PREFACE

IN 1906 Mr. Vincent Smith published Vol. I of the new Catalogue of Coins in the Indian Museum, Calcutta, including the Cabinet of the Asiatic Society of Bengal. This volume contains the ancient and mediaeval coins of Northern and Southern India struck by foreign invaders and native rulers and corresponds to sections of Parts II and IV of the Catalogue by Mr. C. J. Rodgers (1894 and 1896). In 1907 and 1908 appeared Vols. II and III by Mr. H. Nelson Wright, The Sultans of Dehli and Mediaeval Muhammadan States, and The Mughal Emperors; these two volumes corresponded to Part I and a section of Part III of the earlier Catalogue. A fourth volume, to cover the modern series, was planned by Mr. H. Nelson Wright, and sections allotted to various collaborators. With the outbreak of war, all hope of publication was indefinitely postponed. Three of the contributors, Mr. C. J. Brown, Dr. J. R. Henderson, and Mr. W. H. Valentine, however, produced the sections allotted to them, and when funds once more became available, Sir John Marshall took steps to have the volume printed. As Mr. Nelson Wright found himself unable to undertake the general editorship of the volume, Sir John Marshall asked me to see it through the press.

With the simple straightforward series in Sections I and II my task was an easy one. Section III, however, was a much more serious matter, dealing, as it does, with series which have been very little studied. My knowledge of the Prinsep collection and of the very fine series of late Moghul coins in the British Museum has occasionally enabled me to throw light on the attribution of a defective coin in this collection. This has resulted in a few discrepancies between the order in the text and the order in the plates as the latter were made before printing was begun.

As to transliteration, the scientific systems adopted by the authors in Sections I and II are retained; in the case of Section III, however, it seemed desirable to avoid pedantry in the transliteration of quite modern names. I have, therefore, followed the transliterations of the Imperial Gazetteer of India as the only standard work of reference which covers the same area. Special attention has been devoted to the Indexes, as this volume covers a new field and it is hoped they will be found useful.

Dr. J. R. Henderson died while his section was passing through the press, and Mr. W. H. Valentine also has not lived to see his work in print. Their sections of this book will give some idea of the loss that we have sustained.

In conclusion I have to thank the Oxford University Press for the care they have bestowed on the production of the text and plates. I have also to thank Mr. H. Nelson Wright and my colleagues, Mr. A. S. Fulton and Mr. J. V. S. Wilkinson, for occasional help.

J. ALLAN.

INTRODUCTION

THE coins dealt with in this section were issued by the rulers of Mysore State in Southern India, and may conveniently be arranged in the three following divisions:

A. The earlier Hindu series, comprising all the coins issued prior to the Muḥammadan period.

B. The Muḥammadan series, comprising the coins issued by Ḥaidar 'Alī and his son Tipū Sultān, from about A.D. 1763 to 1799.

C. The later Hindu series, comprising the coins issued by Kṛishṇa Rāja Wodeyar, from A.D. 1799 to 1843.

A. THE EARLIER HINDU SERIES

The only coin belonging to this series in the present collection to which a date can be assigned, is the well-known Canteroy fanam struck by Kanṭhīrava-Narasa-Rāja of the Wodeyar dynasty (A.D. 1638-59), bearing on the obverse a figure of Nārasimha and on the reverse the ruler's name in an abbreviated form, in Dēvanāgarī. This fanam, which was probably frequently reissued by later rulers, was according to Hawkes (Coins of Mysore, 1856), finally recoined by Diwān Pūrṇaiya during the minority of Kṛishṇa Rāja. The original coin, which is of somewhat greater diameter than the latest reissue, was known locally as the agala Kanthiraya haṇa or broad Canteroy fanam, while the latter was termed the giḍḍa Kanthiraya haṇa or small thick Canteroy fanam. Coin No. 2 of the catalogue is probably a specimen of the giḍḍa fanam.

The remaining coins of this series bear no indication of the period at which they were struck, but their general appearance and relative abundance would lead one to assign them to the later sovereigns of the Wodeyar dynasty, and it is probable that some of them were recoined by Ḥaidar 'Alī, who issued but few coins on his own account. With the exception of the 'battle-axe' series, to be referred to shortly, all the unassigned coins in the present collection bear on the reverse an arrangement of double lines crossed at right angles, frequently with symbols of unknown meaning in the interspaces, constituting what is termed by Tufnell (Catalogue of Mysore Coins in the Collection of the Government Museum, Bangalore, 1889) the chequered reverse

INTRODUCTION

History. The history of the Awadh dynasty and of its important dealings with the East India Company has yet to be written. The outstanding political events are not, however, in dispute, and may be summarized as follows. The founder of the dynasty was one Muḥammad Amīn, better known as Š'ādat Khān, a Persian adventurer at the court of the Mughal Emperor Muḥammad Shāh; a Wazīr of the Empire, he was created Šūbahdār of Awadh in 1720, on the overthrow of the notorious Saiyad brothers, and soon afterwards made himself practically independent ruler in his province. His dominions included, beside the present province of Awadh or Oudh, the districts of Ghāzīpūr, Banāras and Gorakhpūr: to these were added in 1773 the districts of Ilahābād and Korā, and in the following year was annexed the tract of Rohilkhand. Š'ādat Khān's son-in-law, Safdar Jang, succeeded him in 1739, being also created a Wazīr of the Empire, and the title becoming associated in the popular mind with the family, these rulers were henceforth known as the Nawāb-Wazīrs. Shujā'u-d-daula (1756-75), the third Nawāb-Wazīr, and his son Āsafu-d-daula (1775-97) had important relations with the Company. The latter on his accession ceded the districts of Ghāzīpūr and Banāras to the Company, and shortly afterwards moved his capital from Faizābād to Lakhnau (Lucknow). In 1801, in the time of the Nawāb Š'ādat 'Alī (1798-1814), Rohilkhand as well as the districts of Gorakhpūr, Ilahābād, and Korā were also ceded to the Company.

