>water</td>
<td>nir</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>entu</td>
<td>oimbatha</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>hattu</td>
<td>patha</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>appen</td>
<td>appen</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>takde</td>
<td>appenmara</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>maganu</td>
<td>tai</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>magalu</td>
<td>talli</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>tale</td>
<td>koduku</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>kannu</td>
<td>putr</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bai</td>
<td>mulgi</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>kei</td>
<td>doka</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pada</td>
<td>dokan</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>kal</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>mara</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>maragalu</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vala</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>surya</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>chandra</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>poddu</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>chettu</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>chettlu</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rela</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>pagalu</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>re</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>nippu</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>niru</td>
<td>dola</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ath</td>
<td>ashta</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>nau</td>
<td>nava</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>daha</td>
<td>dasa</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bap</td>
<td>bap</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>bap</td>
<td>bap</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ai</td>
<td>pita</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>putr</td>
<td>pitarah</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>mulgi</td>
<td>matri, mata,</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>doka</td>
<td>putra</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>duhitri, putri,</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>soras</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>akshi</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>mukham</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>karaha</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>pada</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>vriksah</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>vriksahah</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>suryah</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>chandrah</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>divasa</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>agni</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dola</td>
<td>ap, nir</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INTRODUCTION.

Declension of Father.

Singular.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Latin</th>
<th>Sanskrit.*</th>
<th>Marathi.</th>
<th>Tamil.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nom. pater</td>
<td>pita</td>
<td>bap</td>
<td>appan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Acc. patrem</td>
<td>pitaram</td>
<td>bapala</td>
<td>appanai</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inst. patre</td>
<td>pitra</td>
<td>bapane</td>
<td>appanal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dat. patri</td>
<td>pitre</td>
<td>bapakade</td>
<td>appanukku</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abla. patre</td>
<td>pintus</td>
<td>bapapasun</td>
<td>appanodu</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gen. patris</td>
<td>pintus</td>
<td>bapacha</td>
<td>appanudaiya</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loc. patre</td>
<td>pitari</td>
<td>bapant</td>
<td>appanil</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Voc. patre</td>
<td>pitah</td>
<td>bapa</td>
<td>appano</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Plural.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Latin</th>
<th>Sanskrit.*</th>
<th>Marathi.</th>
<th>Tamil.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nom. patres</td>
<td>pitaras</td>
<td>bap</td>
<td>appanmar</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Acc. patres</td>
<td>pitrin'</td>
<td>bapala</td>
<td>appanmarai</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Inst. patribus</td>
<td>pitribhis</td>
<td>bapane</td>
<td>appanmaral</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dat. patribus</td>
<td>pitribhyas</td>
<td>bapakade</td>
<td>appanmaruku</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ab. patribus</td>
<td>pitribhyas</td>
<td>bapapasun</td>
<td>appanmarodu</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gen. patrium</td>
<td>pitrinam</td>
<td>bapacha</td>
<td>appanarudaiya</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loc. patribus</td>
<td>pitrichu</td>
<td>bapant</td>
<td>appanaril</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Voc. patros</td>
<td>pitaras</td>
<td>bapa</td>
<td>apparmarkale</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Verb To Be.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>sum</th>
<th>asmi</th>
<th>ahe</th>
<th>irukkiren</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>es</td>
<td>asi</td>
<td>ahes</td>
<td>irukkrai</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>est</td>
<td>asti</td>
<td>aho</td>
<td>irukkirand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sumus</td>
<td>smas</td>
<td>aho</td>
<td>irukkirom</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>estis</td>
<td>stha</td>
<td>aha</td>
<td>irukkirir</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sunt</td>
<td>santi</td>
<td>ahet</td>
<td>irukkirar</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Verb To Give.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>do</th>
<th>dadami</th>
<th>deto</th>
<th>tarukiron</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>das</td>
<td>dadasi</td>
<td>detos</td>
<td>tarukiray</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dat</td>
<td>datati</td>
<td>deto</td>
<td>tarukiran</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>damus</td>
<td>dadmas</td>
<td>deto</td>
<td>tarakirm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>datis</td>
<td>dattha</td>
<td>deta</td>
<td>tarukirikal</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dant</td>
<td>dadati</td>
<td>detat</td>
<td>tarukirarkal</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Tamil Literature.

The early history of the Tamil country is still involved in obscurity. Some have supposed that the aborigines, as in Malaya and other parts of Asia, were an Oceanic Negro tribe. This has not yet been established. The Tamils do not seem to have any traditions of a race preceding themselves. The general investigation of the question throughout India, proposed by the Bengal Asiatic Society, may throw light on the question.

* Taken from Muir’s Sanskrit Texts, Vol. III.

State of the Pre-Aryan Dravidians.—Dr. Caldwell is of opinion that the earliest specimens extant of Tamil literature are not older than the 8th century A.D. The local Puranas, which profess to give the history of the country from the earliest times, contain little more than childish legends. The Ramayana and the Laws of Manu represent the Coromandel Coast as inhabited by 'Mlechchas' who 'ate human flesh,' 'consorted with demons,' and 'disturbed the contemplations of holy hermits.'* Dr. Caldwell, from an examination of the Tamil language, arrives at the following conclusions with regard to the degree of civilization reached by the Pre-Aryan Dravidians:

"They had 'kings,' who dwelt in 'fortified houses,' and ruled over small 'districts of country'; they were without 'books,' and probably ignorant of written alphabetical characters; but they had 'minstrels,' who recited 'songs' at 'festivals';†... They are acquainted with all the ordinary metals, with the exception of 'tin' and 'zinc,' with the planets which were ordinarily known to the ancients, with the exception of 'Mercury' and 'Saturn.' They had numerals up to a 'hundred,'—some of them to a 'thousand,' but were ignorant of the higher denominations, as 'lakh' and a 'crore.' They had 'medicines,' but no 'medical science,' and no 'doctors;' 'hamlets' and 'towns,' but no 'cities;' 'canoes,' 'boats,' and even 'ships' (small 'decked' coasting vessels), but no foreign 'commerce;' no acquaintance with any people beyond sea, except in Ceylon, which was then accessible on foot at low water; and no word expressive of the geographical idea of 'island' or 'continent.' They were well acquainted with 'agriculture,' and delighted in 'war.' All the ordinary or necessary arts of life including 'cotton weaving' and 'dyeing,' existed amongst them, but none of the arts of the higher class. They had no acquaintance with 'painting,' 'sculpture,' or 'architecture;' with 'astronomy,' or even 'astrology;' and were ignorant, not only of every branch of 'philosophy,' but even of 'grammar.' Their uncultivated intellectual condition is especially apparent in words that relate to the operations of the mind. Their only words for the 'mind' were the 'diaphragm' (the φυσ of the early Greeks), and 'the inner parts' or 'interior.' They had a word for 'thought;' but no word distinct from this for 'memory,' 'judgment,' or 'conscience,' and 'no word for 'will.' To express 'the will' they would have been obliged to describe it as that which in the inner parts says, 'I am going to do so and so.'

* Caldwell's Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 18.
† The notice of their religion which follows will be found quoted at page 63 in the body of the Catalogue.

It is an interesting fact that probably the first Tamil word that was ever written is to be found in the Bible. The Hebrew term for peacocks, brought by the fleets of Solomon, is, in the opinion of Dr. Caldwell, "certainly Dravidian."† The terms for 'apes' and 'ivory' are found both in Sanscrit and Tamil. A few Dravidian words are met with in the Ramayana and Mahabharata; but the "largest stock of primitive Dravidian words which is contained in any authentic written document of ancient times...are those which are contained in the notices of the Greek Geographers, Ptolemy, Strabo,"‡ and others. Max Muller has not found any allusion to writing in the Vedic hymns. He says, "We shall not be able to trace the Indian alphabet back much beyond Alexander's invasion."|| Some time must have elapsed before a knowledge of writing reached the south.

Aryan Civilization.—In the north the Aryans had desperate struggles with the aborigines, whom they termed a "black-sprung host." There is no evidence that this was also the case in South India. Dr. Caldwell says,

"The introduction of the Dravidians within the pale of Hinduism and the consequent change of their appellation from Mlechchas to that of Sudras appears to have originated, not in conquest, but in the peaceable process of colo-

---

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 79.  † Ibid, p. 66.
‡ Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 61.
|| Ancient Sanscrit Literature, p. 516.
nisation and progressive civilisation. All existing traditions, and the names by which the Brahmanical race is distinguished in Tamil, viz., 'Eiyar,' instructors, fathers, and 'Parppar,' overseers, (probably the episkopoi of Arrian), tend to show that the Brahmans acquired their ascendency by their intelligence and their administrative skill.'*

In North India, Vyasa is regarded as the great author of Sanscrit literature. Agastya occupies as distinguished a place in the South. His name occurs in the Rig-veda; but the Tamil tales about him are derived from the Ramayana and Mahabharat.† Dr. Caldwell gives the following account of him:—

"The leader of the first, or most influential colony (of Brahmans from Upper India), is traditionally said to have been Agastya, a personage who is celebrated in Northern India as a holy 'rishi,' or hermit, but who is venerated in the South with greater reason as the first teacher of science and literature to the primitive Dravidian tribes. It is very doubtful whether Agastya (if there were ever such a person) was really the leader of the Brahman immigration; more probably he is to be considered as its mythological embodiment. 'The Vindhya mountains,' it is said, 'prostrated themselves before Agastya,' by which I understand that they presented no obstacle to his resolute, southward progress; for he is said to have penetrated as far south as Cape Comorin. He is called by way of eminence the 'Tamir muni,' or Tamilian sage; and is celebrated for the influence which he acquired at the 'court' of Knlasekhara, according to tradition the first Pandyan king; and for the numerous elementary treatises which he composed for the enlightenment of his royal disciple; amongst which his arrangement of the grammatical principles of the language has naturally acquired most renown. He is mythologically represented as identical with the star Canopus, the brightest star in the extreme southern sky in India, and is worshipped near Cape Comorin as Agastisvara. By the majority of orthodox Hindus he is believed to be still alive, though invisible to ordinary eyes, and to reside somewhere on the fine conical mountain, commonly

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 75.
† Dr. Caldwell in Calcutta Christian Intelligencer for 1861, p. 63. called "Agastya's hill," from which the "Porunai" or "Tamraparni," the sacred river of Tinnevelly, takes its rise."

None of the numerous works attributed to Agastya proceeded from his pen. One of them is so very modern that it treats of a disease deriving its name from Europeans. The object of these literary forgeries was to secure credit for the treatises.

Dr. Caldwell, from the evidence of copies of inscriptions in his possession, considers that the long lists of kings at Madura contained in the local Puranas are generally fictitious.* No attempt will therefore be made to fix the date of the introduction of writing in south India.

Madura College.—Several of the Pandyan monarchs were munificent patrons of learning. Poets frequently recited their compositions before the king in presence of his courtiers, and were dismissed with liberal gifts. Vamsa Sekhara is said to have founded the Madura College for the cultivation of the Tamil language and literature. His son Vamsa Churamani completed his father's design, and established the College on a proper footing. "Madura was then probably the most celebrated seat of learning in all Hindustan. If the court of Vikramaditya had its nine gems, the Madura College is reported to have had more than five times that number."

The Madura College exercised as great an authority over Tamil literature, as the Academy of Paris in its palmy days in France. It had, however, to encounter opposition. Wilson, in his sketch of the Pandyan kingdom, gives the following notice of one of the struggles:—

"At the first institution of the Madura Sangattar, it would appear that some dispute arose immediately between the professors and the Saiva priests, connected not impossibly with that contention for pre-eminence of knowledge which has ever prevailed in the Tamil countries between the

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 59.
† Rev. H. Bowor, Calcutta Review.
Brahmans and inferior castes. The priests, however, proved the more powerful; and reconciliation took place between them and the literati of Madura. At least, we may thus interpret the legend of Narakira incurring the wrathful glance of Siva, and only escaping being burnt to ashes in the flames emanating from the eye in the forehead, of the god, by plunging into the holy pool Pattamari, and there composing the Andadi Panyam, a poem in honor of Siva. After this event, the parties continued upon good terms; and Siva presented to the professors a diamond bench of great critical sagacity, for it extended itself readily for the accommodation of such individuals as were worthy to be upon a level with the sages of the Sangattar, and resolutely detrued all who pretended to sit on it without possessing the requisite qualifications. In other words, the learned corporation of Madura resembled learned bodies in other countries, and maintained as strict a monopoly as they possibly could of literary reputation.”

The College came to a sudden end. Wilson thus describes it, with its probable explanation:

“The abolition of the Sangattar is narrated in the usual marvellous manner. A candidate for the honour of a seat on the bench of the professors, appeared in the person of Tiruvalluvar, a Pariah priest of Mailapur, and the author of an ethical poem. The learned professors were highly indignant at his presumption, but, as he was patronised by the Raja, they were compelled to give his book at least the trial. For this purpose it was to find a place upon the marvellous bench, which the professors took care to occupy fully. To their astonishment, however, the bench extended itself to receive the work, and the book itself, commencing to expand, spread out so as to thrust all other occupants from the bench. The Raja and the people of Madura witnessed the scene, and enjoyed the humiliation of the sages; and the professors were so sensible of their disgrace, that, unable to survive it, they issued forth, and all drowned themselves in a neighbouring pool. In consequence the establishment was abandoned.

“If we contemplate this event in a literary view alone, we need not be at a loss to comprehend it. The first professors were eminent in Tamil composition, for the cultivation of which the college appears to have been founded. The members, however, had subsequently, in all probability, directed their attention more to Sanskrit composition and had, at all events, neglected the cultivation of their literature. That the latter was the case, is evident from the remark of Anvaiyar, that the old Tamil was preferable to the new; indicating that, even in the ninth century, the dialect had been so far neglected as to have become partially obsolete. With Tiruvalluvar, however, circumstances changed. The old system was subverted, and a new impulse was given to the study of Tamil, which produced, in the course of the ninth century, in the Pandiyan and Chola kingdoms a number of the most classical writers in the Tamil tongue."

Oldest Existing Literature. Dr. Caldwell remarks as follows:—

"Leaving out of account various isolated stanzas, of high but unknown antiquity, which are quoted as examples in the grammatical and rhetorical works, the oldest Tamil works now extant are those which were written, or are claimed to have been written, by the Jainas, or which date from the era of the literary activity of the Jaina sect. The Jainas of the old Pandiya country were animated by a national and anti-Brahmanical feeling of peculiar strength; and it is chiefly to them that Tamil is indebted for its high culture and its comparative independence of Sanskrit."

The following 18 works are said to have been received the sanction of the Madura College:—

1. Naladiyar, 2 Nanmanikkadikai, 3 Iniyavai Narpattu, 4 Inna Narpattu, 5 Kar Narpattu, 6 Kallavali Narpattu, 7 to 11, Tokai, 12 Kural, 13 Tirikadukam, 14 Asara Kovai, 15 Pala Moli, 16 Siru Pansa Mulam, 17 Muntu Moli Kanji, 18 Elati.*

The Jaina period extended probably from the eighth or ninth century, A.D., to the twelfth or thirteenth. In the reign of Sundara Pandiya, which appears to synchronise with Marco Polo's visit to India, the adherents of the religious system of the Jainas, were finally expelled from the Pandiya country; consequently, all Tamil works which advocate or avow that system must have been written before the middle of the thirteenth century, A. D., and probably before the decadence of Jaina influence in the twelfth.

* Stókes' Niti Neri Vilakkum, p. ix.

The general opinion is that the grammar called the "Tol-Kappiyam," or ancient composition, is the oldest work extant. Dr. Caldwell places it at the very commencement of the Jaina period, or about the 8th cent. A. D. It contains quotations which must belong to still earlier works.

Much of the Tol-Kappiyam has been lost. Dr. Caldwell says that "the 'Kural' of Tiruvalluvar, which is regarded by all Tamilians (and perhaps justly) as the finest composition of which the Tamil can boast, appears to be not only the best but the oldest Tamil work of any extent which is now in existence." He places its date not later than the 9th century, A. D. Several reasons are assigned for this, only one or two which can be mentioned. "There is no trace in the Kural of the mysticism of the modern Puranic system; of Bhakti, or exclusive, enthusiastic faith in any one deity of the Hindu Pantheon; of exclusive attachment to any of the sects into which Hinduism has been divided since the era of Sankara; or even of acquaintance with the existence of any such sects." "From the indistinctness and undeveloped character of the Jaina element which is contained in it, it seems probable that in Tiruvalluvar's age Jainism was rather an esoteric ethical school, than an independent objective system of religion, and was only in the process of development out of the older Hinduism."

"Certain poetical compositions are attributed to Auvaiyar, 'the Matron,' a reputed sister of Tiruvalluvar, of which some at least do not belong to so early a period.

"The most celebrated poem which was written by an avowedly Jaina author—the 'Chintamani,' a brilliant romantic epic, containing 15,000 lines" probably belongs to the tenth century.

The Nan-nul, a High Tamil Grammar of great excellence, and the poetical vocabularies, which were all written by Jaina scholars, must be placed a little later than the 'Chintamani'; but yet anterior to the Chola conquest of the Pandiya country, which took place in the eleventh century."

The Tamil translation, or rather imitation, of the Ramay-INTRODUCTION.

ANA, Dr. Caldwell supposes to have been written in the eleventh century.

TAMIL POETRY.

With the exception of commentaries and some modern works, the entire Tamil literature is in poetry. Some account of its character is, therefore, desirable. Dr. Caldwell remarks:

"It is deserving of notice that alliteration is of the essence of Dravidian poetry, as of Welsh.... The chief peculiarity of Dravidian rhyme consists in its seat being, not at the end of the line, but at the beginning—a natural result of the love of alliteration. The rule in each Dravidian dialect is that the consonant which intervenes between the first two vowels in a line is the seat of rhyme.

"The agreement of these two consonants constitutes the minimum of rhyme which is admissible; but often the entire first foot of one line rhymes with the same foot in the second; sometimes the second feet in each line also rhyme; and the rhyme is sometimes taken up again further on in the verse, according to fixed laws in each variety of metre."

Beschi, in his Grammar of the High Dialect of Tamil, describes the thirty kinds of feet, divisable into five classes, of Tamil poetry. He mentions one peculiarity:

"In Latin a verse would be considered lame, and devoid of harmony, if each word in it were a distinct foot; the feet of a verse, therefore, are so disposed, that, in scanning, the words are run into each other, and concatenated like the links of a chain. The cadence of the Tamil verse, on the contrary, requires, that, not only in singing, but even in reading, the close of each foot should be marked by a slight pause; so that, to read a verse, and to scan, are one and the same thing. Hence, although a Tamil foot may consist of several whole words, yet no word can be divided, as among the Latins, so as to belong, partly to one foot, and partly to another." p. 70.

As a rule, every Tamil poem, even of the filthiest character, begins with an invocation. There are three treatises on this single point. Numerous rules are laid down, which Beschi says, have their origin in the grossest superstition. There are 23 fortunate words with which, or their synonyms, the poem and invocation should commence. Certain letters are allotted to the 27 constellations; each caste has its appropriate letters; certain feet are fortunate, others the reverse. When a poet wishes to injure an enemy, he begins with inauspicious letters. Kamban is reported to have caused the death of a king, but combinations of this character.

* Abridged from Dravidian Comparative Grammar, pp. 84-88.
† Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 89.

The Shen Tamil, or high dialect in which Tamil classical poetry is written, differs considerably from what is termed Kodum Tamil, common Tamil, the spoken language of the people. The difficulty in understanding Tamil poetry is much increased by the very complicated rules for euphonic changes. In English we write accept, not adeept; gladden, not gladan, ascend, not adscend. In Tamil, however, similar changes are made, not only in syllables of words, but in the beginnings and endings of words themselves; so that a whole line may be considered as forming a polysyllabic word of immense length. Dr. Caldwell remarks, "Dravidian Grammarians have bestowed more attention and care on euphonic permutations than on any other subject, and the permutations which the grammar of the Tamil requires or allows are at least twice as numerous, and more than twice as perplexing to beginners as those of the Sanscrit."

In native manuscripts, words are not divided. The following is a simple English sentence, with euphonic changes required in Tamil poetry, and written in the ordinary way:—

Onassunnydayararsawaccoorstream,
On a sunny day a ram saw a cool stream.

The difficulty of making out the sense of Tamil poetry is increased by the use of peculiar or obsolete words.

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 124.
A Tamil, of average intelligence, who can read and write with ease the language as spoken, cannot understand classic poetry unless he has made it a special study—he cannot even divide the lines into their component words. It would be nearly as difficult to him as the following to an Englishman:

Arthumidhisswoorde foscriewurhte:
Arthur with his sword death-work wrought.

Hence the Tamil classics have most elaborate commentaries. Each word presenting any difficulty is explained separately, and the general sense is given, with any grammatical remarks which may be required.

It is an old proverb, "There is no disputing about tastes." A Tamil scholar seems to prefer compositions which resemble poetical problems for solution. Again and again the remark has been made to the compiler respecting certain poetry, "common language;" "no deep sense." Indeed, Velaya Desiker boasts as follows: "Born as I am second of three brothers, whose poetry, even the god enthroned on the lotus-flower could not easily understand."

The Tamil poets seemed to have cared more for the sound than the sense. The following remarks by the Rev. W. Taylor, should, however, be borne in mind:

"One important distinction between modern European poetry, and ancient Eastern poetry must not be omitted; which is, that the latter was not intended for quiet perusal in the cabinet, but for public recitation, as minstrelsy. Hence the great attention paid to classes of letters, and to the flowing of sounds, one into the other, without any interval, or hiatus between."

Versification.||—Specimens of the principal kinds of verse are given below. The two great classes are the Ven, or pure, and Viruttam or expanded.

† Stanza quoted in Tamil Plutarch, p. 114:
|| The remarks under this head are chiefly abridged from Beschi's Grammar of the Poetical Dialect.
VENPA.—One kind, used in the Kural, resembles the distich, since it consists of two lines. Of these the first must contain four feet, and the second three.

Example.

Kannudaiya - renpavar - karror - mukattirandu

Punnudaiyar - kalla - tavar.

"They may be said to have eyes who acquire knowledge,—
They who learn not, have (as it were) only two ulcers in their face," Kural.

But the following kind of venpa is most in use.

Veyya - kurarronri - vensinave - rudkolinum

Peyyu - malaimukilai - penuvaral - vaiyat

Tirulpoliyum - kurram - palayennum - yarkkum

Porulpolivar-merrp-pukal.

"As the clouds which send forth a fearful sound, and are big with the angry thunder-bolt are yet cherished for the rain they pour down; so in the world, he who liberally distributes his wealth is praised, though his many crimes spread darkness around him."

The Naladiyar and most of the ethical works are in the above metre.

ASIRIYAPPA OR AKAVAL.—The number of line in each stanza is not defined; nor is there any settled rule for the number of feet requisite to each line.

Sural - pampiya - sirukan - yare

Sura - makali - raranang - kinare

Vara - lenile - yanagn - suvale

Sara - nada - nivara - lare.

"Oh thou who dwellest on the mountain's side, come not by the road where the tangled rattan skirts the silvan stream, and where the nymphs (who devise) mischief and inflict evil abound. I dread thy journey on that road."

The Nannul is in this metre.

TURAI.—This kind of stanza consists of four lines, each of five feet, and always takes ฬ at its close.

The text in Tamil is not transcribed.

Idaiyener - vensi- riyarsir - varumuta - lirirusir
Kadaiye - yidairirai - vensiray- vendalaik - kattu - dinan
Kudaiye - kadaiyayk - kadamnai - nankadi - yoretukai
Nadaiye - kalitturai - yamenak - karror - navinranare.

The grammar Karikai, treating of Poetry, is in this metre.

VIRUTTAM.—This is the metre in which all the great poetical narrations are composed. It is distinguished into several kinds, all of which contain four lines.

The first example is taken from the Chintumanini.

Teni - raittuyar - moyvarais - senniyin
Meni - raittuvu - sumpura - velliven
Koni - raittana - porkolun - taraikal
Vani - raittuma - nantuso - rintave.

"On the top of the high and clustering mountains, covered with honey-combs, when the clouds had gathered together, their abundant streams, resembling lucid rods of silver, uniting filled the whole heavens and poured down in torrents." Ellis.

The following is from Kamban's Ramayana:
Pulli - malvarai - ponnena - nokkivan
Velli - vilidai - vilvana - taraiya
Vulli - yullave - lamuvan - tiyumav.
Valli - yorina - valangkina - mekame.

"Beholding the renowned and mighty mountain shining like gold, the clouds poured down their streams like pensile threads of silver, bounteous as the generous, who, from the impulse of their own minds, dispense their gifts with delight." Ellis.

The Tamils have a kind of elegy which they denominate Ula or Malai, consisting of couplets. The Parani also consists of a succession of couplets; but has its lines of equal length. The Kalampakam is a sort of poetry in which the author mixes at pleasure all kinds of verse. The Ammanai consists of couplets, composed of lines of four feet. The diction ought to be perfectly familiar. This kind of poetry is used in recounting the lives of princes, &c. The following is an example from Tayumanavar:

Pessimus - sillata - perinpa - vellamurru
Nissunilai - kanama - nirikuna - lennalo.
Sittam - telinton - telivir - telivana
Sutta - sukakkadalud - doyuna - lennalo.

"When shall I find myself in the ocean of boundless pleasure, never reaching its depths? When shall those who have attained purity of heart find themselves in the ocean of clear healthful water?"

The Vannam consists of eight equal stanzas. The following example is from Arunakiri Natar. To enable the verses to be read, the measure is given at the commencement.

Tanetana - Tanana - tanatana - tanana - tanatana tanatana.
Tanatana - tattana - tanta - tanta - tanta - tanattantantanta.

Antati.—This means, from the end to the beginning. The last word or syllable of a stanza is the first of the succeeding. It is employed in several varieties of metre to assist the memory. The following example is from the Venpapattiyal:

Matikonda - mukkudaikkil - vaman - malartta
Dutikonda - nalum - tolutu - nutikonda
Palkatirva - lunkannay - paddiyalaik - kadduraippan
Rollulakin - mita - tokuttu.
Tokutturaitta - mangkalagn - solleluttut - tanam
Vakuttapa - lundi - varunam - pakuttinanad
Dappak - katikanamen - riraintin - ranmaiynai
Seppuvata - munmoliyn - sir.

"Ever worshipping and praising the flowery feet of Vamen, seated under his moon-like triple canopy, I will declare to the world, fully but concisely, oh damsel whose eyes are like sharp radiant spears, the poetic art.

"It is a rule that in the first word the ten following characteristics should be found united—good omen—precision of meaning—an unequal number of syllables—an initial of the proper order—of the proper gender —of the right nutritious quality—of the proper caste—of the right star—of the proper animal class—of the right order of feet."

SINTU OR KIRTANAI.—This consists of four stanzas, the first of which is preceded by a short intercalary line, which is repeated before each of the others. It is reckoned a low order of poetry. It is much used in dramatic composition. The following example is from the Dramatic Ramayana.

Pallavi. (Chorus.)

Sollum - sollum - Sumantirare - nillum - nillum.
Anu Pallavi.
Alla - nirvere - sonnal - virumpumo.
Anaikadanta - vellam - alaittal - tirumpumo.

The charioteer returns without Rama.

People. "Tell us, tell us! O Sumantiran, stop! stop! Never was there such a beautiful night. The citizens and you must go. If you refuse, will they be satisfied?

Charioteer. Will the water after it passes the dam return?"

A few other varieties of Tamil poetry may be briefly noticed.

TALADDU.—Cradle songs.

PILLAI TAMIL. About the childhood of the person whose history is recounted. There are ten stages:
1.—Putting on the arm-rings, with magical rites. 2. First voluntary movement of the child, compared to the motion of herbs by the breeze. 3. Lulling the child in the cradle with songs. 4. The first clapping of its hands. 5. Kissing. 6. Extending its hands and calling to be taken. 7. Showing the moon to the infant. 8. Amusement of a small drum. 9. Making in play little houses. 10. Drawing little carriages.*

Kovai.—A kind of poem, commonly erotic.

Kummi.—A poem intended to be sung with the clapping of hands and dancing.

Tamil Prose.

As previously mentioned, Tamil prose literature has received its principal impulse from Europeans. At first the elaborate rules devised for Tamil poetry were applied to prose compositions. A whole sentence was written as if composed of one word. About twenty years ago, the Madras Bible Society resolved to print each word separately and in its natural form, without change or addition of letters, excepting in the case of compound forms of expression, and in such words as are united according to the usage of good writers. The tendency now is to disuse Sandhi, as well as grammatical forms obsolete in spoken language.

There are two extremes in Tamil prose compositions. The native taste loves exaggeration and grandiloquence. Arthur remarks, "To be called Maha Rajah, 'great king,' is a common matter; while 'Prince of the earth,' 'Lord of the four worlds,' and 'Lord of the fourteen world,' are titles at which my unaccustomed ears have often laughed, when the countenance dare not for shame keep them company."†

If writing in English, most Tamils will pick out of the dictionary the longest and most sonorous words they can find. When composing in their own language, words of Sanskrit origin are used to a large extent. Johnson's style may be characterised as their favorite model.

On the other hand, Missionaries have gone upon the maxim, "I had rather speak five words with the understanding than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue." Sanskritised native prose being unintelligible to the great bulk of their people, they have generally favored a style which may be compared to that of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. With the advance of education, Native Christians, as a body, will be able to understand works written in more difficult language.

† Mysore, p. 346.

The version of the Scriptures now in progress is an excellent model of style. Simplicity, combined with elegance, is the aim. It will be increasingly imitated and admired, as more correct ideas of style are diffused.

ON THE STUDY OF TAMIL.

Europeans have now great facilities for studying the language. The Rev. P. Percival mentioned to the compiler, that when he first came to the country, more than 30 years ago, a manuscript copy of Beschi's Tamil Dictionary cost him about £10. It can now be purchased for Rs. 1½ (2s. 6d). Several Grammars and Dictionaries are mentioned below. An admirable series of books has been prepared by Dr. G. U. Pope. A few introductory remarks may be offered.

It is of the utmost importance that a European should commence the study of the vernacular as soon he lands in the country. Long experience has shewn, that unless he gets over the main difficulties of the language the first year, there is little prospect of his getting over them at all.

The best way of gaining a knowledge of Tamil, is to imitate a child. With industry, this is perhaps the great secret of success.

A child first acquires two or three familiar words and uses them. His vocabulary gradually extends with his wants. Let the European first learn to pronounce with accuracy three or four words, as water, salt, take, bring, which he can turn daily to account, and let him always use them when he can. Every new word and idiom should be entered in a List, and revised continually. Each should come as freely as an English term, and be instantly recognized when heard.
Accurate pronunciation should be aimed at from the very first. The different classes of letters, dentals, linguals, &c., should be distinguished. The position of the tongue, &c., in pronouncing them, should be ascertained exactly. This often makes all the difference.

Much should be learned by the ear as well as by the eye. Persons who spend most of their time in reading, recognise words more by their looks than their sounds. They are unable often to make out what is said to them, and complain that the people speak too fast. By learning by the ear, not only is this difficulty overcome, but often the words are impressed upon the memory by association with some circumstance.

An experienced Civilian in North India wrote as follows;—

"Missionaries lose a fearful amount of time and energy in what they call studying the language, instead of almost from the beginning mixing freely with the people, and the Vernacular classes of their schools, and picking up the language viva voce, as spoken by those around them. How many Missionaries are there who after two or three years of this book labour know in reality hardly any thing of the idiomatic colloquial, which, after all, is nearly all that most of them will want, and without which they can hardly expect to do any good."*

When some progress has been made, the study of books will become of increasing importance.

Grammars.

Grammatica Latino-Tamulica. For the common dialect. By Beschi. This work was written in 1728. The first edition seems to have been printed at Tranquebar in 1739. 12mo. 175 pp. It was reprinted at the College Press of the Madras Government in 1813; and at Pondicherry in 1843. (8vo. 245 pp. 1 Re. 10 as.) An English translation by Mr. C. H. Horst, was printed at Madras in 1831 by the Christian Knowledge Society. A new translation, by the Rev. G. W. Mahon, was printed in 1848 at the Press of the same Society, 8vo. 146 pp. The selling price is now 8 as. Beschi's Grammar "has been superseded in a great measure by later publications, yet is deserving of an attentive perusal by every Tamil student." Dr. G. U. Pope.

* Calcutta Christian Observer for 1858, p. 88.

Rudiments of Tamil Grammar. By R. Anderson, Madras Civil Service. 4to. 184 pp. London. 1821. "A able work, but its usefulness is lessened by its strict imitation of the native grammars." Dr. G. U. Pope. (Trübner, 20s.)

Grammar of the Tamil Language. By Rev. C. T. E. Rhenius. 8vo. 293 pp. Government Book Depot, Rs. 4. "This is a very clear and useful work, and was founded upon that of Beschius. It has gone through three editions, and though not a philosophical grammar, is a plain, useful manual. The syntax is deficient, and the examples are mostly made for the grammar, and not taken from standard Tamil authors." Dr. G. U. Pope.

Abridgement of Rhenius' Tamil Grammar. 2nd Ed. 18mo. 206 pp. American Mission Press. 1845. (out of print.)

Outline of Tamil Grammar. By the Rev. Dr. C. Graul. 8vo. 101 pp. Leipsig. 1855. Sold at Tranque-

English Grammar in Tamil and English. By J. G. Seymer. 8vo. 497 pp. Though designed for the use of Tamilians studying English, it will be of some service to Englishmen studying Tamil. Church Mission Office, Madras.

Comparative Grammar of the Dravidian or South Indian Family of Languages. By the Rev. R. Caldwell L.l.d. 8vo. 528 pp. London. 1856. This elaborate work has secured for its author a high position among European scholars. Dr. Pope justly remarks that it "throws great light upon every part of the subject. No real student of the language should be without it." The introduction and appendices contain much interesting information respecting the Dravidian tribes of India. The work is the great storehouse from which much of the materials in the present compilation has been drawn. It is sold at the Government Book Depôts, Madras and Bombay, price Rs. 10½.

Grammaire Francaise-Tamoule. Pondicherry. 1 Re. 10 as.

Dictionaries.

Dictionary Malabar and English. By Fabricius and Breithaupt. 4to. 185 pp. Madras, 1779. 2nd. Ed. Revised by Pæzold and others. 4to 185 pp. 1809. The number of words is about 9,000. It "was written chiefly by Fabricius, when he was in jail, for debt contracted by standing security for other people. The Dictionary enabled him to discharge his liabilities!" Rev. H. Bower.

Dictionary of the Tamil and English Languages. By Dr. J. P. Rottler. In four parts. The first part was printed at Vepery in 1834. The author died while the second part was passing through the Press. The editorship was then committed to the Rev. W. Taylor. The work forms a quarto volume of 1425 Pages. All words are referred to the simplest roots. It is now sold at the Christian Knowledge Society's Depository, Madras, at Rupees 10. Every Missionary should have a copy.

Tamil and English Dictionary. This work was commenced by the Rev. J. Knight. The Rev. P. Percival and the Rev. L. Spaulding rendered valuable assistance. It was completed by the late Rev. Dr. Winslow, who devoted many years labour to its revision and enlargement. Several Native scholars were also employed. It was beautifully printed by Mr. P. R. Hunt, American Mission Press, somewhat in the style of Webster's English Dictionary. 4to, 976 pp. A very rough calculation gives the number of words as 65,000. The preface states that it contains upwards of 30,000 words more than any similar work. Price 22. Govt. Book Depôt.

Dictionarium Latino-Gallico-Tamulicum. Pondicherry. Rs. 4 As. 6.

Dictionaire Latin-Francais-Tamoul avec Vocabulaire Francais. Pondicherry. Rs. 5 As. 6.

Vocabularies, Phrase Books, &c.

Bower's Vocabulary. Part I. 8vo. 78 pp. Madras, 1852. English and Tamil, systematically arranged, to advance the learner in scientific, as well as verbal knowledge.

Both the preceding useful works are at present out of print.

Phrase Book, or Idiomatic Exercises in English and Tamil. 18mo. 343 pp. 8 as. American Jaffna Mission.

Vocabulaire Francais-Tamoul. Pondicherry. Rs. 2. annas 2.

Lecons Faciles de Francais et de Tamoul. 12mo. 147 pp. Pondicherry, 1850.

Robertson's Tamil Papers, Govt. Book Depot. Rs. 3½.

Tamil Primer for the use of Beginners 8vo. 46. pp. Madras 1861. By the Rev. W. Taylor. For Europeans studying Tamil, Tamil Vade-Mecum. 8vo. Rupees 12. By P. Singaravelavanderam Pillay. The following is an extract: "In critical sense, according to grammatical form of இல்லை shows another meaning; that deficiency." p. 5.

English and Tamil Vocabulary of Words and Sentences. Parts I and II, each. 16mo. 32 pp. 1 an. C. V. E. S. Familiar words classified.

First Book in English and Tamil. 18mo. 72 pp. 2 as. C. V. E. S.

First Book English and Tamil. 16mo. 2 as. M. S. B. S.

First Book English and Tamil. With interlinear Translation. 2 as.

Second Book English and Tamil. 16mo. 3 as. M. S. B. S.

Second Book English and Tamil. With Interlinear Translation. 16mo. 2½ as. M. S. B. S.

Course of Reading.
The Rev. Dr. Caldwell was asked to name the twelve Tamil books he would suggest for the study of a young European Missionary, arranging them in the order in which they should be read. He kindly furnished the following list:—

3. Panchatantra. Parts I—IV. Govt. B. Depot. 4 as.
5. Minor Poets, omitting the Nitinerivilakkum.
6. Beschi's Instruction to Catechists. C. V. E. S. Depot. 3 as.
8. Uttara Ramayana Charitram.
9. Panchatantra. Part V.
10. Arunachella Puranam. See page 75.

Scriptures and Tracts should also be included. Of the latter, the “Blind Way” is especially recommended to be read, on account of the poetical quotations, and the Hindu religious technical terms with which it abounds.

The Rev. P. Percival, when questioned by the compiler as to the best specimens of Tamil prose, gave the first place to the Uttara Ramayana Charitram. Next to it, he ranked Beschi’s Instructions to Catechists and the Panchatantra.

It will be observed that Dr. Caldwell has entered in his list two or three of the best poems, or at least portions of them. Beschi gave the following advice to his brethren with respect to such works:

“That the study will be one of considerable difficulty I do not pretend to deny; but the labour will not want its reward. Among the natives themselves very few can now be found, who are masters of the higher dialect. He among them who is acquainted even with its rudiments, is regarded with respect; but should he quote their abstruse works he is listened to with fixed admiration; what praise, then, would they not bestow on a foreigner, whom they should find deeply versed in a science which they themselves consider scarcely attainable? They will readily attend to the teaching of one whose learning is the object of their admiration. And as this may evidently lead to the honor of religion, and promote the salvation of those around us, I am satisfied that this consideration alone operating on zeal like yours, will suffice to excite you to the study of this dialect, notwithstanding the difficulties that attend it.

“But since almost all the Tamil works in this dialect are in verse, I trust you will not deem it improper, if I venture to draw your attention to heathen poets, and to the study of poetry. In former times, St. Jerome was severely censured for having by the introduction of examples from the poets, sullied the purity of the church with the pollution of the heathen. St. Jerome in his learned reply, demonstrates, that the Apostle Paul repeatedly cites from the poets in his Epistles, and that the most exemplary among the Fathers not only made frequent use of illustrations from the writings of laymen, but that, even by their own poetry, they, far from polluting, embellished the church. These remarks apply with particular force in this country, the natives of which are swayed not so much by reason as by authority; and what have we from their own authors to adduce in aid of truth, except the verses of their poets? For since all their writings are in verse, they have reduced to metre their rules of art, and even the rudiments of their language; whence, they naturally suppose, that he who does not understand their poetry, is totally ignorant. Moreover, there are excellent works in Tamil poetry, on the subject of the divine attributes and the nature of virtue; and if by producing texts from them, we turn their own weapons against themselves, they will blush not to conform to the precepts of teachers in whom they cannot glory without condemning themselves. If we duly consider what has been said, we shall be satisfied that, in this country especially, it is highly proper in a minister of the gospel to read the poets, and to apply himself to the study of poetry."

Dr. G. U. Popo’s Anthology may be turned to excellent account by a Missionary. Being classified, appropriate quotations on the subjects included may easily be selected.

Proverbs may often be used by Missionaries with admirable effect. Aptly introduced, they will arrest the attention and secure the good humour of a native audience. In 1843, a collection of 1873 Proverbs in Tamil, with their translation in English by the Rev. P. Percival, was published by the Jaffna Book Society, (12mo. 266 pp.) This useful work is now out of print; but Palamoli Tiraddu, noticed at page 165 of the Catalogue, will serve, in some measure, as a substitute.

Select Tamil Library.

Every year at least a few new books are published. Information respecting those issued by Religious Societies and Government can be obtained by examining the following Catalogues:—
Madras Religious Tract Society.
Christian Vernacular Education Society.
Madras School Book Society.
Tranquebar Mission Press.
Palamcottah Mission Press.
Nagercoil Mission Press.
Jaffna Tract Society.
American Mission, Jaffna.
Pondicherry Press List.

Most of the Catalogues can easily be obtained by giving the address and enclosing an anna for postage.

Books published by natives are sold in the Madras Book Bazar, and to some extent, in every town of any size in the Tamil country. Missionaries at rural stations can obtain copies through friends in Madras. The more expensive books are not kept on sale at the Bazar; but the hawkers can readily procure them. A good Tamil book-shop is a want. There are a few small shops where publishers sell their own books; but none where any large collections are kept. The following are some of the principal of this class:—

A list of Books suggested for a Missionary's Tamil Library is given below. Many others will be useful for certain objects; but those named are specially recommended for his own study, or for reference as other duties may permit. Some useful tracts for circulation are also mentioned.
Protestant Books and Tracts.

The following are some of the most popular tracts for Hindus, issued by the Madras Tract Society: No. 40 The Blind Way. 36. The Hindu Triad. 63. Essence of Wisdom. 77. Jewel Mine of Salvation. 91. Test of Hinduism. The following are good simple tracts: No. 13. The Doctrine of the Soul. 11. Justice and Mercy Displayed.

Among the Tracts published by the South Travancore Tract Society may be mentioned: 17. Choose the Best. 3. Spiritual Teaching. 4. The Good Way. 24. Destruction of Superstition. 27. Educate your Children. There are several good handbills published by the same Society. A list of the prices of the Tracts may be obtained on application to the Missionary in charge of the Press at Nagercoil.

The Jaffna Tract Society has issued a large number of Tracts; but many of them are now out of print. The following are a few which have been specially recommended: 24. Good Counsel. 28. The Accepted Time. 36. Good Opportunity. 40. The Spiritual Touchstone. 56. Heathen Festivals. 71. Evidences from Hinduism. 73, 74. Mother’s Manual. 84. Self-Examination. 87. Natural and Revealed Law.

Roman Catholic Books.

Beschi’s work for Catechists has already been noticed. The following are others which a Missionary may read with advantage. The Tamil is, in general, very good, and some valuable illustrations may be collected from them:

புனிதோர்கள் கையில், காசநேரகுறி உணவரம், தான் குறுக்கு, முனைப்பலைக், and குறிப்புக்குப்பலைக்.
Native Books.

Ethics.—Tamil Minor Poets, Kural, Naladiyar, Palamoli Tiraddu, Pope’s Anthology.

Medicine.—Akastiyar Vayittiya Rattina Surukkam, Waring’s Bazar Medicines.

Poetry.—Arissantira Puranam, Makaparatam, Nala Venpa, Naidatam, Ramayana, Tanipadal Tiraddu.

Tales.—Katamansari, Katasintamana, Panchatantra, Pope’s Prose Reading Book, Ramayana Uttara Kandam, Vinotarasamansari.

Dictionaries and Grammars have been previously described.

NEW TAMIL PUBLICATIONS WANTED.

One great object of this publication is to aid in showing which books are most wanted in the Tamil language. The Catalogue will afford some assistance in the preliminary inquiry, what books already exist? As the whole subject has necessarily come under the review of the compiler, he may be allowed to offer a few suggestions.

Books for Christians.

These be noticed under two heads—reprints and new publications.

Reprints.—There are a few valuable works of which the editions are now exhausted. Among them may be specially mentioned the following:—
Bower's Theological Dictionary. Though there is a small Bible Dictionary available, published by the C. V. E. S., Mission agents and the more intelligent private Christians require a larger work.

The Pilgrim's Progress. The Madras edition of Part I. is out of print. A new translation of both parts was published at Jaffna some years ago. If copies are still available, they should be kept on sale at Madras; or the work should be re-printed. It is very undesirable that such a treasure should not now be procurable on the continent.

Bunyan's Holy War. This has been out of print for many years. A sort of Hindu Holy War is noticed at page 184.

Dodridge's Rise and Progress of Religion. An edition, adapted to India, was published in Calcutta. It was printed in English and Tamil at Jaffna in 1848. The Tamil alone, with any requisite changes, should be republished.

Bower on the Creed. This is abridged from Pearson, with adaptations to India. It contains 224 pp. Perhaps it might be enlarged with advantage.

Pico's Early Piety.
Ayah and Lady.
Little Henry and His Bearer.
Daily Text Book.
Analysis of the New Testament.
Bower's Lectures on the Moral Law.
Harmony of the Gospels.

New Publications.—The chief desideratum is a complete Commentary on the Scriptures. It must be confessed that there are difficulties connected with the publication of such a work. For the present, it will be consulted almost entirely by Mission agents. In 1860 the Christian Vernacular Education Society published a Commentary on the Gospels and Acts, a volume of 1144 pages octavo. For convenient reference, the text was printed with the notes. The latter are about the same length as those in the Family Bible of the American Tract Society, occupying three octavo volumes. From the difference in the size of type, a corresponding work in Tamil would form six octavo volumes. Yet the great complaint about the Commentary issued by the C. V. E. S. is its brevity. In spite, however, of this objection, a general Commentary on the Scriptures is very desirable. The text may be printed in small type to occupy less space. By the time the Commentary on the New Testament can be completed, the standard version of the Old Testament will have made sufficient progress to enable it also to form the text for the Old Testament.

Already commentaries on a few separate books have been published. Others are in progress, including Hodge on the Romans, and a full exposition of Galatians by the Rev. E. Lewis.

The brief general Commentary may suffice for the present on certain books: expositions of the books particularly demanding fuller comments can be added by degrees.

A good Church History in Tamil is still a great want. The little popular treatise by Barth is far below the requirements of Mission agents. The abridgment of the work by Goodrich, in the Tamil Quarterly Repository, might be examined; but as the original was published in 1838, probably a more recent treatise should form the basis of the publication required.

The following are the names of some English works, which, if re-written and adapted* to India, would be useful:—

Angus’s Bible Hand-Book. (Might be published in parts.)
Connection of Scripture History.
Hall’s Contemplations.

*This limitation must be borne in mind. More translations, especially in some cases, would be of very little value.
Scripture Characters.
Krummacher's Elijah.
Do. Saint's Rest.
Pike's Guide for young Disciples.
Abbott's Young Christian.
Kennedy's Divine Life.
Self Improvement.
Flavel's Husbandry Spiritualized.
Christian Martyrs.
The Book and its Story.
History of Christianity in India.
Oriental Christian Biography.
Life of Oberlin.
Anecdotes (see Vols. published by R. T. S.)

A complete translation of A Kempis on the Imitation of Christ has been printed at Pondicherry. Perhaps it might be reprinted with advantage, omitting any parts considered objectionable by Protestants. It must be admitted, however, that the abridgment by Dr. Schmid, now on hand at the Madras T. S. Depository, has met with scarcely any sale. Perhaps the little work is not known. One or two other Roman Catholic books might, perhaps, be reprinted after careful revision.

A good native Christian poet of Jaffna, Mr. J. Evarts, under the superintendence of the Rev. C. MacArthur, is preparing what may be termed a Bible Purana. The portion published has been very well received at Jaffna. The great objection to Tamil poetry in classic style is its unintelligibility to ordinary readers. The Rev. S. Winfred has commenced a History of David in Ammanai verse, which is written in a much simpler style. The Tanjore poet left several works in manuscript, which might be printed with advantage.
Christian Publications for Hindus.

It is to be lamented to what a small extent Christian Literature has yet reached Native channels of circulation. The compiler has repeatedly visited the Native book-market and examined the bundles of books carried round by hawkers. He remembers meeting with only one publication among them all which was written by a Christian, and that was in poetry. There are serious obstacles to be encountered. Much is said about "sensation" novels at home, but the most stirring of them and even nursery stories about Jack the Giant-killer, and his seven league boots, are stale and flat, compared with what is provided for the Hindu in his own literature. M. Williams thus contrasts Greek and Hindu mythology:—

"In the Iliad and the Odyssey, a god is little more than idealised humanity. His form and his actions are seldom out of keeping with this character. Hindu mythology, on the other hand, springing from the same source as that of Europe, but, spreading and ramifying with the rank luxuriance of an Indian forest, speedily outgrow all harmony of proportions, and surrounded itself with an intricate and impenetrable undergrowth of monsters and confused allegory. Doubtless the gods of the Indian and Grecian epics preserve some traces of their common origin, resembling each other in various ways; interfering in human concerns, exhibiting human infirmities, taking part in the battles of their favourite heroes, furnishing them with celestial arms, or interposing directly to protect them. But even in the Ramayana, where Hindu mythology may be regarded as not fully developed, the shape and operations of divine and semi-divine beings are generally suggestive of the monstrous, the frightful, the hideous, and the incredible; the deeds of its heroes, who are themselves half-gods, transport the imagination into the region of the wildest chimera; and a whole pantheon presents itself, teeming with grotesque and unwieldy symbols, with horrible creations, half-animals half-gods, with man-eating ogres, many-headed giants and disgusting demons, to an extent which the refined and delicate sensibilities of the Greeks and Romans could not have tolerated."
NEW PUBLICATIONS WANTED.  xl ix

One effect is noticed:—

"The capacity of an uneducated Hindu for believing the grossest absurdities, and accepting the most monstrous fictions as realities, is apparently unlimited. Even a decent approximation to the actualities of real life is too insipid for his glowing imagination. Hence the absence of all history in the literature of India. A plain narration of facts has no charm whatever."

It is of great importance in providing publications for the heathen to begin with something familiar. Strange names at the outset have a very repelling effect. Abstract truth is nearly as bad. Christianity alone, almost in any shape, has little attraction. The compiler has been connected, more or less, with tract circulation in the East for about 20 years. He is obliged to confess that the instances which have come under his notice are exceedingly rare of a Hindu asking for a tract which contained nothing but the Gospel. Nearly every publication which may be characterised as at all popular, refers at some length to heathenism. This, indeed, is easily explicable. Hinduism is familiar to the people, and a subject of interest; Christianity is new, and its pure truths are distasteful to the carnal mind.

The plan already adopted to some extent might be pursued still further—viz., starting with well-known Hindu topics, and gradually unfolding Christian truth. The Calcutta Tract Society has published a series of tracts on Siva, Durga, the Ganges, &c.; the Bombay Tract Society has issued Tracts on some popular shrines. In the hands of native writers, such publications are liable to become mere attacks on Hinduism; but this can be guarded against, and much instruction communicated. Christian truth may sometimes be impressed more forcibly by comparing it with the errors of Hinduisms. A courteous tone should be adopted throughout. "Speaking the truth in love," should be the motto.

Matters connected with the daily avocations of the * Indian Epic Poetry, pp. 49-50. people are other good subjects to begin with. Most of them being engaged in agriculture, tracts on sowing, reaping, the barren mango-tree, paying tax to Government, &c., would come home to them.

Our Lord's parable of the Prodigal and several others, can be appreciated by all.

Poetical Tracts are specially wanted for the Heathen. The Committee of the South Travancore Tract Society have acted wisely in issuing several of this description.

The large number of works on Vedantism, prepared for every grade of the Tamil community, must strike all who examine the catalogue. It is very desirable that two or three good treatises, in refutation of them, should be prepared.

Probably some materials for publications for Hindus might be collected from the Roman Catholic books mentioned at page xliii.

Efforts to call forth Native Writers.

Most of the Christian books which have appeared in Tamil have been translated by Natives under the direction of Europeans. Original compositions by them are, however, the great want, and of these very few have been produced. Of Protestant Christian books in prose, there are only two of any size from the pens of native writers. Only natives can fully enter into the feelings of their countrymen. In many cases the arguments and illustrations, which seem most convincing and telling to a European, fall without weight; while others, which he would almost laugh at as absurd, carry irresistible force. Additional exertions should, therefore, be made to secure the co-operation of native writers. Missionaries should encourage their agents to undertake the preparation of suitable works. The offer of rewards for the best compositions on specified subjects has already been repeatedly tried with success. It would be well to adopt the plan more frequently. Short and easy compositions should be selected.
GENERAL LITERATURE.

One of the greatest wants in Tamil is a supply of interesting general literature of a wholesome character. Without being directly religious, the tone should be such as would commend itself to a Christian mind. It is to be hoped that the Madras School Book Society will make an effort in this direction, and that all other available agencies will do what lies in their power.

With the masses, it is still the mythological period. They will require appropriate intellectual pabulum. Education, however, is spreading, and every year there will be an increasing demand for works of a higher character.

It will be observed that the department of Natural Science is almost a total blank in Tamil literature. The best mode of rendering scientific terms has been the subject of much discussion. Some would transfer the English terms; others would compound existing words to prevent the foreign phraseology rendering the subject distasteful; while a third course is to adopt both plans in certain cases. It has also been suggested that there should be two nomenclatures—scientific terms for students, and popular terms to be used in works for general readers.

Dr. Green, Medical Missionary, Jaffna, has devoted considerable attention to the subject. He suggests the following Rules:—

I. Aim to have each Term apposite, brief, and euphonious.

II. Seek for it first in the Tamil, thus;

1. Prefer a simple or compound word in common use; or,
2. If none, appropriate some abstruse but aptly characteristic word; or,
3. Compound a word by the union of two or more apt simples; or,
4. By the union of an apt particle and root; or,
5. Modify some apt radical word by ending it euphoniously in any ordinary form; or,
6. Adopt a word having the same meaning as the original of the English Derivative; or,
7. When there are several words for one meaning; or several meanings for one word; restrict as may be requisite, to designate the specific object.

III. Failing to secure a satisfactory Term in the Tamil, seek it in the Sanscrit, thus;
1. Consult an English and Sanscrit Dictionary and select from that; or,
2. Select from a Sanscrit and English Dictionary.
3. Prefer a Term sanctioned by both; or,
4. Should no specific Term be found, appropriate some word not in common use, which is expressive of one or more characteristics of the object to be named; or,
5. Compound a word by the union of two or more apt simples; or,
6. If it better suit the case, either construct a Term by the union of an appropriate particle and root; or,
7. Adopt a word having the same meaning as the original of the English derivative.
8. When there are several words for one meaning, or several meanings for one word, restrict, as may be requisite, to designate the specific object.

IV. Finding no Term either in Tamil or Sanscrit transfer the English.
1. Write the word according to its elementary sounds.
2. Modify it when requisite, by the addition of an appropriate particle.
3. In compounds, if there be for any member, a good common Tamil word, use it, combined with the English word.

V. Inflect all Terms according to the Rules of Tamil Grammar.

Examples.
Anthelmintic, கோப்பான்மைனி. (T. 3.)
Eschar, கோட்டை. (T. 5.)
Dysentery, கோடியொலி. (S. 1.
Dysmenorrhoea, கோத்து. (S. 2. 6.)
Demulcent, கோத்து. (888-S. 3.)
Albumen, கோத்து. (White, 444. S. 3, 4.)
Ether, கோத்து. (E. 1.)
Gum Arabic, கோத்து. (E. 3.)
UNIVERSITY AND GOVERNMENT SCHOOL TEXT-BOOKS IN INDIA.

Sad is the condition of the great majority of educated youths in India. They have been sufficiently enlightened through English science and literature, taught in Government Colleges, to be convinced that their ancestral faith is a mere invention of the Brahmins. Did they stop here, this would be a gain; but the conclusion which they generally draw is, that all religions are cunningly devised fables. In some respects they are in a worse position for arriving at the truth than the illiterate peasant, who believes that God has spoken to man.

It cannot be denied that such young men are tempted to act upon the maxim, "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." If, in accordance with the rule of professed religious neutrality, the only effectual safeguard against the snares of youth must not be mentioned, it is doubly incumbent upon all connected with Government education in India that allurements to vice should not be presented. Where conscience has few supports, where temptations beset on every side, where youthful passions are wild and strong, the utmost jealousy should be shown of every thing calculated to have an injurious moral tendency.

It is deeply to be regretted that, in some cases, in the selection of Vernacular books, sufficient care has not been taken. The Director of Public Instruction for the North-West Provinces, in his Report for 1863-64, has the following remarks:

"The Urdu subjects for the current year are not desirable books to place in the hands of students. The books I take exception to are the Nasr-i-be-Nazir, Fasanah-i-Ajaib. To these may be added "Selections from the Poets," (for the same examination) published by authority, on the subject of which I have been addressed by a gentleman recently in charge of a large private (affiliated) institution. He says (March 1864) 'Our head maulvie told me that the book was so immoral and khrab (bad) in every way, that no respectable Mahommedan would allow his son to read
It. Yet the book must be digested for examination, whether moral or immoral."

It would appear from the above, that the professedly Christian men connected with the first University in India prescribed a book which "no respectable Muhammadan would allow his son to read."

The Madras University selected for examination in 1864 and 1865 portions of the Naishadam. Some expressions in the poem would amuse a European. The heroine is said to have had eyes reaching to her ears, and a waist as slender as a flash of lightning! The work, however, is so fascinating to a Tamil, that it has been called "the nectar of poets."

The portion for the First Examination in Arts in 1864 included 272 stanzas, as given in the edition published by the Director of Public Instruction. There are several stanzas in which Damayanti is described in a voluptuous style, with allusions to her breasts. To understand fully the poem, students would require to refer to the complete Native edition with the commentary. As the verses are numbered differently, all of them would have to be examined. In their search they would find, in compliance with the rules of Tamil poetry, a glowing description of every member of Damayanti. In preparing for the examination for 1865, they would come across, in the complete edition, the scenes which took place in the bridal bed-chamber: also as laid down in the Grammar, Agaporul.

It has often been noticed that a Hindu pundit, instead of passing over anything indecorate, seems to revel in it, and delight in explaining it in disgusting detail. Such a work as the Naishadam, even though expurgated, should be struck out of the university list, and excluded from schools.

In the case of young men anything having an immoral influence is chiefly to be dreaded. With regard to younger pupils, all encouragement of superstitious errors and inculcation of idolatry, have likewise to be guarded against.
The Vedas have never been translated into Tamil; the writings of Auvaiyar, Tiruvalluvar, and other poets, form the real moral and religious code. They are taught in every native school, and their dicta are received as infallible truth. The bulk of the verses are unobjectionable; some of them are of great beauty and excellence. There are, however, intermingled passages, inculcating idolatry and superstition of various kinds. The following may be quoted as specimens from the edition of the Tamil Minor Poets, printed at the Public Instruction Press for use in Government Schools:

Invocations.—"Milk, sweet honey, syrup, and grain, these four mixed together, to thee will I give. Do thou O majestic, noble, elephant-faced one, thou holy jewel, grant me the three kinds of Tamil common in the world." p. 28.

"Let us ornament our heads with the wonderful flower, the foot of the five-handed glorious one, who is the mystic syllable, Om." p. 14.

Worship of Siva.—"To those who meditate on Si-va-ya-na-ma, there will be no suffering at any time: this is the way of overcoming the decree of destiny; this is true wisdom; but fate will be the cause of all other occurrences to men." p. 31.

Rubbings of Sacred Ashes.—"The forehead without sacred ashes is void of beauty." p. 31.

Pantheism. "He will not make any distinction saying, 'This is good and this is bad,' 'I did this and he did that,' 'This is not and this is,' but in his state of perfection, it will be true of him that 'he himself is that,' (meaning God).—p. 36.

Fatalism and Transmigration. "Each must enjoy the fruits of his actions done in former births according to what Brahma has written (on the forehead). Oh king, what shall we do to those who are angry with us? Though the whole town together be opposed to it, will destiny be frustrated?"—p. 34.

Although in these days of religious indifference, the worship of "Jehovah, Jove, or Lord," may be regarded with equal eye, every right-minded Christian will shudder at countenancing in the slightest degree the crime of high treason against the God of heaven. The British Government rightly puts down, with a strong hand, rebellion against itself; it forbids the teaching in its schools of the blessed words, "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved;" yet in Government school-books youths are taught to worship the gods of the Hindu pantheon, and to believe that their foreheads are void of beauty unless they bear the mark of rebellion against their Creator.

There is another important point requiring attention. All Europeans probably agree that the foulest blot on the moral character of the Hindus is insincerity. There is consequently no virtue more desirable than a manly ingenuousness. One of the books most frequently prescribed for the Madras University Examinations is the Panchatantra. One entire section (Part III.) is devoted to teaching how to overcome enemies by false professions of friendship. In some other parts of the work, successful trickery is virtually applauded and held up to imitation. Part I., on causing divisions between friends, is also objectionable.

It may be said that the University selects books simply on account of their literary merits; and that neither their religious opinions nor their morality are endorsed. Any such excuse reminds the compiler of another, "As a madman who casteth fire-brands, arrows, and death, so is the man that deceiveth his neighbour, and saith, am not I in sport?"

Duty of the Universities.

The foregoing statements are made solely with the design of securing a remedy. There is one which may easily be adopted. Last year the Punjab Government appointed a Committee to select unobjectionable books for the study of Civil Servants. Let the Universities follow the same course. The choice of vernacular books should not be left to sensual Muhammadans and Hindus, nor even to Brahmanised Englishmen. By careful selection, a sufficient number of suitable extracts may be obtained.
Tamil Typography.

A few remarks under this head may not be uninteresting.

European Printing.—The first Tamil types seem to have been cut at Amsterdam in 1678, to express the names of some plants in the large work, Horti Indici Malabarici. Ziegenbalg asserts, however, that they were so bad, that even the Tamils themselves could not make them out.* It would appear that the next attempt was made at Halle, about 1710, to supply the Tranquebar Mission. Fenger says, "The people there, though unacquainted with the Tamil language, succeeded in making some Tamil letters, which they hastily tried and sent to Tranquebar; where the first part of the New Testament, as well as other things, was printed with them. This sample, the very first thing ever printed in Tamil characters, was the Apostles' Creed, and the friends at Halle when they despatched it with the printing-press, requested soon to be requited by a copy of the New Testament in Tamil.† The printing of the New Testament was completed at Tranquebar in 1715.

The type first cut at Halle is about equal to the size called English. Smaller founts were cut afterwards. A specimen is given of a part of Arndt's "True Christianity," printed at Halle in 1751.

Founts of type were subsequently cut in India. Printing was carried on, both on the continent and in Ceylon. In 1761 the Madras Government allowed the Vepery Missionaries the use of a press taken at Pondicherry. The second specimen of printing shows the state of Tamil printing previous to recent improvements.

Tamil typography owes its present excellence mainly to Mr. P. R. Hunt, of the American Mission Press. With much labour, he superintended the cutting of the punches of several founts; the smallest size (brevier) he had prepared in America. Mr. Hunt has produced

* Preface to Grammatica Damulica.
† History of the Tranquebar Mission, p. 87.
BAD.

[சிற்றசூழல்]

[தலமைப்பு]

[தலமைப்பு]

[தலமைப்பு]

GOOD.
the smallest vernacular edition of the Scriptures ever yet issued in India. The American Mission Press has also raised the standard of printing throughout the Tamil country.

Native Printing.—The Rev. W. Taylor states* that up to 1835 the only Tamil works printed by Natives were the Kural and some trifles by Auvaïyar. In that year Sir Charles Metcalf removed the restrictions on printing, and soon afterwards native presses began to be established.

In 1863 ten Native Presses in Madras, printing in Tamil, furnished returns of their publications. There are several more presses. Generally they are on a very small scale. According to Hindu custom, related families herd together. A wooden printing press is owned in common; some members act as printers; others attend to sales. This, indeed, was the early practice in Europe. Hallam says “The first printers were always booksellers, and sold their own impressions. These occupations were not divided till the early part of the sixteenth century.”†

Three or four native printers have iron presses, and even claim to hot-press their sheets. Some books printed by them are of very fair workmanship. Three specimens of native printing are given—bad, medium, and good.

By the new scheme of taxation in the Madras Presidency, every Printing establishment is to pay Rs. 50 annually for a license. It is said that this will cause some of the smaller presses to be given up.

Charges.—When natives print for themselves, the rates are low. 500 copies of a half sheet demy, containing 12 pages the same size as this work, cost from Rs. 1½—2 (3s.—4s)‡ if a wooden press is employed. If printed by an iron press and hot-pressed, the charge is Rs. 3½. The terms for binding are equally low. A work containing 100—200 pages 8vo. is half bound in † Literature of Europe, Vol. 1, p. 244,

‡ Exclusive of paper.
cloth for half an anna, or 3d. In this case, however, the book is stitched, not sewed. A volume of 400 pages 8vo. in the usual style of bazar books, is bound for one anna. The rates, of course, are higher for superior workmanship.

A tale or drama containing about 100 pages, 8vo. half bound in cloth, is sold for about 2½ annas, (3½d.) works which have a small circulation are more expensive. The medium specimen of native printing is a part of the dramatic Ramayana. The work forms an octavo volume of 394 pages. The compiler paid 12 annas (1s. 6d.) for a copy. The best specimen of native printing is a part of an edition of the Kural, containing 389 pages 8vo., strongly bound in sheep. The price was Rs. 1½ (2s. 6d.) As Europeans almost invariably are charged more than Natives, the usual selling prices are probably lower.

Book-hawking, &c. The agencies for the circulation of Native books are effective. As already mentioned, Tamil books may be purchased in the bazaars of every town in the country. The Rev. J. F. Leeper kindly caused inquiries to be made at Combaconum about the books sold there. He obtained a list of 296. The Rev. J. Guest, by similar investigation, secured 430 names at Tanjore; and the Church Mission writer, 184 titles of books sold in Tinnevelly.

It has been stated that the printers generally sell their own publications. Many of them are taken by book-hawkers, though men of this class are frequently relatives of the printers. Often the book-hawkers have small boys with them, to help in carrying their stock. A little fellow told the compiler that he got 12 annas (1s. 6d.) a month as wages.

During the early part of the day, many of the book-hawkers perambulate the town; in the afternoon they resort to the market, but a few spend the whole day there. In the evening about 25 book-hawkers may be seen at the bazar, sitting behind their piles of books. The book-hawkers visit the principal temples in the neighbourhood, when feasts are held, and large numbers of people assemble from different parts of the country.

The ordinary book-hawkers do not sell Christian books. There is little demand for them on the part of the people. Another objection is that the system of trade allowances has been adopted only to a very limited extent in the Madras Presidency. The Madras Tract Society does not appear to make any reduction to the trade. It is true that the prices are moderate, and book-hawkers might raise them. However, it would perhaps be desirable to permit book-hawkers to purchase at lower rates. The Christian Vernacular Education Society allows 12½ per cent.; but this is insufficient. If ever Christian publications are to be extensively circulated, they must find their way into the ordinary channels. The subject deserves more attention than it has received. The just remark was made in a Report of the Calcutta Vernacular Literature Society, "As much energy must be devoted to securing a circulation for books as is expended in their preparation, or they will lie as lumber on the shelves."

Copyrights.

A considerable number of native books now bear on their title pages, "Registered Copyright." This is always printed in English, being considered much more effective in that language. Sometimes it is expressed, "Registered," "Coby Right," "Copy write," &c. During the recent trial at Bombay, Mr. Howard said, "The earlier books printed by Government are not registered. The mark of their being registered must have been put upon them as a matter of routine." It is possible that at Madras some books may also be marked as registered, though such actually is not the case.

Native publishers tell the compiler, that at the Department where books are registered, the grand consideration is the fee of Rs. 2. Books existing in manuscript over the country, and professedly written at the commencement of the Kali Yugam, or Iron Age, are claimed as copyright by the first man who gets them registered. The compiler is told, that in some instances parties enter books which they propose to publish, without doing so.

The fact that every case about the violation of copyright must come before the High Court of Judicature, is a great bar on both sides to the institution of suits. One, however, was decided on May 23, 1865. A Native Doctor demanded Rs. 5,000 damages from two Native book-sellers for reprinting a well-known Medical treatise, Patartta Kuna Sintumani (See page 175), claimed as copy-right. The Court ordered a "perpetual injunction," restraining the defendants from further selling the book, and decreed that the defendants pay Rs. 5 damages, with Rs. 578 costs.

While original works should receive due protection, it is questionable whether old books, of which numerous manuscript copies exist, should be registered.

Native publishers complain much about the necessity of going to the High Court in a suit. A cheaper and more summary process seems preferable.

DUTY OF GOVERNMENT WITH RESPECT TO VERNACULAR LITERATURE IN INDIA.

The Fourth Session of the International Statistical Congress was held in London in 1860, under the Presidency of the late Prince Consort. Mr. Monckton Milnes, in bringing up the Report on the Statistics of Literature, made the following remarks:

"I think that all the members will agree in this, that the Statistics of Literature are in truth the complement and crown of the Educational Statistics of a country. We can show by Educational Statistics what we teach, and we may show by our books what we have learnt. Therefore I think that everybody will agree that the Statistics of Literature are as necessary as Educational Statistics." p. 126.

The subject has received some attention in India. In 1865 the Bengal Government published in its Records a Catalogue of Sanskrit and Bengali publications, compiled by the Rev. J. Wenger, Officiating Bengali Translator. The following is an extract from the Introduction to the Catalogue:—

"In the year 1863, the Director and Vice-Presidents of the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland applied to Her Majesty’s Secretary of State for India, for assistance in rendering available to Scholars in Europe a knowledge of the current literature of the people of this country. They said:—'It is doubtless well known to you that of late years the Hindoos have shown great literary activity, partly by editing numerous texts of their ancient Sanscrit literature, partly by translating English and Sanscrit works into their Vernacular dialects, and partly by producing original compositions on subjects of a political, scientific, and religious character. But though these books are very numerous, and in many respects important, and though they have an extensive circulation among the Natives of India, only a very inconsiderable portion of them is at present accessible to European Scholars; and the knowledge of these few is, in most instances, due to chance, or to the good-will of disinterested persons residing in India. It is unnecessary for us to dwell on the serious hindrance which has arisen from this circumstance to a proper appreciation of the actual condition of India and its inhabitants, equally from a scientific and a political point of view, and in some degree, we may add, to a proper administration of the country itself. Frequent attempts have, indeed, been made by scholars and booksellers in this country to remove this impediment, but they have hitherto proved unavailing. It is, therefore, our conviction that there is here an urgent necessity for the authoritative assistance of Government, and that by this means alone the claims of oriental studies in England can be adequately satisfied.' To carry these wishes into effect, it was suggested that a catalogue of past publications might be prepared, so far as the means at command would allow; and the Local Governments were requested to furnish the information desired by the Royal Asiatic Society in the form of an Annual Return, as well as to follow out systematically the long standing instructions of the late Court of Directors, for transmitting to England copies of all works of interest and importance issuing from the Press in India."

The means adopted by the Government of India to carry out the objects proposed by the Asiatic Society are quite unsatisfactory.

1. The Returns are very incomplete.

The following extract from the Introduction to the Bengal Catalogue will show some of the difficulties to be encountered at present:—

"The Rev. J. Robinson (Bengali Translator to Government) visited personally some of the Presses in Calcutta, but failed to obtain from them the precise information which he desired. Thus, for instance, the Bidyaratna Press supplied him simply with a list of the titles of the books printed at that establishment, but the number of copies printed or disposed of was not mentioned, and the prices of some publications only were given. At some other establishments only Catalogues of books on sale could be obtained, which did not afford the required details. In April last Mr. Robinson proceeded to Dacca, and succeeded in obtaining returns from three Presses there, viz., the Sulabh Press, the Bengalee Press, and the New Press. Those of the first-named establishment were the most satisfactory; those of the two others were less complete, but more satisfactory than any obtained in Calcutta.

"The sources of information being thus imperfect, Mr. Wenger endeavoured, after Mr. Robinson's departure for Europe (early in June), to supplement them in various ways. Mr. Robinson, junior, the assistant Bengalee Translator, devoted much time to visiting various native Printing Establishments in Calcutta, but with indifferent success. He obtained, however, several catalogues of Bengalee publications on sale at the Native book-shops, and these have been diligently consulted. Mr. Wenger also tried to obtain information in a private way, and gleaned some items of statistics that could not have otherwise been accessible. He also inspected the advertising columns of Native newspapers, and also the published Reports of the Calcutta Auxiliary Bible Society, and the Calcutta Christian Tract and Book Society."

