At the time of the foundation of the Royal Institute of British Architects there existed in Lincoln's Inn Fields the Architectural Society, the primary objects of which were the advancement and diffusion of architectural knowledge, and its ultimate intent to form a British School, with Library, Museum, Professorships, and periodical exhibitions, the want of which was then beginning to be greatly felt by students. Instituted in 1831, the Architectural Society had for its governing body in 1834-35 William Barnard Clarke as President, Thomas Henry Wyatt as one of the Vice-Presidents, George Mair as Hon. Secretary, with Benjamin Ferrey among the ordinary members. In 1834 it became evident to a few architects of established reputation that the profession required a more influential representative institution than that which already existed, and an Address was circulated among the profession pointing out that though few of the arts and sciences were left without a Body associated for their promotion and cultivation, Architecture, as an art embracing the whole circle of the sciences, was in this country destitute of such an establishment.

The first meeting of the founders of the Institute† was held

* An earlier society still was the London Architectural Society, established in 1806, probably the first institution formed by professional men with aims and objects similar to those of the present Royal Institute. By the rules of this Society members were required to produce annually, according to a rotation and time agreed upon, an architectural design never before in any way made public, consisting of at least one plan, elevation, and section, and accompanied with observations, critical and explanatory, under forfeiture of two guineas; also an essay on some subject connected with civil architecture, under forfeit of half-a-guinea. These designs, observations, and essays were discussed at General Meetings, and every member absenting himself for two successive nights was fined 5s., and also 5s. for every additional night of absence unless prevented by illness or a distance of ten miles from the place of meeting. The Society probably became extinct before the formation of the Architectural Society in 1831.

What was probably a forerunner of the London Architectural Society was a club called the Architects' Club, which was founded in 1791 and held its meetings at the Thatched House Tavern. The treasurer was Samuel Pepys Cockerell, father of Professor Cockerell (second President of the Institute), and grandfather of Frederick Pepys Cockerell (for many years Hon. Secretary). Among the original members were Sir William Chambers, Robert Adam, Robert Milne, John Soane, Thomas Hardwicke, James Wyatt, George Dance, S. P. Cockerell. (See article by Mr. Harry Sirr, JOURNAL R.I.B.A. 7 January 1911.)

† The last surviving original member of the Institute, Professor Donaldson, died in 1885. His letter convening the preliminary Meeting was as follows: —

7 Hart Street, Bloomsbury Square: 8th May 1834.

DEAR SIR,—Some of the following gentlemen, all of whom, as well as yourself, have received a circular from Mr. Robinson, are anxious to have at the Thatched House Tavern, St. James's Street, on the 2nd July 1834, when the Address setting forth the aims and objects of the proposed Institute was adopted. Endeavour was made to secure as members architects of prominent position and unimpeachable character, educated for and following their profession as an art, and free from those conflicting relations with trade which frequently existed in the early part of the century and prevented that implicit confidence on the part of the public which should enable a client to regard his architect not only as his agent, but as his friend and adviser. A second meeting, for the enrolment of members, was held on the 6th August 1834; and the Council, elected by ballot on the 3rd December following, and consisting of Messrs. Robinson, Kay, and Gwilt as Vice-Presidents, Messrs. Donaldson and Goldicutt as Hon. Secretaries, and Messrs. Barry (afterwards Sir Charles Barry), Basevi, Decimus Burton, Fowler, Philip Hardwick, Kendall, J. B. Papworth, and Rhodes, met for the first time on the 10th December at the Thatched House Tavern. A few weeks afterwards the Earl de Grey was elected President. The junction of the Architectural Society with the Institute was effected in 1842.

The Opening General Meeting of the Institute was held on the 15th June 1835. The President's Address, with that afterwards delivered by Professor Donaldson, will be found in the Institute Transactions. Sir John Soane, Professor of Architecture at the Royal Academy, evinced his sympathy with the newly established body by giving a donation of £750 for such purposes as might appear most conducive to its advantage.

The Royal Charter was granted by King William IV. on the 11th January 1837. On the 8th August of the same year Queen Victoria became Patron, and was subsequently associated with the Prince Consort, who at all times manifested his interest in the Institute's proceedings, on one occasion, in 1842, acting as Chairman of the Council Meeting and afterwards presiding at the General Meeting.

A further and lasting mark of the Royal favour was shown in 1848 by the foundation by Queen Victoria of the Royal Gold Medal, since annually conferred by the Sovereign on some distinguished architect, or man of science or letters connected with architecture, on the recommendation of the Institute.

On the 18th May 1866 by Royal command the style of the Institute was altered to the "Royal" Institute of British Architects.

A preliminary Meeting to talk over and consider the objects and prospects of the proposed Institution of British Architects, and will meet at Mr. Rainy's room, 14 Regent Street, on Tuesday evening next, at half-past seven o'clock, when the favour of your attendance is earnestly desired. The chair will be taken at eight o'clock precisely.—I am, my dear Sir, yours very faithfully, THOS. L. DONALDSON.

King Edward VII., Patron from 1863 till his death in 1910, continued the presentation of the Annual Gold Medal.

His present Majesty King George V., on his accession to the Throne, graciously intimated his pleasure to continue the Royal Patronage and the presentation of the Gold Medal.

In 1887, in order to bring the powers of the Institute more into line with the work it aspired to accomplish, and to render the fact of membership to a certain extent a test of proficiency, the Supplemental Charter of the 50th Victoria, conferring among other privileges power to hold examinations and issue certificates or diplomas, was granted, the document receiving the Royal Sign Manual on the 28th March 1887.

A further Supplemental Charter (8th Edward VII.), granted 11th January 1909, provided for a temporary class of Licentiates to be elected by the Council, made fresh provisions respecting the qualifications of candidates for Fellowship and the granting of diplomas, and extended the educational functions of the Institute.

THE INSTITUTE PREMISES.

The first rooms of the Institute, engaged early in 1835, were at 43 King Street, Covent Garden, better known as Evans's Hotel, a building said to have been designed by Inigo Jones, and immortalised by Thackeray in The Newcomes, in the description of "The Cave of Harmony." In 1837 rooms were taken at No. 16 Grosvenor Street, where for twenty-two years the work of the Institute was carried on. The necessity of acquiring larger and more convenient premises led eventually to the formation of the Architectural Union Company, which was established, in the terms of its articles of association, "for the purpose of providing accommodation for the different societies connected with architecture, and especially for the Royal Institute of British Architects and the Architectural Exhibition." Sir Charles Barry was Chairman of the Company, Mr. (afterwards Sir William) Tite Deputy Chairman, and a number of prominent members of the Institute were Directors. The then President, the Earl de Grey, presented to the Institute twenty shares in the Company free of all further calls. The Architectural Union Company, having purchased the property No. 9 Conduit Street, constructed the Galleries (afterwards known as the Conduit Street Galleries) at the rear of the house. The Institute was assigned the entire suite of apartments on the principal floor (the present Library rooms), with separate staircase, a large room for casts, models, &c., and apartments for an attendant in the basement and upper floors. The premises were formally opened by Earl de Grey on the 7th November 1859.

In 1890 the Institute took over the ground-floor and basement, which were converted into a Council-room and Secretary's offices, and in 1897 acquired the three rooms on the second floor now used as the Editor's office, Library store-room, and typists' room.

In 1909 the Institute secured the leasehold interest in the Galleries which the then tenants held from the Architectural Union Company, and entered into possession of the entire building. At this date also, the Institute holding a considerable number of shares in the Company, advantage was taken of an opportunity to acquire the remainder, and in 1910 the Institute became practically tenant of the property in perpetuity, the lease, which is held direct from the Corporation of the City of London, being renewable on the periodical payment of a nominal fine.

Of the three Galleries in the rear of the building, the Great Gallery is used for General Meetings and, with the East Gallery, for the Examinations and for exhibitions of drawings, etc.; and the West Gallery, which contains the fine collection of portraits of Past Presidents, the work of eminent contemporary artists, serves as a Members' Common Room. The first floor is devoted exclusively to the Library.

THE COUNCIL DINNER CLUB.

The Council Dinner Club was founded during the presidency of the late Mr. Charles Barry (1876-79), to give Members of Council an opportunity of dining together in the interval between the close of a Council Meeting and the opening of a General Meeting of the Institute. It consists of all Members of the Council for the time being, past Presidents, past Vice-Presidents, and such other past Members of Council as the Club desires to elect. One of the functions of the Club is to entertain foreign architects of distinction visiting England, readers of Papers at General Meetings, and others whom the Institute would desire to honour. The Club is entirely self-supporting.

THE R.I.B.A. TRAVELLING CARD.

Members, Students, and Probationers R.I.B.A. can obtain from the Institute a travelling card, or credential for travel abroad, available for a stated period. Persons requiring the cards for use in Italy must have them visé'd by the Italian Consul of their district. Applications for the card must be made in writing to The Secretary R.I.B.A. at the Office of the Institute; and, in the case of those who are neither Probationers nor Students, the application must be accompanied by a letter from a member.

ASSESSORS IN COMPETITIONS.

Members of the Institute who have been requested to act as Assessors subsequent to the conditions of the Competition having been drawn, should obtain a copy of the conditions and consider their conformity with the Regulations issued by the Royal Institute, and should also notify the Secretary of the Institute that they have been asked to act.
REGISTER FOR ASSISTANTS SEEKING EMPLOYMENT.

This Register, kept at the office of the Institute, contains applications for varieties of work connected with the profession. The Book is always open to architects' assistants, improvers, pupils, and clerks-of-works; also to young architects desirous of becoming known to members of the Institute through their drawings or other work. Applicants desirous of being registered should give the following particulars:—(1) name and address; (2) age; (3) salary per week; (4) qualifications; (5) references. On obtaining an engagement the applicant should at once inform the Secretary, in order that the fact may be noted in the Register.

Architects, whether members of the Institute or not, will be furnished on application with the names and addresses of persons desiring employment as assistants, improvers, or clerks-of-works, as the case may be. Architects applying for assistants should give the following particulars of their requirements:—(1) whether temporary or permanent engagement; (2) junior or senior assistants; (3) particulars of duties and style of work; (4) salary offered.

The registration fee to non-members is One Shilling; but to members of the Institute, to Students, and Probationers, the Register is free. Communications should be addressed The Secretary R.I.B.A., 9 Conduit Street, London, W.

13. When a candidate is elected, the Secretary shall inform him of his election and shall send him a copy of the Charter and By-laws, and no elected candidate shall be entitled to the rights and privileges of membership or as a Licentiate until he shall have signified his acquiescence in the election. No candidate for membership or as a Licentiate shall be entitled to any rights and privileges until he has also signed and returned to the Secretary the Declaration, A, B, C, or D, and in the case of a member has paid his entrance fee and first annual subscription, and in the case of a Licentiate has paid his first annual contribution.

14. Every member or Licentiate who has complied with the preceding By-law 13 shall be formally introduced and admitted, at the first General Meeting at which he may be present, by the President, or the Chairman of the Meeting, who, addressing him by name, shall say—"As President [or Chairman of this Meeting] I HEREBY ADMIT YOU A — [naming class] OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTE OF BRITISH ARCHITECTS." And every such member or Licentiate shall at such Meeting sign, according to his Class, the Register of the Royal Institute. Should the elected candidate be unable to attend a meeting within three months of his election he shall transmit by post to the Secretary his signature to be inserted in the Register.

15. Any Fellow who has been a member for not less than thirty years, and has retired from practice, may, subject to the approval of the Council, be transferred without election to the non-subscribing Class of "Retired Fellows of the Royal Institute"; and in such case his interest in, or claim against the property of the Royal Institute shall cease. A Retired Fellow shall be entitled to be present at, and to take part in, the discussions on any subject brought before the Meetings, but shall not be entitled to vote.

16. Any Fellow who has retired from practice may, on his request, by Resolution of the Council, be transferred without election or entrance contribution to the Class of Honorary Associates. In the Register of Honorary Associates the names of such transferred Fellows shall be printed in italics.

ENTRANCE FEES, SUBSCRIPTIONS, AND CONTRIBUTIONS.

17. The amounts of entrance fees and subscriptions shall be from time to time determined by Resolution of the Royal Institute.

(a) The entrance fee of each Fellow shall not exceed five guineas, nor his annual subscription four guineas. In the case of a Fellow elected from the Class of Associates, his entrance fee shall not exceed two guineas. Provided always that the Council may during their pleasure dispense with the payment of an entrance fee in the case of Non-Metropolitan Fellows.

(b) The entrance fee of each Associate shall not exceed three guineas, nor his annual subscription two guineas.

(c) The entrance fee of each Honorary Associate shall be at least two guineas, which shall be appropriated to the Library fund, and his annual subscription shall be two guineas.

(d) A Licentiate shall pay an annual contribution of one guinea, and for this shall be entitled (1) to receive the JOURNAL and KALENDAR of the Royal Institute; (2) to use the Institute premises, subject to any regulations or restrictions that the Council may make from time to time.

18. Every subscribing member shall pay his entrance fee and first annual subscription, and every Licentiate shall pay his first annual contribution, within two months of the day of his election; otherwise, unless the delay be explained to the satisfaction of the Council, his election shall be void.

19. Annual subscriptions or contributions shall be paid in advance; and, except as provided by By-law 18, shall be due on the first day of January in each year. Every member or Licentiate elected after the thirty-first day of October in any year shall not, after having paid his entrance fee (if any) and first annual subscription or contribution as hereinbefore provided, be required to pay any further subscription or contribution before the first day of the January twelvemonth subsequent to his election.

20. Every member or Licentiate shall be liable for the payment of his annual subscription or contribution until he has either ceased to be a member or Licentiate under By-laws 22 to 25 inclusive, or has signified in writing to the Secretary his intention to resign and has paid all arrears.

21. Any member or Licentiate whose annual subscription or contribution, due on the first day of January, is unpaid on the first Monday in March following shall receive notice thereof; and in the event of the said subscription or contribution not being paid on or before the first Monday in April following, the name of such member or Licentiate shall be forthwith posted in the Meeting-room of the Royal Institute, with a statement of the amount due; and shall remain there until the arrears shall have been paid, or until the member or Licentiate shall have become a defaulter under By-law 22. A registered letter, in the Form VI, shall be forthwith sent to every member or Licentiate whose name has been so posted.

22. Whenever any member or Licentiate shall permit his annual subscription or contribution to remain in arrear for a period exceeding one year, he shall become a defaulter, and a registered letter, in the Form VII, shall be sent to him; and, if the arrears be not paid within six weeks after the forwarding of such letter, the name of such defaulter shall be posted for six weeks in the Meeting-room of the Royal Institute; and if the arrears be not paid within that time, the defaulter shall be suspended or expelled by Resolution of the Council, in manner provided by By-law 25. Should any member or Licentiate be expelled for non-payment of his subscription or contribution, the Council shall have power, upon the defaulter giving to their satisfaction an explanation of the non-payment, to reinstate him in his former position as a member or Licentiate; and in such case to require the payment of all subscriptions or contributions which would be due had he continued a member or Licentiate up to the date of such reinstatement, and any costs to which the Royal Institute may have been put in consequence of the default.

23. In the case of any member or Licentiate being disabled from ill-health, advanced age, or unable from other sufficient cause to continue to practise his profession, the Council may remit his annual subscription or contribution and any arrears due from him, and may further, if they thereafter find good reason for so doing, reinstate such member or Licentiate in his former position as a member or Licentiate.

24. Any member or Licentiate contravening the Declaration A, B, C, or D, as the case may be, signed by him, or conducting himself in a manner which in the opinion of the Council is derogatory to his professional character, or who shall engage in any occupation which in the opinion of the Council is inconsistent with the profession of an architect, shall be liable to reprimand, suspension, or expulsion in manner hereinafter provided. Any member or Licentiate who may be convicted of felony shall, ipso facto, cease to be a member or Licentiate of the Royal Institute.

25. Any charge under the preceding By-law 24 preferred against a member or Licentiate must be in writing, duly signed, and forwarded to the Secretary, who shall lay it before the Council at their next meeting. Such charge shall be entertained, considered, and determined by the Council only, but the Council shall have power to appoint a committee of not less than three of their own body to investigate it and to report to them thereon. Should the Council find prime facie grounds for further proceedings, the Secretary shall send, in a registered letter, to the member or Licentiate against whom the charge is preferred, a statement of the charge, calling upon him to answer such charge in writing within fourteen days of the date of such letter, and, at their discretion, to appear in person before a meeting of the Council, or of a committee of the Council. In default of the member's or Licentiate's compliance with the request in such letter, or if his explanation be in the judgment of the Council unsatisfactory, the Council shall have power to decree the reprimand of such member or Licentiate, his suspension for a period not exceeding twelve months, or his expulsion. No member or Licentiate shall be suspended or expelled unless the Council so decide by a majority of at least two-thirds of those present, and in any case by the vote of at least twelve of those present. If they so decide, the member or Licentiate shall be suspended or expelled, and cease either temporarily or permanently, as the case may be, to be a member or Licentiate, on the Chairman at the next General Meeting announcing such decision of the Council to the members present; and the Secretary shall thereupon communicate the fact by registered letter to such member or Licentiate. In any case of such suspension or expulsion the fact shall, if the Council so decide, be recorded in the Journal of the Royal Institute, and published in such newspapers as the Council may determine. Provided always that, should any facts be subsequently brought to the knowledge of the Council which in their opinion shall justify them in rescinding their previous decision in respect of such suspension or expulsion, they shall have power to do so with the concurrence of at least the number of votes required for the suspension or expulsion as herein provided, and in such case the Chairman at the next General Meeting shall announce the decision of the Council to the members present, and they shall publish such decision in the Journal and the newspapers as before provided.

26. Diplomas of such forms and designs as the Council may from time to time prescribe shall be granted to every Fellow and Associate who is or shall be entitled thereto; and certificates of such forms and designs as the Council may from time to time prescribe shall be granted to every Licentiate who is or shall be entitled thereto.
The Diploma or Certificate shall bear the Common Seal of the Royal Institute, and be signed as provided by By-law 45. It shall remain the property of the Royal Institute, but shall be tenable by the member or Licentiate so long as he shall remain a member or Licentiate. When the holder shall cease to be a member or Licentiate, he shall, within seven days of demand being made in writing by the Secretary, return the Diploma or Certificate; but should he or his legal representatives fail to do so, or to explain his or their inability to do so to the satisfaction of the Council, the Council are hereby empowered to cancel the said Diploma or Certificate, and to sue for and recover the same with costs; and a notice of such cancelling shall be given by the Chairman at the next General Meeting, and shall be inserted in the Journal of the Royal Institute and published in such newspapers as the Council may determine.

II. THE COUNCIL.

Constitution. 27. The Council shall consist of not more than forty-two, viz.—

(a) The President, four Vice-Presidents, an Honorary Secretary, eighteen Fellows as Members of Council, and six Associates as Associate-Members of Council.

(b) Two past Presidents of the Royal Institute.

(c) Presidents of the three Societies within the United Kingdom in alliance with the Royal Institute which on the 31st December of the year preceding the election contain the largest number of members of the Royal Institute. In the event of there being an equal number of such members in two or all of such Societies, then the Presidents of such of them as on the said date contain the largest number of Fellows of the Royal Institute. In the event of there being an equal number of Fellows in two or all, then the Presidents of such Societies as on the said date have the largest number of practising architects among their members.

(d) The Presidents of six other of the Societies within the United Kingdom in alliance with the Royal Institute selected as follows:—

The first six Presidents shall be of those Societies which on the 31st December of the year preceding the election contain the largest number of members of the Royal Institute. In the event of there being an equal number of such members in two or more of such Societies, then the provision applicable to the selection in Class (c) shall apply.
In subsequent years the Presidents, not exceeding six in any one year, of the remaining Societies shall be similarly selected until all the Societies in Class (d) are represented in regular rotation, and when all have been represented the process of rotation shall begin again and continue on the same lines.

In every case under (c) and (d) as a condition precedent to their nominations the Presidents of such Societies must be Fellows of the Royal Institute.

(e) One Fellow or Associate of the Royal Institute as representative of the Architectural Association (London).

28. No President of the Royal Institute who has filled the office for two successive years shall be again eligible for the Presidency until the expiration of two years from the termination of his tenure of office.

29. Any Fellow who is or has been a Member of Council shall be eligible to serve as Vice-President, but no Vice-President who has filled the office for four successive years shall be eligible for re-election as Vice-President until the expiration of two years from the termination of his tenure of office.

30. The Honorary Secretary shall be eligible to be re-elected from year to year. He shall, subject to the direction and control of the Council, have the management of the affairs of the Royal Institute, and shall cause Minutes to be taken of the proceedings of General Meetings, and of Meetings of the Council, of the Board of Education, and of the Standing and all other Committees of the Royal Institute, provided always that no Honorary Secretary who has filled the office for six successive years shall be eligible for re-election as Honorary Secretary until the expiration of two years from the termination of his tenure of office.

31. No past President serving on the Council under clause (b) of By-law 27 shall be eligible to serve for more than three successive years.

32. Any Fellow shall be eligible to serve as a Member of Council. Any Associate shall be eligible to serve as an Associate-Member of Council.

33. Two weeks prior to the Annual General Meeting in May, the Council shall issue to every member in the United Kingdom entitled to vote thereon a list of members whom they nominate to form the Council as provided in By-law 27, for the ensuing year of office. Such list shall contain the names of at least twenty-two Fellows and eight Associates as nominated for election as Members of Council and Associate-Members of Council respectively. Any seven or more members, the majority in all cases...
being Fellows, may nominate any other candidate for any of the offices named in By-law 27, (a) by delivering such nomination to the Secretary before the close of the Annual General Meeting, accompanied by a written undertaking by the nominee to serve if elected. The name of every candidate so nominated shall be added to the said list, which, with such added names (if any), shall be the voting list for the election. The names of all candidates for election shall be printed in the same type and in alphabetical order. On this list shall be printed directions for its use by the members; and any list which fails to comply with such directions shall be rejected by the Scrutineers, and the votes shall be lost. The Scrutineers, who shall be appointed by the Council, shall have the direction of the election, their decision on any matter relating thereto being final, and five of them shall be a quorum. The voting list shall be issued to all members in the United Kingdom entitled to vote thereon within one week after the Annual General Meeting. No other document or communication besides the voting papers, directions for their use, and the envelope within which they are to be returned, shall be issued therewith. The voting list shall be returned to the Secretary, at least seven days before the first General Meeting in June, folded and enclosed in a sealed envelope, bearing on the outside the signature and Royal Institute serial number of the member voting. The Scrutineers shall, as soon thereafter as may be convenient, be summoned by the Secretary to meet at the premises of the Royal Institute, and at such meeting he shall deliver to them the said envelopes. They shall then proceed to open the said envelopes and take the voting lists therefrom, without unfolding them, adopting such measures as in their discretion they shall deem fit to prevent the identification of the voters. The Scrutineers shall then open the said voting lists and count the votes, and shall report the result to the first General Meeting in June. The members who receive the most votes shall be declared to be elected at the said first General Meeting in June to the respective offices for which they were nominated, and shall enter upon their respective duties from the first of July following. In the event of an equality of votes for the President or Honorary Secretary or for the last place of the four Vice-Presidents or of the eighteen Members of Council or of the six Associate-Members of Council, the election of the candidates so receiving such equality shall be determined by ballot of the members present having a right to vote and voting. The Council so elected shall remain in office until the last day in June of the year following that in which they were elected.

34. One-sixth of the Ordinary and Associate Members of Council—i.e. three Fellows and one Associate—shall be ineligible to serve again as Ordinary or Associate Members respectively for two years from the termination of their tenure of office; such members to be the seniors in continuity of service, and in the event of equality of seniority the rotation to be decided by lot.

35. In the event of the death or resignation of the President, the Secretary shall forthwith forward to every member of the Council a notice thereof, and at a regular meeting of the Council, held not less than fourteen days after the date of such notice, the Council shall elect one of the existing Vice-Presidents to fill the vacant office until the next Annual Election of the Council, and the Vice-President so elected shall forthwith enter on his office.

In the event of the death or resignation of the Honorary Secretary, the Secretary shall forthwith forward to every member of the Council a notice thereof, and at a regular meeting of the Council, held not less than fourteen days after the date of such notice, the Council shall elect one of their members to fill the vacant office until the next Annual Election of the Council, and the member so elected shall forthwith enter on his office.

In the event of the number of Members of Council being reduced by death, resignation, or otherwise, below one-half of the full number prescribed in By-law 27 (a), the Council shall issue to every member within the United Kingdom entitled to vote thereon a notice thereof containing the names of such Fellows whom they nominate for the vacant offices. Within two weeks of such issue, any twelve members, the majority in all cases being Fellows, may nominate to the vacant offices any other Fellows, by forwarding their names to the Secretary, accompanied by a written undertaking by the nominees to serve if elected. The Council shall, within one further week, issue to every member entitled to vote thereon a voting list for the election, accompanied by a notice convening a Special General Meeting as provided in By-law 65, to be held not less than seven and not more than fourteen days after such notice. Such lists shall be returned to the Secretary at least three days before the date of such meeting. The Council shall appoint Scrutineers, and the Scrutineers, whose decision shall be final, shall count the votes, and report the result to the Special General Meeting. The form of voting list and the mode of procedure shall be similar to those provided in the case of the Annual Election. The Members of Council so elected shall enter forthwith on their respective offices.

The President, Honorary Secretary, and Members of Council appointed as herein provided shall remain in office until the last day in the following June.

36. The Council shall meet at the premises of the Royal Institute at least once in every month during the Session. Ten Members of the Council shall form a quorum. The President or any five Members of the Council may, by letter to the Secretary, require an Extraordinary Meeting thereof to be called.