In 1818 the Governor-General, Lord Hastings, during a visit to the Nawāb Ghāzīu-d-dīn Ḥaidar, induced him to make himself independent of Dehli by assuming the title of king. After some hesitation he was crowned on October 9, 1819 (18 Zū-l-ḥijja, 1234). He was succeeded on the throne by his son, his brother, his brother's son, and grandson. The annals of the kingdom of Awadh consist almost entirely of a series of disputes, creditable to neither party, between the Company and the kings and their ministers. After thirty-seven years the kingdom ended with the forced abdication of Wājid 'Alī Shāh on February 12, 1856. On June 30, 1857, the Mutiny broke out in Lucknow.

The Coins. The district of Banāras, in which was situated the Mughal mint of Muḥammadābād-Banāras, opened in 1734, formed, as has been seen, part of the domains of the Nawāb-Wazīrs. From 1754

Shujā'u-d-daula was in more or less direct control of this mint until his death in 1775,¹ when it passed with the district into the hands of the East India Company. The latest rupee issued from the Banāras mint under Nawābī control is dated A.H. 1189-16 R. (= 1775 A.D.). The East India Company continued with slight modifications the style and legends (in the name of the Mughal Shāh 'Ālam) of the Nawābī rupees, but fixed the standard and retained Shāh 'Ālam's regnal year 17, as a guarantee of fineness, on coins of all succeeding years till the closing of the mint in 1819. But the Nawāb Āsafu-d-daula also continued to strike rupees on which the mint name Muhammadābād Banāras appears: on these the regnal year changed with the Hijri year until A.H. 1201 (1785), when, following the Company's precedent, the regnal year 26 was fixed, and appeared on coins of all succeeding years until 1234, when the series ended. The rupees struck by the Nawāb between the years 1775-85 are not common, probably because rupees somewhat similar in fabric were also issuing from the Nawāb's mint at Ilahābād between the years 1190-18 R. and 1194-21 (L. M. C., Nos. 4562 a-4562 h). The Banāras rupees of these years bear the characteristic fish (machhlī) and flag symbols on the reverse: the Hijri date is below the last line on the obverse, and on most known specimens is wanting. Rupees of this type are known of 18 R., 19 R., 23 R., 1197-24, 25 R., 26 R.²

All these rupees bearing the 'fish' mark on the reverse were, and are still locally, known as machhlīdār, and, after the regnal year 26 became fixed, appear in records of the period as the '26 san' issue. Gold and copper of the same type were also struck, but there are none in this collection. That they were minted by Āsafu-d-daula and his successors in Lucknow is proved by the two following pieces of evidence. Among the Calcutta mint records there is a letter dated

² For the first two coins cited in the text cf. B. M. C. Nos. 1135-7. For coins of 23 R., 24 R., 25 R., cf. L. M. C. 4851 a-4851 c, and for the 26 R., cf. Part I, Nos. 1-3, in this catalogue. B. M. C. No. 1135 (1189-17 R.), and Nos. 1138-41 (1196-23 R., full, half, quarter, eighth, and sixteenth parts of a rupee) are very curious. They have the 'umbrella' on the reverse instead of the characteristic flag, also the position of the date on the obverse is different from that on other coins previous to 1202-26. Besides, the rupee of 23 R. in Lucknow is of the usual type. One might conjecture that these represent attempts on the part of the Mughal Shāh 'Ālam to assert his waning authority, or perhaps they are proofs—the complete series of 1196-23 R. support this—struck for the East India Company.

May 1803¹ from the Collector of Gorakhpūr, in which appears the following statement: 'It is the opinion of some sensible shroffs that in the course of the ensuing year it may be advisable to establish a mint at the town of Gorakhpur. In this case it is my opinion that the Lucknow sikka rupee of the 28 san [sic; obviously an error for 26 san] should be gradually introduced.'

In Thurston's note² appears also the following:

'By Regulation XLV, 1803, it was enacted that:—(Sect. ii) A silver coin to be denominated the Lucknow sikka rupee of the 45 san struck in the mint of Farrukhabad corresponding in weight and standard with the sikka rupee at present struck in Lucknow in the dominions of the Nawab Vizier, and thence denominated the Lucknow rupee, is hereby declared to be the established and legal silver coin in the provinces ceded by the Nawab Vizier to the English East India Company.'³

It may be added that these machhlidār's are known in the Lucknow bazar, where they are plentiful, as Āsafu-d-daula rupees. There is a fine series of them in this Collection (Part I, Nos. 1-117): a remarkable feature is the number of minutely differentiated varieties which appear from the year 1211 onwards, sometimes as many as four in one year (cf. Nos. 56-61). The purpose of these and of the frequent change in the ornaments on the reverse was probably to make forgery more difficult. The weights and sizes of these coins are not given in detail: the weight is almost uniform, ranging between 172-3 grains; the size varies between 0.85 and 0.95 of an inch.

Before leaving the coinage of the Nawāb-Wazirs it should be mentioned that at various times they doubtless had control over other mints. From 1774-1801 the Bareli mint was in their hands, and from A.H. 1209-11 (1794-6) the name of the mint was changed on the coins from Qit'a Bareli to Āsafābād Bareli. But the series of coins issuing from the mints of Rohilkhand and the adjoining districts present a mass of difficulties and has not yet been properly examined. In A.H. 1188, after his victory over the Rohillas under Ḥāfiz, Raḥmat, Shujā'u-d-daula issued a fine silver medal which has been described in N.S. xviii, p. 273 (Appendix).