If the personal visits of the Government Translator were attended with such results, it may easily be understood that applications by letter for returns would be still less successful. Except in the case of presses under European management, the present returns sent to England do not probably include half the books actually published. The managers of the native presses know that, if they choose, they can "laugh at the beards" of those who apply for information. They suspect that it is sought for with no good design so far as they are concerned, or at least that it will give them useless trouble.

The importance of complete information is evident. The first proposition adopted by the Section of the International Congress on the Statistics of Literature was the following, drawn up by Mr. Winter Jones and Mr. Watts, both of the British Museum:—

"1. The literary statistics of a country ought to embrace all that is the result of the exercise of the human intellect, so far as the same is manifested through the Press. The most ephemeral street ballad must find a place in its details, no less than the work of the highest scientific character. The Press is called into operation so generally, its use is so necessary for the diffusion of information, so indispensable for the successful accomplishment of many of the most important transactions of life, that its statistics embraces, perhaps, a wider field than that of any other branch. It affords an index to the material, intellectual, and moral condition of a nation, and if carried sufficiently far, will show the special character of the industry of every country."

2. The defective information collected at present is, in most cases, not accessible to the public.

Something has been done. The Bengal Government has published three catalogues, and the Bengali newspapers are reported upon weekly. A few years ago, a meagre report on the Native Press was published by the Government of the North-West Provinces. The compiler is not aware of any other available sources of information. The Madras Director of Public Instruction very courteously allowed him to examine the manuscript returns in his office; but in this manner the statistics of only one division of India can be obtained, while it involves copying all details required.

What is suggested may now be noticed:
CLASSIFIED CATALOGUES OF EXISTING BOOKS.

The first thing requiring attention is, in mercantile phrase, "to take stock" of existing literature. For some purposes it would be very desirable to obtain complete lists of all books in each language, both printed and in manuscript. The compiler must admit that on religious and moral grounds, it would probably be better for India if its entire indigenous Literature shared the reputed fate of the Alexandrian library. Though there are many books containing passages of great beauty and calculated to exert a beneficial influence, there is scarcely a single work entirely unobjectionable, while the great bulk of native literature is grossly superstitious, and in numerous instances highly pernicious in a moral point of view.

But whatever may be the decision respecting a complete catalogue of the literature of each nation of India, there can be no dispute about the great importance of knowing what books have actually been printed. Complete catalogues, well arranged, should therefore be published. Already some have been prepared which will be of service in their compilation. The works of M. Garcin De Tassy will afford considerable aid with regard to Hindustani and Hindi; the catalogues of Messrs. Long and Wenger will be of great value so far as Bengali is concerned; the present volume will be a contribution towards a complete catalogue of Tamil publications. More or less help is available with regard to other languages.

Uniform arrangement in the best manner is of great consequence. Without this the catalogues will lose much of their value. It has been already mentioned that the classification in the Tamil catalogue is on the plan proposed by Messrs. Jones and Watts of the British Museum, and approved of by the International Statistical Congress. With the necessary subdivisions for India, it may be desirable to adopt its leading features. The Asiatic Society might be consulted on the subject.
The second desideratum may next be noticed:

COMPLETE ANNUAL RETURNS.

It is important to know what old books have been reproduced by the press during each year, and what new works have been added to the stock of Vernacular literature. The question is, how can such information best be obtained?

The Bengal Government now returns the registration fee to parties who give the desired details about copyright works, and advertises the books free in the Gazette. Though this is a step in advance, it is quite insufficient. Probably more than three-fourths of the books printed are not registered, and no record of them will thus be obtained.

The only effectual means is to carry out a plan which has been repeatedly proposed,—Require, by law, ANNUAL RETURNS FROM ALL PRESSES.

In England a free copy of every book which is published must be presented to the British Museum. Some might consider it a hardship to enact a corresponding regulation in India. However, there is not this objection to a mere list of titles, with the sizes, prices, &c. of the works.

The following are some of the principal points requiring attention:

1. All presses should be licensed.
2. As during the Mutiny, every publication should bear on it the name and address of the printer.
3. It should be a standing order in all printing establishments, that a copy be filed at once of every sheet printed, and preserved for reference.

This is of great importance. From the absence of method in many of the native presses, the managers in some cases at the end of the year could not furnish complete lists of their own publications, even if they wished it. When the workmen understand the order, it will be obeyed almost mechanically, and at the close of the year an accurate list can easily be furnished.
4. Every press should be compelled, under the penalty of having its license withdrawn, to send to the authorities before the end of January a list of all the works printed during the year, filled up in the form prescribed. There are a few lithographic presses belonging to European merchants, used solely for commercial purposes. Such should be excluded from the above rule.

5. Classified lists of books printed should be published annually. The printing should not be in the order of the returns. It is of trifling consequence to bring together all the books printed by each press—the proportion of each class is the great object, and the name of the press can easily be included. The Statistical Congress Report made the following recommendation:

“As an important object of Statistics is to afford the means of comparing facts occurring at different periods, as well as in different localities, these details ought to be published annually, and be accompanied by such explanations and short statistical comments, by competent persons, as may be necessary for their perfect elucidation.” p. 132.

Original publications, the result of enlightenment derived from Europe, should specially be noticed. They are the great test of progress. So long as the native press simply reprints old books, or issues new ones in the same style, nothing has been gained.

During Lord Canning's administration, the Bengal Government proposed that a Reporter on the Native Press and Vernacular Literature generally, should be appointed, the estimated expense being Rs. 300 monthly. This was disallowed by the Supreme Government as extravagant! The Report on Vernacular Literature comes within the Department of Public Instruction. The principal facts might form an interesting paragraph in the body of the Director's Report; the lists, &c. might be included in the appendix, or published in the Government Selections.

6. Specimens of all publications of any value should be collected in a Public Library. This plan is to be adopted in Calcutta. The Introduction to the Bengal Catalogue has the following notice:

“As part of the same scheme, the project of a Bengalce Library has received attention. It is to contain all the most important and interesting books published in the Vernacular, and is for the present to be collected in the Bengal Secretariat Office; but it is the intention of the Lieutenant Governor to propose hereafter that it should be deposited, and form a special department in the new Museum.”

This should also be done in other parts of India. Each great division should have what may be termed its British Museum Library, as well as its collection of Natural History, &c. Copies of works printed in India are sent to England in duplicate: much more should they be made accessible to the Indian public.

A few of the considerations which should induce the Government of India to carry out the proposed measure, may be briefly noticed.

1. The interests of literature.

Perhaps no portion of Hallam’s “Literature of Europe” is read with greater pleasure than that tracing the history of printing and the dawn of civilisation. The antiquaries and historians of India, in future generations, should have the means of inspecting the earliest efforts of the press, and of recording its gradual progress.

Published lists of books would be an index to the popular taste. Authors could see which books were most in demand, and ascertain also which were most required.

The request of the Royal Asiatic Society may be regarded as sufficient evidence under this head.

During the Lord Gordon riots in London, it is said that an Italian player chalked on his door, to ensure safety from both parties, “no religion.” The Indian Government avows its maxim to be, “perfect religious neutrality.” Any religious grounds for interference will, therefore, not be adduced. But the authorities profess to care for the morality of the people. A few years ago, an act against obscene books was passed, somewhat similar to Lord Campbell’s in England.
This measure at present may be characterised as little more than a mere brutum fulmen. Who knows what books are printed? who is to bring an action for breach of the act? Mr. Justice Anstey recently complained at Bombay about the ends of justice being sometimes defeated in India from the want of a public prosecutor.
It may be mentioned that there is such an officer in Ceylon. The late Sir Anthony Oliphant, Chief Justice of that Island, when a lawyer said in Court that so and so was not the practice at home, replied, “Don’t talk to me of England; we are a century in advance of England.” While the liberty of the press should be jealously guarded, it is also right that where violations of a good law have been committed, that they should be punished. It should form one part of the duty of the Government Reporter to take notice of immoral books. Though a delicate matter to touch upon, adequate cause must be assigned for this proposal.

Probably few Europeans in India are aware of the vile character of some of the productions of the native press. The lowest savages on the face of the earth have not utterly lost all feelings of decency—there is generally a shred of clothing, however small, on the body. But Indian authors, in some cases, seem to have sunk beneath this level. In a Tamil poem, a portion of which was prescribed for examination by the Madras University,* there is a glowing description of what cannot be named. Nor is this all. The “rites mysterious of connubial love” are celebrated, as it were, before the sun. The scenes which took place in the bridal bedchamber are related at length in another part of the poem above mentioned. Strange as it may seem, this is only in accordance with the rules laid down in the division of Tamil Grammar

* It is to be understood that the very objectionable verses were mitted in the portions prescribed. treated of poetry. The preceding remarks refer only to portions of works; there are whole treatises of a still worse character.*

The literature of Bengal contains books, equally objectionable,† and probably the same may be said of every language in India.

Measures should be adopted considerably in raising the tone of native literature. Appended to the license given to each press, should be a statement in the Vernacular to the effect, that the printing of any immoral books, as well as any thing seditious, involves severe penalties. It may be necessary even to explain what passages must be omitted as illegal. The consciences of the people have been so demoralized by a system in which the phallus is a leading object of worship, that in many cases they see no impropriety in what is very offensive. The Government Reporter might simply warn, in the first instance, parties transgressing in this manner.

3. The peace and better administration of the country.

Sad events have shown the truth of the following remarks of Lord Dalhousie in his last Minute:—

"No prudent man, who has any knowledge of eastern affairs, would ever venture to predict the maintenance of continued peace within our Eastern possessions. Experience, frequent hard and recent experience has taught us, that wars from without, a rebellion from within, may at any time be raised against us, in quarters where they were the least to be expected, and by the most feeble and unlikely instruments. No man, therefore, can ever prudently hold forth assurance of continued peace in India."‡

Under such circumstances, it is doubly incumbent to watch any premonitory symptoms of an impending outburst. It is true, that the newspapers are the best political barometer. Still, the popular literature, and

* These are not entered in the Tamil Catalogue.
† Rev. J. Long’s Descriptive Catalogue, 1855, pp. 73, 74.
‡ Recent events in New Zealand and Jamaica may be adduced as additional proofs of the necessity of watching the signs of the times. especially the songs of a country, are valuable indications of feeling. The grievances of the Hindus, real or imaginary, are often embodied in dramas. The Nil Darpan, "Mirror of Indigo," is a case in point.

The Government of India has recently adopted measures for the publication of Commercial Statistics. It is earnestly hoped that the Statistics of Literature will also receive due attention. The Prince Consort, in his Inaugural Address at the Statistical Congress, well observed: "It is the social condition of mankind as exhibited by those facts, which forms the chief object of the study and investigation undertaken by this Congress; and it hopes that the result of its labours will afford to the statesman and legislator a sure guide in his endeavours to promote social development and happiness."

TAMIL AND BENGALI PUBLICATIONS COMPARED.

Accurate comparisons between the literatures of the various nations of India would be interesting and valuable. A large proportion of what may be termed the indigenous literature, consists of translations or imitations of Sanskrit works. The more important of them exist in nearly every Indian language. At present, the available data are so imperfect, that any attempt at such a general survey is impossible. Nor, indeed, can any two languages be satisfactorily contrasted. The publication of Catalogues of Bengali and Tamil Printed Books, affords some means of comparison; but from different arrangement, from simply the titles, being given in some instances, and from omissions, exact statements cannot be made. The compiler regrets that he can offer only a few remarks, written hastily while preparing to leave for England.

The knowledge possessed by Europeans of Bengali literature is due chiefly to the zeal of the Rev. J. Long, an indefatigable labourer in the cause of vernacular literature. In 1835 he published a classified list of 1400 Bengali Books and Pamphlets, and a Return of the names and writings of 515 persons connected with Bengali Literature during the previous 50 years. He also prepared a Report, published by the Bengal Government in its Records, on the Bengali Books issued during the first year of the Mutiny. The same Government has recently published in its Selections (No. XLI.) a "Catalogue of Sanskrit and Bengali publications printed in Bengal." The materials were partly collected by the Rev. J. Robinson; but additions were made, and the work was carried through the press by the Rev. J. Wenger. It contains 182 Sanskrit, 1261 Bengali, 4 Urdu, and 16 English titles, total 1463.

The classification in Mr. Long's catalogue is more minute. Hence it will be chiefly used. Calculations are based upon it when not otherwise mentioned. The later Catalogue, however, shows the striking progress of Bengali literature in certain directions during the last ten years.

Protestant Missions in the Tamil country were commenced in 1706, but for about a century the only labourers were Danes and Germans. Missions in Bengal may be regarded as dating from 1799, when the Serampore Mission was founded. In 1862, there were 65 European Missionaries labouring among the Bengalis, and 16,277 Native Christians. In the Tamil country, there were 132 European Missionaries, and 94,540 Native Christians. The Bengali population of India may be roughly estimated at 26 millions; the Tamil, at 12 millions.

Scriptures.—Both languages possess complete versions of the Scriptures. Between 1852 and 1861, the Calcutta Bible Society published 2,000 Old Testaments, 7,500 New Testaments, 216,950 portions in Bengali, and 70,000 in Musalman Bengali; total 296,450.* During the ten years ending 31st December 1863, there were printed in Bengali for the Baptist Mission Translation Fund, 5,000 Old Testaments, 5,500 New Testaments, and 159,000 portions, total, 199,500. Thus there were printed by both Agencies 465,950.* During the ten years ending 1862, the Madras Bible Society printed in Tamil 8,000 Bibles, 23,000 New Testaments, and 270,000 portions, total 301,000.† The Jaffna Bible Society circulated during the same period 37,251 copies of the Scriptures. Total 338,251. Some editions were also printed for the American Bible Society; but the compiler has no returns on the subject.

Protestant Books and Tracts.—Mr. Long's Catalogue gives the titles of 263 publications in Bengali. To these should be added a considerable number of new works issued during the last ten years. To ascertain the exact total, would require a comparison in alphabetical arrangement of the two Catalogues, which the compiler, from want of time, is unable to do. The Calcutta Tract Society might publish a complete classified list of all Christian publications in Bengali as an appendix to one of its Reports. The total number of Tamil Christian books and tracts, as far as enumerated, is 587.‡

Roman Catholic Publications.—As there are upwards of half a million Roman Catholics in the Tamil country, and only about 24,000 in the Vicariates of Eastern and Western Bengal, there is a very great disproportion in the number of publications. The Tamil list contains 87 titles; Mr. Long's Catalogue seems to mention only 2. Perhaps further inquiry would show the number of Bengali publications of this class to be larger.

Muhammadan Books.—In Musulman Bengali, 41; Tamil, 36. The Tamil as written by Muhammadans seems to be purer than Musalman Bengali.

Saivite.—Bengali, 37; Tamil, 237. This shows that the south is the stronghold of Saivism.

† Compiled from Madras Reports.
‡ Of these 376 are Tracts.
Vaishnava.—Bengali, 80; Tamil, 103.

Vedantic.—Bengali, 40; Tamil, 101.

Brahma Samaj.—Mr. Wenger’s Catalogue gives the titles of 51 Publications. In Tamil, including two magazines, 3. The progress of Brahmism in Bengal is evident from this statement. The movement in the Madras Presidency was formally commenced only in 1864.

Jurisprudence.—Bengali, Mr. Wenger’s Catalogue, 49; Tamil 19. Translations of single acts are not enumerated.

Ethics.—Mr. Long’s Catalogue mentions 50 works, under the heading of “Ethics and Moral Tales,” “The History of Joseph,” “The Young Cottager,” “Tales of Vikramaditya,” and a few others are included, which in the Tamil Catalogue come under different heads. Tamil, 48.

Social Questions.—Mr. Wenger’s Catalogue mentions 9 publications connected with the marriage of widows; in Tamil there is only one. Kulin polygamy is attacked in Bengal; the system does not prevail in the south. Female education is advocated in several separate publications in Bengali. There does not appear to be any distinct work on the subject in Tamil, though it is often noticed in periodicals. “Young Madras” is a very slow gentleman compared with “Young Bengal.” The former seems to be alluded to in only two publications. The latter is roughly handled in several. “The Calcutta Baboo is depicted as germinating, blossoming, in flower, in fruit.”* The following are a few titles from Mr. Wenger’s Catalogue: “Is this Civilization?” “Young Bengal is a little Nawab”; “Courtesans, plausible rogues and lies make up Calcutta;” “Ah! what fine company at Calcutta;” “Diversions of a Baboo.”

Medicine.—Bengali, 24; Tamil, 43. The Tamil

* Rev. J. Long’s Descriptive Catalogue, p. 82. tamil and bengali publications. lxxvii publications are nearly all on native practice. Bengali has treatises on the Water Cure and Homoeopathy.

General Literature.—From the difference of classification, the relative numbers can scarcely be stated. Taking, however, the titles given by Mr. Long under the headings of Poetry and the Drama, Bengali enumerates 53, Tamil, 103. Tales : Bengali, 53; Tamil, 42. Mr. Wenger’s Catalogue shows a great development in general literature during the last ten years; but the data are not sufficiently definite to enable the exact increase to be stated. Only a few general remarks can be offered.

Jest-books and works of a similar character are much more numerous in Bengali than in Tamil. The following are some titles from Mr. Wenger’s Catalogue: “Feathers on the neck of the old She-parrot,” “Tide of Laughter,” “Tide of Jests,” “Flush of Jests,” “Ocean of Jests,” “Tide of Fun,” &c.

Several of this stamp would appear to be translations from the English; e. g. “What a jolly Good Friday!” “What a jolly Saturday!” “What a jolly Sunday!” “What a pity it is Monday!” Among works of a better description may be mentioned translations of several plays of Shakespeare, Telemachus, Rasselas, Uncle Tom’s Cabin, &c. The Vernacular Literature Society, now connected with the Calcutta School Book Society, has made an encouraging commencement in supplying popular literature. Its publications include Robinson Crusoe, several of Hans Andersen’s Tales, Paul and Virginia, The Exiles of Siberia, &c.

Exclusive of works by Native Christians and articles in the Dinavartamani newspaper, the presence of Europeans in India has scarcely affected Tamil literature in the slightest degree. The Tamil mind is much in the same condition as the Chinese. Reprints of old books, or feeble modern imitations of them, constitute the great bulk of the issues of the native presses. There is far more intellectual activity in Bengal.

Educational Works.—With regard to the supply of these, there is a considerable difference in Bengal and South India. The sharp Bengalis discovered before Mr. Howard, late Bombay Director of Public Instruction, that, under certain circumstances, the publication of school-books may be a source of gain. The bookmakers were generally able to ensure some sale; most of them were connected with schools, and their pupils had to purchase their books at the prices they chose to fix. In some cases the principles of "Dokeboys Hall" seem to have been adopted. Inferior books, wretchedly printed, were sold at double the rates at which much better books could have been purchased. But men of a higher stamp aimed at the production of books which would circulate beyond their own immediate sphere. The demand is so large that if books once get a name, they bring in a good income. The sum of Rs. 5,000 was asked for the copyright of a small geography, which was recommended by an Inspector. There is not much to choose between them. One of the most experienced judges in Bengal said to the compiler, "They are as like as two peas."

So far as mere style is concerned, the books are generally excellent. They certainly deserve to be chosen by persons with whom that is the grand consideration. In other respects as secular School books, they are generally fair in quality, though nothing remarkable. Perhaps the best are imitations of two of Chambers' series. The others are mostly collections of lessons, interesting in themselves, but thrown together without an apparent plan, and with little reference to the stage of mental development of the readers.

The grand defect in the Bengali School books is the utter absence of any recognition of Christianity. Written, with scarcely an exception, by orthodox Hindus, Brahmists, or men without any fixed religious principles, the truths of the Gospel are, of course, ignored. The compiler examined the elementary Reading Book which has perhaps the largest circulation. The following is a specimen of its moral teaching. The translation is literal; and the author is not responsible for the style:—

"There is no more night. It is dawn. I will not lie any longer. I rise and wash my mouth. Having washed my mouth, I dress myself. Having dressed myself, I sit down to read. If I don't read well, I shall not be able to say my lesson. If I cannot say my lesson, the teacher will get angry with me. He will not give me a new lesson."

"Nobin, you abused Bhabun when you were going home. You are a child; you do not know that it is very bad to abuse any one. If you do abuse any one, I will tell everybody that all may cease to speak with you."

On the whole, the child is taught to act according to worldly policy; though in the second extract there is a reference to what Lord Stanley called, "the eternal principles of justice." Generally, however, the truths of natural religion are occasionally introduced.

It is a strange and melancholy fact, that books of the above description seem to satisfy the bulk of Missionaries in Bengal. An article in the Calcutta Christian Observer has the following statement:—

"As might be expected, the best Vernacular School books have been written by the most advanced scholars in the Native community, and are sold in such numbers as to bring large profits to the authors. When Native publishers are found issuing school books, against the contents of which no Christian man could have a word of objection, we think that Christian educational philanthropists should rejoice at it and give every encouragement to such, instead of publishing books with funds that have been contributed for the purpose of using rather than making books."* July, 1865.

That this does not express an individual opinion is evident from the fact that in 1863, according to the Report of the Calcutta Tract and Book Society, there

* The mistake at the end of the above paragraph may be corrected. The remark refers to the Christian Vernacular Education Society. The Society's Publication Department is maintained almost entirely by sales and a few contributions given specially for that object. Only in rare cases at the request of Local Committees, are grants made from the general funds. were only 717 Christian School Books in Bengali circulated among 26 millions of people, including 11,985 children attending Mission Schools. In the recent action at Bombay, it was stated that Mr. Howard’s books, “from which every Christian allusion” has been “effectually weeded,” are used in some Missionary Schools in the Western Presidency.

The policy above-mentioned, to say the least, seems suicidal on the part of Missionaries. So far the intellect of India is concerned, the reign of the Hindu Triad is gone for ever. Brahma, Vishnu, and Siva may be numbered with Osiris, Jupiter, and Woden. The great cause of apprehension now is the spread of doistical opinions. The creed of the great majority of the Natives of India who have received a good education in Government Colleges is a very short one. It contains two articles: (1) There is but one God, and (2) “the light of nature” is the only revelation he has given to mankind. All “book revelations” have originated in mere priestcraft. The immortality of the soul is generally admitted, though many have the same doubts on the subject as those which perplexed the philosophers of Greece and Rome. The more earnest observe, in some measure, the rules of the Brahma Samaj; but the majority are sunk in worldliness, and conform to idolatrous customs when it will please their orthodox Hindu friends.

Under these circumstances, it is deadly poison to the youth of India to teach that all is well, if they simply obey the precepts of natural religion. So far as human instrumentality is concerned, the great means of checking the progress of infidelity is to present Christian truth along with that secular knowledge which undermines Hinduism. Distinct lessons from the Bible are most important, and such are given in Mission schools in Bengal. Still, they occupy only a portion of the day, and if for four hours out of five the education is entirely secular, or nothing is taught beyond natural religion, it may easily be understood to what a neutralising influence the Christian lessons will be exposed. It is not for a moment suggested that sacred truth should be introduced when it would be out of keeping; but there are many opportunities when treating of moral conduct, geography, and history, when brief incidental lessons may be given with powerful effect.

Tamil School Books for Government Schools are chiefly supplied by the Public Instruction Press and the Madras School Book Society. Books for Mission Schools are mainly provided by the Christian Vernacular Education Society. While in 1863 only 717 Christian School Books in Bengali were circulated by the Calcutta Tract Society, last year the Madras C.V.E.S. sold 23,358, exclusive of works on grammar, arithmetic, &c. The Tamil Christian School Books, in some cases, are purchased by heathen as well as by Missionaries. The Calcutta Christian Observer notwithstanding, most people in England will certainly think the Madras system "the more excellent way."

Periodicals.—In 1863-64 there seem to have been nine magazines published in Bengali, two of which were Christian. There are at present twelve Tamil magazines, all Christian except two. A monthly periodical, specially for females, is published in both languages.

Newspapers.—Richter called the English the "political vowels" of Europe. Of all the natives of India, the Bengalis have the best claim to a corresponding title. Bombay has a number of native newspapers, but those in the vernacular are principally maintained for commercial purposes. In 1863-64 there were three daily, two bi-weekly, ten weekly, one bi-monthly and one monthly, Bengali newspapers. There are numerous changes, for some papers soon die. In Tamil there are only one weekly and one bi-monthly newspaper, and eight District Gazettes, all published by Europeans or Government.
BRIEF NOTICES OF TAMIL AUTHORS.

The trustworthy information about Tamil writers, in most cases, is exceedingly meagre. Beschi does not mention in his Poetical Grammar his authorities, because he says that the names of the authors even of the most celebrated works are now unknown. An account of some of the legends and sayings connected with them is given in Vinotarasamansari, (p. 207). The late S. Casie Chitty, Esq., of Ceylon, wrote "The Tamil Plutarch," containing a summary account of the lives of the poets of Southern India. All things considered, it is a very creditable work. The edition was small, and was circulated chiefly among the author's friends. There are no copies for sale at Jaffna, where it was printed; and though Mr. Higginbotham, Madras, has a few on hand (price Rs. 2) it may be regarded as out of print. All interested in Tamil literature should endeavour to obtain copies. The following brief notices are chiefly based on "The Tamil Plutarch;" but independent information was sought from native scholars, and different accounts are given where they seem necessary.

The compiler wished to give a list of Tamil authors in chronological order; but there is still such uncertainty, in many cases, connected with their history, that he was obliged to abandon the idea. Casie Chitty, in many instances does not attempt to fix dates; in others, he mentions the current opinion that the works were written at the beginning of the Kali Yugam, thousands of years ago; some dates he gives are wrong. In his notice of Umapati Sivachariyar (p. 108) he says, at the commencement, that he flourished in the 17th century; at the end of the account he states that the time of his existence is not known, but his name is mentioned in a work written in A. D. 1513. The dates assigned to the early authors must be regarded merely as rough approximations.

Agastiyar. அகாஸ்தியர். Upwards of fifty treatises on medicine, alchemy, magic, &c. are attributed to the Cadmus of Southern India; but they are all forgeries. See pp. xix, 139, 170.

Amrita Kavirayar. ஆமிர்த கவிராயர். He was the poet laureate of Reghnatha Setupati, who reigned at Ramnad between A. D. 1649 and 1685. He composed an erotic poem, entitled Oruturailkovai, in honor of his patron.

Amirasakarar. ஆமிராஸாகரர். This author, who was a Jaina, was noted as a Sanskrit, as well as a Tamil, scholar. He wrote a grammar on Tamil verse, called Karikai, which is considered a standard work.

Anantaparati Aiyangkar, அன்னாபாரதி ஐயாங்கார், was born near Tanjor in A. D. 1786. After having been employed for a few years as temple accountant, he retired to Tiruvadamarutur, and devoted the remainder of his life to the composition of poetry, chiefly in honor of Saiva shrines. He died in 1846. Principal works: Uttara Ramayana Kirtanai and Marutur Venpa.

Antaka Kavivirakava Mutaliyar, அண்டாக்க கவிவிரகாவ முதளியார், is said to have been born blind. He is known as the Author of two poems in praise of Saiva temples. His grandson is said to be still alive. Works: Kalakkunra Puranam and Kalakkunra Malai.

Appavaiyar, அப்பாயாயார், is said to have been a Jaina, who under the patronage of Tandavarayan, a rich merchant of Nellikuppam, wrote an astronomical treatise, called Tandava Malai.

Appar. அப்பார். Though born of Saiva parents, entered a Jaina monastery. Having subsequently been attacked by disease in the stomach, his sister persuaded him that it was a punishment for his apostasy, and he returned to Saivism. The Jaina King is fabled to have vainly attempted to put him to death by throwing him into a limekiln, &c. With Sampantar and Sundarar, he laboured zealously to propagate Saivism in South India. He probably lived about the 10th cent. A. D. His works consist of short poems, each of ten stanzas, in praise of Saiva temples. See p. 75.
ARUNANTI. அருணாந்தி. was the author of a bulky treatise on Saiva philosophy, called Sivagnana Sittī. The highest authority on the subject. It has not yet been printed.

ARUNASALA KAVIRAYAR. அருணாசலா கவிராயர். was born near Tranquebar in 1712 A.D. He is chiefly noted as the author of the dramatic Ramayana. His minor writings are Asomuki Nudakam, Sirkali Puranam, Sirkali Kovai, and Anumar Pillai Tamil. He died at Shiyally in 1779.

ARUNAKIRI NATAR. அருந்தகிரியர். is said to have lived about the 16th cent. A.D. He was a Saiva ascetic, and spent his life at Trinomalai. His principal works are in praise of Skanda, viz., Tiruvukkappu, Tirupppukal, Kantan Alangharam, and Kantan Anuputi. He also wrote a short poem on the stages of human life. Udakurru Vannam. See p. 167.

ASTAVATANI. அஸ்தாவகனி. was born near Trichinopoly. His real name is not known. A courtesan stripped him of all his property, and then turned him out into the street. He therefore wrote a satirical poem on courtesans called Viralivitu dedicated to his patron, a polegar in the Dindigul District.

ATIVIRA RAMA PANDIYAN. அதிவிரா ராமா பண்டியன். is said to have been one of the Pandiyan Kings, who reigned at Madura about the 12th cent. A.D. The principal work attributed to him is the Naidatam. He is said also to have been the author of the Kussi kantam, Linga Puranam, Kurma Puranam. Three antatis on praise of the Saiva temple at Karuvur, and an ethical treatise, Vettiverkai. It is supposed by some that he was merely the patron to whom the works were dedicated.

AVAIYAR. அவையர். is the most noted Tamil poetess. The name simply signifies "the matron." She is said to have been exposed by her mother and brought up by a minstrel. Many fables are related of her. Tamil writers call her the sister of Tiruvalluvar. She is said to have continued unmarried all her life. The Rev. H. Bower remarks, "She sang like Sappho; yet not of love, but of virtue." Five books of moral aphorisms, much used in schools, are attributed to her, viz., Attributi, Konrai ventan, Muturai, Nabali, and Kalvinyolukkan. The genuineness of the Muturai is considered doubtful by Dr. Caldwell. (See pp. xxiii. 162.)
NOTICES OF TAMIL AUTHORS.

Avirami Paddar, ஐவுரமின், was a Brahman of Tirukadavur. He seems to have belonged to the Sakta sect, worshipping Parvati, the female energy of Siva, under the name of Avirami. Probable date, 17th cent. He wrote a centum of hymns, addressed to Avirami.

Alavantar, ஐலவாண்டர், was a Bhatta Brahman. He is known by his poetical version in Tamil of the Sanskrit Gnana Vashistha, which is considered the standard work on Vedantism in South India.

Andi Pulavar, ஐண்டி புலாவர், is said to have been born near Gingee. He wrote verses on the Asiriya metre. Works; a commentary on the Nannul, called Uraiyan Nannul, and Asiriya Nikandu, a dictionary of Tamil synonyms.

Ellappa Navalar, ஐல்லாபா நவலார், was noted both as a Sanskrit and Tamil scholar. His principal work is the Arunasala Puranam, legend of the Saiva temple at Trinomalai.

Gnana Kuttar, ராநா கூட்டர், was a Saiva ascetic who lived at Sivanpakam. He is known as the author of the Viruttasala Puranam, about the legend of the Saiva temple at Vriddhachala Hill.

Gnana Pirakasa Tesikar, ராநா பிராகசா தெசிகார், was a native of Jaffna. After studying for some years in Southern India, he proceeded to the North to acquire a complete knowledge of Sanskrit. On account of his being a Sudra, the Brahmans, at first refused to teach him; but, at length, one perceiving his ability, received him as a pupil. When he returned to South India, he was invested with the office of Tambiran, and settled at Trinomali. He wrote a long commentary on the Sivagnana Sittiyar.

IADIKKADAR, ஐந்தி சிறுட்டிய, lived during the time of the Madura College. He wrote a grammar, called Usimurai, quoted by Kunasakarar, the commentator on the Karikai.

IRADDAYAR, இராட்டியார், and his twin brother are said to have lived during the reign of Prakrama Pandiyar, about the 14th cent. A. D. The younger, who was blind, is said to have carried about the elder, who was a cripple. They were noted for their power of extempore versification. The younger composed the first two lines of a stanza; the elder, the last two. Many short poems attributed to them, are still extant.

IRAIYANAR, இராய்யார், was one of the 49 Professors of the Madura College. A treatise on the composition of erotic poems, Iraiyanar Akapporul, is attributed to him.

KADIKAIMUTTU PULAVAR, கடிகைமுத்து புலாவர், was a native of Ettiapuram, in North Tinnevelly, the raja of which retained him as a poet. He composed a drama in honor of his patron, entitled, Samuttira Vilasam, and another work, Tikkuvisasam, celebrating the forays of the raja of Sivakiri. Probable date, 18th century.

KALLADAR, கல்லாடர், was one of the 49 Professors of the Madura College. He wrote a treatise on grammar and Rhetoric called Kalladam.

KAMPAR, கம்பர், was one of the greatest of the Tamil poets. The author of the Chintamani alone can dispute with him for the palm of supremacy. Dr. Caldwell, from the evidence of inscriptions, reckons that he lived in the 11th cent. A. D. He was brought up by a wealthy farmer at Vennai Nellur. His fame as a poet having reached the ears of Rajendra Chola, he was invited to his court, and honored with the title of the king of poets. Several poets undertook to prepare a Tamil version of the Ramayana. When recited in the presence of Kulotunga Chola, who had succeeded to the throne, Kambar's translation was preferred. Among other works written by Kambar are the Sarasvati Antati, Erelapatu, and Kangai Puranam. Some others are attributed to him; but their authorship is doubtful. It is said that Kambar's son was put to death for carrying on an intrigue with the king's daughter, and that Kambar himself was obliged to flee. In his old age he lost his poetical powers and was obliged to support himself by manual labour. He is said to have listened, with rapture, to the recital of his own compositions.

Kapilár, குபிளர், is said to have been a brother of Tiruvalluvar, and one of the 49 Madura Professors. A small work, Kapila Akaval, is attributed to him; but it is probably spurious.

Karunäppirakása Tesikar, கருணாப்பிராகசா தேசிகார், was a zealous Vira-Saiva of Kanjipuram. He wrote a poem on the lingam, Ishdalinga Akaval, and commenced a work called Kalatti Puranam; but he died before it was completed.

Kavirasá Panditar, கவிராசா பண்டிகார், was a native of Virai. He wrote a licentious poem Sauntariyalahari, in praise of Parvati. It is said to be translated from the Sanskrit of Sankara Acharya.

Kalamekam, கலமேகம், is supposed to have lived about the 15th cent. His real name is not known. He was called Kalamekam, "the hail-pouring cloud," from his severe satires upon those who did not, in his opinion, adequately reward his poetry. His conceit was excessive. He declared his ability to write an epic poem in a couple of days, and other compositions in proportionately less period. His poetical remains consist of some short poems, the principal of which is a series of verses capable of two fold meaning.

Kangkeyar, கங்கீயார், wrote a Tamil lexicon in Venba metre called Urissol Nikandu, much used in schools.
Karaikal Ammaiayar, காரைக்கால் அம்மையார், was the daughter of a Chetty who lived at Karikkal. Having been deserted by her husband, she is said to have become a Saiva ascetic. As she is one of the 63 Saiva devotees mentioned in the Periya Puranam, she must have lived several centuries ago. Her poems are said to have been printed; but the compiler failed in his attempts to obtain sight of a copy. The following is a translation of a stanza attributed to her:

"When I thought that there was no all-seeing One, I wrought many deeds of evil. After I knew the all-seeing One, who is everywhere, I forgot evil."

Kariyar, காரியார், was a native of Kurkai in Timevelly. He compiled from Sanskrit works a treatise on arithmetic, in verses, called Kanakkadikaram.

Kassiyappar, கச்சியப்பர், was a Brahman of Kanjipuram. He wrote an imitation of the Sankara Sanhitā of the Skanda Purana in Tamil, under the title of Karta Puranam. It contains 13,305 stanzas arranged in six books.

Konganar, கொங்கனார், is fabled to have been instructed by Agastya, on the Pothiya Mountain. A modern work of the Sittar school, Kongkanar Gnanam, and two treatises on medicine, Kudaiikkandam and Kunavakadam, are attributed to him.

Korakar, கோராகர், is said to have been one of the nine Siddhas. A work on medicine, Korakar Vaiippu, is ascribed to him. He is said to have first used Ganja (Cannabis Indica) in Tamil medical practice.

Kukai Namasivayar, குக்கை நமஸிவர், was a Saiva ascetic, who spent the last years of his life at Chillumbram. His principal poem, Sonakiramalai, is a soliloquy addressed to his soul.

Kulasekara Perumal, குலசேகரா பெருமாள், was one of the Vaishnava twelve Alvars, or special devotees. He is said to have abdicated his throne, and wandered about, visiting the Vaishnava shrines in South India.
105 stanzas in the Nalayira Pirapantam, are attributed to him.

Kumarakuru Tesikar, குமரகுரு தேசிகர், was born at Strivyguntam in Tinnevelly in the 17th cent. He wrote several poems, of which the best is the Nittineri Vilakkam. Two juvenile compositions, Tirumutur Kalivenpa and Minaksi Pillai Tamil, are also well known. He is said to have died at Benares.

Kunavira Panditar, குனாவிரா பண்டிதர், was born near Chingleput. He wrote two treatises in poetry, one called Nominatam, and the other entitled Venpapattiyal.

Kutupatatasan, குதுப்பதேஸ்வர், wrote a poem, called Kumaresa Satakam, containing a hundred stanzas on moral duties addressed to Kumaresa, a form of Skanda.

Mandala Purudar, மண்டலபுருடர், was a Jaina ascetic who is said to have lived in the time of Raja Krishna Rayar who reigned at Vijayanagaram in the beginning of the 16th century. He wrote a poetic lexicon, Sudamani Nikanda, somewhat on the plan of the Sanskrit Amerakosha.

Massamuni, மச்சமணி, is said to have been a contemporary of Agastiya. A treatise on alchemy, Vata Nikandu, is erroneously attributed to him.

Manikavasakar, மாணிக்காசாகர், is said to have been born at Vadavur, a town on the banks of the Vaigai. He is supposed to have lived about the 8th century; but the precise time is uncertain. A legend relates that he was minister of Arimarta Pandiyar; but expended some money entrusted to him to purchase horses in building a Saiva temple. He is said to have spent the last years of his life in making pilgrimages to Saiva temples. At Chillambaran he defeated in discussion Buddhist priests who came over from Ceylon. His history is given in the Tiruvadivar Puranam. His principal works are the Tiruvvasakam and Sirrampalapovai.

Markasakaya Tevar, மார்கசாகாயா தேவர், was the Meykanda Tevar, 婆哩賀大, is said to have been born at Vennai-nullur, on the river Pennai. His teacher was Paranjoti Tambiran. The Sivagnana Potam, translated into English by the Rev. H. R. Hoisington, his principal work is considered of great authority.

Muttu Tandavar, 倫陀塔連, was born at Shiyally, near Chillambram, when his parents were musicians in a Saiva temple. He composed a number of songs in praise of Siva, abounding in licentious imagery.

Nakkirar, 奈克里, is said to have been the head of the Madura College (see page xxii.). The Tamil Plutarch says that he wrote an epic poem Srirakunin Puranam, and a hymn, Tirumuruukarruppadai, in honor of Skanda.

Nallapillai, 奈拉裏拉, is said to have been a schoolmaster in Madras, who lived in the 18th century. He wrote an epic poem called Teyvayanai Puranam, and added 14,728 stanzas to the translation of the Mahabharata by Villiputturar.

Nallatanar, 奈拉塔坦, is said to have been a member of the Madura College. He wrote a collection of epigrams, called Tirikadukam, each containing a comparison of three things.

Nassinarinayyar, 奈沙奴納里, wrote commentaries on the Tolkappiyam, and Tirumuruukarruppadai.

Narayanaparati, 奈拉亞納巴拉提, wrote a hundred stanzas on moral duties, entitled Tiruvenghada Satakam. Every stanza, at its close, mentions Manavala Narayana, the patron of the poet, celebrated as the favorite of Tiruvenkata the form of Vishnu worshipped at Tirupati.

Narkavirasa Nampi, 奈拉科法里薩, belonged to a Jain family at Pulankudi. He wrote a treatise on the composition of erotic poems, called Akapporul Ilakkanam, which is considered the standard work on the subject.

Ondakkuttar, ஒண்டக்கட்டர, was one of the poets at the Chola Court, who flourished with Kambal in the 11th cent. He was noted for his composition of war-chariots, called Parani. His Kalingkattu Parani celebrated the conquest of the Kalinga or Telugu country by Kulotunka Chola. The seventh book of the Ramayana: Uttara Kandam, was composed by this author.

Paddanattu Pillaiyar, பட்டணந்து பிள்ளையார், was originally a rich Chetty who lived at Kaveripatnam about the 17th cent. He acquired great wealth by trading with Ceylon. One day, in his absence, a Saiva mendicant asked alms from his wife, but was refused. The beggar left a little slip, to be given to her husband, containing these words "Mind that even a needle with a broken eye will not follow thee in thy last day." Paddanattu Pillaiyar then became an ascetic, and wandered about, visiting Saiva temples, and composing verses in their honor.

Padikasu, படிகாசு, was a native of Kalandai, who was one of the court poets of Kegunatha Setupati of Ramnad, A. D. 1686–1723. His principal work, Tondamandala Satakam, contains a hundred stanzas in praise of the Tonda country.

Panamparanar, பாணம்பரணர், is said to have been one of the twelve disciples of Agastiya. He is so called from the town where he lived. A treatise on grammar, Panamparanar Satiram, and the preface to the Tolkappiyam, are attributed to him.

Paransoti Tampiran, பாரண்டோச்டி தம்பிரண், was the head of a Saiva Matam (monastery) at Madura, during the reign of Ativira Pandiyian, about the 12th cent. At the request of the king he wrote a Tamil poem Tiruvilliyadal Puranam, translated from the Sanskrit Kalasya Mahatmaya, relating the 64 sports of Siva at Madura. He also composed a shorter work on the same subject, Porrikkoli Venpa, in the form of hymns addressed to Siva.

Parimel Alakar, பரிமேலாலகர், was a Brahman, who wrote the most esteemed of the nine commentaries on the Kural.

Pattirakiriyar, பாடிராகிரியர், probably lived about the 17th cent. Having given up all his property, he wandered about as a beggar. He left 285 couplets, known as his Pulampal or laments.

Patumanar, பதுமனார், wrote a commentary on the Naladiyar.

Pavananti, பவனாந்தி, was a Jaina who lived at Sanakapuram. Under the patronage of a king, called Kangkam, he wrote the most celebrated work on Tamil grammar, entitled the Nannul. He died after he had completed the first two parts.

Periya Alvar, பேரியாவலார், was a native of Villipattur, who flourished in the reign of Vallabadeva Pandiyan, king of Madura. He is considered one of the 12 Vaishnava Alvars, and is said to have written 400 stanzas of the Nalayira Sirupantam.

Peruntevanar, பேருண்டேவார். There are said to have been two poets of this name, both members of the Madura College. To one of them is attributed an imitation of the Mahabharata in Venpa metre called Sanghatter Paratam; to the other, a treatise on versification, entitled Kavisakaram.

Peý Alvar, பேயாவலார், born at Mailapur, was one of the 12 Vaishnava Alvars. He spent his life in visiting Vaishnava temples, and in propagating the doctrines of his sect. When at Tirukovalur, he is said to have composed a hundred stanzas, which now form part of the Nalayira Perapantam.

Pillai Perumal Atiyankar, sometimes called Manavalotaswar, was a Vaishnava Brahman, who lived about the 15th cent. He wrote the Tiruvenkata Malai and some other poems in praise of Vishnu, worshipped at Tirupati.

Poykai Alvar, பொய்கவை அல்வர், a native of Kanjipuram, contributed a hundred stanzas to the Nalayira Perapantam.

Poyyamoli Pulavar, பொய்யமோலி புலவர், is said to have lived in the reign of Vanangamudi Pandiyan. He wrote an erotic poem, Tungsavananamkovai in illustration of the rules of Narkavirasam Nampis Akapporul.

Pokar, பொகார். Several treatises on medicines, Pokar Yokamarkkam, Pokar Elamuru, Pokar Tirumanthiram, and Pokar Nikandu, are attributed to Pokar, who is said to have lived at a very remote period; but they are spurious.

Pukalenti, புகளேந்தி, is said to have been a contemporary of Kambar's; but he was one of the court poets of Varaguna Pandiyan, king of Madura. His principal work is the history of Nala and Damayanti, in Venpa metre, entitled Nala Venpa. He also wrote a treatise, Irattina Surukkam, enumerating the metaphors to be used in erotic poetry. Several works in Ammanai metre are erroneously attributed to him.

Putattalayar, புதுடற்கால்கார், a native of Mayalipuram near Sadras, is said to have composed a hundred stanzas included in the Nalayira Pirupantam.

Putangsantanar, புதுங்கண்டகார், was the son of one of the Madura Professors. He wrote a poem in 40 stanzas on things pleasant, Iniyanarpatu, which is ranked among the works sanctioned by the Madura College.

Ramasantira Kavirayar, ராமசாங்கிராங்கார், was born at Rajanellur, but lived at Madras, where he died a few years ago. He wrote the following dramas: Sakantati Vilasam, Parata Vilasam, Taruku Vilasam, Iraniya Vasakappar, and Irankum Sandai Nadakam.

Ramanusa Kavirayar, ராமானுசா காவிராங்கார், was Munshi to the late Rev. W. H. Drew, Madras: He was the author of an amplification of Parimal Alakar’s commentary on the Kural, which Mr. Drew published with his English translation of that work.

Rasappa Kavirayar, كراپاکاپیار, a native of Courtallam, wrote a drama Kuralakkurawangsi, in honor of Siva, worshipped at Courtallam in Tinnevelly.

Revanattiyar, ریووییاریار, was a Saiva ascetic who lived at Chillianbaram. He wrote a short metrical lexicon of Tamil synonyms.

Saddaimuni, سادئیمینی, is said to have been a Saiva devotee, who lived at the same time as Agastiya. A Vedantic treatise Gnana Nuru, a work on medicine, Kalappa Nuru, and one on alchemy Vuta Nikandu, are attributed to him; but they are forgeries.

Sampantar, ساپنتاری, is said to have been born at Shiyally. In his youth he visited Saiva temples, composing hymns, of ten stanzas, in honor of each. Kuna Pandiyan, who had embraced the Jaina system, was very zealous in its propagation; but Sampantar having cured him of a fever which had resisted the medicines and charms of the Jaina priests, not only induced the king to return to Saivism, but to impale 8000 Jainas who had been vanquished in discussion at Madura. Sampantar with his two disciples, Appar and Suntarar, did much for the revival of Saivism in South India. The time when he lived is uncertain; but it was probably about the 10th century. 384 hymns by him, chiefly in honor of Saiva temples, one still extant.

Sanpakavadi, سانپاکاودی, was a poetess, daughter of one the maid servants of Karikal Chola. She was very beautiful and had many admirers, but she determined not to marry any one that could not overcome her in poetical contest, Nakkarar, the President of Madura College, disguised as a wood seller, vanquished her. The poetical riddles which they propounded to each other have been preserved.

Sangkara Namasivayar, سانکارا ناماسیوریاری, a native of Tinnevelly who died about the end of last century, wrote a commentary on the Nannul, considered the best work of the kind.

SARAVANAMUTTU, சாரவானமுத்து, a native of Nellore, Jaffna, translated into Tamil the Sanskrit work, Atmabhoda Prakasikai. He died in 1845.

SARAVANA PERUMAL AIYAR, சாரவானா பெருமால் ஆயர், belonged to a Vira-Saiva family in Madras. Among his works are the following; a commentary on the Kural published in 1830 a treatise on grammar, Iyarramilssurukkam, one on rhetoric, Amyyal Vilakkam, and one on Geography, Kolatipikai. He also edited editions of several of the Tamil classes.

SAMINADA TESIKAR, சமினா தெசிகார், lived in Tinnevelly last century. After 12 years study, he wrote a treatise on Tamil Grammar, entitled Ilakkana Nottu. He ended his days as head of a Saiva Matam in Tinnevelly.

SANTALINGKA KAVIRAYAR, சான்தளிங்கா கவிராயர், a native of Tandalaiser, wrote an ethical poem of 100 stanzas, called Tandalaiyar Satakam.

SANTALINGKA TESIKAR, சான்தளிங்கா தெசிகார், was a Vira-Saiva ascetic, who lived at Turaiyar about the beginning of last century. He wrote several treatises on philosophical Hinduism. The following are attributed to him: Nenguwadatutu, Vairakkiya Satakam, Vairakkiya Tipon, Kolai Maruttal, and Avirotavantiyar.

SEKKILAR, செக்கிலார், was a native of the Tonda country. On account of his talents, Anabhaya Chola made him his Prime Minister. The king, though a Saiva, was a great admirer of the Jaina poem, the Chintamani. When Sekkilir complained of this, the king asked him to name a Saiva poem of superior merits. Sekkilir recited Nampiandur Nampi's poem on the 63 Saiva devotees. As this was objected to on account of its brevity. Sekkilir wrote a long poem on the same subject, under the title of Tiruttondar Puranam. Sekkilir afterwards resigned his office as Prime Minister and lived as an ascetic at Chillambaram, when he died.

Sentanar, was a native of Ambel, a town on the banks of the Cavery. He wrote the Tirakaram, a Tamil dictionary in ten chapters.

Seraman Peruman, is said to have been a son of one of the Chera Kings. When he ascended the throne, he was very liberal in his gifts to poets, and spent much of his time in visiting Saiva temples. He was a great friend of Sundarais, and they are filled to have repaired together to Kailasam. The Tamil Plutarch attributes the following works to him: Mummanikovai, Kailasavula, and Ponvunnattantati, all in honor of Siva.

Sitampara Tesikar, was a pupil of Santalingka Tisikar of Turaiyar, who lived in the 18th century. He succeeded his master as Tampeiran of the Matam at Tirupporum. In addition to comments on the metaphysical works of Santalingka Tesikar, he wrote a poem in honor of Skanda worshipped at Tirrupporar, called Tirupporur Sanniti Murai.

Sivagnana Tesikar, was the head of a Matam in Tinnevelly, and lived about the end of last century. He wrote expositions of the Tolkappiyam and Nannul, entitled Suttiravirutti and Nannul Urni.

Sivapirakasa Tesikar, was the son of a Vira-Saiva priest who lived at Kanjipuram in the 17th century. After spending some time in Tinnevelly, he settled as head of a Matam at Tirumungalum, in the Madura District. He wrote a large number of works, Piramulingka Lilai is an epic poem treating of the history of Allama Prabhu, founder of the Vira-Saiva sect. The Nanneri is an ethical treatise, often read in Schools; other works, Sittanta Sikamani, Venanta Sudamani, Sivpirakasa Vikasam, and Sivamana Mahimai, treat of philosophical Hinduism; Tirukkuva Puranam, Sonasaila Malai, Venkai Kalampakam, Venkai Kovai, Venkai Ula, Venkai Alankaram, *Tirus-Sontil Antati, Satamani Malai, Nalvar Namam Malai, Nirangsana Malai, Kaitala Malai, Apisheka Malai, Ishdalingka Perung Kailinedil, and Ishdalingka Kurungkalil nedil are in praise of Saiva shrines on the Vira-Saiva system. He is also said to have written a treatise on logic Tarka Paripashai.

Siva Vakkiyar, கௌகன்று குரு, belonged to the Sittar school. See remarks, p. 141.

Suntarar, சுந்தரர், belonged to a Brahman family of Tirunavalur. While a child, he is said to have been adopted by king Narasingha Muniyar. On the day fixed for his marriage, he broke off the match, and as an ascetic went about singing hymns in honor of the Saiva temples. With Appar and Sampantar, he was a zealous champion of Saivism. A collection of hymns attributed to him has recently been printed.

Suppiramaniya Vetiyar, சுப்பிரமணிய வெடியர், was a native of Alvar Timnevelly, who lived about the end of last century. He wrote a treatise, Pirayoka Vivekom, on the composition of poems.

Sudikkodutta Nayssiayar, சுத்தெருக்கட்டு நாய்ச்சியர், is said to have been a foundling who consecrated herself to Vishnu, worshipped at Tirupati. 173 stanzas called Tirupavai and Tirumoli, part of the Nalayira Pirapantam, are attributed to her.

Tandi Asiriyar, தாண்டி அசிரியர், is said to have written a treatise; called Alangkaram, treating of poetical figures.

TANDAVAMURTTI, தண்டவமுருத்தி, was a Saiva ascetic, author of a noted Vedantic treatise, Kaivalya navaniti.

TAYUMANAVAR, தேயுமணாவர், was born at Trichinopoly in the early part of last century. His father was accountant to king Vijaya Reghunatha Chokalinga Nayakar. On his death, Tayumanavar was induced to hold the office for a time. The queen conceiving an attachment for him, he fled to Rammad, where he married. His wife died after giving birth to her first child. He then became an ascetic, and wandered about singing the praises of Saiva temples. It is supposed that he had some knowledge of the doctrines of Christianity.

TIRUMANANGKAI ALWAR, திருமாண்கை அலவர், a native of Trivalur, was one of the 12 Vaishnava Alvars. For a time he was governor of a district under one of the Chola kings, but he was afterwards dismissed. Having turned a freebooter, he robbed only those who had not the Vaishnava mark on their foreheads. He is said to have contributed 1258 verses to the Nalayira Pirapantam.

TIRUMALISAI ALWAR, திருமலிஸாய அலவர், one of the 12 Vaishnava Alvars, is said to have written 206 stanzas, included in the Nalayira Pirapantam.

TIRUMULAR, திருமுலர், by tradition, was a contemporary of Agasthya. Legends connected with him are given in the Tirutonder Puranam. A treatise on medicine is attributed to him, Tirumular Vaattiya Vakadam, and a theological work Tirumulamantiram; but both are spurious.

TIRUPAN ALVAR, திருப்பான அலவர், one of the 12 Vaish-nava Alvars, contributed some stanzas to the Nalayira Pirapantam, describing the beauties of Vishnu.

Tiruvalluvar, திருவள்ளுவர், the author of the Kural, occupies the first place as a moralist among the Tamils. Indeed, it is generally acknowledged, that there is no treatise equal to the Kural in any Indian language. He is said to have been the son of a Pariah woman by a Brahman father, and to have been brought up by a Valluvan, a priest of the Pariah caste, at Mailapur near Madras. His real name is not known. (See page 161.) He probably lived about the 9th century.

Tiruvengkadaiyar, திருவேங்ககையர், was a Brahman of Villiputur. He wrote a work, Uramana Sangkirukam, on the composition of erotic poems.

Tiruvengkadasiuvami, திருவேங்ககளுந்துவமி, was a Brahman of Madai. He wrote an imitation in Tamil of the Praboda Chandrodaya of Kishna Misra.

Teraiyar, தேரையர், is said to have been one of the twelve disciples of Agastiya. Three treatises on medicine bear his name, but their real authors are unknown, viz., Sikamani Venpa, Nadikottu, and fragments of a work on hygiene, Noyamukaviti.

Tolkappiyar, தொல்கப்பியார், was the chief of the twelve disciples of Agastiya. He is said to have lived in a town to the south of Madura. Having quarrelled with Agastiya, he established a separate school, and composed a grammar which bears the title of Tolkappiyam, and is considered the oldest extant work on the subject. Three commentaries have been written upon it.

Tondaradippodi Alvar, தொண்டராதிப்போடி அல்வர், was one of the twelve Vaishnava Alvars. His real name was Vipra Narayana. Having become an ascetic, he spent the rest of his life at Srirangam. The Tirumalai and Tiruppalliyelussi, fifty stanzas in praise of Vishnu, forming part of the Nalayira Pirapantam, are attributed to him.
ULAKANATAN, உலகணான, is said to have been of the barber caste. The Tamil Plutarch assigns to him the authorship of a small treatise on morals Ulaka Niti, and another, Satipetanul, on caste.

UMAPATI SIVASARIYAR, உமபாதி சிவசாரியர், is said to have been originally a Vaishnava Brahman, but he embraced Saivism. His principal work is the Siva pirakasam, an abstract of which has been translated into English by the Rev. H. R. Hoisington. An abridgment in 75 stanzas of the history of the 64 devotees of Siva, entitled Tirutandar Puranasaram, an account of Sekilar, styled Sekilar Puranam, and the Royis Puranam treatises of the legend connected with the temple at Chellambaram, are also attributed to this author.

VARATA KAVIRAYAR, வரக கவிரையர், was a native of Jaffna who lived about the 17th century. His principal works are the Sivarattiri Puranam and the Ekatesi Puranam, about Saiva fasts.

VARATUNGA RAMA PANDIYAN, வரதுங்க ராமா பாண்டியன், is said to have been a younger brother of Ativira Rama Pandiyan of Madura. An imitation of a part of the Skanda Purana, Piramotara Kandam, is attributed to him.

VETAKIRI MUTALIAR, வேதகிரி முதலியர், was born in 1795. He established a Press in Madras, and published editions of several classical works. Besides four ethical poems Manuuti Satakam, Manuvikkiyana, Patakam, Niti Sintamani and Sanmarkkkassaram, he prepared the addendum to the Jaffna Tamil Dictionary, and composed the additions to the 11th part of the Nikandu, printed at Manepy in 1843.

VELAIYA TESIKAR, வேலாயா தெசிகார், was born at Kanchipuram, but studied under the head of the Matam of Sindupuntur in Tinnevelly. He wrote the following works: Nallur Puranam, Virasingkatanan Puranam, Ishadulingka Kaalaka Malai, Namasiyava Lilai, Kirushna Saribiraparisata Lilai, and Mayilattiraddai Malai.
The Kalatti Puranam, commenced by his brothers Siva Pirakasa and Karumai Pirakasa was also completed by him. He died at Perumatur.

Villapakam Tandavaraya Mutaliar, was a teacher in the College of Fort St. George, Madras. In 1825 he wrote a catechism of Tamil Grammar, entitled Ilakkanai Vina Vidai; he translated the Panchatantra stories into Tamil, and wrote a book of fables called Kata-mangar. He likewise edited several Tamil lexicons. His prose style is greatly admired.

Vittuvan Saminata Pillai, was a Roman Catholic born at Pondicherry towards the close of last century. He was employed as Munshi by the late Mr. Ellis. His principal poetical work is entitled Gnanatikhkarayarkappiyam.

Villiputturar, was a Vaishnava Brahman. Opinions differ with respect to the time he lived. He wrote an imitation in 3373 stanzas of the first ten Parvas of the Mahabharata.

Vaittiyana Nayalar, was born near Combaconum. He wrote a critique on the Nannul, entitled, Ilakkana Vilakkam.
Earliest Versions.—Tamil has the honor of being the first Indian language into which the Bible was translated. In 1688, the Dutch in Ceylon commenced the translation of the New Testament, and in 1694 that of the Old Testament. The work, however, was not carried on regularly. Ziegenbalg and Plutscho, the first Protestant Missionaries to India, landed at Tranquebar in 1706. In 1708, Ziegenbalg began the translation of the New Testament into Tamil. The Christian Knowledge Society in 1711 sent out a Printing Press, with Roman type. Not long afterwards, Tamil type was received from Halle. The translation of the New Testament was finished in 1711; but the printing of the first edition (4to) was not completed till 1715.

In 1713, Ziegenbalg began the translation of the Old Testament. At his death in 1719 he had advanced as far as Ruth. The work was taken up by Schultze in 1723. The Psalms were printed in 1724, as also a second edition of the New Testament. The Old Testament and the Apocrypha were completed in 1728, in 4 volumes quarto.
Two editions of the New Testament in Tamil were printed in Ceylon in 1748 and 1759. The Rev. Philip De Melho, the first native minister of the Dutch Reformed Church in Ceylon, was the principal translator.

The New Testament of Ziegenbalg was reprinted at Tranquebar in 1758, and in 1778 the Second Edition of the Old Testament was published.

The book of Ecclesiasticus was printed at Tranquebar in 1812. 12 mo, 142 pp.

Fabricius.—Schultze was succeeded at Madras in 1742 by Fabricius, who devoted much time to the revision of Ziegenbalg's translation. The first edition of the New Testament by Fabricius was printed in 1772. The Old Testament appeared in 1777.

In 1809, Dr. John published at Tranquebar an edition of the New Testament by Fabricius, and in 1811 the Calcutta Bible Society printed 5,000 copies at Serampore.

Rhenius.—The Madras Auxiliary Bible Society was formed on May 5th, 1820. Rhenius had been engaged for some time on the revision of the version of Fabricius, and in 1819, Genesis, prepared by him, was printed by the Calcutta Bible Society as a specimen for examination. In consequence of the conflicting opinions expressed with regard to the revision of Rhenius, the Madras Committee ordered an edition of 1,000 copies of the Old Testament by Fabricius to be printed. In 1822 the two editions of 6,400 copies of the New Testament, printed during the previous ten years, having been exhausted, the Madras Committee ordered 2,500 copies of the New Testament to be printed, with an additional number of 2,500 of the Gospels and Acts.

Rhenius commenced his revision of the Old Testament in 1815, exactly one hundred years after the publication of Ziegenbalg’s New Testament. He had then been only a year and a half in India. Eleven years passed, however, before he completed in 1826 his version of the New Testament. His translation of Matthew's Gospel was printed in 1825, the edition consisting of 10,000 copies. After a second revision, 5,000 copies of the Gospels were printed in 1827.

An edition of 2,500 copies of the version of the Old Testament by Fabricius, with 2,500 copies additional of the Pentateuch, Psalms and Isaiah, was completed in 1831. In 1831 it was resolved to print, after another revision, 15,000 copies of Rhenius's New Testament. Rhenius's New Testament complete was available for the first time in 1833, the demand for it previously being so great, that the portions were distributed as soon as they were printed.

In 1835, Rhenius was desirous that the revision of his translation of the Old Testament should be commenced, and 150 copies of Genesis were printed and circulated for examination. After opinions had been collected, it was resolved in 1836 that Fabricius's version should not be laid aside; but that another edition of it should be printed, with some alterations in the orthography, and that the revision of Rhenius's version should be continued: Rhenius died in 1837.

New Editions.—In 1842, Mr. Winslow translated the headings and chronology of the English version into Tamil, and arrangements were made to print 6,000 copies of the Bible with these additions, the Old Testament being the version of Fabricius corrected, and the New Testament that of Rhenius. In the same year an edition of Fabricius's New Testament was undertaken, with the headings and references of the English version, translated by Mr. Bower, 10,000 copies.

The Tamil Bible commenced in 1842, was finished in 1844. An edition of Rhenius's New Testament, with references, headings, various readings, and the chronology of the English version, was completed in 1846, 6,000 copies. The following year the second edition, 6,000 copies, of the complete Tamil Bible was ready.
Tentative Version.—Neither of the existing versions was considered satisfactory. Faithfulness seemed the great aim of Fabricius. The language is simple; but from the close following of the original, the version is in many cases obscure, as well as defective in style and idiom. Intelligibility, on the other hand, was what Rhenius chiefly sought. His version, in an easy flowing style, is much superior in clearness and idiom; but in many parts it is rather a paraphrase than a translation. Both versions also follow Luther’s Bible more than the English.

The Jaffna Auxiliary Bible Society made a proposal to the Madras Society, that a new united version should be prepared. This was agreed to in 1848. The Rev. P. Percival, Jaffna, the translator of the new version, had been engaged for 14 years on the work. In addition to being an accomplished Tamil scholar, he was acquainted with Sanskrit and Bengali. The translation was made from the originals, but compared with the English version, with every Tamil version extant, and also with the Bengali translation. The Rev. Messrs. Spaulding, Winslow, and Brotherton, were the principal members of the Revision Committee. The printing of the Union Version was completed in 1850, in octavo, 3,000 copies, and quarto 500. It was printed under the careful superintendence of Mr. P. R. Hunt, American Mission Press, Madras, and was considered the finest specimen of Tamil typography which up to that time had been produced.

The new version, though greatly admired by some, was not generally acceptable. The translation is, on the whole, faithful, clear, idiomatic and elegant. The chief complaint is, that it contains too large an infusion of words of Sanskrit origin.

Standard Version.—In 1850, a Meeting of Delegates, appointed by several Missionary Societies, to consider the best means of obtaining a standard version of the Tamil Bible, was held at Madras. It was recommended that Fabricius's version should form the basis, "comparing the same anew with the Hebrew and Greek texts, and also consulting carefully the Tentative, and all other existing versions." Of the six Delegates only one advocated Rhenius's version of the New Testament. In addition to other reasons, long familiarity has rendered the version of Fabricius a favorite among Native Christians.

The Delegates recommended that the revision should be confided, not to one individual but to a Committee, elected by the Missions. This was soon found to be impracticable, and it was determined that the work should be done by a Principal Reviser, the whole being carefully gone over before printing by a Committee of Delegates. The Rev. H. Bower, a distinguished Tamil Scholar, was nominated Principal Reviser.

Mr. Bower wisely resolved, that as the work concerned, not merely the present but the future Tamil Church, no pains should be spared in the production of a version as perfect as possible. A mere revision of Fabricius was found to be insufficient—a new translation was required. Mr. Bower commenced the New Testament in 1858. The final meeting of the Delegates for its revision was held in 1863. The Delegates were the Rev. W. Tracy, American Board, Rev. Dr. Caldwell, S. P. G., Rev. E. Sargent, C. M. S. and the Rev. C. S. Kohlhoff, S. P. G.* The Delegates remark in their Report:—

"It is a special and peculiar excellence of the version on which we have now been engaged that it is not the result of the solitary labours of any one man, however eminent, like the versions of Fabricius and Rhenius, but has passed through many minds, and has been finally submitted, verse by verse, to

---

*The Rev. E. Lewis, L. M. S. who, from ill health, was obliged to go home, rendered considerable help in the revision of the Gospels. the searching ordeal of a vivâ voce discussion, in which the peculiarities of sentiment and language apparent in each individual present were neutralized by those of his neighbour. We trust, therefore, that this version will be found, on the one hand, more faithful to the sense of the original than any previous one; and, on the other, more idiomatic and perspicuous, and free from individual peculiarities.”†

Early in 1864, the Committee of the Madras Bible Society resolved that the Old Testament should be revised, so as to bring it into general correspondence of style with the standard Edition of the New Testament. The revision was intrusted to Mr. Bower, to be aided, as before, by Delegates from the principal Missions. There is every hope that the work will be prosecuted to a successful termination, and the great end in view completely realised.

Roman Catholic Version.—A Tamil version of the Gospels and Acts, by some Roman Catholic Missionaries, was printed at Pondicherry in 1857. The preface states that the translation was made from the Vulgate, but the Greek Testament was consulted. Notes are appended in some cases, as in the Douay Bible.

Sizes of Editions.—Till 1829 the Bible in Tamil formed 5 thick octavo volumes. In 1831 smaller type was employed in printing the New Testament, which formed an octavo volume. In 1836, the New Testament was printed in duodecimo. The complete Bible was issued in 1840 in one thick octavo volume. In 1858 the Bible was printed at the American Mission Press in royal 18mo. brevier type. It is the smallest edition of the Scriptures yet produced in any of the languages of India.

Circulation.—The issues of Tamil Scriptures during

---

† Report, Madras Aux. Bible Society for 1863, p. 46. the last 5 years from the Depository of the Madras Auxiliary Bible Society were as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Bibles</th>
<th>Old Tests</th>
<th>New Tests</th>
<th>Portions</th>
<th>Total</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1860</td>
<td>250</td>
<td>193</td>
<td>2,128</td>
<td>42,881</td>
<td>45,402</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1861</td>
<td>310</td>
<td>178</td>
<td>1,024</td>
<td>22,929</td>
<td>24,431</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1862</td>
<td>818</td>
<td>460</td>
<td>1,166</td>
<td>30,014</td>
<td>32,408</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1863</td>
<td>971</td>
<td>73</td>
<td>1,657</td>
<td>41,085</td>
<td>43,786</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1864</td>
<td>931</td>
<td>283</td>
<td>2,242</td>
<td>35,339</td>
<td>38,795</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Average</td>
<td>656</td>
<td>237</td>
<td>1,643</td>
<td>34,439</td>
<td>36,964</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SECTION II. BOOKS FOR PUBLIC AND PRIVATE WORSHIP, LITURGIES.

Tranquebar Ritual.—Fenger states that the translation of the Danish Ritual was made in 1707, the same year in which Ziegenbalg built the Church at Tranquebar.* The earliest edition the compiler has met with, "Rituale Trangambaricum," 12mo, 141 pp., was printed at Tranquebar in 1781.

A small Prayer Book, Εἰς τὴν δύναμιν ἡμῶν, Svo. 24 pp. was printed at Tranquebar in 1864. Price, 6 pie.

English Book of Common Prayer.—The first translation was made by Dr. Rottler. It was printed at Vepery, Madras, by the S. P. C. K. in 1819, 4to. 289 pp. Bishop Heber made a liberal donation towards defraying the expense of a new edition. In 1843 the S. P. C. K. engaged to print a large edition of a translation, revised by a Committee consisting of all the Missionaries of the S. P. G. and C. M. S. in Tinnevelly. The same Society's Report for 1844 mentions that an edition of 10,000 copies of an abridgment of the Liturgy was printed at Madras for the Tinnevelly Book Society. A new edition of the Liturgy (10,000 copies, Svo. 385 pp.) was published in 1859. It was revised by the Rev. H. Bower, Rev. A. Cæmmerer, Rev. C. S. Kohlhoff, and Rev. J. Thomas. Price, 4 as.

* History of the Tranquebar Mission, p. 36.
A quarto edition of the Tamil Common Prayer, carried through the Press by the Rev. H. Bower and the Rev. J. Nimmo, was published by the S. P. C. K. in 1861. It was the last publication of the Society's Press at Vepery. Quarto Editions of the Book of Services (4to. 77 pp.) and Offices (8vo. 135 pp.), were published the same year.

* The Order of Confirmation. 12mo. 8 pp. S. P. C. K. 1838.

Dutch Reformed Liturgy.—The Liturgy of the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church in North America, translated by the Rev. Dr. H. M. Scudder. McCheyne's Order for the reading of the Scriptures is added at the close of the volume. 18mo. 265 pp. A M. P. 1862. 12 as.

Forms of Marriage and Burial Services, 12mo. 29 pp. Nagercoil Press. Published by Missionaries of the London Missionary Society.

Explanatory Treatises.

Nicholl's Sunday Exercises on the Morning and Evening Services. In question and answer. Edited by the Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer, 12mo. 84 pp. Palamcottah, 1853. 2 as.

* Companion to the Holy Communion. Directions and Prayers, with a translation of Book IV. of the * Books marked with an asterisk are at present (1865) out of print.

Companion to the Holy Communion. By the Rev. Dr. Caldwell. Meditations, Sermon on the Lord’s Supper, Prayers, &c. 2nd Ed. S. P. C. K. 1861. 3 as.

Prayers for Families or Private Use.

Prayers for Families. Short Prayers for every day in the week, from an English tract published by the R. T. S. Madras Tract Society. 1st Ed. 1828. 4th Ed. 16mo. 80 pp. 1862. 6 pie.

Prayers taken from the Liturgy of the Church of England arranged for Family Worship. From the original of the Prayer Book and Homily Society, 12mo. 58 pp. S. P. C. K. Madras. 6 pie.

Tamil Prayer Book. Selected by the Rev. A. Blomstrand, 18mo. 312 pp. Tranquebar, 1865. 5 as.

Hymn Books.

Translations from the German.—The first Hymn Book, printed in Tamil was a collection of 48 Hymns, translated by Ziegenbalg, and published in 1713. A second edition was issued in 1721. In 1723 Schultze published a third edition, containing 160 Hymns. A fourth edition, edited by the Rev. Messrs. Pressier and Walther, contained about 300 Hymns. A fifth edition was printed at Tranquebar in 1756. To the sixth edition, printed at Tranquebar in 1779, two Appendixes were added, printed in 1786 and 1787.
Several hymns by Fabricius are included in this edition. The Hymn Book, edited by Fabricius, was reprinted at Madras in 1774, 1796, 1820 and 1825. It was also printed at Tranquebar in 1807. Two abridged editions were likewise issued. The Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer printed a Selection at Palamcottah in 1853, 12mo. 78 pp.