37. Any Regulation made by the Council for carrying into effect the Charter and By-laws, and for the general management of the affairs of the Royal Institute, except as otherwise provided by the Charter, shall after notice given be reported to a General Meeting for confirmation by Resolution of the Royal Institute, and such Regulation shall be subject to repeal or alteration only at a Special General Meeting, to be summoned in the manner described in By-law 65 for the consideration of such repeal or alteration.

38. Any notice required by the Charter or the By-laws to be given to members may be a written or printed notice, and may be sent to members or Licentiates either separately or in or with, or if printed may be printed under the heading of "Notices," as part of the next issue of the JOURNAL of the Royal Institute, as the Council may direct, and any notice shall be deemed to have been duly sent to a member or Licentiate when such notice, or the JOURNAL in which it is sent or printed, addressed to the last address of the Member or Licentiate appearing in the KALENDAR of the Royal Institute, has been put into the post or otherwise despatched.

39. No notices or other documents other than those necessary for the usual conduct of the business of the Institute shall be issued to the various classes of members and Licentiates, save those directed to be so issued by the Charter or By-laws or by Resolution of the Council, except that in case of emergency the President shall have power to issue any notice he may think fit, provided that he report his action at the next meeting of the Council.

40. Any appointment by the Council of the Secretary, or other officer or servant of the Royal Institute, shall reserve to the Council the right to terminate such appointment on giving such notice, not exceeding six months, as may be fixed by the Council at the time of the appointment, and no appointment without such reservation shall be valid.

41. The Council shall present a report on the state of the property and affairs of the Royal Institute to the Annual General Meeting, which report shall give an abstract of the proceedings during the official year, an account of the funds (including a balance-sheet of the receipts and disbursements for the past year properly audited), and an estimate of the income and expenditure for the current year. A copy of the report shall be issued to every subscribing member within the United Kingdom, at least one week before the Annual General Meeting.

42. The Council shall, unless otherwise directed by any deed or trust, have the power to invest any entrance fees, surplus income, funds, donations, or endowments, in such securities as trustees are permitted by the High Court of Justice to invest in, and in the stock or shares of the Architectural Union Company (Limited); and such investments shall form part of the property of the Royal Institute.

43. All money belonging to the Royal Institute and not invested shall be deposited by the Council, on account of and for the use of the Royal Institute, with a Banker in London or Westminster.

44. No sum of money exceeding £10 shall be paid on account of the Royal Institute except by a cheque of the Council, signed by three members thereof, and countersigned by the Secretary or other officer nominated by the Council.

45. The Common Seal shall not be affixed to any deed or writing except at a meeting of the Council, and then only by their authority; and such deed or writing shall after the Seal has been affixed be signed by the President or the Chairman of the Meeting, by two other Members of Council present, and by the Honorary Secretary, or in his absence by another Member of Council, and countersigned by the Secretary. Every use of the Seal shall be recorded in the Minutes.

III. THE AUDITORS.

46. The Royal Institute shall annually elect as Auditors one Fellow and one Associate, not Members of the Council. Candidates shall be nominated for the office at the Annual General Meeting on the first Monday in May, and their names shall be appended to the list of the Council nominated for election. The Auditors shall have access at all reasonable times to the accounts and securities. They shall examine the securities and the annual accounts before the latter are submitted to the Annual General Meeting, and shall report thereon to the Royal Institute. In the event of the decease or resignation of an Auditor, another member of the Royal Institute shall be elected to the office by Resolution of the Royal Institute after notice given.

IV. THE SECRETARY.

47. The Council shall appoint an officer who shall be "The Secretary of the Royal Institute," and who shall be responsible to the Council, and, subject thereto, shall have the management of the establishment and the conduct of the executive business of the Royal Institute.

V. EDUCATION AND EXAMINATION IN ARCHITECTURE.

48. The Council shall annually appoint a Board of Architectural Education to deal with the education of students in architecture, and to conduct by Examiners approved by the Council such examinations as are required by the Royal Institute under the provisions of any Act of Parliament or of the Charter and By-laws. The Board shall not exceed twenty-one in number, inclusive of the President, who shall be an ex-officio member, and shall consist of such subscribing members of the Royal Institute and such other persons as the Council may invite. The Council may on the advice of the Board invite other representative persons to act as advisory members of such board. The Board shall have power to elect its own officers from its members and to draw up regulations for its procedure. The Board may conduct its own correspondence, but shall take no public action nor incur any pecuniary responsibility. The Board shall submit any scheme they may devise for education and examination to the Council for their consideration; and if and when the Council shall approve such scheme the Board shall have the supervision thereof, and shall annually report to the Council thereon, and may submit any suggestions for variations thereof to the Council for their consideration.

The scheme adopted by the Council and any variation thereof adopted by the Council from time to time shall be forthwith published in the Journal of the Royal Institute. No such variation shall in any way prejudice any student in respect to any work done by him under the scheme existing previous to such variation.

Every student who has passed the examination for that grade instituted or to be instituted by the Royal Institute, and shall have satisfied such other requirements as the Council may from time to time prescribe as applying to students, shall be entitled to be registered as Student of the Royal Institute of British Architects subject to such conditions and to such restrictions as to continuance as the Council may determine, and a Register shall be kept setting forth the Students’ names in the chronological order in which they have passed.

VI. ORDINARY COMMITTEES.

49. The Council shall have power to appoint Boards and Committees, for the purpose of dealing with specific subjects connected with the objects of the Royal Institute; and the reports of such Boards or Committees shall be submitted to the Council in writing. Such Boards or Committees may respectively appoint one of themselves to act as Chairman and one or more as Honorary Secretary.

VII. THE STANDING COMMITTEES.

50. Standing Committees for the promotion of the art, science, literature, and practice of the profession of Architecture shall be appointed annually.

51. The Standing Committees shall each consist of not more than twenty-one members, namely: — Ten Fellows and six Associates, to be elected annually in the manner hereinafter provided, and other members to be subsequently appointed by the Council, at least one of whom shall be a member of the Council. No member shall be eligible for election or appointment on more than one Standing Committee in any one year, and no member shall serve on the same Committee for more than six successive years.

52. The functions of the Standing Committees shall be to consider and investigate any subject appertaining to the branches of the profession of Architecture with which they are respectively entrusted, and to make reports and suggestions thereon to the Council. The publication of such reports or suggestions, or abstracts thereof, shall be left to the discretion and management of the Council. The Standing Committees may make communications at a General Meeting by the direction or leave of the Council or Chairman of the said Meeting.

53. The Standing Committees shall each appoint from their own members a Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and one or more Honorary Secretaries. No Chairman of a Standing Committee who has filled the office for two consecutive years shall be again eligible for the Chairmanship.
until the expiration of two years from the termination of his tenure of office. The Standing Committees shall meet at the premises of the Royal Institute at such intervals as they may deem desirable. The Chairman or Vice-Chairman shall have power to summon a meeting of his Standing Committee at any time he may think fit. Five members shall be a quorum.

54. Four weeks prior to the Annual General Meeting in May, the Standing Committees shall each send to the Council a list of Fellows and Associates whom they suggest as suitable and eligible to serve on their respective Committees for the ensuing year of office. The procedure for the election, including the issue of a voting list by the Council, the nomination of other candidates, the preparation, issue, and return of the voting lists, and the duration of the Committee, shall be as provided in By-law 33 for the Annual Election of the Council, so far as such provisions are applicable; and Scrutineers appointed as therein provided shall have the conduct of the election. The voting lists shall be printed on paper of a colour distinctive from that of the voting list for the election of the Council.

55. The Standing Committees may conduct their own correspondence and business respectively, but shall take no public action nor incur any pecuniary responsibility.

56. In the first week of April in each year the Standing Committees shall each forward to the Council a report of their proceedings during the official year, which report, or a summary thereof, shall be incorporated in the Council's report to the Annual General Meeting.

VIII. GENERAL MEETINGS.

57. The Session shall commence on the first Monday in November in each year, and shall terminate in the following June, but it shall be in the power of the Council to vary the commencement and duration of the Session.

58. All General Meetings, excepting Special General Meetings, shall be held on Monday evenings at the premises of the Royal Institute. The chair at such Meetings shall be taken as soon after eight o'clock P.M. as there shall be a quorum of twenty subscribing members present, of whom the majority shall be Fellows. If such quorum be not constituted before 8.30 P.M. the Meeting shall not take place, and all notices in respect thereof shall be held to have lapsed. The Council shall, at or before the beginning of the Session, fix the dates for General Meetings (excepting Special General Meetings), and a card containing such dates shall be forwarded to every member. The Royal Institute may by Resolution, after notice given, vary the date, time, and place of Meeting.

59. The Chair at General Meetings shall be taken by the President, or in his absence by one of the Vice-Presidents, or in their absence by a Member of Council; failing whom, any Fellow whom the Meeting may elect shall take the Chair.

60. A printed notice of every General Meeting, stating the date and hour at which it is to be held and the business to be transacted thereat, shall be sent to every member and Licentiate within the United Kingdom at least seven days previously. Any General Meeting may by Resolution adjourn from time to time, but unless the adjournment be for a period exceeding seven days no printed notice shall be necessary. The proceedings at General Meetings shall be conducted in accordance with Regulations to be made from time to time by the Council.

61. At least four Business Meetings, exclusive of the Annual General Meeting in May, shall be held during the Session at as nearly as possible equal intervals. At these Meetings elections for membership shall be taken, and any questions relating to the property or the management of the Royal Institute, or to any professional question, may be discussed thereat, and such proceedings shall be private and shall not be communicated to the public Press without the written consent of the Chairman of the Meeting; but notice of any motion intended to be submitted to a Business Meeting must be given in writing to the Secretary at least fourteen days before the date of such Meeting.

62. Questions relating to the property or the management of the Royal Institute or to any professional question shall be brought forward at Business or Special General Meetings only.

63. No Honorary Associate shall be entitled to vote in the election of any candidate for admission to the Royal Institute, or on any professional question.

64. The Annual General Meeting shall be held on the first Monday in May, to receive and consider the Report of the Council. A list of the attendances at the Meetings of the Council and of the Standing Committees shall be submitted to the Annual General Meeting.

65. The Council may at any time call a Special General Meeting for a specific purpose, and they shall at any time during the Session be bound to do so on the written requisition of twelve subscribing members, the majority in all cases being Fellows, which shall specify the nature of the business to be transacted, and no other business shall be discussed at such Meeting. A Special General Meeting shall be held within three weeks after the delivery of such requisition to the Secretary, and at least seven days’ previous notice thereof shall be sent to every member or Licentiate entitled to be present. The notice shall state the business to be discussed. If within half an hour after the time appointed for such Meeting there be not thirty subscribing members present, of whom at least sixteen shall be Fellows, no Meeting shall take place, and all notices in respect thereof shall be held to have lapsed.

66. The adoption of any new By-law, or the alteration, suspension, or repeal of any existing By-law, may be proposed by the Council, or in writing by any twenty Fellows. In either case a Special General Meeting shall be convened in the manner prescribed in By-law 65 to consider the proposal.

67. A Resolution respecting the adoption of a proposed By-law, or the alteration, suspension, or repeal of any existing By-law, shall be declared to be carried at a Special General Meeting if there shall be present at least forty Fellows; and if the same be supported by the votes taken by show of hands of a majority consisting of two-thirds of the Fellows present and voting thereon.

A Resolution on any proposal affecting the property or management of the Royal Institute shall be declared to be carried if there are present at least fifty members, of whom at least forty shall be Fellows, and if the same be supported by the votes taken by show of hands of a majority consisting of two-thirds of the members present having a right to vote and voting thereon.

A Resolution on any professional question shall be declared to be carried if there are present at least forty members, of whom at least twenty-one shall be Fellows, and if the same be supported by the votes taken by show of hands of a majority consisting of two-thirds of the members present having a right to vote and voting thereon.

A Resolution declared to be carried, and requiring under the provisions of the Charter to be confirmed at a subsequent General Meeting, shall be deemed to be so confirmed provided it be by a majority of those present having a right to vote and voting thereon at the said subsequent General Meeting. At such confirmatory Meeting the voting shall be by show of hands; and a Resolution of the Royal Institute so voted shall be declared to be carried if supported by a majority of those present having a right to vote and voting thereon.
68. The subject of a resolution which has been submitted to a General Meeting and duly considered shall not be again submitted during the same Session without the previous consent of the Council.

IX. GENERAL CONFERENCES.

69. The Council may make arrangements for Conferences for the consideration of subjects of interest to the profession of Architecture, to be held sometimes in London and sometimes in the provinces.

X. THE ROYAL GOLD MEDAL.

70. In the case of the Royal Gold Medal the Council shall announce to the members, at a General Meeting, at least four weeks before the Special General Meeting at which the election is to be made, the name of the person they propose to submit to His Majesty as a fit recipient of that Honour; and any twelve Fellows desiring to substitute any other name shall deliver in writing to the Secretary a proposal signed by them, containing the name to be substituted, at least fourteen days before the day of election. If no name be so proposed for substitution before the said time, the nomination of the Council shall be submitted on the day of election to the Special General Meeting. If, however, any such substituted nominations be made, and be not accepted by the Council, the name proposed by the Council shall be first submitted to the Meeting; and if such name be not approved by Resolution, then the other names proposed as above, in the order of the date of nomination, shall be submitted. In any case the award shall be by Resolution of the Royal Institute.

XI. STUDENTSHIPS AND PRIZES.

71. PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT, ETC.

The attention of Members and Licentiates is called to the following Resolutions of the Council:

1. That it is reasonable that an architect should sign his buildings in an unostentatious manner, similar to that adopted by painters and sculptors.

2. That it is undesirable for architects to exhibit their names on boards or hoardings in front of buildings in course of construction.

3. That a Member having any ownership in any building material, device, or invention proposed to be used on work for which he is architect, shall inform his employer of the fact before its use.

4. That no Member shall attempt to supplant another architect after definite steps have been taken towards his employment.

5. That it is desirable that in cases where the architect takes out the quantities for his buildings he should be paid directly by the client and not through the builder.

6. That any Member or Licentiate of the Royal Institute who takes part in any competition as to which the Council shall have declared by a Resolution published in the Journal of the Royal Institute that Members or Licentiates shall not take part because the conditions are not in accordance with the published Regulations of the Royal Institute for Architectural Competitions, shall be deemed to be guilty of unprofessional conduct.

7. That in the opinion of the Council the businesses of Auctioneering and Estate Agency are inconsistent with the profession of an Architect.

The Architectural Association (London) is carried on under the authority of the Literary and Scientific Institutions Act 1854. Its objects are to provide facilities for the study of Architecture, and to serve as a medium of friendly communication between the members and others interested in the study and progress of Architecture. The fees for ordinary membership are £2 2s. entrance fee, and £1 1s. annual subscription, and 7s. 6d. annual subscription for country membership, which is limited to members of provincial architectural societies.

The President for the time being of the Architectural Association, provided he be a Fellow or an Associate of the Institute, is annually nominated as a member of the Council of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

The work of the Association is carried on at 18 Tufton Street, Westminster, S.W., where the General Meetings are also held. Members under the age of twenty-three years are allowed the use of the Library of the Institute and are furnished with passes for that purpose.

A complete course of instruction is given by means of a School of Architecture under the supervision of Mr. Robert Atkinson [A.], assisted by qualified masters and staff.

The Day School provides for three years of study, and the pupils are then advised (1) to enter architects' offices as articled pupils or improvers, and (2) to enter the Royal Academy Schools in order to continue the study of Advanced Architectural Design.

The Royal Academy has agreed to admit, without the usual examination for Probationers, except in the subject of Design, all students of the Architectural Association who have obtained their certificates after three years in the Day School.

The Council of the R.I.B.A. accept the drawings made during the first and second years in the Day School in lieu of the Testimonies of Study for the Intermediate Examination, provided they are of sufficient merit and that the student obtains the Second Year Certificate of the Association signed by the President and Head Master. Complete exemption can be obtained from the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination by students who have passed satisfactorily through the Three Years' Day Course, or the Four Years' Course consisting of two years Day School and two years Evening School. Special classes and lectures for other subjects than Design are arranged for advanced students preparing for the R.I.B.A. Final Examination.

Mr. Paul Waterhouse [F.] has been appointed by the Board of Architectural Education to act as External Examiner, and will keep himself in touch with the work of the School, and confer with the Masters from time to time as to the progress made and the methods adopted.

Students before being admitted to the Day School must give proof of a high standard of general education, not lower, for instance, than the Upper Fifth Form of a good school, or they should have passed the R.I.B.A. Preliminary Examination.

Students who have had previous architectural training are admitted to the Day School, and can enter the first, second, or third year course direct according to the standard of efficiency previously attained.

THE DAY SCHOOL.

Head Master: ROBERT ATKINSON [A.].—Master, 1st year, ALLAN POTTER; Assistant Master, W. M. KEESER, A.R.C.A.; 2nd year, R. LOWRY; 3rd year, L. H. BUCKNILL [A.].

FIRST YEAR COURSE.

The Studio:—Use of instruments and scales.—Freehand drawing, from the round and cast.—Elementary Perspective.—Elements of the various Historical Styles of Architecture.—Elementary Construction and the Study of Materials and Building Methods.—Sketching and measuring ancient buildings.—Various Observation and Test papers.

Lectures:—History of Architecture (illustrated by visits to Buildings and Museums).—Elementary Construction and Materials (illustrated by visits to Workshops and Buildings in progress).—Elementary Physics.—Plane and Solid Geometry.

The scheme of the lectures on the Historical Development of Architecture is as follows:

First Term.—Early History of Architecture in Egypt, Greece, and Italy.
Second Term.—Continuation of the subject, with development of Byzantine from Roman work to Romanesque and the commencement of Mediaeval Architecture.
Third Term.—Outline of Mediaeval and Renaissance Architecture, with a sketch of the subsequent history of the art up to the present time.

The lectures on Elementary Construction and Materials are as follows:

First Term.—Elementary Course on Foundations, Brickwork, and Masonry.
Second Term.—Outline of Timber and Metal Construction.
Third Term.—Some account of Roof Coverings, Plumbing, Joinery, and Finishing.—Elementary Physics.—Solid Geometry.

Every student is expected to take up a course of reading under the direction of the Master, and will be required to refer to works on each subject concurrently with the lectures thereon. Students are also expected to devote a considerable portion of each vacation to vacation studies as directed by the Master.

SECOND YEAR COURSE.

Students are not admitted to this course unless they have given satisfactory proof of study, work, and progress throughout the First Year.

The work of the second year mainly consists in working out simple problems in design. These problems may be divided under two heads, Historical and Practical. They amplify the ground covered during the first year in Architectural Evolution, and the study of Modern Construction and Materials. The working-out of the problems is accompanied by visits to museums and historic buildings, by systematic reading and the study of illustrations and photographs bearing on the work in hand. In all studies, both historical and practical, the student is taught to think out his design by the aid of Perspective and Rendered Drawings, and frequently by Modelling. Freehand drawing from the cast and memory sketching are continued in the second year, and students who attain a sufficiently high standard are admitted to the Life Class.

In addition to the visits to works in progress, the students attend Classes in which competent mechanics demonstrate the processes of the more important of the building trades. Coincident visits are also made to buildings bearing upon the subject in hand.

THIRD YEAR COURSE.

In the third year, design studies are set, most of them with a time limit in order to facilitate the rapid inception and grasp of the problem as a whole. In addition, the third and fourth year evening lectures are attended, in connection with which Studio subjects are set. Problems dealt with in the advanced construction lectures are worked out in the Studio, and there reduced to practical expression. The Third Year Course, the Prospectus states, carries on the students' training in design, draughtsmanship, and theoretical and practical knowledge to a stage considerably in advance of the standard required for the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination. The student should then be able to attend the more advanced design classes of the R.A. schools, and commence his office training as pupil (with a reduced term of years), improver, or even, in exceptional cases, as assistant at a small salary.

THE EVENING SCHOOL.

Elementary Evening School.—The Day School masters each attend one evening per week and take a special subject (Messrs. Potter, Lowry, Keesy and Bucknill).—The Evening School has been entirely rearranged, and now consists of an advanced School of Design and a preparatory course for junior students.

The School of Design will be worked on similar lines to the third year of the Day School, but of a more advanced character. All work will be on a strictly competitive basis, and will carry on as far as possible the tradition already established in the Day School.—A Special Studio has been opened for the School of Design, which will be opened every day until 11 p.m.—Monthly subjects will be set and will be criticized by the Head Master, who will also attend one evening per week. In addition, twelve hour sketches will be given at fortnightly intervals.—The School of the Students will elect their own committee who will be responsible for the general administration of the Studio and the care of books and school fittings, etc.—The Life Class and Life Class Club are open to members of the School of Design.

The School of Design.—No terms will be held in the School of Design, and Students may join at the beginning of any of the monthly subjects.

The Junior School.—The Preparatory Courses will follow the same lines as the first and second years of the Day School, and evening students will have the benefit of the Day School masters, but with such modifications to the curriculum as are necessary owing to the greatly reduced time available.—On reaching a satisfactory standard in the Junior School the Student will be tested as to his ability to enter the School of Design.

At the end of the three years, on the fulfilment of certain conditions, students are admitted for a further period of two years. Among the prizes open to architectural students are a Gold Medal, carrying with it a Travelling Studentship for travel and study abroad, of the value of £200, tenable for one year; a Travelling Studentship for travel and study in England of the value of £60, tenable for one year; £20 and Silver Medal for Design; £5 and Silver Medal for an original composition in Ornament; £15 and £10 for drawings of an Architectural Design; Silver and Bronze Medals for Measured Drawings; Silver Medal for a Perspective Drawing in Outline; and £5 and Silver Medal for an Architectural Design with Coloured Decoration.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE AT UNIVERSITY COLLEGE.

The Architectural Schools hitherto existing at University College and King's College are now amalgamated as the University of London School of Architecture, and occupy the new building specially built for the School at University College. The building provides accommodation for over 100 students, and comprises three large studios 50 ft. sq., 35 x 22, and 27 x 29; Museum 50 feet square; Cast Gallery 48 x 28; Library 35 x 22 ft.; Large Lecture Theatre, Classroom 27 x 19; Town Planning Department; Entrance Hall 27 x 19; Private rooms, Locker rooms, Lavatories, etc.

The School is under a Special Committee comprising about equal numbers of representatives of the University and Architects, Mr. Ernest Newton, A.R.A., President, and Mr. John Slater [F.] being the official representatives of the R.I.B.A.
The following Day Courses are provided:—(A) The B.A. Degree Course (Honours in Architecture) three years. (B) The Certificate Course (two years at least). (C) Academic Design Course. Courses (A) and (B) provide the systematic practical training which is necessary for students before they enter an architect’s office. Course (C) is for advanced students. (D) Special Day Course for students already possessing some knowledge of architecture who can work in the Studio or attend lectures without taking a full course. Students entering for the Degree Course are required to matriculate. Certificate students who have not matriculated or been exempted from matriculation are required to pass the College Architectural Entrance Examination. Students who take their Degree or receive a First Class Certificate are exempted from the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination. (E) Town Planning Course (day and evening), for particulars see College Prospectus.

Evening Classes in Design are held, with Special Visitors, under a grant from the Worshipful Company of Carpenters.

Owing to its central position, its large new building for Architecture and Town Planning, Engineering Laboratories, Slade School of Fine Art, Modelling Studios, School of Hygiene, Department of Archaeology, and lectures and classes on general subjects, University College claims to possess special facilities for a full and comprehensive course of architectural education.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF ART, LONDON.

The Royal College of Art is maintained for the purpose of training Art masters and mistresses for the United Kingdom and for the instruction of students in drawing, painting, modelling, and designing, for Architecture, Manufactures, and Decoration. Other students are admitted so far as there may be accommodation for them, on the payment of fees. The full Associateship is granted to students who have qualified in the four Schools of the College. The instruction is arranged with a view to students passing through a course of instruction either in all the four Schools—viz. Architecture, Ornament and Design, Decorative Painting, and Sculpture Modelling—or in one or more of the Schools only. All students must pass satisfactorily through the Introductory Course of Architecture before specialising in any of the other Schools.

The Board of Education annually award National Scholarships in Architecture, value £60 per annum, tenable for three years at the Royal College of Art.

Candidates must take Architectural Design as their optional subject in the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination.
THE FIRST ATELIER OF ARCHITECTURE.

Established by the Beaux-Arts Committee under the patronage of the French Société des Architectes Diplômés.

Patron: Arthur J. DAVIS [F.].

Sous-Patron: C. J. P. CHAURES, Logiste.

The object of this atelier is to promote the study of the principles of design which aim at the development of logical and imaginative architecture as understood at the École des Beaux-Arts. It is conducted, as far as possible, on similar lines to those in Paris, and enables its members to acquire a like training in the art of architectural composition. Being a club, not a class, the atelier is always open, and its internal control is in the hands of a members’ committee. The Patron attends at stated intervals, and definite times are fixed for working en loge, and for the exhibitions and criticisms by the Jury, but beyond this there are no fixed hours. A programme of monthly competitions is arranged, but members may do other work, such as Testimonials of Study for the R.I.B.A., if they so prefer. Information as to membership and subscriptions may be obtained from the Hon. Secretary, The Atelier, 16 Wells Mews, Oxford Street, W.

LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL SCHOOL OF BUILDING.

Ferndale Road, Brixton, S.W.

This School has been established to enable artisans and others engaged in the building trades and allied professions to acquire an intimate knowledge of the principles underlying the processes they have to carry out in their daily work. Workshops have been provided and equipped for the teaching of the several building trades under conditions similar to those met with on buildings and in builders’ shops. A School of Architecture, with courses of instruction in the history of buildings, and for the study of architectural design and planning, together with the preparation of architectural drawings, has been added as part of the complete scheme of work. Lecture-rooms, class-rooms, drawing offices, and laboratories have been arranged in connection with the workshops so that the practical work of the School may be combined with class studies in building construction, drawing, architecture, and the chemistry and physics of materials. Every facility is given for full-size work, and the various trades act in conjunction. Great importance is attached to the practical combination of the studies in the several trades and branches as required by a master builder, foreman or architect, and the Architectural Director of the School has been appointed for this purpose. Facilities are given for combining architectural studies in practical and theoretical work in the workshops, lecture-rooms, and drawing offices. Courses of Special Lectures, open to all students and specially adapted for candidates for the R.I.B.A. Examinations, are delivered each session upon architectural and scientific subjects in connection with the work of the School.