The early coinage of Ghāziu-d-dīn Ḥaidar as king marks the hesitation with which he assumed the regal insignia. The obverse of his earliest issue, A.H. 1234, is an almost exact copy of the '26 san' coins retaining the name of Shāh 'Ālam, and though the reverse bears the arms of Awadh, the date 26 is preserved (cf. Part II, Nos. 2, 3). Then appears an issue also dated A.H. 1234 with a couplet containing his own name with the title of king, but dated in the fifth year of his Nawābī (cf. Part II, Nos. 6-7). Finally appear coins similar in legends and style to the foregoing, but dated 1235-ahd. Ghāziū-d-din reckoned his first regnal year as starting from the 1st Muḥarram 1235. To celebrate his coronation the king had a fine silver portrait medal struck weighing 1,220 grains:¹ at the same time were probably struck two small silver pieces, of 21 and 10 grains respectively, bearing the king's name and titles only, and dated 1235-*ahd.*² They are noteworthy as the only coins of Awadh differing in style from the prescribed pattern for the year: otherwise a complete uniformity is preserved in gold, silver, and copper, changes in style and inscription taking place simultaneously in all three metals. The four successors of Ghāziū-d-din Ḥaidar each adopted their own couplet: Naṣīru-d-din Ḥaidar used two; these will be found given in full in the body of the Catalogue.

All five kings are said to have coined in gold the ashrafi, with its half, quarter, eighth, and sixteenth parts, though all five denominations are known of Wājid 'Alī Shāh only.³ The ashrafi or muhar usually weighs about 165 grains, though one of Wājid 'Alī Shāh's, dated 1270-8 R., weighs 187.34 grains.⁴ In silver there were the rupee, half, quarter, eighth, and sixteenth of a rupee. Usually the rupee die was made to serve for the smaller pieces, with the result that these frequently lack one and sometimes both dates (cf. Nos. 60, 74): in certain years Ghāziū-d-din,⁵ Naṣīru-d-din, and Wājid 'Alī Shāh had dies of the requisite sizes engraved. The rupee varies in weight between 169-172 grains.

In copper the fulūs of an average weight of 180-5 grains was the only copper coin struck by the first four kings. Wājid 'Alī Shāh in A.H. 1270-1 struck half, quarter, and eighth pieces, as well as a strange coin weighing 451.5 grains.⁶

Except for the coats of arms on the reverse, which show European influence, the Awadh coins are in weight and form the lineal successors of the Mughal issues, but, with the exception of Ghāziū-d-din's coronation medal, entirely lack artistic merit.

Like the Mughals, the Awadh kings adopted high-sounding titles. Ghāziū-d-din calls himself شاه زمان 'King of the World', Amjad 'Ali uses the title عالم پناه 'Refuge of the World'. The title 'Bādshāh' is used by Naṣīru-d-din, Muḥammad 'Ali Shāh, and Wājid 'Ali Shāh; the last even assumes the title سلطان عالم 'Sultan of the World'.

The mint-name Lakhnau is prefixed by various honorific titles: in the first two years of Ghāziū-d-din's reign it is دار الامارة 'The seat of Government'; it is then changed to دار السلطنة 'The seat of Sovereignty'. Muḥammad 'Ali, in the first year of his reign, changed this to بيت السلطنة 'The abode of Sovereignty'. Wājid 'Ali, in A.H. 1267, first substituted Mulk Awadh for the name Lakhnau and then added to it the further title اخترنگر, derived from his poetic takhalluṣ Akhtar. To the name of the mint town Lakhnau, Ghāziū-d-din added the name of the province صوبه اوده: this remained till A.H. 1256, when Muḥammad 'Ali changed it to ملك اوده.

The series of coins (Part I, Nos. 118-35) bearing the date 1229 26 R. and struck at the mint, صوبه اوده present great difficulties. I contend that, though bearing the date A.H. 1229 (1814 A.D.), they were not struck in that year but were issued by the rebel authorities in Lucknow during the mutiny in the years 1857-8. Wājid 'Ali Shāh had abdicated on February 12, 1856. On June 30, 1857, the Mutiny broke out and Brijis Qadr, a son of Wājid 'Ali, was made Nawāb-Wazīr of Awadh—the title is important—by the mutineers. His mother Ḥazrat Maḥal acted as regent.

As against their having been struck in A.H. 1229 it may be noted:

(1) There was already the Muḥammadābād Banāras '26 san' coin struck in Lucknow in that year (cf. Part I, Nos. 95-7).

(2) A close examination of these Ṣūba Awadh coins shows that they are unconnected in point of style with the Muḥammadābād Banāras '26 san' coins: the arrangement of the obverse legend is quite different, the mint marks are different, and the style of the fish on the reverse is quite different.

(3) An examination of seven of the principal finds of Awadh coins in the United Provinces since 1903 reveals the fact that while royal Awadh and '26 san' Muḥammadābād Banāras coins occur together in the same find, and also these two classes along with Ṣūba Awadh coins, in no case have Ṣūba Awadh coins been found alone with the regular '26 san' issue.

(4) It is more likely that the designation صوبه اوده was derived from the royal Awadh coins than vice versa.

To support the contention that the Şūba Awadh coins are later than the royal Awadh coins and were struck during the Mutiny:

(1) They are generally the best-preserved coins in the finds in which they occur—few show signs of hard wear—and they are usually in mint condition.

(2) The large number of varieties in this type of rupee point to irregular conditions of minting and an inability to keep pace with the demand: such conditions as must have prevailed during the Mutiny.

