DEDICATED TO THE UNKNOWN WARRIOR
FOREWARD

It is a truism that cause and effect of history can be fully comprehended only by looking at a nation as an integrated whole, even as is the case with the personality of an individual.

As the past is the prologue to the present, we must know who made our recent past, the fruits whereof we are enjoying presently in our country’s emancipation from foreign yoke.

Moreover, among the many factors which made for national integration were the tales of heroic deeds of our people.

The “Who’s Who” is an attempt, howsoever feeble it might be, towards that end.

C. B. GUPTA,
Chief Minister,
Uttar Pradesh,
Lucknow.

INTRODUCTION

As national action is stimulated by mingled motivational interests—socio-political, ideological, cultural and psychological considerations, the importance of a book of the nature of "Who's Who" cannot be overemphasised particularly at a time when our freedom and national integrity is threatened by wanton aggression.

I am confident it would help rekindling in us the spirit of dedication and self-immolation so imperative in the present hour of national crisis.

BANARSI DAS,

Minister for Information,

Uttar Pradesh.

The State "Who's Who" is designed to supplement to this history and would contain materials with a bearing on the 'Known and unknown warriors' since 1921. Moreover, it was also decided that the activities of patriots involved in the conspiracy cases like the Delhi Bomb case, the Mainpuri Conspiracy Case, the Kakori Conspiracy Case and the Meerut and the Burma Conspiracy Cases would also be included in it.

The State Committee was, however, reconstituted in 1962 with Sri Banarasi Das, Information Minister, as Chairman and Messrs. Newal Kishore. M.I.A. (Congress), Triloki Singh, Genda Singh M.I.A. (PSP), Mangla Prasad, Z. A. Ahmad, M.L.A. (Communist), Mahavir Prasad Shukla, Darbari Lal Sharma, Raghavendra Pratap Singh M.L.A. (Swatantra), and Chintamani Shukla of Mathura, as members of the Committee.

Mr. A. B. Malik, Director of Information, was co-opted as an ex-officio member of the Committee.

The "Who's Who" of fighters for freedom is likely to be brought out in 10 volumes and the first volume comprises the districts of Jhansi, Banda, Jalaun and Hamirpur.

It speaks mainly of those 'unknown warriors' who kept the embers of hope for Indian freedom alive at a time when others had almost forgotten their heritage.

They were largely 'unknown men and women' of mortal clay but they emerged from the fire, transformed into national heroes and around whom were woven magic legends.

And their 'Blood, Tears and Toil' transcended all distinctions and differences of caste, creed and colour and developed the sense of Indianness.
We hoped that it would reflect the glorious role which the fighters had played. However, we are not oblivious of the fact that it could not be done, as we wished it, owing to circumstances beyond our control and hence we crave the indulgence of all concerned.

He was declared as leader of the rebels and along with his other colleagues thrown in the Charkhari State prison where he was subjected to inhuman torture resulting in his death.

While Parmanand was a student in Allahabad Kayastha Pathshala in 1907, he participated in the reception accorded to late Lajpat Rai and as a result of which he was turned out from the institution. Thereafter, when he was learning the art of preparing bombs he got his face burnt but with the help of Pt. Sunder Lal he was cured. Then he went to learn Sanskrit at Varanasi where he was initiated in the revolutionary movements.

Afterwards, he went to America and came in contact with Lala Hardayal and the Gadar Party. After some time he visited Japan and Germany where he secured military plans and returned to America and subsequently came back to India.

In Calcutta he came in contact with revolutionary leaders namely, Messrs. Rash Behari Bose, Sachindra Nath Sanyal, Bishnu Ganesh Pingle and Sardar Kartar Singh.

February 21, 1915 was decided as the date of country-wide revolution, Sri Pingle was arrested at Meerut along with five live bombs and the whole conspiracy leaked out; Sri Parmanand and 63 others were arrested and lodged in the Lahore Fort.

Following a trial for sedition against them, he along with other 26 patriots were given death sentences. Public agitation followed which resulted in the transportation for life for twenty of them but unfortunately seven were hanged to death.

In the Andamans, he came in contact with revolutionary leaders Vir Savarkar, Bhai Parmanand, Ashutosh Lahiri and Barin Ghosh. There he was kept in a solitary cell and given corporal punishment for beating a Deputy Superintendent of jail.

After being in the solitary cell at Port Blair (Andaman) for twenty-three years, he was released in 1937 and yet he had to spend seven years in the Sabarmati Jail. He refused to attend a reception organised in his honour at the Bradley Hall (Lahore) observing that as he was released due to the mercy of the British Government he was not worthy of it.

In one of his prayer meetings at Sabarmati Ashram, Mahatma Gandhi is reported to have observed that in Sri Parmanand he found his real brother who feeling himself as an wounded and defeated warrior refused to accept the welcome accorded to him and the country needed such a brave soldier.