The twelfth edition, "Hymnologia Germano-Tamulica," was printed at Tranquebar in 1863. It contains 374 Hymns, some of them new compositions, 8vo. 462 pp. The preface contains an account of the different editions. Price, paper covers, 14 annas; leather, 1 Rupee 2 annas. An abridgment, containing 80 Hymns, was printed at Tranquebar in 1865, 12mo. 70 pp. 3 as.

Hymns in English Metres.—The first collection of Hymns of this nature seems to have been made by the Rev. C. T. Rheanius. Afterwards he prepared a small work, containing 42 Hymns, which was printed in 1831 by the Madras Tract Society. In 1839 a larger collection, containing 112 Hymns, was issued at Madras. In 1848 the Madras Tract Society published two Hymn Books, both 18mo,—one containing 136 Hymns for adults, the other 80 Hymns for children. The same Society published in 1861 a selection of 338 Hymns, 12 as.

A volume (12mo. 138 pp.) containing 140 Hymns, was printed at Nagercoil in 1841 for the Nagercoil and Palamcottah Tract Society. The Tinnevelly Missionaries afterwards published a larger collection. The latest edition, printed at Palamcottah in 1861, 12mo. 250 pp. contains 222 Hymns, 6 as.
A Hymn Book (18mo. 288 pp.), containing 205 Hymns in English metres and 25 in Tamil metres, was printed in 1855 for the South Travancore Tract Society. A new edition, with about 440 Hymns, is now in the Press. Both editions were edited by the Rev. F. Baylis.

A volume, containing Hymns translated from Wesley’s Collection, was printed at the A. M. P. Madras, 12mo. 230 pp. 1848.

A Tamil Hymn Book, containing 398 Hymns and the music of a few tunes, was printed at Bangalore in 1849 for the Bangalore Tract Society, Svo. 503 pp. A volume (8vo. 152 pp.) containing 140 Hymns and 22 Chants, the latter with appropriate music, was printed at Madras in 1853 for the American Madura Mission. 2 as.

Hymns in Native Metres.—In general, Hymns to English tunes are not appreciated by Tamulirians. Compositions adapted to national music are greatly preferred. Their use in public worship was at first opposed by many Missionaries. The associations were said to be bad in many cases; the absence of a devotional spirit was alleged; the music was said to be tame and wanting in character. On the other hand, it was asserted that soon the associations would be Christianized; that many hymns expressed deep religious feeling; that some of the tunes were very beautiful, and that whatever might be their relative merits as musical compositions, the taste of the people should be consulted.

The Rev. E. Webb, of the American Madura Mission, seems to have taken the lead in introducing native metres into public worship. The well-known Christian poet, Vethanayaga Sastri, of Tanjore, had composed a large number of pieces suitable for divine service. Mr. Webb proceeded to Tanjore, and spent some time in the study of native music. In 1853 a volume of Tamil Sacred Lyrics (8vo. 226 pp.) selected by him, was printed at Madras for the Madura Mission.

The first collection of hymns in native metres was so popular, that it was determined to publish a larger volume. To obtain compositions on important subjects not included in the previous work, a notice was circulated, offering prizes for the best hymns of the class wanted. About 400 were sent in by competitors. In 1860, a volume (12mo. 475 pp.), containing 281 Christian Lyrics, edited by Mr. Webb, was published by the Christian Vernacular Education Society. The first edition of 1,500 copies was soon exhausted. Another edition of 2,000 copies was issued in 1864, (10 as.) The size of the volume edited by Mr. Webb rendering it too expensive in many cases, the Rev. E. Sargent printed at Palamcottah in 1865 a selection containing 107 hymns. 3½ as.

The use of hymns in native metres is gradually extending. They are particularly adapted to village congregations, in which the people are sometimes entirely ignorant of English music.

Section III. Practical Theology.

* The Way of Salvation. பல்லுரை வாதம். Tranquebar. 2nd ed. 18mo. 102 pp. 1747.

* Treatise on the Duties of a good Communicant, and Maxims for Guidance in the Conduct of Life. They were translated from the German by Malaiappen, a young Native Christian, and revised by Schultze. Tranquebar, 1721.

Revised Translation, 8vo. 194 pp. 1842. Third edition of the same Society, 12mo. 288 pp. 1848. The Madras editions contain only Part I. The whole work was translated by the Rev. L. Spaulding for the Jaffna Tract Society, and was printed in 1853, 12mo. 370 pp. 6 as.

The translations of this and several other works were made by Daniel Pillai, grandfather of the late Rev. J. Devasagayam, Tinnevelly. Daniel Pillai was educated by the Tranquebar Missionaries; but he accepted the post of Translator to the Danish Government. He resolved, however, to devote one hour a day to the translation of Christian books. For forty years this resolution was faithfully observed, and he translated several works of great value.

Meditations on the Christian Character. Pietas Christiana Demonstrata ad Devotionem domesticam Promovendam. பெரிபுல் பெரெட்டு பெமோவேனியம். Translated from the German by Daniel Pillai, Tranquebar, 1810. 2nd Ed. Tranquebar, 1814. 3rd Ed. 8vo. 246 pp. Madras, 1853. The last edition contains an Appendix of illustrative Anecdotes. 1 R.

Ministerial Advice on Caring for the Souls of our Fellowmen. 18mo. 69 pp. Madras T. S. 1842. Translated from the 9th Chapter of Baxter’s Saints’ Rest. 2 pie.

Little Henry and his Beaver. By Mrs. Sherwood 18mo. 1839. Madras T. S.

Spiritual Doctrine. உடச்சிவுருமத்திறம். An explanation of Christian Doctrine, in question and answer. Translated by Daniel Pillai, from the German of C. Schade. 8vo. 166 pp. Published by T. J. Singkarapelaventeram Pillai. Madras, 1853, 1 R.

Hours of Spiritual Refreshment. உரைலற்பட்டையுறும. Translated from the German of Muller by Daniel Pillai. Seven out of ten Parts published by the Tamil Christians’ Book Society. 12mo. 368 pp. Madras 1841.

Scripture Text Book. A Text (English and Tamil) for each day in the year. Arranged by the Rev. F. D. W. Ward. 32mo. 223 pp. Madras T. S. 1845.

Coom to Jesus. இனி இலக்கம். Translated from the work by Newman Hall by the Rev. J. A. Regel, 18mo. 143 pp. 1850. S P. C. K. 1 an. Another translation by the Rev. F. Baylis, 18mo. 103 pp. 2nd Ed. 1857. S. Travancore T. S.

Anecdotes. By the Rev. P. Schaffter. Miscellaneous extracts, intended chiefly for the young, 12mo. 203 pp. Palamcottah 1854, 8 as.

Pikes Early Piety. Translated by Gnanadeebum Ammal, daughter of Vethanayaga Sastri, 16mo. 334 pp. Madras T. S. 1853.

Flavel's Saint Indeed. Translated, with some omissions, by the Rev. W. H. Drew, 18mo. 126 pp. Madras T. S. 1855. 2 as.

By Taylor's Introduction to a Holy Life. Translated by the Rev. A. Johnson, 12mo. 52 pp. S. P. C. K. Madras, 1855. 2 as.

The translator, in the Tamil preface, says that the translations by Daniel Pillai, when published in Madras by others, were “altered, perverted, and adulterated with false doctrines.” In the translation of Gerhard's work where he found, “We feed upon” &c., in the English edition, in accordance with the doctrines of the English Church, he rendered it “He feeds us,” &c., according to the German original. He claims, therefore, to have made the translation strictly in harmony with the “unadulterated, pure, wholesome doctrines and instructions of the Lutheran Church.”

Contemplations on the Gospels, appointed to be read on Sundays and the chief Festivals throughout the year. Part I. 12mo. 489 pp. Nagercoil Press 1835. Published and edited by the Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer. 12 as.

SECTION IV. EXEGETICAL AND DOCTRINAL THEOLOGY.

Exposition of Scripture.

Practical Exposition of the Parables of Christ and of the Briefer Similies, employed by the Divine Teacher in illustrating and enforcing the Doctrines and Duties of Christianity. By the Rev. F. D. W. Ward, 12mo. 394 pp, Madras T. S. 1844. 3 as.

* Commentary on the Epistles to Timothy and Titus. By the Rev. Mr. Muller, 12mo. 161 pp. Nagercoil, 1844.

Bible Dictionaries.

* The Scripture Mirror. An Index to the Bible, containing the principal words alphabetically arranged. 12mo. 260 pp. A. M. P. Madras, 1846.

Scripture Geography.

Analysis of Scripture.

Scripture Texts Classified.

Scripture Text Book. சிற்றுற்றுற்று瘘. Translated from the work of the same title published by the Religious Tract and Book Society for Ireland, 12mo. 476 pp. Nagercoil, 1858. Published by the S. India Christian School Book Society. C. V. E. S. 10 as.

Systematic Theology.

* Gospel Doctrines. சிற்றுற்றுற்று瘘. From Professor Hill's Lectures in Divinity. Only a small portion printed.

Body of Divinity. By the Rev. C. Rhenius. Chiefly abridged from Pictet and Dwight. 1st Ed. 12mo. 630

* The Articles of Religion. By the Rev. E. Sargent. An Explanation of the 39 Articles. An Appendix contains a Summary of the chief Heresies that sprung up in the Church during the first Four Centuries. 12mo. 262 pp. Palamcottah, 1851.

Concordia: The Three Creeds and the Augsburg Confession. 12mo. 96 pp. Printed for the Tranquebar Mission at the A. M. P. Madras, 1856. 4 as.

Theological Catechisms and Dialogues.*

Luther’s Smaller Catechism. Tranquebar, 1713. 15th edition, 12mo. 64 pp. Tranquebar, 1864. 1 an.

* Short Catechisms for Schools are noticed under Educational Books.
I. PROTESTANT THEOLOGY.

CLASS BOOK OF THEOLOGY. Translated from the English. Edited by the Rev. E. Webb. 12mo. 124 pp. A. M. P. Madras. 7 as.

SWEET SAVOIRS OF DIVINE TRUTH. By the Rev. Dr. H. M. Scudder. Catechism for the use of Church Members. 18mo. 192 pp. Arcot Mission. 1st Ed. 1857.

* THE "OLD PATH." Explanations of the Decalogue, the Lord's Prayer, and the Creed; Romish errors pointed out and refuted. Leighton's work chiefly used in its preparation. Printed for the author. 2nd Ed. 18mo. 180 pp. A. M. P. Madras, 1863. 6 as.

On Special Topics.

ESSAY ON FAITH. By the Rev. J. R. Eckard. Designed for Catechists and Theological Students. Published by the A. Ceylon Mission, 18mo. 167 pp. Jaffna; 1842. 2 Annas.

The Scripture Doctrine, concerning the Person of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, explained and defended. By the Rev. Dr. G. U. Pope. Specially designed against Socinian and Mohammadan errors. 8vo. 216 pp. S. P. C. K. Madras, 1848. 3 Annas.

On the Christian Ministry.

SECTION V. POLEMICAL THEOLOGY.

Natural Theology.

Evidences of Christianity and Refutations of Hinduism.

I. PROTESTANT THEOLOGY.

Test of Religions. சிற்பத்திகள். By the Rev. R. Bren. Hinduism and Christianity contrasted and examined. The former, on its own evidence, proved to be erroneous, and the latter, by many external and internal proofs, shown to be from God. Numerous quotations from Puranas. 12mo. 465 pp. 1851. S. India Christian S. B. S.

The Bazar Book. கிளைத்துடற்கள். By the Rev. Dr. H. M. Scudder. Addresses to the heathen on the Guru, Sastra, Sin, Man, God, Expiation, Mantras, Transmigration, Fate, Idolatry, Caste, Brahmanism, and various other topics. Quotations from native books. 8vo. 419 pp. Printed for the A. Arcot Mission, A. M. P. Madras, 1865. 1 Rupee, 6 Annas.

Caste as it exists among Hindus and Native Christians. By the Rev. H. Bower. Based on the Lecture to the Educated Young Men of Madras on the Importance of Religious Enquiry. By the Rev. S. Winfred. 8vo. 18 pp. Madras, 1865. Sold by the author. 2\(\frac{1}{2}\) annas.

Poetical Works against Hinduism.

The Jewel Mine of Salvation. சிங்கனவுடமாகம். Enlarged, from a Bengal Tract, by Rev. Dr. H. M. Scudder. 16mo. 124 pp. Madras T. S. 1851. Subsequent editions. 1\(\frac{1}{2}\) annas.

Refutation of Fatalism. காதறியக்குறிக் By Vethanayaga Sastri. 16mo. 62 pp. Madras, 1852. Published by P. Singarapelavendaram Pillai. 3 Annas.

Against Muhammadanism.

* Book of Islamism. இஸ்லாமியம். Tranquebar, 1727.

The Glory of Christ. செல்வாய்ந்த உடல். By Nyanasigamani Munshi. On the Divinity of Christ. 2nd

Against Romanism.

* Exposure of Popery. பாண்டியனிக் சூழ்வு. Tran-quebar. Reprinted at Madras in 1798. 12mo. 61 pp.

* Looking Glass for the Popes. பாண்டியனிக் கோணிட்டு.
Tranquebar.

* The Right Way. போத்தப்படசோகம். By the Rev. C.
Rhenius.

A Protestant Catechism, showing the principal errors of the Church of Rome. 12mo. 40 pp. S. P. C. K.
Madras, 1830 and 1845. 4 pie.

Identity of Popery and Heathenism. பாண்டியன்
18mo. 82 pp. Madras T. S. 1850 and 1853, 6 pie.

* Light of Truth. காண்புந்து. By the Rev. G. W.
Mac Millan. A reply to a work by Abbe Dubois. 18mo.

* Resemblance between Hinduism and Romanism.
By the Rev. H. Bower. 12mo. 68 pp. Palamcottah, 1851.

Romanism Questioned. சென்று கருதியே. Scripture arguments against the leading doctrines of Romanism, 18mo. 103 pp. Madras T. S. 1855. 1 Anna.

The Tamil Quarterly Repository contains several articles against Romanism. A. M. P. Madras.

Defence of the Church of England.

The Young Churchman Armed. By the Rev. H. Bower.
A Catechism for Junior Members of the Church of SECTION VI. SCRIPTURE AND CHURCH HISTORY.

Scripture Chronology.

* Chronological Arrangement of Scripture. போத்தப்படசோகம்
நூற்றாண்டுக் கோணிட்டு. Abridged from Townsend.
Only the headings are given, 12mo. 178 pp. Nagercoil, 1851.
General Scripture History.

Compendium of Scripture History. குறிப்பிட்டு தரும்பதம். The first edition, about 200 pages, without questions, was printed at Nellore about 1833. A new edition, by the Rev. L. Spaulding, with questions, was printed at Manepy in 1839. The last edition in 1857, by the same editor, is considerably enlarged. 18mo. 545 pp. Jaffna T. S. Four editions of this work were published by the Madras T. S. 4th edition, 18mo. 270 pp. 1848.

Catechism of Scripture History. குறிப்பிட்டு தரும்பதம். 6th edition, 12mo. 89 pp. Nagercoil, 1853.

Old Testament History.

The Bible Story Book.—Part I. குறிப்பிட்டு தரும்பதம். Translated from Draper. 18mo. 198 pp. Madras T. S. 1843. 1½ as.

Old Testament History.—குறிப்பிட்டு தரும்பதம். Translated from the German of Zahn. Select quotations from the Old Testament in chronological order. Edited by Rev. A. Blomstrand. 12mo. 278 pp. Tranquebar, 1864. 6 as.
I. PROTESTANT THEOLOGY.

History of the Sufferings and Death of Christ.—புரேஸ்வரன் கவிக்கல். Svo. 38 pp. 8th Ed. Tranquebar, 1862. 2 as.

New Testament History.—சவரேசாத்சதம் 2 பதம் From the German of Zahn. 12mo. 194 pp. Tranquebar. 4 as.

The Footsteps of St. Paul.—From the English of Rev. Dr. Macduff. Edited by the Rev. F. Baylis, 12mo. 375 pp. Nagercoil, C. V. E. S. 1863. 8 as.

Church History.

* Historia Ecclesiastica.—செக்காச்சியா கவிக்கல் Attributed to the Rev. C. Walther. An outline of general history is also given. 2nd Ed. 12mo. 316 pp. Tranquebar, 1799. "This is an excellent work, and worthy of being reprinted." Rev. H. Bower.

Barth's Church History.—Translated by the Rev. J. A. Regel from the English work published by the R. T. S. 18mo. 676 pp. Madras T. S. 4 as.

* Lectures on Ecclesiastical History.—செக்காச்சியாந் கவிக்கல். Edited and published by the Rev.

*Brief Sketch of the History of the Church during the first Three Centuries.—இதற்குப் பதிக்குறிப்பிட்டு. By the Rev. C. E. Kennet. Based on Chapman’s Syllabus, with prefatory remarks from Burton. 16mo. 33 pp. S. P. C. K. 1860. 1 an.

*History of Redemption by Jonathan Edwards. A few chapters of this work appeared in the Tamil Quarterly Repository, A. M. P.

Ecclesiastical Biography.

Memoir of Rev. C. C. Leitch.—By the Rev. F. Baylis. Account of a Medical Missionary at Neyur, South Travancore. 12mo. 86 pp. Nagercoil, 1857. 6 as.

Life of Luther.—Translated from a little work by A. L. O. E. abridged from D’Aubigue, 12mo. 82 pp. Palamcottah, 1863. C. V. E. S. 2 as.

History of Missions.

Section VII. Sermons.

* Two Sermons on Primitive Christianity and Christian Morals.—8vo. 29 pp. Madras, 1832.
* Sermons on Doctrinal and Practical Subjects.—By the Rev. A. Johnson, Madras, 1851.
* Eighty-six Sketches of Sermons.—By the Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer, 12mo. 379 pp. Palamcottah.

Twenty-eight Sketches of Sermons on the Types.—By the Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer, translated from the English of Dr. Jabez Burn, 12mo. 128 pp. Palamcottah, 1856. 2 Eds. 8 as.

Sketches of Sermons on the Miracles.—By the Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer, 12mo. 96 pp. Palamcottah, 1859. 4 as.

Sketches of Sermons on the Parables.—By the Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer, 12mo. 136 pp. Palamcottah, 1860. 6 as.

Sermons on the Beatitudes.—By the Rev. A. F. Cæmmerer, 12mo. 139 pp. Madras, 1861. 6 as.

Christ the Good Physician.—By the Rev. A. R. Symonds. 8vo. 9 pp. Also in English and Tamil, Madras.

God’s Choice the best for his People.—Translated by the Rev. H. Bower, from a Sermon by the late Rev. D. Simpson. 12mo. 18 pp. 2d ed. 1859. S. P. C. K. 2 pie.

Messiah’s Conquests. 12mo. 17 pp. Palamcottah, 1855.

The Holy Spirit and His Gifts. (28th Homily) 12mo. 11 pp. Palamcottah, 1856, SECTION VIII. POETRY.*

Poetical Compend of the Bible.—அழகுத்தல் விளக்கு. In the form of a Dialogue between a Guru and a Disciple concerning God, the Soul, and Sin, &c. Twenty Poetical Prayers, 18mo. 120 pp. Jaffna 1852.

On the Word of God.—முன்னைய பரப்பலை. By J. Evarts, 16mo. 41 pp. Madras A. M. 1853. 4 as.

On the Sufferings of Christ, &c.—மகினைப்பார்வைதல். By Vethanayaga Sastri, 18mo. 122 pp. Madras 1853. 4 as.

Miscellaneous Poems.—வெத்தேன் பார்வைதல் பாடல்கள். By Vethanayaga Sastri, 18mo. 78 pp. 1853. 4 as.

Sacred Poetry.—அன்னை வழிபுற பாடல்கள். By G. P.

* Exclusive of Hymns for Public Worship, and works against Hinduism.
Savandranayagam Pillai, B. A. 12mo. 52 pp. Madras. 3 as.

Poem on Emmanuel.—அம்மாம்மா காவுமுதல். By Jacob Peter Manuel, 8vo. 42 pp. Madras, 1863.

The Prodigal Son.—முண்டும் ஏழையிலைத்தல். By P. Arumakam Pillai, 8vo. 82 pp. Madras, A. M. P. 1864. 8 as.

Garland of Illustrations.—பேரளகன்ளக்ன்நிறுணே. 18mo. 32 pp. Neyoor, 1852. 2½ as.

Poetical Garland.—செயாம்மால். 18mo. 56 pp. Neyoor, 1852. 4 as.

Lyrics.—சுரூதல பாத்ரவே. 18mo. 8 pp. Neyoor, 1852. 6 pie.

Scripture Kural.—சுரூதம் குளல். 18mo. 47 pp. Trevandrum, 1857. 3 as.

The above four Poetical works are by N. Devarar Tömmuniyär, residing near the Sirkar Press, Trevandrum. Copies sold by the author.
Section IX. Tracts.

Tracts are a very effective means of diffusing Christian truth. The contents can be adopted exactly to the state of the people; their small size fits them for persons who, in many cases, read slowly and badly; while the comparatively trifling cost enables them to be scattered broad-cast over the country.

Early Efforts.—One of the first publications of Ziegenbalg in the vernacular was a tract, in the form of a letter addressed to the Tamils. It appeared in 1713. Another, styled "Epistola ad Paganos," was published four years later. The 2nd edition of a tract, "True Wisdom, explained in a Letter to the Tamils," 18mo. 52 pp. was printed in 1804; 3rd edition, 1813.

The difficulties at first experienced in obtaining supplies of tracts are thus described by the Rev. L. Spaulding, Jaffna:—

"My own recollections of Tract distribution in this country go back to 1820, soon after my arrival in Jaffna. I was then with Mr. Poor in Tillipally. In those days it was the custom of all the Missionaries to spend each afternoon from 4’oclock to sunset, or after, in the villages, talking with the people from house to house and distributing tracts. I came home one evening and said to Mr. Poor, ‘I have found some people who can read. Have you got any tracts for distribution?’ ‘Yes, plenty of tracts! There they are on the bottom shelf.’

‘I went to help myself, and found, perhaps, a hundred tracts of all sorts and sizes. Some from Tranquebar in the old elephant-footed-type, some from Madras, and some from Colombo, printed in the old Colombo pot-hook type, such as I have not seen for many years. Of these I took some half dozen, which Mr. Poor thought a large supply for once. The whole stock, however, was soon gone.’

A printer afterwards came out from America to join the Jaffna Mission; but the Governor of Ceylon ordered him to quit the Island within 15 days. Mr. Spaulding adds:—
"We commenced with new energy the preparation and distribution of tracts on the ola (palm leaf). We employed those schoolmasters and pupils who could write a fair hand, and gave a pice (¾d.) for each full closely written four-paged tract. These were carried in our hands, and sometimes for a time they were strung on a small cord and swung on the horse's neck. Progress was slow, but it was in the right direction, and beyond the wrath of the King."

Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.—The Madras Diocesan Committee of this Society was formed in August, 1815. Numerous editions of the Discourses, Parables, and Miracles of our Lord have been issued. The following publications may be classed under the head of tracts:

Fabricius's Letter to the Heathen. 12mo. 9 pp.
Letter addressed to Tamil Christians.

Madras Religious Tract Society.—This Association was established on the 29th September, 1818. The Rev. C. E. T. Rhenius was its first Secretary. The following is a list of the tracts which have been published:

1819 No. 1 "Now is the Day of Salvation."
2 The Treasure. 4 pp.
*3 The Fear of God is the Beginning of Wisdom.
7 The Incarnation of Christ. 8 pp. Rev. Mr. Reeves.

* Early History of the Jaffna R. T. S.
1824  * 10 The Resurrection of Christ. 40 pp. From G. West.
* 12 Ancient Prophecies. 16 pp. do.
19 The Doctrine of the Soul. 8 pp. By an old Jesuit Missionary.
1826  20 The Indian Pilgrim (against Hinduism.)
        44 pp. Mrs. Sherwood.
21    Do. Against Mahomedanism.
        36 pp. Mrs. Sherwood.
* 22 Schwartz’ Dialogues. 216 pp.
* 25 Scripture Extracts. 47 pp.
1827-8  28 Short Prayers for every Day in the Week.
        48 pp. From the English of the R. T. S.
1830  * 32 A Wonderful Statement. 16 pp. Rev. Dr.
        Winslow.
33 On Sin. 10 pp. Rev. E. Crisp.
34 Andrew Dunn. 41 pp. From the English; by Rev. C. Rhenius.
* 35 Jenny Hickling. 40 pp. From the English, by Rev. C. Mead.
* 36 The Divinity of Christ. 36 pp. Rev. J. E.
        Nimmo.
1830  23 The Holiness of God. 20 pp. Chiefly from
* 24 The Crown of Holiness. 48 pp. Rev. C.
        Rhenius.
* 28 Letter to Mahomedans. 8 pp. do.
Mis. S. * 11 Characteristics of a Believer. 8 pp. From Mason’s Remains.
I. PROTESTANT THEOLOGY.

1831 * 30 The Idol Car. 8 pp. Nagercoil Tract.

* 32 Summary of the Bible. 10 pp. From the English.

34 On Lying. 10 pp. Nagercoil Tract.

1832 * 35 The Atonement. 14 pp. From Schwartz' Dialogues.

40, 1, 3 The Blind Way—Parts 1-3. Vethanayaga Sastrī and Dr. Winslow.

C. S. 1 Anecdotes. 10 pp. Jaffna Tract.

1835 48 The Heavenly Way. 7 pp.

3 Do. 12 pp.

" 4 Death of a Little Girl. 9 pp.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Page</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Author(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>50</td>
<td>Concerning Idolatry. 35 pp.</td>
<td>Rev. J. E. Nimmo</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 51</td>
<td>Songs of Praise.</td>
<td>Wesley Abraham</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 52</td>
<td>History of Cain.</td>
<td>Rev. G. Pettittt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M. S. * 15</td>
<td>On Transubstantiation.</td>
<td>Rev. W. H. Drew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. S. 5</td>
<td>Three Sisters. From the English.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sheet T. * 1</td>
<td>To the Poor.</td>
<td>Rev. C. Rhenius</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 2</td>
<td>To Lovers of Wealth.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 3</td>
<td>To the Afflicted.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 4</td>
<td>To Tradesmen.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 5</td>
<td>To Lovers of Necromancy.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 6</td>
<td>To Frequenters of Heathen Feasts.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 7</td>
<td>The Ten Commandments.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 8</td>
<td>A Prayer of an Afflicted Heathen.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 9</td>
<td>The Good Foundation.</td>
<td>Rev. W. H. Drew</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 10</td>
<td>Caution.                      Rev. R. Carver.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 11</td>
<td>To the Reader.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1837</td>
<td>True Doctrine. 15 pp.</td>
<td>Rev. Dr. Winslow</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1838</td>
<td>Good Advice. 14 pp.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>S. T. * 13</td>
<td>Questions to the Understanding.</td>
<td>Rev. G. Pettittt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 55</td>
<td>The Sure Way. 28 ppp.</td>
<td>Rev. G. Pettittt</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 56</td>
<td>On Justification. 24 pp.</td>
<td>do.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>* 57</td>
<td>Popery Unscriptural. 24 pp. Translated from an English Tract, “Popery Contrary to the Scriptures.”</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1840</td>
<td>Means of Bliss. 12 pp.</td>
<td>Rev. Dr. Winslow</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1841</td>
<td>Spiritual Light. 8 pp.</td>
<td>Rev. L. Spaulding</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>63</td>
<td>Essence of Wisdom. 38 pp. Against Idolatry by Brajamohan, abridged and modified by Rev. C. Rhenius.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>M. S. * 17</td>
<td>Sermon on the Mount.</td>
<td>17 pp.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C. S. 7-18</td>
<td>Twelve Tracts for Children. Translated from “Small Tracts for Little Children,</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
I. PROTESTANT THEOLOGY.

1842 66 Honesty the best Policy. 10 pp. Translated from "The Honest Waterman," by Rev. L. Spaulding. (Jaffna Tract.)

* 67 The True Treasure. 18 pp.
* 68 Scripture against Idolatry. 11 pp.
69 On Caste. 21 pp. Rev. L. Spaulding. (Jaffna T.)

1843 70 Ministerial Advice. 26 pp.
71 Cup of Divine Milk. 8 pp. Rev. C. Rhenius,

* 73 Evidence of Scripture. 27 pp.

C. S. 19 Little Cornelia. 48 pp. From the English.
20 Seeing Him who is Invisible. 48 pp.

1844 " * 74 On Cholera.

1846 75 Refutation of a Hindu Tract against Christianity.

* 82 Catechism of Scripture Doctrine. 13 pp.
83 Conversation on the Veda. 14 pp.

M. S. 42 Identity of Popery and Heathenism.
82 pp. Nyansigamani Pillai.

* 43 The Priest and the Bible. 16 pp. Translated from the English.

1851 84 Jewel Mine of Salvation. 124 pp. Rev.
Dr. H. M. Scudder.

1852 84 Errors and Novelties of Romanism.
16 pp. Translated from the Christian Witness.

1853 * 86 True Bathing. 14 pp.
1856 16 The Good Teacher. 18 pp. In Scripture language.

* 87 Religion or Piety. 18 pp.
Nos. 89-91 Test of Hinduism. 3 parts. 79 pp. Rev. E. Sargent.

C. S. 21-24 Tracts for Children.

857 18 The Man who killed his Neighbour. 30 pp. From the English.

25-30 Tracts for Children.

1858 * 92 Follow Jesus. 92 pp. From the English.

Sheet T. Parable of the Prodigal.

1859 * 93 An Inquirer and the Bible. 24 pp. From the English.

* 94 Light of Wisdom to the Unlearned. 28 pp.

Sheet T. The Good Samaritan.

" Jesus Christ the Ark of Salvation.

" Glad Tidings.

" Solemn Truths.

Lamp of Wisdom. 16mo. 32 pp.

Sheet T. Jesus, Justice and the Sinner. From the English.

" The Brazen Serpent.

1861 102 Three Way-Marks. 96 pp. Rev. Dr. Caldwell.

1862 10 Hinduism. 63 pp.

16 Marks of a True Religion. 8 pp.

1865 18 Instruction. 6 pp. From the Gujarati, by Mrs. Corbold.

22 Selection of Scripture Texts. 36 pp. Rev. E. Sargent.

Tinnevelly Tract Society.—The Rev. C. Rhenius removed to Tinnevelly in 1820. On the 31st October 1822,* a Native Tract Association was formed at Palamcottah, in conjunction with another forming at the same time at Nagercoil. Both constituted one Society, called the Nagercoil Religious Tract Association. The Rev. C. Mead, Neyoor, was the Principal Secretary; the * Fifth Report of Madras Tract Society, p. 16.

Rev. C. Mault, Nagerecoil, the Treasurer; the Rev. C. Rhenius was the Secretary of the Palamcottah Branch. The annual meetings were held at Palamcottah and Nagerecoil on the same day. The large attendance and liberal contributions of the Native Christians showed the interest taken in the Society. About 1830 the Neyoor Branch formed a separate Society, and about 1844 a friendly separation took place between the Nagerecoil and Palamcottah Branches, the funds and tracts in hand being equally shared.* The Palamcottah Branch was then styled the Tinnevelly Tract Society. The following is a list of its Tracts as far as known to the compiler:—

1 Doctrinal Catechism.
3 Decision of Character. 12mo. 16 pp. Rev. E. Sargent.
4 The Rest that remains for God’s People. 12mo. 20 pp. Rev. A. F. Cammerer.
6 St. Mark. 12mo. 12 pp. do.
8 Exposition of the Lord’s Prayer. do.
9 Cleave to that which is Good.
12 Parley the Porter. Translated by Rev. E. Sargent.
13 Man’s Abuse of God’s Patience. Rev. A. F. Cammerer.
14 Scripture Texts. Rev. Dr. Caldwell.
15 The Spiritual Temple. do.
   The Test of Hinduism, 12mo. 55 pp. 1856. Rev.

E. Sargent.

Summary of Christian Doctrine. do.
Sins of the Tongue. 12mo. 36 pp. 1855.

Neyoor Tract Society.—A long series of Tracts was published by this Society; but the compiler has been unable to procure any list of them. In 1853 a new series was commenced by the late Rev. Dr. Leitch.
The following are the titles;—

2 The True Way.
3 Sin Discovered.
4 Divine Teaching. 80 pp. Rev. Dr. H. M. Scudder.
5 The Brazen Serpent. 6 pp.
6 Protestant Religion no Novelty. 12 pp. From the English.
7 Follies of Hinduism.
8 The Mandikadu Festival. 4 pp. Zechariah.
10 Exposition of the Lord’s Prayer. 32mo. 52 pp. do.
11 First Principles of Christian Truth. 18mo. 12 pp.
   Rev. W. H. Drew.
13 Second Coming of Christ. 16 pp. do.
14 Is your Soul Well, 6 pp. Rev. J. Lechler.
15 Lamp of Righteousness. 14 pp. Scripture Texts arranged by Rev. F. Baylis.
16 Government of the Tongue. 12 pp. do.

South Travancore Tract Society.—A series of 145
Tracts was published by the Nagercoil Tract Society.
No complete list of them can be given. About 1855, the Nagercoil and the Neyoor Societies were united, under the title of the South Travancore Tract and Book Society. The following is a list of the Tracts issued:—

1 Life of Oberlin. 18mo. 28 pp. Enlarged by Rev.
   F. Baylis,
2 The Sister's Dream. 14 pp. From the English by Rev. F. Baylis.
3 Spiritual Teaching. 20 pp. Rev. Dr. H. M. Scudder.
4 The Good Way. 8 pp. Mr. C. Yesudian.
5 The Only Intercessor. 12 pp. Rev. C. Mault.
8 A Protestant Religion no Novelty. 24 pp. From the English.
9 Mandicadu Festival. 8 pp. Zechariah.
11 The Enduring Possession. 12 pp. Mr. J. C. Arullappen.
12 Grace for All. 12 pp. Mr. J. C. Arullappen.
13 Excellency of Well-doing. 16 pp. do.
14 Way of Salvation. 8 pp. Adapted by Rev. J. Duthie.
15 Parley the Porter. 30 pp. From the English.
16 Love of God to Sinners. 8 pp. Adapted by Rev. J. J. Dennis.
17 Choose the Best. 34 pp. Mr. A. Vethakan.
18 Fear Not. 20 pp. From the English by Rev. F. Baylis.
19 Pilgrimage to Sacred Waters. 12 pp. Old Nagercoil Tract.
20 Heathen Festivals. 12 pp. do.
21 Dawn of Wisdom. 18 pp. Contains stanzas erroneously attributed to Agastiar.
22 Honesty the Best Policy. 16 pp. From the English.
23 The Evil of Drunkenness. 8 pp. Old Nagercoil Tract.
26 Marks of True Religion. 8 pp. Rev. J. Duthie.
28 The Spiritual Fountain. 24 pp. From the English by Mrs. Baylis.

Hand-Bills.

Good Words. Mr. C. Yesudian.
Divine Teacher. do.
Idolatry, a Child's play. Brajamohan.
The Divine Spirit distinct from the Human.
From a Canarese Tract.
The Great Physician. Abridged from the English.
The Day of Salvation. A Lyric.
Glad Tidings, do. By Mr. John Palmer.
The Life of Christ. A Lyric.

Tracts for Children.

Jaffna Tract Society—The following is a list of the Tracts published by this Society, which was instituted, February 19th 1823:—

General Series.

1 The Spiritual Light. 8 pp. Rev. L. Spaulding.
2 The Heavenly Way. 8 pp. Rev. Dr. Winslow.
3 The Means of Bliss. 6 pp. do.
4 Life of Polycarp. 8 pp. Rev. L. Spaulding.
5 True Doctrine, No. I. 12 pp. Rev. Mr. Roberts.
6 Do. II. 16 pp. Rev. Dr. Winslow.
7 Friendly Epistle to Roman Catholics. 16 pp. Dr. J. Scudder.
8 The Ten Commandments as taken from the Bible, contrasted with the Decalogue of the Romish Church. 4 pp. Dr. J. Scudder.
9 Address to Roman Catholics. 28 pp. do.
10 The Loss of the Soul. 4 pp. Rev. L. Spaulding.
12 Conversion of the Tahitians. 16 pp. Rev. Dr. Winslow.
14 Exposition of the Second Commandment. 16 pp. Dr. J. Scudder.
15 On the Marriage of Priests. 20 pp. Dr. J. Scudder.
16 Hon. F. Newport. 12 pp. From the English by Rev. L. Spaulding.
22 Mantras, or Incantations. 4 pp. Dr. J. Scudder.
23 Good Counsel. 16 pp. Rev. Dr. Winslow.
25 Christian Union. 12 pp. do.
27 On Withholding the Cup from the Laity. 16 pp. Dr. J. Scudder.
28 The Accepted Time. 8 pp. Rev. L. Spaulding.
29 Evils of Drunkenness. 8 pp. From the English.
31 Moses, the Pious Negro. 8 pp. From the English.
33 The Conversation (for Muhammadans.) 12 pp. Rev. E. Daniel.
34 Old Sarah. 12 pp. From the English by Rev. L. Spaulding.
37 Good Instruction. 12 pp. Palamcottah Tract.
The Dawn of Wisdom. 16 pp. Malligam Moodalier.

Spiritual Touchstone. 12 pp. do.

Honesty the Best Policy. 12 pp. From the English, by Rev. L. Spaundling.

Renunciation of Evil Ways, or Philip P. of Birmingham. 16 pp. From the English, by Rev. J. Knight.

Scripture Extracts. 48 pp.

Abdul Messee. 20 pp. Punari Moodalier.

Krishna Pal. 16 pp. From the English.

The Admonition, or Sermon on the Mount. 24 pp.

Devout Inquiries. 12 pp.

Heathen Festivals. 16 pp. do.

Improper Marriage Alliance, or the Apostate. 12 pp. from the English, by Rev. L. Spaundling.

The Notification, or Scripture Parables. 2 pp. Rev. D. Poor.

64 Relative Duties. 20 pp. do.
65 Divine Justice. 28 pp. do.
66 True and False Religion. 59 pp. do.
67 Natural Law. do.
69 Evils of Litigation. 8 pp. do.
75 The Inquiry. 24 pp. (for Muhammadans) do.
77 Mercy and Justice. 26 pp. Rev. Mr. Woodward.
78 Resemblance between Paganism and Roman Catholicism. 16 pp. Rev. J. Philip.
80 Hindu Conversions. 24 pp.
82 God’s Displeasure at Idolatry. 16 pp. do.
83 Christianity and Hinduism contrasted. 24 pp: Rev. L. Spaulding.
84 Self-Examination, 12 pp. do.
85 Conversion of a Muhammadan.
86 A Poem on the Bible. Mr. Arnold.
87 Natural and Revealed Law. Rev. L. Spaulding.
88 The Needle of Adamant. Translated by Rev. P. Percival.
89 Omnipresence of God. Rev. L. Spaulding.

Miscellaneous Series.

2 The Pious Example, 4 pp.
2 The Erroneous Way, 8 pp. (For Roman Catholics.)
3 Conversation, 4 pp.
4 Check to Evil Propensities, 8 pp.
5 Sum of the Scriptures.
6—9 Discussions against the use of Ardent Spirits, 4 pages each.
10 Marriage Vision. 29 pp. From the English.
11 The Good Example. 12 pp. (Memoir of Mrs. H. Winslow.)
12 Selection of Tamil Hymns. 24 pp.
13 The Happy Death. 8 pp. (Death of Mrs. Hall of Madura.)
14 Garland of 300 Gems. 24 pp. (Poetry.)
15 Synopsis of the Bible. 24 pp.
17 Garland of Praise. 12 pp. (Poetry.)
18 Biography of Nicholas Peramander. 32 pp.
20 Explanation, 72 pp. (Amplification of the Catechisms. Spiritual Milk and Spiritual Lamp.)
21 On Cholera,
22 Isabella Graham.

New Series.

1 Parley the Porter. 18mo.
2 Mr. Cankergold. 18mo. 36 pp.

Miscellaneous Tracts.—The American Madura Mission published a series of Tracts, reprints from various sources. A Tract against the use of Tobacco, 18mo. 16 pp. by the Rev. T. S. Burnell, was printed for the same Mission in 1861. The following are the titles of some additional Tracts:

Dr. B. Schmid’s Tamil Tracts, 16mo. 105 pp. Reprinted 1854.

Published by the Tanjore Tract Society.

1 A Missionary Story. Mrs. Forbes.
2 Is not the Door open? do. Hannah, do.
4 Folly of Demon Worship. Rev. Dr. G. U. Pope.
5 The Old Man’s Home. 16mo, 72 pp. From Adams.
I. PROTESTANT THEOLOGY.

Published by the Rev. R. M. Bawboc, Free Church Mission, Madras.

Vishnu’s Certificate, 16mo. 8 pp.
Siva’s Certificate, 16mo. 8 pp. Madras, A. M. P. 1859.
Jesus must needs have Suffered, 16mo. 8 pp. Madras A. M. P. 1859.
What must I do to be Saved? 32mo. 24 pp. 1863.
What shall a man give in exchange for his Soul?
The Evil of Sin. 16mo. 2 pp.
Do you know your Creator? 16mo. 2 pp.
Are you Ready? 16mo. 2 pp.
The Barren Fig Tree. 16mo. 2 pp.
Jesus is the Saviour of Sinners, 16mo. 2 pp.
The Love of God, 16 pp. 2 pp.
When will you Repent? 16mo. 2 pp.
The Life of Jesus Christ, Heathen Festivals.
The Life of Parthasarathy and the Life of Jesus.
Kari-Varathar, Conjeeveram Idol.
Bible Testimony.
Hinduism and Christianity contrasted.
Vinayaga Chaturthi, or Belly-God Feast.

Published by the Tranquebar Mission.

The True Bathing. 12mo. 43 pp. 1863. 6 pie.
Seven Arguments for those who wish to obtain Heaven. 18mo. 12 pp. 1864. 1 pie.
Superstitious Customs among Native Christians. By Rev. A. Samuel. 18mo. 32 pp. 1864. 3 pie.
A few Tamil Tracts were printed at Colombo.

Scripture Texts.—Mr. P. R. Hunt, American Mission Press, Madras, has published a number of Scripture Texts, printed on sheets on very large characters.
They are intended to be pasted, like bills, on public places. The plan has been successful, and striking passages of Scriptures have thus been read by numbers. More than 2,000 years ago, Asoka, the zealous Buddhist king, caused inscriptions to be engraved on stone in different parts of India to make known some of the chief commands of Gautama.

DIVISION II.—ROMAN CATHOLIC THEOLOGY.

Roman Catholic Missionaries accompanied the Portuguese Expeditions to India, and some of them labourd zealously to propagate their faith. Xavier may be regarded as the founder of Romanist Missions in the Tamil country. His converts were mainly fishermen in the neighbourhood of Cape Comorin. Robert de Nobili, nephew of cardinal Bellarmine, proceeded to Madura in 1606. During his brief stay in the country Xavier did not master the vernacular; but de Nobili was a distinguished Sanskrit and Tamil scholar. De Nobili was known by the name of Tattuwa pōtakar, the True Teacher. The following list of his writings is given in an Appendix to the edition of Beschi’s Poems in honor of the Virgin, printed in 1843:

Nanopatesa Kandam. 本书的教义。 Book of Spiritual Instruction.

Mantiramalai. 花环的祈祷。 Garland of Prayers.

Mantira Viyakkiyanam. 解释的祈祷。 Explanation of Prayers.

Attuma Niranayam. 证明的真理。 Proofs of the existence of the Soul.

Tushana Tikkaram. 吓死的滥用。 Confutation of Abuse.

Satya Veda Ladsanam. 本性的存在。 The Nature of the True Veda.

Sakuna Nirvanam. 释放。 Abolishment of Omens.

Parama Sudhmunippiriyam. 真正的指示。 Determination of the Divine Mystery.

Punarjenma Atkepam. புனர்ஜென்மா அத்கேபம். Objections to the Doctrine of Transmigration of Souls.

Tattuvakkannadi. தத்துவக்கண்ணக்கிணி. Mirror of Tattuvam.

Sesunatar Sarittiram. சேசுனாடர் சாரித்திரம். History of Jesus Christ.

Gnana Tipikri. கற்றான் திபிக்கிரி. Lamp of Wisdom.

Nitisol. நிதிஸோல். Proverbs.

Tamil and Portuguese Dictionary.

"During the closing years of his long career, he may be said to have summed up all his various writings in his famous catechism, or work in four large volumes, which constitutes a complete cursus of theology."* He seems also to have written two shorter catechisms, "which are still in use and much admired: the first a small one, which every child and adult catechumen has to learn by heart; and another, more detailed, developed for the use of the already instructed Christians, and the assistance of Catechists."†

The first work mentioned in the list of De Nobili's writings, "Spiritual Instruction," was printed more than a century ago. His "Explanation of Prayers," was also published about the same time.

The Rev. C. J. Beschi, a Jesuit Missionary, remarks the Rev. P. Percival, "was certainly the best Tamil scholar of his age, not excepting the natives themselves." He was an Italian by birth, and educated at Rome. On his arrival in India, about the beginning of the

---

* Catholic Missions in Southern India, p. 135. † Ibid, p. 144.
17th century, he devoted himself to the study of the Tamil language and literature. "Beschi," says the Rev. H. Bower, "conformed in his dress, food, &c., to the customs of the people; and assumed the pomp and pageantry of a Hindu Guru. He fell in with their prejudices, went about dressed in purple flowing garments, a white turban, and yellow slippers. In his hand he carried a silver-mounted cane. In his ears and fingers he wore rings set with precious stones. He travelled on a white horse or in a stately palanquin; a man held a purple silk umbrella over him, another fanned him with peacock feathers. He was seated on a tiger skin; and a stately retinue followed. As Schwartz, so Beschi became connected with the State, and was employed by a native prince under Chanda Sahib, the Nabob of Trichinopoly: he acted as Dewan, or Minister, in 1736."*

The Madura College conferred upon Beschi the title of Vīramāṁuni, the Heroic Devotee.† "He was much extolled for the triumphs he obtained in the controversial disputes, which often occur among the learned in India. He was very liberal in his donations to the poor, and in the erection and repair of churches. He was assiduous in instructing the youth in different languages and sciences, and in procuring for them situations suitable to their capacity."‡

Beschi was a prolific writer. Twenty-three works are attributed to his pen. They are noticed under the different sections to which they belong. He is said to have died at Manapar in Tinnevelly in 1742; but the Rev. C. E. Kennet, who made inquiries on the spot, found that no one there could give any information on the subject.

* Calcutta Review.
† Catholic Missions in Southern India. p. 188.
‡ Sketch of his Life, prefixed to the Madras Edition of his work for Catechists.
The Roman Catholic Press at Pondicherry commenced operations in 1840. The printing of Refutation of Heresy, குற்றக்கை விளக்கம், by the Very Rev. L. S. Dupuis, furnished the occasion of its establishment. The next publication was "Spiritual Nectar." The following lists will give an idea of the character of the religious publications issued from the Pondicherry Press. School-books, &c., are included under the appropriate heads.

A Catalogue in the Vernacular, with prices, is prefixed to each book—a practice deserving of imitation by the Tract Societies in India.

SECTION I. — THE HOLY SCRIPTURES.

The translation of the Gospels and Acts is noticed at page 6.

SECTION II. — PRAYERS FOR PUBLIC AND PRIVATE USE.

Response ad Missam. In Latin, Roman and Tamil characters. 18mo, 18 pp. 1 an.

Tank of Spiritual Nectar. Lists of festivals; Prayers for morning and evening; Prayers during Mass; Poem of Beschi addressed to the Virgin Mary; Challoner’s "Think Well on it," and shorter Catechism. 18mo. 837 pp. Rs. 1½.

The following examples of short prayers are taken from Catholic Missions in Southern India. p. 150.

PRAYER OF THE HOLY CROSS.

By the sign of the holy Cross, deliver us, O Lord, from all our enemies, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

[While reciting this prayer, a cross, is made on the forehead, mouth, and breast; afterwards, the ordinary sign of the cross.]

Ejaculatory Prayer on Awaking.

Jesus, Mary, Joseph, grant your protection, that my eyes in awaking may see no evil, and that my mind indulge in no bad thought.

17905 ON DRESSING.

Vouchsafe, O Lord, as I now clothe my body with these garments, to adorn my soul with Thy divine grace.

spiritual Nectar. Prayers for morning and evening, at Mass, during affliction, sickness, &c., and shorter Catechism, 18mo. 231 pp. 8 annas.

daily Prayers. Morning and evening Prayers and shorter Catechism. 18mo. 34 pp. 1 anna.

Way of the Cross. Devotional book for Passion Week. 18mo. 380 pp. 8 annas.

Prayer to the Holy Face of Jesus. Prayers for the conversion of blasphemers, Litany of St. Veronica. 18mo. 8 pp. 6 pie.

Prayers to the Queen-Mother of Heaven. Litany of the Virgin. 18mo. 9 pp. 6 pie.

Treasure for the Young. Prayers for the young, and the larger Catechism. 32mo. 266 pp. 3½ annas Help for the Young. Prayers and the shorter Catechism. 32mo. 172 pp. 2½ annas.

SECTION III.—PRACTICAL THEOLOGY.

Spiritual Conversion. Attributed to Beschi, but authorship doubtful. Advice to the unconverted. Awakening. The first chapter has been published, with some alterations, by the Madras and the Calcutta Tract Societies. 12mo. 99 pp. 3½ as.

"Think well on it." By Dr. Challoner. Practical reflections on Death, Judgment, &c. 18mo. 403 pp. 8 annas.
II. ROMAN CATHOLIC THEOLOGY.

Preparation for a Happy Death. Written by a Jesuit. Practical Reflections and Prayers. 18mo. 234 pp. 5 as.

The Divine Example. Imitation of Christ's Example. 18mo. 326 pp. 8 annas.

Imitation of Christ. Translated from A. Kempis. 18mo. 390 pp. 10 as.

The Catholic Way. By a native priest, the translator of the preceding work. Printed at Madras in 1862. 18mo. 209 pp. 10 annas.

Spiritual Comfort. 32mo. 147 pp. 2 as.

Preparation for receiving the Seven Sacraments. Lithographed. 18mo. 294 pp. 6 as.

Love of the Soul. Meditations on the Passion of our Lord by D'Alphonso De Liguori. 18mo. 318 pp. 8 as.

Spiritual Meditations of St. Ignatius. Meditations on the end of Man, &c. revealed to St. Ignatius by the Virgin Mary in a cave. 12mo. 144 pp. 6 annas.

Meditations of St. Ignatius. Translation of the Spiritual Exercises of Ignatius Loyola. Meditations on the end of Man, Creation, Fall, Sin, &c. 12mo. 318 pp. 10 annas.

Spiritual Exercises. By Father Bouchet (Father Bouchet) who lived at Avur in the 17th century. Meditations on Creation, the Fall, Heaven, Christ, &c. One of the best of the Roman Catholic books. 12mo. 268 pp. 7 as.

Spiritual Joy. How to behave so as to please the Lord Jesus Christ. Devotions of the Confraternities of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and the Mother of Dolors. 18mo. 104 pp. 3 annas.
CLASS A. RELIGION.

Gāthās uśnās. Instructions to Catechists. By Beschi. The Appendix, ṣeṣaṭṭaiśaṅgṭu, contains 8 meditations for Catechists. The second, on baptism, recommends Catechists, if heathen parents are unwilling to have their sick children baptised, to administer the rite as if they were giving medicine and repeating mantras for their cure. 18mo. 328 pp. 8 annas.

The revised edition, by the American Mission, is noticed at page 22.

SECTION IV.—DOCTRINAL & POLEMIC THEOLOGY.

Gṛhasthāsthāṇa. Spiritual Instruction. The larger Catechism and Prayers. 18mo. 148 pp. 4 as.

Catechism illustrated by Pictures. In French, with explanations in Tamil in an accompanying pamphlet. 1 R.

Gāthāsāravālapuṇḍarīkā. Explanation of the Ancient Veda. The antiquity of the true Veda, on God, the gods of the Hindus, the Trinity, Creation, &c. 18mo. 276 pp. 5 annas.

Gāthāsāravālapuṇḍarīkā. Examination of the True Scriptures. An old work supposed to have been written originally in Telugu by a Jesuit. It has also been translated into Canarese. Proofs of the Existence of God, his Attributes, the Trinity, Creation, the Lord Jesus Christ, &c. 12mo. 425 pp. 1 Re.

Gāthāsāravālapuṇḍarīkā. Refutation of Heathen Abuse. Reply to Articles which appeared in a Tamil Newspaper, the Dravidian Tipikai, 29th Nov. 1847. 18mo. 116 pp. 1 anna.
Controversy with Protestants.

ガララவிய. Splendour of the Veda. By Beschi. In eighteen Sections, being eighteen arrow-like arguments to pierce the Lutheran heresy. 12mo. 324 pp. Rs. 1¼

ガラ拉萨தி. Destruction of Schism. By Beschi. The Tranquebar Missionaries are said to have written in reply to 加拉萨தி, a small pamphlet, 加拉萨தி, in vulgar Tamil, of 13 pages in which they contrived to include 78 lies. The present work is a reply 12mo. 139 pp. (Bound with the preceding.)

Luther. By Beschi. Who was Luther? The locusts mentioned in Revelations, the Star that fell from Heaven, the Key of Hell, &c. 12mo. 34 pp. 1 anna.

甲状腺cus_cellulosis. Medicine for the Cure of the Poison of the Black Cobra. History of Luther. Two attempts at working Miracles are quoted below, Lithographed. 18mo. 102 pp. 1½ as.

Examination of the True Church. By the Very Rev. L. S. Dupuis. The concluding portion of the preceding work. Differences between Popery and Protestantism in parallel columns. 18mo. 29 pp. 1 anna.

甲状腺cus_refutation. Refutation of Heresy. By the Very Rev. L. S. Dupuis. A Catechism on the supposed errors of Protestants. This is the work for the printing of which the Pondicherry Press was established. 18mo. 76 pp. 1 anna.
SECTION V.—SCRIPTURE AND CHURCH HISTORY, &c.

Scripture History.

Abridgment of Scripture History. 12mo. 344 pp. 11 as.

Abridged Catechism of Sacred History. Scripture History, with a brief sketch of Church History since the Apostles. 32mo. 333 pp. 4 as.

Fleury’s Short Historical Catechism. In French and Tamil. Scripture History and Church History, with supplementary remarks on Missions. 12mo. 72 pp.

Wonderful Events of Scripture History. 12mo. 44 pp. 1 anna.

Lives of Saints.

History of St. Francis Assisi. 18mo. 432 pp. 7 as.

Life of St. Francis Xavier. 18mo. 287 pp. 8 as.

Life of St. Louis of Gonzaga. 18mo. 364 pp. 8 as.

Life of John De Britto. Britto was son of a Viceroy of Brazil and educated as a companion of the Princes of Portugal. He was ordained priest and embarked for India in 1673, where "he ardently hoped to find the crown of martyrdom." He was put to death in 1693. Numerous miracles are mentioned. 18mo. 316 pp. 8 as.

Gañthanâmâyâkshâ. Life of Devasagayam Pillai. History of a Native of Travancore who suffered martyrdom. 18mo. 72 pp. 2½ annas.

Lives of St. Stephen and St. John the Evangelist. 18mo. 49 pp. 1½ annas.

Lives of the Apostles Philip and James and of St. Athanasius. 18mo. 53 pp. 1½ annas.

Life of St. Ignatius. 18mo. 36 pp. 1 anna.
Life of St. Polycarp. 18mo. 32 pp. 1 anna.
Life of St. Martin. 18mo. 50 pp. 1½ annas.
Life of St. Anthony. 18mo. 33 pp. 1 anna.
Life of St. Sebastian. 18mo. 37 pp. 1 anna.
Lives of St. Macarius and Peter Balsam. 18mo. 32 pp. 1 anna.

Lives of St. Joannes A Deo, &c. 18mo. 60 pp. 1½ annas.
Life of St. Agnes. 18mo. 36 pp. 1 anna.
Lives of St. Laurence, &c. 18mo. 60 pp. 1½ annas.
Lives of St. Paul the Eremit, &c. 18mo. 29 pp. 1 anna.

This volume contains most of the preceding little works. 18mo. 12 annas.

Miracles.

Monday Miracles. 12mo. 306 pp. 10 as. Tuesday Miracles. 10 as. Wednesday Miracles. 10 as. Thursday Miracles. 10 as. Friday Miracles. 12 as. Saturday Miracles. 12 as. Sunday Miracles. 12 as.

The above works are lithographed. Each volume contains 52 addresses, in each of which some miracle is related. The subject for Monday is prayer for souls in purgatory. The following is an abstract of the first address,
A pious widow, who lived with her virgin daughters, lay at the point of death. A devout female friend, a virgin, came to see her. The visitor, who had the power of working miracles, saw the Queen of Heaven standing by the bedside, fanning the dying woman. Devils were crowding around; but St. Peter came, cross in hand, and expelled them. At last the woman expired. Some might think that the Virgin Mary would then take her up to heaven. No such thing. The friend of the departed beheld her suffering in purgatory. She told this to the daughters, and the three fainted and prayed for several days. Afterwards the spirit of the widow appeared, shining as bright as the sun, and said, "I was in purgatory till this time; but on account of your penances I have been released and I am now on my way to heaven." The hearers are exhorted by this instance of success to pray for souls in purgatory.

In contrast with the miracles of the Romish Saints, two futile attempts by Protestants are thus narrated in "Medicine for the Poison of the Black Cobra."

"We cannot deny what the heretics have done to prove the truth of their doctrines. We shall here state two miracles wrought by Luther and his disciple Calvin.

First Miracle by Luther.

"A certain woman, possessed by a devil, began to whirl her head and to dance. Luther then came out to expel the devil by repeating certain Mantras. While he was uttering them, the devil which possessed the woman, caused her to spring upon Luther, and tear his dress. Luther, unable to expel the devil, was put to shame and ran away.

Second Miracle by Calvin.

"A certain beggar, named Pilunu, and his wife, who lived at Ostune, came once to Calvin begging alms. Calvin offered them a large sum of money, if they would do what he would tell them. They consented. It was agreed that the beggar should fall and lie on the ground in the street as if he were dead, and that his wife should cry out and weep for her husband.
They did so. People crowded about the spot. The beggar's wife went to Calvin and begged him to restore her husband to life. So Calvin came out and addressed the people thus, 'Here is a dead man. Behold the miracle I am about to work in order to prove the truth of what I teach.' He then turned to the dead man and said, 'Rise in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ.' He uttered these words aloud three times. The dead man did not rise, but was found to be really dead. When the woman saw that her husband was actually dead, she began to weep and mourn, and to tell the people what Calvin had said to them. Then Calvin was afraid and ran away."—pp. 71-7.

SECTION VI.—POETRY.

The following notice of this work is from "Catholic Missions in Southern India":—

"The hero of this Tamil epic is the ever blessed and glorious St. Joseph. The history of this saint being inseparably connected with that of the Immaculate Mother of God, the author has included in his vast plan all the historical events of the Old and New Testaments which symbolise or refer to these two privileged beings. The incarnation of the Son of God, and the redemption of the world, in which so admirable a part was allotted to our Blessed Lady and St. Joseph, furnish the poet with themes higher than were ever sung in Tamil verse. It is from the Holy Scriptures that his subjects are derived. He has profited also by the revelations communicated by the Blessed Virgin to Maria D'Agreda. The poem is divided into thirty-six cantos, of which the first contains a magnificent description of the country of Judea, and the second of the city of Jerusalem. The birth of the saint, the wonders of his childhood, and his holy espousals, form the subjects of the three following cantos. The incomparable virtues of the Mother and foster-father of Jesus, the first sorrowful doubt of St. Joseph, and his subsequent joy, are said to be sung by the poet with a mastery of language and elevation of thought never surpassed."

"The original, in the handwriting of F. Beschi, which had come into the possession of Mr. Walter Elliot, a distinguished Magistrate of the Madras Presidency, was generously lent by that gentleman to the Missionaries by whom it was printed at Pondicherry in 1851." p. 139.

The work is in the style of the Tamil Epic Poems. Its language is too high for ordinary readers; but there is a commentary. The following verses, translated by Ellis and Babington, will give some idea of its nature:

Defeat of Adonezedecc.

"On that day (Adonezedecc) the Lord of the winged chariot, the warrior whose bow scattered fire, the crescent-crowned monarch, the renowned conqueror decked with garlands of everlasting perfume, at whose feet bowed innumerable tributary kings, was sore vexed, and brought low."

Penitence of the Egyptian Mary.

"On the flying chariot of desire she arrived at the desert of sin; on the flying chariot of fear she repaired to the mountains of penitence; on the flying chariot of resplendent wisdom she entered the grove of growing virtue; and on the flying chariot of my name she shall enter the kingdom of heaven."

On a Life of Seclusion.

"If thou art desirous of being where no sin is, thou must seek that place in heaven; even when retired to the wilderness, the asylum of innocence, the war of the passions may still rage; freedom from sin proceeds from strength of mind, not from difference of place, O my son!" replied the sage."

Address to the Deity.

"Thou art the sea of virtue, thou art the sea of grace, thou art the most benevolent.

Thou art the sea of power, thou art the sea of prosperity, thou art the sea of wisdom which enlighteneth the mind.

Thou art the confirmation and the life of the world; to whom is no likeness.

Thou art the infinitely bright and heavenly Sun, which cannot be hidden by the assembled clouds, and which sinketh not into the ocean.

Thou art the sea of constant felicity which hath neither swell nor wave."
II. ROMAN CATHOLIC THEOLOGY.

The Sweet Garland. By Beschi. Selections from the Tempavani. Scripture doctrines; hymns on various occasions; on the conversion of the heathen, &c.; with poems in honor of the Virgin. 12mo. 244 pp. 14 as.

Select Works of Beschi, with his life. Contents: Story of Vaman, Selections from Tempavani, Tirukkalavar Kalampakam, and Annai Alangkal Antat. A poem by Mr. Ellis is also included. Small 4to. 80 pp.

Tirupavani. By Beschi. Hymns in honor of the Virgin. The last part of Tempamalai. 12mo. 46 pp. 4 annas.

Ten stanzas in honor of the Virgin. Small 4to. 4 pp. Madras, 1863. 6 pie.

Christian Psalmody. By Anthonykutti, Annaviyar, a contemporary of Beschi. His poems were printed a few years ago at Jaffna.

SECTION VII.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Abridged Account of Festivals. 18mo. 315 pp. 6 as.

The Month of the Worship of the Mother of God. The month of May is devoted to the Virgin Mary. Some point connected with the history of Mary, a Prayer, and a Miracle for each day. 18mo. 386 pp. 9 as.

The Novena of the Mother of God. Lithographed. 10 as.

Rules of the Congregation of the Sacred Heart of the Mother of God. The formation of the Congregation, its Rules, Miracles, Prayers, &c. 18mo. 342 pp. 8 as.
Brief account of the preceding. 18mo. 10 pp.

The Mantle of the Immaculate. The Virgin Mary, wearing a blue mantle, appeared in vision to a lady, and told her to form a society, composed of 33 virgins wearing a similar dress. 18mo. 12 pp. 6 pie.

The Splendour of the Holy Garment. About the scapular worn by a certain order as a mark of peculiar veneration for the Virgin Mary. 18mo. 180 pp. 6 as.

Rules of the third Congregation of St. Francis. 18mo. 208 pp. 6 as.

DIVISION III.—HINDUISM.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

Primitive Superstition.—It has been mentioned that the Tamils belong to the great Turanian family, which overspread a great portion of Asia and part of Europe before the Aryan immigrations. In the southern extremity of the Tamil country, where the Brahmans never gained a complete ascendancy over certain classes, the aboriginal superstition still prevails to a large extent. Dr. Caldwell shows that it is identical with the Shamanism, or demonolatry, of Siberia.* By investigating the ancient vocabularies of the language, he arrives at the following conclusions. "The un-aryanized 'Dravadians' were without hereditary ‘priests’ and ‘idols,’ and appear to have had no idea of ‘heaven’ or ‘hell,’ of the ‘soul,’ or ‘sin’; but they acknowledged the existence of God, whom they styled ‘Kô,’ or king, a realistic title which is unknown to orthodox Hinduism. They erected to his honour a ‘temple,’ which they called ‘Kô-il,’ God’s house; but I cannot find any trace of the ‘worship’ which they offered to him. The chief, if not the only actual worship which they appear to have practised was that of ‘devils,’ which they worshipped systematically by ‘giving to the devil,’ i.e., offering bloody sacrifices, and by the performance of frantic ‘devil dances.’”

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 521.

Dr. Caldwell mentions that “The process of demonification is still going on amongst the Shanars; and in every case the characteristics of the devil and his worship are derived from the character and exploits of his human prototype. There is a continued succession of devils claiming the adoration of the Shanars, and after a time sinking into forgetfulness.”† Among the demons most feared at present he mentions Palevesham, a notorious robber during the latter period of the Mahomedan government. A Captain Pole, an English officer who was mortally wounded at the taking of the Travancore lines in A. D. 1809, was invoked by the Shanars. His worship consisted in the offering to his manes of spirituous liquors and cheroots.†

“A few of the demons are forms of Cali, connected with a debased and comparatively modern development of the Brahmanical system itself; and, as such, they are known by a different name, ‘Ammen,’ or mother; and their worship is marked by some distinctive peculiarities. It is performed not by every one who pleases, as devil worship is, but by a particular class of Soodra priests.”‡

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 78.
† Tinnevelly Shanars, p. 27. ‡ Ibid. p. 13.
Introduction of Brahmanism:—It is well known that the religion of the Vedas is the worship of the elements. Dr. Caldwell remarks:

"Of elementary worship, there is no trace whatever in the history, language, or usages of any portion of the Tamil people. The emigration of the Brahmins to Peninsular India appears, consequently, to have been subsequent to the first great change in their religious system. The religion they introduced was probably a rudimental form of Sivism, with a tendency to the mystical and mythological systems of the Puranas. There is not the least reason to suppose that the Vedic or elementary system was ever known in the Tamil country, either as an indigenous religion, or as introduced by the Brahmins."

So far as the compiler has been able to ascertain, the Vedas have never been translated into Tamil, except a few hymns as specimens, which appeared in periodicals. In 1864 a native writer published a short account of them; but he acknowledges that his information is obtained from Colebrooke and Ward.

It may be mentioned that Indra is worshipped on the first, and Surya, the sun, on the second day of Pongal, the great Tamil festival commemorating the winter solstice.

When the Brahmans found that the worship of local divinities could not be extirpated, they incorporated them with their system, pretending that they were incarnations of Siva and Vishnu. Dr. Caldwell remarks:

"I apprehend that we have a mythical record of the adoption of the aboriginal demonolatry into the later Brahmanical system, and of the object in view in this alliance in the Puranico story of the sacrifice of Daksha. According to that story, Siva, (i.e. Vedantic Brahmanism) found himself unable to subdue the old elementary divinities, and to secure to himself the exclusive homage, at which he aimed, till he called in the aid of the demons (the demonolatry of the aborigines) and put himself at their head in the person of his (‘pro-re-nata’) son Vira-Bhadra; a demi-god, whose wife, emanation, or representative, Bhadra-Cali, is regarded by the Shanars as their patroness and mother.”

Stevenson and Lassen suppose that even the phallic emblem was probably at first an object of veneration among the aboriginal or non-Arian Indians; and that it was subsequently adopted by the Brahmans from them, and associated with the worship of Rudra.

Buddhism and Jainism.—For several centuries these systems had numerous followers in South India. Some of the finest compositions in the Tamil language are attributed to Jainas.

The compiler has been unable to ascertain satisfactorily when Buddhism began to spread in the Tamil country. After the Third Buddhist Council (241 B.C.) King Asoka sent Missionaries to various countries, including two of his own children, through whom Ceylon became obedient to the faith of Sakya Muni. The system may have gained a footing in South India about the same period, or a little later.

The Jainas seem to have been a Buddhist sect, their doctrines being very much alike. At first they lived peaceably together in South India. The Jainas increased by immigrations from the north. In the reign of Hinasitala, the Buddhist king of Conjeeveram, about 800 A.D., a great dispute arose between the sects. The Buddhists were defeated. Some, it is said, were sentenced to be crushed to death in oil-mills; others fled to Ceylon.

In the reign of Kuna Pandiyan of Madura, about the 10th century A.D., the Jainas were, in turn, overcome by the Saivas, headed by Sampantar. The Triuviladal Puranam states that 8,000 learned Jainas,

---

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 520.
† Sanskrit Texts, Vol. IV. p. 345.
‡ Taylor's Catalogue, Vol. III. pp. 424, 496. rather than recant, "with obstinate prejudice put themselves on the impaling stakes."*

Revival of Hinduism.—Sankara Acharaya, who lived about the eight or ninth century A. D., did much to restore Hinduism. He is supposed to have been a native of Malabar. "All accounts concur in representing Sankara as leading an erratic life, and engaging in successful controversy with various sects. In the course of his peregrinations he established several Maths, or convents, under the presidency of his disciples, particularly one still flourishing at Sringiri, on the Western Ghats, near the sources of the Tungabhadra. Towards the close of his life he repaired as far as to Kashmir, and seated himself, after triumphing over several opponents, on the throne of Sarasvati. He finally went to Kedarnath, in the Himalaya, where he died at the early age of thirty-two. The influence exercised by Sankara in person, has been perpetuated by his writings, the most eminent of which are his Bhāshyās or commentaries, on the Sutras, or Aphorisms, of Vyasa."†

Sampantar and his two disciples, Sundarar and Appar, were zealous champions of Saivism. About two centuries later, in the early part of the 12th century, Vaishnavism found a propagandist as distinguished in Ramanuja. The following account of him is given by Wilson:—

"He was born at Perumbar (about 25 miles west of Madras) and studied at Kanchi, or Conjeveram, where also he taught his system of the Vaishnava faith. He afterwards resided at Sri Ranga (near Trichinopoly), worshipping Vishnu as Sri Ranga Natha, and there composed his principal works. He then visited various parts of India, disputing with the professors of different creeds, overcoming them of course, and reclaiming various shrines, then in possession of the Saivas, for the worshippers of Vishnu, particularly the celebrated temple of Tripeti."*

Ramanuja was compelled by persecution to flee to Mysore, where he converted the Jaina sovereign to Vaishnavism. After twelve years absence, on the death of the Chola king, his persecutor, Ramanuja returned to Sri Ranga, where he spent the remainder of his life.

About the early part of the 13th century, Madhwa-charya, called also Ananda Tirtha, established a new sub-division of the Vaishnavas, whose peculiar doctrines will be noticed hereafter.

HINDU SECTS.

Wilson remarks that the Hindu religion designates a "faith and worship of an almost endlessly diversified description."

The Hindu Sects may be divided into two great classes.

"An early division of the Hindu System, and one conformable to the genius of all Polytheism, separated the practical and popular belief, from the speculative or philosophical doctrines. While the common people addressed their hopes and fears to stocks and stones, and multiplied by their credulity and superstition the grotesque objects of their veneration, some few, of deeper thought and wider contemplation, plunged into the mysteries of man and nature, and endeavoured assiduously, if not successfully, to obtain just notions of the cause, the character and consequence of existences. This distinction prevails even in the Vedas, which have their Karma Kanda and Jnana Kanda, or Ritual and Theology."

In the following lists, works on Hinduism are arranged under the above two great heads. In course of time sub-divisions arose both in the popular and philosophical systems:

"The worship of the populace being addressed to different divinities, the followers of the several gods naturally separated into different associations, and the adorers of Brahma, Vishnu, and Siva or other phantoms of their faith, became distinct and insulated bodies, in the general aggregate: the conflict of opinion on subjects, on which human reason has never yet agreed, led to similar differences in the philosophical class, and resolved itself into the several Darsanas or schools of philosophy."

The later Hindu works, the Puranas and Tantras, written in honor of particular divinities, separated their votaries more widely from each other. "They not only taught their followers to assert the unapproachable superiority of the gods they worshipped, but inspired them with feelings of animosity towards those who presumed to dispute that supremacy: in this conflict the worship of Brahma has disappeared, as well as, indeed, that of the whole pantheon, except Vishnu, Siva and Sakti, or their modifications."

Wilson quotes, among others, the following verses from the Puranas. The Bhagavat thus denounces the worshippers of Siva:

"Those who profess the worship of Bhava (Siva), and those who follow their doctrines, are heretics and enemies of the sacred Sastras."