(3) The Lucknow sarrāfs still call the Şūba Awadh coins Brijis Qadr rupees.

The contention is that these coins were minted in Lucknow by the rebel authorities from June 1857 until the recovery of the city by the English in March 1858.¹ Large quantities were required to pay the rebel soldiers; they would be sufficiently like the regular '26 san' coins—still current in the bazars—to satisfy the recipients, and during and after the Mutiny they would naturally be buried in large quantities.

Why then the date 1229? Attention has been called to the title Nawāb-Wazīr bestowed by the mutineers on Brijis Qadr; the title of king was unpopular, as it had been assumed at the suggestion of the English by Ghāziū-d-dīn Haidar. A.H. 1229 was the date of his accession to the Nawābī, so it is possible that that date was chosen as the last year in which a Nawāb-Wazīr ruled who had been unshaken in his allegiance to the Dehli house, whose fortunes seemed now once more in the ascendant. Şūba Awadh coins of this type are known also in gold and copper.

Finds. The coins in this and other museum collections in India have been derived largely from finds made in the United Provinces. Two of the largest of these, both unearthed in 1915, may be described. The larger of the two from Tiloi in the Rae Bareilly district consisted of 3,706 rupees; of these 1,943 were '26 san' Muḥammadād Banāras rupees, 533 belonged to the Şūba Awadh class, 4 were miscellaneous, and the remainder were regal coins of Awadh. The second hoard, found in Lucknow itself, comprised 170 silver and 516 copper coins. The silver coins were as follows: Muḥammadād Banāras 26 san, 1; Şūba Awadh, 4; kings of Awadh, 165; all the copper coins belonged to the kings of Awadh. This treasure was evidently concealed soon after the outbreak of the Mutiny.

¹ The reverses of all coins of type C differ slightly in design from year to year, especially in the form of the scroll: a particularly noticeable change takes place in the seventh and eighth regnal years, when the scroll is a crescent in shape.

INTRODUCTION

THE coins dealt with in this section were issued by the rulers of Mysore State in Southern India, and may conveniently be arranged in the three following divisions:

A. The earlier Hindu series, comprising all the coins issued prior to the Muḥammadan period.

B. The Muḥammadan series, comprising the coins issued by Ḥaidar 'Alī and his son Tipū Sultān, from about A.D. 1763 to 1799.

C. The later Hindu series, comprising the coins issued by Kṛishṇa Rāja Wodeyar, from A.D. 1799 to 1843.

A. THE EARLIER HINDU SERIES

The only coin belonging to this series in the present collection to which a date can be assigned, is the well-known Canteroy fanam struck by Kanthīrava-Narasa-Rāja of the Wodeyar dynasty (A.D. 1638-59), bearing on the obverse a figure of Nārasimha and on the reverse the ruler's name in an abbreviated form, in Dēvanāgarī. This fanam, which was probably frequently reissued by later rulers, was according to Hawkes (Coins of Mysore, 1856), finally recoined by Dīwān Pūrṇaiya during the minority of Kṛishṇa Rāja. The original coin, which is of somewhat greater diameter than the latest reissue, was known locally as the agala Kanthīraya haṇa or broad Canteroy fanam, while the latter was termed the giḍḍa Kanthīraya haṇa or small thick Canteroy fanam. Coin No. 2 of the catalogue is probably a specimen of the giḍḍa fanam.

The remaining coins of this series bear no indication of the period at which they were struck, but their general appearance and relative abundance would lead one to assign them to the later sovereigns of the Wodeyar dynasty, and it is probable that some of them were recoined by Ḥaidar 'Alī, who issued but few coins on his own account. With the exception of the 'battle-axe' series, to be referred to shortly, all the unassigned coins in the present collection bear on the reverse an arrangement of double lines crossed at right angles, frequently with symbols of unknown meaning in the interspaces, constituting what is termed by Tufnell (Catalogue of Mysore Coins in the Collection of the Government Museum, Bangalore, 1889) the chequered reverse type. On the obverse is to be found an animal, most commonly the elephant, but also a bull, peacock, &c., figures of Lakshmi, Gaṇeśa, Hanumān, Garuḍa, &c., and finally a series of Kanarese numerals.

The elephant which appears so frequently on these coins was perhaps taken from the 'Gajapati pagoda', struck in all probability by the ancient Ganga Kings of Mysore, and later on it was extensively adopted by Ḥaidar 'Alī and Tipū Sulṭān for their copper coins and also to some extent by Kṛishṇa Rāja. The Kanarese numeral series exists in two sizes, though only the larger is present in the collection under review, numbered continuously from 1 to at least 32. No satisfactory explanation of these numbers has ever been adduced, and if they end as has just been indicated one is tempted to suppose that they may in some way commemorate the reign of a sovereign who ruled for thirty-two years, such as Chikka Dēva Rāja (A.D. 1672-1704). Unfortunately, however, for this theory, Jackson (Coin Collecting in Mysore, p. 13, 1909) mentions a coin with the number 33 and there is no sovereign to match. The series was attributed by Sir Walter Elliot to Chāma Rāja V (A.D. 1731-75) during whose reign the sovereignty of Mysore was assumed by Ḥaidar 'Alī.

The copper coins of the tiger and battle-axe type, which were first attributed to Mysore by Marsden, are included in the catalogue with considerable reserve. The theory that they were issued by Tipū Sulṭān is to some extent borne out by the weights of the two larger coins, which are slightly heavier than his half- and quarter-paisa, their nearest equivalents, and the distribution at the present day appears to indicate that they were chiefly used in Malabar.