Students attending the Architectural, Surveying, or Building Classes, may also attend special workshop classes in any of the undermentioned crafts for which the School provides instruction:—Brickwork, Carpentry and Joinery, Masonry, Painting and Decorating, Plastering, Plumbing, Stonemasonry, Woodcarving. The training given in these special classes is intended to supplement that of the drawing offices and lectures already provided in the curriculum, and it is hoped, by this means, to link up more closely the practical and theoretical work of the School. The instruction will not aim at producing any degree of technical skill, but is only intended to give the fundamental principles of the various crafts.

These classes will be held each evening commencing Monday, 19th October.

The workshops are large, and well equipped with modern appliances, and are under the direction of fully qualified and practical specialists.

LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL CENTRAL SCHOOL OF ARTS AND CRAFTS, SOUTHAMPTON ROW, W.C.

The instruction offered in this School is adapted to the needs of those engaged in the different departments of building work, and the teaching is arranged to enable Students to qualify for the R.I.B.A. and other professional examinations. The classes are held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings, and a special class meets on Saturdays at the Victoria and Albert Museum, South Kensington, to study Architecture, Sculpture, Decoration, Metalwork, Furniture, &c.

A course of Lectures on "The Growth of a House" is given on Wednesdays from 8.15 p.m. to 9.30 p.m., and all elementary students taking design are required to attend this course throughout one session at least. The instruction in Architectural Drawing comprises the copying of historical examples, testimonies of study for the R.I.B.A. Examinations, preparing details from small scale drawings, colouring and lettering plans, and the elementary laws of perspective.

The School further provides full opportunities of instruction in the various artistic crafts allied to Architecture.

training prior to entering an Architect’s office as articed pupils, so that youths who have taken advantage of the full course may be able to take an intelligent part in the responsible work passing before them. The Evening Classes provide a four years’ course of instruction for students already engaged in offices or works, and the curriculum includes the preparatory work of the Day School, with more advanced and continuous courses. The subjects of instruction are arranged in conformity with the recommendations of the Board of Architectural Education, and are given in systematic and carefully graded courses.

SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURAL STUDIES, UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.
Slade Professor of Fine Art: Edward S. Prior, M.A.Cantab., F.S.A. [F.].
Assistant: J. M. Dawson [A.].

A School of Architectural Studies has been established in the University, and in June last a new schedule for the Examination in Architectural Studies was passed which covers the whole range, both theoretical and historical, of architecture. The intention has been to make the course available for students coming up to the University who propose to become architects and desire to devote some of their time to professional studies.
There are courses on Elementary Mechanics, Practical Mathematics, and Theory of Structure, given at the Engineering School of the University, and instruction in Architectural Drawing, Surveying, and Elementary Design, undertaken by the Slade Professor, with the assistance of Mr. J. M. Dawson, in the Drawing School, where also drawings as Testimonies of Study for the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination can be prepared. The courses on the General History of Art, History of Architecture, both general and of special periods, and on the Theory of Art in relation to architecture, are given by the Slade Professor, the Disney Professor of Archaeology, the University Reader in Classical Archaeology, and other lecturers. Candidates who intend to sit for the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination are entitled to certain exemptions on producing a certificate of having passed the two parts of the Examination in Architectural Studies. The course of study is so arranged as to fit in with a large number of other courses such as are required for obtaining the B.A. degree. The possible combinations, with the best arrangements of time and studies, as well as a detailed syllabus of the Examination, can be obtained from the Secretary to the Board of Architectural Studies, Gonville and Caius College.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES IN ABERDEEN.

Robert Gordon's Technical College: Department of Arts and Crafts.—The scheme of architectural education in both Day and Evening Classes has been re-organised, greatly extended, and improved. The scheme has been worked out in co-operation with the Aberdeen Society of Architects and is recognised by the Board of Architectural Education, London. The essential features of the scheme are: (1) That candidates for apprenticeship in an architect’s office should have attained a good standard of general education in a Secondary School; (2) that, at the conclusion of their general education, they should become students of the School for a complete two years’ course in Day and Evening Classes; (3) that the time spent in study in the School should count for apprenticeship time, and that during the period of office training, the apprentice should continue his studies in Evening Classes at the School. The Aberdeen Society of Architects have agreed to give preference to the applications of such students either at the time of their entering the School or during the course of training in the School, and to count the time so spent as part of the apprenticeship time. With respect to general education the standard must not be lower than that of the Intermediate Certificate of the Scotch Education Department and preferably should equal that of the Leaving Certificate, a certificate which, under normal conditions, may be obtained between 17 and 18 years of age. With respect to Architectural School education the course of study extends over two years. The subjects of the first year are: Drawing, Building Construction, History of Architecture, Modelling, Mechanics, Geometry and Perspective, Architectural Drawing, and during the winter session of Evening Classes students will take in addition to the Day Classes named Drawing from the Antique on two evenings a week. In the second year the subjects are: Construction, Architectural Design, Mechanics, Measured Drawings, Colour, and in the Evening Classes students take classes in Drawing from Life on two evenings a week.

The remaining period of apprenticeship will be spent in the Office and school studies will be continued in the Evening Classes of the School. The first year of the Evening Classes in the period of professional training will be devoted entirely to Architectural Design. In the two or more subsequent years students will continue their studies in Design and take up classes in Sanitary Science, including Heating and Ventilation, and will have the option of taking up classes in Structural Engineering, Specifications and Quantities, or Life Drawing or kindred subjects. Having obtained a sound grounding in the first two years the student will be encouraged to make himself highly competent in whatever subjects he finds most congenial.

At the close of apprenticeship a certificate will be awarded signed by the Managers of the School and by the Employer—a certificate which, subject to certain conditions, will be accepted in lieu of the Intermediate Examination of the Royal Institute of British Architects. Should the apprentices be able to fulfil the requirements of the Scotch Education Department as to period of study and standard of attainment they will be presented for the award of the Diploma of the School. There are local scholarships of the value of £50 per annum, and also a Byrne travelling scholarship value £120, for which students of the school are eligible.

BIRMINGHAM ARCHITECTURAL ASSOCIATION.

Exchange Buildings, New Street, Birmingham.

Secretary:

E. Marston Rudland, A.C.A., 14, Temple Street, Birmingham.

The Birmingham Architectural Association was founded in 1873 for the promotion of union and professional integrity among its several classes of members; the establishment, as far as possible, of uniformity of practice; the general advancement of architecture, and of the arts and sciences connected therewith. The Association consists of Members—architects who have been in practice at least three years; Associates—architects not eligible as Members, architects' assistants and pupils; Honorary Members—persons who are not architects, but interested in architecture and the allied arts; Associated Craftsmen—persons engaged in the various crafts connected with the architectural art. The Annual General Meeting is held in April. General Meetings are held fortnightly on Fridays from the months of October to March.

Through the efforts of the Birmingham Architectural Association a School of Architecture has been founded at the Municipal School of Art, Birmingham, under the Directorship of Mr. J. L. Ball, Past President of the Association, and the classes formerly held under the auspices of the Association are now to a great extent merged in the new School [v. infra, "Educational Facilities"].

A Class of Construction and a Sketching Class are held once a month at the rooms of the Association. Sketching excursions are arranged for students, visits made to old buildings and to buildings in progress, and prizes offered for reports and sketches of the buildings visited. A permanent room is available for meetings, and is open during the day as a club.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES IN BIRMINGHAM.

Birmingham Municipal School of Art : School of Architecture.—The object of the School is to provide architectural students in the Midlands with a thorough training in all the branches of their profession and to prepare them for the Examinations of the Royal Institute of British Architects. The school course is spread over four or five years. It is intended that the first two years should be spent at day classes, and that they should take the place of the first two years of articled pupillage. The latter two or three years should be spent at evening classes and run concurrently with articled pupillage. The Committee have received an undertaking from a large number of prominent architects in the Midlands promising to forego the whole or a portion of the fee ordinarily received by them in the case of pupils who shall have attended the School. The Syllabus is as follows:—

First Year.—Lectures on architectural history, building construction, elementary physics and geometry; demonstrations and practical work in stone-masonry, carpentry and bricklaying; simple planning, elementary design (doors, roofs, windows, &c.); perspective; drawing and lettering.

Second Year.—Studies in ancient architecture, including measuring; practical work; lectures on the historic styles and on iron and steel construction, physics, &c.; design

Third and Fourth Years.—Mainly design and advanced physics and kindred subjects. Third and fourth year students are able to take some of their science subjects and carry out tests as to the strength of

BRISTOL SOCIETY OF ARCHITECTS.

Headquarters: Royal West of England Academy, Queen’s Road, Clifton. [Province: Gloucestershire, Wiltshire, Somerset, and Dorset. Centre: Bristol.]

Hon. Secretary: C. F. W. Dening [F.], 23 Orchard Street, Bristol.

The Bristol Society of Architects was established in 1850, and reorganised in 1888. The Society exists for the purpose of maintaining the interests of the profession; for the educational advancement of local students; for the formation of a Library; and for insuring a uniformity and respectability of practice. The Members consist of Fellows—architects who have attained the age of thirty years, and who have been engaged as principals for at least five successive years in the practice of architecture; Associates—persons engaged in the study or practice of architecture who have attained the age of twenty-one years; Honorary Associates—persons not professionally engaged in practice as architects, who by reason of their interest or ability in art, science, literature, or archaeology, or their experience in matters relating to architecture or building, may appear to the Council to be able to render assistance in promoting the objects of the Society; Students—persons engaged in the study of architecture, and who are not less than 16 years of age. Students have the privilege of attending ordinary meetings of the Society and of joining in discussions, but have no voice in the control of the Society’s affairs. All Students are expected to qualify themselves for passing the Examinations of the R.I.B.A. The Annual General Meeting is held the second Monday in April, and monthly meetings are held from October to May, at which Papers are read and the business of the Society transacted. The influence of the Local Society is of so active a nature that Architecture in its relation to all kinds of industrial design is being taught at the new Municipal School of Industrial Art, Broad Weir, by the authority of the Bristol Education Committee, and arrangements are being made for Architectural Design to be taught at the Municipal School of Pictorial Art, Queen’s Road. A Prize Scheme for Measured Drawings open to Students of the Society is held annually. The Library of the Society has recently been removed to the Central Reference Library, College Green, where Students may consult or borrow books, and the Catalogue shows at a glance the works recommended to Students by the R.I.B.A. for the Examinations.

ROYAL ARCHITECTURAL INSTITUTE OF CANADA.

5 Beaver Hall Square, Montreal.

Hon. Secretary:
Alcide Chaussé, J.P., Licentiate R.I.B.A., 1433 St. Hubert Street, Montreal.

The Royal Architectural Institute of Canada was founded as the Institute of Architects of Canada, 19th August 1907; was incorporated by Special Act of the Dominion Parliament, 16th June 1908 (7 & 8 Edward VII., Chap. 82), under the corporate name of "The Architectural Institute of Canada," and was granted Royal permission to adopt the prefix
"Royal" to its corporate name, 2nd June 1909.*

The objects of the Royal Institute, as set forth in its Charter, are "to facilitate the acquirement and interchange of professional knowledge among its members, and more particularly to promote the acquisition of that species of knowledge which has special reference to the profession of architecture, and further to encourage investigation in connection with all branches and departments of knowledge connected with that profession." There are four classes of members—viz. (1) Honorary Members, who are persons eminent in Architecture or kindred sciences; (2) Corresponding Members, persons not residing in the Dominion of Canada, eminent as architects or archaeologists, or in art,

*The Charter of the Institute has been amended by a Special Act of Parliament sanctioned 1st April 1912, and on 7th October 1912 the Council surrendered to a new Council, composed of the delegates of the various provincial associations of architects in Canada, all the assets and affairs of the Institute. This completes the Federation of all the Canadian architectural bodies, which has been the aim of the founders of the Institute since the date of its formation on the 19th August 1907.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES IN DUNDEE.

DUNDEE TECHNICAL COLLEGE AND SCHOOL OF ART.—At the Dundee Technical College special facilities are afforded students preparing for the R.I.B.A. Examinations, including the necessary drawings for admission. Provision has not been made in the day classes for a full course in architecture comprising the more practical professional subjects, but if a day-class student carries out the more general artistic and historical work during the day and attends the practical classes in the evening, a complete course is afforded.

The following is the two years' course of study:—

First Year.—1. Drawing and Painting: Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 10-1: Drawing in outline and in monochrome examples of architectural ornament from the cast; Preparation of measured drawings from casts of architectural details; Preparation of sheets of the details of the classic orders. 2. Modelling: Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 2-4: Modelling from selected casts of architectural ornament; The preparation of templets and running mouldings; Casting in plaster. 3. Architectural Construction: Monday, 7.15-8.30; Wednesday, 7.15-9.30: Geometrical drawing; Elementary building construc—tion. 4. Practical Mathematics and Mechanics: Tuesday, Thursday, 10-12: The mathematics required to work problems in construction relating to beams and roofs; Practical laboratory work on the mechanics of construction. 5. Lectures on the History of Architecture: Thursday, 7.15-8.30.

Second Year.—1. Drawing and Painting: Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 10-1: Drawing and Painting as material for designs for architectural ornament; Preparation of designs for ornament to fulfill specified conditions; Preparation of sheets of details of Gothic, Renaissance, and other architectural styles. 2. Architectural Construction: Monday, Friday, 7.15-9.30: Geometrical drawing and advanced building construction; architectural design. 3. Practical Mathematics and Mechanics: Tuesday, Thursday, 10-12: Exercises on the calculations in statics and for stresses required in architecture; Laboratory work on strength of materials, and experiments with variously loaded beams and girders, arches, and roof trusses. 4. Lectures on the History of Architecture: Thursday, 8.30-9.30.

It is recommended that a youth, before beginning apprenticeship, should study at the College for at least one year; he would then have an excellent foundation for the more practical office work, and could finish his study by attendance at the evening classes. A four years’ course of study for architects wholly in the evening is given below:

First Year.—Building Construction I., Geometrical Drawing I., History of Architecture I., Art Class.

Second Year.—Building Construction II., Geometrical Drawing II., History of Architecture II., Art Classes, Architectural Design I.

Third Year.—Building Construction III., Mechanics of Building, Laboratory, Art Classes, Architectural Design II.

Fourth Year.—Perspective, Plumbers’ Work (Theory), Art Classes, Architectural Design III., Surveying, and Levelling.

The work of the classes in Architectural Design, conducted by Mr. P. H. Thoms [F.], chiefly consists in the preparation of designs for buildings and criticism of these by the teacher, with a short lecture each evening. The lectures deal with the materials used in construction; the advantages of studying and sketching old work; the use of a knowledge of historical architecture, and its application to modern designs; the principles of planning: fitness, stability, beauty; the grouping of details to give contrast, dignity, and picturesqueness to a structure; the choice of a site for a building; draining, ventilating, heating and lighting; special requirements in planning and construction in connection with hospitals, schools, baths, &c.

EDINBURGH ARCHITECTURAL ASSOCIATION.

[Province: Counties of Linlithgow, Edinburgh, Haddington, Berwick, Roxburgh, Selkirk and Peebles, and part of Fife. Centre: Edinburgh.]

Hon Secretary:

James Kerr, 122 George Street, Edinburgh.

The Edinburgh Architectural Association was founded in 1858, its object being to promote and afford facilities for the study of Architecture, and to serve as a medium of friendly communication between the members and others interested in Architecture. It comprises Honorary Members, and four classes of subscribing members—viz. Fellows, who are practising architects of three years' standing; Members, who are persons engaged in artistic or collateral pursuits or interested in the study of Architecture; Associates, who are assistants, pupils, and apprentices of architects, civil engineers or surveyors, and junior designers; Corresponding Associates, who are Associates residing more than fifteen miles from Edinburgh. Fellows and Members constitute the Senior Section of the Association, and Associates the Associate Section. Only members of the Senior Section vote for the admission of members into their section, and only Associates for the admission of members into theirs. Honorary Members may be nominated by the office-bearers, and the election proceeds as for other members. The Council, which is composed of the Fellows, and deals with all matters relating to the profession or art of Architecture, must meet at least three times a year, and the Chairman, or any three members, may require an extraordinary meeting of the Council to be called. The Committee of Management consists of the Office-bearers, Conveners of the Publication and Sketch-book Committees, and three members from the Senior Section and Associate Section respectively. The Associate Section has its own Chairman, Secretary, Treasurer, and other Office-bearers, and has power to make by-laws for the section, which must have the approval of the Committee of Management.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES IN EDINBURGH.

UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH.—The Fine Art Course of one hundred lectures (Professor Baldwin Brown, M.A. [H.A.]), qualifying for the M.A. degree, is designed, the syllabus states, (1) To bring before students, by critical descriptions and illustrations, the chief ancient and modern works of Architecture, Sculpture, Painting, and the Decorative or Industrial Arts; (2) To show how these works are connected in origin and use with the national and social life of successive epochs, and, conversely, how artistic monuments illustrate Classical and Biblical literature, and bear on historical investigation in general; (3) To explain as far as practicable the technicalities of the various arts, and to open up those aspects of art which present themselves naturally to the artist but are sometimes overlooked by the literary student. On the historical side the characteristics of different styles and schools of art are broadly indicated, but as these can be studied in books they are not dwelt upon at length. On the artistic side particular stress is laid on the explanation of different materials and technical processes, as upon these largely depend the particular forms in which beauty is realised in the various works of human hands. There are lectures daily at 3 p.m. Museums, &c., are visited from time to time on Saturdays. Students have the use of class library, reading-room, and collections of examples. There are special arrangements to facilitate attendance at the course on the part of students of the Edinburgh College of Art. There is also an additional course of eighty lectures on the subject of Classical Archaeology and Art. The Science classes at the University include a course of Surveying, Levelling, Setting Out, and Calculation of Quantities, instruction being given by lectures, practical work in the field, and plotting work in the drawing-office. There is a two-years' course in Engineering Drawing, recommended to students proposing to become architects or surveyors, and courses of lectures on Sanitary Engineering and Building Construction.

HERIOT-WATT COLLEGE, EDINBURGH.—The College has evening classes in Architecture and Building Construction (Lecturer, Mr. John Jerdan, architect, assisted by a competent staff). These classes have been co-ordinated with the Technical Courses provided in the Evening Continuation Schools of the Edinburgh School Board in which a two years' course is given in the elements of Mathematics, Geometrical Drawing, and Building Construction. The standard of entrance to the first Heriot-Watt College Class—now Stage III.—has been raised, and if a student has not a certificate of the School Board for the two years' course referred to, or other certificates in Elementary Mathematics, Geometrical Drawing, and Building Construction, he will not be admitted until he has passed an entrance examination in the above-mentioned subjects. The following is a synopsis of the course in Architecture and Building Construction:—

Stage III.—Brickwork and mason-work bonds in common use; simple design of doors and windows to large-scale drawings; proper proportions of doors and windows with their finishings (showing method of construction in both materials); skewback arches; rybats and lintels; varieties of rubble work and ashlar used in the facework of well-designed buildings; motor beds; jointing and pointing; timber, and steel roofs of moderate span; stone and timber stairs of simple design; slates and roofing tiles; plumber work, including drainage of buildings; description of building stone and limes.

Stage IV.—Foundations; damp-proof courses, their application and uses. The different building stones and bricks used in the locality, their nature, characteristics and durability. Materials used in fire-proof floors and their application; description of cement and lime mortars, their advantages and drawbacks in practice. Reinforced concrete buildings treated architecturally in design and construction. Stone porches, entrance doors, and windows, with accompanying details to large scale. Steel construction as applied in reinforced masonry. Designs of wood and steel roofs; advanced timber-work in doors and windows, with their constructional details; ventilation; plumber-work; drainage; shoring and scaffolding.

Stage V.—The study (by drawing) of the construction of the Greek and Roman Orders, and of English and other Renaissance examples, both façades and interiors.—Design.—The application of the principles of Classical and Renaissance Architecture to the construction of modern buildings of a moderate size.—The work set each student in this course will be adapted to his requirements and ability. Preparation of drawings, elevations and sections of a design for a complete building of a moderate size, with half-inch scale constructional drawings. The work set to each student in this course will be adapted to his requirements and ability.

In connection with the Edinburgh College of Art Diploma Course in Architecture, part of the necessary curriculum, namely, courses in mathematics, applied mechanics, graphics and strength of materials, is taken during the day-time at the Heriot-Watt College.

EDINBURGH COLLEGE OF ART, LAURISTON PLACE.—The Royal Institution School of Art having been incorporated in the new Edinburgh College of Art, the Section of Architecture will continue as heretofore.—Head: G. Washington Browne, R.S.A., assisted by Messrs. James Gillespie, T. Aikman Swan [A.], David Ramsay, and Sydney H. Miller [Licentiate]; Lecturers on Architecture: Frank C. Mears and Sydney H. Miller; Colour: Mr. J. Campbell Mitchell, A.R.S.A., and Adam B. Thomson; Sculpture: Mr. David A. Francis.

Classes for the Diploma in Architecture (Edinburgh College of Art) are provided for as follows:—

(1) A Morning Class which can be attended by students while serving in Architects’ offices as apprentices or pupils;
(2) A Day Class which will occupy a student’s whole time.

Before entering the Course, students must have taken the Intermediate Certificate of the Scotch Education Department, or have some qualification recognised by the Board as equivalent, and are required to submit a drawing from the round or a geometric architectural drawing.

Before submitting work to the Committee of Adjudication, students must have satisfied the following conditions:—(1) They must have attended (a) one Session All-day Study and four Sessions of Morning Classes; or, (b) three Sessions All-day Study. Should Course (a) be taken the All-day Session whenever practicable should be the first year. (2) They must have attended a Course of Lectures on Architecture extending over four years, and have passed satisfactorily the Annual Examinations in the subjects of the Course. (3) On completion of the Courses provided for by Article (1) they must have executed, outside of office hours, under the supervision of visitors to be appointed by the Board on the nomination of the Royal Scottish Academy, two designs; and one of these designs must be worked out in construction and specification under the supervision of a teacher appointed for the purpose by the Governors of the Heriot-Watt College. The Course provided under section (3) will be open to any students of Architecture approved by the Board.

Students holding the Intermediate Certificate of the Scotch Education Department are exempted from the R.I.B.A. Preliminary Examination.

While the Diploma Course is not intended as a substitute for, or as in any way equivalent to, apprenticeship or office training in the case of practising architects, the Course is open to all students whether they have served an apprenticeship or not. A form is provided on the Diploma on which particulars of apprenticeship or pupillage may be endorsed.

The basis of the teaching is an education in common in the study of Classic, Renaissance, and Mediæval Arts, Colour, Decoration, Modelling, Figure Drawing, Perspective, and Scioigraphy, and their application. With a view to enabling students to pass the Examinations of the Royal Institute of British Architects, a course of about twenty lectures on Architecture will be delivered in the School during the winter months. Money awards are made to students who merit encouragement, the money to be spent in visiting and making studies of work in Scotland illustrating the art the student follows. Scholarships and Bursaries are open for competition to students of the School, including two Travelling Scholarships of £26 each, and two Scholarships of £40 each.

GLASGOW INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS.

Secretary:

C. J. MacLean, 115 St. Vincent Street, Glasgow.

The Glasgow Institute of Architects was registered on the 18th September 1868, under Section 23 of the Companies Act 1867. The objects of the Institute as given in the Memorandum of Association are:

(1) The advancement of the art and science of Architecture; (2) The consideration and discussion of all subjects and questions connected, directly or indirectly, with the profession of architects, and the concentrated expression of opinion upon the same; (3) The elevation of the attainments, the promotion of the efficiency, and the protection of the interests of the architects of Glasgow; (4) The establishment of a uniform rate of charge by the members for professional business, in cases where no special agreement as to remuneration is made by the parties; (5) The doing all such other things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects.

The Institute consists of five classes of members—viz.: Fellows—who must be architects in practice and at least twenty-four years of age, and have been at least six years as pupils or assistants in architectural offices recognised as such by the Council, or must be engaged in promoting the study of architecture, and in consideration thereof recommended by the Council; or Fellows of the R.I.B.A. Honorary Members—persons who are distinguished for their attainments, or who have been or are likely to be useful to the Institute and recommended by the Council. Associate Members—who must have been at least three years as pupils in an architectural office recognised as such by the Council, or who have had such other training as the Council shall recognise as equivalent. Student Members—persons who are engaged in the study of architecture; the latter are expected to qualify for the Examinations of the R.I.B.A., and must apply for admission as Associate Members before they have continued Student Members for five years. Lay Members are elected by a Ballot Committee, consisting of five Fellows, five Associate Members, and the President of the Institute. The Council of the Institute manages the whole affairs of the Institute, and is composed of not more than twenty nor less than ten Fellows, and in addition three Associate Members or Fellows, elected by the Associate Members. The separate affairs of the Associate Members are managed, subject to the approval of the Council, by a Committee elected by them, consisting of seven Associate Members or Fellows, the Associate Members being in the majority, and three Lay Members, if elected. The Council are the Trustees for the Alexander Thomson Memorial Studentship, which is of the value of £60 (with conditionally a second prize of £20) and is awarded triennially for the furtherance of the study of ancient classic architecture as practised prior to the commencement of the third century of the Christian era, with special reference to the principles illustrated in the works of the late Alexander Thomson. The dates of ordinary meetings are periodically fixed by the Institute, and Extraordinary General Meetings of the Institute may be convened on the requisition of ten Fellows or Associate Members and Fellows. The Annual General Meeting of the Institute is held on the first Wednesday in March.