On the other hand, the Padma Purana makes the following statement:

"From even looking at Vishnu, the wrath of Siva is kindled, and from his wrath, we fall assuredly into a horrible hell; let not, therefore, the name of Vishnu ever be pronounced."†

The divisions among Christians illustrate, in some measure, the sects among Hindus.

The followers of the popular system of Hinduism may be divided into three principal parties, Vaishnavas, Saivas, and Saktas, or worshippers of Vishnu, Siva, and the Sakti, "the power or energy of the divine nature in action."† Their relative numbers vary in different parts of India. Wilson says that of the Hindus in Bengal at least three-fourths are of the Sakti sect; of the remaining fourth three parts are Vaishnavas, and one Saivas, &c.* Though Siva is the leading object of worship at Benares, the Vaishnavas, on the whole, greatly preponderate in Northern and Central India. Rama is the form under which Vishnu is worshipped. In Western India the Vaishnavas are also numerous. Krishna is the favorite incarnation. South India is the stronghold of the worship of Siva; probably three-fourths of the Tamilians are Saivas. Hence that sect will first be noticed. It should, however, be understood, that some, especially Brahmanas, do not profess to worship exclusively either Vishnu or Siva. Those who profess to adhere closely to the sacred Smritis (traditions), especially as expounded by Sankara Acharaya, are sometimes called Smartas.

† Ib. p. 4.

Saivas.—As already mentioned, Siva was probably the first Brahmanical deity worshipped in South India. The linga, or phallus, is his great symbol. Saivas are distinguished by three horizontal lines on the forehead, smeared with the ashes of burnt cow-dung. Other parts of the body are also sometimes marked. The theory is that Siva reduces to ashes the sins of his worshippers. Sometimes the members of this sect wear a round mark on the forehead, denoting the third eye of Siva. The five-lettered mantra, or magical prayer of the Saivas is, Nama Sivaya, Salutation to Siva!

Vira-Saivas.—These form a sub-division of the Saivas, worshipping only the male energy. The other Saivas associate the Yoni, or female energy, with the linga. The origin of this sect is attributed to Basava, minister of a king of Kalyana, near Bombay. He is reputed to have been an incarnation of the sacred bull Nandi, the vehicle of Siva. Allama Prabhu, afterwards regarded as an incarnation of Siva, was associated with him. The sect is supposed to have originated in the early part of the 11th century. The Vira-Saivas are distinguished by wearing a small linga, enclosed in a metal case. Hence they are called Lingyats or Lingadharis. Vira is derived from a word denoting bravery. They nearly exterminated the Jainas in some parts of the Dekkan. Sometimes they are called Jangamas, from jangama, motion, claiming to be living symbols of deity. The mendicants often lead about a bull, the living type of the bull of Siva.

The Vira-Saivas are chiefly found in the Canarese country. Only few of their books have been printed in Tamil. The names of the principal are given below.

Aphisheka Malai. ஆபிஷேக மலை. 32mo. 13 pp.
Nedungkalinedil. நெட்டுஞ்சலைட்டில். 32mo. 11 pp.
Kurungkalinedil. கூருங்கலைட்டில். 32mo. 6 pp.
Nirangana Malai. நிரங்கணா மலை. 32mo. 14 pp.
Kaithala Malai. கைதாள மலை. 32mo. 4 pp.

The five preceding works are by Siva Pirakasa Tesikar, who lived about the 17th century. They were printed in a small pamphlet by Saravana Perumal Iyer. The first treats of the anointing of the linga, specifying what articles may be offered. A small linga is often placed on the hand, considered as an altar. This is the subject of the last work. The others contain praises of Siva, for repetition during the worship of the linga.

Pirapulinga Lilai.* பிறப்புத்திலை. Text, 8vo. 126 pp. 6 as. With commentary, 8vo. 322 pp. Rs. 3. By Siva Pirakasa Tesikar. 17th cent. Translated from the Canarese. Allama Prabhu, a supposed incarnation of Siva, resists Maya and her maidens, and travels about teaching that there is but one path to holiness, which consists in our becoming one with the linga, laying aside all personal distinctions, and gaining a perfect sway over the passions. A full summary, by C. P. Brown, Esq., is given in Taylor's Catalogue, Vol. II. pp. 837-847. Two stanzas, as translated by Ellis, are quoted below:

* The names of the most important works under each head are printed in capitals.

"The sages say, that, as milk, which from its excellence ought to be preserved in a golden vase, is lost by pouring it into a furrow of the earth, so the advantages of the human form are lost to him, who, after wandering from body to body, hath with difficulty acquired it, if he do not desire to be relieved from the affliction of various births and attain, by its means, to unchangeable eternity by the practice of every kind of virtue however arduous.

"The keeper of the refreshing flower garden said—"There is none more subject to delusion than he, who being endowed with a body, perishable as lightning, by which an imperishable body may be obtained, and he may attain to everlasting felicity, fearing to mortify that body, neglecteth the practice of righteous acts from love of it and indulging in luxury, liveth in vain."

SITTANTA SIKAMANI. சித்தாண்ட சிக்காமணி. 16mo. 148 pp. 12 as. By Siva Pirakasa Tesikar. 17th cent. The work professes to contain the instructions on Vedantism given by Akastiyar to Renukar.

VIRAKAMAM. விராகமம். 18mo. 22 pp. 1½ as. By Santalingka Suvamikal. 17th cent. An abstract of one of the 28 Agamas of the Saivas. Translated from the Sanskrit. The rules of the Vira-Saivas about worship, food, &c.

Vaishnavas.—This sect consists of those whose great object of worship is Vishnu in one or other of his incarnations. As already mentioned, in South India, compared with the Saivas, they are only as about one to four.
The Vaishnavas in the Madras Presidency are divided into two parties, the Vadakalai and Tenkalai, or the Northern branch and the Southern branch. The separation is said to have mainly arisen through Vedanta Tesikar, a Brahman of Conjeeveram, who is supposed by the Vaishnavas to have lived nearly 600 years ago.

The Vadakalai use Sanskrit books to a larger extent than the other branch. They also worship the female energy as well as the male; while the Tenkalai almost exclusively adore Vishnu. A Tenkalai told the compiler that the Vadakalai looked for salvation through works, while his sect regarded it as of grace. But among the common people the grand distinction is, that while both sects wear on the forehead a representation of Vishnu's trident, the Tenkalai draw the centre line down on the bridge of the nose. Party feeling runs strong between the two sects, especially at Conjeeveram, where it has sometimes given rise to fierce disputes.

"One of the most striking peculiarities of the sect is the care and privacy of their culinary operations. Every meal is preceded by ablutions; it is cooked by the householder himself, and should a strange eye glance upon it, it is reckoned polluted and the viands of which it is composed are thrown away. The Brahmanical heads of the sect, or Iyengars, are a proud, secluded and bigoted section of the community."*

Wilson gives the Vaishnava mantra as Om, salutation to Rama! This applies to North India, where the ordinary greeting among Hindus is, Ram, Ram! The Southern Vaishnavas, followers of Ramanuja, use what they call the eight-lettered mantra, Om, salutation to Narayana!

The infamous Vallabhacharyas, worshippers of Krishna, whose doings were not long ago exposed at Bombay, seem to be unknown among the Tamils.

* Moor's Hindu Pantheon, p. 357.
Saktas.—The grand object of the worship of this sect is the female energy. As already mentioned, it is the most popular system in Bengal, where the Durga Puja is the chief national festival.

The Saktas are divided into the right hand and left hand worshippers. The former worship the female principle in a mystical way; the latter indulge in gross impurities. Wilson thus describes the latter:

"All the principal ceremonies comprehend the worship of Sakti, and require for that purpose the presence of a female as the living representative and the type of the goddess. This worship is mostly celebrated in a mixed society, the men of which represent Bhairavas or Viras, and the women Bhairavis and Nayikas. The Sakti is personated by a naked female, to whom meat and wine are offered and then distributed amongst the assistants, the recitation of various Mantras and texts, and the performance of the Mudra, or gesticulations with the fingers, accompanying the different stages of the ceremony, and it is terminated with the most scandalous orgies amongst its votaries."

The left hand worshippers are usually members of secret societies. They are found throughout India. The Rev. W. Simpson says, "I have heard of them in good authority in Madras, and some of the largest towns in the South, and have been acquainted with very respectable men who have taken part in them."

In the district of Tinnevelly the Saktas will not admit that they do more than eat flesh and drink toddy together. The theory of the Saktas is said to be the following: The extinction of desire is the great aim of Hinduism. The other sects seek it by the mortification of the passions; the Saktas by their gratification.

Jainas.—There are still a few adherents of this sect, especially around Conjeeveram; but none of their religious books seem to have been printed.

† Moor's Hindu Pantheon, p. 365.
LISTS OF BOOKS.

SECTION I.—GENERAL VIEWS OF HINDUISM.

The only work the compiler has met with of this character is the following small treatise, a translation of which has been published by the Rev. T. Foulkes:

SECTION II.—ON THE VEDAS.

The Vaishnavas assert that their work, Peria Tiru Moli, பேரிய திரு மூலி, contains the essence of the Vedas; but this is incorrect. The only account of them in Tamil seems to be afforded by the following pamphlet:

The same work also contains Pirayassitta Nirunaya Sattira Sangkirakam, பிராயச்சித்தா நீரூண்டையா சாங்கிரகம். 8vo. 38 pp. It mentions various classes of sins, including the eating of onions by Brahmans, and the modes of expiation.

SECTION III.—ON THE GODS POPULARLY WORSHIPPED.

SIVA.

The name of Siva does not occur in the Vedas. Rudra, afterwards identified with him, is in the Vedas described as the father of the winds, and is evidently a form of either Agni or Indra. There is also not the slightest allusion to the Linga. In the Ramayana and Mahabharata, Siva is Mahadeva, the Supreme God. The linga is mentioned in the latter poem, though the date of the passage is considered uncertain.*

Siva is represented with five faces. Hence he is called Pancha muki. He has a third eye in his forehead, and four arms. His body is besmeared with ashes, and snakes encircle his neck. His wife is Durga or Parvati. His sons are Ganesa, Supramamiya and Vira-badhra. The bull Nandi is his vehicle. His heaven is Kailasa, in the Himalayas.

Siva Ratri, the Night of Siva, is the great annual festival in honor of this deity. When the gods churned the ocean to obtain the water of immortality, a deadly poison was emitted in the process. To save gods and men from destruction, Siva drank the poison; but he lay insensible for a time from its effects, in memory of which his followers fast. The poison caused Siva's neck to become of a blue colour. Hence he is called Nilakantha, the blue-throated.

The Saivas claim ten of the eighteen great Puranas; but only an abridgment of one of them, the Skanda Purana, has yet been printed in Tamil.

Ambai Kanakam, அம்பைகாணகம். 8vo. 12 pp. 1 an. By Appavu Mutaliyar. 19th cent. 53 stanzas in praise of Siva.

Appar Suvami Patikam. ஐப்பர்சுவாமி பதிகம். 16mo. 7 pp. 3 pie. By Kasivisvanata Mutaliar. 19th cent. Ten stanzas in praise of Appar.

Arunachala, or Aruna Giri, also called Trinomali, is a rocky hill of a reddish colour, about a hundred miles S. W. of Madras. "According to the legend, it was in this spot that Siva appeared as a fiery linga to Brahma and Vishnu, and desired them to seek his base and summit; which they attempted in vain; in commemoration of which the gods requested Siva to remain in a reduced form as a linga here, and erected the temple."* A conical piece of rock on the top of the hill is considered the linga. Once a year it is pretended that a fire is miraculously lighted on the summit. The Puranam mentions the great benefits to be derived for worshipping at the temple. For a full abstract of the Puranam, see Taylor's Catalogue, Vol. III. pp. 140—144.

Arunai Kalampakam. அருணை கலா பக க. 4to. 21 pp. 3 as. By Ellappa Navalar. 17th cent. Used in schools.

Arunakiri Antati. அருணகிரி ஆண்டியம். 4to. 16 pp. 9 pie. By Kukai Namasivaya Tevar. About 16th cent.

Arunasala Satakam. அருணாசலா தாகதாம். 19th cent. The four preceding works refer to Siva, worshipped at Arunachella.

Arupattumuvvar Ussava Valinadai Taru. அருப்படிவ வலிவா தல்மாணா தங்கள். 18mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. By Ashtavatana Sapapati Mutiliyar. 19th cent. A song for pilgrims going to the festival of the 63 devotees of Siva at Tirumayilai, St. Thome, near Madras.

Attisudi Puranam. அதிஸுடி புராணம். 8vo. 377 pp. 1 Rupee. Anonymous. Prose. Tales of the 63 devotees of Siva, who is termed Atisudi from wearing a garland of flowers of the atti plant. Large circulation.

Ekamparamatar Pansarattinam. 19th cent.

Ekamparamatar Ula. Attributed to Iraddaiyar. 14th cent.

Ekamparamatar Viruttam. 18mo. 5 pp. 3 pie. By Arumuka Gnaniyar.

Ekamparamatar means lord of a mango tree. It is said that Parvati once, when doomed to do penance, erected a small image of Siva, made of earth, under a mango tree at Conjeeveram. There is a temple there with a name derived from this legend. The title is also applied to a small Saiva shrine in Madras.

Kunnappa Nayanar Sarittira Kirttanai. 8vo. 52 pp. 3 as. By Arunasala Mutaliyar. 19th cent. In praise of one of the 63 devotees of Siva, who plucked out his eye to present it to the god, who appeared to him as if wounded in one eye.

Kapalisurar Valinadai Patam. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Vengkadasala Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Song in praise of Siva worshipped at St. Thome, Madras. Kapalisurar means skull-bearer. Siva is so called because he bears in his hand the skull of one of the heads of Brahma.

Kapalisar Patikam. 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. By Murukesa Mutaliyar, 19th cent. Ten stanzas in praise of Siva.

Kassappai Isvaran Viruttam. காஸ்பிகை உசாரண விருத்தம். 16mo. 15 pp. 1 anna. 19th cent.

Kassimalai. கசினமலை. 4to. 18 pp. 2 as. By Kannudaiya Vallal. About 18th cent. Prayer to Siva as worshipped at Kassi, or Kanchi, Conjeveram.

Kasi Kandam. கசி காண்டம். 8vo. Rs. 3. Attributed to Ativira Rama Pandiyar. 12th cent. A section of the Scanda Purana, relating to Benares. The work is divided into a hundred cantos. It describes visits to various worlds, praises Benares, and relates legends of devotees. See Taylor’s Catalogue, vol. III. pp. 112—115.

Kasi Kalampakam. கசி கலம்பகம். 8vo. 25 pp. 2 as. By Kumara Kurupara Suvamikal. End of 18th cent. 100 stanzas in praise of Siva as worshipped at Benares.

Kasi Sarittiram. கசி சரித்திரம். 8vo. Rs. 2. By Virasami Iyer. 19th cent. Prose. Account of a visit to Benares by the author.

Kailaipati Kalasripati Venpa. கைலையப்பித்தலச்சிரையா வேண்பா. 18mo. 18 pp. 2 as. Attributed, probably erroneously, to Narkirar, head of the Madura College. Alternate verses in praise of Kailasa and Kalastri.

Ketarinatar Viratam. கெடாரினார்த் விராதம். 16mo. 20 pp. 1 an. Translated from the Sanskrit. Account of the origin of a Saiva fast from the displeasure of Parvati at not being worshipped along with her husband.

Kumpakonasettira Kumpesurar Sarittiram. கும்பாகுனசோத்திரா கும்பேசுரர் சரித்திரம். 8vo. 90 pp. 6 as. Prose. 19th cent. Taken from the Stalla Puranam. Account of the festival of Cumbaconam once in twelve years, when the water of the Ganges is said to fill a certain tank.

Kurunata Satakam. குருணாத சத்தகம். 8vo. 16 pp.
1 anna. By Karunaiyananta Suvamikal. 19th cent.
101 stanzas addressed to Siva as the great teacher.

Kuyil Padal. கூயில் பாடல். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Kantasami Kaviraja Panditar. 19th cent. In praise of the 63 devotees of Siva.

Mallikeswarar Pansarattinam. மாலிகேஸ்வரர் பண்டர்தினம்
18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Singkaravelu Mutaliyar.
19th cent. In praise of Siva adorned with malli or jasamine flowers, worshipped at a small temple in Madras.

Maturai Patirruppatantati. மதுரை பதிருப்பப்பண்டாண்டை
8vo. 16 pp. By Paransoti Munivar. 18th cent.
In praise of Siva worshipped at Madura.

Maturai Venpa. மதுரை வேண்பா. 4to. 92 pp. 1½ as.
By Sokkalinga Tesikar. 19th cent. In praise of Madura, especially as the seat of the worship of Siva.

Meyngnana Suvami Kirtananai. மைற்றனா சுவமி கிர்தாணாய்
19th cent. Praise of Siva.

Muttuttandavar Kirtananai. முட்டுட்டண்டாவர் கிர்தாணாய் 8vo. 64 pp. 4 as. By Muttu Tandavar. 18th cent. In praise of Siva at Chillambaram. Licentious imagery.

Muvar Ammanai. முவர் அம்மனை. 18mo. 24 pp.
1 anna. Anonymous. Praise of Siva, Supramanyan,
Vishnu, &c. Sung by beggars.

Nadesar Kirtananam. நாடேஸார் கிர்தானநம். Svo. 112 pp. 4
as. By Markkanda Munisami Navalar. 19th cent.
About Siva and Parvati vying with each other in dancing at Chillambaram.

Namassivaya Malai. நமஸ்ஸிவையா மலை. 18mo. 20 pp.
6 pie. Author not mentioned. In praise of Siva, the object of the five-lettered mantra Nama-sivaya.
Nampiyandarnampi Tiruvantati. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟ. 8vo. 16mo. 1½ as. By Nampiyandar Nampi. About 14th cent. In praise of the 63 devotees of Siva. The original of the Beriya Puranam.

Navamani Tipam. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟ. 18mo. 6 pie. By Arunasala Mutaliyar. 19th cent.

Nalvar Nanmani Malai. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟ tamil. 18mo. 16 pp. By Sivappirakasa Suvamikal. 17th cent. In praise of the four chief devotees of Siva.

Nasu Ketu Sarittiram. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟ tamil. 8vo. 12 pp. 9 pie. Author not mentioned. Prose. History of Nasuketu, who was doomed to visit the different hells; different kinds of punishment described.

Gnanakirisar Patikam. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟ tamil. 16mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Ekampara Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Siva praised as a mountain of wisdom.

Paddanattar Tiruvialai Marutur Mummani Kovai. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟṟ tamil. 16mo. 30 pp. In praise of Siva as worshipped at Tiruvialai Marutur, near Mayaveram.

Paddanattar Koyil Nanmani Malai. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟṟ tamil. 18mo. 23 pp. In praise of Siva worshipped at Chillambaram.

The two preceding works are by Paddanatar Pillai. About 16th cent.

Palumulai Antati. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟ tamil. 8vo. 14 pp. 2 as. By Sivappirakasa Suvamikal. 17th cent.

Pansatikara Vilakkam. Ṇṟuṟṟṟṟṟ tamil. By Tirupurur Sittambalasuvami. 18th cent. On the five powers of Siva, viz., creating, preserving, destroying, involving the soul in illusion, and delivering it again.

Parasamajaya Pillai Tamil. Ṇṟuṟṟṟ tamil. 8vo. 33 pp. 3 as. By Angkappa Navalar. The work professes to be translated from the Sanskrit of Pulattiyam. History of a Saiva devotee.

Parama Rakasiga Malai. பரமரகசிய மலை. 4to. 15 pp. By Kuru Namasivaya. 18th cent. In praise of Siva, the sacred mystery, worshipped at Chillumbaram.

PERIYA PURANAM, or TIRUTTONDAR PURANAM. பேரியாபுரணம் or திருட்டூண்டார் புராணம். Text, 8vo. 12 as. About half the work printed with commentary, 2 vols. 8vo. 802 pp. Rs. 3½. By Sekkilar. About 14th cent. Lives of the 63 devotees of Siva, in 3363 stanzas arranged in 72 cantos.

Periya Purana Kirttanai. பேரியாபுரணகிர்த்தணை. 16mo. 94 pp. 4½ as. By Kesava Mutaliyar. 19th cent.

PERIYA PURANA VASANAM. பேரியாபுரணவண்ணம். 8vo. 235 pp. 10 as. By Arumuka Navalar. 19th cent. Prose. An edition, with pictures of each of the devotees, has recently been printed. The following narrative furnishes a specimen of the work. In some points it resembles the Greek myth of Orpheus.

STORY OF ANAYA NAYANAR,

"In the town of Mangala, in the province of Marha, there lived a man of the shepherd caste, named Anaya, renowned for his devotion to Siva. He was accustomed, while leading his flocks to graze in the pastures, in company with the other shepherds his servants, to pour the sweet sounds of the music of his pipe into their ears. He had a bamboo pipe, made according to the directions of the Gantharva Veda, and would sing, to the accompaniment of the seven notes of the gamut, the five sacred letters.

"One day in the rainy season as he was going along with his servants for this purpose, with his stick in one hand and his bamboo pipe in the other, he came near a kondrei tree, that bent down with the weight of its bunches of flowers as long as a garland, and which seemed to him to resemble Siva with his plaited locks of hair. When he saw it he stood still; and with his mind full of love began to play the Namasivaya, according to the directions of the treatises on music. These delightful sounds entered the ears of men and animals, as sweet as celestial honey mixed with ambrosia. The herds of cows came near him and stood motionless, forgetting to graze; and the calves, when they heard the music, forgot to drink the milk of their dams. The bullocks, the deer and other beasts of the forest, came near, with hair erect with joy. The peacocks came and forgot to strut and spread their tails; so also many other kinds of birds, attracted by the music, drew near and stood entranced. All the herdsmen stood motionless, listening to the sweet melody, as if they had forgotten their work. Celestial singers and choristers, demi-gods and gods, charmed with the music, approached the place in their self-moving-chariots. The animals which were enemies to one another were so affected with the music, that serpents fell without fear on peacocks, lions and elephants came together; and deer stood by the side of tigers; even the branches of trees were motionless. Thus both the animal and vegetable creations were delighted with the music of Anaya Nayanar. Parama Siva, who knows the real piety of his devotees, hearing the music, made his appearance on his bull in the sky with his wife Parvati, and said, 'My beloved disciple, come to me just as you are from this place, that my attendants may hear your sweet music.' So Anaya Nayanar followed Siva to Kailasam, playing his pipe by his side."

Piramottira Kandam. 8vo. Rs. 2 1/4. By Varatungka Rama Pandiyan, brother of one of the Pandiyan kings. About 12th cent. An imitation of a section of the Skanda Purana. "It consists of 1323 stanzas, arranged in 22 cantos, and has for its subject the legend of certain votaries of Siva who obtained beatitude by bearing his emblems, or uttering his name by accident." Tamil Plutarch, p. 111.

Ponvannattantati. 8vo. 15 pp. By Seraman Peruman. About 10th cent. Ponvañnam, gold colour, with which word the poem begins, is an epithet of Siva. In praise of Siva worshipped at Chillambaram.

Porrikkali Vinya. 18mo. 8 pp. 6 pie. By Paramasoti Munivar. About 17th cent. About the 64 sports of Siva.

Pushpavitti. 16mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. By Gnanpirakasa Suvamikal. About the different flowers to be used in offerings.

Sudaimalai Antati. 3 vols. 8vo. 572 pp. Rs. 4. By Sampantar. About 10th cent. 384 Hymns to Siva as worshipped at certain temples, songs of praise, &c. Extracts from two hymns are given below:

On the Sacred Mantra.

"Think every day of the five letters, with heartfelt desire, when you are asleep or awake, because they are able to resist death.

"These five letters are the Mantras, the Vedas, to the Brahmanas who perform their sacred ceremonies with fire.

"These five letters destroy all evils which afflict both the body and the soul, fill the mind with bright wisdom, and lead the thoughts to the Supreme Being.

"When the good and the bad are taken away from this world by Yama, these five letters save them from all evils caused by him."

The Ashes of the Being who swallowed the Poison.

"Prayer is sacred ashes; that which the gods put on is sacred ashes; beauty is sacred ashes; that which is to be praised is sacred ashes; whatever is effected by the use of mantras is sacred ashes; that which is the mark of religion is sacred ashes: this is the sacred ashes of the Being who swallowed the poison, and who is united to Parvati, having a coral-like mouth."
"The Vedas are sacred ashes; that which removes all evils is sacred ashes; that which gives wisdom is sacred ashes; that which removes dishonor is sacred ashes; that which is to be studied is sacred ashes; truth is sacred ashes; this is the sacred ashes of the Being who swallowed the poison.

"That whose nature cannot be known even by Brahma and Vishnu is sacred ashes; that with which the gods smear themselves is sacred ashes; that which removes the evils that befell the body is sacred ashes: this is the sacred ashes of the Being who swallowed the poison."

Sampanta Suwami Kirthanadi. சம்புத்தா சுவாணி கிருத்தாண்டகிய. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Sapapati Mutaliyar. 19th cent.

Sampanta Suwami Patirrappattantati. சம்புத்தா சுவாணி படிருப்பட்டாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்டத்தாண்ட. 8vo 16 pp. 1 an. By Minadsi Suntaram Pillai. 19th cent.

Sampanta Suwami Tiruttaladu. சம்புத்தா சுவாணி திருட்டலாடு. 32mo. 11 pp. 3 pie. 19th cent. The three preceding works are in praise of Sampantar.

Saiva Samaya Vilakka Vina-vidai. சையா சம்யா விளக்கா விணா-விவாதை. 16mo. 180. pp. 6 as. By C. Sapapati Mutaliyar and S. Satasa Mutaliyar. 19th cent. This is a catechism of the Saiva system, in imitation of Christian catechisms. It is a strange medley.

The second Question is, What are the attributes of Siya?

"Answer.—He is eternal; without outward form; without passions; without external marks of existence; whose fulness fills all the world; without any divine superior; unchangeable both in thought and word; without carnal desire; without enmity; and the life of all living beings. He is, moreover, immeasurably great and spotlessy pure."

Religious contemplation, with an ascetic life, leads to the degree of future happiness called, "unity of form." In answer No. 45 this is defined as follows:

"In being like great Siva, having clotted hair, a poison-blackened neck, four arms, and three eyes."

The work contains a useful compendium of Saivism. It has been translated into English by the Revd. T. Foulkes, with the exception of the concluding part, which gives a list of Saiva temples.

Settira Kovai. செட்டியர் கோவை. On the thousand and eight sacred places of the Saivas.

Sivanama Vai. சிவனாமாவளி. 19th cent. Praise of Siva and the five-lettered mantra.

Siva Parakkiramam. சிவா பாரக்கிராமம். 32mo. 29 pp. Anonymous. On the valour of Siva.

Sivananta Lakiri. சிவாணந்த லகிரி. 17th cent. Translated from the Sanskrit. Praise of Siva.

Sivananta Malai. சிவாணந்தமலை. 18th cent. Concerning the happiness which Siva bestows.

Sivanana Sastiram. சிவனானா சாஸ்திரம். About the wisdom attainable by a Saiva.

Sivanerpi Pirakasam. சிவனேந்திரபிரகாசம். 18th cent. About the glory of the Saiva system.

Siva Puja Mansari. சிவபுஜா மஞ்சரி. 18th cent. Directions for the worship of Siva.
Siva Punnja Telivu. சீவா புன்னி தெலிவு. 8vo. 22 pp. By Umapati Sivasariyar. 17th cent. In praise of Siva.

Sivakaranunna Telivu. சிவகரன்னு தெலிவு. 17th cent. On the grace of Siva.

Sonasaiva Malai. சோணசை மலை. 8vo. 16 pp. 1 anna. By Sivappirakasa Tesikar. 17th cent. In praise of Siva as worshipped at Arunagiri or Arunaselam, the red mountain.

Suntara Suvami Kirttanai. சுண்டர சுவாமி கிர்த்தணை. 19th cent. About Suntara, the Saiva devotee.

Suntarar Vedu Pari. சுண்டரர் வேடு பாரி. 18mo. 16pp. 6 pie. Anonymous. Account of the robbery of Suntarar by hunters.

Suntara Scharar Iruddaimani Malai. சுண்டர சரர் இருட்டைமாணி மலை. 18th cent. Praise of Siva.

SUTA SANGKITAI PURANAM. சுண்டதி சங்கிதை புராணம் 8vo. Rs. 2. By Tiyakarasas Seddi. 19th cent. In praise of Siva, legends of Saiva devotees, &c.

Tevara Patikam. தொவார பதிகம். 18mo. 40 pp. 6 pie. Selections from the Tevaram of Sundarar, Appar, and Sundara Murtti.

Tillai Nadaraya Satakam. திளை நதராயா சதகம். 8vo. 28 pp. 3 as. By Aiyatturai Pillai. 19th cent. Prayers to Siva worshipped at Chillambaram.

Tillai Patirrupattantati. திளைப்பறுப்பாண்டாண்டாயி A hundred stanzas in praise of Siva worshipped at Chillambaram.

TIRUKKALUKUNNA PURANAM. திருக்காலுகுண்ண புராணம். 8vo. 310 pp. Rs. 1½.
Tirukkalukunra Malai. திருக்கலுகுன்ற மலை. The two preceding works are by Antaka Kavivirarakava Mutaliyar. About 18th cent. A history of a Saiva temple in the Carnatic. The following stanza is quoted in the Tamil Plutarch:—

"He who rides on the bull, wearing the moon on his head, and holding the skull of Brahma in his hand, has his dwelling in Kalukhundam, where the swan mistaking for her eggs the pearls scattered by the chanks on the sheaves of corn cut by the husbandmen, gathers them under her wings and broods over them."

Tirukkalukunra Purana Sarittiram. திருக்கலுகுன்ற பூரணா சரித்திரம். A very brief abstract of the Puranam in prose.

TIRUKKARUVAI KALITTURAI ANTATI. திருக்கருவை கலித்தூறை அன்னடி. 8vo. 13 pp. 2 as.

TIRUKKARUVAI PATIRRUPPATTANTATI. திருக்கருவை பாதிருப்பப்பாத்சந்தி. 8vo. 13 pp. 2 as.

TIRUKKARUVAI VENPA ANTATI. திருக்கருவை வெண்பா அன்னடி. 8vo. 14 pp. 2 as.

The three preceding works are attributed to Ativira Rama Pandiyar. 12th cent. In praise of a Saiva temple at Karuvai, or Caroor, on the Cavery.

Tiru Kurrala Kuravangsi. திருக்கருவலா கரவங்கி. 8vo. 53 pp. 2½ as. Anonymous. In dramatic form. Parvati wanders about disguised as a gipsy; Siva at the same time assumes the appearance of a hunter; they meet and retire to Courtallam in Tinnevelly, where there is a Saiva temple.

Tiru Meni Malai. திருமெனிமலை. 18th cent. Praise of Siva's body, its various colours, &c., as assumed in his sacred sports.

Tiru Mullaivayal Masillamaniyisar Patikam. திருமுல்லாவயல் மசில்லாணியியசர் படிகம். By Tassi Arunassala Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Ten stanzas in praise of Siva worshipped at Tirumullivayal.

Tiruppuliyur Venpa. திருபுள்ளியூர் வென்பா. 8vo. 14 pp. 2 as. By Marimuttu Pillai. 19th cent.

Tiruppuliyur is the same as Chillambaram. The literal meaning is, town of the holy tiger. A devotee of Siva lived there, with the nails of his hands and feet like those of a tiger. About the devotees of Siva.

Tiruppuliyur Surittiram. திருபுள்ளியூர் சுரித்திராமம். A brief account of Tiruppuliyur in prose.

Tirussitampara Puranam, or Koyil Puranam திருச்சிதம்பர புராணம் or கோயில் புராணம். By Umapati Sivasariyar. About 17th cent. 400 stanzas. Legends connected with the celebrated Saiva temple at Chilambaram. Here Siva and Parvati danced, &c.

Tirussitampara Purana Surukkam. திருச்சிதம்பர சுருக்கம். Abridgment.

Tirussitampara Purana Surittiram. திருச்சிதம்பர சுரித்திராமம். A very brief abstract in Prose.

Tirussirrampala Koval. திருச்சிர்ரம்பல கோவல். 8vo. 82 pp. By Manikkavasakar. About 8th cent. This work "consisting of 400 stanzas, is an epithalamium, in which the mutual passion and love of Siva and his consort Parvati are described with glowing imagery, and the Hindus consider it an allegorical poem capable of a spiritual interpretation." Tamil Plutarch, p. 54.

Tirussirrampala Irakasiyam. திருச்சிர்ரம்பல இராகசியம். 18th cent. Benefits to be obtained by visiting Chillambaram.

Tirussirrampala Kalitturai. திருச்சிர்ரம்பல காலித்துறை. 18th cent. Praise of Chillambaram.

Tirussirrampala Malai. திருச்சிர்ரம்பலமலை. Small 4to. 20 pp. 2 as. By Gnanasuntara Iyer. 19th cent.
Benefits conferred by Siva on certain devotees; prayers to Siva, &c.

_Tiruissirampal_ Natar Patikam. திரும்பாள் நாதர் பதிகம். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Karunai Iyer. 19th cent. Prayers to Siva.

_Tiruttillaiyamaka Antati._ திருத்தில்லையமக அண்டடி. 12mo. 15 pp. 1 an. By Minakshi Suntaram Pillai. 19th cent. A hundred verses in praise of Siva at Chillambaram. The name is derived from a grove of _tillai_, formerly growing there.

_Tiruttondar Tokai._ திருட்டண்டர் தொகை. 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. Attributed to Suntara Murtti Suvami, 10th cent. The names of the devotees of Siva.

_Tiruvannamalai Venpa._ திருவன்னாளை வெண்பா. 16mo. 15 pp. 1 an. By Karunamassivaya Suvami. 18th cent. 102 stanzas in praise of Siva as worshipped at Arunasalam.

_TIRUVASAKAM_. திருப்பாகம். 8vo. 122 pp. 5 as. By Manikkavasakar. About 8th cent. This work is held in the highest esteem by the Saivas. The proverb is that persons who will not be moved by it, will not be moved by any thing else. The following address to Siva is quoted by Ellis:—

"O Lord! O my Father! even mine who am the slave of those who love thee! thou art the light of truth which pervadeth my body and my soul, which melteth my heart and dispelleth the darkness of falsehood.

Thou art a placid sea of honey agitated by no wave, O Siven of Tiruperundurei!

Thou art pure intelligence, requiring the aid neither of speech nor thought, O teach me the way in which I should speak of thee!

Thou art not fully comprehended even by the contemplative sages, the gods, or any order of beings;

Thou art the spirit which pervadeth all spirits; thou art the sure remedy against repeated births;

Thou art the pure light which shineth in the midst of expanded darkness, O Siven of Tiruperundurei!"
Thou art unqualified happiness,—what more can they require who are united to thee?
Thou art the full weight without diminution, thou art unadulterated nectar, thou art a hill of unextinguishable, eternal light;
Thou comest in the word and in the sense of the scriptures, and art for ever fixed in my mind;
Like undammed water thou flowest into my thoughts, O Siven of Tiruperundurei!
O Lord thou hast taken up thy abode within me, what more can I ask.
O Sun arisen in my mind that by continual solicitation I may propitiate thee.
Thou art he whose lotus-feet are placed on the heads of the gods, O Siven of Tiruperundurei!
The expanded ether, water, earth, fire and air, these thou art not. But without form art hidden among them; I rejoice that I have seen thee now with the eye of the mind."
The following extracts are from portions of the work often read to dying Saivas:

Taking Refuge.

Determination of the mind to become mature for absorption.
I have joined those that have embraced thy lotus-like feet and become mature for absorption; but I am a sinner, who possesses a body which is to be eaten by worms and a soul without wisdom; I have therefore taken refuge with thee; and thou art mine.

O thou that art through thy greatness patient with my littleness by which I do that which ought to be hated, that wearest a snake and adornest thy platied hair with the Ganges, and that extirpatest my sins through thy grace; I am thine and have taken refuge with thee.
O thou that art great, that extirpatest my sins, that art wise, that enterest into and dwellest in my mind and that couldst not be known even by Vishnu the lotus-seated; I am thine and have taken refuge with thee.
Great Desire.

Nature of the Soul.

O thou that art the imperforated gem, thou hast been so gracious to me as to permit me to approach thy feet, which could not be found out by Vishnu, who holds the flag adorned with the picture of Garuda, I have a great desire to root out all sins and to be admitted into thy presence in order to obtain thy grace.

I have no desire to live in the body made of nerves, brain, bones, flesh, skin, &c. ; call me to thy presence, O thou that art the sweetest ambrosia to me, thou art beyond the reach of all men ; I have, O Father, a great desire to see thee.

O king, the noblest gem, who governest all the worlds, bid thou that this mean body, which is like a leaking hut filled with flies, be saved when it is destroyed.

The Journey.

O thou Supreme Being, through thy torrent-like grace by which thou fillest the hearts of those little ones who constantly think of thee, and with whom thou art willing to become one, thou hast through love made us thine, come and be united with us. It is time for us to depart and to reach thy feet, who art the Ruler of heaven.

Those who are desirous of being united with that Being who is delighted to rule over us, that are like dogs, think constantly of his beautiful feet, and forsake all other things.

Regardless of every thing else, think of these questions,—who are you? what are yours? all illusion. Keep company only with those who serve the Supreme Being; do whatever he bids you; think only of that state in which you will be connected with him when you depart this life.

Tiruvencaddu Puranam. திருவேண்டாட்டப் புராணம். Small 4to. 106 pp. 5 as. By Ellappa Navalar. 16th cent. Local Purana of a Saiva temple on the Cavery.

An abstract of this work was published in English by the Rev. W. Taylor, "Oriental Historical Manuscripts." "The opening scene is laid in Kailasa, the paradise of Siva. Here, while rishis are conversing together, an enquiry is made as to the holiest and most celebrated stations on earth where their god is worshipped. Suthu-rishi, one among them, in reply states, 'That once on a time when he was at Casi, he heard the sage Agastyar relate accounts concerning a very eminent Sivastallam, calculated to produce the impression that it was chief of all others.'" The 64 sacred amusements of Siva are described. One of them was converting twelve young pigs into ministers of state; another the impalement of the Jainas. Persons who hear the narration will obtain all manner of happiness.

Tiruvilaiyadal Purana Sarittiram. திருவிலையாதல் புராண சரித்திரம். 8vo. 30 pp. 2 as. 19th cent. A short history in prose.

Tiruvilaiyadal Ammanai. திருவிலையாதல் அம்மனை. 18th cent. Of Siva’s sacred sports.

Tiruvilaiyadal. திருவிலையாதல். 8vo. 44 pp. 4 as. Attributed to nine devotees of Siva. About the 15th cent. In praise of Siva as worshipped at certain temples.

Tiruvorriyur Munmani Kovai. திருவோற்றியூர் முன்மணி கோவை.

Tiruvorriyur Antati. திருவொற்றியூர் அண்டடி. Small 4to. 15 pp. 1 an. By Gnanasampantavarman. 19th cent. In praise of Siva as worshipped at Tiruvorriyur, about 5 miles north of Madras.

Tiruvorriyur Muvar Tamil. திருவொற்றியூர் முந்தம் சம்பித் தமிழ். 8vo. 11 pp. 1 an. Extracts from Tevaram. Praise of Siva worshipped at Tiruvorriyur.

Tiruvorriyur Nudana Sarittiram. திருவொற்றியூர் நுடைண்டம் சாரித்திரம். 18mo. 10 pp.

Vannivana Malai. வன்வண்ணமலை. 8vo. 16 pp. 1 an. By Tiyakaraja Kavirajar. 19th cent. Benefits to be obtained by worshipping Siva at a temple near Arcot.

Vengkai Kovai. வெங்கைக் கோவை. 8vo. 64 pp. By Sivappirakasatesikar. 17th cent. In praise of a temple of Siva, north of Trichinopoly.

Vetakiri Isvarar Asiriya Viruttam. வெடகிரி இஸ்வரர் ஆசிரிய விருட்டம். 18mo. 7 pp. 3 pie. By Sitamparam Suvami. 19th cent. Prayer to Siva as a physician to remove sin.

Vetakiri Isvaran Patikam. வெடகிரி இஸ்வரன் பாதிகம். 18mo. 5 pp. 3 pie.

Virinsa Puranam. விரிங்க் புராணம். 18th cent. An account of a Saiva temple near Vellore.

Visvanatar Tarisanam. விழ்வானார் தாரிசாம். 18th century. The benefit of visiting Benares, and there seeing Siva.
Visuvanatar Tiruvarulypa.

PARVATI.

This goddess, the wife of Siva, has several names. Ambika, who at a later period is identified with the wife of Rudra, is in the Vedas declared to be his sister.* Uma, the daughter of Himavat, or the Himalaya, is the next form. Parvati, the mountain goddess, also the daughter of Himalaya, is a still later, and now more common, title. As Kali, the black goddess, and Durga, she as the most terrible deity of the Hindu Pantheon. She was propitiated by human sacrifices, and invoked when the destruction of an enemy was sought. She is also called Bhavani, in which she corresponds with Lucina; and Kamachi, the goddess of love-inspiring eyes. At Madura she is worshipped under the name of Minachi, fish-eyed. Muir supposes that as early as the time of Pliny she was worshipped at Cape Comorin, called after her Kanyakumari.†

Ampikai Malai. 18mo. 12 pp. 6 pie. Attributed to Kulasekara Pândiyar. Age doubtful. 30 stanzas in praise of Parvati worshipped at Madura. The assurance is given at the end that all who learn six stanzas will attain heaven.

Apirami Antati. Small 4to. 14 pp. 1 an. By Apiramipaddar. About 18th cent. 101 verses in praise of Parvati, called Apirami, from a word denoting beauty. This composition is often committed to memory and recited by the Saivas. The Tamil Plutarch gives the following specimen of one of the stanzas:

"Thou art the gem, thou art the brightness of that gem; thou art the necklace formed of that gem, and it is thou that givest it its beauty. Thou art the disease of those who do not approach thee, and the cure of those who approach thee; and thou art the great feast of the celestials. 'I shall not adore the feet of any after I have adored thy lotus-like feet.'"

Kamadsiyamman Pillai Tamil. கமாத்தியம்மன் பிள்ளை தமிழ். Account of the childhood of Parvati.

Kamadsiyamman Viruttam. கமாத்தியம்மன் விருட்டாம். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. In praise of Parvati, worshipped at Conjeeveram.

Ketari Kouri Tiruvurulpa. கெடாரி கூரி திருவுருல்பா. A few stanzas in praise of Parvati, wife of Siva who is worshipped at Kedar in the Himalayas.

Kodiyyidai Malai. கொடிய்யையேயை மலை. By Arunasala Mutaliyar. 19th cent. In praise of Parvati, having a slender waist like a creeping plant.

Kuyilammai Malai. குயிலம்மை மலை. By C. Sappati Mutaliyar. 19th cent. In praise of Parvati, who is said to have a sweet voice like a cuckoo.

Marakatavalliyamman Asiriya Viruttam. மரகாத் வள்ளியம்மன் அசிரியா விருட்டாம். 16mo. 8 pp. 6 pie. By Singkaravelu Mutaliyar. 19th cent. In praise of Parvati, of an emerald colour, worshipped at a small temple in Madras.

Minadsiyamman Akaval. மினாத்தியம்மன் அகாவல்.

Minadsiyamman Kalivenpa. மினாத்தியம்மன் கலியேய்பா.

To have eyes resembling in shape a certain species of fish, is considered by the Tamils a mark of beauty. The poem relates the pastimes and actions of Parvati, who became incarnate as the daughter of a King of Madura.

_Periyanayakiyamman Asiriya Viruttam._ 18mo. 8 pp.

_Savittiriyamman Koppippudu._ 16mo. 16 pp. 9 pic. By Irajusekara Mutaliyar. 19th cent. A legend of Parvati, granting a daughter to a King of Muttra.

_Sivakamiyammal Asiriya Viruttam._ 18mo. 10 pp. 3 pic. Anonymous. In praise of Parvati as worshipped at Chillambaram.

_SOUNTARIYA LAKARI._ 149 pp. 44 as. By Kavirasa Panditar. About 18th cent. A poem of 104 stanzas. Siva is originally said to have engraved it on a rock in Kailasa; thence it was written on Mount Meru by a Rishi, and subsequently communicated to Sankar Acharya, from whose Sanskrit version the translation is professedly made. The work is divided into two parts. The first contains the history of Parvati; the second gives a description of each member of her body in minute detail. The work abounds with licentious metaphors.

_Sukantakuntala Nayaki Patam._ In praise of Parvati, possessing scented hair.

_Tiri Pura Suntari Malai._ 32mo. 12 pp. By Suntara Tasan. 19th cent. In praise of the beautiful wife of Siva, the destroyer of the three cities which embraced the Jaina religion.

_Tirukkalaisai Siledai Venpa._ Small 4to. 16 pp. 1 as. By Suppiraman-niya Suvamikal. 19th cent. In praise of Parvati, worshipped at a place, called Tirukkalaisai, about 20 miles west of Madras.

_Vadivudaiyampal Asiriya Viruttam._ வாதுவுதையம்பலஅசிரியா விருட்டம். 16mo. 6 pp. 6 pie. By Rama Mutaliyar. 19th cent.

_Vadivudaiyamman Kummi Padal._ வாதுவுதையம்மன்கும்மிபதால். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Narayanasami Pillai. 19th cent.

_Vadivudaiyamman Navarattinam._ வாதுவுதையம்மன்நாவராத்தினம்.

_Vadivudaiyamman Pansarattinam._ வாதுவுதையம்மன் பஞ்சாராத்தினம். 16mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. By Kanniyappa Uvattiyayar. 19th cent.

_Vadivudaiyamman_ means beautiful mother. In praise of Parvati, as worshipped at Tiruvorriyur, near Madras.

_Varaki Malai._ வராகிமலை. 18mo. 10 pp. 6 pie. Anonymous. Prayers to Parvati, chiefly in her malignant character as Kali.

SKANDA OR KARTIKEYA.

The Hindu Mars, the second son of Siva, occupies a prominent place among the Saivas of the Tamil country. It is said that the gods, persecuted by giants, implored the help of Siva. The lord of Kailasa then assumed six faces, and caused six sparks of fire to dart out of his six central eyes. The sparks were cast into a pond, which the southern Saivas assert is at Tritani, about 50 miles north-west of Madras. The six sparks became six infants, which were nursed by the six mothers, who form the constellation Karttika (the Pleiades). When Parvati took them in her arms, they assumed one united body, having six heads. The warlike son of Siva afterwards slew the giants. In North India, Kartikeya, he who was fostered by the Karttikas, is his common title. In the Tamil country, Supramaniyan, he who is like the diamond, is the usual epithet. He is also called Murugan, he who has perpetual youth, and Arumugan, the six faced. Skandu is used in the Skanda Purana.

Skanda is said to have had two wives, Devayanai, daughter of Indra, and Vallinachi, who was brought up by hunters.

The month Kartika (part of November and December) is regarded by the Saivites as sacred to the Pleiades and Kartikeys. When the moon enters the third star of the constellation, a great feast is held, and lamps are placed in every doorway.

Arunakirinatar Tiruppukal. அறனகிரிநாதர் திருப்புக்கல். 18mo. 72 pp. 1 an. By Arunakirinatar. About 16th cent. This work, says the Tamil Plutarch, "containing a series of 100 stanzas, being enriched by a splendid and harmonious flow of diction, has gained great popularity amongst the Saivas, who generally have it recited when any member of their sect is at the point of death." It contains many allusions to sensual love. The following is one of the stanzas:

"I have renounced my family, my connections, and every thing on earth, and approached thy gracious feet: thou who ridest on a peacock with emerald wings, grant me the happiness of being received into heaven. Thou art constantly before mine eyes, thou Murukan, who dwellest on the hill of Tritani, and who sportest with Valli, the watcher of the field of millet."

Arunakirinatar Pansaratna Tiruppukal. அறனகிரிநாதர் பண்டைத் திருப்புக்கல். 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. An extract from the preceding work.

Arunakirinatar Tiruvakkuppu. அறனகிரிநாதர் திருவக்குப்பு. 18mo. 70 pp. 4½ as. By the same author.
Both compositions are in a difficult metre. The following is a specimen of the addresses to Skanda:

“When Yama comes to take me away from this world, dancing, making a loud noise, gnashing with his teeth, telling his attendants to approach me with the rope to threaten, bind, stab, and cut, then come to my help in order to strengthen my mind, shuddering before him; thou my gracious Teacher and the husband of Valli, thou fragrant one, the beloved son of Siva.”

Areluttantati. அறுட்டாண்டா. 8vo. 16 pp. 1½ as. Erroneously attributed to Akastiayar. Prayers to Supramaniyan, whose name is composed of six letters.

Intira Vimana Malai. இந்திர விமாணமலை. 16mo. 12 pp. By Suppiramaniya Tesikar. 19th cent. About the chariot given by Indra to Supramaniyan.

Kantar Alangkaram. கண்டார் ஆலங்காரம். Text, 8vo. 16 pp. 1 an.

Kantar Anuputi. கண்டார் அனுபுதி. 18mo. 24 pp. 1 an.

Kantar Antati. கண்டார் அண்டதி. With commentary, 8vo. 116 pp. 5 as.

The three preceding works are by Arunakirinatar. About 16th cent. They are all in praise of Skanda.

KANTA PURANA SURUKKAM. காண்டா புராண சூருக்கம். 8vo. 163 pp. With commentary, 8vo. 510 pp. Rs. 2½. By Sampanta Saranalaaya Suvami. The original work, which contains 13,305 stanzas, has not yet been printed in Tamil. A prose version in 3 vols., small quarto, was prepared about 30 years ago by Parasirama Mutaliyar. About the birth of Skanda, his wars, &c. An abstract is given in Taylor’s Catalogue, vol., III. pp. 115—120.

Kantar Sushti Kavasam. கண்டார் ஸ்ஸ்திக்காவசம். 18mo. 10 pp. 6 pie. By Tevaraya Suvamikal. Praise of Skanda, with the different kinds of mantras, including combinations like ra, ra, ri, ri, du, du, du.

_Kanta Suvami Purit Valinadai Patam._ 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. By Vengkadasala Mutaliyar. 19th cent. In praise of Skanda.

_Katirkama Malai._

_Katirkamavelar Tiruvanulpa._ In praise of Skanda, worshipped at Kat-tregam in the south-east of Ceylon.

_Kumara Taladdu._

_Mayilasala Antati._

_Mayilasala Viruttam._ Mayilasala means peacock mountain. The two preceding works are in praise of a temple of Skanda, near Pondicherry, where peacocks are said to have worshipped him.

_Murukan Anuputi._

_Murukar Antati._ 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Sanmuka Gnaniyar. End of 18th cent.

_Muruka Kadavil Patikam._ 16mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. Iramasami Settiyar. 19th cent.

_Murukar Oyil Kommippaddu._ 8vo. 28 pp. 1½ as. By the son of Vengadasala Panditar. 19th cent. Story of Valli, one of the wives of Supramaniyan. Sung by women.

_Murukan Taladdu._ 32mo. 9 pp. 6 pie. By Kantappaa Tesikar. 18th cent. About the childhood of Supramaniyan, worshipped at Tritani.

_Murukesar Iraddai Manimalai._

_Muttukumara Suvami Pillai Tamil._
III. HINDUISM.

By Kumara Kuru Suvami. 18th cent. About the childhood of Skanda, worshipped at a temple near Mayaveram.

Palanimalai Vadivelar Asiriya Viruttam. பலாணமலை வாளியார் அசிரிய விருத்தம். 18mo. 8 pp. 6 pie Anonymous. In praise of Suppiramaniyan, as worshipped at Palani.

Singkaravelar Malai. சிங்கரவெலார் மலை. In praise of Skanda, possessing the beautiful spear, worshipped at St. Thome, Madras.

Suppiramaniyar Aratara Usal. சுப்பிராமணியர் அராதாரக் கொலை. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anonymous.

Suppiramaniyar Kalampakam. சுப்பிராமணியர் கலம்பகம்.

Suppiramaniyar Kirtanai. சுப்பிராமணியர் கிரஞ்சாரம். 18mo. 16 pp. 9 pie.

Suppiramaniyar Pajanai Kirtanai. சுப்பிராமணியர் பாஜணை கிரஞ்சாரம். 8vo. 43 pp. 3 as. By Arumuka Upatitiyayar. 19th cent. In praise of Suppiramaniyan, as worshipped at Tirupporur, and his victory over Suran.

Suppiramaniyar Patikam, சுப்பிராமணியர் பாதிகம். 18mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. By Vira-paratiyavarkal. 19th cent. Ten stanzas in praise of Suppiramaniyan as worshipped at Tirupporur.

Suppiramaniyar Tottirappa Malai. சுப்பிராமணியர் தொட்டிரப்பா மலை. 12mo. 81 pp. 19th cent. Praise of Suppiramaniyan.

Suppiramaniyar Vilasam. சுப்பிராமணியர் விளகம். 19th cent. A drama about Suppiramaniyan.

Suppiramaniyar Viruttam. சுப்பிராமணியர் விருத்தம். 18mo. 7 pp. 3 pie. By Suppiramaniya Suvamikal. 19th cent.
TIRUMURUKARRU PADAI. Tamil. Text. 16mo. 18 pp. 1 anna. With commentary. 16mo. 80 pp. Attributed to Nakkirar, head of the Madura College. In praise of Suppiramaniyan worshipped at three places in the Madura district. Ellis gives the following extract:—

“'They who are clothed in garments, formed of bark, whose revered heads are covered by hair white as the shell of the conch, whose forms shine with spotless lustre, whose emaciated breasts are covered with deer skins, whose ribs are seen protruding through their bodies, who often refrain from food throughout the day, whose minds are void of hatred and obstinacy, who know all of which even the learned are ignorant, who are the extreme heads of the wise, who are sages divested both of desire and savage anger, who by their nature know no sorrow; may these, the contemplative sages of faultless wisdom, gather together and precede him!'"

Tirupporur Antati. Tamil. Tamil. 16mo. 16 pp. 8 pie. By T. Kumarasami Mutaliyar. 19th cent.

Tirupporur Kirttanam. Tamil. 16mo. 8 pp. 6 pie. By T. Kumarasami Mutaliyar. 19th cent.

Tirupporur Manippiravala Patikam. Tamil. 16mo. 8 pp. 6 pie. By T. Kumarasami Mutaliyar. 19th cent.

Tirupporur Muruka Kadavul Navakkiraka Santi Totiram. Tamil. 16mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anonymous. Prayers to Suppiramaniyan to counteract the evil influences of the nine planets.

Tirupporur Muruka Kadavul Pansaratnam. Tamil. 16mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Thirumakumara Sambandar. 19th cent.

TIRUPPORUR SANCTI MURLI. Tamil. 8 vo. 106 pp. 4 as. By Sitampara Suvamikal. 18th cent. In praise of Suppiramanian as worshipped at Tirupporur.

_Tirupporur Suppiramaniyar Tottiram._ திருப்பொருள்
 Samoa பட்டியல். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Kishnasami Mutaliyar, 19th cent.

_Tirupporur Tevaram._ திருப்பொருள் தேவாரம்.

_Tirussentil Antati._ திருச்செய்தில் அண்டதி. 8vo. 4 pp. By Sivappirakasa Suvamikal. 17th cent.

_Tirussentur Akaval._ திருச்செய்திற் அகவல். 18mo.
 23 pp. 1 as. By Sirrampala Nadikal. 18th cent.

_Tirussentur Kalivenpa._ திருச்செய்திற் களை விவேகம்.
 18mo. 26 pp. 1¼. as. By Kumara Kurupara Suvamikal. 17th cent.

_Tirussentur Pillai Tamil._ திருச்செய்திற் பிள்ளை தமிழ்.

The four preceding works are in praise of Skanda, worshipped at Trichendur, on the east coast of Tinnevelly.

_Tiruttanikasala Anuputi._ திருப்பொருள் நூற்றாண்டு.
16mo. 21pp. By Kantappa Tesikar. 18th cent.

_Tiruttanikai Kanni._ திருப்பொருள் கண்ணியாக.

_Tiruttanikaimalai Viruttam._ திருப்பொருள் விருட்டம்.

_TIRUVIRINSAI MURUKAN PILLAI TAMIL._ திருவிரிஞ்சை
முருகன் பிள்ளைதமிழ். 8vo. 30 pp. 3 as. By Markka Sakaya Tevar. 18th cent. About the childhood of Suppiramanian as worshipped at Tiruvirinsai, near Vellore.

_Valliyanmai Venpa._ வலியியன் வெண்பா. In praise of the second wife of Skanda.

_Velpattu._ வெல்பாடு. 18mo. 12 pp. By Kantappa
Tesikar. 18th cent.

_Velviruttam._ வெல்விருட்டம். 18mo. 7 pp. 3 pie.
By Arunakirinatar. About 16th cent.
Vel means spear. In praise of Skanda, holding a spear.

Ganesa.

This deity, the eldest son of Siva and Parvati, is represented as a little pot-bellied man, with an elephant’s head. He is worshipped as the god of wisdom and remover of obstacles. His favor is implored at the commencement of all undertakings. Different accounts are given about his birth. He is also called Ganapati, master of attendants, Pillaiyar, the noble child, and Vinayakar, the great chief.

Ganesa is the patron god of school-boys. An annual festival in his honor, called Pillaiyar Chattiurtti, on the fourth day of the new moon, is held in the beginning of September, when he is propitiated with offerings of food, and his image is carried round. The following prayer to Ganesa, from Vela Mukam, is frequently used in Native Schools:

"O Ganapati! you who play clapping your hands,
You who in a crack can eat six cocoanuts,
A bushel and a half or more of bruised rice,
With sweetmeats all to match,
A hundred baskets of mangoes too;
Look down and bless me!"

Kanapati Akaval. கணபதி அகவல்.

Kanapati Antati. கணபதி அங்காடி. 32 stanzas addressed to Ganesa, to be accompanied by offerings, to procure success in any undertaking.

Kanapati Kandam. கணபதி காண்டம்.

Kanapati Viruttam. கணபதி விருத்தம்.

Kasi Tundivinayakar Tiruvarulpa. கசி தூண்டிவிநாயகர் திருவருல்பா. 32mo. 11pp. 6 pie. By Kumarakuru Suvamikal. 19th cent. In praise of Ganesa, worshipped at Benares.

Manakkula Vinayakar Viruttam. மனாக்குல விநாயகர் விருத்தம் Muttuvinayakar Asiriya Viruttam. 12mo. 9 pp. 1 as. By Kantasami Mutaliyar. 19th cent. In praise of Ganesa, worshipped at Coimbatore.

Pillaiyar Iraddaimani Malai. By Kapilatevar. 18th cent.

Pirasanma Vinayakar Patam.

Vela Mukam. 16 mo. 6 pp. Anon. Printed with Ulaka Niti.

Vinayakar Akaval. 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. Attributed to Avaiyar. It is said that the poetess, through the help of Ganesa, reached Kailasa before others who set out in advance of her. In gratitude she composed this poem. The following is its commencement:

"O thou elephant-headed one, who art like the Kalpa tree,* whose feet are like the red lotus flowers, whose anklets tinkle with a pleasant sound, whose waist is adorned with a golden girdle, who art clothed in beautiful garments, who hast a large belly, heavy tusks, elephant-face marked with a red spot, who hast five hands, blue body, large mouth, three eyes, two ears, who wearest a splendid crown, whose breast shines with the three-fold cord, be thou my master and mother, assist me to overcome illusion (Maya), so that I may have no more births; enter into my heart, teach me as a guru, help me to destroy sin, give me sweet instruction."

Vinayakar Sarittira Surukka Akaval. 18mo. 9 pp. 3 pie. By Murukkesa Mutaliyar. 19th cent. About Ganesa conquering a giant, &c.

* Fabulous tree supposed to grant any wish.
Vinayakar Kavasam. விநாயகர் கவசம். 18mo. 15 pp. 1 an. Ten stanzas said to be translated from a Sanskrit work by Kasipa Rishi.

Vishnu.

In the Vedas, Vishnu is an inferior deity, one of the twelve sons of Aditi. In the Brahmanas he is identified with sacrifice, and in one of them is spoken of as a dwarf. The original portions of the Ramayana treat him as a deity of higher rank than Indra; but he is not identified with the supreme deity as in the Vishnu Purana. Rama and Krishna, at first described as more heroes, were subsequently regarded as incarnations of Vishnu, and at present, in Northern and Western India, are the forms in which he is principally worshipped. Manu applies the name of Narayana, "he whose place of abiding was the deep," to Brahma; the Vaishnavas claim the title for the object of their worship. In North India, Vishnu is often called Hari; in the south, Perumal, from a word denoting greatness, is a common title. Govinta, sometimes applied to Krishna, means cow-herd.

The ten incarnations of Vishnu are well known. His wife as Vishnu is Laksmi; the tulsi is his sacred plant; his vehicle is the man-kite Garuda; his heaven is called Vaikantha. Vishnu is often represented as reposing on the thousand-headed serpent.

Vishnu's body is said to be of blue colour, like the firmament.

Alakar Kalamapakam. அலகர் கலம்பகம். 8vo. 16 pp. 19th cent.

In praise of Vishnu, worshipped at Alakar Mount, near Madura.
III. HINDUISM.

Arssirati. அரிஷ்ரிதம். 8vo. 24 pp. By Pillai Lokasariyar. About 15th cent. Sanskrit and Tamil mixed. On the way by which the worshipper of Vishnu proceeds at death from one world to another till he reaches heaven.

Arutta Pansaikal. அருத்துப்பன்தகம். 8vo. 9 pp. By the same author as the preceding. Sanskrit and Tamil mixed. About God, the soul, &c.

Empiran Satakam. எம்பிரைன் ஸாத்கம். 16mo. 38 pp. 1½ as. By Kopala Kishnätasar. 19th cent. Praise of Vishnu and notices of his incarnations.

Ekatasi Makattuvam. எக்காட்டசி மகாட்டும். 8vo. 80 pp. 4 as. Edited by Rajakopala Pillai. 19th cent. Prose. About the fast of the Vaishnavas on the eleventh day of the moon, in memory of the gods churning the ocean; benefits to be obtained, &c.

Iyarpa. இயர்பர். 8vo. 100 pp. The last part of the Nalayira Pirapantam.

Kajentira Modsam. காஜெங்டிரா மொட்ஸாம். 8vo. 18 pp. 1½ an. By Tiruvadi Tasar. 19th cent. Story of Vishnu’s killing a crocodile to save an elephant.

Kirushnanudaiya Lilaikal. கிருஷ்ணனுடைய லிலாகல். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anonymous. 19th cent. About Krishna stealing the buttermilk, &c.

Kirushnavorumal Illavannam. கிருஷ்ணப்போருழை இலவண்ணம். 16mo. 10 pp. 6 pie. By Kopala Kirushna Kavirajar. 19th cent. About the ten incarnations of Vishnu.
Kovintara Perumal Pansaratnam. கோவின்னரா பருமல் பன்ராதநம். 18mo. 7 pp. 3 pie. By Muttu Kirushna Piramman. Five stanzas in praise of Vishnu.

KURU PARAMPARA PIRAPAVAM. குர்சு பாரம்பரா பிரபாவம். 8vo. Rs. 2. Anonymous. Prose. Lineage and history of the twelve Alvars and other votaries of Vishnu. Abridged from the larger work, which has not yet been printed.

Kusela Maka Munivar Sarittira Kirttanai. குசேல மகா முனிவர் சரித்திர கிர்த்தநை. 8vo. 48 pp. 3 as. By Illakkumipati Tasar. 19th century. The story of Kuselamunivar, a fellow student of Kirushna.

Matava Perumal Santa Viruttam. மதவா பருமால் சன்டா விருட்டம். 19th cent. About Vishnu worshipped at a small temple near Madras.

Nammalvar Iraddaimani Malai. நாம்பாளவர் இராத்தைமணி மறை. 19th cent.

Nammalvar Kirttanai. நாம்பாளவர் கிர்த்தனை.

Nammalvar Nurrantati. நாம்பாளவர் நூற்றாண்டி. In praise of Sadakopa Alvar, the Vaishnava devotee, author of a portion of the following work.

NALAYIRA PIRAPANTAM. நால்யைரா பிரபாண்டம். 8vo.540 pp. 1 R. Four thousand stanzas by seven Vaishnava Alvars, or chief devotees. The last part, Iyarpa, is said to have been written before the commencement of the Kali Yugam; the third part, 4900 years ago; the other two portions at a later period. No part is probably older than the 12th cent. It is sometimes called the Tamil Veda.

The work is divided into four books. Part I, “Sacred Words,” relates the story of Krishna’s childhood, and contains hymns in praise of temples. Part II., called "The Great Sacred Words," is chiefly about Vaishnava temples. Part III is termed "Words of the Sacred Mouth." The divinity of Vishnu, how to meditate on him, a message sent to God by a bird, duty of men to God, are some of the subjects. The following is an extract from this portion:

"The five senses do not allow me to approach thy gracious lotus-like feet: I am oppressed by them. Why dost thou not help me, thou, the great one, who possessest the three worlds which are praised by the gods. My lord, my ambrosia, my father, and my ruler!

There are five tyrants who rule over me; they oppress me both day and night; they do not allow me to approach thee; thou knowest it, my sugar-cane, my ambrosia, thou the cloud-like, the protector of the sea-girt-earth, and my teacher, help me.

Why dost not thou help me to conquer these my enemies who do not allow me to approach thy feet? thou the great sun, who created the world, help me who am thy slave."

Part IV derives its name from the verse in which it is chiefly composed. It contains prayers to Vishnu, meditations, &c.

Narayana Kavasam. 19th cent.
Narayana Malai. 19th cent.

NITTIYANUSANTANA TIVVIYA PIRAPANTAM. Small 4to. 54 pp. 2½ as. Selections from the Nalayira Pirapantam for daily use in temples. This may be termed the Vaishnava Book of Common Prayer.
Two quotations are given below:

Waking the god with singing and music in the morning.

"The sun is about to rise in the east; the darkness has departed; the flowers drop down sweet honey; the gods and kings have crowded before the gate with multitudes of their huge elephants; the noise made by the female elephants, together with the sound of the drums and other musical instruments, is heard everywhere, like the roaring of the boisterous ocean: arise then, therefore, thou that sleepest in thy bed-chamber.

"The sweet flowers of the jasmine have opened wide their petals; behold, the soft wind blows; the swan that slept in the lotus-flower shakes her wings, wet with dew; Arise, therefore, thou who saved the elephant from the jaws of the fierce crocodile.

"The sun has spread his bright beams in all directions; the numberless stars which glittered in the sky have disappeared; the moon has lost her light; the darkness has departed; the flowers have opened and diffused around their fragrance; behold the dawn of day and the morning breeze! Arise, therefore, thou that sleepest in thy bed-chamber."

Prayer to Ramanuja.

"I have placed as an ornament to my head the two golden lotus-like feet of the one who has entirely overcome all sin and lives in the thicket of bamboos.

"I, being inspired by the love which I hold to the one that lives at Tiruvarangam (Vishnu), help me, O thou my mind, to sing a song regarding the feet of the famous Ramanuja-Muni, who has tasted the perfect happiness of heaven.

"This is my petition, O thou heavenly-minded Ramanuja, that my tongue should constantly repeat, both day and night, all thy names, which are praised by those that serve thy lotus-like feet and love thee with their heart.

"O thou, my mind, I shall repeat the names of Ramanuja in order to obtain happiness by approaching his lotus-like feet, who worships and praises that Being on whose breast lives Ladsami, and who has studied all the different sciences."

Nurreddu Tiruppati Tiruppukal. நுருத்து திருப்பதி திருப்புக்கல். 8vo. 71 pp. By Ramanuja Tasar. 18th cent. About Vaishnava Temples.

Patma Purana Saram. பத்மா புராணா சாரம். 16mo. 32 pp. 1 an. A very brief account of the Padma Purana.

Pakavat Purana Vasanam. பகவட்டு புராணா வசானம். 8vo. Rs. 3. By K. Strinivasa Aiyangker. End of 18th cent. An abridgment in prose of the Bhagavat Purana. The history of Krishna is the leading feature, and the cause of the great popularity of this work. Colebrooke supposes the original to be the production of the grammarian Vopadeva, and that it does not date beyond the 12th cent. Its authenticity is disputed by the Hindus themselves. See Wilson's Introduction to Vishnu Purana.

Parttasarati Perumal Elappaddu. பாற்றசாரதி பெருமால் எல்லப்பட்டு. 18mo. 15 pp. 6 pie. Anonymous. 19th cent. Parttasarati means charioteer. Krishna is so called because he acted as the charioteer of Arjuna. About a temple of Vishnu at Triplicane, Madras, with large pretensions. The following is the commencement:—

"E-le-lo, the feet of the guru, thou Ganesa, go before us, and thou Saraswati, the wife of the four-faced god (Brahma) be on my tongue. O thou Parttasarati, that dwellest at Triplicane full of bliss, ships come with various articles as gifts to thy wife and the mother Vetavalli. Every day 400 ships reach the port.

"The people of Madras having heard of the arrival of the ships, went with joy and stood on the beach; the rich merchants, with money, went there to buy the articles. The great Mr. Elliot and the little Mr. Elliot and other English gentlemen, about 4,000 in number, went there to see. The ships were all pulled to the shore by ropes. By the power of the mother Vetavalli all the ships reached the shore in safety; therefore, O god, e-le-lo!"

_Purattasari Pansarattinam._ புரட்டாசரி பங்காராளதினம்

_Purattasari Varukha Satakam._ புரட்டாசரி வருக்கா சதாகம்

_PERIYA TIRUMOLI._ பெரியாதேவர் திருமோலி. 8vo. 150 pp. Second part of Nalayira Pirapantam.

_Perumpattur Udaiyavar Tottirappu._ பேரம்பத்துர் உதையாவர் தொட்டிரப்பு. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Maturapuri Nayakar. 19th cent. About a Vaishnava Temple, south-west of Madras.

_Rajakopala Malai._ ராஜகோபாலமலை.

_Ramanuja Nurrantati._ ராமானுஜா நுற்றாண்டாதினம். Part of the Nalayira Pirapantam.

_Sadakopar Antati._ சதாக்பர் அண்டாதி. 8vo. 16 pp. Attributed to Kampan.

_Sadakopalvar Pansaratnam._ சதாக்பல்வர் பங்காராளதினம். 18mo. 10 pp. 3 pie. Anonymous. 19th cent.

_Sri Ramar Patikam._ ஸ்ரீராமர் பதிகம். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anonymous. 19th cent. 11 stanzas in praise of Rama.

_Sri Ramar Taladdu._ ஸ்ரீ ராமர் தலாட்டு. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anonymous. 19th cent. A song to lull to sleep the infant Rama.
Sri Vira Rakavar Patikam. श्री वीर रक्षसर रामाय. 18mo. 10 pp. 3 pie. Anonymous. 19th cent. About Rama worshipped at Trivallore.

Sri Rangka Ammanai. श्री रांगका अम्मानाइ. 19th cent.

Sri Rangka Nayakiyar Usal Tirunamam. श्री रांगका नायकियार उसाल तिरुनामाम. 8vo. 5 pp. By Koneriyappan Aiyangkar. About Ladsmi, the wife of Vishnu.

Sri Rangka Nayakar Tiru Usal. श्री रांगका नायकार तिरु उसाल. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anon. 19th cent. Praise of Vishnu.

Tatvatrayam. तत्वत्रायम. 8vo. 17 pp. By Pillai Lokasariyar. About 15th cent. Sanskrit and Tamil. About God, the soul, and Maya, considered to be whatever interposes between God and the soul.

Tesikar Nurrantati. तेसिकार नूरंतती. 8vo. 14 pp. 1 an. By Vayalur Kantadai Mannappangkar. 18th cent. About a Vaishnava devotee, &c.

Tinnanur Perumal Patikam. तिन्नानुर परुमाल पतिकम. 8vo. 19th cent. About Vishnu, worshipped at Tinnanur, west of Madras.

Tirumal Anuputi. तिरुमाल अनुपुति. 12mo. 18pp. 1½ as. By Tekshana Murtti Nayakar. 19th cent. Praise of Vishnu.
Tirumal Tirunama Patikam. திருமல் திருநம்பி பாட்டு. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anon. 19th cent. 10 stanzas in praise of Vishnu.