B. THE MUHAMMADAN SERIES

Comparatively few varieties of coin were struck by Ḥaidar 'Alī, and till the later years of his reign he was probably content, as regards the copper coinage, to reissue the types used by his predecessors. His pagoda, known as the Bahāduri pagoda, was copied from the Ikkēri pagoda struck by Sadāsiva Nāyaka of Ikkēri, in the Shimoga District of Mysore, which in turn followed a Vijayanagara model. It bears the seated figures of Śiva and Pārvatī and the initial letter of Ḥaidar's name (ح) is placed on the granulated reverse. The gold coinage also included a half-pagoda and fanam, similar to the pagoda except in size, and dated fanams bearing Ḥaidar's initial on the obverse. All these coins are believed to have been struck at Nagar, formerly known as Bednūr, which Ḥaidar originally intended to make his capital. In A.H. 1195 (A.D. 1780-1) and in the following year, though none of the latter is represented in the present collection, Ḥaidar struck copper paisas at his capital of Seringapatam, with the elephant obverse and date and mint-town recorded on the reverse, a type which was afterwards copied very extensively by his son Tipū Sultān. Ḥaidar's cautious policy towards his Hindu subjects is illustrated by the representations of Śivaite deities, which, contrary to the dictates of his own religion, he permitted to appear on his gold coins, and there is no further indication of his personal authority than the initial letter of his name.

Contrary to the policy of his father, Tipū Sultān during the sixteen years of his reign issued coins in bewildering variety, from a number of different mints; on none of them, however, is the name of Tipū to be found. Whereas Ḥaidar was content to adopt the Hindu coinage in pagodas and fanams which had long existed in Mysore, Tipū introduced the Muḥammadan system of muhrs and rupees. More orthodox perhaps than Ḥaidar, or at any rate less tolerant of the religious views of his Hindu subjects, no concession to their faith is to be found on any of the coins of Tipū Sultān, and during his reign change and innovation became the order of the day. Many of the coins bear strange titles, the mint-towns frequently appear under new and fantastic names, a new system of numeration and nomenclature in connexion with the cyclic years was adopted, and finally the Hijrī reckoning was replaced by the Maulūdi era dating from the birth of the Prophet. A brief account will now be given of each of these innovations or peculiarities in the coinage.

The Titles of Tipū's Coins.

The names of the gold coins have reference to Muḥammadan Khalifas. The Muhr or Aḥmadī takes its name from احمد the 'most praised', a designation of the Prophet; the half-muhr or Ṣadiqī is derived from صديق 'just', the special designation of Abū Bakr, the first of the four Khalifas; the pagoda or Ḥārūqī has its origin in هاروق 'timid', the title of 'Umar, the second Khalifa. The fanam, on the other hand, which corresponds in value to one-tenth of a pagoda, bears no name on the coin itself. The weights of the muhr and half-muhr show that these coins were intended to be the equivalents of four and two pagodas respectively.

The silver coins, with the exception of the smallest, take their names from the Imāms and thus, as in the gold series, commemorate the names of holy men. The double-rupee or Ḥaidarī is named from حيدر 'a lion', the title of 'Alī, the first Imām, and perhaps Tipū was guided in his choice by the fact that it also recalls his father's name; the rupee or Imāmi is apparently a general designation for all the twelve Imāms; the half-rupee or ʿAbidī is derived from علي

العابدين 'Alī Zain al-Ābidīn, the fourth Imām; the quarter-rupee or Bāqiri is named after محمد الباقر Muḥammad al-Bāqir, the fifth Imām; the two-anna piece or Ja'fari comes from جعفر الصادق Ja'afar al-Sādiq, the sixth Imām; the one-anna piece or Kāzimi is from موسى الكاظم Mūsā al-Kāzim, the seventh Imām; the half-anna piece or Khizri, unlike the other silver coins, is not named after an Imām, but commemorates الخضر Al-Khizr, a saint who is said to have drunk of the fountain of life and thus rendered himself immortal. Only the four larger silver coins are represented in the present collection.

The first of the copper coins to receive a name was the double-paisa, which from the date of its issue in A.M. 1218 up to the year A.M. 1221 was known as عثمانى 'Uthmānī, after 'Uthmān, the third Khalifa. In the Maulūdī year 1221, all the copper coins were named after certain of the heavenly bodies, and in different double-paisas of this year both the old and the new names occur. The double-paisa was renamed مشتري Muštari from the planet Jupiter; the paisa was termed زهرة Zohra after the planet Venus, and the coins of the Nagar mint show the spelling زهرا Zohrā; the half-paisa بهرام Bahrām takes the name of the planet Mars; the quarter-paisa اختر Akhtar is simply the Arabic word for 'a star'; finally the eighth-paisa قطب Qutb takes the name of the Pole-star. While the above names are the only ones recorded on the coins themselves it is customary to refer to the copper series either in relation to the paisa as is done here, or in terms of the equivalent value in cash, following the arrangement which came into force in Mysore after the death of Tipū. The double-paisa is thus the equivalent of 40 cash, and the eighth-paisa of $2\frac{1}{2}$ cash.

The Mint-towns of Tipū.

If we include the doubtful Be-naḡir, which, according to Moor (A Narrative of the Operations of Captain Little's Detachment, 1794), was Tipū's name for Hole Honnūr in the Shimoga District of Mysore, and Bellary, the paisas from which place may possibly have been issued by Haidar, the names of no fewer than fifteen places occur on the coins, although two of them, Dhārwar and Khwursheed-sawād, refer to the same town. Only Nagar, Bangalore, Calicut, Dhārwar, and Bellary appear under the names by which they are now known, while all the other mint-towns bear new and fantastic appellations. Excluding Be-naḡir, only five of the mints are now included in Mysore territory, and all the others represent places of importance which were either lost to Tipū after the campaign of 1791; or passed out of the possession of Mysore after the final capture of Seringapatam in 1799. Eleven mints are represented in the present collection, those unrepresented being Salāmābād, Dhārwar, Be-naḡir, and Bellary. A few brief notes may now be made on each of the mints.