The following description of the educational scheme is extracted from the Calendar of the Glasgow School of Architecture:

The various courses of study provided by the Glasgow School of Architecture are given in both the Royal Technical College and the School of Art. They offer a comprehensive architectural education, and are the necessary complement to the practical training of the pupil or apprentice in an architect’s office. A sound general education such as that provided in a good secondary school is assumed.

The complete course of study leads to a Diploma. The Diploma Course is strongly recommended to Students really desirous of qualifying as Architects. It is the normal course for Day Students.

A restricted portion of the same course, called the Certificate Course, although of lesser requirement and arranged for Students who cannot give the time required for the Diploma Course, will yet provide a fairly sufficient education. The whole Certificate Course qualifies for the Senior Certificate, the Junior Division of this Course for a Junior Certificate.
least three years to a Member of the Institute, or of the Royal Institute of British Architects, or of the Societies for the time being allied to it; and (b) have passed such examination as may be from time to time prescribed. Members must be architects of good repute who have attained the age of twenty-three years, and (a) have been students of the Institute for at least two years; or (b) have been engaged for at least five successive years in practice as principals; or (c) have passed the Associates’ Examination of the R.I.B.A. for the time being. Fellows may be elected from the rank of Members by a general vote of Members, provided they have attained the age of thirty years and have been engaged for ten successive years in the practice of Architecture as principals. Persons, not being in practice in Great Britain or Ireland, who are eminent for their works or scientific acquirements, are eligible to be associated to the Institute without any contribution, under the designation of Honorary Members if resident within the United Kingdom, or of Honorary Corresponding Members if resident abroad. Meetings of the Council are held the first Monday in the month, at 11 a.m., except during July, August, and September. The Ordinary General Meetings are held on the first Thursday in February, April, June and October. The Annual General Meeting is held the first Thursday in December, at which Meeting the Council for the ensuing year is elected.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES IN LEEDS AND DISTRICT.

SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE IN CONNECTION WITH THE LEEDS AND YORKSHIRE ARCHITECTURAL SOCIETY.—The classes are conducted by arrangement with the Leeds City Council at the Leeds School of Art and the Central Technical School. A curriculum has been arranged to cover the whole of the subjects required for the Institute Preliminary, Intermediate, and Final Examinations. The Society arranges visits of inspection to old and new buildings periodically during the summer months, and a course of evening lectures is given during the winter session.

The Society's Library, comprising about 600 volumes, is located at the reference department of the Leeds Central Public Library, and members of the Society can obtain the loan of books on production of certificate of membership.

Several prizes are offered annually by the Leeds and Yorkshire Society for measured and other drawings, designs, &c.

LEEDS SCHOOL OF ART.—The work of the School is controlled by the Education Committee of the City Council, Mr. G. J. Coombs, A.R.C.A. (Lond.), Inst. Medallist (Drawings) 1906 being the Head of the Department of Architecture.

Day classes have been formed for students who are prepared to give their full time to the course of study provided, and also for those who wish to divide their time about equally between the practical work of the office and study at the School. The course of study is arranged on a broad basis, instruction being provided in all subjects necessary for students entering the architectural profession, as well as to meet the requirements of others who are interested in Architecture in its relation to other branches of Art. Special opportunities are afforded for the study of Architectural Design; during the session a progressive series of designs dealing with various problems is worked out, the drawings being criticised by architects appointed as visitors. Class lectures in Architectural History are given regularly throughout the session, the aim being to show that the growth and development of Architecture have been governed by constructional necessities, and modified by varying social conditions and by the nature of available materials. The Class work in Design and History is supplemented by visits made during the summer term to ancient and modern buildings of interest and to works in progress. In addition to attending the special architectural courses, students are enabled to share in the advantages to be obtained in the other departments of the School of Art in the study of subjects indispensable to a thorough training. The classes in life drawing, painting, modelling, decorative design, and the various crafts allied to architecture are all made available to students of the Department of Architecture.

The subjects of Building Construction and Quantity Surveying, together with Practical Mathematics, Geometry, and Mechanics, are included in the Evening Courses of the Department of Building in the Central Technical School adjoining. The Head of the Department, Mr. James Neill, F.S.I., is chief lecturer in Building Construction. Lectures in this subject, including Steel and Concrete Construction, are given on several evenings in the week. Instruction in Quantity Surveying is given for elementary and advanced students. During the summer special courses are arranged in Land Surveying and Reinforced Concrete Construction.

A curriculum has been arranged to cover the whole of the subjects required for the Institute Preliminary, Intermediate, and Final Examinations. The Society arranges visits of inspection to old and new buildings periodically during the summer months, and a course of evening lectures is given during the winter session.

The Society’s Library, comprising about 600 volumes, is located at the reference department of the Leeds Central Public Library, and members of the Society can obtain the loan of books on production of certificate of membership.

Several prizes are offered annually by the Leeds and Yorkshire Society for measured and other drawings, designs, &c.

The course of study is arranged on a broad basis, instruction being provided in all subjects necessary for students entering the architectural profession, as well as to meet the requirements of others who are interested in Architecture in its relation to other branches of Art. Special opportunities are afforded for the study of Architectural Design; during the session a progressive series of designs dealing with various problems is worked out, the drawings being criticised by architects appointed as visitors. jects indispensable to a thorough training. The classes in

The courses in the School of Architecture at the University are designed to provide all students intending to practise as architects with a full liberal and professional education at a University standard side by side with the students of the other professions. The teaching of design is based upon the methods of the Ecole des Beaux-Arts at Paris, adapted to meet our somewhat different requirements. While the student is taught design on a basis of monumental planning in order to equip him with the means by which to approach with confidence the larger problems Architecture presents, an attempt is also made to give him that intimate knowledge of materials and construction which distinguishes the best domestic work. With this double end in view, after the combined study in his first year of simple construction and the elements of architectural proportion, he passes in his second year and in his later work to a progressive series of designs both of a constructional and monumental character. For the latter he makes carefully rendered drawings, and for the former all the detailed and working drawings necessary for a contract. The work is carried out in the studio under instruction, and the lecture courses are designed to run parallel to it. The students of the School, after finishing the first part of their course, have directly undertaken salaried posts or have passed to a shortened period of pupilage in an architect’s office.

The School is one of those recognised by the Board of Architectural Education, and its courses meet all the requirements of the scheme propounded by the Board [vide infra]. The courses of the School lead to the University Degree of Bachelor of Architecture (B.Arch.), to the University Diploma in Architecture, and to the University Certificate. The University grants a certificate at the end of the first half of either the Degree or Diploma course; students who obtain this certificate in the first class are exempted from the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination, while in their second year they are able to prepare the designs required as Testimonies of Study for the Final Examination. The Royal Academy also exempts such students from probationary work before entering its School of Architecture.

Students who propose to take a degree course in Architecture, and who are graduates in Arts, Science, or Engineering of this or any other recognised University, are allowed a substantial reduction in the length of the course of study required of them. Where a full degree course in Arts or Science is not possible, students are advised at least to take the Matriculation Examination of the Northern Universities’ Joint Matriculation Board, or an examination accepted by the Board as its equivalent, before entering upon their course of study. This examination must be passed by students before beginning their degree course; though students who have not passed the Matriculation are admitted to the Diploma course.

The School, which occupies the old Queen Anne building, formerly the Blue Coat Hospital of Liverpool (now called Liberty Buildings), presented to the School by Sir William Lever, Bart., includes a large well-fitted studio, a large exhibition room, lecture-rooms, a museum, and a library and private rooms for advanced students. There is a large collection of architectural plates, drawings, and photographs. The Museum contains examples of building materials, models of building construction, and a representative collection of architectural casts. The Library of reference books contains the chief folios of measured drawings of ancient and modern buildings.

Scholarships in the gift of the School include the Ravenhead Entrance Scholarship (value £90 a year and tenable for two years), open to architectural students under 23 years of age; and the Holt Travelling Scholarship (value £50 for one year), open to students who have obtained a certificate in architecture at the end of their second or third year. Additional Scholarships are sometimes available.

The following particulars of the courses of study—(1) The Certificate and Degree Course, (2) the Certificate and Diploma Course, (3) the Certificate in Architectural Design—are quoted from the School Prospectus:

The first two of these, (1) and (2), are the main courses of study in the School, and the Certificate, if taken in the first class, exempts students from the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examination. It is awarded to students after the completion of the first three years of the Degree Course, or after the first two years of the Diploma Course.
(1) The Degree Course.—The degree awarded is the degree of Bachelor of Architecture (B.Arch.). Candidates preparing for any degree in the University are required before beginning their course to have passed the Matriculation Examination, or to have obtained exemption therefrom, and thereafter to have attended approved courses. Candidates who pass the Matriculation without Mechanics will be required to sit for an examination in this subject approved by the Faculty before entering the second year of University study.

First Year's Course and Intermediate Examination.—Subjects.—(i.) History of Architecture; (ii.) Either Ancient History or Modern History; (iii.) One of the following: Pure Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry; (iv., v.) Two of the following, one at least of which shall be a modern language:—Greek, Latin, French, German, Italian, Spanish, English Literature, Logic, Pure or Applied Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry (if not taken under iii.). Before commencing a course of study for the Second Examination, candidates shall be required to afford evidence satisfactory to the Professor of Architecture that they have attained a degree of proficiency in drawing necessary for the purposes of their architectural studies.

The student is expected to attend the Architectural Studio when not engaged in the above work.

Second and Third Years' Courses and Second Examination. — The subjects of the second and third years' courses of study and of the Second Examination are:—(i.) History of Architecture, with special study of an approved period; (ii.) Architectural Design; (iii.) Building Construction; (iv.) Mechanics of Structures; (v.) A subject in the Fine Arts other than Architecture. Candidates may also present as an additional optional subject either Drawing or Modelling. Candidates are required to present designs worked during the course of study and measured drawings of a building approved by the Professor of Architecture, and such work shall be taken into account by the examiners in making their award. A student, before presenting himself for examination, shall be required (a) to carry out in the School of Architecture a programme of four large designs (to each of which not more than six weeks shall have been devoted) and of four small designs (to each of which not more than a fortnight shall have been devoted); (b) to submit measured drawings of a building previously approved for that purpose by the Board of Studies; (c) to have reached in these parts of his work such a standard of proficiency as the Board of Studies may deem satisfactory. Candidates are required to attend approved courses of instruction in all the subjects offered for examination. During these two years the student spends his whole time, except for lectures, in the Studio.

Fourth and Fifth Years' Courses and Final Examination. — Candidates are required, after passing the Second Examination, to spend at least two years, under conditions to be approved by the Faculty, in the office of a practising architect or in such other form of practical work as may be recognised, and to attend during that time courses of instruction approved by the Faculty of Arts, either in the University or in some other recognised School of architectural training. Candidates are required to:—(i.) Submit for the approval of the examiners a complete set of working drawings, details and specifications of a projected building, produced under conditions previously approved by the Faculty; (ii.) Submit measured drawings of a building approved by the Professor of Architecture, with a dissertation on cognate work. Candidates are required to present designs and other work done by them during the two years before the Final Examination, and such work is taken into account by the examiners in making their award. Candidates may obtain distinction in subjects (i.) and (ii.).

(II.). The Certificate and Diploma Course.—Students entering on this course must not be less than seventeen years of age. They need not have passed the Matriculation Examination, but must be able to furnish evidence of having attained a satisfactory standard in general education and drawing. The course falls into two periods, each of two years. In the first period the student's time is devoted to professional studies in the School, on the lines of the course laid down for the second and third years of the Degree Course. The second period is spent in an architectural office, while the student continues studies, similar to those of the fourth and fifth years of the Degree Course, either in Evening or Day Classes in the School itself, or in some other Architectural School recognised by the University. Two examinations must be passed, one at the end of each period. This course, like the Degree and Certificate Course, is designed to meet the requirements laid down by the Board of Architectural Education.

(III.) Certificate in Architectural Design.—This Certificate is designed to meet the case of students who wish to come to the School of Architecture for its special teaching in Architectural Design. The following regulations govern the course:—(1) Students for the Certificate in Architectural Design, unless admitted by the Board of Studies on the ground of special qualifications, must have already obtained the Certificate in Architecture awarded by the University, or have satisfied the R.I.B.A. Examiners at the Intermediate Standard, or have been exempted at that Standard. (2) Candidates for the Certificate in Architectural Design must have attended approved courses in the School of Architecture, (i.) during one day Session, or (ii.) during the Autumn and Lent Terms of two Evening Sessions, and have satisfied the Board of Studies in not less than six designs to approved programmes. (3) The examination shall consist of a design made in the School of Architecture under approved conditions, for which at least five days shall be allowed.

Vacation Work.—During the Long Vacation, students, whether taking Degree or Diploma Courses, are expected to spend a portion of the time in preparing drawings, particularly in making measured drawings from actual buildings, on which advice will be given.

Evening School.

The Evening School is organised with a view to meeting the requirements of those students who are already engaged in office work during the day-time. The work done counts towards the Degree and Diploma in Architecture for such students who have already taken the Certificate. For others who are qualified differently the University grants on evening work a special Certificate in Architectural Design. The work of the Evening School consists of designs carried out under instruction in the School Studio, and a course of more advanced lectures related to the design work on the principles and details of classic architecture. The designs required for the R.I.B.A. Final Examination will in future form the main bulk of the work done in the Evening Studio.

The School publishes annually the Liverpool Architectural Sketchbook, containing reproductions of the best work of present and past students and of others connected with the School, both in measured drawings and design.

DEPARTMENT OF CIVIC DESIGN.

(TOWN PLANNING AND LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE.)

Founded by Sir William Lever, Bart. [Hon. A.]

CIVIC DESIGN.—Professor, (in charge of the Department); Lecturer and Research Fellow, P. Abercrombie, M.A.

LANDSCAPE DESIGN.—Lecturer, T. H. Mawson [H.A.].

CIVIC ENGINEERING.—Associate Professor, J. A. Brodie, M.Eng., M.Inst.C.E.; City Engineer for Liverpool; Lecturer, H. E. L. Martin, B.Sc., A.M.Inst.C.E.

CIVIC HYGIENE.—Professor, E. W. Hope, M.D., D.Sc.; Medical Officer of Health for Liverpool.

CIVIC LAW.—Lecturer, H. Chaloner Dowdall, M.A., B.C.L.; Barrister-at-Law.
The Autumn and Lent terms of the academic year constitute a Session of the Department; and in connection with the work of the School the University has instituted a Certificate and a Diploma. The Certificate will be granted to students who have done satisfactory work during one Session. The courses leading to a Certificate are especially arranged to deal with the basic principles of Town Planning, and will treat of problems involved in class distribution, industrial development, traffic, and suburban extension. During the course students will attend lectures on Civic Development, Engineering, Law, and Landscape Design. Studio work will include the plotting of new lines of communication and the subdivision of areas on plans of existing towns, site planning, and the planning of important features.

The Diploma will be granted to those students who, having obtained the Certificate, or who, under exceptional circumstances, are qualified to take the Certificate and Diploma at the same time, are desirous of proceeding with their studies in town planning to a stage in the completion of the subject demanding a trained artistic sense and a knowledge of the problems involved in civic composition. The courses will include advanced Outlines of Town Planning, Civic Architecture and Town Furnishing, and schemes will be prepared in the Studio for the complete development of areas and important town features, both on plan, in elevation and in perspective.

The Certificate Course is especially designed to qualify the Municipal Engineer to undertake the work required of him under the Town Planning Act in its earlier stages. The Diploma Course is designed to meet the needs of architects engaged in the development of estates, in the execution of work under the Town Planning Act in its final stages, and in the arrangement of streets and buildings where architectural problems are involved.

Certificate Course.—Students entering on the course must not be less than 19 years of age. They must (a) satisfy the Professors of Civic Design and Architecture of their competency to profit by the course; (b) either have graduated in Architecture or have obtained a first-class Certificate in Architecture in the University of Liverpool, or have graduated in Architecture in any other University approved by the Faculty, or have passed or been exempted from the Intermediate Examination in Architecture of the Royal Institute of British Architects, or have passed or been exempted from the Examination qualifying for Associate-Membership of the Institute of Civil Engineers, or have served their articles during a period of not less than three years in the office of an architect or in the office of a borough engineer or city engineer, or present such other qualification as the Faculty may approve. The course of study, which extends over not less than one Session, includes:—(i.) The Development of the City and the Influences affecting its growth, (ii.) Civic Engineering and Hygiene, (iii.) Law as related to Town Planning, (iv.) Landscape Design. Studio work forms an essential part of the course of study.

Diploma Course.—Students entering upon the course for the Diploma in Civic Design must either (a) have obtained a Certificate in Civic Design or (b) be members of the Royal Institute of British Architects, or, in the case of non-British students, members of an institution in the country of their origin which has an equivalent status. A candidate offering qualifications referred to in (b) must on application, and before admission to the course, submit specimens of his work to be reported upon to the Faculty of Arts by the Professor of Civic Design and the Professor of Architecture. The course of study includes:—(i.) The preparation of at least two Town Planning schemes for definite areas; plans, supplemented by written matter, presenting general provisions; (ii.) A study for the reconstruction of an existing area; (iii.) Design for an incident in Town Planning to specified conditions; (iv.) Town Planning; (v.) Civic Architecture; (vi.) Civic Design.

The Lecture Courses embrace Course A, Outlines of Town Planning (The Development of the City and the Influences affecting its growth); Course B, Civic Engineering and Hygiene; Course C, Civic Law; COURSE D, Civic Architecture (Composition, Colour and Material, Character and Style); COURSE E, Civic Decoration; COURSE F, Landscape Design.

The Studio work undertaken by the Certificate students consists largely in the practical exposition of the knowledge acquired in attendance at the Lecture courses. The Diploma students will devote particular attention to the preparation of original Town Planning schemes, both in general and in detail, and to the presentation thereof in bird's-eye view perspective as well as on plan and in elevation.

The Department of Civic Design issues quarterly a Journal, known as The Town Planning Review, which records the research work of the staff and students, reviews contemporary work, and presents original designs for Town Planning incidents and schemes.

CERTIFICATE COURSE.

The Course of Study given below has been framed to conform with the curriculum laid down by the R.I.B.A. Board of Architectural Education. The arrangement by which many architects in Manchester have agreed to allow assistants to devote Monday and Thursday afternoons to attend the architecture classes at the Schools of Art and Technology and the University lectures, greatly facilitates the adoption of this scheme, under which a Certificate in Architecture is offered by the University. The R.I.B.A. Council grants exemption from the Intermediate Examination to students who obtain a first class in the Certificate examinations; further, the Certificate examination is permitted to be taken at the end of the third year, if desired.

Candidates before entering upon a course leading to a certificate are required to pass an entrance examination in the following subjects, which will be held at the Municipal School of Technology, in July and October:

Mathematics. (A three hours' paper, including Arithmetic, Elementary Geometry, Algebra, up to and including simultaneous equations.)

English. (A three hours' paper, including an Essay.)

Another approved language, which ordinarily would be Greek, Latin, French, or German*; one paper of two hours including translation at sight of easy passages into English. Translation of English passages into the foreign language.

*Application to be allowed to take a foreign language other than the above must be sent into the Register not later than 1st September
An additional subject or subjects may also be required by the various Faculties from students seeking admission to courses within the Faculties. Fee for the Entrance Examination, £1 1s.

Candidates who have passed the Matriculation Examination of the Joint Matriculation Board are exempted from the above.

In lieu of this special examination, candidates may offer a certificate of having passed any public examination of adequate standard as exempting from the whole or any part of the above entrance examination. Application for such exemption with full particulars should be made to the University Registrar not later than 15th September.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The Course of Study is similar to that for the B.Sc.Tech. (see above), with the following variations:

In the first year, Mathematics, six hours a week.

In the second year, Mechanics, two hours' lectures and three hours' laboratory a week.

The Course for the Final Year is as follows:—

ARCHITECTURE STUDIO.

The Studio for Architectural Drawing and Design at the School of Art, Cavendish Street, is open each week day, except Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, and is available throughout the School session.

Lectures in the Studio, combined with sketching and drawing, are given on the following subjects:— Elementary History of Architecture; The Fine and the Industrial Arts; Elementary Architectural Design; Advanced Architectural Design.

The subjects studied in the class of Advanced Architectural Design are, more especially, those set by the Education Committee of the Manchester Society of Architects; students send in their work on these designs in competition for the prizes offered by the Society. Short introductory lectures are given discussing the special conditions for each subject, and the designs are worked out under instruction and criticism, in which visiting members of the Manchester Society of Architects take part.

The "Testimonies of Study," required of candidates for Associateship of the Royal Institute of British Architects can be prepared in the Architecture Studio. Students are free to work at their designs, class-exercises, measured work, or other architectural drawing, Professor Dickie or Mr. Grant being present for advice and criticism at stated times.

The collection of architectural casts, both Gothic and Renaissance, in the School of Art Museum, adjoining the studio, affords opportunity for measured work and architectural freehand drawing. A weekly course of instruction is given in Shades and Shadows, with exercises in Architectural Rendering.

Measuring Class.— A class is held for measuring and plotting existing buildings, and old work in and near Manchester.

SPECIAL R.I.B.A. COURSE UNDER THE DIRECTION OF PROFESSOR DICKIE, M.A., F.S.A.

The two years' R.I.B.A. Course has been established for some years in preparation for the Intermediate Examination of the Royal Institute.

This course, supplemented by the evening classes in Building Construction and Graphics at the School of Technology, and by Drawing classes at the School of Art, is intended expressly for Architects' Pupils, Improvers, and Assistants desirous of presenting themselves for the R.I.B.A. Intermediate Examinations. The required "Testimonies of Study" are prepared in this course.

In addition, students are expected to take, in the first year, Professor Dickie's Lectures on History of Architecture, and, in the second year, his Lectures on Renaissance Architecture.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES IN NEWCASTLE.

ARMSTRONG COLLEGE, NEWCASTLE.—The new and thoroughly-equipped building for the accommodation of the Art Department (known as the King Edward VII. School of Art) affords increased facilities for the study of Architecture. The accommodation includes a lecture room, a library and an exhibition gallery; classrooms and studios specially fitted for work in connection with Architecture, painting, sculpture, and the arts and crafts of stone carving, woodwork, metal work, stained glass, enamelling, printing, etc. Two large studios are set apart for the use of the Architectural section under the supervision of Mr. F. N. Weightman [Licentiate], with Mr. W. H. Knowles, F.S.A. [F.], Mr. Arthur B. Plummer [F.], and Mr. H. C. Charlewood [F.], as Honorary Visiting Architects. Classes are provided as follows:

(a.) Evening class for students in architects' offices as pupils or assistants—Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.
(b.) Day class for students who can devote additional time to study—Tuesday and Thursday.

The course of instruction is arranged in preparation for the R.I.B.A. Examinations.

Studio work forms an important part of the course of study, which includes exercises in the orders and other elements of Architecture; scioigraphy and perspective; measuring examples under guidance and instruction; lectures on Architectural history and form. Design subjects are set and worked out. The studios are available at all times for students who wish to prepare their testimonies of study for the R.I.B.A. Examinations under advice and guidance. Students can also work out the design subjects for the R.I.B.A. Final Examination. Architectural students are advised to take a supplementary course in drawing, modelling, "life" drawing, and general art study.

The College also provides instruction by means of lectures and classes in geometrical drawing, mathematics, mechanics, surveying, practical and theoretical plumbing.

EducatioNal Facilities in York.

York School of Arts and Crafts, St. Leonard's Place.

Architectural Department.—Head Master: W. E. Parkinson, A.R.C.A. Architectural Master: J. Stuart Syme [Licentiate.]

A full course of architecture is provided at the above School for students who propose to become architects as well as for those who desire to study the subject in its relation to any of the other arts or crafts. The course is planned to prepare students for the examinations of the R.I.B.A., but it includes also cognate subjects of interest to architectural students generally, in addition to the requirements of these examinations. The studies of students comprise both Elementary and Advanced work.

The Elementary work includes the following:—Drawing from the round, Geometry, Perspective, Lettering, and Architectural Drawing.

Advanced work includes:—Lectures on the History of Architecture, viz.: Greek, Roman, Byzantine, Romanesque, Gothic (English and French), and Renaissance (Italian, French and English). Students are required to draw examples of the various periods dealt with, and to write and illustrate short essays on the same.

Architectural Design: Practical and Theoretical.—Subjects set for the students to work out are arranged to suit the extent of their study and experience, and are chosen with a view to furthering a knowledge of composition and architectural form while illustrating problems met with in actual work. Lectures are given on the relation of construction and design, the artistic use of material, and other general principles.

The following subjects are also included in the complete architectural course:—Architectural Perspective and Scio- graphy, Drawing from the antique and the life, Modelling, History and Principles of Ornament, Craft Work, including wood and stone carving, metal work, jewellery and enamelling, &c.

* The asterisk (*) denotes a Licentiate R.I.B.A.
Building construction and cognate subjects are included in the syllabus of the Technical School and are correlated to the architectural course in this School.

The course also includes sketching and measurement of existing examples of the various styles of architecture to be found in the vicinity, with special reference to the study of mouldings and distinctive features and ornament of the various periods.

Architectural Design.—Subjects are set for the students to work out according to their experience and length of time they have been following the study of Architecture, and the work deals with problems such as occur in actual practice. Short lectures on the artistic use of material and the general principles of architectural design are given.

Architectural History.—Lectures are given on the History of Architecture: Greek, Roman, English, Gothic, Ecclesiastical, and Domestic, Byzantine, English and Italian Renaissance. The students are required to draw the various details and examples dealt with, and, in addition, to write and illustrate short essays on the work, which will be criticised by the architectural master. Sketching and measurement of existing examples of Architecture, and the special study of mouldings and ornament of the different styles of Architecture to be found in the vicinity, are included in the course, together with General Art Work, Freehand Drawing, Geometry, Perspective, Modelling, Decorative Design, and Craft Work. Mr. J. H. Mason, Secretary, Education Offices, York.
ARCHITECTURAL EDUCATION.