Tirumudiya daivam. திருமுதியாயவ. 8vo. 9 pp. By Appillai. End of 18th cent. List of Vaishnava teachers, the asterisms under which they were born; the places of their birth; and the works composed by them.

Tiruppallandu Viyakkiyanam. திருப்பாலண்டு வியாக்கியனம். 8vo. 8 as. By Periyavassam Pillai. About 15th cent. A commentary on the first part of the Nalayira Pirapantam.

Tiruvallur Purana Sarittiram. திருவால்லூர் புராணசாரித்திராமம். 18mo. 30 pp. 9 pie. Anon. Prose. 19th cent. Legends connected with a Vaishnava temple at Trivallore, west of Madras.

Tirunvarangkattantati. திருந்தாரங்காட்டாண்டை. 8vo. 14 pp. In praise of Vishnu, worshipped at Srirangam, near Trichinopoly.

Tirunvarangka Kalampakam. திருந்தாரங்கக் கலாமகம். Text. With commentary. 8vo. 70 pp. 5 as.

Tirunvarangkattu Malai. திருந்தாரங்கக்கட்டு. With com. 8vo. 57 pp. 4 as.

Tirunvarangka Patirruppattantati. திருந்தாரங்கபதிருட்பாட்டாண்டை. 8vo. 18 pp.

The four preceding works are by Pillai Perumal Aiyangkar. About 15th cent.

Tirunvarangka Sanniti Murai. திருந்தாரங்க சண்டிமூறை. 8vo. 58 pp. 3 as. By Namasivaya Naivalar. End of 18th cent. Written by a Saiva, because he obtained the favor of Vishnu, worshipped at Srirangam.
Tiruvarangkattu Usal. திருவரங்கத்து உசல். 8vo. 15 pp.

TIRUVAYMOLI. திருவயமோளி. 8vo. 156 pp. Third part of Nalayira Pirapantam.

Tiruvaymoli Nurrantati. திருவயமோளி நூற்றாண்டு. 8vo. 13 pp. By Manavala Mamunivavan. About 15th cent. The author was one of the leaders of the Ten-kalai sect. The work professes to show the way of obtaining heaven.

Tiruvengkada Anuputi. திருவேங்கக ஆனுபதி. 18mo. 25 pp. 1 an. By Ramanuja Kavirayar. 19th cent. In praise of Vishnu, worshipped at Tripeti.

Tiruvengkada Kalampakam. திருவேங்கக கலம்பகம். 8vo. 28 pp. By Virarakava Mutaliyar. 17th cent.

Tiruvengkada Pansarattinam. திருவேங்கக பஞ்சராத்தினம்.

Varatarasa Perumal Patikam. வரதராச பெருமால் பதிகம்.

Vali Modsam. வாழி மொட்ஸம். 8vo. 71 pp. 3 as. Anon. 19th cent. About Vali, a chief killed by Rama, who was afterwards taken up to heaven.

Vaikunda Ammanai. வைகுண்ட அம்மனை. 8vo. 81 pp. 7 as. By Anantaparatikavi. 19th cent.

Vengkadesar Patikam. வெங்ககத்தேசர் பதிகம். 16mo. 24 pp. 1 an. 19th cent. 10 Stanzas about Vishnu, worshipped at Tiruppatti.

Venukopalu Satakam. வேணுகோபல் சதாகம். 19th cent.

Vijneshanapparru. விஜினாப்பர்ரு.

Vishnu Purana Vasanam. விஷ்ணு புராண வசனம். 8vo. Rs. 8. Abstract in prose of the Vishnu Purana. It was written about sixty years ago by a Brahman near Chingleput, called K. Strinavasa Iyanger. He is said to have omitted portions, with which he thought it inexpedient that the Sudras should become acquainted.

HANUMAN.

The king of the monkeys is said to have been a son of Siva. With his assistance, Rama is fabled to have overcome Ravana, the demon king of Ceylon.

Anumar Anupati. அணுமர் அனுபதி. 18mo. 23 pp. 4 as. By Vengkadasala Tasar. Prayers to Hanuman to obtain wisdom, long life, &c.

Anumar Satakam. அணுமர் சதாகம் 100 stanzas in praise of Hanuman.

Angsanayar Patikam. அங்கபுராண பதிகம். Ten stanzas about Anjana Devi, the mother of Hanuman.

SARASWATI.

This goddess is the wife of Brahma. She presides over letters and arts, corresponding somewhat with Minerva. She is represented of a white colour. An annual festival is held in her honor, when books, pens, and ink, are objects of veneration.

Sarasvati Antati. சரச்வதி ஆண்டி. 18mo. 7 pp. 3 pie. Attributed to Kampan. About 11th cent.

Sarasvati Malai. சரச்வதி மலை.

Sarasvati Padasalai Vilakam. சரச்வதி படசாலை விளகம். 8vo. 12 pp. By Suppiramaninya Pillai. 19th cent.

Mariyamman and Local Objects of Worship.

With good reason, the natives of India have a great dread of small pox. The disease is ascribed to the wrath of a goddess, euphemistically called "Mother," who is said to scatter pearls. To propitiate her, sacrifices are offered and hook-swinging is practised. In some cases persons make a vow to swing in her honor every year. This barbarous custom has been suppressed by Government in most parts of India.

Mariyamman Taladdu. மாரியம்மன் தலர்சு. 18mo. 5* pp. 9 pie. Anon. Though probably a demon worshipped by the aborigines, she is addressed as Parvati, wife of Siva. In consideration of the buffaloes sacrificed and the celebration of hook-swinging, she is implored to cease scattering her pearls.

Muttumariyamman Patikam. முத்துமாரியம்மன் படிகம்.

Tulukkanattammai Patikam. துலுக்கனாட்டம்மையை படிகம். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Suntirasekara Kavi-raja Panditar. 19th cent. Mariyamman is supposed to be worshipped also in the Muhammadan country, probably the Nizam's territory. The name is given to a small temple in Madras.

Ellammai Patirrappattantati. எல்லாம்மை பதிர்பாப்பட்டாந்ததி. Ellammai is an inferior goddess, to whom vows are made during small pox. Her votaries worship her by going round her temple with no other covering than Margosa leaves, by hook-swinging, &c.
Ponniyamman Asiriya Viruttam. பொண்ணியம்மன் ஆசிரிய விருட்டம். 18mo. 11 pp. 3 pie. By Namasivaya Tampiran. “Golden Mother,” a local goddess worshipped at Madras for protection against cholera. She is claimed to be Parvati.

Maturaiyiravan Akaval. மத்தியாயிரவன் அகவல்.

Maturaiyiravan Ammanai. மத்தியாயிரவன் அம்மனை. 18mo. 95 pp. 2 as. Anon. About a general of one of the kings of Madura, who committed suicide. To appease his troubled spirit, an annual sacrifice was instituted in his honor. See Taylor’s Catalogue Vol. III. pp. 155—7.

Toppaswami Iraddai Manimalai. தொப்பாசுவாமி இரத்தை மந்மியாலை. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. By Ramasami Nayakar. 19th cent. About a devotee worshipped at Sydapat, near Madras.

Disputes Between Gods.

Vakkuvatam. வாக்குவாதம். 18mo. 7 pp. 3 pie. Anon. This is a very popular work in which the wives of Vishnu and Siva take up stories against each other’s husband. It begins as follows:—

Ladsmi.

Thy Siva carried earth in a basket as a labourer; he was flogged, and ate the cakes which a woman of the oilmonger caste gave him.

Parvati.

Thy Parimal carried a rock, stole buttermilk and butter, and ate them, dancing about.

Ladsmi.

Thy Siva was beaten with a bow which Arjuna held in his hand, and his eyes rolled through fear.

Parvati.

Thy Parimal was taken by the shepherdesses, tied to a mortar, and beaten.

Reddikudi Yesal. ரெட்டிகுடி யேசல். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anon. Dispute between Suppiramaniyan and his wife Teyvayana. Suppiramaniyan came to visit his first wife Teyvayani; but she was jealous of his attachment to his second wife Valli, shut the door, and told him to go back again.

Srivangku Nayakikkum Nasiyvarukkan Samvatam. சிரோண்கு நாயகிக்கும் நாஸியவருக்கும் சம்வாதம். 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pic. Anon. Dispute between two wives of Vishnu. One is said to have been a Telugu, and speaks in her native tongue. They abuse each other in vulgar language.

SECTION IV. PHILOSOPHICAL HINDUISM.

The list of books under this important head may be introduced by a few extracts from standard works.

The Vedas.—The following remarks are abridged from the Rev. K. M. Banerjea’s Hindu Philosophy:

“When the Brahmans first settled on the fertile plains of Hindustan, they were far from pronouncing the world to be a phantom, or sensuous life to be an essential evil. In their earliest literature, the Mantras of the Vedas, we do not see any traces of such doctrine. Every thing is there natural—nothing transcendental. We see hymns and prayers addressed to deities. The things prayed for are all such as belong to our common every-day life. Offspring, cattle, land, houses, such are the boons which the gods are requested to bestow on their votaries.

“Nor do we descry any decided advance towards the transcendentalism of the Shad-Darsanas in the Brahmanas of the Vedas. They are for the most part ethical and ritualistic. We do indeed see occasionally certain aspirations after union with the divinity, but these are rare and exceptional. We also notice a tendency towards identifying the universe and deified impersonations with the Supreme Brahma. But we do not see any marked condemnation of the world because of the evils of disease and death.”*

The Upanishads.—These form what have been termed theological tracts, professedly appended to the Vedas. Max Muller says:

“The Upanishads are almost the only portion of Vedic literature which is extensively read to this day. They

* Preface, pp. X, XI. contain, or are supposed to contain, the highest authority on which the various systems of philosophy in India rest.
Now it is true that in the Upanishads themselves there is so much freedom and breadth of thought that it is not difficult to find in them some authority for almost any shade of philosophical opinion. The old Upanishads did not pretend to give more than 'guesses at truth,' and when,
in course of time, they became invested with an inspired character, they allowed great latitude to those who professed to believe in them as a revelation. Yet this was not sufficient for the rank growth of philosophical doctrines during the latter ages of Indian history; and when none of the ancient Upanishads could be found to suit the purpose, the founders of new sects had no scruple and no difficulty in composing new Upanishads of their own.∗

A small treatise in Tamil, professing to give the substance of the Upanishads, is noticed in the list of books.

Early Vedantism.—Space does not permit what are termed the six Hindu darsanas, or philosophical systems, to be described. Some account may be given of the most celebrated of them all,—the Vedanta of Vyasa, the reputed arranger of the Vedas. Colebrooke thus notices its leading doctrines:—

"The principal and essential tenets of the Vedanta are that God is the omniscient and omnipotent cause of the existence, continuance, and dissolution of the universe.
Creation is an act of his will. He is both efficient and material cause of the world; creator and nature, framer and frame, doer and deed. At the consummation of all things, all are resolved into him: as the spider spins his thread from his own substance and gathers it in again.

"Individual souls, emanating from the supreme one, are likened to innumerable sparks issuing from a blazing fire.
From him they proceed, and to him they return, being of the same essence. The soul which governs the body together with its organs, neither is born; nor does it die.
It is a portion of the divine substance; and, as such, infinite, immortal, intelligent, sentient, true."†

∗ Sanskrit Literature, p. 317.
Sankara Acharya was the most distinguished expounder of Vyasa's theory, though with some modifications. As it inculcates the existence of one sole essence, it is often called the Adwaita, or non-dual system.

Later Vedantism.—A refinement upon the doctrines of Vyasa was subsequently introduced. "It is impossible for a cultivated mind so barefacedly to belie our moral persuasions as to affirm that God is an impure material substance. And yet when the world is pronounced to be identical with Him, that revolting doctrine is involved in the declaration. Men have, since the days of Vyasa, endeavoured to refine the grossness of the theory by inculcating that the world is an illusion, not a reality."* All except God is declared to be maya, a phantom, with no more real existence than the mirage of the desert, or the appearances in dreams. The Rev. K. M. Banerjea traces this to the influence of Sakya, the founder of Buddhism.† Colebrooke says, "I have remarked nothing which countenances it in the sutras of Vyasa, nor in the gloss of Sankara."‡ The later development is the system now received by Vedantists. It is advocated by about two-thirds of the works in the following list. The Kaivalyanavanita, one of the highest authorities on the subject among the Tamils, thus briefly states its main features:—

"Every day I bow down to the lotus-foot of Him, through whose grace I came to know, that I am the omnipresent Brahma and that the whole expanding world is a fiction in me,—and so, like the ether in the wall, to partake of the nature of the (absolute) substance (Brahma)."§

When a person fully realises that he is Brahma, and that "the whole universe is a lie."‖ he has reached perfection. He is passionless; desire is ex-

---

* Banerjea’s Dialogues, p. 373.
† On the teaching that the world is a mere illusion "is founded the trilakana or three signs—and these the Buddhist tells on his beads, muttering, anitta, dukam, anatta or transiency, trouble, unreality." Bethune Society’s Proceedings, p. 170.
tinct; he is emancipated from future births. The state attained is, as it were, one of profound sleep, without dreams. Virtually, this is the same as the nirvana, or annihilation of the Buddhists.

Ramanuja’s System.—Vedantism met in some quarters with strenuous opposition. The following quotation is a specimen:—

“Thou art verily riddled, O thou animal soul, of thy understanding; by this dark theory of Maya, because like a maniac thou constantly ravest, ‘I am Brahma.’ Where is thy divinity, thy sovereignty, thy omniscience? O thou animal soul! thou art as different from Brahma as is a mustard seed from Mount Meru.”

Ramanuja was one of its ablest antagonists. His own system, generally held by the Southern Vaishnavas, may be briefly described. The Vedanta asserts that the deity is nirguna, void of qualities. Ramanuja teaches that he possesses all good attributes. From Visishta, meaning “endowed with qualities,” his system is, therefore, called Visishthadwaita. So far from asserting that there is only one essence, Ramanuja declares that there are three eternal entities, Iswara, God, Chit, spirit, and Achit, Matter. Chit includes vegetables as well as animals. A plant may become an animal in next birth, and vice-versa. The highest reward is to be united with Vishnu, yet in such a way as not entirely to lose personal identity.

Ramanuja’s writings are in Sanskrit. Some of his doctrines are explained by Pillai Lokasariyar in the works specified under the head of Vishnu.

Madhvacliarya founded the Dwaita, or duality school. Wilson says† that it separates the principle of life from the Supreme Being, and denies the doctrine of absorption. It has few adherents among the Tamils.

Saiya Philosophy.—The orthodox philosophy of the Tamil Saivas is termed the Saiya Siddhanta, or body of doctrines. Its standards are the twenty-eight

* See Banerjea’s Dialogues, p. 378.
Agamas. These works are yet little known. They are rare, and with two or three exceptions, found only in Sanskrit. The information respecting them possessed by Europeans is chiefly derived from the treatises translated by the late Rev. H. R. Hoisington of the Jaffna American Mission. But even the principal work translated, Siva Gnana Potham, is only a section of one Agama.

In the Saiva philosophy, as in Ramanuja's system, there are three eternal entities, Pati, Pasu, Pasam, Deity, Soul, Matter. God and the soul are declared to be distinct.* Matter cannot proceed from spirit; therefore the world was not developed from the Deity.† The great object set before men is to seek deliverance from the bondage of matter by Gnanam, divine knowledge. The soul will then be united to God, and freed from future births.

The Saivas suppose that there are four stages in religious life before union with God can be obtained. These are called Saritai, ஸ்ரீதை, Kiriyai, கிரீதை, Yogam, யோகம், and Gnanam, கிரீதை, resulting in Mahaganam, மகாகிரீதை.

There are definite rules to guide the disciples through these successive steps. Their due observance will bring the soul to one of the heavens of the gods. Saritai results in the heaven called Salokam, i.e. the state of being with God; Kiriyai ends in Sarupam, i.e. the state of being in the image of God; Yogam conducts to Samipam, i.e. nearness to God; Gnanam leads to Sayussiam, i.e. union with God.

Saritai signifies history, and is nearly synonymous with Puranam. Hence this stage may be denominated the Puranic, or historic. The 18 great Puranas are the books of direction in this stage. It is the popular idolatry of India. The soul is under the influence of the external body, called Stula Sariram, or body of sense.

Kiriyai means action. The lingam is supposed to be the symbol of God's mode of operating. It is the chief external object of worship in this stage. The soul is under the influence of its second body, called linga-sariram.

Yogam signifies meditation. This is the ascetic stage. It is characterised by a peculiar course of dreamy meditations. The soul is chiefly under the influence of its third body, called Atma Sariram, soul-like body. It is in this state that the soul has dreams and visions in sleep; which readily indicates the dreamy mode of meditation, and the spiritual visions obtained in this stage. The aids of the Yoga course are necessary to help the soul on into the light of wisdom.

In this stage the soul is in darkness; and yet it has attained to some idea of the light desired, and struggles for it. Hence the Yogi's neglect of his body.

Gnana means wisdom. The soul is now under the influence of the fourth body, having escaped from the entanglements of the three exterior bodies. This body is denominated Paramatma Sariram, the heavenly soul-like body. The breath communicates with this fourth body. The great object is to get a vision of God. This is sought to be attained in the following way:

The Gnan seats himself on a tiger-skin or some other sacred article. Having closed all the orifices of the body except the right nostril, he throws, by the power of thought, the awful name of the deity, Om, or Namaskaya, upon the breath a few inches before the nose; he then draws in a full breath and closes the nostril as long as possible. While this form of God is thus floating around in the region of the soul—the soul is engaged in intense meditation, looking for a vision of deity. When the breath can be no longer retained, it is exhaled by the opposite nostril; when that is again closed, and the soul is left to meditate on the deities enthroned in his body. After a long course the light breaks in—the vision is obtained. The deity is seen in the form of a circular light, with an intensely bright spot, or luminous ring, in the centre.

The man has now passed into light, and sees things as they are. He hears a divine sound, sees the five mystic letters, and receives a consciousness of the essential union between his soul and God—that they are one in essence, now separated only as the air in an earthen vessel is from that without. Break the vessel, and they are one.

He has now become a Gnani, or “wise man.” He has escaped entirely from the influence of his senses, appetites, and passions; and even from the influence of his intellectual powers. Let his body do what it will—let it revel in selfishness, fraud, and lust—but his soul sins not! He still inhabits the body and controls it at pleasure; but his soul receives no influence in return.

A man may die in this stage, or pass into the condition of Mahagnanam, or great wisdom. If he dies in this stage he will be born but once more, and then a Gnani in the higher stage.

In Mahagnanam the visions of the soul are all bright—undefined, formless, splendid. The man is now a god. He waits only for the gracious look of deity to annihilate his body, when the soul will pass away pure, and again become one with the eternal essence.*

Bhagavat Gita.—This episode of the Mahabharat is claimed by all parties. It propounds an eclectic system. Its two leading doctrines are the adwaita theory of Vyasa and the supreme importance of quietism, resembling the Stoic philosophy of the Greeks. Its doctrines compared with Christianity, are considered in a lecture delivered by the Rev. H. Bower before the Madras Satthia Veda Samajam.†

Estimate and effects of Hindu Philosophy.—Much of it may be fitly characterised as “profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called.”

* Abridged from the Rev. H. R. Hoisington.
† Procureable from the Rev. R. M. Baaboo, Free Church Mission, Madras; price 4 as.
The Rev. K. M. Banerjea remarks of the Hindu philosophers:

"The authors began to dogmatize in the very infancy of philosophical speculation. They drew general conclusions before they had collected facts. They worked up their own ideas, without sufficient attention to external phenomena. They delivered obscure sartas to exercise the ingenuity of their followers."

"The philosophers professed to have solved problems really out of the range of our knowledge, while they threw doubts on matters which every body believed, and which none could deny without belying his nature." p. 72.

The "medical doctrines," to use Macaulay's words, "would disgrace an English farrier." This will be evident on examining the accounts of the ten winds and ten tubes of the human body, described in Śrī-Prakāsha Kattalāc, translated by the Rev. T. Foulkes.

The same treatise asserts that in a state of wakefulness the soul's seat is in the forehead; in sleep, in the region of the throat; in a state of oblivion, the umbilical region, &c.

There is much metaphysical hairsplitting in the philosophical treatises; but, in general, little breadth of view. The writers start with false principles, and their trains of reasoning consequently often end in absurdities. In some cases, however, the writers seem to be feeling after God, if haply they might find him. Occasionally very noble sentiments are expressed.

The Advaita system teaches men to make the blasphemous assertion, "I am God," and obliterates the difference between virtue and vice. All inculcate pure selfishness. Their adherents, instead of seeking the good of their fellow-creatures, are to be thinking themselves out of their wits, with their eyes fixed on the point of the nose.*

Of all classes of the Hindu community, the Vedantists are perhaps the most conceited and difficult to deal with. The Missionary will find Banerjea's Dialogues, Pundit Nehemiah's "Rational Refutation of the Hindu

* Dr. Caldwell's remarks on the Bhagavat Gita, p. 28.
Philosophy” and the works of Mullens, of much value. However, a treatise is required treating specially of the systems current in South India. The translations of Hoisington, Graul, and Foulkes, will be of service.

The number of works on Vedantism and Saiva philosophy shows that their doctrines must have a wide currency. They are taught both in octavos for the learned, in songs for farmers when irrigating their fields, and even in compositions intended to be sung by women.

The compiler wished to prefix to each work in the following list a sign indicating the class to which it belongs. The native scholars whom he consulted differed; in many cases, so widely in their opinions, that he could not arrive at satisfactory conclusions from their testimony. A few works, however, have been marked, chiefly from notes kindly furnished by Dr. Caldwell. It may be stated that some treatises not indicated are of a mixed character, and sometimes not at all consistent. This helps to explain the contradictory opinions expressed.

A. prefixed denotes Adwaita Vedantism.
B. Eclecticism.
S. S. Saiva Saddhanta.
V. Vishishtadwaita.
Amrutu Saram. അംഗ്രുട സാമ്ര.
Agnnavatari Parani. അഗ্নിഭാവതാരി പരാനി. By Kannudaiyallal. 18th cent.

A. Aparodsatmanupava Tipikai. അപരൊദ്സത്മാനുപാവ തിപിക്കി. 18mo. 80 pp. 2 as. The work professes to be translated from the Sanskrit of Asariya Suvamikal by Suppiramaniya Suvamikal. Prose. In question and answer. On the meaning of the four great sentences founded on the four Vedas. 1. The universe is Brahma. 2. Brahma, destitute of qualities, is the sole existence, &c.

S. S. Arivananta Sittiyar. അരിവാനൻറ സിത്തിയറ്. Small 4to. 48 pp. 5 as. Anon. 826 stanzas.
A rivupilakkam. ஆறுபழைக்கன்.
A. Attuvitanupavam. அதுவிடனுடவம். 18mo. 36 pp. 2 as. Anon. How to destroy sin and become united to Brahma.

A. Avatuta Samvatam. ஆவது சமவாதம். 18mo. 12 pp. 1 an. A chapter of the Bhagavat. A king asks a Muni his experience of Vedantic doctrines.

E. AvirotaAvuntiKar. அவிரைந்திகர். 16mo. 133 pp. 6 as. By Santalingka Tesikar. 18th cent. The text has been translated by the Rev. T. Foulkes. The Tamil edition has a commentary by Sitampara Suvami, consisting chiefly of illustrative extracts from 79 different Tamil works. The poem is said to be in use amongst Hindu women.

Alavuay Koddalai. அலவுய் கட்டலை.
Anantakalippa. அனந்தகலிப்பா. 18mo. 16 pp. 4 pie. An extract from the works of Tayumanavar. On the unspeakable happiness of union with God.

Ananta Kummi Padal. அனந்த கும்மி பதால்.
Aratara Usal. அரதரா உசல்.

A. Atmapotta Pirakasikai. ஆத்மபோட்டா பிரகாசிகை. 8vo. Rs. 2. Translated from the Sanscrit by Saravanamuttu.

Gnana Kummi. ஜ்னான கும்மி. 18mo. 24 pp. 6 pie. By Palananta Suvamikal. 19th cent. A description of the 96 Tattuvas. To be sung by women.

Gnanasopanam ஜ்னானசோபானம். 18mo. 16 pp. By Tiruvengkadanatentirar. About the good and bad qualities of the soul.

Gnanasukatita Venpa. ஜ்னானசுகட்டத்தை வெண்பா.

A. GNANA VASIDDAM. ஜ்னான வாசின்சம். 2 vols. 8vo. 1105 pp. Rs. 3. Text by Alavantar. 17th cent. Commentary by Arunasala Suvamikal. 19th century. This is considered the standard work on the subject. It is said to be translated from the Sanscrit. The author, in 2,055 stanzas, treats of the doctrines of Vedantism, illustrating them by various legends. The two following stanzas are translated by the Rev. H. Bower:

"This powerful devil of a deceitful heart, is fiercer than fire, more impassable than the mountains, and harder than adamant: sooner might the ocean be emptied, Mount Meru be rooted up, and the burning flames be swallowed down, than the mind be restrained. It is the agent that operates through the senses. At its bidding this destructive world stands and vanishes. Therefore it is the mind that must first be subdued,"

"As the (swift-footed) deer, like the bewildered mind, runs over the plain, and falls into the pit of the senses (sensuality); so in this body, compared to a barren soil, youthful lusts, like bright mirage rising, will continue to produce numberless evils. The (forbidden) pleasures of youth will increase in proportion as they are cherished; and (cherished) desires, will, in proportion to youthful lusts, grow rapidly and cause destruction."

Gnanaveddiyan. 8vo. 267 pp. 12 as. Erroneously attributed to Tiruvalluvar. Treats of Vedantism, medicine, and attacks caste.

Gnana Yettam. 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. Attributed to Seshayoki. A song for farmers and gardeners when drawing water. Mystic numbers and letters are mentioned.

Kadavul Anati. Small 4to. 16 pp. 1 an. Anon. On Siva as the Supreme Being, mixed with Vedantic ideas.

A. KAI ValliYANAVANITAM. Text. 16mo. 86 pp. 2 as. With commentary, 8vo. 148 pp. 5 as. The Tamil Plutarch attributes this work to Tandava Murtti. It has been translated into English by Dr. Graul. The work contains 293 stanzas. It is divided into two parts, the first entitled, "Illustration of the true Essence," the second,
"Clearing away of all Doubts." The following are three stanzas from the latter:

168. "Persisting in that way I want to enjoy supreme bliss; but in what way must I persist to the end that I may clearly experience it?" Answer: suppressing the (mental) functions arising within the three states (of waking, sleep, and profound sleep), and persevering in that way, you may obtain eternal bliss."

"173. If you do not lose the certainty: 'I am spirit—all-perfect!' you may think and do what and how much you ever please; what matters it? Like the dream, after you have become conscious of our sleep, this all has the appearance of a lie. The shape of bliss is 'I.'"

"174. Being born now as a low and then as a great man, I believed, through many births, that the body is 'I.' But at present I consider all that as the water in the heated sand of the desert. Through the grace of the true teacher I have been led to believe that my (spiritual) 'I' is the true 'I,' and so I am saved."

Kilippadal. கிளிப்பாதல். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Authorship claimed for the goddess Minadsi. The soul addressed as a parrot.

A. Ladsana Virutti. லட்சனா விருத்தி. 18mo. 76 pp. 4 as. Anon. Prose. Attributes of God, answers to objections raised to such assertions as, "I am Brahma,"

A. Mahakavikha Kaddalai. மககவிக்கக் கட்டக்க. Mayya Piralapam. மய்யா பிரளாபம். 16mo. 24 pp. By Kannadaivavallal. 18th cent.

Manasa Patikam. மந்தசா பாதிகம்.

A. Menemana Saram. மெண்மென்மான சாரம். By Tirugnanana Sampantan. 19th cent.

Mokavutai Parani. மொகவுடை பரணி. Attributed to Tatvarayar. About 17th cent.

A. Nanastivakada Kaddalai. நனாஸ்திவக்கட்டக்கை. 18mo. 24 pp. 2 as. By Seshattirisiva Tesikar. Translated by the Rev. T. Foulkes. Elementary treatise on Vedantism.

Nengsari Vilukkam. நெங்சாறி விலுக்கம். 18mo. 22 pp. 1 an. By Kanapati Tasar. 19th cent. An address to the soul.

Nengswivdu Tutu. நெங்சுவிட்டு துடு. 16mo. 18 pp. 2 as. By Sitampara Suvamikal. 18th cent. The mind is sent as a messenger to the Gurn of the author, Kumaratevar.

Nishtunuputi. நிஷ்டுனுப்புதி. 8vo. 1 R.

Olivilodukkam. ஓவிலோதுக்கம். 8vo. 268 pp. 1 R. By Kannudayavallal. 18th cent. In ten chapters. The work treats of the different stages ending in absorption.

A. Owvaiyar Tirukkural Mulam. ஓவையார் திருக்குரால் முலங்கு. 16mo. 32 pp. 1½ an. A recent work, though attributed to Avaiyar. Description of the 96 elements, how to prevent future births, &c.

S. S. Paddanattuppillai Padal. பட்டாண்டுப்பில்லை பாடல். 18mo. 46 pp. 1 an. The work commences as follows:

"Meditate, O my soul, on the supreme Siva. The prosperity of this world is like the mirage; therefore take no concern for the body. What is born, will die; whatever dies, will be born again; what appears, will disappear; what disappears, will re-appear; what is great, will become small; what is small, will become great; what is known, will become forgotten; what is forgotten, will be remembered again; &c."

S. S. Paddanattuppillai Mengnana Pulampal. பட்டாண்டுப்பில்லை மேங்நா புலம்பால். 18mo. 48 pp. 9 pie. Pulampal means lamentations. The work commences thus:

"I know not the beginning, I know not the end; I tremble when I remember what I have suffered in the world. I lost knowledge through matter (Malam); I became mad through the merits of former births; I am reduced to dust because I coveted dust; the lust of gold and woman say they will not depart; the desire is never satisfied."
Prayers for grace, rejoicing with the soul, &c. are other subjects.

Both the preceding works are by Paddanattu Pillai. About 16th cent.

E. PAKAVAT KITAI. பாகவாத் கிடை. Text and commentary. 8vo. 208 pp. 12 as. Bhagavat Gita, Divine Song. Episode from the Mahabharat. Wilson places its age about 800 A. D. Thomson, its most recent translator, supposes that it may have been written about 300 years after Christ. The Tamil text is said to be from the translation of Villiputturar.

E. Pakavat Kitai Saram. பாகவாத் கிடை சாரம். Abridgement of the preceding.

E. Pakavat Kitai Vasanam. பாகவாத் கிடை வசனம். 8vo. 66 pp. 5 as. Prose version. Anon. 19th cent.

Pungsa Kirttiya Vina-vidai. புங்கசீ காந்திய வினா விளை. 18mo. 61 pp. 2 as. By Vechyuta Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Catechism about the five kinds of works, creating, protecting, destroying, involving the soul in illusion, and delivering from the power of illusion.

Pangaspata Muka Vakkiyam. பங்கசப்த வக்கியம். 8vo. 80 pp. 5 as. It is said to be translated by Tandasuvami from a Sanskrit work presented by Siva. Prose. In question and answer. Siva expounds 108 "sentences." The first sentence is explained to mean that absorption is praising the perfect happiness of Brahm.

Pangaspota Ratna Olividam. பங்கசப்த ரத்ந ஓவியம்.

A. Pangsasatasa Pirakaranam. பங்கசைஸா பிராகராணம். Small 4to. 115 pp. It professes to be translated from the Sanskrit of Vittiyarana Suvamikal. Prose. In question and answer. In 15 sections, an account is given of Vedantism.

A. Paramananta Tipam. பரமணானா திபம். 18mo. 20 pp. 1 an. Anon. 19th cent.

PARAMAPATA SOPANAM. பரமபதா சோபனம். 8vo. 46 pp. 4 as. By Vetanta Tesikar. About 14th cent. In Sanskrit and Tamil. The author is considered the founder of the Vadakalai Vaishnava sect. The work professes to point out the way to heaven.

Paramarttatarisana Kitasara Taladdu. பரமர்த்தரிதாசனா கிடசரா தலாட்டு. 18mo. 21 pp. This work is said to be translated from the Sanskrit by Tiruvengkadamatenthir. On Vedantism generally.

Paranatevar Vilakkam. பரணாதேவர் விளக்கம்.

Patangsali Mamunivar Gnanam. படங்சதலியர் மமுனிவர் கனாம். 18mo, 22 pp. 9 pie. The work treats also of medicine.

Patangsaliyar Saranam. படங்சதலியர் சரணம்.

S. S. Pati Pasu Pasa Vilakkam. பாதி பாசு பாச விளக்கம். 18mo. 26 pp. 1½ as. It professes to be an abstract of a work by Sankara Acharya, containing 10,000 stanzas. The object is to show how the soul may be delivered from future births.

S. S. Pattirakiriyar Pulampal. பட்டிரகிரியர் புலம்பல். 18mo. 24 pp. 9 pie. By Pattirakiriyar. About 17th cent. 235 couplets entitled, laments. The Tamil Plutarch quotes the following:—

"Oh! when will the time come that I shall know the secret mover of the machinery within me, and obtain the reward of my penance?

Oh! When will the time come that I shall study the mystery of the letter A, which stands the first of all letters, and comprehend its meaning?

Oh! when will the time come that I shall burn the Sastras, and prove the four Vedas to be false and be made whole by discovering the mystery?

Oh! When will the time come that the chiseled stone, the moulded red clay, and the burnished copper shall be rendered profitable?

Oh! when will the time come that men shall live together without any distinction of caste, according to the doctrine promulgated in the beginning by Kapilar?

Palaiyananta Suvamikal Padal. பலையாணாண்டா சுவாமிகல் பதால். 19th cent.

Pirapota Santirotayam. பிரபோத சன்திரோதயம். 8vo. 234 pp. 12 as. By Tiruvenkata Suvami. An imitation of the Sanskrit treatise, Prabodha Chandrodaya. It consists of 2012 stanzas, arranged in 48 cantos. It is a kind of Hindu Bunyan’s Holy War. King intellect and king passion are represented as struggling for the victory.

Porrimalai. பொர்ரிமலை. By Tatvarayar. 17th cent.

Pokar Pujaviti. பொகார் புஜவிதி. 18mo. 16 pp. 9 pie.

Raja Yoha Saram. ராஜா யோஹா சாரம். 19th cent.

Sangkarppa Nirakaranam. சங்ககர்ப்பா நிரகரணம். 8vo. 30 pp. By Ramananta Suvami.

A. Sasivarna Potam. சசிவரண போடம். By Tatvarayar. About 17th cent. This work has been translated by the Rev. T. Foulkes.

Sasitrananta Malai. சசிட்டிரணந்த மலை. 18mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. By Palaiyananta Suvamikal. Beginning of 19th cent. Prayers to overcome the passions, &c.

A. Sattappirakaranam. சாத்தாப்பிரகராணம். 16mo. 128 pp. By Seshakiri Suvamikal. 19th cent. Prose. Sanskrit quotations. The 16 qualities of the mind, exercises to overcome the passions, description of the body, the 96 Tattuvas, &c.

A. Sinnaya Tipikai. சின்சாய் திபிகை. 16mo. 48 pp. 2 as. Anon. About Brahma and the mode of attaining absorption.

Siruddi Sara Makavakkiyam. சிருட்டி சாரா மகாவக்கியம்.
S. S. Sittanta Tipikai. சித்தன்ற திபிகை
S. S. SIVAGNANA POTAM. சிவகாணநா போடம்
A portion of this work was published by the Rev. P. Percival, in the Tamil Newspaper, Dinavartamani. The title means, "Instruction in the knowledge of God." The work is regarded as of the highest authority by the Saivas. Siva, through Nandi, is said to have revealed the Ravurava Akamam. The stanzas were translated from the Sanscrit by Meykandan. The date of the work is uncertain. A translation into English, with notes and an introduction, by the Rev. H. Hoisington, was published in the Journal of the American Oriental Society.

There is a large commentary on this work, called Siva Gnana-Sitti, which has not yet been printed.

Two stanzas are quoted as specimens:

"As sound and the tune, so God and the world. As sound is to the tune, filling all its notes, so is God to the world, pervading all its forms. As neither tune nor notes can exist without a musician, so there must be three eternal entities." p. 58.

"As the soul enables the eye, which has the power of sight, to see, so Sivan looks upon the soul, when it has escaped from the control of its body, and become pure, and shows himself to it. In this way he gives his sacred foot to the soul, so that it will never cease to love." p. 98.

Sivagnana Tipam. சிவகாணநா திபிகை. 18mo. 47 pp. 2 as. How to remove ignorance and attain absorption.

S. S. SIVAPPIRAKASAM. சிவப்பிள்ளாகசம். By Umapati Asariyan. 17th cent. The author professes to give a view of the higher Saiva doctrines as taught in the Siva-Gnana-Pothan and Siva-Gnana-Sitti. It has been translated with notes by Hoisington.

S. S. SIVAPPIRAKASA KADDALAI. சிவப்பிள்ளாகசா கட்டலை. 18mo. 18 pp. 9 pie. Anon. This work has been translated by the Rev. T. Foulkes. The following is an extract:
"The ten winds of the human body are, the breath, the trunk wind, the chest wind, the universal wind, the central wind, the vomiting wind, the tingling wind, the sneezing wind, the yawning wind, and the distending wind."  p. 3.

Sivapoka Saram. சீவப்பக சாரம். 18mo. 23 pp. 2 as. Anon.

Saiva Tattuwamirta Kaddulai. சைவத்தட்டுவமிர்த்தார் கட்டுளை. Sivavivekan. சிவவிவேகன்.

A. Sorupa Saram. சோருப சாரம். 18mo. 30 pp. 1 an. By Sorupagnana Tesikar. On Vedantism generally.

Sorupattantati. சோருப்பட்டாண்டதி. Sutarisana Kitai. சுதரிஸானா் கிடை.

Suta Sangkitai. சுதா் சங்கிதை. 18mo. 20 pp. 1½ as. Anon. It professes to be abridged from a Sanskrit work, communicated by Siva to a Rishi.

Tasakuriya Makavakkiyam. தசகுருமாகவகிய்யம். Text, 18mo. 24 pp. 1½ as. With Commentary, 6 as. The work professes to contain the instructions given by Vasiddar to Rama.

S. S. TATTUVA KADDALAI. டாட்டுவா் காட்டலை. This work has been translated by Hoisington. He explains the title to mean "The Law of the Tattuvam, or of things according to their essential Nature." It is a synopsis of a work, containing 416 closely written foolscap pages, termed Tattuva Pirakasam, the Elucidation of the Tattuvam. The meaning of Tattuvam is essential nature or property. It is used to denote any essential part of the human organism; as, element, sense, organ, property, faculty, active or inert. It has no exact equivalent in English. In Saiva philosophy there are 36 primary and 60 subordinate Tattuvam. Among the primary are the elements, the senses, the organs of action, judgment, will, time, fate illusion, &c.
Among the subordinate Tattuvam are the ten vital airs or animal spirits, their ten tubes, &c.

_Tattuva Vilakkam._ தட்டுவா விலக்கம்.

S. S. Tayumanavar Padal. தைமுனாவர் படல். 8vo. 182 pp. 8 as. By Tayumanavar. About 18th cent. His works are of a very heterogeneous character. He had some acquaintance with Christianity, and mixes some of its doctrines with orthodox and philosophical Hinduism. The following is an extract:—

"There is no limit to desire. Conquerors after subduing the whole land of the earth, will seek to sway their sceptre over the ocean. Those who possess wealth as much as Alakesan (equivalent to Cresus) will wander about to find an alchemist in order to increase their property. Those who have attained long life will take much pains to learn the medicines which prolong life. When every thing is well weighed, it will at last end in eating to satisfaction and sleeping. Let us be content: what we possess is enough. O thou that enjoyest supreme happiness and prevadest the whole universe, grant me that holy state of mind of being contented, so that I may not fall into the ocean of desire."

_Tevikalottiram._ தேவிகலூட்டிரம். 18mo. 12 pp. By Saravana Tesikar. The work professes to shew the mode of obtaining absorption, which Parvati learned from Siva.

_Tirugnana Talisai._ திருக்ணன தலியை.

_Tottiramalai._ தோட்டிராமலை. 8vo. 19 pp. By Sitampara Suvamikal. 18th cent. Praise of Siva, prayers for absorption, &c.

_A. Udalari Vilakkam._ அடலாரி விலக்கம். 18mo. 38 pp. 1 an. It is said to be a free translation from the Sanscrit of Sankara Achariya. About the 96 Tattuvas, &c.

_Udarrkuru Elappaddu._ உடர்க்குரு எளப்படு. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anon.

_Unmai Vilakkam._ உண்மை விலக்கம்.

_Upatesavunmai._ உபதெஸவுன்மை. 8vo. 38 pp. By Sitampara Suvamikal. 18th cent. The four-fold qualifications necessary in a Vedantic student, &c.

_upatesavunmai _Kaddalai_. உபடைவுண்மை கட்டலை. 8vo. 11 pp. Prose. By the same author of the preceding, and on the same subject.

_Upanidatam_. உபநித்தடம். 18mo. 51 pp. By Kantasami Mutaliyar. 19th cent. The work professes to give the substance of the Upanishads.

_Vallalar Sastiram_. எளக்கார சச்சினம். 8vo. 278 pp. Rs. 2. By Sivagnana Vallalar.

_Vatasangkai Nivaranam_. வதசங்கை நிவரநம்.

E. _Vairakkiya Satakam_. வைரக்கிய ஸாத்காம். With commentary. 18mo. 142 pp. By Santalingka Tesikar 18th cent. On overcoming the passions, &c.

E. _Vairakkiya Tipam_. வைரக்கிய திபாம். 16mo. 142 pp. 2½ as. By the same author as the preceding.

A. _Vetanta Saram_. வெதந்த சராம். 8vo. 114 pp. 10 as. A translation of the Sanskrit treatise.

A. _Vetanta Sudamani_. வெதந்த சுடாமாணி. 16mo. 64 pp. 2 as. By Sivappirakasa Suvamikal. 17th cent. On Vedantism generally.

_Viveka Saharam_. விவேக சாரம்.

_Vidduneri Unmai_. விழித்தேரி உன்மை. 18mo. 23 pp. 2 as. By Saravana Tesikar. About absorption, &c.

SECTION V.—HINDU CONTROVERSY.

Attacks on Popular Hinduism.

The Sittar School.

The following account of a popular class of Tamil writers is taken from Dr. Caldwell:—

"The Siddhas (Tamulice Sittar) were a Tamil sect which retained Siva as the name of God, but rejected every thing in the Saiva system which was inconsistent with pure theism. They cultivated alchemy as sedulously as the Arabians, from whom unquestionably they derived their knowledge of it. One of their number asserts that he visited Arabia, and another refers to the Franks. Several of them refer to the Turakhas, the name by which the Indian Mahommedans are known in the South.

“All the compositions of the Siddha school are wholly modern and colloquial, with grammatical forms unknown to the ancients. It was a peculiarity of this school that most of them took the name of Rishis and renowned teachers. Thus one of them called himself Agastyar, another Sankara Acharya, a third Gautama. What is surprising is that this audacity was perfectly successful. The writers are now universally supposed to have lived at an early period. The school has now ceased to exist, and this contributes to throw around them an air of antiquity. They are much quoted by Native Christians who generally fancy them to have been endowed with a prophetic spirit, and to have meant Christ by the Sat-Guru, (True Teacher) to whom they constantly refer. I have no doubt that they were more or less acquainted with Christianity, and that their prophecies were after the event, like those of the Sibyls of ancient Christianity. Who could doubt the allusion to Christianity in the following?

“God is one and the Veda is one; The disinterested true Guru and his initiatory rite is one; When this is obtained his heaven is one, There is but one birth of men upon the earth, And but one way for all men to walk in: But as for those who hold four Vedas and six Shastras, And different customs for different people, And believe in a plurality of gods Down they will go to the fire of hell.”

“The author of this is called the Concave Siddha, and is thus identified with the neighbourhood of Goa, the first Christian settlement in India.”

Two other specimens are quoted by Dr. Caldwell:—

“In a deluge of love thou didst come
To save our precious souls,
O deluge of bliss, O God!
“The ignorant think that God and love are different. None knows that God and love are the same. Did all men know that God and love are the same, they would dwell together in peace, considering love as God.”—Tirumular*

The above extracts are some of the best specimens of the Sittar poems. Many of the stanzas are poor; others may be regarded as simply sceptical. Pattirikiriyar, Tayumanavar, and one or two other writers whose works are included in the preceding list, resemble in some respects, the Sittar School.

_Akappoy Sittar Padal._ அகப்போய் சித்தார் பதல். 18mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. Erroneously attributed to Agastiyar.

_Gnadam Nuru._ கந்தம் நூரு. Attributed to Agastiyar. Dr. Caldwell quotes the following:—

> “Worship thou the light of the Universe; who is One; Who made the world in a moment, and placed good men in it; Who afterwards himself dawned upon the earth as a guru; Who, without wife or family, as a hermit performed austerities; Who appointing loving sages (siddhas) to succeed him, Departed again into heaven:—worship Him.”

_Idaiakkadu Sittar Padal._ இடைக்காட்டு சித்தார் பதல். 18mo. 24 pp. 9 pie. A Rishi is said to have appeared to some shepherds near the foot of Pothia Malai, the supposed abode of Agastiyar. In return for some milk, he gave them spiritual milk; enabling them to become sages.

_Kaduveli Sittar Padal._ கடுவெலி சித்தார் பதல். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie.

_Kapila Tevar Akaval._ கபிளோ தேவர் அகவல். 18mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. A poetical translation is given in Percival’s “Land of the Veda” p. 114. About caste.

_Kapilar Satakam._ கபிலோ சதாகம்.

_Kongkanar Gnam._ கொங்ககார் கணம். 8vo. 20 pp. 1½ as. This is one of the works from which Dr. Caldwell quotes.

_Kutampodi Sittar Padal._ குடம்பு சித்தார் பதல். 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie.

Pampaddi Sitarr Padal. 18mo. 30 pp. 6 pie. A sage is said to have concealed his own body in a banyan tree, and animated that of a king.

Roma Rishi. Sivavakkiyam. 18mo. 23 pp. 6 pie. The following specimens are from translations by Ellis:

"Formerly how many flowers have I gathered and scattered.
How many prayers have I repeated in a vain worship?
While yet in the prime of my life, how much water have I poured out?
And, moreover, how often have I encompassed the holy places of Siven;
This I have left off, for the wise who know the true God, the Lord of heavenly beings, Believe not the idol of the temples apparent to the eyes to be God, nor lift up to it their hands."

"As milk once drawn cannot again enter the udder, nor butter churned be re-combined with milk;
As sound cannot be produced from a broken conch, nor the life be restored to its body;
As a decayed leaf and a fallen flower cannot be re-united to the parent tree;
So a man once dead is subject to no future birth."

Tirumular. The works of this writer belong to the Sittar School; but the compiler has not met with them.

SECTARIAN DISPUTES.

Vaishnavas against Saivas.

Parappirama Vivekam. 8vo. 10 pp. Gratis. Abridged from Pillai Perumal Aiyangkar. About 14th cent. The author was asked to compose a poem in honor of Siva. He replied that the mouth which had sung the praises of Vishnun would not be polluted by singing those of a monkey. The pamphlet answers Saiva objections, &c. The Saivas assert that Vishnu could not find the base of the linga. In reply it is stated, that Vishnu once swallowed the whole earth, including Siva and his linga!

_Irusamaya Vilakkam._ 8vo. Rs. 2. By Ari Tasar. About 17th cent. The work contains about 2,000 stanzas against Saivas, Vira-Saivas, and Vedantists. The printed edition is imperfect, some of the middle being wanting.

_Saivas against Vaishnavas._

_Irusamaya Vilakka Joti._ 16mo. 72 pp. 3 as. By Ponnampala Suvamikal. 19th cent. Siva appears to settle the disputes between his sect and the Vaishnavas.

_Disputes between Vaishnava Sects._

_Srimat Tennesariyar Pirapavam._ By Appavu Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Account of a discussion in Madras between the Northern and Southern sects. Sanscrit quotations.

_Tennesariya Pirapava Kandanam._ By Virarakava Asari. By the Vadakalai, in reply to the preceding work.
III. HINDUISM.

Satsampiramaya Tipikai. 8vo. 18 pp. 1 an. By Appavu Mutaliyar. 19th cent. This is a rejoinder to the preceding work.

Against the Madras Brahma Samaj.

A deputation from the Calcutta Brahma Samaj visited Madras in 1864, and a Society, called, Veda Samajam, "The Society of the Veda," was established. Its members consist chiefly of graduates of the Madras University. It is attacked by the orthodox Hindus in the following pamphlet:—

Vetasamaja Kandanam. 8vo. 28 pp. 4 as. By Srinivasani Aiyangkar. It is alleged that the members of the Society are ignorant young men, who despise all religions.

Against Christianity.

About 20 years ago, several events occurred which roused the Hindus to defend their system and attack Christianity. The Lex Loci Act removed some of the civil disabilities under which converts laboured; numbers had seceded from Hinduism; the wide circulation of two pungent tracts, "The Blind Way" and "The Hindu Triad," excited much feeling. An association was formed, called "The Sacred Ashes Society," and agents were employed to ridicule Missionaries. It was stated, that the wild bull, called Christianity, with its two horns, "The Blind Way" and "The Hindu Triad," was destroying the fair garden of Siva. In addition to other efforts, the Hindus published several works against Christianity. They have nearly all been out of print for a number of years, and are now rarely to be met with. Still, a few are in circulation, and are read by persons who wish to dispute with Catechists when preaching, and by some advanced scholars in Missionary Institutions who try to preplex their teachers by their objections.

Kirstumata Kandanam. 8vo. 18 pp. 1 an. Attributed to C. Sapapati Mutaliyar. 19th cent. In the preface Government is praised and Missionaries are condemned. Two poetical compositions attacking Christianity. The Jews themselves are said to have crucified Jesus as a thief.

Kiristumata Astivara Palutu. கிருட்டுமாதா அச்சிவரா பலுது. Errors of the foundation of Christianity.

Kiristumata Veta Vihalpam. கிருட்டுமாதா வெடா விழால்பம். By Ponnampalam Mutaliyar. Differences between Christianity and Hinduism.

Kiristumata Timira Panu. கிருட்டுமாதா திமிரா பஞ்சு. By Katirvelu Kavirayar. "The Sun illuminating the Darkness of Christianity!"

Kiristumata Somvatam. கிருட்டுமாதா சம்வளதம். Disputation on Christianity.

Kiristumata Kandana Kalampakam. கிருட்டுமாதா கண்டாணா கலம்பாகம். Refutation of Christianity.

Patiri Gnana Kummi. பதிரிக்கணா கும்மி. Song against Missionaries.

Kiristumata Tiraskaram. கிருட்டுமாதா திராஸ்கரம். By Appavu Mutaliyar. Censure on Christianity.

Kiristumata Nirakaranam. கிருட்டுமாதா நிராகரனம்.

Kiristumata Kandana Antati. கிருட்டுமாதா கண்டாணா அண்டறிமுகம்.

Kiristumata Kandana Satakam. கிருட்டுமாதா கண்டாணா சதகம்.

Kiristumata Kandana Malai. கிருட்டுமாதா கண்டாணா மலை.

Kiristumata Kandana Kudara Vakkiyam. கிருட்டுமாதா கண்டாணா குடரா வக்கியம். The five preceding works are supposed to be refutations of Christianity. They are composed in different kinds of metre.

III. HINDUISM.

SECTION VI.—ASTROLOGY, DIVINATION, AND MAGIC.

Astrology.

It has been observed that “the bondage in which the Tamilians are held by astrology is the occasion of never-ending expenses, and the fruitful source of unceasing anxieties to all classes.” The horoscopes of all, except the very lowest, are written out, and consulted on occasions of any importance. Before setting out on a journey, or commencing to plough, sow, &c., the astrologer is asked about a lucky time. Hence favorable opportunities are often lost. It must be confessed that this is not surprising, since even some of Cardinal Richelieu’s journeys were determined by astrologers.* An astrological almanac, bearing the name of Zadkiel, is published in London. With the diffusion of a correct knowledge of astronomy, this superstition will become extinct.

Before giving a list of the works treating expressly of astrology, a song in praise of the sun may be noticed:

Suriyanamaskara Patikam. சுரியானாமஸ்கார பாதிகம். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. After invoking Ganesa, the work begins as follows:—

“O thou god Suriyanarana (the Sun), thou art Siva, thou appearest in the vast expanse of the sky with brilliant light; thou art the light of true wisdom; thou art the only deity that filleth the whole universe; thou art the true teacher, that teacheth the five-lettered mantra (namasivaya), the mysterious doctrines; thou assumest bodily shape, thou art the soul of the whole universe, thou hast from the beginning appeared in the shape of this world and the thousand and eight worlds beyond the mundane sphere; and thou ridest every day in a most brilliant single-wheeled chariot.”

Almanacs. These are published in large numbers, in various forms, and are widely circulated. Some are small and cheap; others are large and profusely illustrated by pictures representing the signs of the Zodiac, figures denoting the sun in different months, &c.

One of the principal, after giving the names of the year 1865-66, thus predicts its fortunes:—

"The present year is called Kurotona (year of the Hindu Cycle). There will be rain in summer, in some countries attended with hail, wind, thunder, and lightning, and rivers will overflow. In some countries, there will be a scarcity of rain; millet and other dry grains will yield abundantly. In some countries there will be famine; in some countries people will suffer from robbers, fire, and rain; commerce will not prosper; cows will have diseases; the price of grain will be sometimes low and sometimes high. Prosperity and adversity will be in the proportion of three to five. In some places earthquakes will occur, in other places sudden deaths; but in general people will prosper."

Next follows a list of lucky and unlucky times. During 1865-66 every Sunday at 4 p. m., Monday at 7½ a. m. &c., are unlucky times; hence no work should then be commenced.

Several attempts have been made by Christian Societies to supply Almanacs containing all the information about the Calendar of real value, with Railway and Postage rates, &c. On the whole, they have met with little success. The people consult Almanacs chiefly to find out lucky and unlucky times. Without this, they deem all else to be vain.

Aiyasamiyam Ammaniyam. அயசசமியம் அம்மனி. 8 as. By Sittampala Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Two works, one in honor of the author’s grandfather, the other in honor of his grandmother.

Lakkina Malai ல்ள்ள்ள்ள்ள்ள்ள்ள்ள. On calculating nivities.

Navarattina Malai. நவராத்தினம்.

Paral Malai. பரல். About the mode of calculating by means of shells.

Porutta Nul. போற்று. About the marriages which will be fortunate or the reverse.
Pulippani Munivar Sotidam. புளிப்பாணி முனிவர் சூடியம்

Ratu Nul. ராது நுல். 16mo. 29 pp. 1 an. Anon. Calculations connected with the time that girls reach the age of puberty; fortunate and unfortunate influences pointed out.

Satakalangkaram. சட்டகலங்கரம். 8vo. 160 pp. 14 as. By Nadarasar. The author says that 19 sages wrote 450,000 stanzas in Sanscrit on astrology. He professes to give the essence of their works. On the preparation of horoscopes.

Sukkiravisaya Pokam. சுக்கிரவிஸையாபோகம்.

Sudamani Ullamudaiyan. சுடாமனி உல்லமுடையன். 8vo. 166 pp. 15 as. By Mandalapurudan. About 17th cent. This is considered the standard Tamil printed treatise on astrology. It treats of the subject generally.

Tirunavakkirakam. திருநாவக்கிரகம். About the nine planets.

Varushati Nul. வருஷதி நுல். 16mo. 144 pp. 4 as. By Santirasekara Kaviraja Panditar. 19th cent. The years of the Hindu cycle, &c. Appendixed is a treatise, Arupatu Varusha Palan, அருப்பது வருஷா பலன், attributed to Idaikkadar. It professes to show what will happen during the sixty years of the Hindu cycle.

Divination.

The Tamils are great slaves to omens. Every book hawker carries about works on divination. If a lizard chirp when any undertaking is proposed, this is considered a sufficient reason for its abandonment. There is, however, a proverb, "The lizard which was the oracle of the whole village, has fallen into the broth."
Angkattal Akaviyal Arital. அங்கட்டால் அகவியல் அரிதல். 16mo. 52 pp. 2½ as. Translated from the English by Appasami Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Prose. The work professes to show a person's disposition, &c. from the members of his body. A man with a long slender nose will possess courage; one with a nose like a parrot, will have an acute understanding, &c.

Kanavin Nul. கணவின் நுல். 18mo. 10 pp. 3 pie. Anon. On the interpretation of dreams. If a woman dream that her teeth fall out, or that her hair is dishevelled, her relatives will die, &c.

Kai Sastiram. கைசாஸ்திரம். On palmistry.

Kouli Sastirangkal. கௌலி சாஸ்திரங்கல். 18mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. On divination by means of lizards. On Sunday if a lizard chirp when an undertaking is about to be commenced, it must at once be relinquished.

Napoleon's Book of Fate. Translated from the English.

Pansa Padsi Sastiram. பண்ணாச்சி சாஸ்திரம். 8vo. 88 pp. 5 as. The work professes to be written by Akastiyar. It treats of divination by the five birds: vultures, owls, crows, cocks, and peacocks. There are several tables and diagrams.

Sakuma Nul. சகுமா நுல். 18mo. 16 pp. Translated from a Sanscrit work from the Library of C. P. Brown, Esq. On omens. To meet white cloth, gold, flags, white rice, &c. are fortunate omens; salt, fire with smoke, red flowers, &c. are bad omens.

Saranul Sastiram. சாரானுல் சாஸ்திரம். On divination by means of the breath.

Tudi Nul. துடி நுல். 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. Anon. On divination by the quivering of the body. If a woman's right eye-lid quiver, some misfortune will happen to her husband.

Tummanul, &c. தும்மணுல் ஆக்கம். 18mo. 16 pp. 9 pie. Anon. On divination by sneezing, crows, asses, owls, lizards, &c. The following are some of the omens:
If an ass bray in the east, success will be delayed; in the south-east, it prognosticates death; in the south, gain of money; in the south-west, good news; in the west, disturbance, &c.

If an owl hoot once, it denotes death; twice, indicates success; thrice, women will come to the house; four times, there will be troubles, &c.

If a lizard fall on the head, it prognosticates death; if on the right ear, good; on the left ear, evil; on the nose, disease; on the neck, joy; &c.

Magic.

The Tamils enumerate 64 arts and sciences. Their intense superstition is shown by the fact that no fewer than 20 are connected with magic. They are as follows:

36. The art of summoning by enchantment.
37. Exorcism.
38. Exciting hatred between parties by magical spells.
40. Libidinous fascinations produced by enchantment.
41. The art of subduction by magic.
47. Charms against poison.
49. Information respecting any thing concealed in the palm of the hand.
50. The art of entering into the air and becoming invisible.
51. The art of walking in the air.
52. The power of leaving one's own body and entering another lifeless body or substance at pleasure.
53. The power of making one's self invisible.
54. The art of conjuring.
55. The art of performing wonders in heaven and earth.
56. Restraining the action of fire.
57. Counteracting the yielding quality of water so as to be able to walk on its surface.
58. The art of restraining the power of the mind.
59. The art of fascinating the eyes.
60. The art of fascinating the mouth.
62. The art of preventing the discovery of things concealed.
63. The art by which the power of the sword or any other weapon is nullified.
The following works are of a miscellaneous character, though the use of spells is their leading feature. Many of the books on Medicine, noticed under a different head, likewise treat of charms.

Kongkanar Kadai Kandam. கொங்கனார் கோடை கண்டம். Small 4to. 86 pp. 6 as. The work professes to be by Kongkanar Rishi. How to construct magic circles, offer sacrifices, perform Yogam, &c.

Akastiyar Tulsaviti. அகாச்தியர் துலசவிதி. 16mo. 79 pp. 3 as. Attributed to Akastiyar. Of the same character as the preceding work.

Saddaimuni Sadadsara Kovai. சத்தைமுனி சாதாட்சரா கோவை. 16mo. 44 pp. 2 as. Attributed to Saddaimuni. About the six-lettered charm, and its different applications; how to prolong and destroy life by its means. For the latter purpose, the use of a poisonous plant is recommended in addition. Various other matters.

Pulipponi Munivar Palatiraddujala Sitamparam. புளிப்போணி முனிவர் பலதிராதுஜலா சிதம்பரம். 8vo. 64 pp. 3½ as. On magic, jugglery, &c.

Suntaranantar Kesari. சுந்தரானானார் கேசரி. 16mo. 20 pp. 1½ as. About the elixir of life. It is directed to be prepared from the bones of a lion, mixed with sandal-wood, &c. If a person take it for 40 days, he will live a century; if for 80 days, four centuries, &c.

There are other charms of a malignant character, in which the aid of Kali is sought for the destruction of enemies. The compiler has not met with a printed work treating specially of them; but the following may be given as a specimen:—

"Om!

"Adoration to thee, supreme power,
Kali ratri, black night,
To whom the bloody flesh of man is dear;
Whose very form is fate and death.
Seize, seize on the life of such a one,
Drink blood! drink blood!
Devour flesh! devour flesh!
Make lifeless! make lifeless!

Hum Phut!"

DIVISION IV. TAMIL BOOKS PUBLISHED BY MUHAMMADANS.

The Muhammadans, in proportion to their number and compared with the other natives of Southern India, display a fair amount of literary activity. During 1862 and 1863, so far as Returns afford information, they issued the following works:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Language</th>
<th>Number</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hindustani and Hindi</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Persian</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arabic</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arabic and Tamil</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Persian and Hindustani</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Total: 80

Most of the works are religious. The Koran, it is said, has not been translated into Tamil, as this would be regarded as desecration. In North India, Hindustani translations on the margin of the Arabic are common. Among the Hindustani works of a non-religious character, may be mentioned a Medical textbook for the Nizam’s Government, and treatises on cookery and the preparation of attar of roses.

As a rule, only the Muhammadans originally from the north are acquainted with Hindustani. There is a class in the south of mixed descent, or converts from Hinduism, who speak only Tamil. For their use several works have been prepared in that language. Generally the style is not pure, some Hindustani words being interspersed. Strictly, only religious works should be included in the following list; but it seems better to collect under one head all the publications of this section of the community.
Religious.

Apayesitulpustami. ஆபயேசிடற்புட்டமி. 8vo. 18 pp. 2 as. By Seyyitapupakkar Pulavar. About a Muhammadan priest who is said to have converted to Islamism 1000 Padres and 50,000 laymen.

Ayiramalasul. ஆயிரமடல். 8vo. 173 pp. 1 Re. By Varnapparimala Pulavar. About creation, heaven, hell, the seven worlds, coming of Jesus, Muhammad, &c.

Ipuvisu Nama. இப்புவிசு நாமம். 8vo. 47 pp. 4 as. By Seyyitapupakkar Pulavar. Muhammad converses with Satan on various subjects. Satan expresses his pleasure when any one drinks water with his left hand, or first puts on his left shoe, as these are sins. He states that he is afraid of only three women, the Virgin Mary, Khadijah, and Fatima. Future punishments described, with the different hells.

Irathna Muhammadu Karana Sarittiram. இறாத்தா மகம்மு காரணா சரித்திரம். 8vo. 72 pp. 4 as. By Aputulkatar Sayapu. Prose. History of Muhammad.

Kivistumata Kandana Vassiru Tandam. கிவிஷுமாதா காண்டனா வாசிரு தாண்டம். 18mo. 140 pp. By Mas-tan Sayapu. A diamond club for destroying Christianity. Prose. The author lived at Trichinopoly, where he often disputed with Missionaries and Catechists. He professes to have written this work after careful examination of the Bible. Among the points treated are the following: 1. Christ is man, not God, as Christians assert. 2. The book called by the Christians the New Testament is not the Word of God. 3. Christians are wrong in asserting that Jesus Christ came to this world to suffer and die for the sins of men, &c.

Karana Valtu. காரணா வல்து. 18mo. 6 pp. 6 pic. By Aputulkatar Sayapu. Praise of Muhammad.
Mastan Sayapu Padal. 8vo. 182 pp. 5 as. By Mastan Sayapu, with introductory poems in his honor. This work is published by Hindus, as they consider him as one of their Rishis. The book is in imitation of the poems of Tayumanavar. Sufi philosophy, with praises of Muhammad interspersed. The language is purer and better than the other Muhammadan works. Large circulation among Hindus.

Mukiyittinandavar Pillai Tamil. 12mo. 42 pp. 3 as. By Savatu Pulavar. About the childhood of Muhammad, in imitation of Hindu works of a similar character.

Nakur Patiham. 16mo. 8 pp. 6 pie. By Makutum Mukammatu Pulavar. In praise of a Muhammadan Saint at Nagore.

Nuru Nama. 8vo. 24 pp. 2½ as. By Seyyitakumatu Maraikkayar. In praise of Muhammad.

Gnana Kummi. 8vo. 26 pp. 2 as. By Saiyitapupakkar Pulavar. In praise of Muhammad, Hassan, Hussein, &c.

Gnana Ratna Kuravansi. 18mo. 10 pp. 6 pie. By Takkarpur Mukammatu Sayapu. Dialogue between a man and a woman about creation, God, prayer, &c.

Osiyyatu, or Ponnariyamalai. 8vo. 96 pp. 1 R. By Minnanuruttin Pulavar. The flight of Muhammad, his victories, doctrines, &c.

Palulun Sukapi Malai. பலுலுந் சுகப்பின் மலை. 8vo. 48 pp. 6 as. By Kontalakan Pulavar. About Muhammad's successors, &c.

Sakkarattu Nama. சக்கராத்து நாயம். 18mo. 38 pp. 1½ as. By Aputulkatar Sayapu. Praise of Muhammad.

Sariattu Malai. சரியத்து மலை 8vo. 28 pp. 2 as. By Seykaptulkaturi Leppai Alim. In praise of Muhammad, his relatives, &c.

Sira Kirttanan. சிறை கிருட்டணம் 8vo. 520 pp. 2½ Rs. By Saiktapupakkar Pulavar. In three books. A history of Muhammad, interspersed with numerous miracles. Wolves and tigers speak; a bunch of dates is miraculously obtained; the moon is called down to the earth, &c.

Taymakal Ycsal. தய்யமகல் யெசல். 8vo. 28 pp. 2 as. By Utumanayinar Leppai Alim. A dialogue between a mother and daughter about Muhammad.

Taymakal Ycsal. தய்யமகல் யெசல். 18mo. 8 pp. 1 an. Anon. A dialogue between a mother and her daughter about a Muhammadan Saint.

Tiruppukal. திருப்புகல். 8vo. 78 pp. 5 as. By Kasim Pulavar. Praise of Muhammad.

Tinilai Tangkappadu. தினிலை தங்கப்பாடு. 8vo. 32 pp. 4 as. By Nayina Mukammatu Pulavar. Sufi in character.

Tolukaiyadava. தோல்கையாடவ. 16mo. 45 pp. 3 as. A translation from Arabic. Prose. Muhammadan Creed, prayers, &c. Portions of the work are in Arabic, with explanations in Tamil.

Unsarppadu. உன்றாப்பாடு. 16mo. 10 pp. 6 pie. By Mukammatu Pulavar.
III. HINDUISM.

Ethics.

Penputti Malai. பென்புத்தி மலை. 8vo. 22 pp. 2 as. By Mukammatusain Pulavar. Garland of advice to women. In couplets. The following are specimens of the advice:

“Deceive not your daughter-in-law, or you will be despised by others.”

“Be faithful to your husband, or you will be attacked with leprosy and other diseases.”

“Eat moderately, for this will give you much pleasure.”

“If you join good people, your conduct will be good.”

Tales, Battles, &c.

Alipattusha Kappiyam. அலிபல்மாதஷ கப்பியம். 8vo. 43 pp. 5 as. By Makammater Pulavar. History of a king and his sons.

Apushakama Malai. அப்புசகமா மலை. 8vo. 61 pp. 5 as. By Seytakkati Pulavar. About a king and his two sons.

Intirayan Padaippor. இந்திரயணை படைப்பொர். In two parts, each containing about 50 pp. 8vo. price, 5 as. By Aliyar Pulavar. Tale, including descriptions of battles, &c.

Ipuniyanttan Padaippor. வுனியாண்டை படைப்பொர். 8vo. 66 pp. 6 as. By Aliyar Pulavar. About a battle with a giant of Khorassan, 500 cubits in height, with a mouth 130 cubits in width!

Saritu Malai. சரிதுமலை. 8vo. 23 pp. 2 as. By Mukammatu Pulavar. Tale of a king.
Saiyitattu Padaippor. சையிட்டு படைப்பொர். 8vo. 62 pp. 6 as. By Kungumusu Pulavar. About a king of Arabia to whose assistance Muhammad sent an army.

Medicine.

Vaittiya Sutakam. வைத்திய சுத்தகம். 8vo. 28 pp. 2½ as. By Malukkumutali Pulavar. The work contains 101 stanzas. On the same plan as Hindu Medical works. It treats of the pulse, the causes and symptoms of diseases. The following is one stanza:

Symptoms of Death.

Pain in the throat; swelling of the face, hand, foot, and abdomen; great thirst, hiccup, sweat, and dimness of eyes.

CLASS B. JURISPRUDENCE.

The compiler has met with few works under this head, and the majority of them are very recent. The English treatise by Strange on Hindu Law, may be consulted for information.

Manuniti Sastiram. மனுன்றிச் சாந்திரம். 8vo. 12 pp. This is brief notice of Manu's Institutes, compiled from Ward. An abridgment in Tamil of the complete work is now in the press.

Tamil Law. 8vo. 266 pp. By Munisami Naick. 19th cent.

Mahomedan Civil Law. 8vo. 58 pp. Rs. 1½.

Civil Rules of Practice. 8vo. 262 pp. Rs. 3½.

Criminal Procedure Code. 8vo. 18 pp. 2 as.

Index to the Penal Code. 4to. Rs. 1½.

Magisterial Synopsis. 4to. 184 pp. Rs. 8½.

Penal Code. Rs. 2½.
Rulings of Sudder Court. 8vo. 620 pp. Rs. 3½.
Taluk Moonsiffs’ Regulations. சுட்டர் மூன்றிச் சுருக்கத்தில் சட்டக் கோட்டை. 8vo. 98 pp. By Kasivisvanatha Mutaliyar.
Village Moonsiffs’ Regulations. Rs. 1½.
Police Regulations, &c.
Circular Orders of the Board of Revenue. 8vo. 316 pp. Rs. 7.
Police Circulars. 12mo. 274 pp. 9 as.
Police Catechisms. On the duties of constables, &c.
Railway Company’s Regulations. 12mo. 124 pp. 12 as.

CLASS C. PHILOSOPHY.

SECTION I. LOGIC.

The compiler has met with only two printed works treating of this subject. There are several in manuscript, as Tarkka Paribashai by Siva Prakasa Tesikar, &c.

Tarkka Sangkirakam. தர்க்க சங்கிரகம். 16mo. 74 pp. 8 as. Translated from the Sanskrit by Sivagnana Suvamikal. 19th cent.

Niyaya Ilakkanam. நியாய இலக்கனம். 18mo. 145 pp. 8 as. By William Nevins, 19th cent. The author is a native of Jaffna. The preface says, “The original design of this work is to initiate the Hindu mind in the principles of both the Aristotelian method of syllogistic reasoning and the Baconian system of induction.”

SECTION II. METAPHYSICS.

The works on Philosophical Hinduism, treat partly of this subject.
SECTION III. MORAL PHILOSOPHY.

There are some ethical treatises, "familiar as household words" among the Tamils, which form their great code of morals. The list of them may be fittingly introduced by the following extract from the preface of Drow's Translation of the Kural:

"It is necessary that such works should be known that we may not expose ourselves to the deserved reproach of the educated Hindoo by rash and unfounded statements. How often has it been asserted that the Hindoos, being utterly destitute of gratitude, have no word by which to express it! Will it be believed that Tiruvalluvar has a whole Chapter in Gratitude, of which the following are two distichs?

"Forget not the benevolence of the blameless. Forsake not the friendship of those who have been your staff in adversity."

"The wise will remember throughout their sevenfold births, the love of those who have wiped away the falling tear from their eye."