Pattan, پتن, 'the town', or Seringapatam, was Tipū's capital, situated on an island formed by a bifurcation of the River Cauvery, a few miles north of the town of Mysore. It was naturally the most active of the mints, and from it were issued all the different varieties of coin value struck by Tipū, indeed the half-muhr and all the silver coins smaller than the half-rupee appear to have emanated only from Pattan. Gold coins were issued from the first to the thirteenth regnal years, silver from the second to the sixteenth years, and copper from the first to the sixteenth years.

Nagar, نگر, 'the city', formerly known as Bednūr, is situated in the Shimoga District of Mysore. Gold coins were issued intermittently from the first to the eleventh regnal years, a few silver coins were issued in the fourth, fifth, and sixth years, while copper coins are to be found bearing dates of all the years from the first to the last.

Bengalūr, بنگلور, or Bangalore, is situated towards the south-eastern part of Mysore State. Copper coins only were issued from this mint from the fourth to the ninth years.

Faiḡ Hīḡār, فيض حار, 'the fort of bounty', is the name which Tipū applied to Gooty, a town with an important rock-fortress in the Anantapūr District of the Madras Presidency. Copper coins were issued from the fifth to the sixteenth years.

Farrukh-yāb Hīḡār, فرخياب حصار, 'the felicitously acquired fort', was the name given to Chitaldrūg, in the north of Mysore. Only copper coins were issued from this mint from the fifth to the ninth years.

Kalikūt, كيكوت, or Calicut, a seaport on the Malabar Coast, is the chief town of the Malabar District of the Madras Presidency. Gold fanams were issued here from the second to the fifth years, and a double-rupee in the fifth year. The copper coinage appeared from the second to the fifth years.

Farrukhī, فرخی, 'prosperity', a village now known as Feroke, situated at the mouth of the Beypore River, a few miles south of Calicut. It originated in an attempt which was made by Tipū in 1788 to destroy the city of Calicut and to erect a new capital on the Malabar Coast. Gold fanams and copper coins were struck here during the sixth, seventh, and eighth regnal years.

Khurshid-sawād, خورشيد سواد, the 'sun-blackened' place, is the fanciful title by which the town of Dhārwar, in the Dhārwar District of the Bombay Presidency, was designated by Tipū. The coins, which consist of pagodas, rupees, paisas, and half-paisas were issued in the seventh and eighth years. A pagoda, fanam, and rupee struck in the sixth year give the name of the mint as Dhārwar.

Khālīqābād, خالى آباد, the 'town prospered of God', was the name given to Dindigul, in the Madura District of the Madras Presidency. Gold fanams were struck here in the fifth and seventh regnal years, and copper coins from the fifth to the eighth years.

Zafarābād, ظفر آباد, 'the city of victory', signifies the hill-fort of Gurramkonda, in the Cuddapah District of the Madras Presidency. The name was at first applied by Tipū to Mercara, the capital of Coorg, but subsequently and before the coins were issued was transferred to Gurramkonda. Copper coins only were struck at this mint from the fifth to the eighth regnal years.

Nazarbār, نظربار, 'scattering favour', was the name given by Tipū to a fort which he erected close to the ancient city of Mysore, which is now the capital of the State. As in the case of Calicut, he hoped by destroying the old city and erecting a new one in the vicinity, to remove the evidence of former Hindu power, but both attempts failed and the older places were eventually rebuilt. Only copper coins were struck at this mint and the issue of these was confined to the sixth regnal year.

Salāmābād, سلام آباد, 'the city of peace', was the town of Satyamangalam, in the Coimbatore District of the Madras Presidency. The issues of this mint are confined to copper coins struck in the sixth, seventh, and eighth years.

Be-naẓīr, بني نظير, 'the incomparable', was, according to Moor, the name given by Tipū to the town of Hole Honnūr, in the Shimoga District of Mysore. Moor has figured a paisa bearing the name of this mint and the date 1217 (seventh regnal year), but as it has not apparently been met with since his time the record is perhaps based on a misreading.

Balarī, بلاري, or Bellary, in the Bellary District of the Madras Presidency, was the mint of issue of two or more varieties of coarsely executed and undated paisas. They have been attributed to Haidar, but there is at least an equal amount of probability that they came from some temporary mint established in this place by Tipū.

The mint-towns, which were all carefully selected places of importance, were at the height of their activity, during the sixth, seventh, and eighth years of Tipū's reign. The campaign under the command of Lord Cornwallis, which terminated in the capture of Seringapatam on 23rd February 1792, resulted in the closing of a number of mints, for from the year A.H. 1220, which commenced in March 1792, to the end of Tipū's reign, only Pattan, Nagar, and Faiz Ḥiṣār continued to issue coins. Certain coins from the Pattan, Nagar, Farrukh-yāb Ḥiṣār, and Farrukhī mints all bear the common epithet 'Dār al-Saltanat', دار السلطنة, or 'capital', and accordingly Tufnell has substituted for the more ordinary translation the expression 'royal residence'.

The Dates of Tipū's Coins.