The Royal Institute of British Architects desires to obtain for all those entering the profession a systematic course of education tested by progressive examinations, the passing of which forms the primary qualification for admission to its class of Associates. By careful preparation on the proper lines, a youth, even before entering an office, may acquire enough of the rudiments of professional education to submit to an examination testing his capacity for the career of an architect; and if he pass it, he may then follow a continuous series of studies, in accordance with a definite programme, thereby laying a foundation of artistic and scientific knowledge upon which to cultivate any natural gifts and develop any aptitude for invention or design he may possess.

Extract from Charter of 1887.

V. EXAMINATIONS.

20. Examinations by or under this Our Charter or which the Royal Institute now is or may hereafter be empowered or required by Statute to hold and such other Examination or Examinations as the Royal Institute may from time to time think fit to establish shall be held at such times and places within the United Kingdom or India or any Colony or Dependency of the United Kingdom and in such manner as the Council may from time to time determine.

21. The Royal Institute shall have power to grant such Diplomas or Certificates in connection with Examinations or otherwise in such manner as By-laws may from time to time prescribe.

Extract from Supplemental Charter 1909.

4. Subject to the By-laws for the time being the Council shall formulate and from time to time alter and amend a scheme or curriculum for education in architecture and may appoint in relation thereto such boards or committees (whether or not consisting wholly of members of the Royal Institute) as may from time to time be prescribed by By-laws and the Council may apply the funds of the Royal Institute in making provision for and furthering and developing any such scheme or curriculum and in providing for lectures or teaching and for the holding of examinations in accordance therewith and for granting certificates in connection therewith and (subject to such exemptions as may be allowed by or in accordance with the By-laws) no person shall in or after the year One thousand nine hundred and thirteen become entitled to admission to the Final Examination for Associateship of the Royal Institute unless he shall have passed through a course of study under or in accordance with such scheme or curriculum and shall have passed such examinations in relation to the subjects comprised in that course of study as shall from time to time be prescribed by or in accordance with the By-laws.

Extract from By-laws.

V. EDUCATION AND EXAMINATION IN ARCHITECTURE.

48. The Council shall annually appoint a Board of Architectural Education to deal with the education of students in architecture, and to conduct by Examiners approved by the Council such examinations as are required by the Royal Institute under the provisions of any Act of Parliament or of the Charter and By-laws. The Board shall not exceed twenty-one in number, inclusive of the President, who shall be an ex-officio member, and shall consist of such subscribing members of the Royal Institute and such other persons as the Council may invite. The Council may on the advice of the Board invite other representative persons to act as advisory members of such Board. The Board shall have power to elect its own officers from its members and to draw up regulations for its procedure. The Board may conduct its own correspondence, but shall take no public action nor incur any pecuniary responsibility. The Board shall submit any scheme they may devise for education and examination to the Council for their consideration; and if and when the Council shall approve such scheme the Board shall have the supervision thereof, and shall annually report to the Council thereon, and may submit any suggestions for variations thereof to the Council for their consideration.

The scheme adopted by the Council and any variation thereof adopted by the Council from time to time shall be forthwith published in the JOURNAL of the Royal Institute. No such variation shall in any way prejudice any student in respect to any work done by him under the scheme existing previous to such variation.

Every student who has passed the examination for that grade instituted or to be instituted by the Royal Institute, and shall have satisfied such other requirements as the Council may from time to time prescribe as applying to students, shall be entitled to be registered as Student of the Royal Institute of British Architects subject to such conditions and to such restrictions as to continuance as the Council may determine, and a Register shall be kept setting forth the Students' names in the chronological order in which they have passed.

In regard to preliminary education, it is recommended that satisfactory evidence of general education, and of some capacity in drawing, should be produced by intending students.

In regard to the duration of the course, it is recommended that the total course should occupy at least four years—two or three years' preliminary work in the schools, followed by work in an architect's office, either as pupil, improver or assistant; that the training in schools should continue during the term in an architect's office, and that the student's training should be kept under supervision by the Board or its delegates during the whole term; that certificates be granted to students at the end of the course in consideration of their satisfactory progress and capacity, as proved by their work in the schools attested by their teachers, and by a study embodying some architectural project, to include working drawings and specifications, and also an analytical account of the nature and intention of the architectural project. The complete study to be submitted to the Board of Architectural Education or to delegates appointed by the Board. It is further suggested that the certificate should be endorsed by the architect in whose office the student has worked.

In regard to the syllabus of training it is recommended that this, so far as possible, be uniform for the various schools, and be governed by the principle that construction is the basis of architecture, and its correlative principle that architecture is the interpretation of construction into forms of aesthetic value. The student should therefore be thoroughly trained in construction—the problems in the first instance being elementary, and becoming more intricate as the student advances, the object being to familiarise the student with the actual facts of building, and to train him to use his brains in dealing with building. In order to furnish the student with materials on which his mind can work by analogy, he should be introduced to examples of architectural form which illustrate the solution of building problems in the past. The genesis of these forms in constructional and social conditions should be explained to him, and he should be taught to understand that legitimate architectural form is the result of the application of the intelligence to actual and specific problems. The teaching of design and the history of architecture should be undertaken in the preliminary course from this point of view, rather than from the point of view of archaeology, and it will be necessary to teach him so much of the theoretical basis of construction as will enable him to work out constructional problems. Mathematics and applied science should also be included.

Drawing, as the vehicle of architectural expression, should be cultivated through the whole course of study, all the courses to include geometrical, freehand, and perspective drawing, and scioigraphy. It is recommended that the aim of the drawing taught in the architectural school should be to enable the student to put his ideas on paper, and to record his observations of existing work freely and accurately. Study from the life is very desirable in order to improve the student’s draughtsmanship if a competent teacher can be found, but it should be borne in mind that the object of this training is to produce not a painter, but an architect.

Generally the object of the course should be to concentrate his attention not so much upon paper work as on the actual facts of the problems which he will have to encounter in practice. The student should be taught that it is the architect’s province to see that his construction is not only scientifically sound, but also aesthetically expressive. He should therefore be trained from the first in the selection of form, and in the study of mass and proportion.

The following subjects are recommended as all that are necessary for the course of training in the schools (see detailed syllabus below):

I. The nature and property of building materials.

II. Construction, including (a) applied mechanics and mathematics in so far as they are necessary to the solution of problems of construction; (b) the practical methods of the building trades.

III. Architectural drawing.

IV. The study of architectural forms that have been evolved in the architecture of the past out of constructional necessities, and exercises in the design of construction to meet definite problems.

V. The study of the history of architecture in so far as it illustrates and explains the evolution of architecture through constructional material and social conditions.
Training in the workshop as supplementary to the course in the schools is desirable and should take the shape of demonstration in the actual materials so far as possible, and, where the dimensions render this impracticable, of demonstration in model materials to scale. Students should take every opportunity of visiting buildings in course of construction.

THE SYLLABUS.

I. Building materials, the nature and properties of sand, lime, and cement; the composition of mortar and concrete and their application; the qualities of brick, stone, tile, slates, timber, illustrated by specimens; their right use in construction as limited by their respective properties.

II. Construction, simple foundations, the behaviour of various kinds of soils under pressure, and the safe loads in relation to area that can be placed on them; simple subsoil drainage, footings, brickwork, including the various bonds in walls, flues, and fireplaces; arches, the operation of thrust in arches and methods of counteracting it, buttresses and counterweight, varieties of simple masonry, composite construction of brick and stone, plain carpentry, floors, partitions, roofs and their coverings, simple joinery, plastering, plumbing, painting, and glazing.

Applied mechanics, strictly in practical relation to construction; e.g. the concentration of loads on points of support, the effect on beams of concentrated and distributed loads, the triangle and polygon of forces, with simple exercises in graphic statics.

III. Architectural drawing, the preparation of working drawings, solid geometry, with special reference to the setting out of masonry, the properties of the cone, the cylinder, prism, sphere, their sections, projections, and interpenetrations, geometrical projection, seigraphy, and perspective. The student should from the first be encouraged to supplement his studies by freehand sketches in the nature of marginal notes, in order that he may realise for himself the shape and form of his constructional details, and so that he can imagine his building as a whole.

Students should also be taught to measure and draw standard examples of architecture, and attention should be given to their training in freehand drawing.

IV. The teaching of design should deal with the solution of easy constructional problems in specified materials, proceeding to more advanced but simple exercises, such, for instance, as the various methods of covering a given space for a given purpose. In such exercises the student should be taught to aim at the best practical use of material and at simple forms without attempting the introduction of ornament or the direct copying of known examples and the reproduction of known phases of historical styles.
V. The teaching of the history of architecture should be supplemental to and elucidatory of the study of construction. The student should be familiarised with historical examples of the methods of architecture in order that his mind may have something to work upon and some clue to follow. The introductory course should therefore include lectures showing the growth of architecture through constructional and actual necessities, the use of the lintel, the column, the arch, the dome and vaulting, the modifications due to conditions of place and materials, the rise and development of historical schools of building, together with studies of individual buildings considered as examples of actual methods of dealing with difficulties of construction. In lectures on the history of architecture the attention of the student should be directed to the historical development of plan and construction in the successive periods of architecture, rather than to accidents of style, which at this stage need not be considered, except in so far as they express or illustrate points of construction. Short written studies to be corrected by the teacher are recommended as a means of training the student in clear thought and logical expression.

The study of materials, construction, and applied mechanics should, so far as possible, be supplemented by practical demonstrations and visits to buildings, in order that the student may be familiarised with the materials of construction and the various processes of the building trades.

Each architectural school should be provided with specimen materials and models of details of construction and of buildings which are indispensable to their proper equipment.

The advanced course would be taken during the term of training in an architect's office. The studies would be in continuation of those undertaken in the introductory course, but the student's attention should now be drawn to more complex problems of construction and design. The following subjects are recommended for the advanced course:—

I. The further study of materials, including iron and steel, their properties and application, strength, weight, and preservation. The further study of construction, to include foundations in bad ground, retaining walls, inverted arches, subsoil drainage, drains and sewers, brickwork and masonry of all kinds, skew-arches, stone stairs, and their setting out, vaults and domes. Fire-resisting construction, shoring and underpinning, and methods of dealing with dangerous structures, centering, concrete construction, including concrete domes and vaulting, methods of forming built-up girders and stanchions in steel and iron, trussed steel and iron construction, methods of constructing wooden spires, domes, cupolas and lanterns, advanced joinery of staircases and the like; plumbing, hot and cold water supply, heating and ventilation, methods of ventilating drains and sewers, and electric light installations.
II*.—(a) Designs to specified programmes, e.g. domestic buildings, farm buildings, schools, churches, hospitals, municipal buildings; (b) schemes for the laying out of streets, squares, public spaces, parks and gardens.

It is recommended that designs in class (a) should be carried through as complete schemes to scale with details, specifications, and report.

The student's attention should be particularly directed to the study of scale and proportion, and the spacing and disposition of buildings and parts of buildings, rather than to the elaboration of details of ornament.

III*.—More advanced studies in the history of architecture. It is recommended that these should deal with such subjects as the development of specific schools of building, the analysis of various uses of materials and methods of construction as exemplified in historical buildings, the critical study of proportion and composition. The student should be trained in the preparation of short written studies as recommended above.

IV*.—Architectural drawing of a more advanced kind. Where facilities exist for drawing from the antique and the life it is recommended that the student should avail himself of the instruction given under fully competent teachers. Such studies should not interfere with the time allotted to the subjects already enumerated.

V*.—It is recommended that students should receive some training in modelling.

Such subjects as professional practice and building legislation should receive some attention, but these are more conveniently studied in an architect's office.

THE EXAMINATIONS,
QUALIFYING FOR REGISTRATION AS PROBATIONER AND STUDENT, AND FOR CANDIDATURE AS ASSOCIATE R.I.B.A.

The Examinations, qualifying for registration as Probationer and Student, and for candidature as Associate R.I.B.A. are in three stages: I. Preliminary [see p. 416]; II. Intermediate [see p. 419]; and III. Final [p. 423], qualifying for the grade of Probationer, Student, and Associate respectively.

I. The Preliminary Examination (Written and Graphic) is to test the general knowledge of candidates in ordinary subjects of school education, and subjects of a technical character, such as Elementary Mechanics and Physics, Geometrical Drawing, Perspective, and Freehand Drawing from the Round. Exemption from attending this Examination is granted to applicants who submit satisfactory drawings, and certificates from well-known educational bodies. A candidate who is thus officially exempted or who passes the Preliminary Examination is registered as Probationer of the Royal Institute of British Architects'
II. The Intermediate Examination (Written, Graphic, and Oral) is to test the Probationer's progress in Architecture, while engaged as pupil, improver, or assistant in an office. During the period following his registration as a Probationer he has to prepare eight sheets of carefully finished drawings. If these "Testimonies of Study" be approved, and if he afterward pass the Intermediate Examination, he is registered as a Student of the Royal Institute of British Architects.

III. The Final Examination (Written, Graphic, and Oral) is to test the Student's further progress. The work to be done by the Student, and submitted by him before entering, necessitates good draughtsmanship and an acquaintance with executed works both ancient and modern, gained by actual measurement of them. It requires a knowledge of Design and of the practical details of Construction, which latter can be best obtained by personal experience of buildings in progress. If the Student pass, he becomes qualified for candidature as Associate of the Royal Institute of British Architects, and receives notification thereof. In the event of any Student failing to submit himself for the Final Examination within four years of having passed the Intermediate, his name will be removed from the Register of Students, unless the Council are satisfied that good cause exists for allowing it to remain.

The Examinations are held by the Board of Architectural Education in June and November, or at such other times as may be appointed, and due notice thereof is given in the KALENDAR, the JOURNAL, and the Professional Papers.

The Testimonies of Study are examined by the Board, who decide whether an applicant shall be admitted.

The Board report to the Council the results of the Examinations, and the names of those who pass are published in the JOURNAL.

The Testimonies of Study are returned, but the drawings and answers produced during the Examinations are retained.

Moderators to superintend the Examinations are appointed by the Board. Their functions are to distribute the question papers; to take care that no assistance is given by one examinee to another, and that (except themselves) no persons hold communication with the examinees during the hours of examination; to allow no books to be used (except such as may be specially permitted); to verify the work produced in the room by each examinee; to see that the proper number is affixed thereto, and generally to see that the instructions of the Board are fulfilled.

[For particulars of the Special and Colonial Examinations, see pp. 448, 450; Examination of Licentiates, 451; Statutory Examinations, p. 452].

ADVICE TO CANDIDATES.

I. The Preliminary, qualifying for PROBATIONER.—The subjects comprised in this Examination are those in which proficiency should be attained by the applicant before entering an architect's office, and it is desirable that special attention be given to them before he leaves school.

Clear and well-formed handwriting, correct spelling, grammar, and punctuation are indispensable.

Powers of observation and of description, facility of composition and lucidity in the expression of ideas, should be sedulously cultivated, as being of the utmost value in the prosecution of further studies and in the work of later years.

Arithmetic, algebra, and plane geometry should be familiar to the applicant, and a knowledge of their application in the solution of simple problems in elementary mechanics and physics should be acquired.

Geography and History should be studied, regard being had to the connection between the history of a country and its Architecture.

A good knowledge of Latin or of one modern language is essential and of two modern languages very desirable. A clear understanding of the Continental metrical system will also be useful.

Geometrical drawing and the elements of perspective are indispensable subjects of study, and should receive particular attention; while freehand drawing with rapidity and precision from the cast and the antique, and sketching with accuracy, should be carefully cultivated. Reasonable proficiency in these subjects is of the first importance.

II. The Intermediate qualifying for STUDENT.—The first aims of the Probationer should be to acquire facility and accuracy in the geometrical and perspective drawing of architectural subjects, and a knowledge of the principles of planning and construction in architectural design.

The course of study necessitates the continuous use of a notebook, in which important passages of the books under study should be written down in the Probationer's own words, and freely illustrated by careful sketches from all available sources (notes on one page, sketches on the opposite page); and the subjects, being systematically arranged, might be further illustrated by notes and sketches from other books and authorities. A sketch notebook—to be freely and continually used—should be the inseparable companion of the Probationer.

The drawing of set subjects from memory is a most useful exercise, impressing on the mind the general proportions and harmony of the several parts of the details. The art of accurately sketching plans, elevations, sections, features and details from memory, should therefore be sedulously cultivated. Such a system of study proves of the greatest service, not only at the time of examination, but afterwards in actual practice.

The study of the scientific subjects in the programme should be followed out in a similar manner, knowledge of details of construction being acquired, as far as possible, by actual measurement of work. Formulas for calculating the strength of beams, columns, &c., should be worked out, and the results compared with actual experience. The careful study of plane geometry as applied to actual work, and the acquisition of a thorough knowledge of the projection of solids and development of surfaces, are essential.

The admission of the Probationer to the Intermediate Examination will depend on the satisfactory execution of the Testimonies of Study, which are not to be considered merely as samples of drawing, although good drawing is required, but should be evidence of study of the subject represented. In all cases where it is possible to obtain the information, the jointing of both wood and stonework must be shown. Any additional information as to materials used and methods of construction should be given, and attention be called by notes or sketches (or both) to any peculiarities, and the reason for them explained. Different kinds of materials may be indicated by colour. Wherever possible, the subjects illustrated must be from old examples, and should be measured from the actual building; when the example is copied from any published drawings, the authorities from which the information is obtained should be stated, and it is desirable to add the date of erection of the work. An inside as well as an outside elevation of a door or window should be shown; and when, in consequence of the size of the subject chosen, space will not admit of this, half the elevation may be outside and half inside, or, if the subject be very elaborate, half of each may be in block. It is recommended that the Orders should be from an actual building, in which case a column of not less than about 18 feet in height may be shown. Some mouldings full size should be given, and they may form a separate sheet or sheets, and, if necessary, may be on a double-elephant sheet, folded. All drawings of ornament should have a section showing the projection, and, if not full size, should be figured or have a scale. Where possible, information is to be given as to its source, position in the building, and material in which it is executed, and notes as to how these have influenced its design or execution. To show that the design has been studied, a small scale sketch (perspective or elevation), with plan and, if necessary, sections, which may be in skeleton only, may be added, so that the relation of the part shown to the whole design may be seen. The written memoir must be prepared with care and neatness, and the illustrative sketches be well and accurately drawn.

III. The Final, qualifying for candidature as ASSOCIATE.—The principles of study recommended for the Intermediate apply equally to the Final Examination.

Reading, to be of permanent value, should be supplemented by the taking of copious notes, fully illustrated by careful sketches, and by the collection of information under various heads from different authorities. Combined with the study of the best accessible examples of old work, the habit of accurately sketching Architecture in plan, elevation, detail, ornament, and construction, especially from memory, should be assiduously cultivated, eye, brain and hand being brought into common harmonious action.

When a knowledge of detail has been thoroughly acquired, the Student should take up the study of the general principles of design in both plan and elevation, and of the combination of parts to produce an effective and well-proportioned composition.

The Student should also master the principles and practice of the preparation of contract and working drawings and specifications, and of the control of actual work; he will thus qualify himself to deal with the ordinary and many of the difficult problems which arise in the designing and carrying out of modern buildings. He should miss no opportunity of visiting buildings in course of erection.

As in the Intermediate, the admission of the Student to the Final Examination will depend on the sufficiency and excellence of his Testimonies of Study; poor composition, careless or imperfect execution, lead to disqualification.

The Student is urged to take every opportunity to consult standard works in the Library.

The Student having passed the “Final” will have shown himself to be possessed of a solid groundwork of knowledge, on which he may proceed with those more advanced studies in Design and Construction, proficiency in which will qualify him to engage in successful practice as an architect.

I. THE PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION:

To Qualify for Registration as Probationer R.I.B.A.

Examinations of persons intending to follow the profession of Architecture are held by the Royal Institute of British Architects, and some of the non-metropolitan societies allied to the Royal Institute, twice a year, in the months of June and November, in accordance with the particulars given on the official form. Except for those who have passed certain Examinations (hereinafter specified), this Preliminary Examination embraces the following subjects, particulars of which are given in the Time-table; I. Short English Composition. II. Writing from Dictation. III. Arithmetic, Algebra, and Elements of Plane Geometry. IV. Geography and History. V. Latin, Italian, French, or German: one language to be selected by the candidate. VI. Geometrical Drawing or Elements of Perspective, either subject to be selected by the candidate. VII. Freehand Drawing from the Round. VIII. Elementary Mechanics and Physics.

† To be obtained at the Office of the Institute, and to be sent in on the dates specified in the Almanac [p. 13].
Persons preparing to follow the profession of Architecture who have passed any of the following Examinations:—The Matriculation Examination at any University in the British Empire, the Senior or Junior (Honours) Local Examinations conducted under the authority of any University in the British Empire, the School or Leaving Certificate of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, the Examinations held under the Central Welsh Board, the Examinations for the First Class Certificate of the College of Preceptors, the Senior or Junior School Examination or the Matriculation Examination of the University of London, or a Senior School Certificate or a School Certificate of the Joint Matriculation Board of the Universities of Manchester, Liverpool, Leeds, and Sheffield, or the School Certificate of the University of Bristol, or such other Examinations as may be satisfactory to the Board—are exempted from submitting themselves for examination in the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, and eighth subjects; but Certificates of having passed such Examinations only exempt applicants in the subjects covered thereby.

Candidates who have obtained a success in any of the Board of Education Examinations in Art held in 1913, and subsequently, will be exempted from subjects VI. and VII.

Certificates, as follows, from the Board of Education, S. Kensington, are accepted as exempting from Subject VIII.:—

From Subject VIII.—A first class in the two Board of Education Examinations: Subject 6, Theoretical Mechanics, A, Div. 1, Solids; B, Div. 2, Fluids—Stage 1.

An applicant claiming exemption from sitting in the first five and the eighth subjects, who submits, with his application and the evidence required in support of his claim for exemption, drawings (not exceeding four) which show his acquaintance with "Geometrical Drawing" or the "Elements of Perspective," and with "Freehand Drawing," will be further exempted from examination in the sixth and seventh subjects, should his drawings be considered satisfactory by the Board of Architectural Education.

All drawings submitted by applicants claiming exemption must be delivered flat, in a portfolio 30 inches by 22 inches.

The carriage of the certificates, drawings, &c., to and from the office of the Royal Institute, and all expenses incidental thereto, must be defrayed by the owners. They will be delivered on demand to any person authorised by the owner to receive them, but the Royal Institute will not incur any expense in returning them. Due care will be taken of such drawings, certificates, &c., but the Royal Institute will not be responsible for any loss of or damage to them while they remain in its keeping or are in transit from the Royal Institute. Partially exempted applicants are required to remove their certificates, drawings, &c., immediately after the Examination; and those who are wholly exempted on receiving notice of such exemption. All drawings, certificates, &c., not removed within three months of the Examination will be destroyed.

Every applicant desirous of qualifying for Registration as Probationer R.I.B.A., whether he claim exemption from submitting himself for examination or not, must make an application on the official form, to be filled up as directed thereon, and to be accompanied by an admission fee of two guineas, which will be returned should the application be refused. If approved, the Secretary of the Royal Institute will communicate in due course with the applicant in reference to the place at which he is expected to attend for the Examination. In the case of applicants claiming exemption, the evidence they have to submit in support of the claim must accompany their applications.* Applicants unsuccessful at their first sitting may present themselves at one subsequent Examination without further fee; should they then fail to pass, a fresh fee must be paid for each subsequent attempt. Relegated candidates who fail to obtain half marks at a subsequent examination will not be allowed to sit again for their relegated subjects only, but will be required to take the whole examination.

The Time-table for the Preliminary Examination to be held in London, and at some of the non-metropolitan centres in the United Kingdom, during November 1914 and June 1915 is as follows:—

TUESDAY, 24th November 1914 and 8th June 1915.

Hours. Division.

10.0-11.0. I. SHORT ENGLISH COMPOSITION.—Simple subjects will be given to test the candidate's powers of observation and description.

11.0-11.30. II. WRITING FROM DICTATION.—A short passage from some standard English author will be given. Clear and well-formed writing, with accurate spelling and correct punctuation, should be aimed at.

11.30-1.30 III. ARITHMETIC, ALGEBRA, AND ELEMENTS OF PLANE GEOMETRY.—The questions in arithmetic will include the first four rules, simple and compound proportion, and vulgar and decimal fractions, and will include such as have a practical bearing on the candidate's future work. The Algebra will include the elementary rules, with simple equations, and the use of symbols and factors. * * * The Questions set in June 1914 are printed on p. 430 ff.

The results of these Examinations, whether held in London or at non-metropolitan centres, are reported to the Council by the Board of Architectural Education, who recommend as to the fitness of applicants for registration as Probationers, and return the names of those who pass in alphabetical order. On the approval by the Council of such recommendations, the name of every successful applicant is forthwith entered on the Register of Probationers of the Royal Institute of British Architects, and published in the Journal; and he receives in due course a notification of his registration.

Every Probationer R.I.B.A. has the privilege of using the Library and Loan Collection of Books.

II. THE INTERMEDIATE EXAMINATION:

To Qualify for Registration as Student R.I.B.A.