It cannot be supposed necessary for the sake of Christianity to deny to such works whatever degree of merit they may possess. Christianity requires not the aid of falsehood, or of concealment. Nor need we wish to blacken the systems and books of the country beyond what truth will warrant; for even in the best there is much and pernicious error. The Cural itself, esteemed the best book of morals written by a Hindoo, is an illustration of this remark. It is divided into three parts, in which virtue, property, and sensual pleasure, are severally treated of. The third part "on Lust," could not be read with impunity by the purest mind, nor translated into any European language, without exposing the translator to infamy."

Araneri Saram. அரஞ்சை சடம். Select stanzas printed in Walker's Nitimoli Tiraddu. They are said to have come to the banks of the river, when the verses, from which the Naladiyar was collected, were thrown into the Vaikai at Madura.
Arappalisura Satakam. ஏற்பால்சிண்டோ. Small 4to. 26 pp. 1 an. By Ampalavavana Kavirayar. 19th cent. 100 stanzas, chiefly on moral subjects, addressed to Siva.

Anputti Malai. அன்பூத்திமலை. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anon.

Astana Malai. அஸ்தானமலை. 32mo. 10 pp. 3 pie. Anon.

Attisudi. அதிஸுடி. With Com. 18mo. 14 pp. 3 pie. By Auwaiyiar. This work is taught in every Tamil Native School. It has been termed "the Golden Alphabet," as it contains 108 aphorisms, each beginning with a different letter of the alphabet and its vowel combinations.

The following may be quoted as specimens: Be virtuous. Conceal not your means of doing good. Begging is disgraceful. Subdue anger. Shrink not from doing good. Having given alms, eat.*

Iniya Narppatu. இந்தியாநார்ப்பாது. 18mo. 30 pp. 1½ as. Attributed to Putam Sentanar, Madura College. Forty stanzas about good qualities. Specimen: —

"It is good to learn even by begging; it is better to make use of learning in an assembly so as to meet with approbation; but the words of women, with pearl-like teeth, are sweetest of all."

Inna Narppatu. இன்னாநார்ப்பாது. By the same author. Forty stanzas about bad qualities.

Irangkesa Venpa. இரங்ககேஸ்வேண்பா. 8vo. 22 pp. 3 as. By Santa Kavirayar. End of 18th cent. This work is also termed Niti Sudamani. Stanzas on morals, addressed to Vishnu, worshipped at Sri-rangam.

* The Land of the Veda, p. 104.

Kalviyolukkam. கல்வியோலுக்கம். 32mo. 12 pp. 3 pie. Anon.

Karvilakkanam. கர்விலாக்கனம். 16mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. Anon.

Kailasanatar Satakam. கைலாசனாதர சதகம். 8vo. 30 pp. 2 as. By Sitamparapillai. 19th cent. 101 stanzas on moral subjects addressed to Siva, lord of Kailasa.

Konraiventan. கோணறிவேண்டன். 18mo. 18 pp. 4 pie. By Auvaityar. This work is read in schools after Attisudi. The order of the alphabet is also followed; but the lines are longer. The following are specimens:

“Our father and mother are the first known divinities.
Moderation in eating is an ornament to females.
If you are censorious, you will gain no friends.
Learning is a more reliable possession than money.”

Kovinta Satakam. கோவிந்த சதகம். 8vo. 15 pp. 1 an. Anon. The work was written by a Vaishnava; but it has been altered by a Saiva.

Kumaresa Satakam. குமாரேஸவர சதகம். 18mo. 51 pp. 3 as. By Kurupatalasan. A centum of stanzas on moral subjects, each ending with the praise of Kumaresa, the form of Skanda, worshipped at Tiruppulvaiyal. The Tamil Plutarch gives the following specimen:—

“As gold though melted in the fire, will not lose its lustre; the sandal-wood though worn out, yet will not lose its fragrance; the chank though burnt, yet will not lose its whiteness; the milk though diminished in quantity by being boiled, yet will not lose its flavor; and the gem though ground, yet will not lose its brilliancy; so great men though impoverished, yet will not lose their magnanimity; O Kumaresa! the strong-shouldered king, who wedded the Kurava female and riding on the peacock, sports on the hill at Palvaiyel.”
KURAL. குரல். There are numerous editions. Text 12mo. 133 pp. 6 as. With commentary, 8vo. 373 pp. Rupees 1½. The author is known by the title of Tiruvalluvar, the divine soothsayer. The title signifies short or condensed. It is divided into three parts, treating of virtue, wealth, and pleasure. “It contains 133 chapters of ten distichs each, resembling the Sanscrit sutras, the first line containing four feet, and the second line three.” A specimen is given in the introduction. Ten commentaries have been written by native scholars upon the Kural, of which that by the Brahman Parimelalaga is considered the best. The Rev. H. Bower says the “work is superior to the Institutes of Menu and is worthy of the divine Plato himself.” Beschi translated it into Latin; and Dr. Graul, into German; T. W. Ellis, Esq. translated portions of it into English. The Rev. W. H. Drew translated 63 chapters, with occasional notes and an index verborum. The following is the first chapter as translated by Ellis:—

As ranked in every alphabet the first
The self-same vowel stands, so in all worlds,
Th’ eternal God is chief.

What is the fruit that human knowledge gives,
If at the feet of him, who is pure knowledge,
Due reverence be not paid?

They who adore his sacred feet, whose grace
Gladdens with sudden thrill the fervent heart,
High o’er the earth shall soar to endless joy.
To him, whom no affection moves nor hate,
Those constant in obedience, from all ill
In this world and the next, are free.

Those who delight with fervent mind to praise
The true and only Lord of heaven and earth,
No false ideas of right and wrong can cloud.

Those who pursue the path of his true law,
Who is of sensual organs void, in Heaven
Shall dwell in never-ending bliss.
The anxious mind, against corroding thought,
No refuge hath, save at the sacred feet
Of him to whom no likeness is.

Hard is the transit of this sea of vice,
Save by that Being's gracious aid, who is Himself a sea of virtue.

Of virtue void, as is the paled sense,
The head must be, that bows not at his feet,
Whose eight-fold attributes pervade the world.

Of those who swim the wide extended sea
Of mortal birth, none ever can escape,
But they who to the feet of God adhere.

Manavala Narayana Satakam. Small 4to. 26 pp. 1 an. By Narayana Paratiyar. End of 18th cent. This work is also called Tiruvanikata Satakam. "It contains a centum of stanzas on moral and social duties, composed under the patronage of Manavala Narayana of Amalur, whom the author celebrates at the end of every stanzas as the favorite of Tiruvanikata, the form of Vishnu worshipped at Tirupati." Tamil Plutarch.

Muturali. 18mo. 19 pp. 4 pie. 30 stanzas. Attributed to Auvaivar; but Dr. Caldwell considers it modern, from the stanza which he translates as follows:—

"As the turkey that had seen the forest peacock dance, fancied himself also to be a peacock, and spread his ugly wings and struttet, so is the poetry which is recited by a conceited dunce."

The turkey is an American bird. The following are two stanzas translated by the Rev. J. Robinson:—

"The valued favours the deserving gain,
Like sculptures in eternal rock remain;
Of virtue's tribute charity is sure;
But kind attentions to the worthless shown,
Who debts and duties evermore disown,
Like letters written in the wave endure.
In vain attractively the garden blooms,
When senseless grief the livelong day englooms:
In vain the spouseless maid her beauty wears.
So youth, when needy, proves a tedious stage;
And wealth his misery in feeble age,
A bitter mockery of fretful cares."

NALVALI. நல்வல. 18mo. 24 pp. 6 pie. 40 verses. Attributed to Auvaigar. Pantheism and fatalism are inculcated in several of the stanzas. The following is the first verse:

"Virtue is to be practised; vice is to be avoided. The happiness or misery of the human race in this life is the result of actions performed in former births. If this be well considered, it will appear that the followers of all religious systems have agreed only on this one point; therefore, avoid evil and do good."

NANNERI. நந்நேரி. 18mo. 25 pp. 6 pie. By Sivappirakasa Suvamikal. 17th cent. 40 stanzas addressed to a woman. The following are specimens:

"O thou who art adorned with garlands of soft flowers, about which the winged insects are buzzing, the learned will not be proud that they possess inexhaustible riches: even Mount Meru was at one time bent (as a bow)." (14.)

"The great observing their own condition and superiority, will yet not think highly of themselves, but will go and relieve the necessities of their dependents: does not the sea flow into a little creek?" (16).

NALADIYAR. நலாட்டையார். Text, 12mo. 80 pp. 3 as. With commentary, 8vo. 166 pp. 8 as. Best edition, 8vo. 248 pp. Rs. 2. This work, which ranks next to the Kural, is attributed to members of the Madura College. "It derives its name from the four-feet stanza in which it is written." The following are a few stanzas from the chapter on Self-Abnegation, as translated in Dinavartamani:

"1. As darkness flees on the entrance of a lamp, so does sin before the practice of religious austerities; and as darkness as readily recurs on the failure of the oil, so will sin where religious practices cease."
2. The great, knowing the body to be frail and subject to disease, old age and death, perform their religious duties. There are no fools so great as those who spend their time in endless disputes about Philology and Astrology.

3. The truly great knowing that domestic enjoyments, youth, bloom, beauty, fame, wealth and the strength of one's connections are unstable, will not delay the practice of religious duties in order that they may live.

4. Fools give themselves up to the enjoyments of a single day, regardless of the repeated miseries they have endured. The truly wise knowing that domestic enjoyments are transitory and the evils arising therefrom great, renounce the pursuits of secular life.

5. Youth is gone in vain, and now old age also will come, with sickness. Therefore be bold, my heart, and rise with me without hesitation. So run that we may draw near to the right way!"

Nitttu Neru Vilakkam. 8vo. 127 pp. By S. Vetanayakam Pillai. 19th cent. Stanzas "designed to expose vice, to inculcate the practice of virtue, and to point out the relative duties of life."
Niti Saram. நிதி சாரம். Small 4to. 30 pp. 2 as. By Tirugnana Sampanta Suvamikal. 19th cent.

Niti Sara Vakkiyam. நிதி சாரா கக்கியம். 8vo. 90 pp. Collected by Ramasami Pillai. 19th cent.

Niti Sintamani. நிதி சின்னமணி. 18mo. 28 pp.

Palamoli. பலமோலி. Select stanzas printed in Walker's Nitimoli Tiraddu. It is said to be an old work, sanctioned by the Madura College.

Palamoli Tiraddu. பலமோலியோலி திராது. Small 4to. 101 pp. 6 as. Anon. A collection of about 3,000 Tamil proverbs in alphabetical order. The following are specimens:

If taken to excess even nectar is poison.
When persons of low rank are exalted, the umbrella must be borne even at midnight.
Like an ant on a fire-stick, lighted at both ends.
Though a little bird soar high, will it become a kite?
There is neither head nor foot to mere talk.
A firefly glitters not in the sun.
The talk of the fellow ought to be written on water.

Parattaiyar Malai. பரட்டையர் மலை. 18mo. 32 pp. 6 pie. Anon. Against associating with harlots.

Palapota Sampashanai. பலபோதா சம்பாசணை. 18mo. 29 pp. 1 an. By Virappillai. 19th cent. Questions and answers, illustrated by quotations from the Kural, &c. Appended, there is a poem, called Karpu Malai, by the same author. 18mo. 11 pp. Advice on chastity.

Pope's Anthology. பொப்பின் அந்தோலிஜ். 8vo. 220 pp. Rupees 2. By Dr. G. U. Pope. Aphorisms from standard authors, with grammatical notes and a vocabulary. Text, 8 as.

A Paraphrase on a portion of the work was printed at Tranquèebar by Mr. Cantervischer, 8vo. 94 pp.
Potavasanam. பொதவாசனம். 16mo. 31 pp. 9 pie. By Makalingkayyar. 19th cent. Advice to children.

Siru Pansa Mulam. சிரு பந்தச முலம்.

Sivasiva Venpa. சிவசோவா வேந்பா. 8vo. 21 pp. By Sennamallaiyar. End of the 18th cent. Moral precepts illustrated by examples. The following specimen is from Ellis:—

"No search can discover a greater act of kindness than that of him who received as an ornament into his own breast the spear flung at Vidanen, O Siva! Siva! for heaven and earth cannot be compared to a benefit conferred without expectation of reward, where no previous benefit has been conferred."

Tandalaiyar Malai. தாங்களையர் மலை. By Padikkasu Pulavar. 18th cent.

Tandalaiyar Satakam. தாங்களையர் சதாகம். Small 4to. 16 pp. 1 an. 100 stanzas by the same author as the preceding. Ellis gives the following specimen:—

"The worthy householders, who dwell in the country blessed by the sacred Tandalaiyar (a title of Siva), consider the day in which they have no guest as no day: after having treated honorably and dismissed the respectable guest, who has visited them as a friend, they enquire anxiously for virtuous men to partake of their hospitality, for the food taken when no guest present, is poison."

Tarna Niti Venpa. தெர்ந்தை நிதி வேந்பா.

Trikadukam. திருக்கத்துக்தம். 16mo. 47 pp. 3 as. Attributed to Nallatatanar of the Madura College. "Each epigram contains a comparison of three things and their result; as,

"He who runs against the killing elephant; He who stands outside his neighbour's door in the night-time; He who causes the snake to dance; These three do so at their peril."*

* Quoted in Tamil Pintarch, p. 58.
This is a short poem, descriptive of the stages of human life, somewhat similar to the passage in Shakespeare. The following translation is given in the Tamil Plutarch:—

"The beginning of man is as a dew-drop falling from the tip of a blade of grass: he assumes his corporeal form in the womb of his mother in the course of ten months, and is then brought forth; he lies down, crawls, prattles, walks, and becomes acquainted with science. At sixteen he is in the bloom of youth; goes forth richly dressed, and adorned with jewels, courts the society of young women, is ravished by their eyes, lets himself loose to all irregularities, and squanders his wealth. He at length gets a wife and becomes the father of children. He refuses to part with even the husk of his rice and his wish is to enjoy them all. He thinks by living cheaply, by refusing to support charities, by not dispensing favors, he is of all men the most happy. His youth now passes away and old age creeps on; his hair turns grey, his teeth drop, his eyes grow dim, his organs of hearing are impaired, his body becomes dry, his back bends, and he is troubled with incessant cough, which disturbs his sleep. He is no longer able to walk, and has recourse to a cane, and is gazed at by the young with derision. While in this condition, the ministers of Yama (Pluto), with their shaggy hair and frightful countenance, approach him, and seize and bear away his life amidst the screams of his wife and children. His kinsfolk and friends then assembled, talk of his good or evil deeds, convey his body to the burning ground with the sound of tom-toms, and commit it to the flame which consumes and reduces it to a handful of ashes."

Ulaka Niti. உலகநிதி. 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anon.

Verriverkkai. வேறிரோக்கை. 18mo. 34 pp. 8 pie. Attributed to Ativirarama Pandiyam. About 12th cent. There is an English translation by the Rev. W. Taylor, Oriental Historical Manuscripts, vol. II.
The work is much read in schools. The following are specimens:

"Among the four castes, if the highest be without learning, he is the lowest of all.
A cat has neither austere devotion nor benevolence.
To beg is the proper occupation of those who have nothing.
To give to those who have nothing is the duty of those who have.
The idiot who gives up his weapons and his money, into the hand of another, is chaff."

Virinigesar Satakam. விரிங்சேசர் சதகம் 8vo. 36 pp. 2 as. By Supparaya Seddiyar. 19th cent. 100 stanzas on moral subjects addressed to Siva, worshipped at Vanipuri.

CLASS D. SCIENCE.

The Hindus enumerate 64 arts and sciences. A list of them is given in Winslow's Dictionary, p. 258. Physical science receives little attention. The principal branches enumerated are astronomy, chiefly for astrological purposes, medical science, alchemy and chemistry.

SECTION I. GENERAL VIEW.

On the Sub-Divisions of Knowledge. தன்மைப் பகுதிகள் 18mo. 40 pp. 3 as. Madras School Book Society's Depot. Translated from Dr. Ballantyne's work.

Siruvar Kalvi Tunai சிருவர் கல்வி துணை 12mo. 82 pp. Nagercoil. Catechism of general knowledge.

SECTION II. NATURAL SCIENCE.

This department is almost a total blank so far as the Tamils themselves are concerned. The very few works which have been printed were chiefly prepared by Europeans or under their influence.

Natural Philosophy.

Catechism of Natural Philosophy. சத்துறicios் சாதாசூர்ய. 12mo. 44 pp. 4 as. Palamcottah Press. By the Rev. E. Sargent.

Lecture on Natural Philosophy. புருஷோதயையுண்மைக் குறியீடுகள் சுருக்கவியல் தொகுப்பு. 18mo. 32 pp. Madras.

Astronomy.

Astronomy. சத்துற்பர் வழிகாட்டுதல். 16mo. 40 pp. O. V. E. S. 1 anna. Illustrative woodcuts.

Natural History.

The only work on Natural History in Tamil at present available, so far as known to the compiler, is a Reading Book published by Government. It is noticed under the head of Educational works.

SECTION III. MEDICAL SCIENCE.

This is a favorite study among the Tamils. Books on the subject have a large circulation.

The Hindus regard the Ayur Veda,* reckoned to be a portion of the fourth or Atharva Veda, as the oldest work on Medicine and the highest standard. It is said to have consisted originally of one hundred sections, each containing one thousand stanzas. Only fragments of the treatise are now procurable. The works of Charaka and Susruta, who are said to have lived about the time of Rama, are regarded as of great authority. Their real dates are not known.†

Agastya is fabled to have written upwards of fifty treatises on Medicine, Alchemy, and Magic in Tamil. They were composed at different periods, some of them after the arrival of Europeans in India. Dr. Green, Medical Missionary, Jaffna, has favored the compiler with the titles of 117 Tamil works on Medicine, some of them of considerable size, and the list might be extended. As manuscripts are not included in the Catalogue, the names of only those which have been printed are given below.

Medical Science at present among the Hindus is much in the same state as it was in Greece in the time of Hippocrates.

Dr. Webb in his Lecture on "The Historical Relations of Ancient Hindu with Greek Medicine," has the following remarks:—

"In the days of Hippocrates the elementary theory was the only one known in Greece. He as well as Plato taught that fire, air, earth, and water, were the elemental constituents of our bodies. His views, and those which

* A work bearing the title of நுழவிக்கை நுழவிக்காரர் குறிக்கார் exists in Tamil.
Pythagoras entertained of health and disease, precisely accord with Plato's and the Hindu Susruta's. When we remember also that Pythagoras introduced Brahminical institutions into Greece; that he as well as Plato believed in the transmigration of souls; that Hindoos never travelled, but Greeks did; we can have very little doubt, that India was the source whence the Greeks derived their systems of philosophy and of medicine. The analogy between the Hindoo and Greek systems of medicine is certainly much too close to be the result of accident." p. 9.

Wilson thus estimates the medical science of the Hindus:

"It might easily be supposed, that their patient attention, and natural shrewdness, would render the Hindus excellent observers; whilst the extent, and fertility of their native country would furnish them with many valuable drugs and medicaments. Their Diagnosis, accordingly, appears to define and distinguish symptoms with great accuracy, and their Materia Medica is sufficiently voluminous. They have also paid great attention to regimen and diet, and have a number of works on the food and general treatment, suited to the complaint, or favourable to the operations of the medicine administered. To these subjects are to be added the medical treatment of diseases—on which subject they have a variety of compositions, containing much absurdity, with much that is of value."*

Ignorance of anatomy, from prejudice against dissection, has been a great drawback. The anatomical knowledge of the Hindus, Dr. Webb remarks, "may be judged of by a single sentence:—viz., the navel is the origin of all the vessels, and is the principal seat of life."†

The body is said to contain three humors, air, bile, and phlegm, which are the pillars or supports of the system. If deranged they are the cause of disease and death. There are 80 diseases caused by derangements of the air; 40 of bile; 20 of phlegm; and 16 by the combination of the derangements of these humors.

† Hindu System of Medicine by Wise, pp. 43, 194, 214.
The Hindu system of therapeutics is much the same as that of Galen, thus described by Dr. Paris:—

"He conceives that the properties of all medicines are derived from what he calls their elementary or cardinal qualities, heat, cold, moisture and dryness. Each of these qualities is again subdivided into four degrees, and a plant or medicine, according to his notion, is cold or hot in the first, second, third, or fourth gradation; if the disease be hot, or cold in any of these four stages, a medicine possessed of a contrary quality, and in the same proportionate degree of elementary heat, or cold, must be prescribed."

Dr. Webb adds, after quoting the above:—

"This is a strange web of philosophical fiction! Yet a general belief in the hot and cold inherent qualities of medicines at this day pervades the whole of India. The most illiterate coolly, as well as the most learned Pundit, explains the action of medicines upon this Galenical principle only." p. 16.

The Tamil medical works are full of superstition. Numberless charms and incantations are prescribed. The ignorant empirics encourage their use, partly to conceal own want of skill—representing that the medicines administered were of the most appropriate character, but they were counteracted by spells.

The Madras Medical College is raising up native Medical Practitioners of superior grade. Men of a humbler class are very much wanted for the middle and lower orders of the people. It is gratifying that a commencement has been made in this direction by Medical Missionaries. Dr. Green has laboured successfully at Jaffna for several years. Dr. Lowe has made a hopeful beginning in South Travancore; Dr. Paterson is to commence an Institution at Madras in March, 1866.

Good medical works in the vernacular are a great desideratum. Dr. Green has already published two or three treatises, noticed below, and he has others in progress. Dr. Waring has also prepared a very good book on "Bazar Medicines and their Uses." English medicines are expensive, and often cannot be procured. It is important to know the best native substitutes. The vernacular edition, sold at 8 as., may be obtained at Nagercoil; the diglott, English and Tamil, from Higginbotham, Madras, price Rs. 3.

A Tamil "Domestic Medicine" suited to native tastes and knowledge, would be very useful.

Dr. Wise's Hindu System of Medicine gives an admirable account of the subject, based on authorities and practice in Bengal. It is very desirable that a similar work should be prepared for South India.

Akastiyar Vayittitya Kaviyam 1500. வையிட்டியா கவியம் 1500. 8vo. 248 pp. 1 R. 1,500 stanzas about the pulse, symptoms of diseases and death, powders, decoctions, ointments, &c.

Akastiyar Amutakalaikgnanam 1,200. அமுதகலைக்கிங்கனம் 1,200. Small 4to. 194 pp. 10 as. 1,200 stanzas about alchemy, magic, preparation of medicines, &c. It professes to show how people may walk on water, render themselves invisible or fireproof, &c. To walk on water, the skin of a white tiger, found on the Pothiya Mountain where Agastyar lives, is requisite.

Akastiyar Amutakalaikgnana Surukkom. அமுதகலைக்கிங்கனா சூருக்கம். 16mo. 38 pp. 2 as. 120 stanzas extracted from the preceding work.

Akastiyar Kanna Kandam. கண்ணக் காண்டம். 8vo. 54 pp. 4 as. 300 stanzas. Diseases are described; their causes from actions in a previous birth; the ceremonies which must be used to remove the effects; and the medicines to be employed. Thus the causes of leprosy are the following: Plucking unopened flowers, torturing animals, disobedience to parents, destroying images, mocking superiors, rooting up temple flowers, &c., cause spots in the body in this birth and leprosy will appear. Means to be employed: digging wells and tanks, planting trees and groves for the use of travellers; offering sacrifices to Siva; making an image of the person labouring under the disease and performing certain ceremonies, &c.; and, above all, feeding the Brahmans for 40 days, and lighting 1000 lamps.

_Akastiyar Kanma Suttiram_ 300. அக்ஸ்டியர் கண்ம சுத்திரம் என்று மை. 8vo. 52 pp. 5 as. Of the same character as the preceding work.

_Akastiyar Kanma Suttiram._ அக்ஸ்டியர் கண்ம சுத்திரம் என்று மை. 16mo. 64 pp. 2 as. To reduce the loadstone, silver, &c. to powder; to prepare other medicines, &c.

_Akastiyar Paripashai._ அக்ஸ்டியர் பரிபாண்டை. 8vo. 84 pp. 5 as. Explanation of medical terms, about medicines, &c.

_Akastiyar Paripuranam._ அக்ஸ்டியர் பரிபுராணம். 8vo. 80 pp. 4 as. On preparing and prescribing medicines.

_Akastiyar Purananul._ அக்ஸ்டியர் பூரணானுல். 200 stanzas on medical practice.

_Akastiyar Sanghusutti._ அக்ஸ்டியர் சங்குசுட்டி. 3 as. About reducing shells to powder, &c.

_Akastiyar Senturam._ அக்ஸ்டியர் செங்டூரம். 8vo. 40 pp. 2½ as. On reducing metals, pearls, &c. to medicinal powders.

_Akastiyar Vayittiyar Rattina Sunukkam._ அக்ஸ்டியர் வாயிட்டியார் ராட்டினா சுனுக்கம். 8vo. 92 pp. 5 as. This is the Tamil "Domestic Medicine," and is in very general use. The work contains 365 stanzas, written in an easy style. It treats first of the pulse. The three fingers are to be applied. The first finger indicates the air pulse. Air is supposed to circulate through vessels,—the arteries of the Greeks. The second finger shows the state of the second humor, the bile; the third, has reference to phlegm. In feeling the pulse of a man, the right hand is to be selected; in the case of a woman, the left. Among other subjects are the following: the preparation of pills, powders, ointments, reducing metals to powders &c., with the purposes for which they are to be used. The loadstone is one medicine. It is to be taken in the form of powder, mixed with honey. It is said to be useful in the case of piles, bilious attacks, and jaundice.

Anatomy, Physiology and Hygiene. 12mo. 204 pp. 6 as. C. V. E. S. Adapted by Dr. Green from a treatise by Dr. Cutter. Many engravings.

Atmacasa Vivarana. 16mo. 40 pp. 1 as. C. V. E. S. Abridged by Dr. Green from "The House I live in." A popular account of the human body, with illustrative woodcuts.

Chingleput Civil Dispensary. 16mo. 16 pp. 2 as.

Health and how to Preserve it. 12mo. 62 pp. Nagercoil, 1864. A lecture delivered by Dr. Lowe at Trevandrum.

Kunavakadam. 8vo. 58 pp. 3 as. Attributed to 3 Rishis. On the pulse, medicines, &c.

Midwifery, adapted to India. 12mo. 258 pp. 12 as. By Dr. Green.

Bazar Medicines. Tamil edition. 12mo. pp. 8 as. Diglott, 12mo. 218 pp. Rs. 3. By Dr. Waring. Bazar Medicines described, and the purposes for which they are to be employed.

Massamuni Vaippi 800. 8vo. 108 pp. 8 as. On the preparation of medicines.

Nadinul. About the pulse.

Nadisintamani. 8vo. Rs 2½.

Among rules for the preservation of health are the following:

"We will take an emetic once in six months; a purgative once in four months; an injection to cleanse the nostrils once a month and a half; get our head shaved twice in a fortnight; anoint ourselves and bathe every fourth day; apply collyrium to the eyes every third day; and never smell perfumes, or flowers in the middle of the night; and then what has Yama to do with us?"

Pativirata Makattuvam. பதிவிரா மகாதுவம்.
Piramamuni Karukkadai Suttiram. பிரமணுணி
கருக்கடை சுட்டிரம். 8vo. 76 pp. 6 as. On medicines.
Pulippani Munivar Vaittiyam 500. புரிப்பணி முனிவர்
வைத்தியம் 500. 8vo. 88 pp. 5 as. On Medicines.
Roma Rishi Suttiram. ரோமரிஷி சுட்டிரம். 16mo.
36 pp. 2 as. On Medicines.
Roma Rishi Vaittiyam. ரோமரிஷி வைத்தியம். 8vo.
124 pp. 12 as. On magic and Medicines.
Sadamuni Nikandu. சாடமுநி நிகாண்டு. 8vo. 176 pp.
12 as. Medical synonyms.
Sannisintamani. சண்ணிசித்தாண்மை.
Sittirarudam. சித்திராருடம். 16 mo. 69 pp. 1 an.
On Snake bites. Different kinds of snakes described, especially cobras; poison of snake, effects; mantras and medicines to be used, with meditation on the Brahmani Kite.

Sivakshamirtam. சிவக்ஷமிர்தம். 8vo. Rs. 7.
By Suppiramaniya Panditar. 19th cent. On Medicines.
Sura Sintamani Vaittiyam. சுரசித்தாண்மை வைத்தியம்.
16 mo. 14 pp. 4 as. The work is said to be translated from the Sanscrit. On fever.

Tantvantari Nikandu. தன்றவாண்டரி நிகாண்டு.
Tantvantari Vaittiyam. தன்றவாண்டரி வைத்தியம். 8vo.
52 pp. 4 as. 200 stanzas on Medicines.

Teraiyar Sasttiram. தேரையார் சசுட்டிரம்.
Teraiyar Vaittiyam 100. தேரையார் வைத்தியம் 100.
18mo. 84 pp. 1 ½ as. On Medicines.

Vantipeti Sangai Nivaranaam. வண்டிபெதி சங்கை நிவர்ணாம்.
16mo. 16 pp. 6 pi. On cholera.

* Tamil Plutarch, p. 106.
III. MEDICAL SCIENCE.

Vayittiya Kummi. வையித்திய கும்மி. 8vo. 64 pp. 3 as. Dictionary of minerals and plants used in medicine.

Vayittiya Malai Akarati. வையித்திய மலை உரசி. 8vo. 64 pp. 3 as. Dictionary of minerals and plants used in medicine.

Vayittiya Satakam. வையித்திய சத்கம். 8vo. 18 pp. 2 as. 100 stanzas on Medicine.

On Farriery.

Asuva Sastiram. ஆசுவ சாஸ்திரம். 16mo. 146 pp. 6 as. On horses, their breeds, ages, diseases, &c.

On the Diseases of Cattle.

Maddu Vakadam. மாட்டு வகடம். 16mo. 24. pp. Bound with the preceding treatise.

SECTION IV. MATHEMATICS.

This branch of science seems to have been little studied among the Tamils. The low condition of arithmetic may be understood from the fact, that the Tamil system has no cipher. Some account of it will be given under the head of educational works. The following are the treatises commonly used. The few works on Algebra and Geometry in Tamil being specially intended for schools, are noticed in a different place.

Ponnilakkam, Nellilakkam. போண்பிள்ளக்கம், நெல்ல்பிள்ளக்கம். 18mo. 22 pp. 6 pie. Integral and fractional numbers; numbers for measuring grain.

Ensuvadi. ஏன்ஸுவாதி. 18mo. 54 pp. 6 pie. Multiplication tables of integers and fractions; tables of weights and measures; years of the Hindu cycle, &c.

KANAKKATIKARAM. காணக்கடிகாரம். 8vo. 76 pp. 4 as. By Kariya Nayanar. It is thus described in the Tamil Plutarch: "It is a treatise in verse on Arithmetic, compiled from materials derived from the Ganitasasrastra, Bhuvanadipa, and other Sanskrit works on the same subject. After the usual invocation to Ganesa it first describes the system of weights and measures, and then the different operations of Arithmetic, and concludes with a series of Arithmetical problems with their solutions."

The following are a few gleanings from this treatise: A measure of paddy contains 14,400 grains, one of rice 38,000; one of rape seed, 115,200. A measure of mud weighs 17 palam; one of sand 20 palam; paddy, 6 palam; rice, 10 palam; salt, 16 palam. The distance of the sun is twice the length of the earth; the moon is double the distance of the sun. The age of man is 100 years; of oxen, 20 years; buffaloes, 30 years; horses, 32 years; sheep, 12 years; dogs, 15 years; camels, 73 years.

Alavai Perttobuti. அலவை பெர்த்தோபுதி. Small 4to. 34 pp. Arithmetical tables of various kinds.

CLASS E. ARTS.

SECTION I. MECHANICAL ARTS.

This division is almost a total blank. The following are the only works, all modern, which have come under the notice of the compiler.

Pulavunul. புலவுனு. 8vo. 8 as. On cookery. It professes to be translated from the Persians. About curries, sweetmeats, &c.

Gunpowder Manufacture. குன்பவத்துருப். 18mo. 14 pp.

SECTION II. FINE ARTS.

Music.

Out of the 64 sciences of the Hindus, five belong to music; viz., No. 22. The modulation of sounds. 23. Art of playing on stringed instruments. 24. Art of playing on wind instruments. 25. Art of beating the tambourine. 26. Art of beating the cymbals. After numerous inquiries, the compiler has been unable to ascertain the existence of a single treatise in Tamil on music. Only a few tunes have been printed by Europeans. It may be mentioned, that the musical notation extensively used by Curwen, resembles the Hindu system. The following notice of Hindu Music is from the Journal of the Madras Literary Society for July, 1864:

"The accessible sources of knowledge of Indian music are still only two—Sir Wm. Jones' Essay On the Musical Notes of the Hindus, published in the third volume of the Asiatic Researches, p. 55, and J. D. Patterson, On the Gramal, or musical scales of the Hindus, Ibid. IX, 445. The following neat statement of the chief points established in these essays is translated from the fourth volume of Lassen's Indische Alterthumskunde, ss. 832, 833: 'The native musical literature is tolerably copious, and the Indians are acquainted with four systems, whose founders, as usual with them, are mythical personages. The first system is ascribed to Devarshi Narada, who in the epic poetry appears as well-skilled in stories, and goes about between the gods and men, to recite tales to them. From him P'vara or Siva received this system. The author of the second system is Bharata, the mythic inventor of the dramatic art; the author of the third, is the divine ape Hanumat, and that of the fourth, Kapila, the founder of the Sankhya-philosophy. These assertions of course only mean that the Indians attached a high value to the practice of music; and this view is confirmed by the circumstance that in the epic mythology the Gandharvas appear as musicians in Indra's heaven. For the antiquity of song amongst the Indians, it is important to observe that the Udgatar i.e., the priest who sings the saman, belongs to the Vedic period. As to later times we may refer to the fact that in the Mricchakatika Rebhila is praised as a renowned singer.

"The Indians are acquainted with our scale of seven tones, and denote them by letters (sa, ri, ga, ma, pa, dhu, ri). They admit, moreover, six ragas or modes, and the musical treatises contain minute directions as to the employment of them in the six seasons into which the year is divided. The Indians have also mythologised these ideas, and regard the six ragas as god-like beings, whose consorts are called Raginees and are eight in number. These couples produce forty-eight sons called raga-pratis, by whom the various mixtures of the chief modes are denoted. This view furnishes a very striking example of the boundlessness of Indian imagination, as it is impossible really to distinguish so many modes from one another. In some MSS. are found portraits of these two and sixty male and female genii. A more accurate investigation of the musical writings of the Indians would be highly desirable, as they throw much light on the representation of the dramas.”

Tunes.

German Tunes, for the Hymn-Books of the E. Lutheran Mission. Sir. 8vo. 64 pp. 8 as. Tranquebar. A number of tunes, with a brief introduction.

Six South Indian Airs. Journal of Madras Literary Society for July, 1864.

Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture.

The compiler has not heard of any work in Tamil on the above subjects. Pictures of the Hindu gods, painted on glass, are very common, and are sold, with rude frames, at low rates. Illustrations, lithographed, on wood, and even on copper, are becoming more and more numerous, as well as improving in quality. One of the most recent native attempts is an illustrated edition of the lives of the 63 Saiva devotees. A great defect is the stereotyped character of the figures—they seem all cast from the same mould. The School of Arts, under Dr. Hunter, has already had a considerable influence in improving drawing and engraving in Madras.

CLASS F. LITERATURE.

Section I. Poetry.

Nearly the whole of Tamil literature, including works on medicine, arithmetic, grammar, and even dictionaries, is in poetry. Both the exception of the commentaries on poetical works, prose composition may almost be said to owe its origin to European influence. The works included under this section are those in which the poetry may be regarded as the leading feature.

The Introduction contains an account of the various kinds of metres. A few quotations from the best poems are interspersed in the catalogue. It must, however, be admitted that only a very imperfect idea of Tamil poetry can thus be given. In some respects natives alone can fully appreciate its excellence; while, on the other hand, they are blind to some of its defects. The estimates of two or three of the best European judges are subjoined.

The Rev. H. Bower thus epitomises the remarks of Beschi, adding some observations of his own:—

"Beschi, in an Appendix to his high Tamil grammar, has given us his thoughts on the art of Tamil poetry. The Tamil poets, he remarks, use the genuine language of poetry. They rarely mention any object to which they do not couple some ornamental epithet. When they speak of a tree, they describe it either as green, or loaded with flowers, or shady, or majestically large, or as having all these qualities. They never mention a mountain, without representing it as rising among woods, or watered by fountains, or decked with flowers. Sometimes they employ this embellishment to excess. They are full of metaphor and allegory. They are at times extravagantly hyperbolical. In the Tamil Naishadalam, it is said of Damayanti, the consort of the hero, that when Brahma had created her, her beautiful form had only one rival in the universe, and that was the fair moon. But Brahma, determined that every beauty should centre in Damayanti, took a handful of beauty from off the face of the moon, and threw it into that of Damayanti's. The deformity thus made, is still apparent, in the moon. The Tamil poets delight in similes as all eastern poets do. They indulge in fiction, and pay little regard to nature. Their Parnassus is Pudiyamalai, near Cape Comorin. They have neither Apollo nor Mercury. Their Minerva is Saraswati. They invoke Ganapati. Pathos and sweetness rather than vigour, are the characteristics of Indian poetry. They are not 'thoughts that breathe and words that burn,' so much as thoughts that please and words that charm. Milk and honey flow, but such milk and honey, as to prove an unwholesome diet to some minds."
Dr. Caldwell expresses the following opinion:

"Whilst an elevated thought, a natural expressive description, a pithy, sententious maxim, or a striking comparison, may sometimes be met with, unfortunately elegance of style, or an affected, obscure brevity, has always been preferred to strength and truthfulness, and poetic fire has been quenched in an ocean of conceits.

"Nothing can exceed the refined elegance and 'linked sweetness' of many Telugu and Tamil poems; but a lack of heart and purpose, and a substitution of sound for sense, more or less characterise them all; and hence whilst an anthology composed of well-selected extracts would please and surprise the English reader, every attempt to translate any Tamil or Telugu poem in extenso into English, has proved to be a failure.

"To these causes of inferiority must be added a slavery to custom and precedent at least equal to what we meet with in the later Sanskrit. Literature could never flourish where the following distich (contained in the 'Nan-nul,' or classical Tamil Grammar) was accepted as a settled principle:—

'On whatsoever subjects, in whatsoever expressions, with whatsoever arrangement, classical writers have written, so to write is denoted propriety of style.'"

The Chintamani, சிங்கங்மை, considered by competent judges to be superior even to Kamban's Ramayana, is not included in the following list, as only a few stanzas out of the 15,000 lines which it contains, have been printed. It was written by a Jaina about the 10th cent. A. D. Partly from its heretical origin, partly from its obscurity, it is not much known. The Rev. H. Bower says, "It is a moral epic of the highest merit. The commentator styles the author the master of all the learned. His name is not mentioned. He was a Jain, of whom Beschi remarks, that 'he may with justice be called the prince of Tamil poets.' Chintamani is an appellation of Sivagan, the hero of the poem."
The following specimens are from translations by Ellis:

"Spreading abroad like the leaves of the fruit-bearing coco, the flooding waters advanced: near the canals, firmly compact in ancient time with cement, all the country people, speaking by the far-resounding voice of the tabor, gathered together, as the sweet water roaring aloud burst the interior.

As the untamed elephant caught in the toils, so, the people having abated the fury of the waters, they run slowly and fill the fields and adjacent grounds abundantly, as the hearts of women with knotted hair are filled by chastity.

The murmuring of the pure and quickly flowing waters, the cries of those who carefully guard them, their tabors resounding in a hundred thousand places; all this fills the horizon with uproar, and may be said to resemble the belowing of the ocean conflicting with the clouds.

United in affection as a father-in-law with his son-in-law, appearing like Camen the god of love and his brother Samen, having filled themselves with flowers, corn and grass, yoked each with its own kind and well trained to labour,

Large droves of young males of the buffalo species, with branching horns, and of oxen, with contracted horns, bellow around; having yoked these for tillage, while the variegated varal-fish fled scared away, there descended into the well-watered fields, perfumed by various scents, a multitude of ploughmen."

"Even when you proceed to a village where none but your own connections reside, you are careful, as if you were at enmity with them, not to set your foot without the door, unless you are provided with provisions for the journey; when death bears you away and you are alone in a dreadful road, you will have made no provision for the journey, ye who are solicitous only for the well-being of the body.

As when the stalk of a water lily is broken the fibrous threads within it are yet unbroken, thus, though thy old body be destroyed, thy sins will follow thee and, surrounding thy indestructible soul, will plunge it into the lowest and most dreadful hell and burn it in flames of unquenchable fire with torment unutterable."
If men of virtuous minds are charitable to all beings, their former acts shall inseparably accompany the soul like the shadow of a bird flying in the air, without even one being forgotten, and shall liberally afford whatever they desire like the cow (Camadhenu), which yieldeth all that is required."

A few remarks may be made on the Popular Songs of the Tamils. Many of them are taken from the dramatic Ramayana and other poems in easy metre. Verses in honor of Hindu gods are also in frequent use. Love, however, is perhaps the most common theme. The following is a brief account of a song of this nature, popular among the Pariah population of Madras. It commences with invoking Ganesa and Saraswati to help the author, characterised as a poor boy, in his composition. Vishnu, Supramanyan, Siva, and Parvati, are likewise asked to render their assistance. A young woman is described as going to the bazar. Permission is sought to follow her; she expresses dislike. "It is not right for you to follow me; if you come, I will scold you; why do you follow me?" The reply is, "I follow you because I love you." "It is very rude in you to follow me; tell me why you wish to follow me."

"O you who wear a beautiful spotted cloth, will you not speak a kind word to me?" "I have no time to talk with you; why do you speak so vainly? do not speak mischievous words; you had better go away."

"I have no mind to go away; you are like a pea-hen; I will follow you and speak a word to you." "Speak that word standing at a distance; is it right to force me to listen to you?" "I have followed you through love; is it right to quarrel with me?" "You speak rudely; since when I go alone, you thus trouble me, &c.

In another song the writer says, "O woman! you are hot milk to me, and I am sugar to you; between milk and sugar, what is the dispute? You are powdered sandal-wood to me, and I am musk to you; is there any opposition between the two?"
Very often, however, the popular songs are very immoral. This, indeed, applies to a considerable number of Tamil poems, not of Jaina origin. The Rev. P. Percival, Professor of Vernacular Literature, Presidency College, Madras, remarks as follows of Indian Literature:

"Romantic stories are treated so as to command admiration, as far as richness of language and description are concerned, but not unfrequently containing a vein whose tendency is essentially and grossly immoral. Even the beautiful story of Nala and Damayanti, that in the hand of India’s illustrious dramatic bard is so inimitable, and free from objection as it exists in its original form, has been so interlarded with poetic license and licentiousness, that on expurgating one of its versions for the use of a select class, I was obliged to expunge upwards of five hundred out of eleven hundred stanzas. It is not meant that the Hindus are exclusive in this sort of taste; the dramatists and novelists of Europe, even of England, furnish evidence to the contrary. But the Hindu exceeds the Westerns in his utter transgression of all bounds of decency. No conception can be formed of some of the productions of the Hindus; they are grossly extravagant in the fertility of licentiousness. Gross obscenity, dark superstition, an extravagant and horrible marvellousness, with frequent references to idolatry, form the principal ingredients of that seasoning which renders the popular literature of the Hindus palatable to the taste of the public."

The above censure applies to a large extent to Tamil literature. If it does not seem to be borne out by the quotations given in this work, it must be remembered that exceptionable extracts were inadmissible.

The compiler’s inquiries about Nursery Rhymes have not elicited much. There are Tamil poems called Taladdu, தலாட்டு, describing the infancy of the gods. They are sung to the gods, when, at annual festivals, they are swung in cradles; mothers also repeat them to their children. The following is the commencement of a short poem of this description:

* Land of the Veda, p. 122.
"Cradle Song in honor of Rama.
To lull Rama in his childhood.

Was he not Vishnu who became incarnate in the city of Ayodhya to save the gods?

Was he not born with three other brothers to destroy the army of Ravana, and the city of Lanka, and to rule over the three worlds?

Was he Yama (Pluto) to his enemies? Was he the wide-spreading Kalpa tree, yielding whatever is desired? Was he like a milk-pot to his affectionate mother?"

The Journal of the Madras Literary Society* quotes the following cradle song translated from the Tamil:

"Swing, Baby, swing!
Swan-dove, swing!
House-pigeon, swing!
Peacock, cuckoo, swing!
Cassia-flower, swing!
Standing-lamp, swing!
Temple-dove, swing!
Swan, parrot, swing!"

Other epithets are: O my sugar-candy, O my ambrosia, O my pearl, O my eye-gem, O my Kalpa tree! &c.

There are also what may be termed nonsense verses, repeated chiefly because they jingle. The following is a specimen, though poor in character.

Mattu mele mattu, matulangkai pinsu
Kollupoddal kansi, kudivadi tansi
Tansi viddu pillai, kansikkalukutu
Kakkai silamputu, karai yera parkkutu
Tandukkara muttammalai, kondupoka parkkutu.

Alliyarasani Malai. 8vo. 148 pp. 4 as. Like a number of other works in this list, it bears on the title-page the name of Pukalenti, a contemporary of Kamban; but it is spurious. A tale about Arjuna's falling in love with, and marrying Alli, a princess of Madura. This and several works erro-

* For July 1884, p. 107. ncously professed to be based on the Mahabharata, transferring the Pandus to South India.

Alukira Oppari. அலுகிரா ஓப்பாரி.

Arisantira Puranam. அரிஸாந்திரா புரணம். The text, 16mo. 253 pp. 3 as. By Virakkaviraraj. 16th cent. In 1212 stanzas, arranged in 12 cantos, the history of King Harischandra is related. The tale is, that he sacrificed every thing rather than tell a lie. It has been translated into English by a native of Ceylon. The Tamil Platarch gives the following extract, containing the lamentations of Queen Chandramati on finding her son lying dead in a wood from the bite of a serpent:

"I do not know what heinous sin I have committed that thou shouldst meet with thy death from the cruel serpent with protuberant eyes and which suffers neither from being drenched with dew, nor scorched with the sun, nor from want of food. Oh! my son, who, when affected by the venom didst lay thyself all alone and writhe in agony on the ground! To whom shall my lord and myself look for help hereafter?

Wert thou fated to die in a wood, where instead of the sound of musical instruments, only the sound of the flappings of the wings of eagles is heard? Oh! my son, why was this fate ordained for thee, the son of the king, who wields the bright javelin, and who made over his fertile kingdom to the suppliant Brahman.

Oh! my son, whose face resembles the lotus-flower! When thy father, who sways the sceptre with justice and equals the fierce elephant in strength, shall return to redeem us and ask me 'where is my darling son?' what shall I say to him?"

Arisanmari Tapasu. அரிஸாந்திரா தபசு. About the penance of Arjuna. An episode from the Mahabharata.

Dampasariyar Malai. உத்மாபாரியர் மலை. By Kadiravail Kavirayar. 19th cent. Against people who receive a monthly salary of 10 Rupees and spend 100 Rupees. Appended is a little work, Diskavundu Malai,  மலை பெருந்தூண், against the exactions of money-lenders.

Eniyerram. எனியேரம். 16mo. 55 pp. 2 as. Attributed to Pukalenti Pulavar. Tale about a ladder constructed to expose Duryodhana.

Erelupatu. எருளுபத. Kampan. 11th cent. 70 stanzas in praise of the plough and the Vellala caste.

Kalimadal. கலிமால். Erotic.

Kalingkattu Parani. கலிங்காட்டு பராணி. 16mo. 136 pp. By Oddakkuttar. About 11th cent. This work celebrates the conquest of the Kalinga, or Telugu, country, by Kulotunka Chola.

Kaliyana Yesal. காரியணா யேசல். 18mo. 12 pp. 4 pie. By Virasami Seddiyar. 19th cent. A marriage dialogue. The work commences as follows:

"Sister of the Bride: All the happiness the bridegroom is now to enjoy arises from my sister: ten days ago even a Pariah dog would not drink water in his house.

Brother of the Bridegroom: The happiness which the bride is now to enjoy is all from my brother. If I should tell the condition in which she was in her childhood, all would burst out laughing.

Sister: The bridegroom has now an embroidered dress; a turban on his head; a long jacket; a handkerchief to hold in his hands.

Brother: The bride has the happiness of bathing three times a day; of besmearing her face with saffron, and putting a scented mark on her forehead; and of perfuming herself with sandal-wood, &c.

Kaliyana Usal காரியணா உசல். 18 mo. 14 pp. 4 pie. Anon. A marriage song when the bridegroom and the bride are swung on a kind of couch.

"O thou who art like the beautiful cuckoo and peacock, swing so that the necklace of flowers, diamonds, emeralds, and pearls, may move, and the whole pandal may sway at the same time."
O thou that are the most beautiful of men, swing so that the brilliant loth and pendent gems may move, and the insects may buzz about the garlands."

_Kaliyana Valttu._ காண்யணா வல்து. 18mo. 28 pp. 6 pie. Anon. Congratulations addressed to the bridegroom and bride by married women.

"O ye who wear the marriage badge, salute ye, with joy!
Salute ye the bridegroom, salute ye the chaste virgin!
Hail ye the Vedas and the Brahmans!
May the parents of the bridegroom and bride rejoice!
May the relatives and friends be glad!"

_Kannan Sundai._ கஞ்சன் சுண்டை. Small 4to. 86 pp. 3 as. Attributed to Pukalenti Pulavar. The battle between Karna and Arjuna. A story from the Mahabharata in Ammanai metre.

_Kapota Vakkiyam._ கபோதா வக்கியம். Tale of a pigeon, founded on an episode of the Ramayana.

_Kappal Paddu._ கப்பால் பாடு. Songs for boatmen.

_Kosuppam, &c._ கோசுப்பாம் &c., 18mo. 6 pp. 3 pie. Anon. Five common songs about musquitoes, on pounding paddy, in praise of snuff and against snuff, and on the goddess Caveryamman. The commencement is as follows:

"O thou obstinate musquito, do not torment me by thy attacks. O thou musquito, the son of a fool, thou comest buzzing close to my ears. I will burn thee with a firebrand; escape for thy life!"

_Kodisura Kovai._ கோடிசூரா கோவை. 8vo. 64 pp. By Sivakkoluntu Tesikar. 19th cent. Erotic.

_Kudikedar Malai._ குடிகெக்கார் மலை. By Kadirvail Kavirayar. 19th cent. Against bad people, who are ruining their families.

_Kumaratevar Sattira Kovai._ குமாராத்தை சாதிர கோவை. 16mo. 169 pp. 5 as. By Kumaratevar. 17th cent. Tale of the marriage of a King, &c.

_Kulappa Nayakan Katal._ குலப்பா நாயகன் கடால். 16mo. 42 pp. 3 as. By Suppira TIPA Kavirayar. A tale of Kulappa Nayakan of Madura.
Kusela Makamunivar Sarittira Kirtanai. गेत्र ४७ वर्ष संस्कृत संस्कृती ग्रंथ. 8vo. 48 pp. 4 as. By Lakkumipati Tasar. Tale of a Rishi, founded on the Bhagavat.

MAKAPARATAM. मकापरतम्. Selection, 8vo. 280 pp. 12 as. By Villiputtur Alvan. About 16th cent. The portion by Villiputtur includes only ten of the eighteen books, into which the poem is divided, and there are only 3373 stanzas. Last century another poet, Nallapillai, enlarged it by adding 14,728 stanzas. Only about 700 of the latter have been printed. The following specimen is from Ellis:—

"Male and female elephants with their calves, furious lions and tigers everywhere appeared; and foxes, deer, and hares, wild horses and oxen wandered all about.

Here when the cruel lion heard the bellowing of the young elephants, he remained terrified in his cave and durst not leave it; and when the loud bleating of the sheep reached the ear of the furious tigers, they lay all night trembling and sleepless from fear.

Here clouds and serpents are ever wandering or reclining on the side of the mountain; here all the stones scattered around are marked by the sandals of red cotton on the feet of the females of the wild tribes of the forest, whose eyes dart venomous glances.

Though neither desire, anger, joy, grief, or wealth are ever seen here, all around in this resort of the great sages, are beheld daily oblations and sacrifices and the smoke of burnt offerings.

The mountain Candamadanam, where dwell the sages, the cause of all things, resounded with the cries of elephants, the constant murmuring of water, sparkling with collected gold, and the sound of the scriptures which point out the path of truth." P. 57.

Malkam Lewin Turai. मलकम रेविन टरै. 18mo. 8 pp. Anon. In praise of Mr. Malcolm Lewin, Madras Civil Service, who lost his appointment from the part he took about the time the Lex Loci Act was passed. The chorus is, "He is the righteous man; he is the kind-hearted gentleman." "The man who removes those who labour to make converts and destroy caste; therefore, he is the righteous man, &c.

Manmatan Oppari. மண்மதன் ஓப்பரி. Lamentation for Manmata, the Hindu Cupid, destroyed by fire from the frontal eye of Siva.

Minnoli Malai. மின்னோலி மலை. About the marriage of Arjuna with Minoliyikal.

Minnoliyikal Kuram. மின்னோலிய்கல் குராம். 8vo. 80 pp. 3 as. Reconciliation between Arjuna, disguised as a gipsy, and Minnoliyikal.

Muttuvirayi Paddu. முத்துப்பொர்க்கி பாட்டு. 18mo. 12 pp. 4 pie. Common songs.

Nala Venpa. நலாவேண்பா. 16mo. 82 pp. 3 as. By Pukalenti Pulavar. About 11th cent. Story of Nala and Damayanti.

Nalan Kummi. நலன் கும்மி. Same subject as the preceding in different metre.

Nantan Kirttanai. நந்தன் கிரட்டாநை. 8vo. 138 pp. 5 as. By Kopalakishtha. 19th cent. Tale of a King.

Naidatam. எனியதம். Text, Small 4to. 142 pp. 4 as. With commentary, 8vo. 577 pp. 1 Rupee. Abridged Text, Small 4to. 108 pp. Government Book Depot. 4 as. Attributed to Ativirarama Pandiyam, 12th cent. An imitation of the Sanskrit Nala and Damayanti. It contains 1171 stanzas, arranged in 29 cantos. It is so highly valued by the Tamils that it is called “The nectar of poets.” In a moral point of view, many parts of the poem are highly objectionable. It is to this work that the Rev. P. Percival refers. See page 185. The following specimen is translated by Ellis:—
Damayanti appears before the Assembly.

"By the command of the King of Vitarpas (Bima Rajen), who resembleth a young elephant and whose broad shoulders, which seem two hills of saffron, are adorned by jewels shining with the lustre of the new-moon, the gods of the celestial regions, the Urager resplendent with sparkling gems, the Vinjeiyer, who dwell on the silver mountain, and the Kings of the earth surrounded by the seven seas, assembled together, like a swarm of bees, which soar buzzing through the sky and longing for honey.

"As she approached, it seemed as if her bosom, bright with gold and jewels, were a furious elephant, which in that forest of unrestrained passion (i.e., the assembly) stopped not except to drink the lives of those around her, and that the rings on her feet, adorned by gold and covered by sandals of red cotton, cried aloud—"Retire, O quickly retire from his fury, ye Kings, protectors of the earth."......

Though the eyes of all the Princes were fixed with ardent passion upon her, the form of the fawn-eyed maiden was hidden from their view, by the brightness of the jewels that blazed around her, by the flowers rained down upon her by the celestial beings, who filled the sky, and by the contending bees which hummed and swarmed among them......

While the impassioned Princes were thus exclaiming, while the chains of pure gold clanged up her breast, and the rings encased with jewels glittered on her ankles, bright-in beauty as a fresh blown bud, joining reverentially the flowers of her roseate hands, her large eyes sparkling like brilliant javelins, the damself stood with humble mien before her father." P. 165.

Nassupoykal. பாஸ்போய்கள். 8vo. 91 pp. 4 as. Story from the Mahabharata of the poisoning a tank to destroy the Pandus.

Oppari Kannikal. ஓப்பாரி கண்ணிகல். 18mo. 56 pp. 1½ as.

Oruturai Kovai. ஓறுறைக்கவை. 8vo. 45 pp. 3 as. By Amrita Kavirayar. 17th cent. The Tamil Plutarch describes it as follows: "An erotic poem in honor of the poet’s royal benefactor, which is admired as a matchless production of the kind on account of its splendid diction, harmonious versification, and copious poetical imagery; but as the words used throughout the work have two or more meanings, it puzzles the interpreters."

Oradi Kirttana. ஓரதி கொர்த்தனா. 8vo. 8 pp.

Panavidu Tutu. பாணாவிது துது. Small 4to. 98 pp. 3 as. Anon. About the different kinds of money, of which gold is represented as the king; uses and power of money; money sent as a messenger.

Pansatantira Katai Podal. பண்டாண்டந்தோறி கடை பொடால்
. Founded on the collection of tales called Pancha Tantra.

Parasamaya Kolariyar Pillaitamil. பராசமையா கொலாகறையார் பிளைடமில். 8vo. 38 pp. 3 as. By Angkappa Naivalar. 19th cent. In praise of a rich merchant.

Pala Ramayanam. பலா ராமகதைம். 16mo. 16 pp.
6 pie. By Ayiasuvami Pillai. 19th cent. Story of Rama's childhood.

Parata Kaddiyam. பாரடா கட்டியம். 18mo. 12 pp.
6 pie. By M. Sapapati Mudaliyar. The Herald's challenge from the Mahabharata.

Palakavi Tiraddu. பலகக்கவிதைது. By Sirinavvasa Aiyangkar. 19th cent. The author styles himself
"The Young Poet." Common songs.

Pandava Vanavasam. பாண்டவ வனவகதை. Story from the Mahabharata about the Pandus living in the wilderness.

Pavalakkodi Malai. பவாலக்கோடி மலை. 8vo. 104 pp. 3 as. Attributed to Pukalenti Pulavar. Story from the Mahabharata about Pavalakkodi, one of the wives of Arjuna.

Ponneri Valinadaippatam. பொனேரி வளிநடாப்பதம்
பதம். 19th cent. The way to Ponneri, a temple about 25 miles north-west of Madras, is described to a woman.

Pukaivandi Patam. புகைவண்டிய பதம். About the smoke-carriage, or railway engine.
Pukalssi Malai. புகால்ஸி மலை. Attributed to Tattavarayar. About 17th cent.

Pulantiran Kalavu Malai. புலண்டிரன் கலவு மலை. 8vo. 112 pp. 5 as. Attributed to Pukalenti Pulavar. Tale of Pulantiran, one of the sons of Arjuna.

Pulantiran Tutu. புலண்டிரதூ. Portions of the RAMAYANA.

AYOTTIYA KANDAM. ஆயூதியா காந்தம். Text. 8vo. 154 pp. 12 as. Rama leaves Ayodhya.

ARANTIYA KANDAM. அராணியா காந்தம். 8vo. 153 pp. 12 as. Rama in the wilderness.

KISHKINTA KANDAM. கிஷ்கிதா காந்தம். Text. 8vo. 136 pp. 12 as. Rama gains the assistance of Hanuman, &c.

YUTTA KANDAM. யுத்தா காந்தம். Text. 8vo. 508 pp. Rs. 2½. Battle with Ravana. The Tamil version of the Ramayana is by Kampan, who is supposed to have lived about the 11th century. The Rev. H. Bower remarks on it as follows: “Kamban does not strictly translate, but gives his own version of the story, not differing materially from the original. We have read both, and at times we were at a loss to know to which of the poets the palm of victory was to be assigned. Kamban’s Tamil Ramayana may be compared to Pope’s Iliad. Valmiki is diffuse and simple; Kamban abbreviates but elaborates. There is a profusion of ornament at times; here and there abounding in beautiful touches of expression.”

Valmiki’s Ramayana contains 24,000 verses; Kampan’s 12,016 stanzas, each of four lines.

* Calcutta Review.
The following extract is from Ellis:

Ravana attempts to overturn Kailasa.

“When he who is not subject to mortal birth, which revolves like the wheel of a chariot (the divine bull of Siven), cursed him the pitiless giant, regarding it only as the vain word of an angry devotee, he resolved to break in pieces the mountain Cayileigiri, which prevented his chariot from ascending its top, where evil never comes; he suddenly lifted it up, therefore, intending to reduce it to powder, and terrified all those then engaged in devotion on its summit.

The god, who bears the new moon as the crown of his twisted hair, perceiving that the devotees were reeling in confusion, and that Parvati, that tender vine, trembled with alarm, pressed down the mountain with sudden and irresistible force, by the point of the great toe of his sacred foot, shining like gold; the body of the sovereign of giants staggered under his load and, he whose mind was blacker than his outward form, cried aloud with fear.

While in this predicament, Narader came to him and according to his advice.

While he was thus singing (the Rig Vedam,) Aren delighted embraced him, bestowed upon him the dominion of the three worlds for thirty five millions of years, and gave him the enchanted weapons by which every kind of foe may be overcome; the giant having received these favors was permitted to depart.”

Ramayana Elapaddu. ராமாயண இலப்பத்து. 8vo. 22 pp. 1 an. By Srinivasa Aiyangkar. 19th cent. Songs on each portion of the Ramayana.

Ramayana Kommaippaddu. ராமாயண கொம்மைப்பத்து. 18mo. 12 pp. 3 pie. Anon. Songs about the Ramayana.

Rukmani Kaliyanam. ருக்மணி களியானம். 18mo. 6 pie. About the marriage of Rukmani.

Saras Sallappa Malai. சராச சல்லப்ப மலை. Erotic.

Sarappirupantam. சரப்பிருப்பாந். 18mo. 9 pp. By Murukalingka Aiyan. Siva writes a letter to a rich merchant to give the poet some money.
Silai Elupatu. ஸிலை. Attributed to Kampai. In praise of the bow and on the Palli or Vannia caste.

Siddu Kavi Tiraddu. சித்து கவித்திராத்து. 18mo. 24 pp. 6 pie. Letters of poets in praise of their patrons.

Supattirai Malai. சுப்பாத்திரை மலை. Malai. 8vo. 78 pp. 2¼ as. Attributed to Pukalenti Pulavar. About the wife of Arjuna.

Tanippadal Tiraddu. தனிப்பாதல் திராத்து. 8vo. 176 pp. Rs. 1¼. Poems by various authors, both ancient and modern.

Tansaivanan Kovai. தஞ்சைவனன் கவை. 8vo. 64 pp. 3 as. Attributed to Poyyamoli Pulavar. An erotic poem of 425 stanzas, written in illustration of the rules of the treatise called Akapporul.

Tesinghu Rajan Katai. தெசிங்கவர் ராஜா கடை. 8vo. 84 pp. 3 as. Anon., Tale about a Raja of Gingi and a horse.

Tikkuvisayam. திக்குவி. By Kadikaimuttu Pulavar. 18th cent. About the bravery of the Rajah of Sivagiri.

Tirunukkudal Pallu. திருநுற்றுகுடல் பாலு. 8vo. 32 pp. 2 as. Anon., Tale of a Pallan family.

Tiruvudaimarutur Antati. திருவுடைமாருதுர் அண்டாதி. 8vo. 16 pp. 1 an. By Kadikaimuttu Pulavar.

Tondamandala Sutakam. தொண்டாமாண்டால் சுத்தகம். 8vo. 34 pp. 2¼ as. By Padikkasu Pulavar. 18th cent. A hundred stanzas in praise of the Tonda country.

Vanna Tiraddu. வண்ண திராத்து. Collection of poetry in Vannam metre. Erotic. The half of each stanza is about women; the other about a god, &c.

Varunakulatittan Madal. வருணகுலகுடித்தன் மதல். 8vo. 36 pp. 4 as. By Varunakulatittan. Erotic.

Veniyar Malai. வெந்தியர் மலை. Against drunkards.

Viralividu Tutu. விராலிவிதூ துடு. By Ashdavatani. It professes to warn youth against courtesans. The Tamil Plutarch notices it as follows: "The poem consists of 1,144 couplets, and is not undeserving of the high reputation which it has obtained for the beauty of its versification; but the author has completely demolished its moral tendency by the licentious description of the personal charms of the courte- san, and her enticing deportment.”

Vittuvan Kuram. விள்ளவன் குறம். 18mo. 53 pp. 1 an. Attributed to Pukalenti Pulavar. Tale about Arjuna and his wife.

Section II. Drama.

Works of this class have a large circulation. The following remarks are from the introduction to the Rev. W. Taylor's Catalogue:

"The best of the ancient dramas are translated into Tamil and other languages. Portions of these are sometimes acted at weddings; when a nautch is given a drama is occasionally performed. Generally, however, in the south of India, the drama is below contempt, as to its attendants. The original equipment of Thespis, and his company, was quite as good as any thing in, and near Madras. One reason may be the extraordinary fondness of natives for the splendid processions, and night festivals of temples, and their ceremonies. The native mind is not intellectual: it requires the excitement of prostitutes, songs, and dances at festivals; and some gaudy display to stare at, and wonder."

Allipadsa Nadakam. அல்லிபட்சா நடகம். 8vo. 162 pp 6 as. Drama about a Muhammadan king.

Alliyarasani Nadakam. அல்லியாராசனி நடகம். About a queen of Madura.

Angkampumpavaiyar Vilasam. அங்கட்பும்பபாவையார் விளாசம். By Arumukam Mutaliyar. 19th cent. About Sampantar Murtti changing the bone of a girl at a funeral pile into a young woman, handsome as Ladsni.

Arakkumalikai. அரஞ்சுமலிகை. 8vo. 174 pp. 10 as. About the palace of wax to destroy the Pandus. An episode from the Mahabharata.

* Catalogue, Vol. I. p. IX.

Dampasariyar Vilasam. சும்பசூரையா விளக்கம். By Kasivisvanata Mutaliyar. 19th cent. To ridicule proud people.

Ekanti Nadakam. ஏகாண்டி நடகம்.

Kopala Vilasam. கோபல விளக்கம்.

Kusalava Nadakam. குசலவா நடகம். About the sons of Rama.

Makaparata Vilasam. மாகாபாரதாவிளக்கம். Svo. 92 pp. 2½ as. By Ramassantira Kavirayar. 19th cent. Story of the Mahabharata. There are other dramas on the same subject.

Manmata Vilasam. மாண்மலை விளக்கம். Svo. 85 pp. 4 as. By Sangkara Kirushna Mutaliyar. About Manmata, the Indian Cupid.

Markkanda Vilasam. மார்க்காண்ட விளக்கம். About a Brahman boy rescued from Yama (Pluto) by Siva.

Matiyullan Nadakam. மதியுல்லன நடகம். About a king who had his minister crowned, and retired himself to the wilderness to do penance.

Nondinadakam. நொங்கிய நடகம். 18mo. 68 pp. 12 as. By Matura Kavirayar. About a robber whose hands and feet were cut off, but who had them restored by worshipping at a temple.

Patmasura Vilasam. பத்மசரா விளக்கம். Svo. 88 pp. 4 as. About a giant who caused his own death by a charm which he had obtained.
Pirakalatan Vilasam. பிரகாலதன் விளசம். 8vo. 238 pp. 1 Re. By Arungkanata Kavirayar.

RAMA NADAKAM. ரமா நடகம். 8vo. 378 pp. 12 as. By Arunasala Kavirayar. 18th cent. The Ramayana in dramatic form. The following is an extract:

"In the midst of lamentation, Rama leaves Oude, mounts his chariot, and arrives at the skirt of the forest. He then desires the charioteer to drive the chariot back to the city, and orders his followers to return with it. Then Sumantriram laments thus:

Shall I drive back the chariot without Rama, who gives pleasure to the whole world? When the king beholds the chariot he will think that his son is riding in it; when he sees that he is not there, what shall I say to him?

When it is reported to Tasaratan by the people who see the empty chariot, will he not shriek through excessive grief? Shall I have the courage to tell him that his sons have been left alone in a forest in a strange country?"

Sakuntalai Vilasam. ஸகுந்தலை விளசம். 8vo. 98 pp. 3 as. By Ramassantira Kavirayar. 19th cent. Story of Sakuntala.

SAMUTTIRA VILASAM. சமுத்திர விளசம். 8vo. 101 pp. 3 as. By Kadikaimutto Pulavar. 18th cent. The Raja of Ettiapuram compared to an ocean.

Siruttanda Nayanar Vilasam. சிருட்டண்டா நையனார் விளசம். 8vo. 86 pp. 2½ as. By Parasirama Kavirayar. 19th cent. About a Saiva devotee who cooked his own son to provide a meal for Siva.

Sittirangkatai Vilasam. சித்திரங்கதாய் விளசம். 8vo. 138 pp. 3½ as. By Parasirama Kavirayar. About one of the wives of Arjuna.

Tarukavana Vilasam. தருகவனா விளசம். 8vo. 130 pp. 4 as. By Ramassantira Kavirayar. 19th cent.

Tasiltar Vilasam. தாளிதர் விளசம். By Kasivisvanata Mutaliyar. 19th cent. About the tricks of Tasildars, receiving bribes, extorting money, &c.
SECTION III. PROSE FICTION; TALES, &c.

Work of this class are pretty numerous, and their circulation is extensive. Wilson thus shows the importance of their study:—

"The elucidation, which such an inquiry promises to afford of the past manners of the Hindus, before they were metamorphosed, and degraded by the influence of foreign subjugation, constitutes an advantage of more than imaginary value. We see what they were more distinctly than through the medium of any general description; and can trust to their own pictures of themselves more confidently than to any crude and imperfect exhibitions, delineated from present experience or circumscribed research. In this point of view, therefore, Hindu fable becomes a valuable accession to real knowledge, and serviceably supplies that want of sober history, which all Oriental inquirers have such perpetual occasion to lament.

"It is not only with respect to themselves, however, that the fictions of the Hindus are calculated to add to our stock of knowledge: the influence, which they have exercised on the state of manners in Europe will only be duly appreciated, when we shall be better acquainted with the extent of the obligations we owe them. By whatever channel they may have been conveyed to the west, the Oriental origin of most of the tales, which first roused the inventive faculties of our ancestors, is universally admitted; but the advocates of the Gothic or Arabic origin of romance agree in referring its birth-place to the East."*

The Pancha Tantra (five chapters) is one of the oldest collections of Indian fables. It can be traced back to the 6th century A. D. The Hitopadesa, founded upon it, is still more celebrated. Among other well known books may be mentioned twenty-five stories of a Demon, thirty-two tales of the animated images supporting the throne of Vikramaditya, the tales of a Parrot, &c.

Wilson thus notices the design of Hindu fables, with one peculiarity belonging to them:—

"Each fable is designed to illustrate and exemplify some reflection on worldly vicissitudes or some precept for human conduct; and the illustration is as frequently drawn from the intercourse of human beings, as from any imaginary adventure of animal existence; and this mixture is in some degree a peculiarity of the Hindu plan of fabling or story-telling. Again, these stories are not aggregated promiscuously, and without method, but they are strung together upon some one connected thread, and arranged in the frame-work of some continuous narrative, out of which they successively spring; a sort of machinery to which there is no parallel in the fabling literature of Greece or Rome. As far, therefore, as regards the objects for which the apologies or stories are designed, and the mode in which they are brought together, this branch of literary composition may be considered as original with the Hindus; and it was the form of their fabling that served as a model, whilst at the same time the subjects of their tales afforded materials, to the storytellers of Europe in the middle ages. That the fables of Pilpay were of Indian extraction was known to the orientalists of Europe in the latter part of the last century."