All the coins issued during the first four regnal years bear the Hijri or ordinary Muḥammadan dates, those of the fourth year being dated A.H. 1200. In the fifth year, the coins of which are dated 1215, Tipū introduced his new or Maulūdi reckoning which continued to the end of his reign. The new era, as the name indicates, takes its origin from the birth and not from the flight of the Prophet, and the difference of fourteen years between the two reckonings is due to the fact that the older is based on lunar years of twelve lunar months each, while the Maulūdi is based on luni-solar years of twelve lunar months with intercalated or adhika months added at certain intervals. In making this change Tipū simply adopted the Hindu calendar which he found in common use in Mysore, replacing the Hindu names of the sixty cyclic years and of the months by Arabic names. The Maulūdi year began regularly at the same time as the Indian luni-solar year in Mysore, i.e. either in March or early in April, whereas the normal Muḥammadan New Year's day, in course of time, may occur in any of the months of the Christian calendar. With the introduction of the Maulūdi system Tipū also effected a change in the order of placing the numerals which indicate the date. The usual order from left to right was reversed; thus the coins of the fourth year are dated ١٢٠٠ (A.H. 1200), while those of the fifth year are dated ١٢١٥ (A.M. 1215).

An examination of the dates on a number of Tipū's published letters, where the reckoning was made at one and the same time in both the Hijri and Maulūdi systems, has established the fact that the year A.M. 1215 commenced on 20th March 1787, the first day of the Indian luni-solar year which was numbered 41 both in the Indian and in Tipū's calendar. Now the Hijri year 1200 ended on 23rd October 1786, and there is consequently an addition of nearly five months, between the end of the fourth regnal year and the commencement of the fifth. It seems probable that the coins issued during this short intermediate period, if any were issued, were dated 1215 in anticipation of the new era; but it is also possible that a few coins which bear the date 1201, and are usually regarded as errors on the part of a die-engraver who was unaware of the introduction of the new era, were struck during this period.

The Arabs, like other eastern peoples, were in the habit of expressing numbers by means of letters of the alphabet, and in doing so took the Arabic letters corresponding to the twenty-two letters of the Hebrew alphabet; hence the Abjad system of numeration, so named from its first four letters. This system, which is regularly employed by Muḥammadans, was used by Tipū for the names of the cyclic years during the first four years of his reign. In the fifth year, along with the introduction of the Maulūdi era, he brought out a new system of naming the cyclic years known as the Abtath, based on the consecutive order of the letters in the Arabic alphabet and deriving its title from the first four of these letters.

In the following table, which will help to clear some of the foregoing references, is shown the date according to the Christian reckoning of the commencement of each year of Tipū's reign.

Regnal year	Cyclic year	Maulūdi year	First day of Maulūdi year	Hijri year	First day of Hijri year
1	زكي 37			1197	7th Dec. 1782

6	سارا 42	6121	7th April 1788
7	سراب 43	7121	27th March 1789
8	شتا 44	8121	16th March 1790
9	زبرجد 45	9121	4th April 1791
10	سحر 46	10121	23rd March 1792

16	شاداب 52	16121	18th March 1798
17	بارش 53	17121	6th April 1799

Of the two sets of names which Tipū invented for the twelve months of the year but little need be said, as there is only slight reference to them on the coins. On a number of coins (see nos. 41, 52, 53, 60, &c., of the present catalogue) reference is made to the 3rd of Bahārī, the second month of the year in both sets of names, and on some of the coins the day and month are associated with the cyclic year 37, thus giving the complete date of Tipū's accession.

During the last four years of the reign the first four letters of the Arabic alphabet were used to signify dates on the copper coins. Thus ا stands for 1224, ب for 1225, ت for 1226, and ث for 1227. The letter, which occurs over the elephant on the obverse, is usually supplemented by the Maulūdi date on the reverse, more rarely on the obverse. It occasionally happens that the two dates do not correspond, and in such cases it may be assumed that the letter-year is the correct one.

The Coin Legends.

In the earlier pagodas or fārūqīs (see no. 126) the obverse bears merely ح, Ḥaidar's initial, the name of the mint, and the regnal year, though in no. 42, which probably issued from Seringapatam, the name of the mint has been omitted. The reverse of these coins, in addition to the Hijri date, bears the sentence هو السلطان العادل, 'He is the Sultān, the Just.' In the pagodas struck after A. M. 1215 (nos. 43, 44, 45, and 198), the name of the coin also occurs on the obverse, and the reverse legend now reads محمد هو السلطان الوحيد العادل, 'Muḥammad! He is the Sultān, the Unique, the Just.' The Khawrshad-sawād fārūqī (no. 198) differs from the Pattan ones in the position of the ح, or Ḥaidar's initial. The gold fanams simply bear the initial letter on the obverse and the date and mint on the reverse.

The muhr or aḥmadī and the half-muhr or ṣadiqī (no. 41), in addition to recording the name of the coin, the mint, the cyclic year, and the date on the obverse, bear the legend

محمد دين احمد در جهان روشن زفتح حيدر است ح

Muḥammad! The faith of Aḥmad has received lustre in the world from Faṭḥ Ḥaidar: ح.¹

On the reverse of these coins is found the date of accession, the regnal year, and the sentence:

هو السلطان الوحيد العادل

He is the Sultān, the Unique, the Just.

Similar inscriptions to those recorded on the larger gold coins are met with on the double-rupee or ḥaidarī (nos. 52 and 53), the rupee or imāmī (nos. 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, and 199), and the half-rupee or ʿābidī (nos. 60 and 61); but in the earlier double-rupees (no. 52) and rupees (no. 54) the name محمد, 'Muḥammad', is omitted from the obverse. The quarter-rupee or bāqirī (nos. 62 and 63) bears on the obverse محمد هو السلطان الوحيد العادل, 'Muḥammad! He is the Sultān, the Unique, the Just', together with the date-year, while the reverse contains only the name of the coin, the regnal year, and the name of the mint. On the smaller silver coins the inscriptions are still further reduced.