Examinations (Written, Graphic, and Oral) of Probationers are held by the Royal Institute, and some of the non-Metropolitan Societies allied thereto, twice a year, in the months of June and November, in accordance with the particulars given on the official form.*

A Probationer R.I.B.A. who has attained the age of at least 19 years, and who is desirous of qualifying for registration as Student R.I.B.A., must make an application on the official form,* to be filled up as directed thereon; and to be accompanied by an admission fee of Three Guineas, which will be returned should the application be refused. He must also send with his application Testimonies of Study as hereinafter set forth, accompanied by a certificate from a member of the Royal Institute, or other person of recognised position, that the Probationer is a proper person to be admitted to this Examination, and that the Testimonies of Study he submits are his own work.†

The Examination, which is known as the Intermediate, embraces the following subjects:—

Two Papers on the Principal Styles and General History of Architecture, and the Purpose of Architectural Features in relation to the Buildings in which they occur.—Two Papers on Construction: 1. Simple Historical Architecture—showing knowledge of one of the following periods, to be selected by the Candidate: (a) Greek and Roman; (b) Byzantine and Romanesque; (c) French and English Gothic; (d) Italian, French, and English Renaissance.—2. Mathematics and Mechanics—Algebra, up to and including the binomial thereon; The use of the Slide Rule; Plane Trigonometry, including the Solution of Triangles; Descriptive Geometry, including the Mensuration of simple Plane and Solid Figures; Simple Conic Sections treated geometrically; General Statics and Dynamics, including graphic statics; 3. Design—dealing with simple subjects.

Probationers who have attended the full course at the School of Architecture, University College, London, and obtained the First-class Certificate; or have attended the two years’ course at King’s College, London, and obtained the First-class Certificate; or have attended the full course in Architecture at the University of Liverpool, and obtained a First-class Certificate at the College Final Examination, or have obtained the Degree of Bachelor of Architecture at Liverpool University; or have obtained either a first class in the Terminal Certificate Examinations of the Final year or passed a University degree Examination in Architecture at the Victoria University, Manchester, or have obtained the Diploma or Senior Certificate of the Glasgow School of Architecture; or who, under certain conditions, have passed through the three years’ course at the Architectural Association, London; or a two years’ course at the Architectural Association followed by a two years’ continuation course at the Royal Academy Schools; or have passed through the five years’ course of the School of Architecture, Sheffield University, and obtained the degree of Bachelor of Arts with Honours in Architecture or the Diploma in Architecture, or have passed through the three years’ course and obtained the First-class Certificate at the School of Architecture, Sheffield University; or have obtained the diploma of the combined courses of instruction in Architecture at the Edinburgh College of Art and the Heriot Watt College, may be exempted from sitting for the Intermediate Examination and be admitted as Students R.I.B.A. on making a formal application and paying the fee of Three Guineas, provided that the work done by them during the Session be submitted to and approved by the Board of Architectural Education as Testimonies of Study, or has been previously examined and approved by the External Examiners. [It is the desire of the Institute, as recommended by the Board of Architectural Education, that students within reach of the Universities and Schools above mentioned should avail themselves of the opportunities these institutions afford, and take up the architectural courses provided, rather than submit themselves for the examination without such recognised training.]

Students who can produce Certificates that they have passed with distinction through a full course of study (on lines similar to those now approved by the Institute) in Colonial or Foreign Schools of Architecture to the satisfaction of the respective Professors, may, at the discretion of the Board, be recommended to the Council for exemption from the Intermediate Examination. This privilege is also extended to the Students of the Architectural Schools at all Colonial or Foreign Universities.

Exemption from the following subjects of the Examination is granted to students who produce evidence of having passed approved Examinations in certain subjects in Schools of University rank, viz.: The Principal Styles and General History of Architecture, and the Purpose of Architectural Features in relation to the Buildings in which they occur: Theoretical Construction, including Stresses and Strains. Students who are thus exempted must submit Testimonies of Study as specified and must pass the Intermediate Examination in the following subjects, viz.: Simple Applied Construction in Elementary Design and the Properties and Uses of Ordinary Building Materials. Design: Dealing with Simple Subjects.

The Testimonies of Study* required from Probationers R.I.B.A. must consist of eight sheets of drawings (half double-elephant, i.e., 27 inches by 20 inches), neatly and carefully finished. The subjects of the eight sheets of drawings must be as follows:—

1 and 2. Two sheets, giving examples (one on each sheet) of any two of the Orders of Architecture here named—the Doric, the Ionic, or the Corinthian—drawn in outline, with the ornament and enrichments filled in; each sheet to contain two columns of one Order with entablature complete, drawn to scale (the columns being not less than 10 inches high on the paper), and details to three times the scale of the columns, with diagrams showing application to whole building.

3. One sheet of details of Classic Ornament from the round, or one sheet of Mediaeval Ornament—freehand drawing from the round.

4 and 5. Two sheets of measured drawings of an existing building or portion of a building, to be selected by the candidate, with the plottings and sketches.

Probationers R.I.B.A. who are Architectural Students of the Royal Academy are permitted, in lieu of the Testimonies of Study Nos. 1 to 5 above specified, to submit for the approval of the Board of Architectural Education their work done in and for the Royal Academy School, provided that the drawings so submitted comprise studies applicable to paragraphs Nos. 4 and 5, whether prepared for the Royal Academy or otherwise.

6. One sheet containing diagram of timber-framed Roof Truss, not less than 30 feet span, with the nature of the strain on the several parts marked thereon, the ironwork and the junctions of the timbers drawn to a scale of one inch and a half to the foot, in isometrical projection and dissociated.

7. One sheet showing the construction of Floors—Framed timber, combined iron and timber, and fire-resisting materials, suitable for a room 30 feet by 20 feet, drawn to a scale of half-inch to the foot.

8. One sheet of details of Joiner's Work in doors, windows, and fittings, shown in plan, elevation, and section, to a scale of one inch to the foot, with details, to a large scale, of mouldings and framing.

 Each of the eight sheets must be carefully finished as a complete work and bear the name of the candidate. They must be delivered flat, in a portfolio 30 inches by 22 inches.

Drawings prepared in the Architectural Association Day School by Probationers R.I.B.A. may be submitted by such Probationers in lieu of the Testimonies of Study above set out, and if the work be approved by the Board, the candidates will be admitted to the Examination.

* In order to test the Probationer's knowledge of what he has drawn and described in his "Testimonies of Study," they are brought up at the Oral Examination, when he is required to answer questions respecting them.
The carriage of the Testimonies of Study, &c., to and from the office of the Institute, and all expenses incidental thereto, must be defrayed by the candidate. They will be delivered on demand to any person authorised by the candidate to receive them, but the Royal Institute will not incur any expense in returning them. Due care will be taken of such Testimonies of Study, &c., but the Royal Institute will not be responsible for any loss of or damage to them while they remain in its keeping or are in transit to or from the Royal Institute. All Relegated Candidates are required to bring their original Testimonies of Study to the Oral Examination.

Applicants unsuccessful at their first sitting may present themselves at one subsequent examination without further fee; should they then fail to pass, a fresh fee must be paid for each subsequent attempt.

The Intermediate Examination, to be held during November 1914 and June 1915, consists of Written, Graphic, and Oral Work. The time-table is as follows:

The results of these Examinations are reported to the Council by the Board of Architectural Education, who recommend as to the fitness of the candidates for admission as Students, and return the names of those who pass in order of merit. On the approval of such recommendations the successful candidates are registered as Students, and their names and addresses are published in the Journal of the Royal Institute, and also in three issues of the Kalender following the registration.

In the event of any Student failing to pass the Final Examination within four years of having passed the Intermediate, his name will be removed from the Register of Students, unless the Council are satisfied that good cause exists for allowing it to remain.

III. THE FINAL EXAMINATION.

To Qualify for Candidature as Associate R.I.B.A.

Examinations (Written, Graphic, and Oral) of Students of the Royal Institute of British Architects are held by the Royal Institute twice a year, in the months of June and December, in accordance with the particulars given on the official form to be obtained at the Institute.

A Student R.I.B.A. who has attained the age of at least 21 years, and who is desirous of qualifying for candidature as Associate R.I.B.A., must make an application on the official form, to be filled up as directed thereon, and to be accompanied by a remittance of Four Guineas, which will be returned should the application be refused. He must also send with his application four accepted Problems in Design, accompanied by a certificate from a member of the Royal Institute, or other person of recognised position, that the Student is a proper person to be admitted to this Examination.

Alternative Problems in Design, set for candidates by the Board of Architectural Education, will be published every six months in the Journal of the Institute and the professional journals. Every candidate will be required to submit Designs in answer to at least four of these problems. The Designs, when they have been submitted to and approved by the Board, will be considered as qualifying the Student to enter for the Examination. The Designs so submitted and approved will be marked by the Examiners. Students in the Royal Academy School may submit, in lieu of these Alternative Problems in Design, the Designs made by them at the Royal Academy, provided that the same are approved and initialled by the Visitor. Candidates who have been awarded the Soane Medallion or the Tite Prize, or who have received a Certificate of Honourable Mention in either of these Competitions, may submit in place of the aforesaid Designs their Soane or Tite Designs, and receive marks for the same. Non-premiated designs in these Competitions may be submitted to the Board for approval in lieu of one of the Problems in Design. Students may submit in lieu of one of the Alternative Problems, designs made by them in a recognised School of Architecture.
The candidate must submit a thesis showing advanced and individual work in one only of the following subjects:

1. Historical Architecture—implying as far as possible the direct study of actual historical buildings.

2. Science, as Applied to Building.—By this is intended a special study of an application of science to definite problems of building.

3. Design Including Decoration—such as a study in Civic Monumental, Decorative, or other branch of architectural design.

The subject selected for the thesis is to be notified for the approval of the Board four months before the date of the Examination, and the thesis itself is to be submitted four weeks before that date. The thesis, which may be either an illustrated essay or a design with a detailed report, will be assessed by Examiners specially appointed for the purpose, who will also examine the candidate orally in his thesis if necessary. It is open to candidates to obtain distinction in the advanced work, and such distinction will be appended to the candidate's name in the Kalendar. This mark of distinction will only be given to candidates who pass the Examination at one sitting. Essays submitted in competition for the Royal Institute Silver Medal and Twenty-five Guineas may be sent in as the Thesis.

The carriage of the Problems in Design to and from the office of the Royal Institute, and all expenses incidental thereto, must, be defrayed by the owners. They will be delivered on demand to any person authorised by the owner to receive them, but the Institute will not incur any expense in returning them. Due care will be taken of the drawings, but the Royal Institute will not be responsible for any loss of or damage to them while they remain in its keeping or are in transit to or from the Royal Institute. All relegated candidates must bring their Problems in Design to the Oral Examination.

The Student who successfully passes the Final Examination becomes qualified, subject to the provisions of Section 8 of the Charter, for candidature as Associate of the Royal Institute of British Architects; he receives, in due course, a notification to that effect, and his name is published in the Institute Journal. He is then eligible on certain conditions for the award of the Arthur Cates and Ashpitel Prizes.

No entrance fee is required from candidates elected Associates within eighteen months of passing the Final Examination. Those not elected within that period are required to pay an entrance fee of Three Guineas.

Applicants unsuccessful at their first sitting may present themselves at one subsequent Examination without further fee; should they then fail to pass, a fresh fee must be paid for each subsequent attempt.

In the event of any Student failing to pass the Final Examination within four years of having passed the Intermediate, his name will be removed from the Register of Students, unless the Council are satisfied that good cause exists for allowing it to remain.

The Final Examination, to qualify for candidature as Associate, and to be passed by Students whose Problems in Design before described have been approved, will be held in December 1914 and June 1915. The timetable is as follows:

Thursday, 3rd December 1914 and 24th June 1915.

3. What do you consider the points to be noted as characteristic in the construction of Romanesque vaulted buildings? Illustrate your answer by sketches, and discuss briefly how far the vaulting of thirteenth-century Gothic architecture is to be considered as the direct development of Romanesque;

   or, alternatively,

Describe, with illustrative sketches, any important medieval building with which you are acquainted. Using this building for purposes of illustration, discuss the statement that "construction beautified" is the characteristic note of Gothic architecture.

4. Give an account of any one important building attributed to Brunelleschi. Discuss the chief causes that led to the rise of Renaissance architecture in Italy. How far do you consider the statement accurate that "the renaissance constitutes a complete break with medieval tradition" in architecture?

Hon. Examiners: A. E. RICHARDSON, HARRY REDFERN.

The Directors of an important Railway, desirous of extending cross-Channel travelling facilities and attracting ocean steamship lines to work in conjunction with their system—mainly as regards the transfer of mails and passengers—opened negotiations with the Port Authorities of a Westcountry seaport for leasing a level site fronting a broad tidal river.

The Company's engineer prepared a scheme to shew the feasibility of the project. His plan indicated the proposed wharfage as a platform 440 yards long by 220 yards wide, with a granite retaining wall to the river front. In addition, the engineer's drawings dealt with all points in connection with the natural formation of the site, the stability of the river wall, and the double track of railway proposed between the Quay and Town Stations, through which the main line passed. The Directors, however, wishing to secure the best architectural expression for their undertaking, resolved to promote a competition among Architects.

The following extracts from the published particulars treat of the requirements they desired; but it was left to the discretion of the competitors to interpret the scheme as they thought the problem demanded:

REQUIREMENTS OF STATION AND OTHER BUILDINGS TO BE BUILT IN GRANITE.

1. Two double covered platforms 600 feet long by 50 feet wide.
2. A "Concourse" 80 feet wide.
3. Refreshment Rooms (First and Second Class), Cloak Rooms and Waiting Rooms, Booking Offices, Station Master's Office, Clerks' and Porters' Room; also three small offices for Shipping Companies.
4. Post and Telegraph Office, Telephone Boxes, Mail Room, Customs Room and Room for Customs Staff.
5. Two towers are desirable, one to be used for signalling, having a revolving light to be seen from the sea; the other a combined clock and water tower with strong-room in the basement.
   These towers are to be 30 feet externally at the base, but can be diminished at the upper stages.
6. A covered garage for Motor Cars with a small depot adjoining to be conveniently placed near the station.

The drawings required are as follows:
(a) Block plan of the whole scheme to a scale of 100 feet to an inch, shewing suggested arrangement of main buildings with rail tracks.
(b) Freehand sketch perspective to size of half imperial sheet shewing the scheme from above.
(c) 1/8th scale sectional elevation through half concourse shewing one of the towers.
(d) 1/2 scale elevations, sections, and plans of one of the towers.

NOTE.—Each Candidate before leaving the room will be required to deposit with the Moderator, at the end of the first day, a tracing shewing the general lines of his design, marked clearly "Preliminary Sketch" and numbered with the Candidate's number.

It may be assumed that the width of a coach is 9 ft. 3 in. and its length 70 ft., also that the width of the rail tracks is 4 ft. 9 in., and the space between the tracks 6 ft. 0 in.

Morning Sitting, Monday, 29th June 1914.

B1.—CONSTRUCTION. (From 10 a.m. to 1.15 p.m.)

Hon. Examiners: ALFRED CONDER.

The enclosing walls of the room to be of brick or stone, and the roof of similar material, arched and groined and carried upon a centre pier. The entrance door to be in the centre of one of the sides; the construction of the passage thereto need not be shewn.

The site is wet clay, one half of the site has been previously excavated and filled in with made ground for a depth of 30 feet below the ground floor level.

Draw to a scale of 4 feet to an inch, part plan and section shewing the construction, including the foundations, the floors and the doorway, also the means to be adopted for dryness, for ventilation, and for resisting burglary and fire.

2. Draw to a scale of 2 feet to an inch, plan, section and elevation of a Bell Gable to receive three bells, not exceeding 3 cwt. each, and hung to swing, constructed on the west end wall of a church, wholly of stone work. The jointing of the masonry is to be indicated.

3. Draw to a scale of 4 feet to an inch, part plan, section and elevation of a cricket club pavilion, 38 feet by 18 feet internal dimensions—not divisions to be shewn—but a verandah is required along one side.

All to be constructed of timber and boarding, including the floor, upon a brick and concrete foundation; the roof to be covered with plain tiles. The scantlings to be figured.

4. An oak framed and panelled partition is to separate the front entrance of a house from the inner hall, the length is 10 feet and the height 12 feet from floor to ceiling: there is to be

A pair of doors 5 feet wide in same to swing upon floor hinges, and to have a semi-circular or segmental opening fanlight over.

Afternoon Sitting, Monday, 29th June 1914.

B 2.—CONSTRUCTION. (From 2.15 p.m. to 5.30 p.m.)

Hon. Examiners: BERNARD DICKSEE, DIGBY L. SOLOMON, B.Sc.

Note.—All calculations must be shown. Sketches must be clear and distinct.

Candidates must not attempt more than four questions in each part of the paper (i.e. not more than eight questions in all).

PART I.

1. A compound girder is composed of two 16-in. × 6-in. steel joists with one 14-in. × 4-in. plate on each flange. Calculate what is the maximum safe distributed load that this girder will carry over a span of 24 feet, being given that the greatest moment of inertia of a 16-in. × 6-in. steel joist is 725, thickness of web 55 ins., and average thickness of flange 85 ins.

2. The compound beam in the previous question is to be used as a cantilever of 8 feet projection. Calculate what is the maximum safe load it will carry concentrated at the free end.

3. The least moment of inertia of a 14-in. × 6-in. steel joist, whose sectioned area is 16'75 sq. ins., is 28. Calculate the maximum safe load that this joist will carry when used as a stanchion 12 feet high.
   (a) the ends being considered fixed;
   (b) the ends being considered as one fixed and one "hinged."
4. (a) What do you understand by the terms "bearing" and "shear"?
(b) A \( \frac{1}{4}\)-in. rivet in double shear passes through three \( \frac{3}{4}\)-in. plates. Calculate whether failure would occur first through "bearing" or "shearing."

5. Describe, with sketches where desirable, the meaning of the following terms.

(a) Plate girder;
(b) Box girder;
(c) Channel;
(d) Latticed stancheon;
(e) Cleat;
(f) Fishplate;
(g) Separator.

PART II.

6. A stancheon, composed of two 16-in. \( \times \) 6-in. steel joists with one 16-in. \( \times \) \( \frac{3}{4}\)-in. plate on each flange, carries a beam on one side as a flange connection composed of three 16-in. \( \times \) 6-in. steel joists with one 24-in. \( \times \) \( \frac{3}{4}\)-in. plate on each flange. Draw to a scale of 1 inch to a foot the front and side elevation of such connection.

7. A 24-in. \( \times \) 7\( \frac{1}{2}\)-in. steel joist used as a stancheon carries a load of 100 tons. The ground on which it ultimately rests will safely carry only 1 ton to the foot. Sketch to large scale the base of such stancheon.

8. There is a large rectangular corner building with streets on two sides and buildings on the other two sides. The ground floor elevations consist of large shop windows with intermediate brick piers and steel girders supporting the superstructure. The interior of the building on each floor is used as a large open showroom. The floors consist of wood joists carried on steel joists in both directions, which latter rest on the brick piers and walls and on intermediate cast-iron columns. The ceilings and walls are matchlined.

A bad fire takes place on the premises, the interior being completely gutted.

Describe what will be the probable effect, after extinction, on the steel girders and joists, the cast-iron columns, and the brick piers and walls.

9. "A" and "B" are two buildings in different occupations on either side of a narrow passage-way 6 feet wide. "A" consists of a basement storey, a ground storey used as a shop, and three upper storeys, the upper floors and walls being carried on columns in the ground storey, which latter rests on brick piers in the basement.

It is proposed to pull down the building "B" and to erect new premises consisting of a deep sub-basement, basement, ground and several storeys over.
Draw to a scale of 4 feet to an inch the shoring and other precautions you would adopt to support "A" whilst "B" was being rebuilt.

10. Describe in detail, with any sketches you may consider desirable, the various operations entailed in forming the sub-basement and basement described in the preceding question.

Morning Sitting, Tuesday, 30th June 1914.

2. Authorities differ as to the advisability of putting a disconnecting trap between the main drain of a house and the public sewer. State what you know of the advantages and disadvantages of each theory.

3. Show to 4-in. scale a plan of one floor of the sanitary wing to a Hospital Ward with Bath Room, Sink and W.C.: show the fittings on the plan with enlarged sketch details of W.C. and Bath and their connections to soil and waste pipes.

What precautions should be adopted in the storage of water for domestic purposes?

6. Give a short general description of the plant necessary to install in a country house:

(1) Acetylene Gas;

(2) Air Gas;

(3) Electric Light.

7. Give a rough sketch section through a two-storey house showing heating system with boiler, radiators and feed cistern, and indicate how they are connected together. State the superficial heating surface you would require for a radiator to heat a room 20 × 20 × 12 feet high.

Afternoon Sitting, Tuesday, 30th June 1914.

D.—THE PROPERTIES AND USES OF BUILDING MATERIALS. (From 1.30 p.m. to 4 p.m.)

Assuming a Contractor has submitted to you for selection samples of all the different kinds of bricks, describe briefly the reasons for which you would select each kind and the tests you would apply to ascertain whether the bricks selected would stand the stresses you proposed putting them under.

3. Briefly describe the various kinds of lime used in building and the purpose for which each is best suited. Give the proportions in which each is mixed to form mortar and plaster.

   What are the characteristics of a suitable sand for making (a) mortar, and (b) plaster?

Afternoon Sitting, Tuesday, 30th June 1914.

E.—SPECIFICATIONS, BUILDING CONTRACTS, AND THE ORDINARY PRACTICE OF ARCHITECTURE.

(From 4 to 5.30 p.m.)

Note.—The Candidate must not attempt more than six questions, of which two must be Nos. 1 and 2.

Each Candidate is to state, at the head of his paper, the locality in which his experience has been gained.

1. An entrance vestibule to an office building, from which the stairs start, has tiled walls with dado, marble mosaic floor (on concrete) with mat sinking, and a plain hardwood porter's box in one corner. The stairs are of stone with cast-iron panel balusters and an oak handrail both sides.

   Write the specification for the floor and wall finishings, the porter's box in all trades, and the balusters and handrails.

   No time is to be occupied in design, the object being to ascertain the candidate's idea as to construction and workmanship.

2. Specify a good lead paint, describing the component parts in detail and state what purpose each of them serves.

   Specify the procedure in painting new interior woodwork and in repainting old woodwork and plastered walls.

3. Give the heads of the Clauses necessary or desirable in a Building Agreement for carrying out an ordinary building in town or country.

4. Under the R.I.B.A. Conditions of Contract, what matters may form the subject of an Arbitration and what may not? State briefly the procedure when one of the parties determines to go to arbitration.
5. You are called in to advise upon a damp basement in a suburban house. You find the conditions are:—
   (a) The floor is 4 feet below the ground level;
   (b) The walls on three sides of the building are against the earth, which is gravelly clay.
   (c) There is no horizontal damp course.
Describe and illustrate the methods you would adopt to carry out the necessary work in the most economical manner.

6. A client possesses a suburban house having a charming prospect from the windows of the principal living room. An adjoining owner proposes to erect a building which will largely obscure the prospect and slightly diminish the light to the windows of this living room. How would you advise your client?

7. What is a Schedule of Dilapidations? If a client took you to a house and said "Make a Schedule of the Dilapidations here," would you ask for any information before beginning the work, and if so, what would you ask for?

8. If you had to build a steel-framed building and you wanted to avoid extras while making certain of a structure that would be permanently safe under normal conditions; how would you arrange to get the steelwork designed and how would you fix its cost, and how would you defray the cost of the design and of the supervision of the work during erection?

9. What is the ordinary London procedure, in connection with adjoining owners, in rebuilding premises having party walls or party structures? Who are adjoining owners under the London Building Acts?

SPECIAL EXAMINATION:

To Qualify for Candidature as Associate R.I.B.A.

[For applicants exempted, by permission of the Council, from the Preliminary and Intermediate Examinations, and from submitting Testimonies of Study.]

The attention of architects in practice, not less than 25 years of age, and of chief assistants over 30 years of age, who may contemplate applying for admission to the Royal Institute of British Architects, is directed to the Regulations of the Special Examination qualifying for candidature as Associate, which is held twice a year, in the months of June and December, in accordance with the particulars given on the official Application Form.

Architects in practice, and chief assistants as above stated, who desire to be admitted as Associates, can be exempted from passing the Preliminary and Intermediate Examinations and from sending in "Testimonies of Study." They can be admitted, by resolution of the Council in each case, to a Qualifying Examination (namely, the Final [ante, p. 423] of the three Examinations), which is conducted with especial regard to the requirements of such architects, their professional works and position being duly taken into account by the Board of Architectural Education.

The probationary work required to be submitted and approved prior to the applicant's admission to the Examination may consist of the working drawings of a building, executed or otherwise, of his own design, with a perspective view, and a drawing of some ornament from the round. All practitioners of architecture who have been in the active exercise of their profession for twelve years are exempted from submitting any probationary work. An applicant who has not been twelve full years in practice may submit the working drawings of any building erected from his design and under his superintendence, with a drawing of a building in perspective, and a sheet of ornament. Due care will be taken of the probationary work submitted by applicants, but the Royal Institute will not be responsible for any loss of or damage to the drawings while they remain in its keeping or are in transit from the Royal Institute; and applicants are required to remove their probationary work immediately after the examination.

The candidate must submit a thesis showing advanced and individual work in one only of the following subjects:

1. Historical Architecture—implying as far as possible the direct study of actual historical buildings.

2. Science, as Applied to Building.—By this is intended a special study of an application of science to definite problems of building.

3. Design, Including Decoration—such as a study in Civic Monumental, Decorative, or other branch of architectural design.

The subject selected for the thesis is to be notified for the approval of the Board four months before the date of the Examination, and the thesis itself is to be submitted four weeks before the same date. The thesis, which may be either an illustrated essay or a design with a detailed report, will be assessed by Examiners specially appointed for the purpose, who will also examine the candidate orally in his thesis. It is open to candidates to obtain distinction in the advanced work, and such special distinction will appear against their names in the Kalendar.

A fee of Six Guineas must be paid by each applicant on sending in his formal application. The fee will be returned should the application be refused. Applicants unsuccessful at their first sitting may present themselves again within twelve months without further fee; should they then fail to pass, a fresh fee must be paid for each subsequent attempt. On passing the examination the applicant will be qualified, subject to Section 8 of the Charter, for candidature as Associate. The names of those who pass are returned alphabetically, and they are at once informed thereof, with a view to their presenting themselves for election as Associate—the entrance fee to which class is Three Guineas, and the annual subscription Two Guineas. Should an applicant fail to pass he will be informed of the fact, but the names of unsuccessful candidates are not published.