In some cases the whole moral effect is good, or at least calculated to afford innocent amusement. Wilson gives the following fable from the Pancha Tantra:—

"In a certain village there was an Ass named Uddhata. During the day he carried the bundles of a washerman. At night he followed his own inclinations. During his nocturnal rambles he formed an acquaintance with a Jackal, in whose company he broke into enclosures, and feasted on their contents. On one occasion, when in the middle of a cucumber field, the Ass, exulting with delight, said to the Jackal, 'Nephew, is not this a heavenly night; I feel so happy that I must sing a song. In what key will you prefer it?' The Jackal replied, 'What nonsense, when we are engaged in plundering, to think of such a thing. Silence becomes thieves and libertines, as it is said 'Let the sick man and the lazy refrain from stealing and chattering, if they would escape with life.' If your song be ever so sweet, should the owner of the field hear, he will rise, and in his rage bind and kill you; eat, therefore, and be silent. The Ass replied, 'You can be no judge of the charms of music, as you have spent all your life in the woods. Observe, in the nights of autumn, in privacy with your love, the distant song of the singer drops like nectar into the ears.' The Jackal answered 'It may be so, but your voice is abominable, why should you let it lead you into trouble?' The Ass was highly affronted at this, and said; 'Away, blockhead, do you question my musical proficiency? I know every branch of the science; for instance, there are seven notes, three scales, and twenty-one intervals, &c. The scientific combination of the parts of music is particularly grateful in the autumnal season. There is no gift of the gods more precious than music. Ravana received the boon from the three-eyed god (Siva), delighted with the rattling of dry tendons. How then do you presume to question my powers, or to oppose their exercise?' 'Very well,' replied the Jackal, 'let me get to the door of the garden, where I may see the gardener as he approaches, and then sing away as long as you please.' So it was settled; and the Jackal having provided for his own safety, the Ass opened his chant. The gardener was awakened by the noise, and rising immediately, repaired to the spot, armed with a stout stick, with which he fell upon the Ass, knocked him down, and belaboured him till he was tired. He then brought a large clog, with a hole in it, which he fastened to his leg, and tied to a post, after which he returned home, and went to sleep. The Ass came to himself, and forgot his tortures in the recollection of his home and companions. As it is said, 'On a dog, a mule, and an ass, a good beating leaves but a momentary impression.' Accordingly, springing up, he forced his way out of the inclosure, carrying the clog along with him. As he ran off, the Jackal met him, and said, 'Bravo, uncle,' &c.*

In many cases superstition is inculcated. The following tale of the Fowler and the Pigeon shows the benefits of the burning of widows:—

"A Fowler, having caught a female dove, is overtaken by a violent storm, and repairs for shelter to the tree inhabited by the male. Moved by the counsels of his captive mate, and his own estimate of the rites of hospitality, he not only gives the fowler shelter in the hollow trunk, but collects dry leaves and makes him a fire, and casts himself into the flames, to furnish his guest a meal. The bird-catcher liberates the dove, and she also throws herself into the fire; on which she and her lord assume celestial forms, and are conveyed to heaven in divine cars, agreeably to the text, that says 'A widow, who burns herself, secures for herself and her husband enjoyment in Paradise, for as many years as there are hairs on the human body, or thirty-five millions.' The fowler becomes an ascetic, and voluntarily perishes in a burning forest.'*

One of the greatest obstacles to progress in India is the ignorance of females, and the contempt with which they are regarded. Many of the Hindu tales tend to foster this state of things. Wilson contrasts with it the Teutonic feeling and its effects:—

"The greater number of them turn upon the wickedness of women, the luxury, profligacy, treachery the craft of the female sex. These attributes no doubt originate in the feelings which have always pervaded the East unfavorable to the dignity of the female character; but we are not to mistake the language of satire, or the licentiousness of wit, for truth, or to suppose that the pictures which are thus given of the depravity of women owe not much of their colouring to the malignity of men. The avidity with which this style of portraiture was adopted and improved upon in Europe shows that either the women of Christian Europe were still more vicious than those of India, or the men were still less disposed to treat them with deference and esteem. It is in this respect that stories of domestic manners contrast so remarkably with the inventions of chivalric romance; and the homage paid in the latter to the virtues and graces of the female sex is a feature derived, in all probability, from that portion of their parentage which comes from the North, woman being ever held in higher honour amongst the Teutonic nations than amongst those of the South of Europe or of the East, and contributing, by the elevating influence she was permitted to enjoy, to their moral exaltation and martial superiority.†"

Another most injurious influence exerted by some Hindu tales is, that they virtually inculcate, overcome † Works, Vol IV. pp 114, 115.

BY DECEIT. The lesson has been taught to apt scholars. As a nation, the Hindus glory in the fox-like cunning, with which they so often outwit their bovine European rulers. The conscience of the people will never be right till it is felt that all trickery is base and despicable. The Pancha Tantra contains many stories of the objectionable character now mentioned. They should be carefully weeded out of any selections used in schools.

Allimaka Rajan Ktai. அல்லிமகா ராஜகுடி. 8vo. 102 pp. 3 as.

Ananta Virata Nonpu Ktai. அனன்ற விருட்டான நன்பு குடி. Tale based on the Skanda Purana.

Angkampumpavayyar Sarittiram. அங்கம்புப்பவயயர் சரித்திரம். Tale of a bone being changed into a girl.

Arabian Nights. Portion translated from English.

Asvameta Parvam. அச்வவேதா பர்வம். 8vo. 220 pp. 4 as. About the Horse-Sacrifice, from the Mahabharata.

Kapilai Vasakam. கபிலை வாசகம். 18mo. 15 pp. 4 pie. Anon. Story about a cow and a tiger.

KATAMANJARI. கதாமஞ்சாரி. 8vo. 54 pp. 3 as. Tales collected by Tandavaraya Mutaliyar. Style considered good.

KATASINTAMANI. கடசின்தமணி. 8vo. 99 pp. 272 as. Collection of tales; very popular. Several of them are about decisions, somewhat in the style of Solomon’s judgment. There are anecdotes of Appaji, the famous minister of Narasinga Rayer. The following are specimens in an abridged form: The king and his minister went into a field, which some persons were cultivating. They heard the words, face, mouth, young, with reference to the work going on. The minister was asked to explain them. His reply was, one part of the field was to be prepared for saffron, which Tamil women rub on their face; another for the betel plant, to be chewed; and the third for young coconuts. The emperor of Delhi sent for Appaji, hearing of his great ability. Before the durbar, the emperor exchanged dresses with his prime minister, who occupied the throne, while the emperor stood as one of his courtiers. Though Appaji was not informed of this, he laid the presents he brought at the emperor’s feet. He was asked to explain how he recognised him. His reply was, that when he entered the hall, all eyes were fixed, not upon the throne, but upon the disguised emperor; hence he was able to distinguish him.

KILIKKATAI. கிலிக்காட்டை. Small 4 to 148 pp. 4 as. Tales of a parrot.

Kovalan Katai கோவலன் கடை Tale of a merchant of Madura.

Kusalavakkiyam. குசலவாக்கியம். Tales about the sons of Rama.

Makiladisservai Sarittiram. மகிலதிஸ்வரை சாரித்ரம் Tale about a temple at Trivatorie, 5 miles north of Madras.

Matanakiri Rajan Katai மதானகிரி ராஜன் கடை 8vo. 191. pp. 6 as Tales about a king and his son.

MAKAPARATA VASANAM. மகபராதா வசனம். The Mahabharata in prose. The whole work is sold at Rs. 15. Separate books may also be purchased. The following are some of them:

MUPPATTIRANDU PATUMAI KATAI. முப்பாட்டிராண்டு பறுமை கதை. 8vo. 230 pp. 6 as. 32 Tales about Vikramaditya.

NALA SAKKIRAVARTTI KATAI. நலா கச்சிரசவர்த்திகதை. 8vo. 91 pp. 2½ as. Story of Nala and Damayanti.

Nallatungham Katai. நல்லதுங்கம் கதை. About a king who introduced leather money to obtain the coin in the country.

Nalu Mantiri Katai. நலுமாந்திரிக் கதை. 18mo. 46 pp. 1 an. Story of a king and his four ministers.

Pannirandu Mantiri Katai. பண்ணிராண்டு மாந்திரிக் கதை. Story of a king and his twelve ministers.

PANGSATANTIRA KATAI. பாங்ஸாண்டிரா கதை. 8vo. 84 pp. 4 as. The original of the Hitopadesa. It is noticed in the prefatory remarks.

PARAMARITA KURU KATAI. பராமரிதா குரு கதை. 12mo. 1¼ as. Pondicherry. Revised by Beschi. Translated into English by Babington.

Persian Tales. பெர்சியன் கதை. Translated and published by C. Palavendiram Pillai. 8vo. 254 pp. Rs. 2.

Pesamadantai Katai. பெசமாண்டாண்டை கதை. 8vol. 67 pp. 3 as. Tale of a woman who pretended to be dumb.

Picture Book. 16mo. 16pp. 6 pie. C. V. E. S. Anecdotes with illustrative woodcuts.

the 2nd part of the Panchatantra. Book III. the History of Nala. Notes and references to the "Hand-Book."

Pururava Sakkiravarti Katai. 8vo. 78 pp. 2½ as. Tale of a king Pururava, one of the ancestors of the Pandus.

RAMAYANA VASANAM. The whole of the prose version of Kamban's Ramayana has been printed. Price Rs. 7½. Of the prose version of Valmiki's poem, three parts containing 334 pp. folio, were printed about 20 years ago.

RAMAYANA UTTARA KANDAM. Small 4to. 132 pp. By Tirussirram-pala Tesikar. This book is considered one of the best specimens of rhetorical prose.

Siruttonda Nayanar Palangkatai. 8vo. 50 pp. 2½ as. About a Saiva devotee cooking his son to provide a meal for Siva.

Tamilariyum Perumal Katai. 18mo. 95 pp. 1 an. About a poetess who refused to marry any one who could not overcome her in versification.

Tennalarama Kirishnam Katai. About a poet who lived in the time of Narasingha Rayer.

Terkonda Vasakam. About a king who put his son to death for accidentally killing a cow.

Tasingka Raja Katai. 8vo. 84 pp. 3 as.

Vetala Katai. 16mo. 75 pp. 1 an. Tales of a demon.

VINOTARASAMANSARI. Small 4to. 404 pp. Rs. By Virasami Seddiyar, late head Pundit of the Presidency College, Madras. Tales of Kampan, Oddakkutter, and Kalamemekam; the story of Paramartta Guru, &c. The style is much admired.
Section IV. Miscellaneous Literature.

About Hindu Castes.

Tondamandala Tuluva Velalar Marapin Vilakkam. தந்தமண்டல துலவா வெலாளர் மரபின் விலாக்கம். 18mo. 8 pp. 3 pie. Anon. Prose. About the origin of the Tuluva Velalar caste. They are said to have been cultivators from the Tuluva country, who cleared portions of the Chola country, when it was covered with orests.

Vaisiya Sarittiram. வைசியாசரித்திரம்.

Vaisiya Puranam. வைசியா புராணம். 8vo. 140 pp. 1 Rupee. About the merchant caste.

Riddles.

Irusol Alangkaram, Mussol Alangkaram. ஈருசோல் அலங்காரம் முச்சோல் அலங்காரம். 18mo. 12 pp. 4 pie. Anon. Two and three questions answered in the same words having different meanings. The following are specimens.

Why does the river easily extend its limits ? Why does he speak rudely ? The same answer may be explained to mean, Because there is no rock to restrain it; or, Because there is no one to beat.

Why does this waggon run ? How comes this stranger to be brother-in-law ? Answer. On account of that bullock, on account of my sister.

There is another work, with the same title, 8vo. 21 pp. 1 anna.

The following are from Kata Sintamani :—

A vessel not made by a potter; whiteness not caused by a washerman; water not from the rain ? A cocoanut.
I. DICTIONARIES AND GRAMMARS. 209

What can the younger brother touch, but the elder brother cannot? The under lip.

Saitapura Malai. சைதக்சுர மலை. 16mo. 30 pp. Riddles, with answers in a kind of cipher.

On Widow Re-marriage.

CLASS G. PHILOLOGY.

SECTION I. DICTIONARIES AND GRAMMARS.

DICTIONARIES.

Satrubarakati. சாதைக்கராத்திக். 8vo 507 pp. Rs. 1½. By Beschi. A Dictionary in four parts. "The first consists of an ordinary vocabulary, with the signification attached to the words; the next is an arrangement of synonyms; the third is a rhyming dictionary; and the fourth a classical dictionary. It is altogether an invaluable compilation." "Land of the Veda," p. 119. Sold at Government Book Depot.

planations of words. 12. Explanation of numbers like the 64 sciences, &c. There are numerous editions. Parts I. and XI, which are in most frequent use, are also printed separately. Part I. Text, 18mo. 38 pp. 1 an. Part XI, with commentary. 8vo. 80 pp. 2½ as. Bazar edition. A superior edition, with a number of additional stanzas by Vetakiri Mutaliyar, has been printed at Jaffna, 8vo. 171 pp. 1 Re. The first 10 chapters, (with commentary) have also been printed at Jaffna. 8vo. 183 pp. 12 as.

TIVAKARAM. திவாகரம். By Sentan. A Tamil Vocabulary, divided into 12 chapters. The author of the preceding work professes to have followed the Tivakaram. Various editions have been published. Text, 12 parts, 12mo. 242 pp. 12 as. Parts I and XI each 16mo. 24 pp. ½ anna.

TOKAIPEPER. VILAKKMAM. விலக்கம் எழுதி. 18mo. 181 pp. By Vetakiri Mutaliyar. 19th cent. The third part of the Tamil Dictionary with additions.

U RISSOL NIKANDU. உரிஸோல் நிகண்டு. 18mo. 103 pp. 4 as. By Kangkaiyar. A vocabulary on the same plan as the Nikandu.

GRAMMARS.

Grammar is a favourite study among the Hindus. It is fabled that Agastya wrote the first Tamil Grammar; but it perished on account of the curse of his pupil Tolkappiyar. The latter wrote what is called the Tolkappiyam, the oldest treatise on the subject now in existence. It contains 1276 sutras, or rules in verse. Pavananti wrote the Nammul, in 462 sutras, considered the standard work on Tamil Grammar. It is greatly admired for “its logical arrangement and comprehensive brevity.” The Tamils boast that its sutras do not contain a single redundant word. Though intelligible to good scholars, others will think that the remark of Sir William Jones, applies to them in some measure,—"dark as the darkest oracles."

The following is the preface, as translated by Messrs. W. Joyes and Samuel Pillay:

"At the request of the lion-hearted Gunghun whose sole amusement is in the Arts and Sciences, whose delight is in war, who with upright sceptre, dispenses justice beneath the shade of a white umbrella, with munificence equalled by nothing but the clouds; whose legs are encircled by the insignia of bravery; who, (I say), being of ancient celebrity, has, by the dissolution of the inimical hatred of foes, with power unbounded, stationed as props of that earth which owns no other sway, his elephants each in position fair:—(at his requesting) the production of a work which was to make known to all, in genus, species, and individual kind, the five grand subjects which make up the Tamil circuit comprise: within the Eastern Sea, Comorin's Cape, the land of Coorg and Vaneguddum (that bounds its northern spread: that Tamil) which the Divine self-existent Being who in His excellence spurns to be holden by beginning or end, equality or measure, desire or aversion, has, from the graciousness of His disposition, freely and heartily granted (to man) as one of those eighteen languages by means of which (he) may understand the four grand objects (for which he was made) with a view thereby to remove the obscurity of his mind, like the sun which by his diffusive light illumining every thing, disperses the darkness wherewith the wide world is pervaded—an individual by name Pavananthi, of indescribable eminence and surpassing piety, the son of Sunmathy Mooni of golden bulwarked Sanagapooram, wrote a work by name Nunnool in which he follows the path hewn out by ancient authors."

Pavananti lays down as a rule that a preface should not be written by the author himself. The foregoing, in true native style, was probably written by one of his admirers.

Tamil Grammar, or Belles Lettres as Beschi terms it, is arranged under five heads; 1. Letters, or Orthography. 2. Words: This head treats of the four parts of speech, noun, verb, adjective and particles. Etymology and syntax are included. 3. Matter. In the "opinion of Tamilians it professes to treat of the nature and qualities of things in general; but in all known works extant on this subject confines itself to Au-porul, in which rules are laid down for the composition of amatory effusions, and Puraporul, wherein rules are given for composing treatises on war, fortifications, the maintenance of the public good, &c. and sometimes on morality.* 4. Prosody, or versification.
5. Rhetoric.

Aniyiyal Vilakham. அவியியால் விலகம். By Sar-ravanappperumal Aiyar, 19th cent. On Rhetoric.

Ilakkana Kottu. இலக்கன்கோட்டு. 8vo. 72 pp.
By Saminata Tesikar. 18th cent.

Ilakkana Vinavidai. இலக்கனை விநாடை. 4to.

KARIKAI. காரிகை. 8vo. 90 pp. 6 as. By Amirtasakarar. On versification.

Muttuviriyam. முத்துவிரியம். By Muttuvirya Kavirayar. 19th cent. Sutras on Prosody.

2 as. With brief commentary (சிற்றைவரையும்), 8vo.
240 pp. 8 as. With complete commentary (முனைவரையும்), 8vo. 341 pp. Rs. 2. By Pavananti. About 10th cent. It treats of the first two parts of Grammar. There are two prefices. The general preface discusses the following subjects. 1. The nature of a classical work. 2. The character and qualifications of a teacher. 3. The method of teaching. 4. The character and qualifications of the scholar. 5. The conduct of scholars during the time of instruction. The teacher, like the sea-girt earth, should be encompassed with the circle of the sciences; be patient and immovable as a mountain; just and equitable as a balance; and his reputation should be as fragrant as the rose.*

* Grammatica Tamuliensia, p. 4.

There are several editions of the Nannul. A portion of it was translated with notes by Messrs. W. Joyes and S. Pillay. This is now out of print. There is an edition by Dr. G. U. Pope, beautifully printed, with English summaries, prose renderings, and a vocabulary. The abridgment for schools, by P. Savundranayagam Pillai, B. A., is a useful work.

Pavananti lays down rules, and then gives the exceptions in minute detail. When one rule has been gone over in this manner, he takes up another. The advanced student will find his work of great value; but it is perplexing to others.

Pagnsaladsana Surakka Vinavidai. பாண்டலசால்தா சரக்கா வினாவிட. 16mo. 92 pp. 2 as. By Irajakopala Mutaliyar. 19th cent. Catechism on the five parts of Grammar.

Perakattiyam. பெரகட்டியம். 8vo. 16 pp. This work professes to contain fragments of the treatise on grammar by Agastiyar; but it is a forgery.

Pirayoka Vivekam. பெரேயோகா விவேகம். Text. 18mo. 14 pp. By Suppiramaninya Vetiyar. 18th cent.

Pope’s Third Tamil Grammar. Part I. Catechism. A full exposition of the grammar of the language, with copious examples so arranged as to form a series of reading lessons. Part II. consists of the Nannul, already noticed. A grammatical vocabulary is added. 8vo. 411 pp. Government Book Depot, Rs. 3.

* Rev. H. Bower, in Calcutta Review.
Poruttappadiyal. On the mode of commencing poems, &c.

Pukalenti Rattina Surukkam. On metaphors to be used in Erotic Poetry.

TANDI ALANGKARAM. 8vo. 122 pp. 1 Re. By Tandiyasiriyar. On Rhetoric.

TOLKAPPIYAM. Part I. Small 4to. 228 pp. This work is noticed in the introductory remarks. Part II. is very miscellaneous in character. It treats of the seasons of the year, civil, political and military customs, clandestine marriage, lawful marriage and the marriage state, &c.

Tonmul. Folio. 120 pp. By Beschi. The title means, ancient scientific treatise. It is based upon the Nannul; but the arrangement is different. The Tamils specially admire the part on general knowledge.

Upamana Sanghirakam. 16mo. 6 pp. By Tiruvengkadaiyarl. About 16th cent. On the metaphors to be used in erotic poems.

Venpappadiyal. 8vo. 30 pp. 2 as. By Kunavirapanditar. About 12th cent. About the introductions of poems.

Viruttappadiyal.

Virasoliyam. On the five parts of grammar.
Section II. Educational Books.

Introduction.

Indigenous Education.—Before giving a list of educational books, the instruction imparted in native schools may be briefly noticed.

Reading and Writing.—These are taught together. After the astrologer has selected a lucky day, the child is sent to school. He is first taught to repeat the Alphabet. This is generally done without paying any attention to the characters. A boy may go over ana, avana, &c., very glibly, and yet be unable to distinguish one of them. Next the letters are traced with the finger on sand,—the teacher, or a monitor, at first guiding the motion. In some cases, the third stage is to follow, with a stylus, large letters scratched on a palm leaf. In the ordinary village schools, neither paper nor ink is employed—the leaf of the palmyra palm is the sole material. Tamils learning Sanskrit, and Muhamma- dans write on boards with chalk. In town schools, paper is coming into use.

When the Tamil alphabet has been acquired, the Attisudi of Auvaiyar is next taught. Its laconic expressions in the poetical dialect, are quite unintelligible to the children, and, indeed, in many cases to the teacher. No lesson is ever explained. It is considered that all the children have to do is to read and commit to memory—the meaning they will learn when they grow up. The Ulaka Niti, Konraiven- than, Muthurai, &c., are next studied; works like Arappalisura Satakam, Manavala Narayana Satakam, the Kural, and Naladiyar, are read by the more advanced scholars. Local Puranas and poetical vocabularies are also frequently used. Letter writing is taught; as invitations to marriages, letters on village affairs, bonds, &c.

Arithmetic.—This is the favorite branch of study throughout India. The popularity of a teacher depends greatly upon it. The object is to make the children expert at bazar calculations. Hence little value is attached to the questions with which English books on arithmetic are often filled. A parent thinks that his child may never once in his life require to make long computations on slates, but that he may be cheated every day if ignorant of common accounts. In vernacular schools under Europeans, native arithmetic is often neglected. This greatly damages them in the estimation of the people. While arithmetic is taught according to the European system, native accounts should also receive attention.

The Tamils are behind the Telugus in not having a cipher. Their tables in some respects are peculiar. The children are first taught to repeat the numbers, 1, 2, 3, &c. The native table, Ponvilakkam (money numbers), begins with what is usually considered the lowest fraction, $\frac{1}{36}$. Sometimes the child com-comes with this number as the smallest! Next follow $\frac{1}{30} \frac{1}{37}$, &c. Fractions with 3 and 7, or their multiples as denominators, cannot be represented. What. is termed Nellilakkam (paddy numbers) is next taught. It begins with $\frac{1}{6}$ of a measuro of paddy, next $\frac{1}{6}$, $\frac{2}{6}$, $\frac{1}{36}$, &c.

The Multiplication Table (Ensuvadi) follows. It is divided into two principal parts,—the multiplication of integers and of fractions. It begins as follows: $1 \times 1 = 1$, $1 \times X = X$, $2 \times 1 = 2$, $2X \times 1 = 2X$, $3 \times 1 = 3$, $3X \times 1 = 3X$, &c., as far as $X \times 1 = X$, $C \times 1 = C$. The last column of the multiplication of integers begins with $1 \times X = X$, $X \times X = C$, and ends with $CM \times X = XCM$, $XCM \times X = \text{ten crores}$. The last number is expressed in words as if it could not be represented by numerals.

An attempt is made to represent the Tamil notation in the preceding examples. The Arabic numbers are now rapidly coming into use.

The multiplication of fractions, grain measure, weights and measures, follow the table of integral numbers. Then come the Yugas, the names of the sixty years of the Hindu cycle, the seasons, months, phases of the moon, days of the week, lucky and unlucky times of each day, the direction of Siva's trident each day, the 27 asterisms, signs of the Zodiac, and other matters connected with astrological purposes.

A brief explanation may be given about Siva's trident. On Monday and Saturday, Siva is said to hold his trident from the east. No one should, on these days, travel in that direction. On other days, persons must not go to the west, &c. Such absurd superstitious ideas interfere greatly with work.

The tables are learned by sheer reiteration. Every day, morning and evening, when the other lessons are over, the children stand in a row; one acts as fugleman, and all repeat after him, at the pitch of their voice.

A. D. Campbell, Esq., Collector of Bellary, in his Report to Sir T. Munro, thus estimated the instruction given in Native Schools in his District:

"Few teachers can explain, and still fewer scholars understand the purport of the numerous books they learn to repeat from memory. Every school boy can repeat verbatim a vast number of verses, of the meaning of which he knows no more than the parrot which has been taught to utter certain words. Accordingly from studies in which he has spent many a day of laborious, but fruitless toil, the native scholar gains no improvement, except the exercise of memory and the power to read and write on the common business of life. He makes no addition to his stock of useful knowledge and acquires no moral impressions. He has spent his youth in reading syllables, not words, and on entering into life he meets with hundreds and thousands of words, of the meaning of which he cannot form even the most distant conjecture; and as to the declension of a noun or the conjugation of a verb he knows no more than of the most abstruse problem in Euclid."

The late Director of Public Instruction remarks, after quoting the above, "The foregoing picture, it is to be feared, is still applicable to the quality of the instruction imparted in a large proportion of the present native schools."

* Selections from the Records of the Madras Government, No. 2, p. 3.
SCHOOL BOOK SOCIETIES.—The Tranquebar and other Missionaries prepared some books for the schools under their care; a few were also published by the Madras Branch of the Christian Knowledge Society.

In 1817 the Calcutta School Book Society was established, under the patronage of the Marquis of Hastings. This led shortly afterwards to the formation of a similar society at Madras. The association in South India soon languished, and for many years it virtually ceased to exist. About 1850, the Society was revived, and prizes were offered for the best school books on specified subjects. Several new publications were thus secured, of which the History of India, by H. Morris, Esq., was very successful.

The publications of the Madras School Book Society being chiefly used in Government Schools, the religious sentiments were adapted accordingly. The Committee of the Madras Tract Society issued a few books with the Christian element, intended specially for Mission Schools. In 1854, the year of the celebrated Education Despatch, it was suggested that more efforts should be made by the Tract Society for the production of Christian School-books. Many of the leading members of Committee, considering that this might interfere with the primary work of the Society, recommended the formation of a separate association. The South India Christian School Book Society was, therefore, established in 1854, and to it was soon afterwards transferred the School Book Department of the Tract Society. In 1859 the South India Christian School Book Society was merged into the Madras Branch of the Christian Vernacular Education Society.

Since the organization of the Public Instruction Department, an additional agency has been at work for the supply of books for Government Schools, and a considerable number of vernacular publications has been published.

Though the Reading Books of the Madras School Book Society have been prepared with special reference to Government Schools, the Committee are not restricted to non-Christian Publications. The Rev. A. R. Symonds lately suggested that the Society should make an effort to provide a wholesome and attractive literature. Prizes were offered for the best translation of Robinson Crusoe. The advertisement called forth a considerable number of competitors and the attempt promises to meet with an encouraging degree of success.

I. BOOKS FOR TEACHERS.

Fowler’s Discipline and Instruction. நெடுஞ்சு மாருசுதுரம். 12mo, 206 pp. Govt. Book Depot. 12 as. Also 4 as. Translated from the English treatise.

Instructions to Masters of Taluk Schools. 12mo. 45 pp. 3 as. G. B. D.

Hints on Education in India, ஆய்வகம் பாண்டர் வாழ்நூறு. 12mo. 279 pp. C. V. E. S. 6 as. Hints to Native Teachers. Translated from the English treatise by J. Murdoch.

II. RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Doctrinal Catechisms.

First Steps to the Catechism. 18mo. 8 pp. S. P. C. K. 1851.

Watts’ First Catechism 18mo. 8 pp. Many editions.

Watts’ Second Catechism. 12mo. 22 pp. 1839. Other editions.

Assembly’s Shorter Catechism. 12mo. 67 pp.

Drew’s First Catechism. 18mo. 18 pp. 1851.

Catechism of Scripture Doctrine. 18mo. 13 pp. M. T. S. 2nd Ed. 1850.

Elementary Catechism. 18mo. 20 pp. Neyur. 1855.

Spiritual Lamp. 18mo. 36 pp.

Scripture Catechism. 18mo. 18 pp. 4th Ed. A. M. P. 1859.

Wesleyan First Catechism. 12mo. 23 pp. 2nd Ed. 1828.
Wesleyan Second Catechism. 12mo. 114 pp. 1827.
Tamil First Catechism. 16mo. 16 pp. C. V. E. S. 3 pie.

Thompson's Catechism. றுபுமேடும் புருஷேயன். 16mo. 40 pp. A. M. P. 1857.

Nallarivin Sara Kavi. நாள்வின் கவிதை. 16mo. 8 pp.

Sattiyā Veta Tiruddantam. சத்தியே வெட்டுத்தியார். 12mo. 28 pp. Catechism on the evidences of Christianity.

Both the preceding works are by the Rev. C. MacArthur, from whom copies can be obtained.

Historical Catechisms.

Questions on Genesis. 12mo. 280 pp. 2 as. Jaffna.

Scripture Names. 12mo. 8 pp. Neyoor. 1851.

II. EDUCATIONAL BOOKS.

Scripture Extracts and Stories.*

Hymns for Schools.

Christian Lyrics for Children. 16mo. 74 pp. 1½ as. C. V. E. S. In native metres.

Hymns for Children. 18mo. 90 pp. 1½ as. C. V. E. S. 1865. Hymns, sacred and moral songs, in English metres.

Hymns for Children. 18mo. 72 pp. Jaffna A. M.

III. READING.

Alphabets and Sheet Lessons.

Alphabet. 2 pie. Mounted 1½ as. C. V. E. S.

Sheet Lessons. Nos. 1-4. 8 pie. Mounted 3 as. C. V. E. S.

Alphabet. Small, 1 an. Large in 9 sheets, 5 as. A. M. P.

Sheet Lessons. Nos. 1-10. Tranquebar. 1½ as. Also in small letters, 6 pie.

* See also pp. 26, 27.
Alphabet Cards on Manilla paper, per 100, 1 Rupee. Jaffna.

Reading Books.
(With the Christian element.)

*First Book. 8vo. 36 pp. 2nd Ed. 1837. C. M. Press, Madras.

*First Reading Book. 12mo. 21 pp. Madras, 1839, for L. M. S.

*Palu Potanai. 12mo. 14 pp. Madras 1834. For L. M. S.

Tamil Primer. 12mo. 26 pp. 2nd Ed. 1848, S. P. C. K. 6 pie.

Tamil Reading Book. 12mo. 72 pp. 2nd Ed. 1848, S. P. C. K. 1 an.

*First Reading Book. 18mo. 45 pp. Madras T. S. 1850.

*Tamil Primer. 16mo. 32 pp. 1857, S. I. C. S. B. S.

First Book. 18mo. 36 pp. 6 pie. C. V. E. S.

Second Book. 18mo. 108 pp. 1½ as. C. V. E. S. Translated from the English Second Book, with the Attisudi and Multiplication Tables appended.

Third Book. 12mo. 126 pp. 2½ as. C. V. E. S. Translated from the English Third Book, with the Kon-raiventa, Vettiverkai, and Multiplication Table.

Fourth Book. 12mo. 3 as. C. V. E. S. Translated from the English Sequel, with the Muthurai and Nalvali.

Fifth Book. 12mo. 316 pp. 6 as. C. V. E. S. This is the old Third Book. Chiefly translated from the English Fourth Book, with extracts from Tamil classics.

Child's Instruction. 18mo. 8 pp. By Rev. W. Taylor.

First Instructor. American Ceylon Mission. Numerous Eds. 16mo. 24 pp. 2d.

Second Instructor. do. 16mo. 2d.

Third Instructor. do. 16mo. 92 pp. 2 as.

Fourth Instructor. do. 2 as.

Fifth Instructor. do. 18mo. 161 pp. 1848.

Easy Reader. 18mo. 86 pp. 2 as. 1846. A. M. P. Jaffna.

Palarsuvadi. 8vo. 16 pp. 1½ as. Pondicherry.

Atissuradi. 12mo. 91 pp. 3½ as. Pondicherry.

Reading Books for Government Schools, &c.

Second Book of Lessons. 16mo. 227 pp. 2 as. do. Also in Tamil Romanised.

Third Book of Lessons. 12mo. 179 pp. 4 as.

Panchatantra. 16mo. 181 pp. P. I. P. 4 as.

First Book of Reading Lessons. 16mo. 42 pp. 1½ as.

Madras School B. S.

Second Book of Reading Lessons. 16mo. 61 pp. 2½ as. do.

Kumbakonam First English Reading Book. 16mo. 83 pp. 3 as. By T. Marden, Esq. Govt. Book Depot.

First Book. 12mo. 55 pp. 1½ as. 1855. U. G. K. S.

Spelling Books. There are numerous editions of books of this class published by Natives, the model evidently being an English Spelling Book of the last century. The Attisudi is generally added. 18mo. 40 pp. 9 pie.

Potavasanam. 18mo. 28 pp. 9 pie.

Morals. Prose.

IV. Tamil Classics.

(Expurgated editions.)

Every Tamil classic contains objectionable passages, inculcating idolatry, pantheism, fatalism, transmigration, &c. An expurgated series has been commenced by the Christian Vernacular Education Society. The following have been issued:—

Attisudi. 16mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. With full commentary.
Muturai. 16mo. 16 pp. 6 pie. do.
Nitererinilakkun. 16mo. 48 pp. 1½ as. do.
Minor Poets, First Book. 16mo. 55 pp. 1½ as. The Attisudi, Konraiventan, and Vetteverkai, with full explanations.

Minor Poets, Second Book. 16mo. 52 pp. 1½ as. The Muturai, Nalvali, and Nanneri, with full explanations.

Minor Poets, complete edition, 16mo. 157 pp. 4 as. All the preceding works bound together.

Minor Poets, Text alone. 16mo. 46 pp. 1½ as.
To the above may be added the following:—

Kuradsangkirakam. கூறாது கிராகறு. 12mo. 50 pp. 3½ as. Pondicherry, 1860. Selections from the Kural.

Editions with the usual Text.

Tamil Minor Poets. 16mo. 66 pp. 2 as. Public Instruction Press.

Naladiyar. 16mo. 83 pp. 3 as. do.
Numerous editions issued from Native Presses. See pp. 158—168 for additional works.

Poetical and Prose Readers.

*First Poetical Reader. 8vo. 69 pp. 1860. Selections from the Attisudi, Konraiventan, Kural, and Vetteverkai, with English translation.
Second Poetical Reader. 8vo. 58 pp. 1858. Selections from the Muterai, Nalvali, Nanneri, Nitinerivilak-kam and Naladiyar, with exercises.

Third Poetical Reader. 8vo. 68 pp. 1859. Selections from the Baratam and Bagavatam, with English translation.

The three preceding works are by Messrs. Joyes and Samuel Pillay.

V. Elementary Grammars.

The larger treatises on this subject have already been noticed (pp. 200-260.) Several elementary works have been published for schools; but they have now been generally superseded by the admirable Catechisms of Dr. G. U. Pope.

Ilakkana Surukkam. Attributed to Rhenius. 16mo. 19 pp.

Ilakkana Surukkam. 18mo. 98 pp. Madras. 1848.

Abridgment of Tamil Grammar. 18mo. 44 pp. Jaffna Book Society. 8 pie.

Ilakkana Nulataram. 12mo. 80 pp. 4½ as. Pondicherry, 1849.

Ilakkana Surukkam. 12mo. 180 pp. 8 as. Pondicherry, 1860.

Pope's Second Catechism of Tamil Grammar. 18mo. pp. 2½ as. C. V. E. S. and G. B. D. 3 as.

Abridgement of the Nannul. 12mo. 142 pp. 8 as. By G. P. Savundranayagam Pillai, B. A., G. B. D., C. V. E. S.

VI. GEOGRAPHY.

Geography of the Madras Presidency. 12mo. 56 pp. 4 as. With map. Madras S. B. S.

Browne's First Geography. 12mo. 102 pp. 2 as. C. V. E. S.

Geographical Primer. 12mo. 64 pp. 1½ as. C. V. E. S.

Chambers' Geographical Primer. 12mo. 89 pp. 4 as. G. B. D.

Clift's First Geography. 16mo. 175 pp. 3½ as. G. B. D.

Manual of Geography. 12mo. 377 pp. 7 as. G. B. D. Also in 2 Parts.

Pukola Sastirangkirakam. 16mo. 88 pp. 2½ as. M. U. K. S. Bristling with Sanskrit letters.

Pumisastirakkurippu. 32mo. 36 pp. Nagercoil.

Pumisastira Surukkam. 12mo. 218 pp. Nagercoil. 1846.

Geography for small Children. 18mo. 38 pp. Jaffna. 1840.

Pumisastira Polippu. 16mo. 40 pp, 2nd Ed. A. Ceylon Mission.

Sketches of Asia. 16mo. 146 pp. 4 as. G. B. D.

Sketches of Europe. 16mo. 266 pp. 6 as. G. B. D.

Scripture Geography. 12mo. 78 pp. 2 as. C. V. E. S.
Maps.

Pumisastirappadalakal. Rs. 2-10. Pondicherry.

The Madras Presidency. 4 as. mounted, 1 R. 2 as. C. V. E. S.

India. 10 as. mounted, 1 R. 10 as. C. V. E. S.

The Hemispheres. Uncoloured in sheets 1 R. Coloured in sheets Rs. 2½. Coloured and mounted, Rs. 5. G. B. D.

Canaan. 1½ as. mounted 11½ as. C. V. E. S.

Palestine. 1½ as. mounted, 11½ as. C. V. E. S.

Countries visited by St. Paul. 3 as. mounted. 1 R. 1 an. C. V. E. S. Scripture maps engraved in England can also be obtained at the Church Mission Press, Palamcottah.

A series of Maps of the Four Quarters is in progress for the Madras Director of Public Instruction.

VII. History.

India.

Morris’s History of India. 12mo. 374 pp. Rs. 1½. G. B. D.

Handyside’s History of India. 12mo. 221 pp. 6 as. Sold also in two parts, at 2 as. and 3 as. C. V. E. S.

Hindustani Charita. 3 as. M. U. G. K. S. G. B. D.

England.

Morris’s History of England. 12mo. 600 pp. Rs. 1¼ 1858. M. S. B. S.

First History of England. 16mo. 95 pp. 1½ as. C. V. E. S. Translated from the English work, edited by J. Garrett, Esq.

History of England. 12mo. 81 pp. 3 as. M. U. G. K. S.

Ancient History.

History of Rome. Part I. 18mo. 88 pp. 6 as. M. U. G. K. S.

Short Account of the Four Ancient Empires. 18mo. 42 pp. By Miss Giberne. Madras, 1860.

Outlines of Ancient History. 12mo. 6 as. 1865. C. V. E. S. Chiefly translated from Parley’s Tales about History.

General History.

Ulaka Sarittira Malai. 12mo. 74 pp. Madras C. M. Press, 1830. Outline of general history by Dr. Schmid.

Marshman’s Brief Survey of History. Parts I and II. 12mo. each 14 as. G. B. D.

VIII. MATHEMATICS.

Mental Arithmetic.

Manakkantam. மனக்கண்டம். 12mo. 51 pp. Chiefly from Colburne’s Intellectual Arithmetic. 2d Ed. Jaffna, 1863, 4d.

Questions in Mental Arithmetic. 12mo. 24 pp. 1856. S. I. C. S. B. S.

Child’s Arithmetic. 12mo. 102 pp. 3 as. P. I. P. 1858.

Mental Arithmetic. 16mo. 21 pp. 6 pic. Tranquebar, 1863.

Native Arithmetical Tables. 18mo. 36 pp. C. V. E. S. 6 pic.

General Arithmetic.

Elementary Arithmetic. 8vo. 47 pp. 6 pic. S. P. C. K. 1856.
Colenso's Arithmetic. Part I. 12mo. 105 pp. 4 as.
G. B. D.

Do. Part II. 12mo. 226 pp. 8 as. G. B. D.

Arithmetical Primer. 18mo. 101 pp. 2 as. C. V. E. S.

Pala Kanitam. 16mo. 92 pp.

Elementary Arithmetic. 18mo. 179 pp. 3 as. Jaffna. 1849.

Valar Kanitam. 12mo. 164 pp. Pondicherry. 1853.

Algebra.

Elementary Algebra. எளிய வடிவில். 12mo. 242 pp. 8 as.
Jaffna. 1855. By D. L. Carroll. (A native of Jaffna.)
Chiefly from Day's Algebra.

Elements of Algebra. 8vo. 98 pp. 6 as. G. B. D.
From Colenso.

Geometry.

First Book of Euclid. 12mo. 8 as. Palamcottah. Edited by the Rev. T. Spratt.

Lund's Geometry as a Science. 12mo. 165 pp. 8 as.
G. B. D. Edited by Dr. G. U. Pope. 1857.

Lund's Geometry as an Art. 12mo. 198 pp. 12 as.
G. B. D. By the same editor. 1856.

Surveying.

Best's Surveying. 12mo. 17 pp. 2 as. 1858. G. B. D

IX. NATURAL SCIENCE, &C.

* Summary of Facts on Physical Science. 12mo. 34 pp.
Madras, 1840. By the Rev. Mr. Thompson.

Dialogue on Physical Science. 16mo. 20 pp. 1 an.
Jaffna A. M. 1843.

Compend of Astronomy. 12mo. 71 pp. 4 as. By

On Clouds, &c. 12mo. 6 pp. By Rev. W. Taylor..
Natural History of Animals. 12mo. 268 pp. 6 as.
G. B. D.
Elements of Chemistry. 12mo: 25 pp. 2 as. Translated by the Rev. H. Bower from Dr. Ballantyne's work. G. B. D.

Whately Easy Lessons on Money Matters. 16mo. 71 pp. 3 as. G. B. D.

X. PRINTS FOR SCHOOLS.

Scripture History. 22 sheets coloured. S. P. C. K. Rupees 2½.

Natural Phenomena. 20 sheets coloured. S. P. C. K. Rupees 2½.

CLASS II. GEOGRAPHY AND HISTORY.

SECTION I. GEOGRAPHY.

This division is miserably represented. Bound by the chains of caste, few Tamils leave their own country except coolies. The following is the only work on geography of Native origin the compiler has met with:

Kola Tipikai. கோலா திபிகை. 16mo. 48 pp. 6 as. By Saravanaperumal Aiyar. 19th cent. Puranic Geography from the Sanskrit.

In addition to the School books noticed under the preceding head, the following works on Geography have been published by Europeans:

Far Off. 12mo. 162 pp. 6 as. 1857. C. V. E. S. An account of some of the countries of Asia, translated from an English work, bearing the same title.

Description of Madura. 12mo. 90 pp. 2½ as. C. V. E. S. 1863. Topography and history.

Balfour's Statistical Map of the World. English and Tamil, with Tabular sheets. Unmounted, 1 anna. M. S. B. S.
There are several Stalla Puranas, or histories of temples, enumerated in connection with the gods they are designed to celebrate. They generally begin with the creation of the universe, and relate the appearances of Siva or Vishnu at the particular spot, which led to the erection of the temple. Though consisting on the whole of absurd legends, careful examination would in many cases elicit a few historical facts. An abridgment of one of the principal of them, the Madura Stalla Purana, has been translated into English by the Rev. W. Taylor. The two volumes of “Oriental Historical Manuscripts,” translated, with Annotations, by Mr. Taylor, contain the following:—

Volume I. 4to. 284 pp.

Pandion Chronicle. The translation occupies 23 pp. 4to. It professes to give the history of the Pandiyian country from the creation till it came into the possession of the East India Company about 1800.

Madura Stalla Puranam. (Abstract in English, 63 pp. 4to.) The Tamil work, styled the Tiruvilikiyal Puranam, is noticed at page 92.

Supplementary Manuscript. English translation, 4to. 7 pp.

Genealogy of Kings of the Race of the Sun. 4to. 3 pp.

Contemporary Pedigree or Junior Branch. 4to. 9 pp.

Volume II. 4to. 320 pp.

Carnatica Dynasty. English translation. 4to 27 pp.

Description of the Carnatica Lords, and Feudal Chieftains. Selected Extracts, &c.

Mr. Taylor’s work is now out of print. Wilson’s Sketch of the kingdom of Pandya, (8vo. 71 pp. 1838), in English and Tamil, is sold at the Depot of the Madras School Book Society, price 6 as.

There are interesting problems to be solved in connection with the early history of India. Who made the flint implements, who constructed the tumuli, scattered over India as well as other parts of the globe? Dr. Caldwell has the following remarks with reference to the latter:—

"It is a remarkable circumstance that no class of Hindus know anything of the race to which these Dravidian remains belonged, and that neither in Sanskrit literature nor in that of the Dravidian languages is there any tradition on the subject. The Tamil people generally call the Cairns by the name of 'Pandu-kuris.' 'Kuri' means a pit or grave and 'Pandu' denotes any thing connected with the Pandus or Pandava brothers, to whom, all over India, ancient mysterious structures are generally attributed. To call anything 'a work of the Pandus' is equivalent to terming it ' Cyclopean' in Greece, 'a work of the Picts' in Scotland, or 'a work of Nimrod' in Asiatic Turkey; and it means only that the structure to which the name is applied was erected in some remote age, by a people of whom nothing is now known. When the Tamil people are asked 'by whom were these Pandu-kuris built and used?' they sometimes reply 'by the people who lived here long ago;' but they are unable to tell whether those people were their own ancestors or a foreign race, and also when and why those 'kuris' ceased to be used. The answer which is sometimes given is that the people who built the Cairns were 'a race of dwarfs who lived long ago, and who were only a span or a cubit high, but were possessed of the strength of giants.'

The Tamil ideas of history are chiefly derived from the Ramayana and the Mahabharata. It may be mentioned that the highest Singhalese authority now living, James De Alwis Esq., writes to the compiler, that Rama's visit to Ceylon is "all a fiction; the Singhalese do not believe it."†

The compiler, during a recent visit to Travancore, in conversation with the Rev. H. Baker, Jnr., happened to refer to the "celts," lately presented to the Madras Museum. Mr. Baker then mentioned the interesting fact, that a tribe on the Travancore Hills use

* Dravidian Comparative Grammar, p. 526, 7.
† See also note at page xi, the Introduction to his translation of the Sidatsangara.
axes of the same shape as the celts. They get ordinary axes altered into the form they prefer. Mr. Baker also directed attention to a heap of shells near the landing place. He thus explains their character and probable origin:

"In parts of the backwaters here, there are beds of very old shells, 9 to 20 feet thick, under 5 to 10 feet water. They have been evidently collected, and I think boiled or roasted, perhaps slightly. Fragments of pottery are brought up in the baskets used by the divers for them. Now in all brackish waters these same shells are found in small numbers. What has caused such beds to be formed? My idea is that some of the aborigines, before Parasuraman came with his Hindus into Travancore, lived in these marshes on these fish, and collected the shells for food, throwing the shells into the water near by. The lower caste people toast the shell-fish now in times of famine for food. I read in a No. of the Madras Journal, that at Penang and Malacca there are mounds of similar shells on marshy ground, taken as here for lime."

If the memory of the compiler serves him right, he has read of like collections on the shores of the Baltic and German Ocean.

It is mentioned in the Introduction (page xx) that Dr. Caldwell, from the evidence of inscriptions in his possession, considers that many of the Madura Kings, with fine-sounding Sanskrit names, were mythical. It is highly desirable that inscriptions throughout the Presidency, with any documents throwing light on the past history of the South of India, should be collected and examined. Those already obtained by Colonel Mackenzie, the Hon. W. Elliot and Dr. Caldwell, would form a good nucleus to commence with.

Careful investigation of all available sources would reveal several mysteries connected with the early history of India. The inquiry should have the full support of the Indian Government and local authorities. Zeal on their part would call forth other efforts.

Several histories intended for schools have been noticed under the head of educational works. The following appears to be the only one in addition published by Tamilians, and that was principally through the the aid of a Government grant.

History of the Discovery of America. 8vo. 100 pp. 6 as. M. U. G. K. S. G. B. D.

The following are the only two works on General History, exclusive of School Books, published by Europeans, the compiler has met with:

CLASS I. PERIODICALS AND NEWSPAPERS.

SECTION I. Periodicals.

There are 12 monthly periodicals issued at present in the Tamil language. With two exceptions, all are conducted by Christians.

The first periodical issued in India seems to have been the Tamil Magazine, commenced by the Madras Religious Tract Society in 1831. It suffered greatly from the frequent changes in the editorship. The insertion latterly of long sermons may also have had an injurious effect upon the circulation. In 1846 it was resolved to merge it into a fortnightly publication, "The Truthful Messenger," in newspaper form. "Partly in consequence of its not realizing the expectations formed of its influence and success, and partly owing to the departure for England" of the Editor, it was discontinued at the close of six months.*

The oldest existing Tamil periodicals on the continent are the "Missionary Gleaner," printed at Nagercoil, and the "Friendly Instructor," issued at Palamcottah. Judging from the number on the title page, the former appears to have been established about 1840. Its main object is to diffuse Missionary intelligence. The Palamcottah Magazine is not numbered, but it has been published for a number of years.

In 1854, the "Tamil Quarterly Repository" was commenced by the American Madura Mission, under the editorship of the Rev. E. Webb. The main design was to furnish the Mission Agents with text-books to assist them in their studies. Watts on the Mind, Church History, and Natural Philosophy, were some of the subjects. Four volumes were published. It was found to be inconvenient to have portions of books in different volumes, and in lieu of the Quarterly Repository, the Mission agreed to support a scheme for the publication of distinct treatises.

The Nagercoil and Palamcottah periodicals being chiefly intended for Christians, an Illustrated Monthly Magazine, the Desopakari (Friend of the Country) designed to reach, if possible, the Hindus, was commenced in 1861, by the Christian Vernacular Education Society. It has been ably edited by the Rev. F. Baylis, Neyyor. The average monthly circulation has been about 1,000 copies, and a good many more are sold in volumes. The circulation, however, is mainly confined to Christians.

The Rev. R. M. Baaboo of the Free Church Mission, Madras, has edited for several years "The Lamp of Truth," chiefly circulated in Madras. "The religious enlightenment of the Hindus," is its leading object.

In 1863 "The South Travancore Christian Messenger" was commenced at Nagercoil. It contains short pointed articles, somewhat in the style of the British Messenger.

The Arunotayam (Dawn of Day) was established in 1863 by the Lutheran Mission.

Mr. S. Samuel Pillay, Munshi, a member of the Lutheran Mission congregation, Madras, has issued at intervals a Magazine called, சிங்கலையற்ற விளக்கம். The title of the periodical edited by him at present is நடுவுண்டு விளக்கம்.

A periodical of an interesting character was commenced at Madras in 1865, termed, Amirtha Vachani, an illustrated Magazine for Hindu females. The prinprincipal contributors are said to be Native Christian ladies.

The preceding publications are for adults; those for children may next be noticed.

A quarterly Magazine for the young, Pala Tipikai, "Children's Lamp," was commenced at Nagercoil about 1840, and was continued for a number of years. The last No. in possession of the compiler was printed in 1852.

Another quarterly periodical for the young, Sirupillaiyin Nesatolan "Children's Friend," was begun at Palamcottah about 1849, and was kept up for several years.

In 1858, the Mission School Magazine was established by the South India Christian School Book Society. The following year the Paliyar Nesan was commenced at Jaffna.

It has been stated that only two periodicals are issued by Hindus. One is called Tattuva Potini, and was commenced as the organ of the Madras Veda Samaj in 1864.

The discussion of religious questions caused such differences, that after some months the Magazine was exposed for sale. An active member then took it up; but the contents were to be mainly limited to literature and social reform. This probably lead to the establishment of another Magazine in 1865, Viveka Vilakkam, in which religious subjects are also discussed.

For convenient reference the names of the various existing Periodicals are given below:

The Missionary Gleaner. 8vo. 8 pp. 3 annas a year per copy exclusive of postage. 6 copies for 1 rupee, or 25 copies for Rs. 3½. 25 copies may be sent for 1 anna postage. Orders to be addressed to the Rev. J. Duthie, Nagercoil.

The South Travancore Christian Messenger. Same size and price as the preceding. Orders received by Rev. J. Lowe, Nagercoil.

Desopakari. Illustrated Magazine for adults, 8vo.
18 pp. 6 as. a year. 9 copies may be sent for one anna Postage. Orders received by Rev. F. Baylis, Nagercoil.

Mission School Magazine. 16mo. 18 pp. 1 anna a year. 20 copies may be sent for 1 anna postage. Orders received by Rev. J. Duthie, Nagercoil.

The Friendly Instructor. 8vo. 20 pp. 4 as. a year. Order to be addressed to the Church Mission Press, Palamcottah.

Arunotayam. 8vo. 16 pp. 4 annas a year. 10 copies may be sent for one anna Postage. Orders received by the Superintendent of the Mission Press, Tranquebar.

The Lamp of Truth. 8vo 12 pp. 1 Re. a year.

Amirtha Vachani. Magazine for Females. 16mo. 20 pp. 4 annas a year. Orders for both the preceding publications received by the Rev. R. M. Bauboo, Madras.

Karpakaviruksham. 8vo. 8 pp. Orders received by Mr. S. Samuel Pillay, Munshi, Madras.

Paliyar Nesan. Magazine for the young. 4 pp. folio. 8 annas a year. Orders received by the Rev. E. P. Hastings, Jaffna.

Tattuva Potini. 8vo. 24 pp. Rs. 1½ a year; with postage, Rs. 2. Orders to be addressed to the Tattuva Potini Press, St. Thome, Madras.

Viveka Vilakkam. 8vo. 8 pp. 8 as. a year. Printed at the same Press as the foregoing. Missionaries should watch the progress of native opinion, as indicated by the above periodicals.

Section II. Newspapers.

Several Tamil Newspapers in succession were started by Natives about twenty-five years age. They expired after a brief term of existence. In 1855, the Rev. P. Percival commenced a weekly Tamil Newspaper, called Tinavartamani, containing 8 large quarto pages. The price to Natives in Madras is Rs. 3 per annum; to Europeans, Rs. 5; to provincial subscribers, including Postage, Rs. 5 per annum. The low price and the excellence of the paper seem to have rendered competition hopeless. Since its establishment it has maintained almost undisputed possession of the field. Literary and scientific articles are included as well as news, with occasional translations in English of Tamil classical authors. Native correspondents are allowed freely to ventilate their opinions through its columns. On the whole, it is doing a considerable amount of good.

Each Collectorate in the Madras Presidency has its District Gazette. This is an admirable "institution," peculiar, it would appear, to South India. The contents include, in English and the vernacular, all Government orders relating to the District, weekly Calendars, Weather Reports, Price Lists, and other information calculated to be useful. It is reported that occasionally what may be termed mild editorials, have appeared on matters connected with the districts. A weekly Police Circular is now appended to each Gazette. The terms of subscription are as follows: To subscribers other than Village Servants, 3 as. per mensem. To Public and Village Servants drawing less than 25 Rs. 2 as. Single copies 1 anna each. Private advertisements, if not inconsistent with the nature of the Gazette, are admitted at ¼ anna per line. The Gazettes were commenced about 1856. The Presses, besides printing the Gazettes, effect a great saving in multiplying copies of orders. The value of the work turned out by the presses has been increasing yearly, as will be seen from the following statement:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Total (Rs.)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1857-58</td>
<td>28,186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1858-59</td>
<td>42,208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1859-60</td>
<td>53,262</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1860-61</td>
<td>64,166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1861-62</td>
<td>81,284</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1862-63</td>
<td>92,084</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1863-64</td>
<td>1,10,704</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1864-65</td>
<td>1,32,444</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
The expenditure during 1864-65 amounted only to Rs. 51,906. Thus there was a profit to Government of Rs. 80,538.

Bellary had the largest number of subscribers to its Gazette, amounting to 1,295; Vizagapatam, the fewest, only 47. In the Tamil Collectorate, the numbers of Subscribers were as follows; Madras, 241; South Arcot, 226; Tanjore, 213; Trichinopoly, 157; Madura, 215; Tinnevelly, 62; Coimbatore, 419; Salem, 160.

The postage, costing more than the paper, has been a bar hitherto to the circulation. By a recent order, this has been obviated.

_Jaffna Morning Star_. A Tamil newspaper, bearing this title, has been issued twice a month for many years by the American Jaffna Mission. It is decidedly Christian in character and well conducted. Price 1 Re. a year; with Ceylon Postage, Rs. 1½.

ADDENDA.

The following are a few books which were not inserted in their proper places:—

* Sumner’s _Exposition of Luke_. Translated by C. Jesudasen Pillay.

* _First Tamil and English Reading Book_. 8vo. 90 pp. 1850. By J. G. Seymer.

_Veda Viscsham_. வேத விசோசம். 18mo. 180 pp. 2 as. A. M. Jaffna. Scripture doctrines and duties.

_Ilangkai Sarittiram_. இலங்கை சரித்திரம். History of Ceylon.

* _Attisudi_. 12mo. 84 pp. Bangalore. 1848. Tamil and English, with notes by Rev. J. Sugden.

_Samajattar Mutal Vinnappam_. சமாஜக்கார புள்ளூர் வின்னப்பம். 12mo. 321 pp. 1865. This is the first of a proposed series of works by the Madras Veda Samaj. It is chiefly against idolatry, and is ably written. Missionaries should obtain copies. It is printed at the Tattuva Potini Press, St. Thome, Madras, where it is sold. The price is about 8 annas.

_Tiruvalluvar’s Kural_. 18mo. 94 pp. 1864. The First ten Chapters, with explanatory Notes. Edited by the Rev. R. M. Bauboo. 8 as.

* Reading Lessons arranged for every day in the year. 8vo. Madras A. M. P. 1844.

* _The Aurora_ Bi-monthly Magazine printed at the A. M. P. about 1842.

INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

A

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Abdul Messee</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abridgment of Rhenius' Tamil Grammar</td>
<td>xxxv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Scripture History</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Tamil Grammar</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abstract of Spener's Exposition of Luther's Catechism</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Accepted Time</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adaikkala Malai, அதைக்கால மலை</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Address to Roman Catholics</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Admonition, or Sermon on the Mount</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adultery, Tract on</td>
<td>35,41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Æsop's Fables, அசோப்ஸ் பௌத்தம்</td>
<td>158</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aiyasamiyam Ammaniyam, ஆயசமியம் அம்மனியம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akappey Sittar Padal, அகப்பேய் சித்தர், &amp;c.</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akastiyar Amuta Kalaikkiyamam, அகாஸ்தியர் அமுதா கலைக்கியம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akastiyar Amuta Kalaik. Surukkam, அகாஸ்தியர் அமுதா கலைக் குருக்கம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akastiyar Kanma Kandam, அகாஸ்தியர் காமா காண்டம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do Suttiyaram, அகாஸ்தியர் சுத்தியாரம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do &amp;c. அகாஸ்தியர் காண்டம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Paripashai, அர்பபஷையின் பார்பாண்டு</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Paripuranum, அர்பபஷையின் பார்பாணணு</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Purananuld, அர்பபஷையின் பொர்னணாணல்</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sangkusutti, அர்பபஷையின் சங்குசுத்தி</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Senturam, அர்பபஷையின் செந்தூரம்</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tidsaviti, அர்பபஷையின் திஸ்தவிதி</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Vaiyittiya Kaviyam, வையிட்டியா கவிதை</td>
<td>173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>&amp;c.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akastiyar Vaiyittiya Rattina, வையிட்டியா ராத்தியா ராத்தியா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akapporul Ilakkanum, அக்கப்போர் உலக்கனம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A Kempis, Extracts from</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akilandavalli Asiriya, &amp;c. ஆகிளண்டாவல் ஆசிரியா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Akilandisvari &amp;c. ஆகிளண்டிஸ்வாரி, &amp;c.</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

21
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Alakar Antati, ஆகர் அந்தாண்டியியம்</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kalampakam, தோ கலம்பகம்</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alakar Pillai Tamil, ஆகர் பிளைதமிலம்</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alakesuraj Rajah Katali, ஆகேசுராஜ் ராஜாத் கடலி, &amp;c.</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alavai Perttookutti, அலவை பெர்த்தொக்குட்டி</td>
<td>178</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alipatthusa Kappiyam, அலிபதுஸா கப்பியம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allimaka Rajan Katali, அலில்மாகா ராஜா கடலி, &amp;c.</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Allipadsha Nadakam, அலிபாட்சா நாதகம்</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alliyarasani Malai, அலியாராசானி மலை</td>
<td>186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alliyarasani Nadakam, அலியாராசானி நாதகம்</td>
<td>196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alphabet, Tamil</td>
<td>vii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alphabet Cards</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alphabets and Spelling Lessons</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alakira Oppari, அலாகிரா ஓப்பாரி</td>
<td>187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amadorppavattin &amp;c., ஆமாடோர்ப்பாவட்டின் &amp;c.</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amirtha Vachani, ஆமிர்தா வாஞ்சி</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ampai Kanakam, அம்பை காநகம்</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ampikai Malai, அம்பிகை மலை</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amuta Saram, அமுதா சரமம்</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analysis of the New Testament</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analysis of Scripture</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anantavirath-Konpu Katali, அணாந்தவிராத் கொண்பு கடலி, &amp;c.</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anatomy, Physiology, and Hygiene</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ancient Prophecies</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Andrew Dunn</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anecdotes</td>
<td>35,35,35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Angkampumpavaiyar Sarittiram</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Angkampumpavaiyar Vilasam</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Angkattal Akaviyararital, அங்ககட்டல் அகவியாரிதல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anglo-Tamil Dictionary</td>
<td>xxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Angnan-Na Tushanamaruttal, அங்கேநாதுசநாராமருட்டல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Angsaneeyar Patikam, அங்கசனீயார் படிகம்</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anittiya Nittiya Vittiyasam, அநிதியிய விதியாசம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aniyiyal Vilakkam, அனியியல் விளக்கம்</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anumar Anuputti, அனுமர்த் அனுபுத்தி</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Satakam, டோ சாதகம்</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aparodsatmanupava Tipikai, அபரொட்டசத்மனுபவா திபிகை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apayesitulpustami, ஆபேயேசிதல்புஸ்தமி</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apimannan Sunteri Malai, ஆபிமாணன் சுண்டரிமலை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apirami Antati, ஆபிராமிய அந்தாண்டியம்</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apisheka Malai, ஆபிசிகா மலை</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apparsuvami Tevaram, ஆப்பாசுவாமி தேவராமம்</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apparsuvami Patikam, ஆப்பாசுவாமிபதிகம்</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apushakama Malai, ஆபுசகாமகம் மலை</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arabian Nights</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arakkumalikai, அரக்குமாலிகை</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Araneri Saram, அரணேரி சரம்</td>
<td>158</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arappalisura Satakam, ஆரப்பலிஸூரா சதாகம்</td>
<td>159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are you ready?</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ari Kirthanikal, அரியிரித்தானிகல்</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arissantira Puranam, அரிஸண்டிரா புராணம்</td>
<td>187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Vilasam, உயிர்பகுதி விளசம்</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arissunan Tapasam, அரிஸண்டன் தபஸம்</td>
<td>187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arithmetical Primer,</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arivananta Sittiyar, அவியண்டா சித்தியார்</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arivuvilakkam, அரிவுக்கள்கம்</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arnotts Garden of Paradise,</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do True Christianity,</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ars. Aintukaya Pirangsisku &amp;c, ஆர்ஸ் அின்றுகையா பிரங்கிக்குரை &amp;தலைகை</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Gnanappirakasiyar &amp;c, ஆது ஜனன்பிராகசியர் &amp;தற்காலது</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Inmasiyar Gnanana Tiyanangkal</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do Tiyanangkal, அது ஒயனானா தியனங்கல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Pirangsiskuvin Sarittiram, அது பிரங்கிக்குவின் சார்டித்தாம்</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Saveriyar Sarittiram, தோ சாவரியா சார்டித்தாம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arssirati, அிர்ஸிராதி</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arssiyasishdarkalin Sarittiram, அரிஸியாசிஷ்டார்காலின் சார்டித்தாம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arutta Pansakam, அருட்டா பண்காம்</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arulanantar Sarittiram, அருலாணானார் சார்டித்தாம்</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arunai Kalampakam, அருனேய காலம்பாகம்</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arunaikiri Antati, அருனைகிரி அண்டாதி</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arunakirinarar Pansaratthinam, அருனாகிரினார் பாணாரதினம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tiruppukal, ஆதூபுக்கைல் திருப்புக்கல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tiruvakuppu, ஆதூவாக்கூப்பு திருவாக்குப்பு</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arunasala Kirttnai, அருநாசலகிர்த்தாயிற்</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arunasala Puranam, அருநாசலபுராணம்</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aruncesar Malai, அருந்தசேர் மலை</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arunotayam, அருனோடையம்</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arupattumuvar &amp;c. ஆருப்பதுமுவர் &amp;தலைகை</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assembly's Shorter Catechism</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Asuva Sastiram, அசுவாசாஸ்டிரம்</td>
<td>177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Asvamata Parvam, அஸ்வமதா பரவம்</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Astronomical Errors</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Astronomy, ஆஸ்திரோனோமியா</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atonement</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attributes of the Hindu Triad</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attuvidatanupavam, அதுர்வதனபுவம்</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aurora</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avatuta Samvatam, அவது சமவதம்</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avirovatvunyar, அவிரவவுன்யர்</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ayottiya Kandam, ஆயோத்தியா காண்டம்</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alavivay Kaddalai, ஆலவிவ்வை கட்டலை</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anantahkalippu, அணந்தகலிப்பு</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ananta Kummi Padal, ஆண்டா கும்மிப்படல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anputti Malai, அன்புற்றி மலை</td>
<td>159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Araniya Kandam, ஆரணியா காண்டம்</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aratara Usal, அரத்னர உசல்</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arellottontati, அரலூல்லோட்டத்தியின்</td>
<td>99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Artti Pirapantam, அர்த்திபிரப்பண்டம்</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arumuka Svami Assiriya Virattam, அருமுகச்சுவாமி ஆசிரியா விராட்டம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Asiriya Nikandu, அசிரியா நிகாண்டு</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Astana Malai, ஆஸ்தானமலை</td>
<td>159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atissuvadi, ஆதிசுவாடி</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atmnapotapprakasikai, ஆதம்புப்பற்றகசிகை</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atmavasa Vivaranam, ஆதம்புவரசம்</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attisudi, அத்திசுட்டி</td>
<td>159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Puranam சுவாமி புராணம்</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Venpa, சுவாமி வென்பா</td>
<td>159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attuma Nesam, ஆடுமாணைம்</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attuma Niranayam, ஆடுமானிராணம்</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ayattam, ஆயாட்</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ayattam, ஆயாட்</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ayirammasala, ஆயிரம்பாசல்</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

B

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Balfour's Statistical Map of the World</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barnes' Notes on Matthew</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do John</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barren Fig Tree</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barth's Church History</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bazar Book</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Medicines</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Best's Surveying</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bible the best Teacher</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Contrasted &amp;c.</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Dictionary</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bible the Doctrines</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Story Book</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Testimony</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Biography of Nicholas Paramandar</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Birth of Christ</td>
<td>30,34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Blind Way</td>
<td>24,35,36,43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Body of Divinity</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bogatsky's Golden Treasury</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Book of Islamism</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Book of Proverbs Explained and Illustrated</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Book of Services Church of England</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bower's Vocabulary Part I</td>
<td>xxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do do Part II</td>
<td>xxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brazen Serpent</td>
<td>38,40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brief Sketch of the History of the Church &amp;c.</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Browne's First Geography</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Butler's Sermons on Human Nature, &amp;c.</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Canaan Map of</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catechism of the Elements of Geography</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Gospel History</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Natural Philosophy</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on the Old Testament</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Scripture Doctrine</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Scripture History</td>
<td>26,46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Tamil Grammar</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cankergold, Mr.</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carnatic Dynasty</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Caste as it exists among Hindus and Native Christians</td>
<td>23,37,44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catechist's Manual</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catechumens, Lectures to</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Caution</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chambers' Geographical Primer</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Characteristic Marks of a Divine Religion</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Characteristics of a Believer</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Check to Evil Propensities</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Childhood of Christ</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Child's Arithmetic</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Instructor</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chingleput Civil Dispensary</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cholera</td>
<td>37,46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Choose the Best</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christ the good Physician</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christianity &amp; Hinduism Contrasted</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christian Instructor</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christian Lyrics for Children</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christian Minister</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christian Psalmody</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christian Union</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chronologica l Arrangement of Scripture</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Circular Orders of the Board of Revenue</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Civil Rules of Practice</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Class-Book of Natural Theology</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Class-Book of Theology</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Classical Reader</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Collection of Scripture Passages</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cleave to that which is good</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Clouds, &amp;c.</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Come to Jesus</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Compend of Astronomy</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Commentary on the Gospels and Acts</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do Hebrews</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Timothy and Titus</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Common Prayer</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comparative Grammar of the Dravidian Languages,</td>
<td>xxxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Companion to the Holy Communion (Tranquebar)</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do (Dr. Caldwell)</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Compendium of Scripture History</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Concordia</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Confirmation (Order of)</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contemplations on the Gospels</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contemporary Pedigree</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Contentment</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conversation</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conversation (for Muhammedans)</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conversation on the Veda</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conversion of a Muhammedan</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conversion of the Tahitians</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cookery, Pulavanul, துளவன்</td>
<td>178</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Criminal Procedure Code</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Crown of Holiness</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Culprits false plea</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cup of Divine Milk</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Daily Monitor</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dampasariyar Malai, பாம்பசரியர் மலையியத் மாற்றம்</td>
<td>187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Vilasam</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Day of Salvation</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dawn of Wisdom</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Death of a Little Girl</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Decision of Character</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Deficiency of Rain</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Description of Madura</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do the Carnatoca Lords</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Desert Flower</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Desopakari</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Destruction of Superstition</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Devout Inquiries</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dialogue between a Christian and a Casi Pundaram</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on Muhammadanism</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on Physical Science</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on Salvation</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dictionnaire Latin Français</td>
<td>xxxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dictionarium Latino-Gallico-Tamilicum</td>
<td>xxxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dictionary Malabar and English</td>
<td>xxxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dictionary of the Tamil and English Languages</td>
<td>xxxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Discourses of our Blessed Lord</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Discussions against the use of Ardent Spirits</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>District Gazettes</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divine Justice</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divine Justice and Mercy</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Knowledge</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Proclamation</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Spirit distinct from the Human</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Songs</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Teaching</td>
<td>40,42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divinity of Christ</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of the Holy Spirit</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doctrinal Catechism</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doctrine of the Soul</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doddridge's Rise and Progress of Religion</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Domestic Animals</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do you know your Creator ?</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drew's First Catechism</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drunkenness</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dutch Reformed Liturgy</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Duties of Masters and Servants  - - - - 35
Duty of a good Communicant  - - - - 12

E

Easy Reader  - - - - 223
Ecclesiastical History  - - - - 28
Educate your Children  - - - - 42
Education in India, Hints on  - - - - 219
Eighty-six Sketches of Sermons  - - - - 29
Ekamparakatar Pansarattinam  - - - - 77
  Do Sarittiram, பி.பி.முய - - - - 77
  Do Ula, ஊல - - - - 77
  Do Viruttam, விருட்டம் - - - - 77
Ekanti Nadam, கண்டிப் பலம் - - - - 198
Ekatali Makattuvam  - - - - 107
Elementary Algebra  - - - - 229
  Do Arithmetic - - - - 229
  Do Catechism - - - - 219
Elements of Algebra  - - - - 229
  Do of Chemistry - - - - 230
Ellammai Patenu, &c  - - - - 117
Empiran Satakam  - - - - 107
Employment of Time  - - - - 85
Enduring Possession  - - - - 41
English and Tamil Dictionary  - - - - xxxvii
  Do Vocabulary - - - -
English Grammar for Tamil Youth  - - - - 226
  Do in English and Tamil - - - - xxxvi
Eniyerram, இனியேரம் - - - - 188
Ensuvadi, என்புவாத் - - - - 177
Erelupatu  - - - - 188
Erroneous Way  - - - - 45
Errors and Novelties of Romanism  - - - - 37
Essay on Faith  - - - - 21
Essence of Christian Doctrine  - - - - 41,42
  Do of Wisdom - - - - 36
Evidences of Christianity  - - - - 23
  Do from Hinduism itself - - - - 45
  Do from Scripture - - - - 37
Evil of Sin  - - - - 42
Evils of Drunkenness  - - - - 41,43
Evils of Litigation  - - - - 44
Do of the Tongue  - - - - 43
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Euclid, First Book</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Excellency of the Bible</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Well-doing</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Explanation of Baptism, &amp;c</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Parables</td>
<td>87</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exposition of the Creed</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Expositions of the Collects and Gospel Lessons</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exposition of the Lord's Prayer</td>
<td>39,40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Expositions of Prophecy</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exposition of the Psalms</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Expository Lectures on the Moral Law</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Exposure of Popery</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Explanation</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fabricius's Hymn Book</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fabricius's Letter to the Heathen</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Faithful Promiser</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Far Off</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fear Not</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fear of God is the Beginning of Wisdom</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fifth and Sixth Books</td>
<td>xxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fifth Instructor</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Book</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do in English and Tamil</td>
<td>xxxix</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Book of Lessons</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Book of Reading Lessons</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Catechism</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First History of England</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Instructor</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Poetical Reader</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Principles No I, No II.</td>
<td>42,220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do of Christian Truth</td>
<td>40,220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Steps to the Catechism</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fishes, Ῥώπες Ἡροῦ</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flavel's Saint Indeed</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Follies of Hinduism</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Follow Jesus</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Folly of Demon Worship</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Footsteps of St. Paul</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Four Lectures on Baptism</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on Hebrews</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fourth Book</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fourth Instructor</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fowler's Discipline and Instruction</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friendly Epistle to Roman Catholics</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Instructor</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garland of Illustrations</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garland of 300 Gems</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garland of Praise</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Genealogy of Kings of the Race of the Sun</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geographical Primer</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geography</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do for small Children</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Palestine</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of the Madras Presidency</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Knowledge</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gerhard's Meditations</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glad Tidings</td>
<td>38,42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glory of Christ</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanana Arutil, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanakirisar &amp;c. மாதிரிகள், &amp;c.</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanam Kummi, தென்பெருக்கம் 128,153</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanamatiyullan, தென்பெருக்கம் 128</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanamirtam, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanamirta Tadakam</td>
<td>51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Musipparam Neram, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Muyarssi, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnananantam, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanam Nuru, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Pu Malai, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Ratna Kuravansi உலகச் யேற்று, &amp;c.</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sopianam, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gnanasukatita Venpa, உலகச் யேற்று, &amp;c.</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Tipikai, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Upatesa Vilakkum, உலகச் யேற்று, &amp;c.</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Upatesa Surukkam, உலகச் யேற்று 54</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Vasiddam, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Veddian, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gñana Vunarttural, உலகச் யேற்று</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>God's Choice the best for his People</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>God's Displeasure at Idolatry</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Good Advice</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Good Counsel</td>
<td>35,43</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Good Example - - - - - - - - 46
Good Foundation - - - - - - - - 36
Good Instruction - - - - - - - - 43
Good Mother - - - - - - - - 16
Good Opportunity - - - - - - - - 43
Good Samaritan - - - - - - - - 38
Good Teacher - - - - - - - - 37
Good Way - - - - - - - - 41
Good Words - - - - - - - - 42
Grace for all - - - - - - - - 41
Grammaire Francaise Tamoule - - - - xxxvi
Grammar of the High Dialect of Tamil - - - - xxxv
Grammar of the Tamil Language - - - - xxxv
Grammatica Damulica - - - - xxxiv
Do Latino-Tamulica - - - - xxxiv
Great Physician - - - - - - - - 42
Gunpowder Manufacture, சுசுசுசுசுசுசுசுசு - - 178