Applicants availing themselves of the foregoing special concessions are not eligible for the Ashpitel Prize.

COLONIAL EXAMINATIONS:

To Qualify for Candidature as Associate R.I.B.A.

Architects of not less than 25 years of age working in the Colonies, either as architects in practice or as assistants, can be admitted to the "Special Examination" [p. 458] qualifying for candidature as Associate, which is held at such colonial centres as the Council may from time to time determine. All applications must be made on the official form, to be obtained from the Secretary R.I.B.A., or at the colonial centres indicated below.

Prior to the applicant's admission to the Examination, probationary work must be submitted to, and approved by, the Board of Architectural Education sitting in London. Such probationary work must consist of the working drawings of a building, executed or otherwise, of the applicant's own design, with a perspective view, and a drawing of some ornament from the round. All practitioners of architecture who have been in the active exercise of their profession for twelve years are exempted from sending in probationary work. Probationary work must be forwarded to London at the expense of the applicant, but will be returned at the expense of the Institute.

A fee of Six Guineas must be paid by each applicant on sending in his formal application. Should the application be refused, this fee will be returned. If the application be approved, the candidate will receive intimation from the Secretary as to the place he will be required to attend for the Examination. Successful candidates are qualified, subject to Section 8 of the Charter, for candidature as Associate. The names of those who pass are returned alphabetically, and they are at once informed thereof, with a view to their presenting themselves for election as Associates—the entrance fee to which class is Three Guineas and the annual subscription Two Guineas. Should an applicant not be passed by the Board, he will be informed of the fact; the names of unsuccessful candidates are not published. Candidates unsuccessful at their first sitting may present themselves once more for examination without further fee. Should they then fail to pass, a fresh fee will be required for each subsequent attempt.

R.I.B.A. COLONIAL EXAMINATIONS, 1915 : CANADA, AUSTRALIA, AND SOUTH AFRICA : Preliminary and Intermediate.—The Institute of Architects of New South Wales (who conduct the Examinations in Sydney) and the Royal Victorian Institute of Architects (who conduct the Examinations in Melbourne) are empowered by the Council of the R.I.B.A. to grant at their discretion exemption from the Candidates will be informed in due course of the time and place of the Examination.

Final and Special.—Examinations will be held in Sydney from the 24th June to the 2nd July 1915 inclusive, and in Toronto in the following December simultaneously with the Final and Special Examinations to be held in Great Britain. Application forms, fees, and probationary work must reach London from Sydney by the first mail arriving after the 31st March 1915, and from Toronto by the first mail arriving after the 31st August 1915.

Application forms may be obtained from the Secretary R.I.B.A. at the Offices of the R.I.B.A. in London; from Mr. F. S. Baker, Hon. Sec. EXAMINATION OF LICENTIATES.

To Qualify for Candidature as Fellow R.I.B.A.

A Special Examination is held for those Licentiates who, being otherwise qualified, may desire admission to the Fellowship of the Royal Institute of British Architects. This examination will be held on dates to be announced by the Council. All applications must be made on the official form, to be obtained from the Secretary R.I.B.A.

The candidate will be required to submit for the approval of the Council working drawings of one or more of his executed buildings, which may be supplemented by photographs thereof, and by original sketches or measured drawings of actual work. If the drawings submitted are approved by the Council, the candidate will be required to submit himself to an examination which will be held on the premises of the Royal Institute of British Architects, or elsewhere, as the Council may appoint. Should the work so submitted be, in the opinion of the Council, inadequate, the application will not be further entertained.
Should however the work submitted be, in the opinion of the Council, of sufficient merit, the candidate may be exempted from any further examination.

Ten days before the examination a list of subjects will be issued to all candidates, and from this list each candidate will be required to select one subject and to inform the Secretary of the Royal Institute, five days before the examination, which subject he selects. When the candidate attends for examination, he will be furnished with particulars of the selected subject, and will be required to prepare a set of working drawings and certain details thereof, together with full descriptive notes. The candidate will also be required to write a short paper or report on a subject previously selected by himself and approved by the Council. This report will be prepared on the fourth day, and the time occupied will be at the discretion of the candidate. Four days will be allowed for the examination, and the candidate may be required, at the option of the Council, to attend subsequently for an oral examination on his papers. Candidates must provide their own drawing boards and instruments. The hours of the examination are from 10 to 1.30 and 2.30 to 5.30. At the end of the first day the candidate must hand in to the Moderators a rough tracing of his design, and there will be no lunch interval on this day. The fee for the examination is Six Guineas, which must be sent to the Secretary R.I.B.A., with the candidate's application for admission to the examination. If the candidate fails to pass the examination the fee will not be returned, but he will be allowed to sit for one subsequent examination without further fee.

Should a candidate be admitted and pass, he will be qualified, subject to Section 8 of the Charter, for candidature as Fellow.

Should a candidate fail to pass he will be informed of the fact, but the names of unsuccessful candidates are not published.

THE TRIBUNAL OF APPEAL.

The London Building Acts 1894 to 1905.

Clerk of the Tribunal: Mr. CHARLES HERBERT LOVE.
Offices: 13, Great George Street, Westminster, S.W.

The Tribunal of Appeal, as constituted under sections 175 and 178 of the London Building Act 1894, is composed of three members—one appointed by a Secretary of State, one by the Council of the Royal Institute of British Architects, and one by the Council of the Surveyors' Institution. The members are appointed for a term of five years, and are eligible for re-appointment. Appeal may be made to the Tribunal under the several sections set out in the London Building Act 1894 (57 & 58 Vict., c. ccxi.), and in the London Building Acts (Amendment) Act, 1905 (5 Edw. 7, c. ccix.), the Tribunal having power to hear the parties interested in person, or by counsel, solicitor, or agent; to administer oaths; to hear and receive evidence; to require the production of documents or books; and to confirm, reverse, or vary any decision appealed against, and to make any such order as they may think fit, also to award costs in their discretion.

When any question of law is involved in any appeal submitted to them, the Tribunal may, on the request of the parties, and if ordered by the High Court, or a Judge thereof, on application in a summary manner made by any party to the appeal, shall state a case for the opinion of the High Court, which shall hear and determine any such question of law, and thereupon reverse, affirm, or amend the decision of the Tribunal, or remit the matter to them with the opinion of the Court on the case stated, or make such other order as to the matter and as to the costs of the case as the Court sees fit.

Any order of the Tribunal may be enforced by the High Court as if it had been an order of that Court.

With the approval of the Lord Chancellor, amended Regulations have been made as to the procedure to be followed in cases of appeal, and as to fees to be paid to the Tribunal by the Appellants and other parties, copies of which may be obtained from the Clerk to the Tribunal on application (price 1s.).

Appeals are to be lodged (by hand) at the Office of the Tribunal, and the fee thereon paid, within the periods (if any) prescribed by the Acts, and where no period is so prescribed, within the time required by the Regulations.

The Tribunal consists of the following members:

Mr. ALFRED ARTHUR HUDSON, K.C. [H.A.], appointed by the Home Secretary (President of the Tribunal).
Mr. JOHN SLATER [P.], appointed by the Council of the Royal Institute of British Architects.
Mr. HERBERT THOMAS STEWARD, appointed by the Council of the Surveyors' Institution.

All communications should be addressed to the Clerk of the Tribunal. All payments to be made in cash. Office hours, 10 to 4 (Saturdays, 10 to 1).
The Library of the Royal Institute of British Architects consists principally of books presented by their authors, members of the corporate body. Many have been received in large donations, others by bequest. From time to time standard works of reference are purchased, to meet the requirements of the professional student, as well as to maintain the special character and historic value of the collection. Not the least interesting portion of the Library is that which includes rare and valuable editions of Foreign Works, mostly presented by Hon. Corr. Members.

For convenience of reference the Catalogue is kept up to date with printed slips inserted as they appear in the announcements in the Supplement to the Journal, together with cross-references. A Catalogue published in 1889, which was printed at the cost of the late David Brandon, contains all the works presented and purchased up to June, 1887, with an Appendix comprising all the publications acquired up to the 31st December, 1888. A Supplement to this Catalogue comprises additions from June, 1887, to December, 1898. Copies of the Catalogue complete, strongly bound in buckram, gilt lettered, may be purchased at the Institute, price 10s. 6d. The Supplement above mentioned may be had separately, price 1s.

From the 1st October till the end of June the Library is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. (Saturdays 6 p.m.); in July and September it closes at 7 p.m. (Saturdays 2 p.m.); The Reference Library is closed during the whole of August, but Loan books may be received or issued between the hours of 12 and 2 daily.

All Probationers, Students, and Qualified Candidates for Associateship, on registration in the books of the Institute, are furnished with a card of admission, and such card must be shown by the reader at every visit. Members of the Architectural Association under the age of 23 years must be provided with a specially stamped card, to be annually renewed, signed by the Hon. Secretaries of the Association. Cards are also granted on the recommendation of members of the Institute, professors of colleges, schoolmasters, and others, who are required to certify, on a form to be obtained at the Institute, that the persons they recommend are fit to be admitted to the privileges of the Reference Library and the Loan Collection.

The Council, after due application has been made and inquired into, afford facilities to architects and others, not members of the Institute, to consult books in the Reference Library, and to have the use of the Loan Collection. Applications should be made in writing to The Secretary R.I.B.A. at the Office of the Institute.
The Loan Library.—Books borrowed by members from the Loan Library are despatched at the cost of the Institute, but the return postage must be paid by the borrower.

RULES TO BE OBSERVED IN THE LIBRARY.

THE REFERENCE LIBRARY.

1. Every one using the Library must sign the Attendance Book placed at the entrance.

2. The front and back rooms are reserved for members of the Institute, but non-members are allowed access to any special books of reference there on application to the officer in charge.

3. No book or other work forming part of the Reference Library is allowed to be taken from the premises of the Institute, except by special resolution of the Council.

4. Readers desiring to trace are required to apply to the Librarian or officer in charge for a form, which must be duly filled up, giving particulars of the work and specifying the portion it is intended to trace. Soft pencils only may be used in tracing. In the case of rare and other valuable works, in order to preserve the print from injury, isinglass will be supplied for the purpose of tracing.

5. No compasses of any kind may be applied to any of the works, and the use of ink is prohibited at any table on which rare or costly works are placed.

6. Readers are requested to inform the officer in charge when they have finished with any work, in order that it may be restored to its place.

7. Silence is necessary in the Library, and all oral communications should be conducted in an undertone.

THE LOAN LIBRARY.

8. The Loan Library is open for the issue and return of books during the same hours as those appointed for the Reference Library.

9. Not more than one volume at a time is issued to any one borrower, except by permission of the Librarian, and no volume may be retained longer than fourteen days, unless a written renewal from the Librarian has been obtained [see No. 12].

10. Application for works must be made personally, except in the case of members (and “Students”) of the Institute, who may send a written request by a person authorised to receive and sign for them, or may apply in writing to the Librarian for the volume to be sent by post or rail.

11. A borrower is required to sign a voucher for each book he takes out, and is responsible for the work so long as the voucher remains uncANCELLED. A book will not be accepted as returned unless it be delivered by hand to the officer in charge at the Library during Library hours, and the borrower’s receipt obtained in exchange. In the case, however, of a member of the Institute borrowing through the post, his letter of request shall be countersigned by the Librarian on the day when the volume is despatched, and shall be regarded as the member’s voucher. Volumes shall be despatched at the cost of the Institute and returned at the cost of borrowers. On the return of a book the Librarian shall at once send the member a receipt. Books due for return on days when the Library is closed must be returned on the first following day when it is open.
12. Application for renewal must be made personally or by postcard in sufficient time to allow of the book being punctually returned if it cannot be renewed; if renewed or otherwise, a notice from the Librarian will be sent.

13. A fine of sixpence must be paid for every day or portion of a day during which any volume is retained beyond the time allowed, unless the borrower can show a written renewal from the Librarian. And a fine of one shilling must be paid for every day or portion of a day during which any volume is retained after delivery at the borrower's address of a notice from the Librarian for its return (the day of delivery of such notice not included).

14. Borrowers are not to trace with ink or with a hard pencil, nor apply compasses of any kind to the works. Marking any book by writing, turning down leaves, &c., is strictly prohibited: this applies even to correction of a misprint, or to a single additional mark in a book, however much previously disfigured. Infringement of this rule will render the borrower liable to suspension from the use of the Loan Library. A borrower is liable to be called upon to replace at his own expense any work lost, marked, or injured while in his possession, or to pay a fine.

15. A borrower whose fines are unpaid will not be permitted to use the Loan Library; and if not a member of the Institute, he will also be debarred the use of the Reference Library.

THE PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE AS TO THE CHARGES OF ARCHITECTS.*

Schedule sanctioned by the Royal Institute of British Architects, confirmed at a General Conference of Architects of the United Kingdom 1872, and revised by the Royal Institute 1898.

1. The usual remuneration for an architect's services, except as hereinafter mentioned, is a commission of 5 per cent. on the total cost of works executed under his directions. Such total cost is to be valued as though executed by a builder with new materials. This commission is for the necessary preliminary conferences and sketches, approximate estimate when required (such, for instance, as may be obtained by cubing out the contents), the necessary general and detailed drawings and

* To be obtained at the Office of the Institute.
specifications, one set of tracings, duplicate specification, general superintendence of works, and examining and passing the accounts, exclusive of measuring and making out extras and omissions.

2. This commission does not include the payment for services rendered in connection with negotiations relating to the site or premises, or in supplying drawings to ground or other landlords, or in surveying the site or premises and taking levels, making surveys and plans of buildings to be altered, making arrangements in respect of party-walls and rights of light, or for drawings for and correspondence with local and other authorities, or for services consequent on the failure of builders to carry out the works, or for services in connection with litigation or arbitration, or in the measurement and valuation of extras and omissions.
For such services additional charges proportionate to the trouble involved and time spent are made. The clerk of the works should be appointed by the architect, his salary being paid by the client.

3. In all works of less cost than £1,000, and in works requiring designs for furniture and fittings of buildings, or for their decoration with painting, mosaics, sculpture, stained glass, or other like works, and in cases of alterations and additions to buildings, 5 per cent. is not remunerative, and the architect’s charge is regulated by special circumstances and conditions.

4. When several distinct buildings, being repetitions of one design, are erected at the same time from a single specification and one set of drawings and under one contract, the usual commisson is charged on the cost of one such building, and a modified arrangement made in respect of the others; but this arrangement does not apply to the reduplication of parts in one building undertaking, in which case the full commission is charged on the total cost.

5. If the architect should have drawn out the approved design, with plans, elevations, sections, and specification, the charge is 2½ per cent. upon the estimated cost. If he should have procured tenders in accordance with the instruction of his employer, the charge is ½ per cent. in addition. Two and a half per cent. is charged upon any works originally included in the contract or tender, but subsequently omitted in execution.
These charges are exclusive of the charge for taking out quantities. Preliminary sketches and interviews, where the drawings are not further proceeded with, are charged for according to the trouble involved and time expended.

6. Should the client, having approved the design, and after the contract drawings have been prepared, require material alterations to be made, whether before or after the contract has been entered into, an extra charge is made in proportion to the time occupied in such alterations.

7. The architect is entitled during the progress of the works to payment by instalments on account at the rate of 5 per cent. on the amount of the certificates when granted, or alternatively on the signing of the contract, to half the commission on the amount thereof, and the remainder by instalments during their progress.
8. The charge per day depends upon an architect's professional position, the minimum charge being three guineas.
9. The charge for taking a plan of an estate, laying it out and arranging for building upon it, is regulated by the time, skill, and trouble involved.
10. For setting out on an estate the position of the proposed road or roads, taking levels, and preparing drawings for roads and sewers, applying for the sanction of local authorities, and supplying all necessary tracings for this purpose, the charge is 2 per cent. on the estimated cost. For subsequently preparing working drawings and specifications of roads and sewers, obtaining tenders, supplying one copy of drawings and specification to the contractor, superintending works, examining and passing accounts (exclusive of measuring and valuing extras and omissions), the charge is 4 per cent. on the cost of the works executed, in addition to the 2 per cent. previously mentioned.
11. For letting the several plots in ordinary cases the charge is a sum not exceeding a whole year's ground rent, but in respect of plots of great value a special arrangement must be made.
12. For approving plans submitted by the lessee, and for inspecting the buildings during their progress, so far as may be necessary to ensure the conditions being fulfilled, and certifying for lease, the charge is a percentage not exceeding 1½ per cent.
up to £5,000, and above that by special arrangement.
13. For valuing freehold, copyhold, or leasehold property the charge is:

Beyond this Half-a-Guinea per cent.
The above scale is exclusive of attendances on juries or umpires, or at arbitrations, and also of expenses and preparation of plans.

15. For estimating dilapidations and furnishing or checking a schedule of same, the charge is 5 per cent. on the estimate, but in no case less than two guineas. For services in connection with settlement of claim by arbitration or otherwise, extra charges are made, under Clause 8.

16. For inspecting, reporting, and advising on the sanitary condition of premises, the charge must depend on the nature and extent of the services rendered.

17. In all cases travelling and other out-of-pocket expenses are paid by the client in addition to the fees. If the work is at such a distance as to lead to an exceptional expenditure of time in travelling, an additional charge may be made under Clause 8.

18. When an architect takes out and supplies to builders quantities on which to form estimates for executing his designs, he should do so with the concurrence of his client, and it is desirable that the architect should be paid by him rather than by the builder, the cost of such quantities not being included in the commission of 5 per cent.

REGULATIONS* OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTE OF BRITISH ARCHITECTS FOR ARCHITECTURAL COMPETITIONS.†

[Reissue after revision December 1910.]

It is assumed that the object of the Promoters is to obtain the best design for the purpose in view. This object may best be secured by conducting all Competitions upon the lines laid down in the following Regulations, which have been framed with a view to securing the best results to the Promoters with scrupulous fairness to the competitors.

Members of the Royal Institute of British Architects and Allied Societies do not compete excepting under conditions based on these Regulations.

The conditions of a Competition shall contain the following Regulations (A) to (F) as essential:

(A) There shall be appointed for every Competition one or more fully qualified professional Assessors, to whom the whole of the designs shall be submitted.

(B) No Promoter of a Competition, and no Assessor engaged upon it, or any employee of either, shall compete or ASSIST A COMPETITOR, or act as Architect, or joint Architect, for the proposed work.

(C) Each design shall be accompanied by a declaration, signed by the competitor, or joint competitors, stating that

* The Regulations are not intended to apply to small limited private Competitions.
† To be obtained at the Office of the Royal Institute.
the design is his or their own personal work, and that the drawings have been prepared under his or their own supervision. A successful competitor must be prepared to satisfy the Assessor that he is the bona fide author of the design he has submitted.

(D) The premiums shall be paid in accordance with the assessor's award, and the author of the design placed first by the Assessor shall be employed to carry out the work, unless the Assessor shall be satisfied that there is some valid objection to such employment, in which case the author of the design placed next in order of merit shall be employed, subject to a similar condition. The award of the Assessor shall not be set aside for any other reason.

(E) If no instructions are given to the author of the design selected by the Assessor to proceed within twelve months from the date of the award, then he shall receive payment for his services in connection with the preparation of the Competition drawings of a sum equal to 1½ per cent. on the amount of the estimated cost. If the work is subsequently proceeded with, the 1½ per cent. previously paid to him shall form part of his ultimate commission.

(F) The selected Architect shall be paid in accordance with the Schedule of Charges sanctioned and published by the Royal Institute of British Architects.

1. The Promoters of an intended Competition should, as their first step, appoint one or more professional Assessors, architects of established reputation, whose appointment should be published in the original advertisements and instructions. The selection of an Assessor should be made with the greatest possible care, as the successful result of the Competition will depend very largely upon his experience and ability.

   The President of the Royal Institute of British Architects is always prepared to act as honorary adviser to Promoters in their appointment of Assessors.

2. The duties of an Assessor are as follows:

   (a) To confer with and advise the Promoters on their requirements and on the questions of cost and premiums to be offered.

   (b) To draw up instructions for the guidance of competitors and for the conduct of the Competition, incorporating the whole of the clauses of these Regulations which are applicable to the particular Competition.

   Note.—It is essential in drawing up the Instructions to state definitely which of the conditions must be strictly adhered to, under penalty of disqualification from the Competition, and which of them are optional.

   (c) To answer queries raised by competitors within a limited time during the preparation of the designs, such answers to be sent to all competitors.
(d) To examine all the designs submitted by competitors and to determine whether they conform to the Conditions and to exclude any which do not.

(e) To report to the Promoters on the designs not so excluded and to award the premiums in strict adherence to the conditions.

3. Competitions may be conducted in one of the following ways:

(a) By advertisement, involving architects willing to compete for the intended work to send in designs. For Competitions for Public Works of Great Architectural Importance this Method is Recommended.

(b) By advertisement, inviting architects willing to compete for the intended work to send in their names by a given day; with such other information as they may think likely to advance their claim to be admitted to the Competition. From these names the Promoters, with the advice of the Assessor, shall select a limited number to compete, and each competitor thus selected shall receive a specified sum for the preparation of his design.

(c) By personal invitation to a limited number of selected architects, to join in a Competition for the intended work. Each Competitor shall receive a specified sum for the preparation of his design.

Note.—Where a deposit is required for supplying the Instructions, it shall be returned on the receipt of a bona fide design; or if the applicant declines to compete and returns the said Instructions within a month after the receipt of replies to Competitors’ questions.

4. The number, scale, and method of finishing of the required drawings shall be distinctly set forth. The drawings shall not be more in number or to a larger scale than necessary clearly to explain the design, and such drawings shall be uniform in size, number, mode of colouring, and mounting. As a general rule a scale of 16 feet to 1 inch will be found sufficient for plans, sections, and elevations, or in the case of very large buildings a smaller scale might suffice.

Unless the Assessor advises that perspective drawings are desirable, they shall not be admitted.

5. No design shall bear any motto or distinguishing mark; but all designs shall be numbered by the Promoters in order of receipt.

6. A design shall be excluded from a Competition—

(a) if sent in after the period named (accidents in transit excepted);

(b) if it does not give substantially the accommodation asked for;

(c) if it exceeds the limits of site as shown on the plan issued by the Promoters, the figured dimensions on which shall be adhered to;
(d) if the Assessor shall determine that its probable cost will exceed by 10 per cent. the outlay stated in the Instructions, or the estimate of the Competitor should no outlay be stated. If the Assessor be of opinion that the outlay stated in the Instructions is inadequate, he shall not be bound in the selection of a design by the amount named in such Instructions, but the question of cost shall nevertheless be a material element in the consideration of the award;
(e) if any of the Conditions or Instructions other than those of a suggestive character are violated;
(f) if a Competitor shall disclose his identity or attempt to influence the decision.
7. All designs and reports submitted in a Competition for a public building, except any excluded under Clause 6, shall be publicly exhibited after the award has been made, which award shall be published at the time of exhibition; and all designs and reports submitted in a Competition for a private building shall be similarly exhibited to the Competitors.
8. All drawings submitted in a Competition, except those of the design selected to be carried out, shall be returned to the Competitors.

The usual R.I.B.A. Scale of Charges for Assessing Competitions, whether by jury or otherwise, is the sum of Thirty Guineas, plus one-fifth per cent. upon the estimated cost of the proposed building.

REGULATIONS FOR INTERNATIONAL ARCHITECTURAL COMPETITIONS.

Settled at Paris, November 1908, by the International Competitions Commission appointed by the VIIth International Congress of Architects (London, 1906).*

1. International Competitions should be reserved for exceptional occasions of a really international character.
2. International Competitions may be either open to all architects without invitation, or limited and by invitation.
Limited and invited Competitions may consist of a single stage. Competitions open to all should be held preferably in two stages.
3. The "Conditions" of International Competitions are to be identical for all competitors.
No drawing model or document shall be taken into consideration except those specified in the Conditions, nor shall any other drawing model or document be exhibited.
4. The Instructions to Competitors should state definitely the Conditions of the Competition, and matters considered desirable should not be left to the option of Competitors.

* See report of the British delegate, Mr. John W. Simpson, JOURNAL
5. In limited and invited Competitions, the Conditions should be fully detailed and require the scheme to be fully developed. In Competitions open to all the Conditions should express the technical requirements in general terms and limit the number and scale of the drawings to the minimum necessary for the jury to understand the design.

The Conditions should require designs to be submitted anonymously under the motto in the first stage, and to be signed by the Authors in the second stage.

Competitors are forbidden under penalty of exclusion to act in any way which would tend to disclose their identity.

6. In double Competitions the Conditions in the first stage should be as those for Competitions open to all, and in the second stage as those for limited and invited Competitions.

Designs selected in the first stage only can be admitted to the second stage.

7. The Conditions of a Competition should be published and placed at the disposal of the Competitors as nearly as possible on the same date in all countries.

Any design not dispatched by the date of closing the Competition shall be excluded; the Carrier’s receipt shall be accepted as proof.

8. The Conditions should be prepared in consultation with experienced Architects.

They shall be published in the French language.

9. The jury is to be nominated by the promoters of the Competition; it is recommended that promoters, before nominating the foreign members, should place themselves in communication with the Comité Permanent.

The jury of an International Competition shall be composed of Architects, each of different nationality, one of whom shall belong to the country which institutes the Competition. A legal authority, nominated by the Administration promoting the Competition, shall preside in order to ensure regular procedure, but shall have no vote.

The members of the jury, by accepting nomination, shall be held to have declared themselves to have no material interest, either directly or indirectly, in the result of the Competition.

10. It is desirable in International Competitions, and especially in the preliminary stages, that the limit of cost shall be only approximately fixed in order to leave some liberty to the artistic conception of Competitors.

When the sum available for carrying out the work is specified, the Conditions of Competition should give the information required for preparing approximate estimates on a uniform basis.

11. The total value of the premiums to be awarded shall be 2½% on the cost for works not exceeding £100,000 in value, 2% on those not exceeding £200,000, and 1½% for works beyond that value.

The principle must be enforced that the carrying out of the work be entrusted to the Architect placed first, subject to the conditions in force in the country promoting the Competition.

The amount of the prize shall not be deducted from the amount of the fees payable.

In the event of the person or Corporation promoting the Competition wishing to reserve the right to pass over the Architect placed first, the Conditions of Competition must state the terms of compensation.

Should the work not be executed, the same compensation shall be due.

In all cases the authors of designs submitted retain the artistic copyright in their design, and in the building which is a reproduction thereof.

12. In single-stage Competitions all the designs shall be exhibited in a suitable place and for a sufficient time to enable all Competitors to visit the Exhibition, which should be advertised beforehand in the professional papers.

In double Competitions there shall be no Exhibition after the first award; all the drawings shall be placed under seal and exhibited subsequently, together with the designs in the final Competition.

The authors of designs selected in the first stage shall have the right to make tracings thereof for use in preparing their final designs.

The full report of the jury, giving their reasons for the award, shall be published before the opening of the Exhibition and communicated to all the parties interested.

FORMS OF ARTICLES OF PUPILAGE.*

(1) FORM FOR PAYMENT OF PREMIUM IN ONE SUM.

These forms were approved at a General Meeting of the Institute on the 13th January 1890. They are the copyright of the Institute, and are on sale at the Office, price One Shilling.

CONSERVATION OF ANCIENT MONUMENTS.*

GENERAL ADVICE TO PROMOTERS OF RESTORATIONS.

[First issued in 1865; revised and enlarged in 1888.]

1. Before any alteration is decided on, a competent architect should be consulted and be requested to make careful drawings of the building, with accurate measurements. Photographs should then be taken of all objects of interest, especially such as are so dilapidated and decayed that it becomes absolutely necessary to renew them either wholly or in part. In the case of Churches, these photographs and copies of the drawings should be deposited in the Vestry,

* To be obtained at the Office of the Institute.
Parish Registry, or any public office in the Diocese suitable for the purpose, and the date of their consignment noted.

Any clearance of wall linings, pavements, flooring, galleries, high pews, modern wall partitions, or other encumbrances (provided that they be clearly modern), necessary before detailed arrangements are made for the restoration, should only be carried out under the direction of the architect, and after his inspection of the church; and such clearance should not include works of artistic or other interest which it is often most important to preserve. No memorial slabs, tiles, steps, or other pavements, should be removed without his special permission.

2. Careful enquiry should be made for any portions of church furniture—stained glass, sculpture, brasses—or other old work which may at any time have been removed from the building, with a view to their restoration to their proper place.

3. Buildings of the same style and character in the neighbourhood should be examined when any doubts arise as to the original design in any part.

4. Diligent search should be made for indications of ancient doorways, window openings, reredoses, aumbries, piscinae, sedilia, Easter sepulchres, altar stones, stoups, rood staircases, hagioscopes, low side-windows, recessed tombs, brasses, incised stones, encaustic tiles, or any other features of ancient character. Should any part be altogether destroyed, careful search should be made for any traces of old foundations or any detached pieces of masonry, &c., built in with the modern walls, so as to obtain a key to the original design of parts which have been defaced or destroyed. When any such stones are discovered the architect should be at once informed, in order that he may personally visit and examine the work.

5. All plastered surfaces should be carefully examined with a view to discover any remains of painting upon them, and all painted or whitewashed stone or wood work cautiously cleaned, so that no injury may be done to any painting, diapering, powdering, or other coloured design, if such exist. Where it is proposed to renew the roofs, all cleaning of the walls should be deferred until after they are protected from the weather by the erection of new roofs. Plastered surfaces of ancient date are often found, and should be preserved if possible.

6. Ancient painted glass, with the original leading and iron framework, should be carefully preserved, and never allowed to be taken out of the building, save for the purpose of re-leading when absolutely necessary, and this only by competent workmen. It is not generally desirable to remove ancient stained glass, even when small fragments only remain, from the place it occupies, without first of all learning with certainty that it is not in its original position. If new stained glass be inserted in old windows, care should be taken that the glass be fitted to the old tracery, and that the latter be not replaced by new, as is too often the case. Old clear glass may, for the sake of its superiority of tint, often be re-used with advantage.

The external halves of mullions, sills, tracery, and jambs should, where practicable, have such parts as are decayed restored by dowelling new stone on to the old internal halves, which may be frequently done without taking down the uninjured part of the window.

The ancient ironwork of windows should not be taken out, even when the outer half of the stonework is removed, and it should be retained when new stained glass is put in: the glass, if needful, being designed with regard to it. So much mischief has been done by the destruction of old iron-work throughout the country that this requirement should be most rigidly enforced.

7. Any remains of churchyard walls, with their buttresses, copings, or piers, churchyard or other crosses, lichgates, external monuments, head-stones, stone coffins, &c., should be preserved. Marks of foundations, trenches, moats, &c., should be examined and noted.

8. Where it appears certain upon investigation that the earth has accumulated above the ancient level it should be removed; but even this should not be done without professional supervision, as it is often attended with risk. Great care must be exercised where several ancient levels exist, in determining which shall be retained, and when the floors are set on a slant, as is often the case, the original lines should, as far as possible, be carefully maintained.

9. In the restoration of stonework, no scraping or tooling of the surface of the stone should take place under any circumstances. As a general rule, no new stonework should be inserted, unless under very strong evidence that it is a renewal of the ancient design and necessary to be done. If any part of the masonry be damaged or decayed, it should not necessarily on that account be wholly rebuilt or renewed, but those parts only which are thoroughly defective should be cut out and carefully renewed with stone of similar character, and always the best of its kind.

No wholesale pulling down should be done unless unavoidable.

In many cases walls which are in themselves sound, but out of plumb, may be restored to the perpendicular without difficulty by use of screwjacks, and without disturbance of the external face.

10. If it be found absolutely necessary to construct a new roof, owing to the existing roof being extremely decayed or modern, one of the two following courses should be adopted: either the old roof where it exists should be carefully reproduced, or the new roof should be made of the same pitch as the original roof, which may generally be discovered by the dripstones against the tower or other walls. Where the dripstones of two or three periods exist against these walls, the question of the pitch of the roof will be one of some difficulty; but, as a rule, it may be said that where there is a clerestory it will be well to keep to the pitch of the roof erected at the time it was built, and where there is none, then to the pitch of the earliest roof. Where lead is taken off it ought in all cases to be replaced. Flat roofs are by no means always to be condemned.

The question of the pitch of a new roof depends on so many circumstances that it must be left to the judgment of the architect, but the shape of the old roof should not be lightly altered. In some peculiar cases where there are objections to the external appearance of the flat pitch of an old roof, the flat roof may be retained internally, and the high pitch roof erected over it. Flat roofs are quite as worthy of preservation as any others.

In districts where stone slates are used for the old churches it is most desirable that they should be retained in preference to plain tiles or other covering.

Frequently the ends alone of beams and rafters are decayed through leakages of gutters. An old roof should not for this reason be discarded, but new ends should be scarfed on.

11. Ancient buildings will generally be found to have been altered at various periods; when this is the case the whole of the old work should be preserved and exposed to view, so as to show the history of the fabric, with its successive alterations, as distinctly as possible. This may often be accomplished by showing all the stone and rubble work internally, and leaving it unplastered. It should, however, be understood that this is for the purpose of showing constructional features of interest, and is not intended as a recommendation that old plaster should be stripped off, or that rough stone rubble work should be exposed to sight where originally plastered.

12. In no case should anything be done to monumental effigies, brasses, sculpture of figures and foliage, or other ornamental work, beyond carefully cleaning, or resetting them if necessary, and taking care that they shall be protected from further injury and restored, where requisite, to their original place. In all church restorations one main object should be to get rid of modern additions put up without regard to architectural propriety; but on this account the church restorer should not set up an ideal model, but regard the productions of every age with as much respect as is compatible with the restoration and use of the building. Still, if monuments deface good old work, they should be refixed in some spot where they can mutilate nothing.

Fonts, piscinæ, &c., may be carefully repaired, if necessary, to fit them for use, but all features not involved in the stability of the building should be left as far as possible untouched. Fonts, for instance, should on no account be scraped, or retooled, as has been too often the case. Features not in use, such as stoups, aumbries, &c., should be left untouched.
13. Mediæval chancel screens should on no account be moved from their old places, but be carefully restored. They seldom present any obstruction to sight or sound. Ancient seats in the body of a church should, where practicable, be retained in their old arrangement. Jacobean and later wood-work is often quite as valuable artistically, and interesting historically, as mediæval work.

14. Where curiosities, fragments of sculpture or wrought stone or wood-work, of tiles or glass too small for re-use, are discovered in the course of the work, it is desirable that they should all be carefully kept in some case or chest in the church, arranged and labelled with a short description of their history. This case should be under lock and key. Care should be taken that the architect's Specification gives the contractor no claim upon any such things as old materials.

15. In the above suggestions it has been assumed that the promoters of the work have a proper appreciation of what is due to an ancient building, and are anxious to carry out its restoration in the most conservative manner possible; such, however, is unfortunately not always the case. The promoters of restorations, whether clergymen or laymen, are sometimes more bent upon carrying out new works than preserving old; it cannot be therefore too strongly insisted upon, that in dealing with an ancient church or other building, the object should be not simply to put it in good repair, but to preserve it as an authentic specimen of the ancient arts of our country. Every old building has historical value, and it should be remembered that this is gone when its authenticity is destroyed.

The duty, therefore, of all those having charge of ancient buildings should be not so much the renewal of what remains as its preservation; and this should embrace every portion of original work which it is in any way possible to save, for it must be remembered that new work is of no value or interest except so far as it serves to preserve the ancient design, and that no interest will ever be attached to it unless original parts remain to attest its authenticity.

There is ample scope for original design in additions which are necessarily made to the size of old buildings, and in these it is usually best to allow the architect to be independent. His work will then have its due historical value; whereas, if he only make a very good copy of the old work to which he is adding, great confusion will be felt hereafter as to which part of the work is old and which modern.

16. A vigilant guard should be kept against the indulgence of individual fancies for or against particular features or styles; and especially against the theory sometimes held, that a restored church must be purged of all features subsequent to some favourite period. All such ideal notions are in the highest degree dangerous, and have rendered many a restored church actually worthless as an historical monument.
17. In vain are all the efforts of Central or Diocesan Architectural or Archæological bodies, with their several visits to buildings of historic interest, if those having charge of precious remains do not cordially embrace such advice as is here laid down for their conservation, embodying principles impossible to controvert, and the neglect of which has been the cause of many districts being robbed of their antiquities through rash and unskilful operations. Influential landed proprietors, the clergy, churchwardens, and others, are earnestly reminded of the responsibility which rests upon them to resist all needless destruction of ancient work, and to seek competent professional aid in cases of interference with an ancient building. Questions of considerable embarrassment constantly arise in connection with edifices of mixed dates, involving constructional and chronological difficulties, points requiring the judgment of the most experienced architect and antiquary. Moreover, the successful preservation of old work must largely depend upon the builder. Care, therefore, should be taken to select a man who will take an interest in the work, and who can be trusted to carry out faithfully the instructions of the architect. To prevent the mischief that may otherwise be done in the absence of the architect, it is always desirable, and generally essential, that there should be a resident clerk of the works, familiar with church restoration, appointed by the architect.

18. Vigilance is required to stop injuries to ancient buildings; the utmost watchfulness should be shown by those residing at or near the spot where even well-considered works are in operation, to see that they are really executed in a conservative manner. However frequently the architect may visit the works under his superintendence, he cannot at all times prevent his orders being disobeyed, and a daily and almost hourly inspection is often necessary. Intelligent interposition will always be welcome to a zealous architect, and, by gaining time, will often prevent irreparable mischief. Lovers of antiquities, ecclesiologists, and antiquaries, in the locality, will always do good service by carefully watching works in progress in old buildings.

19. The foregoing suggestions and remarks have been drawn up with special reference to the Restoration of Churches: the same spirit ought to actuate those who have the care or ownership of ancient civil or military buildings, because from their comparative rarity they are even more valuable as historical monuments than the churches.

HINTS TO WORKMEN ENGAGED ON THE REPAIRS AND RESTORATION OF ANCIENT BUILDINGS.*

[First issued in 1865; revised and enlarged in 1888.]

Excavator.—In making excavations in or about an ancient building, be careful to preserve every fragment of wrought stone, tiles, or other ancient objects, which you may meet with.

* To be obtained at the Office of the Institute, price Sixpence.
If you find old foundations, bases of pillars, ancient tombs, stone coffins, pavements, or other work, which appear to be in their original place, do not remove, but carefully expose them to view, in order that proper notes may be taken of them; and that, if possible, the work may be left permanently in its place.

In making drains or excavations around old buildings, do not cut off any of the projecting footings, however rough, and be careful how you expose them, unless they are examined and underpinned by the mason. Do not permanently expose to view, or to the air, work which clearly was not intended to be so exposed. See that your drains are so managed as to draw the water from the foundations and not towards them.

Mason.—If directed to clean off whitewash, or paint, from internal or other stonework, recollect that the object of so doing is to bring to view the original surface, not to destroy it. You must, therefore, avoid the use of the tool, and study what is the best way of removing the whitewash without in any degree disturbing, much less removing, the ancient surface. Remember that the mode of tooling or working the ancient stone is a subject of interest and curiosity, and that the old tool-marks must therefore not be disturbed: more especially does this caution apply to early Romanesque work, where the very coarseness of the stone, and rudeness of execution, are important evidences of date. If indications of ancient colouring be found on the surface of the stone, they should be carefully preserved.

The mode of removing whitewash depends much on the nature of the material. With some materials nothing is so good as the Manchester card, but in each case experiments should be tried to ascertain the best mode. It is better to leave the whitewash wholly or partially on the stone, than to use any tool which would disturb the surface of the stone itself; for it is far better to have the old surface with the whitewash than not at all.

When the removal of plaster shows the marks of ancient string-courses, weatherings, windows, &c., do not conceal these again, nor yet tool them off; indeed, as a general rule, no tool should be used upon the surface of ancient stonework.

In removing broken or decayed work, do not take out any but such as is so far gone as to have lost all its original form; better have broken or half-decayed original work than the smartest and most perfect new work.

Especially avoid using a brush with colours to harmonise the new and old work; the old work should be left in all its characteristic tone, and no attempt should be made to harmonise the hue in tint.

Never remove or clean the old mossed surfaces.

In obtaining the true sections of mouldings, &c., for new portions, the most scrupulous accuracy is necessary, as the more delicate features are often to be traced only in a few of the more protected parts.
In taking down portions of walls, be most careful of any old mouldings, or other wrought stone, found embedded in them, and note where they were found, as the fragments have usually been stowed away near to their original site. If any windows or other features are found which have been before concealed, do not disturb them till seen by the architect. Encaustic tiles, or other ancient paving, should be preserved where found, when possible, and the patterns should guide the design of new paving. Ancient monumental remains are never to give way to new encaustic tile flooring, but are in every case to retain their old position.

Carver.—The same principles as are laid down for the mason apply to the carver, but in a higher degree, inasmuch as ancient carving is still more valuable than ancient masonry. When engaged on an old building, bring your own talent and fancy wholly into subjection to the work in which you are engaged, and only seek to preserve and perpetuate the ancient design. Never attempt to dress up or restore old carving.

Plasterer.—If directed generally to remove the plastering, first examine it carefully by removing the whitewash here and there, and if it be found to contain oil painting, &c., do not disturb it without calling the attention of the architect, clerk of the works, or other persons capable of judging it.

If it be absolutely necessary to take down the wall so covered with old paintings, it might be preserved in the following manner:—the backing of the wall might be carefully taken away, leaving only a thin piece behind the painting; this might then be backed up with cement and pieces of large size enclosed in wooden frames. The painting might then be removed and deposited in a museum.

As a general rule, ancient plastering should not be removed, but only repaired where necessary. Let new plastering on old walls be thin, and carefully thinned off to meet the stone dressings, as in ancient work. All plasterings should be of a kind suited to receive decorative painting.

Carpenter.—Do not be too ready to condemn an ancient roof, or other piece of timber work. Remember that it has a value quite independent of the cost of renewing it. An ancient roof, carefully preserved by splicing and other means, is infinitely more valuable than a copy of the same in new timber. Very serious defects may be repaired, if you view the roof as a thing of value, and apply your mind to ascertain the best way of securing and preserving it. If you do not do this, very trifling defects may be made the excuses for destroying the finest ancient roof. Do not as a general rule take an old roof off to repair it, but rather repair it in its place, bay by bay; and only in the Spring or Summer months. By a good system of tarpaulins, or other means, keep the roof dry during the operation: exposure to wet is fatal to old timber.
Do not disturb ancient surfaces of timber, nor coat old timber with oil or varnish. Generally (as directed to the mason) remember that your great object is preservation rather than renewal. Preserve with the utmost care all remains of coloured decoration on old woodwork.

Joiner.—The same general rules as are laid down for the carpenter apply to the joiner.

Preserve ancient seating in its proper place if possible, and where practicable avoid removing it for repairs, except by special direction. Every remnant of old woodwork, of whatever description, should be carefully preserved, and, where possible, in its place; or, if it has already been removed, it should be brought back to its place if possible.

Glazier.—Be most careful in preserving ancient stained glass. Never remove it from the windows in which it is found (unless under special direction of the architect), but preserve it carefully in its place, however rough and imperfect, or however small the fragments.

Painter.—Preserve all remnants of ancient painting, but do not attempt their restoration unless under special direction.

Smith.—Preserve all remnants of metal-work in their places if possible; and never remove old saddle-bars or stanchions from windows except under direct instructions from the architect.

To Contractors and Workmen in General.—Never forget that the reparation of an ancient church, or other remnant of ancient architecture, however humble, is a work to be entered upon with totally different feelings from a new work, or from the repairs of a modern building.

The object is not simply to put the work in good repair, but to preserve and perpetuate an authentic specimen of the ancient Arts of our country. Every ancient building has historical value, and though you may feel that its state of repair would at first sight suggest its renewal, or that you could execute the work better anew, never forget that all its value is gone when its authenticity is destroyed; and that your duty is not its renewal but its preservation.

Be careful, therefore, never lightly to condemn an ancient object as being too far gone to be preserved; as every such work destroyed is a national loss.

“DRY ROT” (Merulius lacrymans) IN TIMBER.

The attention of the Council of the Royal Institute has been drawn to the issue in October 1909 of a leaflet by the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries referring to the increasing prevalence of the disease known as “dry rot” in timber used in the erection of buildings, and, having taken the matter into consideration, the Council deem it to be in the interests of the public generally to issue some observations thereon. From the official Leaflet the following extracts are taken:

"Infection with the dry-rot fungus sometimes takes place in the forest when felled timber remains stored there for some time. The first evidence of such infection is indicated by the presence of red stripes in the sawn wood. If such wood is thoroughly seasoned the mycelium present in the red stripes is killed. If the seasoning be neglected or imperfectly done, the mycelium, which possesses the power of remaining in a latent condition for some time, commences active growth when the wood is used in any part of a building where it is exposed to dampness, and this in some cases is unavoidable, as when the ends of joists are built into a wall.

"Under such circumstances dry rot eventually appears.

"On the other hand, the fungus is by no means rare on old beams and boards stored in woodyards, &c., and it is mainly from such sources that spores or portions of the spreading mycelium are introduced into buildings by new wood which has become infected.

"The fruit of the dry-rot fungus presents the appearance of irregularly shaped, flattened, or undulating patches of variable size, adhering by their entire under-surface to the substance on which they are growing. When mature the central portion of the patch is covered with an irregular network formed by slightly raised anastomosing ribs, and is of a rich brown colour due to the enormous quantity of spores which are deposited on surrounding objects under the form of snuff-coloured powder. These spores are diffused by currents of air, or by rats, mice, and insects.

"The margin of the fruiting-patch is surrounded by a snow-white fringe of mycelium which spreads in every direction over surrounding objects, creeping up walls and passing through crevices, the advancing mycelium being supplied with food and moisture from the parent plant growing on wood.

"This food is conducted through cord-like strands which form behind the thin advancing margin of mycelium.

"Owing to this supply of food from a central source the mycelium can extend over stones and other substances not containing food, and thus spread from the basement to the top of a house. Each time the migrating mycelium comes in contact with wood the latter is attacked and a new centre of food-supply is established, from which strands spread in search of other sources of food. The mycelium often forms felt-like sheets of large size that can readily be removed intact. These sheets are white at first, but soon change to a pale grey colour—a character by which dry rot can be readily distinguished from another wood-destroying fungus, the Polyporus formenterarius, even in the absence of fruit, the felted mycelium of the latter remaining permanently white."
"The specific name of lacrymans, or 'weeping,' alludes to the power of the fungus to attract moisture from the atmosphere. Under certain conditions moisture is absorbed to such an extent that it hangs in drops, or even drips from the surface of the fungus. This moisture assists very materially in rotting the timber, which afterwards becomes quite dry and friable. Hence the popular name, 'dry rot,' which alludes to the last and most frequently observed stage of decay."

The depletion of the more matured forest trees resulting in the importation of immature wood is said to be one of the contributory causes of the spread of the disease.

Spores may exist in the earth arising from the roots of trees or other source.

The rapid completion of a house before the materials of which its carcase is constructed have had time to dry thoroughly conduces to the germination of dry rot.

A warm, damp atmosphere surrounding the wood, such as exists under a floor immediately over the ground and in unventilated cellars, is another condition conducing to the spread of the disease.

Although, as above remarked, immature or imperfectly seasoned timber is said to be a cause of the spread of the disease, yet thoroughly matured and sound timber in a warm, moist atmosphere will readily fall a prey if attacked by the mycelium of dry rot, once a spore has been introduced.

It has been proved that the spores of the disease can be carried from house to house on the clothes or tools of workmen, and that wood can be infected from a spore on a carpenter's saw.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the disease may have been introduced (a) in the timber, (b) from the adjacent earth, and (c) accidentally by the importation of a spore. These are conditions over which architects have obviously no control.

The Council of the Royal Institute of British Architects desire to lay down a few principles which may guide architects in minimising and possibly arresting the disease of dry rot in new buildings, viz.:

1. No timber should be used in such a position that the moisture in and around it cannot be readily evaporated, as, for example, if floors are constructed of solid concrete (with or without steel) wood fillets should not be nailed underneath to receive the ceiling.

2. No wood slips should be built into or on the top of concrete and afterwards covered with an impervious floor, and no wood boards should be laid direct on the concrete and afterwards covered with an airproof material, such as linoleum, oileoth, &c.

3. All ground under a wooden floor should be cleared of any vegetable or fungoid growth and covered with cement concrete or asphalt, and this should be left as long as possible before any joists or flooring are laid.
4. No wooden pegs communicating with the earth beneath should be left in and through the covering over the earth.

5. Provision should be made for the abundant introduction of fresh air underneath all parts of suspended ground floors by means of inlets, and particularly at all angles, so that cross-currents may be induced.

6. The concrete under the floors should be thoroughly cleared of all small pieces of wood and shavings, as it has been found that the spores in these pieces of wood, drawing the moisture from the concrete, have been a means of spreading the disease.

7. In upper floors of wooden joists if a pugging be inserted for sound-proofing it is suggested that this be of some dry substance, such as slag-wool, but in no case must an impervious material be used for the ceiling beneath or the floor covering above.

Suggestions have been made by experts and others to creosote the ends of all joists built into a wall, but this is not generally practicable, as the odour of the creosote in a residence would be very objectionable to many.

THE R.I.B.A. STANDARD SIZE OF BRICKS.*

The Council recommend that members should insert this standard in their specifications under the title of "The R.I.B.A. Standard Size of Bricks." [See page 502.]

1. The length of the brick should be double the width, plus the thickness of one vertical joint.

2. Brickwork should measure four courses of bricks and four joints to a foot.

Joints should be \( \frac{1}{3} \) inch thick and an extra \( \frac{1}{3} \) for the bed joints to cover irregularities in the bricks. This gives a standard length of 9\( \frac{1}{2} \) inches centre to centre of joints.

The bricks, laid dry, to be measured in the following manner:

A. Eight stretchers laid square end and splay end in contact in a straight line to measure 72 inches.

B. Eight headers laid side to side, frog upwards, in a straight line to measure 35 inches.

C. Eight bricks, the first brick frog downwards and then alternately frog to frog and back to back, to measure 21\( \frac{1}{2} \) inches.

A margin of one inch less will be allowed as to A, and a half-inch less as to B and C.

This is to apply to all classes of walling bricks, both machine and hand-made.

*Agreed upon between the Institute and the Brick Makers' Association, and drafted in consultation with these Bodies and representatives of the Institution of Civil Engineers (1st May 1904).
This Society has been formed for the benefit of persons employed in Architects' and Surveyors' Offices (Draughtsmen, Clerks, Typists, etc.) who come within the scope of the National Insurance Act, 1911. It is hoped that all eligible persons will give the Society their support by becoming members.

The Society was formed by the Architectural Association with the support of The Royal Institute of British Architects, the Surveyors' Institution, the Society of Architects, and the Quantity Surveyors' Association. Leading members of the two professions have given the Society their active support by becoming subscribing Honorary Members and in many cases accepting office. The Presidency is held in alternate years by the Presidents of the Royal Institute of British Architects and the Surveyors' Institution.

It is considered that a Society entirely confined to professional men and women in safe and healthy employments should after the first Government valuation be in a position to offer larger benefits than Societies of mixed membership.