Hall's Outlines of Astronomy, அண்ணஹ்ஸ் கிந்து, &c. - - 169
Hannah - - - - - - - - 46
Happy Death - - - - - - - - 46
Harmony of the Gospels, தொலோட்டையில் பெரிய மெலையும் - - 27
Harmony of the Gospels - - - - - - 27
Health and how to preserve it - - - - - 41,44,47
Heathen Festivals - - - - - - - - 227
Hemispheres, Map of - - - - - - - 31
Heavenly Medicine - - - - - - - - 31
Heavenly Way - - - - - - - - 35,42
Hinduism - - - - - - - - 38
Hindu Conversation - - - - - - - - 45
Hindu Triad - - - - - - - - 35
Hindustani Charittra - - - - - - - 227
Hinduism and Christianity Contrasted - - - - 47
Hints on Education in India - - - - - - 219
Historia Ecclesiastica - - - - - - - 27
Hindu Traveller - - - - - - - - 230
Historical Chart - - - - - - - - 240
Historical and Geographical Index of Names, in N. T. - - 18
History of David, Part I. - - - - - - 31
Do of the Apostles - - - - - - - - 28
Do of Redemption - - - - - - - - 28
Do of the sufferings and Death of Christ - - - - 27
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>History of the Progress of the Gospel in West Africa</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Cain</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of the Discovery of America</td>
<td>234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Mahomet</td>
<td>234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Great Britain</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of England</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of India</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Rome</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Holiness of God</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Holy Scriptures</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Holy Spirit and His Gifts</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Homiletics</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Honesty the best Policy</td>
<td>36,41,44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hymns for Children</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hymn Book (English Metres)</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Book (German Metres)</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Book (Native Metres)</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

I

Iddaikkaddu Sittar Padal, ஐந்தாங்கட்டு சித்தார், &c. 140
Identity of Popery and Heathenism 25,37
Idol Car 35
Idolatry Against 35
Do a Child's Play 42
Do Concerning 36
Do Condemned 41,42
Ilakkana Kottu, இல்க்காண்டக் கூட்டு 212
Do Nulataram 225
Do Nul Surukkam 225
Do Surukkam 225
Do Suruka Vinavidai, இல்க்காண்ட வினாவியை 212
Ilakkana Vinavidai, இல்க்காண்ட வினாவியை 212
Hatttasilakkana Nursurukkam 226
Ilanghai Sarittiram 239
Ilungkamata Kandanam, இலுங்காணம், &c. 142
Image Worship 34
Improper Marriage Alliance &c. 44
Incarnate Grace 45
Incarnation of Christ 33
India, Map of 227
Indian Pilgrim Part I 23
Do Do Part II 24,34
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Index to the Penal Code .......................... 156
Indigo Cultivation ................................ 178
Inexhaustible Mine of God ..................... 33
Ingilantu Tesattarukkaka &c., இங்கிளாந்து தேசாரம் புரட்சிக்கு செய்து &c. .... 52
Iniya Narppatu, இன்மபா புரட்சிக்கு .... 159
Inna Narppatu, இன்லா புரட்சிக்கு .... 159
Inquirer and the Bible .......................... 38
Instruction ....................................... 38
Do to Catechist .................................. 22
Instruction to Native Readers ................. 44
Intirayan Padaippor, சின்னாறு படைப்பூர் &c. .. 155
Inquiry .......................................... 45
Instructions to Masters of Taluk Schools .... 219
Intira Vimana Malai, இந்திராவிமாண மலை &c. .... 99
Ipulisu Nama, இப்புலிஸு பெண்ணம் .... 150
Irakshippin Olungku, இறக்ஶிப்பின் ஓலுங்கு .... 12
Irangkesa Venpa, இறங்கேசா வேங்பா .... 159
Irathna Mukammatu &c., இறாத்தாமைப்பாம் .... 152
Irathna Sapapati Malai, இறாத்தா சபபதி மலை .... 159
Iremonger's Questions .......................... 220
Irusamaya Vilakkam, இறுசமயா விளக்கம் .... 142
Irusamaya Vilakka Joti, இறுசமயா விளக்கா ஜோடி &c. .. 142
Irusol Alangkaram &c., இறுசோல் சலங்காம் .... 208
Isabella Graham ................................ 46
Is not the Door open? .......................... 46
Is your Soul Well? .............................. 40
Iyarpa, கயார்பா .................. 107

J

Jaffna Morning Star ................................ 239
Jaganathum's Materia Medica .................. 240
James's Anxious Inquirer ...................... 15
Jenny Hickling .................................. 34
Jesus Christ the Ark of Salvation ............ 38
Jesus is the Saviour of Sinners ............. 47
Jesus, Justice, and the Sinner ............... 137
Jesus must have needs have suffered ....... 46
Jewel Mine of Salvation ....................... 38
Jewelry .......................................... 45
Joyce's Scientific Dialogues .................. 169
Judgment Day .................................... 47
Justice and Mercy Displayed - - - 34
Justification - - - 36

K
Kadavul Antati, கடவுள் ஏண்டணி - - - 129
Kadavunhiranayam - - - 49
Kaduvelli Sittar &c., கடுவெள்ளி சித்தார் &c. - 140
Kailaiyatti &c., கைலையாடி &c. - 78
Kailasanathar Satakam, கைலசனாதர் சதகம் - 160
Kaisastiram, கசாசிதிரம் - - 148
Kaivaliya Navanitam, காவிலியா நவனிதம் - 129
Kajentira Modsam, கச்செந்திரம் மோட்சாம் - 107
Kalimadal, கலிமாடல் - - 188
Kalviyulukkam, கல்வியுழுக்கம் - - 160
Kamadosiyamman Patikam, கமாதுமான் பதிகம் &c. - 95
Do Pillai Tamil, பிள்ளைதமிழ் &c. - 95
Do Viruttam, விருட்டம் பதிகம் &c. - 95
Kalingkatta Parani, கலிங்கக்கட்ட பரணி - - 188
Kaliyana Usal, காலியானா உசல் - - 188
Do Valtu, வால்து வருத்தம் - - 189
Do Yesal, யேசல் யாசல் - - 188
Kamarajan Katai, காமராஜன் காடை - - 204
Kanakkakiramam, கணக்காக்கிரமம் - - 177
Kanapati Akaval, கணபதி அகவல் - - 104
Do Antati, கணபதி ஏண்டணி - - 104
Do Kandam, கணபதி காண்டம் - - 104
Do Viruttam, கணபதி விருட்டம் - - 104
Kanavin Nul, காணப்பிட்டு ஊல் - - 148
Kannan Sandai, கண்ணன் சந்தாய் - - 189
Kannappa Nayanar &c., கண்ணப்பா நஞ்சான் &c. - 77
Kanta Purana Surukkam, காண்டபுராணப் பருக்கம் &c. - 99
Kantar Alankaram, காண்டர் அலங்காரம் - - 99
Do Anuputi, காண்டர் அனுப்புதி - - 99
Do Antati, காண்டர் ஏண்டணி - - 99
Do Sashidhi Kavasam, கவசை சாஷ்டிக் &c. - - 99
Kanta Suvami Peril &c., காண்டசுவமி பேரில் &c. - 100
Kapalisar Patikam, கபலிஸர் பதிகம் - - 77
Kapalisurar &c., கபலிஸரார் &c. - - 77
Kapila Tever Akaval, கபிளாவர் ஏண்டன் - - 140
Kapilai Vasakam - - - 204
Kapilar Satakam கபிளார் சதகம் - - 140
Kapota Vakkiyam, கபேட்டா வல்க்கியம் - - 189
Kappal Pattu, கப்பால் பாடல் - - 189
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kari-Varatar &amp;c., காரி வராள் &amp;c.</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Karumpampin Vishakaddekkku &amp;c., காரும்பாங்கு விஷயம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kassapalaiya &amp;c., காச்சபலையா &amp;c.</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kassappal Isvaran Viruttam, காச்சப்பலையா இஸ்வாரன் விருத்தம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kassi Malai, கசிமலை</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Katasintamani, கதாமித்தாமணி</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Katirkama Malai, கதிர்காம மலை</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kalaikkalammai &amp;c., களாக்களம்மாம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Karana Valtu, கரணா வல்து கொடுத்து</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Karikai, காரிகை</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kasi Kalampakam, கசிகாலம்பகம்</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kasi Kandam, கசிகாணம்</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kasi Sarittiram, கசிஸரிட்டிரம்</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kasi Tundivinayakar &amp;c., கசிதுண்டிவினாயகர &amp;c.</td>
<td>104</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kattala Malai, கடட்டா மலை</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ketari Kowri, &amp;c., கெடாரிக் கோவிரி &amp;c.</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ketarinar Viratam, கெடார்னார் விராதம்</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kilikkatai, கிலிக்காடை</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kilippadai, கிலிப்படை</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kirishna Pal கிரிஷ்ணபல்</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kiristumarkta Upatesattin &amp;c, கிரிஷ்டுமர்க்க்டா உபதேசத்தின் &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kiristumata Nirakaranam, கிரிஷ்டுமாடா நிராகரனம்</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kandana Antati, காண்டானா ஆண்டதி &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kandana Satakam, காண்டானா சதகம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kandana Malai, காண்டானா மலை &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kandana Kudara &amp;c, காண்டானா குடரா &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Astivara &amp;c, அஸ்திவரா &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kandanam, காண்டானம் காண்டானம்</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kandana Kalampakam, காண்டானா காலம்பகம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kiristumata Kandana Vassira &amp;c., காண்டானா வாசிரா &amp;c.</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Samvatam, சம்வாதம் சம்வாதம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Timirapanu, திமிரபண்ணு &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tiraskaram, திராச்கரம் திராச்கரம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Vetavikalpam, வெடாவிகல்பம் வெடாவிகல்பம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kiristunatar Anusaram, கிரிஷ்டுனாதர் அனுசாரம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kirushnanudaiya &amp;c, கிருஷ்ணனுடையம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kirushnapperumal &amp;c. கிருஷ்ணபீருமால் &amp;c.</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kishkinta Kandam, கிஷ்கிண்டா காணம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kittariyammal Ammanai, கித்தரியம்மள் அம்மனை &amp;c.</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kodiyidai Malai, கோதியியையம் மலை &amp;c.</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kongkanar Gnanam, கொங்கானார் நூற்றாண்ம</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kongkanar Kadaikkandam, ஓருண்டுபனைகள் &amp;c.</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Konraiventan, ஓரூள்ளேத்துறை -</td>
<td>160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kosuppatam, ஓத்தட்டு வைத்துணர்</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kodersur Kovai, ஓரெதர் கோவை -</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kola Tipikai, வளா சுழல் -</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kopala Vilasam, வூராம விலஸம்</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kovalan Katal, ஓரோலான் காதல்</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kovintaraja Peramal &amp;c., ஓருண்டுப்பரமல் &amp;c.</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kovinta Sattakam, வளாதுதுஸ்தகம்</td>
<td>160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kouli Sastirangkal ஓரோலி சாஸ்திரங்கல்</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kudi Kedar Malai, குடி சேர மலை</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kumara Taladu, குமர தலது</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kumaresa Satakam, குமாரசசாத்தகம்</td>
<td>160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kumaratevar Sattira &amp;c., குமாரசாத்தர் &amp;c.</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kumpakonam First English Reading Book -</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kumpakonasettira &amp;c., கும்பகோனசேட்டிரா &amp;c.</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kunangkudinar &amp;c., குனாங்குதினார் &amp;c.</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kunavakadam, குனவகடம்</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kural, குரால்</td>
<td>161,240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kuralsangkiram, குரால் சாங்கிரம்</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kurunata Satakam, குருநதாசசாத்தகம்</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kurungkalinedil, குருங்காலினேடில்</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kuru Parampara &amp;c., குரு பரம்பரை &amp;c.</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kusala Vakkiyam, குசலாவக்கியம்</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kusalava Nadakam, குசலவ நடகம்</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kusela Maka Munivar &amp;c., குசெல மநிலவர் &amp;c.</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kusela Maka Munivar Sarittira &amp;c., குசெலோ ஸரிட்டிரா &amp;c.</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kutampai Sittar &amp;c., குடாம்பைசிட்டார் &amp;c.</td>
<td>140</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kuyilammai Malai, குயிலம்மை மலை</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kuyil Padal, குயில் படல்</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kulappa Nayakan Katal, குலப்பா நாயகன் காதல்</td>
<td>189</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

L

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ladsana Virutte, லட்சன விருத்து</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lady's Tamil Book -</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lakkkina Malai, லக்கினை மலை</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lamp of Righteousness -</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Truth -</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Wisdom -</td>
<td>33,44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Last Judgement -</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lecons Faciles de Francais et de Tamoult -</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lectures on the Christian Ministry -</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lectures on Ecclesiastical History</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lecture to Educated Young Men on Religious Enquiry</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lecture on Natural Philosophy</td>
<td>160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lectures on Theology</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lecture on the Vedantic Poet Tayamanavar</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Let a Man examine Himself</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Letter addressed to Tamil Christians</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Letter to Mahomedans</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Life of Christ</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Jesus Christ</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Luther</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Oberlin</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Parthasarathy and the life of Jesus</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Polycarp</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Agnes</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Antony</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Ignatius</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Martin</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Polycarp</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Sebastiyan</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Life of Swartz</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Light of Wisdom to the Unlearned</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Little Cornelia</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Henry and his Hearer</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Philosopher</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Line upon Line t</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lives of Philip &amp;c.</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Joannes &amp;c.</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Laurence &amp;c.</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Maccarius &amp;c.</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Paul the Eremeta</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do St. Stephen &amp;c.</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Looking Glass for the Popes</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lord's Day</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Loss of the Soul</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Love of God</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Love of God to Sinners</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lund's Geometry as a Science</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do as an Art</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Luther's Smaller Catechism</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lutterinatiyalpu, மூட்டையலு பதி குறியீடுச் செய்யும்</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lying</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyrics</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Madura Stalla Puranam</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Madras Presidency, Map of the</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Magisterial Synopsis</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mahamaham</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mahomedan Civil Law</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Makapararam, மகபராடம்</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Makaparata Vilasam, மகபராட விலாசம்</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Ati Parva Vasanam</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sapaparva Vasanam</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Vasanam</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Virata Parva Vasanam</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Makavakkiya Kaddali, மககவாட்டி கட்டல்</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Makiladissorvai Sarittiram, மகிலாசியூர்வை சரித்திரம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>205</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Malkam Lewin Turai, மல்கம் லூவின் தூரை</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mallikesuvarar &amp;c, மல்லிகேஸ்வரர் &amp;c</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manakkanitam</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manakkula Vinayakar &amp;c, மணக்குலா விநாயகர் &amp;c.</td>
<td>104</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manavala Narayana &amp;c, மானவலா நாராயணா &amp;c.</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mandikadu Festival</td>
<td>40,41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manmatan Oppari, மண்மததன் ஓப்பாரி</td>
<td>191</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sarittiram Kannikal, சரித்திரம் கஞ்சிகல் &amp;c.</td>
<td>191</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Vilasam, விலாசம்</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mantira Malai, மான்டிரா மலை</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Viyakkiyanam, வியாக்கியானம்</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mantras, or Incantations</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manual Dictionary of the Tamil Language</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of the English Law of Evidence</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Geography</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Manuniti Sastiram, மானுவிடி சாஸ்திரம்</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Man who killed his Neighbour</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Man's Abuse of God's Patience</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Maps</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marakatavalliyamman &amp;c, மரகவல்லியம்மன் &amp;c.</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mark, St.</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marks of a True Religion</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marriage</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Alliance</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do and Burial Service</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Priests</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marriage Vision</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marshman's Brief Survey of History</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Massamuni Vaippu, மசமுணி வைப்பு</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Mastan Sayapu Padal, மாஸ்தன் சயபு பக்தால் - 153
Matanakiri Rajan Katai, மாதனகிரி ராஜன் கவால் - 205
Matiyullan Nadakam, மாதி யுழல் நாதகம் - 192
Matthew St. - 39
Maturai Patirru &c, மதுரை பதிரு மேற்கு &c - 79
Maturi Venpa, மதுறி வேண்பா - 79
Maturaiiravan Akaval, மதுறையிரவன் அகவல் - 118
   Do Ammanai, மதுறையிரவன் அம்மணி - 118
   Do Vilasam, மதுறையிரவன் விளாசம் - 198
Maxims for Guidance in the Conduct of Life - 12
Mayilasala Antati, மாயிலகை அண்டாடி - 100
   Do Viruttam, மாயிலகை வீரடம் - 100
Maddu Vakadam, மாத்து வககடம் - 177
Manasa Patikam, மணசா பதிகம் - 130
Mariyamman Taladdu, மாரியம்மன் தலாட்சு - 117
Markkanda Vilasam, மார்க்கண்டா விளாசம் - 198
Matar Punar Vivaka Kandanam, மாதார் புனர் விவகா கண்டனம் &c - 209
Matava Perumal &c, மதவபுரம் பருவமல் &c - 108
Means of Bliss - 36, 42
Medical Mission Hospital, Address, - 47
Meditations on Passion of Jesus Christ - 13
   Do on the Titles of Christ - 15
Memoir of Revd. C. C. Leitch - 28
Megnana Saram, மெக்நானா சரம் - 130
Mental Arithmetic - 45
Mercy and Justice - 29
Messiah's Conquests - 79
Meyngnana Suvami &c. மேய்கென்னா சுவாமி &c - 175
Midwifery - 30
Milton's Paradise Lost, Compendium of
Minadsiyamman Akaval, மினாத்தியம்மன் அகவல் - 95
   Do Kalivenpa, காலவின்பா கோவே &c - 95
   Do Pillai Tamil பிள்ளை தமிழ் - 95
Ministerial Advice - 37
Ministerial Advice on Caring for Soulst - 14
Minnoli Malai, மின்னணி மலை - 191
Minnoliyal மின்னணியல் - 191
Minor Poets First Book - 224
   Do Second Book - 224
   Do Complete Edition - 224
   Do Text alone - 224
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Miracles of our Blessed Lord - - - - 37,39
Mirror of Custom - - - - 30
Miscellaneous Poems - - - - 237
Mission School Magazine - - - - 236
Missionary Gleaner - - - - 46
Do Story - - - - 52
Modavirakkini, &c., கோட்டாரம் தமிழ், &c. - - 130
Mokavatai Parani, மேகாவாதார் பாரணி - - 227
Morris' History of India - - - - 227
Do of England - - - - 43
Moses, the Pious Negro - - - - 16
Mothers in South India - - - - 36,45
Mother's Manual - - - - 142
Mudamati Kandamam, முத்தோம் கண்டமம் - - 153
Mukiyittinandavar, &c., முக்கியித்தியாண்டார், &c. - - 108
Mumudsappadi, மும்பூட்டுப்பாத்தி - - 206
Muppattirandu Patumai Katai, மப்பாட்டிராண்டு பதுமை கடை, &c. - - 100
Muraka Kadavul Patikam, மறழகுல பதிகம், &c. - - 100
Murukan Anuputi, முருகன் அனுபதி - - 100
Murukan Malai, முருகன் மலை - - 100
Murukan Taladdu, முருகன் தலாட்டு - - 100
Murukar Antati, முருகர் அண்டதி - - 100
Murukar Oyil, &c., முருகர் தையல் - - 100
Murukares Iraddai, &c., முருகரேசு இரட்டை, &c. - - 100
Muttukkumara Suvami Pillai, &c., முத்துக்குமார சுவாமி பிள்ளை, &c. - - 117
Muttumariyamman Patikam, முத்துமாரியம்மன் பதிகம், &c. - - 79
Muttuthandavar Kirtanai, முத்துத்தாண்டவர் கிர்தணை - - 119
Muttuvinyakar, &c., முத்துவிய்கர் - - 212
Muttuvirayi Paddu, முத்துவிரையைப் பாடு - - 161,289
Mutarai, முதுரை - - - - 79

N
Nadesar Kirttanam, நடேசார் கிர்த்தாணம் - - 79
Nadinul, நடிநுல் - - - - 175
Nadisintamani, நாதிஸின்தமணி - - - - 175
Naidatam, நைடாடம் - - - - 191
Nala Sakkiravartthi Katai, நால மண்டிகாரவார் கதை, &c. - - 206
Nallan Venpa, நல்லன் வெண்பா - - - - 191
Nalan Kummi, நல்லன் கும்மி - - - - 191
Nallatangkam Katai, நல்லதங்கம் கதை - - 206
Nalvali, நல்வாழி - - - - 163
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Namassivaya Malai, நம்பாசிவய மலைய்</td>
<td>79</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nammalvar Iraddaimani Malai, நம்மல்வர் இராட்டானமி மலைய், &amp;c.</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kirttanaik, கிர்த்தணைக்</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Nurrantati, நூர்தண்டைத்</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nampiyandarnampi Tiruvantati, நம்பியாண்டார் திருவாண்டைத்</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nanneri, நந்தரி</td>
<td>163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nannul, நண்ணுல்</td>
<td>212</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nantan Kirttanaik, நந்தன் கிர்த்தணைக்</td>
<td>191</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sarittiram, சாரித்திரம்</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Napiyavatara Ammanai, நபியவதரா அம்மானை</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Napoleon's Book of Fate</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Narasingka Vijayam, நாராசிங்கா விஜயம்</td>
<td>191</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nassuppoypai, நசுப்பொய்ப்பை</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Native Arithmetical Tables</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Natural History of Animals</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Natural Philosophy, நாட்டைச்சுற்றுக்கள்</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Navamani Tipam, நவமணி திபாம்</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Navaniti Saram, நவணிதி சரம்</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Navarattina Malai, நவராத்தினா மலைய்</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nakur Patikam, நாகுர் பதிகம்</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Naladiyar, நல்லதியர்</td>
<td>163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nalayira Pirapantam, நல்யூறா பராப்பாண்டம்</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nallarivin Sara Kavi, நல்லரிவின் சரா கவி</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nalu Mantiri Katal, நலு மந்திரி கதல்</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nalvar Ananta Kalippu, நல்வர் அனந்த கலிப்பு</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nalvar Nammani Malai, நல்வர் நம்மலைய் மலைய்</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nanasivavata Kaddalai, நந்தைச்சுற்று காட்டலை</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nanmarana Ayattam, நன்மரணா ஐயாடம்</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nanopatesa Kandam</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nanray Ninai, நன்றையினையார்</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Narayana Kavasam, நாற்யாணா கவாசம்</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Malai, நாற்யாணா மலை</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Parru, நாற்யாணாபரு</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Satakam, நாற்யாணா சதகம்</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nasu Ketu, நசுகேது</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Natural Law</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Natural and Revealed Law</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Natural Phenomena, Prints</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nedungkalinedil, நேடங்கலினைண்டல்</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Needle of Adamant</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Neff’s Conversations on Sin and Salvation</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Negro Servant</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Neminata Mulam - 213
Nengsari Vilakam - 131
Nengsuvidu Tutu - 131
Nevins' Eng. and Tam. Dictionary - xxxvii
New Bathing - 47
New Birth - 33
Newport, Francis - 43
New Testament History - 27
New Testament Stories - 221
New Year, Tho - 47
Nicholl's Sunday Exercises on Morning and Evening Services - 8
Nikamanappadi Mulam - 109
Nerangana Malai - 70
Nishplanuputi - 131
Niti Neri Vilakam - 164
Nitinul - 164
Niti Saram - 165
Niti Sara Vakkiyam - 165
Niti Sintamani - 165
Nitissol - 49
Nitiyanusantana Tivviya - 109
Nittiya Sivan Sallapam - 49
Niyaya Ilakkanam - 157
Nondinakadam - 198
Notification or Scripture Parables - 44
Now is the day of Salvation - 33
Nurreddu Tiruppati Antati - 110
Do. Do. Pirapavam - 111
Do. Do. Tiruppukal - 111
Nuru Nama - 153

Observance of the Sabbath - 43
Oda Nadakam - 198
Offices (Church of England) - 8
Old Man's Home - 46
Do Path - 21
Do Sarah - 43
Do Testament History - 26
Olivilodukkam - 131
Omnipresence of God - 45
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>One Hundred Stanzas on the Character of Christ,</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Only Intercessor</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oppari Kannikal, பொப்பிரிக்கான்நிகழ்ப் பொருள்</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oradi Kirttanai, ஓர்டாத் கிர்த்தசாரம்</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oriental Astronomer, ஓர்டாத்னியாராய்ச்சி</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oruturai Kovai, ஓர்தாதுரைக்கோவை பொருள்</td>
<td>192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Osiyyatta or Ponnariya Malai, ஓஸியைத்தா பொருள், &amp;c.</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ostervald's Abridgment of the History of the Bible</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ouchterlony's Eng. and Tam. P. Dictionary,</td>
<td>xxxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Outline of Tamil Grammar</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Outline of Ancient History</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ouvaiyar Tirukkural, ஓவையார் திருக்குழாய்</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

P

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Paddanatar Koyil, &amp;c., பத்தாற்றர் கோயில், &amp;c.</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tirvidai, &amp;c. பத்தாற்றர் பொத்தை, &amp;c. 80</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paddanattuppillai Padal, பத்தாற்றுப்பில்லாய் பாடல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Mengana Pulampal, மெங்கான புலம்பல்</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pakavat Kitai, பகவாத் கிடை</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do do Saram, பகவாத் சரம்</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do do Vasannam, பகவாத் வசனம்</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palamalai Antati, பலாமலை அண்டாத்தி</td>
<td>80,101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palamoli, பலாமோலி</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palamoli Tiraddu, பலாமோலி திரட்டு பொருள்</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palanimamalai Vadivelar, &amp;c., பலனியமலை வாடிவலர், &amp;c.</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palestine, Map of</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paliyar Nesan, பலியார் மேனசார்</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palulun Sukapi Malai, பலுலுனூக்கை மாலை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pampaddi Sittar Padal, பம்பட்டினை சிட்டார் பாடல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Panavidu Tutu, பாணாயிட்டுக் தூது</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pandian Chronicle</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pangs Kirttiya, &amp;c., பங்காத் கிர்த்தியா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pangsapata, &amp;c., பங்காத் பாட்டா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pangsapota Ratna, &amp;c., பங்காத்தப்பொருள், &amp;c.</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pangsatasara Pirakaranam, பங்காத்தசனதாரம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pangsikarana, &amp;c., பங்காத்த்ராணம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pansatantira Katai, பங்காத்தண்டியார் கடை</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do. do. Padal, பங்காத் பாடல் வைத்தியமடங்குமாடல்</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pansatikara Vilakkam, பங்காத்திக்கார விலங்கம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pansa Padi Sastiram, பங்காத்து பாடைச்சநிதம்</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parables of our Blessed Lord</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paramartta Kuru Katai, பரமர்த்த குரு கடை</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paralmalai, பரால்மலை</td>
<td>146</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paramananta Tipam, பரமானந்த டிபம்</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paramapata Sopanam, பரமபத்தா சோபானம்</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parama Rakasiya, &amp;c., பராமரகசியா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paramartatarisana, &amp;c., பரமர்த்தாரிதசா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paramatevar Vilakkam, பரமாதேவர் விலங்கம்</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paraphrase on a portion of Pope's Anthology</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parappirama Vivekam, பரப்பிராம விவேகம்</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parasamaya Pillai Tamil, பராசமையா பிள்ளை தமிழ்</td>
<td>80</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parasamaya Kolariyar, &amp;c., பராசமையா கோளாரியார், &amp;c.</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parasu Vilakkam, பராசு விலங்கம்</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parattaiyar Malai, பராதையார் மலை</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patangsalai Mamunivar, &amp;c., பாடங்சாலையமணைவர், &amp;c.</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patangsaliyar Saranam, பாடங்சாலையார் சாரானம்</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patartta Kuna Sintamani, பாதார்த்தா குணா சின்னாணி</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pati Pasu Pasa Vilakkam, பாதிபாசு பாசா விலங்கம்</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patita Mattosu, &amp;c., பாதித்தா மாட்டசு, &amp;c.</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patma Purana Saram, பாத்ம புராண ஸரம்</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pativirata Makattuvam, பாதிவிராத மகாதுவம்</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pattirakiriyan Pulampal, பாதியாகிரியன் பாலம்பள்</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palarsuvadi</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Padu Turai, பாது சூரை</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pakavata Purana, &amp;c., பாகவத புராணா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pala Kandam, பாலகாண்டம்</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Topikai, படோயிகை</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Potanai,</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kanitam</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palaiyananta Suvamikal, &amp;c., பலையானாந்த சுவாமிகல், &amp;c.</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palakavi Tiraddu, பலாகாவித திராட்டு</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palapota Sampashhanai, பலபோதா சம்பாச்சனை</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Palaramayanam, பலராமாயணம்</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paley's Horse Pauline</td>
<td>23</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pangalsaladsana Surukka Vinavidai, பங்கறணலசனா சூர்க்கா விநாயிடை</td>
<td>213</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pannirandu Mantari Katai, பண்ணியங்கணை கடை</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paramasudsamsapippirayam</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parenjothi and Kirnbei</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paratata Kaddiyam, பாராத்தா காதியாம்</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parley the Porter, &amp;c., பார்லி டே பார்லேர், &amp;c.</td>
<td>39,41,46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Parttasarati Parumal, &amp;c., பார்த்தசாரதி பருமால், &amp;c.</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do. Pamalai, &amp;c., பாமாலை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do. Pansa, &amp;c., பாங்கா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do. Varukka, &amp;c., வாருக்கா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pashanda Samvatam, பாஷண்டா சம்வதம்</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patiri Gana Kumm, பாதிரி கும்மிகள்</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patmasura Vilasam, பாதமச்சார் விலங்கு</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pavalakodi Malai, பாவளகோடி மலை</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peace be unto you</td>
<td>38,40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peep of Day</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penal Code</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penputti Malai, பென்புத்தி மலை</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pearl of Great Price</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Periyunayakiyamman Asiriya, &amp;c., பெற்புனையக்கையம்மன் ஆசிரிய &amp;c.</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do: Patikam, பதிகம்</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Periya Puranam, பெரிய புராணம்</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do: Purana Saram, பூராணசாரம்</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do: Purana Kirttanai, பூராணகொர்த்தணை</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do: do Vasanam, பூராணவஸானம</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do: Tirumoli, திருமலி</td>
<td>74,112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Persian Stories, பரசியன் கதைகள</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Persian Tales, பரசியன்தகவு</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Perumputtur Udayavar, &amp;c., பூம்புத்தர் உடயவர் &amp;c.</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Perumtevi Tayar, &amp;c., பூம்பெதிவிதாயார் &amp;c.</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Perakattiyan, பேரகத்திியன</td>
<td>213</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Perinpa Kannikal, பெரின்பா காந்திகால்</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pesamadantai Katai, பெசமாதண்டை காதை</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Petakamaruttal, பெட்டக்காருஷ்டல்</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Picture Book</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pike's Early Piety</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phrase Book, &amp;c.,</td>
<td>xxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pilgrimage to Sacred Waters</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pilgrim's Progress</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pillaiyar Iraddai, &amp;c., பில்லையார் இரட்டை &amp;c.</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pious Example</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirakalatan Vilasam, பிராகலடன் விலங்கு</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Piramamuni Karukkadai, &amp;c., பிராமாமணி காருக்கடை &amp;c.</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirameya Saram, பிரமையா சரம</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Piramottira Kandam, பிரமோட்டிரா கண்டம</td>
<td>82</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirangsilakkana Nurrurakkam</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirapangsa Virota Vittiyasam</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirapota Santirotayam, பிரப்போட்டா சங்டிரோட்தாயம்</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirapulingka Malai, பிரப்போட்டுலிங்க்கா மலை</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirasanna Vinayakar, &amp;c., பிராசனாவி வினாயகர் &amp;c.</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirayassitta, &amp;c., பிராயாசித்தா &amp;c.</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pirayoka Vivekam, பிராயோகா விவேகம</td>
<td>213</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Pirevinai Vilakkam - - - - - 55
Poem on Emmanuel - - - - - 31
Poems on the Old and New Testaments - - - - - 30
Poetical Compend of the Bible - - - - - 30
Poetical Garland - - - - - 31
Poetical Version of the Book of Genesis - - - - - 30
Poetical Version of Genesis and Exodus - - - - - 31
Polyglot Vocabulary, English, Telugu, and Tamil xxxviii
Ponneri Tiruvayppadi, &c., பொண்டிர திருப்பாடி, மேற்குத் திறன்முறை, &c. - - 112
Ponneri Valinadaippatam, பொண்டிர் வளிநேய வயந்திப்பதம் - - 193
Ponnilakkam, Nellilakkam, பொண்ணில் லக்கம், பொண்ணில் லக்கம் - - 177
Ponniyamman Asiriya Viruttam, பொண்ணியம்மன் ஆசிரிய விருட்டம், &c. - - 118
Ponvannattantati, பொண்ணன் வண்டன்தாண்டறை - - - - 82
Popery Unscriptural - - - - - 36
Poruttanul, பொருட்தலுந் - - - - - 146

Po

Pokar Pujaviti - - - - - 134
Police Catechisms - - - - - 157
Police Circulars - - - - - 157
Pope's Anthology - - - - - 165
Do First Catechism of Tamil Grammar - - - - 206
Do Prose Reading Book - - - - - 206
Do Second Catechism of Tamil Grammar - - - - - 213
Do Third Tamil Grammar - - - - - 213
Porrikkalivenpa, பொரிக்கலிவேண்டை குறியீடு - - - - 83
Porrimalai, பொரிமலை மூலக் - - - - - 134
Pota Vasam, பொட்டா வசாம் - - - - - 166
Practical Expositions of the Parables of Christ - - - - - 17
Prayers for Families; Madras, T. S. - - - - - 9
Prayers for Christian families (Jaffna) - - - - - 9
Prayers from the Liturgy for Families - - - - - 9
Prayer of an Afflicted Heathen - - - - - 36
Priest and the Bible - - - - - 37
Principia Religionis Christianæ - - - - - 221
Prodigal Son - - - - - 31
Principles of Morality - - - - - 224
Protestant Catechism - - - - - 25
Protestant Religion no Novelty - - - - - 40, 41
Protestandu Matangkalin Alivu, பிரெஸ்ட்யாண்ட் மதாங்கச்சு ஆலிவு - - - - - 55
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pukalenti Iraṇa Surukkam, പുകൾനി സൂരുക്കം, &amp;c.</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pukaivandi Patam, പുകക്ഷിവിണി പറമ</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pukalsi Malai, പുക്കല്സി മലായി</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pulanteran Kālavu, പുലാന്തെരാണ് കളാവ്</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pulantiran Tutu, പുലാന്തെരാണ് തടി</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pulippani Munivar, &amp;c., പുളിപ്പാൻ മുണ്വര, &amp;c.</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do do Palateraddu, പാലക്കേറാഡ്ഡു, &amp;c.</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pulippani Munivar Vayittiyam, പുളിപ്പാൻ വയിറ്റിയം, &amp;c.</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pumisastiram, പുമിസാസ്തിരം</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pumisastira Polippu</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pumisastirappadangkal</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purnangka Kanitam</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Punarjenma Atchepam</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purvika Marai Vilakkam, പൂർവിക വിലാക്കം, &amp;c.</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purvika Sarittiram</td>
<td>234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pusaιyutavi Mantiram, പുസായ്യുടവി മന്തിരം</td>
<td>51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pururava Sakkiravartti Katai, പൂരുരവ സാക്കിരാവർത്തി കേടായ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pushpaviti, പുഷ്പാവിതി</td>
<td>83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pukola Sastirangkirakam</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pumisastirakkurippu</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pumisastirassurukam</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions on Genesis</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions to the Understanding</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions on New Testament History</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Questions in Mental Arithmetic</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Railway Company's Regulations</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rajakopala Malai, രജാകോപല മലായി</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Raja Yoka Saram, രജായോക സാരാമ</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramanuja Nurrantati, രാമാനുജ നൂരാന്തതി</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rama Nadakam, രാമ നാദാകം</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramayana Elappaddu, രാമായന എലാപ്പാഡ്ഡു</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramayana Kommaippaddu,</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramanayam, രാമാനായം</td>
<td>194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramayana Vasamam, രാമായന വാസാമം</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramayana Uttara Kandam, രാമായന ഉട്ടര കംഡം, &amp;c.</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reader to the</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reading Lessons for every Day in the Year</td>
<td>240</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ReddiKudi Yesal, രെഡ്ഢിക്കുഡി യെസൽ</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Religion or Piety</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Renunciation of Evil Ways</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Refutation of Fatalism</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Refutation of a Hindu Tract against Christianity</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Relative Duties</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Resemblance between Hinduism &amp; Romanism</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Resemblance between Paganism &amp; Rom. Catholicism</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rest that remains for God's people</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Resurrection of Christ</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Right Way</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robertson's Tamil Papers</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roman Catholic's Gospels and Acts</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Romanism Questioned</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roma Rishi, ரோமா ரிஷி</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do do Suttiram, சுட்டிரம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do do Vayittiyam, வைத்தியம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rudiments of Tamil Grammar</td>
<td>xxxv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rukmani Kaliyanam, ருக்மணி கால்யாணம்</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rutu Nul, ருது நுல்</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rules of the Uncovered Civil S. Examinations</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rulings of Suder Court</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sabbath</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sacred Lyrics</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sacred Poetry</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sadaimalai, &amp;c., சாடாமலை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sadakopar Antati, சாடகொபார் அந்ததி</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sadakopalvar Pansarattinam, சாடகொபால்வர் பஞ்சராத்தினம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saddamuni Nikandu, சாட்டாமுணி நிகாண்டு, &amp;c.</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sadasara, &amp;c., சாதாசாரா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saitapura Malai, சைதபுரா மலை</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saiyettattu Padaippor, சையெடட்டுப்பாடிப்பர்</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saiva Samaya Vina Vidalai, சாயமாயா விநாவியலை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saiva Samaya Vilakkmam, சாயமாயா விலாக்கம்</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saiva Tattuvamirtha, &amp;c., சாயமாயா தாட்டுவமிள்ளா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saiva Tushana Parikaram, சாயமாயா துழாணா பரிகரம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sakkarattu Nama, சாக்கராத்து நாமா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sakuna Nivaranan</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sakuna Nul, சாக்நூல்</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sakuntalai Vilasam, சாகுந்தலை விளசம்</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sampanta Suvami Tevaram, சம்பாந்த சுவாமி தேவரம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>83</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do Kirttanai, கிர்த்தனை சிர்த்தனை</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do Patirru, &amp;c., பாதிரு பாதிரு, &amp;c.</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sampanta Suvami Tiru, சம்பாந்த சுவாமி திரு, &amp;c.</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Samuttira Vilasam, சமுத்திர விலாசம்</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sangkarppa Nirakaranam, சங்ககர்ப்ப நிரகரணம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sangkopangka Markkam, சங்காபங்கா மார்க்கம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sanmarkka Vilakkam, சான்மார்க்கா விலங்கம்</td>
<td>13</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sannisintāmanis, சண்டிநித்தாம்பி</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saranul Sastram, சரணுல் சாஸ்த்ரம்</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sarasa Sallapa Malai, சரசாசலப்ப மலை</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saransvati Antati, சரண்சவதியாண்டாதி</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Padasalai, &amp;c., படாசலை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sariattu Malai, சரிட்டு மலை</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saritu Malai, சரிட்டு மலை</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sasivarana Potam, சசிவரணா பொடாம்</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sassitananta Malai, சசித்தண்டா மலை</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Satsampirataya, &amp;c., சட்டம்பிரதாயா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sattiyar Veta Tiruddantam, சத்தியர் வெட்டூர்த்தாண்டம் &amp;c.</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sarappirapantam, சரப்பிரபாண்டம்</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saritteratukkaddutta, &amp;c., சாறித்தூறுக்கட்டுத்தை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Gnana, &amp;c.</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Gnana Upa, &amp;c.</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sastirakummi, சாஸ்திரகும்மி</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Satakalamgkaram, சதாகலம்காரம்</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Satarana Itikasam</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sataranam, சாஸ்திரானம்</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sattiya Sapai Paridsai</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sattiya Veta Aippu tngkalain, &amp;c., சத்தியர் ஐப்புத்தங்கலின், &amp;c.</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Ladshanam, சாத்தியர் லத்தினம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Paridsai, சோடியர் பரிட்சை</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sarittira Surukkam, சாத்தியர் சுருக்கம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturakarati, சாஸ்திரகர்த்தை</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Savittiriyamman, &amp;c., சவித்திரியாம்மான், &amp;c.</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schmid's Tamil Tracts</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scripture Against Idolatry</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scripture Catechism</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scripture Doctrine concerning the Person of Christ</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Doctrines Defined, &amp;c.</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Extracts</td>
<td>19, 34, 44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Geography</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do History</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kural</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Mirrox</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Namos</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Outlines</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scripture Passages</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Texts arranged</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Text Book</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do (Text for every day)</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Texts</td>
<td>3947</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seeing Him who is Invisible</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sekkilar Puranam, கஞ்சில புராணம்</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Search the Scriptures</td>
<td>39</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Search after Truth</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Second Coming of Christ</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Second Book English and Tamil</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Select Works of Beschi, with his Life</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Selection of Scripture Texts</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Tamil Hymns</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Self Examination</td>
<td>4045</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sermon on Is. 56, 7</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sermons on the Beatitudes</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on Doctrinal, &amp; Practical subjects</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on the Apostle's Creed</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Preached in St. Mary's, &amp;c.</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do on Prophecy</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sermons by Schar</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sermon on the Mount</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Second Book</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Instructor</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Book of Lessons</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Reading Lessons</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Poetical Reader</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sesunatarudaiya Tiru, &amp;c., செைைறழைய் திரு்ச்</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Settira Kovai, சேத்தைர் கோவை</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seven Arguments</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>English Grammar in Tamil and English</td>
<td>xxxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seymer's First English and Tamil Reading Book</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Short Account of the Four Ancient Empires</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sheet Lessons, Nos. 1—10</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Short Prayers, &amp;c.</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siddu Kavi Tiraddu, ஸிபுக்காய் திராட்டு</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silai Elupatu, சிளைபூர்த்து</td>
<td>196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siluvaippatai, ஸிலுவாப்பைய் পাপড়ি</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sin Discovered</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sin of Idol Worship</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sin, On</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Singkaravelar Malai, சிங்கராவலர் மலை</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sinmaya Tepikai, Βίβλος του Ευαγγέλου</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sira Kirttanam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siruddi Sara, &amp;c., Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sirupillayin Nesatolan, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>236</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siru Pansa Mulam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siruttonda Nayanar Vilasam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Palangkatai, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siruvav Kalvi, &amp;c., Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sister’s Dream</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sittanta Sikamani, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tipikai, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sittirangkatai Vilasam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sittirarudam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivakamiyammai, &amp;c., Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivagnana Potam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tipam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivanama Sangpitttanam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivanama Vali, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siva Parakkiramam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivananta Lakiri, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivananta Malai, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivagnana Sastiram, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivaneri Pirakasam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siva Pajanai, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivappirakasam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siva Puja Mansari, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siva Punniyam, &amp;c., Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivappirakasa Kaddalai, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Venpa, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivapoka Saram, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siva’s Certificate</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivasaiva Venpa, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivavivekam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivakarunniya Telivu, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου, &amp;c.</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sivarakshamirtam, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sketches of Asia</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Europe</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do of Sermons on the Miracles</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Solemn Truths</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Songs of Praise</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Soruppa Saram, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sorupattantati, Βίβλος του Βίνυλου</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spelling Books</td>
<td>223</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Spiritual Fountain - - - - - 42
Do Lamp - - - - - 45,219
Do Light - - - - - 36,42
Do Milk - - - - - 219
Do Teaching - - - - - 41
Do Temple - - - - - 39
Do Touchstone - - - - - 43
Sonasailla Malai, சனஸ்லாகத்தறிசை - - - 86
Sountariya Lakari, சௌந்தறியாளகாத்தூ - - - 96
Srimat Tennasariyar, &c., சிரிமாத்தறிசையர், &c. - - 142
Sri Ramar Patikam, சிரினாரசப்பதிகம் - - 112
Do Taladdu, சிரியாரசன் தலட்சு - - 112
Sri Vira Rakavar, &c., சிரியாரசன் வேறுபாடு - - 113
Sri Rangka Ammanai, சியாரசன் உம்மனை - - 113
Sri Rangka Makattuvam, சியாரசன் மகாதுவம் - - 113
Do Nayakar Tiru Usal - - - 113
Do Nayakikkum, &c., சியாரசன் நைக்கும் - - - 119
Do Nayakiyar, சியாரசன் நாயக்கியர் - - - 113
Sri Ranga Nayakar Usal, சியாரசன் உசால், &c. - - 118
Sri Vasana Pushanam, சியாரசன் புஷ்பனம் - - 113
Stillinfleet’s Catechism - - - - - 21
Sufferings of Christ - - - - - - 30
Sukantakuntala Nayaki Patam, சுக்கான்குண்டலா நாயக்கின் பாடம், &c. - - - - 96
Sukkiravisaya Pokam, சுக்கிரவிசயப் போகம் - - 147
Sum of the Scriptures - - - - - - 45
Summary of Christian Doctrine - - - - - - 39
Do of the Bible - - - - - - 35
Do of Facts in Physical Science - - - - - 229
Summer’s Exposition of St. Luke - - - - 239
Suntara Kandam, சுண்டரா காண்டம் - - - 194
Do. Marti Tevaram, மார்த்தி தேவாரம் - - 86
Do. Suvami, &c., சுவமாம், &c. - - 86
Santarar Vedu, சுண்டரா வெளி, &c. - - 86
Suntara Sekarar, &c., சுண்டரா செகாரார், &c. - - 86
Suntaranantar Kesari, சுண்டராநந்தர்க் கேசர் - - 150
Subdivisions of Knowledge - - - - - - 168
Suppiramaniyar Aratara, &c., சுப்பிரமணியர் அராத்தர், &c. - - 101
Do Kalampakam, கலாம்பாகம், &c. - - 101
Do Kirttanai, கிர்த்தானை கிர்த்திணா - - 101
Do Pajanai, &c., பாஜனை, &c. - - 101
Do Patikam, பதிகம் பதிகம் - - 101
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Suppiramaniyiar Tottira, &amp;c., சுப்பிராமணியர் தொட்டிரா, &amp;c.</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do VI拉萨am, சுப்பிராமணியர் விளந்தம்</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Viruttam, சுப்பிராமணியர் விருத்தம்</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Suppiratipam, சுப்பிராதிபம்</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sukcapulliman, சுக்கபுள்ளிமன்</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday First Lessons from the Old Testament</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Supattirai Malai, சுப்பாத்திரை மலை செய்து</td>
<td>196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Surasintamani Vayittiyam, சுராசின்னாமணி வேய்த்தியம்</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sutarisana Kitai, சுதறிசன் கிதை</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sudamani Nikandu, சுடாமணி நிகாண்டு</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sudamani Ullamudaiyan, சுடாமணி உள்ளமுடையனியனும்</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Superstitions Customs among Native Christians</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Supplementary Manuscript</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sure Way</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Suta Sangkitai, சுடா சங்கிதை</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do &amp;c., சுடா சங்கிதை, &amp;c.</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Swartz Dialogues</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Swearer’s Prayer</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sweet Savours of Divine Truth</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Synopsis of the Bible</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tales for Children</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Taluk Moonsif’s Regulations, தால்கு மொன்ஸிக் சுருக்கங்கள், &amp;c.</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamilariyum Perumal Kadai, தமிழ்சாரியம் பெருமால் கைதை</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil Atlas</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil and English Practical Dictionary</td>
<td>xxxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil and English Dictionary</td>
<td>xxxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil Expositor</td>
<td>xxxv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil Grammar</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Hand Book</td>
<td>xxxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Law</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Magazine</td>
<td>234</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Minor Poets</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Quarterly Repository</td>
<td>235</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Primer for the use of Beginners</td>
<td>xxxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Vade—Mecum</td>
<td>xxxix</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil Primer</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Reading Book</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tandalaiyar Malai, தாந்தலையார் மலையாளம்</td>
<td>166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Satakam, சதாக்கம் செய்து செய்து</td>
<td>166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tandi Alangkaram, தாந்தி அலங்காரம்</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Tanavantari Nikandu, தனவான்திரி நிகாண்டு - 176
Do Vaytiyiam - 176
Tarkka Sangkirakam, தார்க்கசங்கிரகம் - 157
Taruma Niti Venpa, தார்மமித் வேண்பா - 166
Tarumanul, தார்மமநூல் - 166
Tasakariya Mahavakkiyam, தசகரியா மகாவக்கியம், &c. - 136
Tattuvakkamadi - 49
Tattuva Kaddalai, தத்துவ கட்டலை - 136
Do Nul Surukkam, ஆனுல சறுக்கம் - 168
Do Villakkam, ஆனுல வில்ககம் - 137
Tatvatraiyam, தத்துவாறுயம் - 113
Tattuva Potini, தத்துவ பொதிம் - 237
Tandavamalai, தந்தாவ மலை - 147
Tanippadal Tirattu, தனிப்பாடல் திராட்டு - 196
Tansaivanam Kovai, தஞசைவனம் கோவை - 196
Tarukavama Vilasam, தாருகவாமச் விளாசம் - 199
Tasildar Vilasam, தசில்தார் விளாசம் - 199
Tavaussatam, தவாசுஸ்தாம் - 49
Taylor's Introduction to a Holy Life - 15
Taymakal Yesal, தய்மகல்யேசல், 2 works - 154
Tempumalai, தேப்புமலை - 61
Ten Commandments - 36
Tennalarama Kirishnan Katai - 207
Tennasariya Perapava, &c., தென்னசாரியா பேரபவ, &c. - 142
Tempa Malai, தேம்பா மலை - 60
Tempavani, தேம்பவணி - 59
Temperate Way - 44
Ten Commandments - 33,43
Teraiyar Sastiram, தோரையார் சாஸ்திரம் - 176
Do Vaytiyiam, do வைண்டியியம் - 176
Tesikar Nurrantati, தேசிகர் நூரண்டதி - 113
Teseingku Rajan Katai, தேசிங்கு ராஜான் காடை - 196
Test of Hinduism - 38,39
Test of Religions - 23
Tevamattavm Navanal, &c., தேவமதவம் நவனால் - 61
Tevamattavm, &c., தேவமதவம் நவனால் - 61
Tevamattavudaiyam, &c., தேவமதவுடையம் - 61
Terkonda Vasakam, தெர்கோண்டா வாசகம் - 209
Tevappiramanai Satiyin, &c., தேவப்பிரமணை சதியின் - 208
Tevara Patikam, தேவரா பதிகம் - 86
Tevaratnai Olungku, தேவராத்தனீ ஓலுங்கு - 7
Tevasakayam Pillai, &c., தேவசகையம் பிள்ளை, &c. - 56
Tiruppavani, திருப்பாவணி - - - 61
Tiruppur Antati, திருப்புர அந்ததிதி - - 102
Do Kirttana, Do கிரித்தனா - - 102
Do Manippiravala, &c., Do மனிப்பிரவலா, &c. - 102
Do Muruka Tottiram, Do முருகா, &c. - 102
Do Muruka Pansaratnam Do முருகா, &c. - 102
Do Sanniti Murri, Do சந்திதி, &c. - 102
Do Suppiramaniyai Tottiram, Do சுப்பிரமணியர் தொட்டிராம - 103
Do Tevaram, தேவாரம் சொக்கானம் - - 103
Tiru Pukalur Antati, திருப்புகாலுர் அந்ததிதி, &c. - - 88
Tiruppukal, திருப்புகால் - - - 154
Tiruppuliyar Venna, திருப்புலியர் வேண்டு - - 88
Do Saril, &c., சாரில் சிவன், &c. - - 88
Tirussontil Antati, திருச்சோண்டில் அந்ததிதி - - 103
Tirussentur Akaival, திருச்சுண்டூர் ஆகாவல் - - 103
Do Kalivenga, Do காலிவேங்கா - 103
Do Pillai, &c., பில்லையர் பிறந்து, &c. - 103
Tirutsitampara Purna, திருட்சிதம்பரா புரணா - - 88
Tirussitampara Pnana, &c. திருச்சிதம்பரா புரணா, &c. - 88
Do do &c. திருச்சிதம்பரா புரணா, &c. - 88
Tirussirrampala Irakasiyam, திருச்சிர்ரம்பலா இறகசியம் - 88
Do Kalitturai, &c., காலித்துறை சிவன், &c. 88
Do Kovai, கோவை - - 88
Do Malai, மலை பாதையம் மற்று - - 88
Do Natar Patikam நாதர் பதிகம் மற்று, &c. 89
Tiruttanikai Kanni, திருட்சின்னகைக் கண்டி, &c. - - 103
Tiruttanikasala Anuputi, திருட்சின்னகஸலா அனுபுத்தி, &c. - 103
Tiruttanikai Malai, திருட்சின்னக்கலாம் மலை - - 103
Tiruttillaiyamaka Antati, திருட்சின்னக்கா அந்ததிதி, &c. 89
Tiruttondar Tokai, திருட்சித்தூடர் தொட்டை - - 89
Tiruvallikeni Antati திருவாளிகைணி அந்ததிதி, &c. - 114
Tiruvallur Purana, &c., திருவால்லூர் புராணா, &c. - 114
Tiruvannamalai Venna, திருவனந்தபுரம் வேண்டு - - 89
Tiruvangka Kalampakam, திருவாண்டேக் கலாம்பாகம், &c. - 114
Do Patirru, பதிருவேண்டும், &c. - 114
Do Sanniti Marni, சந்திதி மார்நி, &c. - 114
Tiruvarangkatantatti, திருவாண்டேக் கடங்கிதை - - 114
Tiruvarangkattu Malai, திருவாண்டேக் கடங்கிதை மலை - - 114
Do Usal, உசல் கடங்கிதை உசல் - - 115
Tiruvasakam, திருவாசகம், - - - 89
Tiruvatavurar Purana, திருவாதவுரர் புராணா, &c. - 91
Tiruvaymoli, திருவாய்மோழி - - - 115
Do Nurrantati, நுற்றந்தை - - - 115
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvaiyamoli Viyakkeyanam, ଆବର୍ତୀପାଲୀୟ ରାମ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvenkaddu Puranam, ପୁରାଣର ସରକେନ୍ଦ୍ର, &amp;c.</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvengkada Anuputi, ଅନୁପତ୍ତିର ପାଲକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Antati, ଅନ୍ତାତିର ଶ୍ରବେଶ,</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kalampakam, କଲାମପକାମ ଲାଯକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Malai, ମାଳାଇର ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Pansarattinam, ପାଞ୍ଚରାଟ୍ଣିମ ଲାଯକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvaidamarutur Antati, ଅନ୍ତାତିର ଶ୍ରବେଶ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvilaiyadal Puranam, ପୁରାଣର ଲାଇକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Purana Sarittiram</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Ammanai, ଅମାନାଇର ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvirinsai Murukan, &amp;c., ମୃଦୁପତ୍ତାକ୍ଷର ଲାଯକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvissaippa, ତିରୁଭିଁସାପପା</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvorriyar Antati, ହତାମୁରାଣର ଆତ୍ମକାରୀତି</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Mummami Kovai, ମୁମମାମି କୋଭାଈ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>92</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Muvvar, &amp;c., Tamil, ମୁବାର ଲାଯକ ମାମର ଲାଯକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Nadana, &amp;c., ନାଡାନ ଲାଯକ ରେଳକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tiruvuttariya Vilakkam, ତିରୁଭୂତାତ୍ମାକୀର ଲାଯକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tinilai Tangkappadu, ତିନିଲାଇ ତଙ୍କାପପାଦୁ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tivakaram, ତିଵାକାରାମ</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tivviya Matirikai, ତିବଵିଯା ମାତିରିକାଇନ ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Todd's Lectures to Children</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To the Afflicted</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Frequenters of the Heathen Feasts</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To the Poor</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Lovers of Necromancy</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>To Lovers of Wealth</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tokai Akarati, ଟୋକାଇ ଆକରାତି</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tokaippper Vilakkam, ଟୋକାଇପ୍ପାର ଵିଲାକ୍କାମ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tolkappiyam, ତୋଲକ୍ପପୀଯାମ ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tolkappiya Nannul, ତୋଲକ୍ପପୀଯାନ ନୀନ୍ଦୁଳ ସେତୁ ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tolukaiyadamu, ତୋଲୁକାଇୟାଦମୁଳ ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tonnu, ତାନୁର ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tondamandala Satakam, ତ୊ଙ୍ଡାମାନ୍ଦଳା ସତାକାମ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do. Tolu, &amp;c., ଟୋଲ ଲାଯକ ଚରାତ୍ମାକୈନ ଲାଯକ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Toppasuvami, &amp;c., ତୋପାଶୁଭୁମିକ୍ଷକ୍ରାଣ, &amp;c.</td>
<td>118</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tottiramalai, ତୋତ୍ତିଁର୍ମାଳାଈନ ଲାଯକ</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tracts for Children</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tracts on Parables</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tradesmen, To,</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Transubstantiation</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tranquebar Ritual</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Treatise on Hindu Castes, பாராளித்துறைகள் மறைவு</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Triumph of the Gospel</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True and False Religion</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Bathing</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Doctrine</td>
<td>36,42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Happiness</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Treasure</td>
<td>86</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Vasanta Rayar</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>True Way</td>
<td>40,43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Truth's Exhibition</td>
<td>85</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tudi Nul, துடி நுல்</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tulukkanattammai, &amp;c., துல்ககண்டம்மையின் புடைப்பு, &amp;c.</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tammanul, &amp;c., தம்மனுள், &amp;c.</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turnaisai Venpa, துணைசை வேண்கா பாணியை,</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Taraittana Vilakkam, தரைள்ளான விளக்கம்</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turpota Samvatam, தூர்ப்பத சம்வதம்</td>
<td>142</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tushana Tikkaram</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Twelve Tracts for children</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Twenty-eight Sketches of Sermon on the Types</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Two Sermons on P. Christianity, &amp;c.</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tyng’s Christian Titles</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>U.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Udalari Vilakkam, ஒளத்தளிக்கம்</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Udakkuru Elappadu, ஒன்று எலப்பது</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Udakkuru Vannam, ஒண்றுவனம்</td>
<td>166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ulakammai Antati, உற்காலம் அண்டாதி</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ulaka Niti, உழக உரிய</td>
<td>167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ulaka Santtira Malai</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unmai Vilakkam, உன்னை விளக்கம்</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Upanama Sangkirakam, உபாணமண்டத்தின் பங்கிய காட்சியை</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Upanidatam, உபாணிதம்</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Upatesa Rattina Malai, உப்படையை மலையாதை</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sangkirakam, உப்பங்கிய காட்சியை</td>
<td>167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Upatesanmmai, உப்படையான் மலை</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kaddalai, கட்டகாலாய</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Uttirikamatavin Patikam, உதிரிகாதவின் படிகம்</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Unsarpypadu, உண்ணர்பாதியை</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Urissol Nikandu, உரிஸ்தோல் கிளாண்டு</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>V</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vadivudaiyamman Kummi, வாதிவுடையம்மன் கும்மி, &amp;c.</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Navarattinam, நவராத்தினம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Vadivudaiyampal Asiriya, &c., வாதி சிலைய மறைய முத்தையே - 97
Vadivudaiyamman Pansa, &c., வாதிே கைலை மறைய முத்தையே - 97
Vallalar Sastiram வாழ்க்கை பாசிரமே - 138
Valliyamman Venpa, வலியம்மன் வேண்பா - 103
Vanna Tiruddu, வண்ண திருட்சை - 196
Vannivana Malai, வண்ணவண்ணம் மலை - 93
Varaki Malai, வாரக்கியம் மலை - 97
Varataraja Perumal, &c., வாரதராஜப் பூம்பாமல் - 115
Do do Patikam, பாதிகம் - 115
Varunikulatittan Madal, வாரணுக்குளத்தினம் மடல் - 196
Vakkuvatam, வாக்குவதம் - 118
Valar Pokkisham, வயலர் பொக்கிச்சம் - 52
Valar Tunai, வயலர் தொனை - 52
Vali Modsam, வலிமோடசம் - 116
Vali Tirunamam, வலிதிருனாமம் - 115
Vantipeti Sangai Nivarunam, வாண்டிபெடி நிவருநம் - 176
Varushati Nul, வாருசதி நூல் - 147
Vasuteva Mananam, வாசுதேவம் மண்ணனம் - 138
Vaikunda Ammanai, வைகுந்த அம்மனை - 116
Vairakkiya Satakam, வாயிர்க்கிய சதகம் - 138
Do Tipam, உதைம் - 138
Vaisiya Sarittiram, வைசிய சரித்திரம் - 207
Do Puranam, வைசிய புராணம் - 207
Vaattiya Kummi, வாட்டிய கும்மீ - 177
Do Satakam, வாட்டியசதகம் - 156
Valar Kanitam - 229
Vaattiya Malai Akarati, வாட்டிய மலை அகராதி - 177
Do Satakam - 177
Vengkadesar Patikam, வெங்ககை பாதிகம் - 116
Vengkai Kovai, வெங்கைக் கோவை - 93
Venpappadiyal, வெண்பப்பாட்டியல் - 214
Veriyar Malai, வேரியர் மலை - 196
Verriverkkai, வேர்விர்க்கை - 167
Vela Mukam, வேலமுகம் - 105
Velpattu, வேல்பாட்டு - 103
Velviruttam, வேல்விருட்தம் - 103
Vennkopala Satakam, வேண்கொப்பல சதகம் - 116
Vetakiri Isvarar Asiriya, &c., வேக்கிரி இஸ்வாரர் ஆசிரியம், &c. - 93
Do do Patikam, வேக்கிரி பாதிகம், &c. - 93
Vatiyar Olukkam, வாதியர் ஊழுக்கம் - 53
Veta Porul Vilakkam, வேதா பொல்லகம் விளக்கம் - 55
Veta Puraddalai Nikkum, &c. வேதா பொரட்டாலை நிக்கும், &c. - 55
Do Manittal, &c., மணிதல், &c. - 55
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Veta Visesham</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>View of the Spirit</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Village Moonsiff's Regulations</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vinayakar Akaval, வைனாயகர் அகவல்</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Chaturthi, or Belly-God Feast</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Kavasam, கவசம்</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sarittira, &amp;c., சாரித்ரி, &amp;c.</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vipushanappar, விபுரவன்புரர்</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viralividu Tutu, விராழிவூது சுத்து</td>
<td>196</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viringsetar Satakam, விரிங்டேசூர் சடாகம்</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virinsa Puramam, விரிங்ஸா புராணம்</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vinota Rasa Mansari, விநோடா மாநசிப், &amp;c.</td>
<td>207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viruttappaddiyal</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viruttasala Puranamam, விருட்தாசல புராணம்</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vishnu Purana, &amp;c., விஷ்ணு புராணம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Samaya Vina Vidai, சமையா விநாயகம், &amp;c.</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Visuvanattar Tarisanamam, விஸ்வவணநார் தரிசந்தமம்</td>
<td>93</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tiruvanepura, திருவானேப்பிரா</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vittuvan Kuram, விட்டுவன் குரம்</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viveka Sakaram, விவேக சகரம்</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viveka Sintamani, விவேக சின்னாமணி</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viveka Vilakkam, விவேகக்கவம்</td>
<td>237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viddu Nori Unmai, வின்னூ உன்னீமா</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virakamam, விராககுமாம்</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Virasoliyam, விராசோலி யம்</td>
<td>214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vishnu's Certificate</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vocabulaire Francais Tamoul,  வெக்காப்பூரூல் ஫்ரான்கோச் சாண்டம்</td>
<td>xxxxiii</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

W

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Warning of Danger</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Watts' First Catechism</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Watt's Second Catechism</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Watt's Scripture History</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Way to Heavenly Bliss</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wayland's Moral Science</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX TO THE TITLES OF BOOKS.

Way of Righteousness - - - - - - 33
Way of Salvation - - - - - - 41
Wesleyan First Catechism - - - - - - 220
  Do Second do - - - - - - 220
Whately's Lessons on Christian Evidences - - - - - - 23
  Do Easy Lessons on money matters - - - - - - 230
What think ye of Christ? - - - - - - 47
What must I do to be saved? - - - - - - 47
What shall a man give in Exchange, &c.? - - - - - - 47
What is truth? - - - - - - 38
When will you repent? - - - - - - 47
Wild Animals, நீர் களி மை - - - - - 169
Withholding the Cup from the Laity - - - - - - 43
Wonderful Person - - - - - - 45
Wonderful Statement - - - - - - 34 Word of God.

Y

Young Churchman Armed - - - - - - 25
Yutta Kandam, யுட்டா கந்தம் - - - - - - 194
INDEX

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Addenda</td>
<td>239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Algebra</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alphabet, sheets</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do. Tamil</td>
<td>vii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analysis of Scripture</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Antati</td>
<td>xxx</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arithmetic, Mental</td>
<td>177, 228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do. Slate</td>
<td>228</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Aryan Civilization</td>
<td>xviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Asiriyappa</td>
<td>xxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Astrology</td>
<td>145</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Astronomy</td>
<td>169, 229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Authors, notices of Tamil</td>
<td>lxxxii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bengali and Tamil Publications compared</td>
<td>lxxiii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Beschi</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bhagavat Gita</td>
<td>125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bible Dictionaries</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Book-hawking</td>
<td>lxi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brahma Samaj</td>
<td>143, 239</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buddhism</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Canarese</td>
<td>iv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Castes, Hindu</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catalogues of Publications</td>
<td>lxxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Catechisms, Religious</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christianity, attacks on</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Church History</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Classics, Tamil</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Commentaries on Scripture</td>
<td>17</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comparative Vocabulary</td>
<td>xiv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Construction of Tamil</td>
<td>xi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Copy-rights</td>
<td>lxii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Topic</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>De Nobili</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dictionaries for Europeans,</td>
<td>xxxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Tamil</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Disputes between gods,</td>
<td>113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divination</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drama</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dravidian Family of Languages,</td>
<td>iii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ecclesiastical Biography,</td>
<td>28, 56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Education, Books on</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Indigenous,</td>
<td>215</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ethics</td>
<td>158</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Evidences of Christianity,</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fiction, Prose Works of Fine Arts</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ganesa</td>
<td>104</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geometry</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geographies, School</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geography</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Government, Duty of</td>
<td>lxiii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Government School Books</td>
<td>liii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grammar</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Grammars for Europeans,</td>
<td>xxxxiv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do School</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hanuman</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hindu Controversy</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hindu Sects</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hinduism, Philosophical</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Popular</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Histories, School</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>History</td>
<td>231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hymn Books</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hymns for Schools</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jainism</td>
<td>65, 73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jurisprudence</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kartikeya</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
INDEX.

Language, Stages of, ii
Library, Select Tamil xli
Liturgies, 7
Logic, 157
Madura College, xx
Magic, 149
Malayalam, v
Maps, 227
Mariyamman, 117
Mathematics, 177, 229
Mechanical Arts, 178
Medicine, 170
Metaphysics, 157
Ministry, Works on Christian, 22
Miracles, Roman Catholic, 57
Miscellaneous Literature, 208
Do Roman Catholic, 61
Moral Philosophy, 158
Muhammadan Books 151
Muhammadanism, Against, 24
Music, 178
Natural History,
Do Philosophy, 169
Do Science, 168, 229
New Publications wanted, xliv
Newspapers, 237
Oldest Tamil Literature, xxii
Painting 180
Parvati 94
Periodicals, 234
Philosophical Hinduism 118
Phrase Books, xxxviii
Pillai Tamil, xxxi
Poetical Readers, 224
Poetry, Tamil, xxiv, 180
Do Protestant, 30
Do Roman Catholic, 59
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Topic</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Practical Theology, Protestant</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Roman Catholic</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prayers, Protestant</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Roman Catholic</td>
<td>51</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pre-Aryan Dravidians,</td>
<td>xiii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Printing, Tamil,</td>
<td>lvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prints for Schools,</td>
<td>230</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prose Fiction</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Prose, Tamil</td>
<td>xxxii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Protestantism, Against,</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ramanuja</td>
<td>122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reading Books</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reading, Course of</td>
<td>xxxix</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rhenius's Version</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Riddles</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Roman Catholic Theology,</td>
<td>48</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Romanism, Against</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saints, Lives of Roman Catholic</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saiva Philosophy</td>
<td>122</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Sect</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saktas</td>
<td>73</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sankara Acharya,</td>
<td>66</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sanskrit, Infusion of</td>
<td>vi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sarasvati</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Science</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scientific Terms, Rendering of</td>
<td>li</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scripture Chronology,</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Extracts</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do History, Protestant,</td>
<td>26</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do do Roman Catholic,</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Texts,</td>
<td>19,47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scriptures, Versions of</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Roman Catholic</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sectarian Disputes, Hindu</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sects, Hindu</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sermons</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sheet Lessons</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sinter</td>
<td>xxxa</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Index</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>----------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sittar School</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Siva</td>
<td>74</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skanda</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Supramaniyan</td>
<td>97</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Surveying</td>
<td>229</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tales</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tamil and Bengali Publications Compared</td>
<td>lxxiii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Language</td>
<td>i, l</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Litorature</td>
<td>xvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Study of</td>
<td>xxxiii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Territorial Limits</td>
<td>ii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Teachers, Books for</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Telugu</td>
<td>iv</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Theology, Polemical</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Systematic, Protestant</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Do Do Roman Catholic</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tracts</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Turai</td>
<td>xxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Typography, Tamil</td>
<td>lvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>University Text Books</td>
<td>liii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Upanishad</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vaishnava Sect</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Veda Samajam</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vedantism</td>
<td>120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vedas</td>
<td>97,119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Venpa</td>
<td>xxvii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Versification</td>
<td>xxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vira-Saivas</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Viruttam</td>
<td>xxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vishnu</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vocabularies, English and Tamil</td>
<td>xxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Widow Marriage</td>
<td>lxxvi,203</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
"A book that is shut is but a block"

CENTRAL ARCHAEOLOGICAL LIBRARY
GOVT. OF INDIA
Department of Archaeology
NEW DELHI.

Please help us to keep the book clean and moving.

S. B., 146, N. DELHI.