On the great majority of the copper coins only meagre inscriptions are met with. On most of them, with the exception of those of the last four years and a few undated types, the date, rarely accompanied by the word سنة, 'year', is placed above the elephant on the obverse. On certain Seringapatam paisas of A.M. 1221, 1222 and 1223, the date is accompanied by the word مولودي, 'relating to the birth', or more rarely the words مولود محمد, 'the birth of Muḥammad'. In its simplest form the reverse inscription merely records the fact that the coin was struck at a certain mint, but in most of the double-paisas the title دار السلطنة, 'capital' or 'royal residence', is prefixed to the name of the town. From A.M. 1221 to the end of the reign the special name of the coin is usually to be found on the reverse, but from A.M. 1218, up to and including the former year, the earlier name of the double-paisa occurs on coins of the Seringapatam mint. The coins of the last four regnal years have their distinctive letter, rarely accompanied by the date, above the elephant on the obverse. On the reverse of these coins there are fuller inscriptions than on any others of the copper series, recording the name of the coin, the mint, and the Maulūdī year.

On the copper coins the elephant stands with its head either to the observer's right or left. As a rule, to which, however, there are a good many exceptions, on the earlier coins up to the year A.M. 1221 the elephant faces the left, while on the later coins it faces the right. It frequently happens that both conditions occur on different coins of the same year.

The gold and silver coins, with the exception of a few double-rupees and rupees in which there is a rayed circle, are surrounded by an ornamental border consisting of a double-lined circle enclosing a row of dots. The latter border is also found on most of the copper coins, but there are numerous variations and the chief of these may be noted. A plain double-lined circle occurs on the obverse of the Bangalore coins and on a few of those from the Nagar and Calicut mints.

The double circle encloses a ring of oblique dashes in the issues of Farrukh-yāb Ḥiṣār and some of those of Khālīqābād, while in a few of the Farrukhī coins the dashes are curved. The earlier Faiz Ḥiṣār coins show groups of four dots between the lines, and the Khwūrshēd-sawād coins have dots arranged in groups of three. A rayed circle with two boundary lines occurs on the Salāmābād coins, and in a few of the Farrukh-yāb Ḥiṣār and Zafarābād issues there occur respectively a treble-lined circle and groups of three short parallel lines between the two usual boundary lines. The peculiar milling, found with few exceptions (see nos. 42, 126, 198) on the larger gold and silver coins of Tipū Sultān, consists of a single or double series of short indented lines following the circumference of the coin. These lines are interrupted by cross depressions which give a slight crenated appearance to the edge of the coin. In a few cases a rough type of milling is produced by a series of oblique transverse cuts across the edge.

The coins of Ḥaidar 'Alī and Tipū Sultān are still found in great variety and numbers, and this fact, together with their historical and even artistic merits, has no doubt contributed to their popularity with coin-collectors. With the exception of the pagoda and to a lesser extent the paisa of A.H. 1195, none of Ḥaidar's coins is now commonly met with. Of Tipū's gold and silver coinage only certain of the pagodas, fanams, rupees, and half-rupees are commonly met with, while the double-rupee and the smaller silver coins are all more or less rare, and the muhr and half-muhr extremely rare. Many of Tipū's copper coins, particularly from the Seringapatam mint, but also from Nagar, Bangalore, Faiz Ḥiṣār, and Farrukh-yāb Ḥiṣār, are still met with in abundance. On the other hand, the issues of Salāmābād, Naẓarbār, and Zafarābād are all rare. All the double-paisas are rare, with the exception perhaps of the one struck at Seringapatam in A.M. 1225, and none of the one-eighth paisas is now commonly met with.

C. THE LATER HINDU SERIES

Soon after the death of Tipū Sultān, at the capture of Seringapatam on 4th May 1799, the Hindu Rāj of Mysore was restored in the person of Kṛishṇa Rāja Wodeyar, then a child six years of age. The Dīwān Pūrṇaiya who had been a successful administrator under Tipū was appointed Regent, but he died in 1812. Kṛishṇa Rāja before long proved hopelessly incapable as a ruler, and in 1831 the management of the State was placed under the Mysore Commission and the Raja received a fixed annual income up to his death in 1868.

The gold coins of this period consist of pagodas, half-pagodas, and fanams, following the Vijayanagar type, with seated figures of Śiva and Pārvatī on the obverse and the ruler's name in Dēvanāgarī characters on the reverse. As already mentioned a recoinage of the old Canteroy fanam was also made.

The larger silver coins, viz. the rupee, with its half and quarter, follow the type issued by the English and French East India Companies, and these coins bear the name of the Mughal Emperor, Shāh 'Ālam II. Like the French Arcot coins struck at Pondicherry they have a crescent as mint-mark, and in examples where the name of the mint has not fallen on the coin the 'Rāja' rupees and their divisions are apt to be mistaken for French coins. In addition to the date the obverse bears portions of the usual inscription :

سکہ زد برہمت کشور سایہ فضل الہ
حامی دین محمد شاہ عالم بادشاہ

Reflection (shadow) of divine excellence, Defender of the Muḥammadan faith, the Emperor Shāh 'Ālam struck this coin to be current throughout the seven climes.

On the reverse is found, along with a regnal year which is usually glaringly incorrect, so far as Shāh 'Ālam is concerned, the legend :

مانوس غرب مہی سور سنہ (-) جلوس میمنت

'struck at Mysore in the (-) year of his auspicious reign'.

In addition to these coins there are also quarter-, one-eighth, and one-sixteenth rupees, with a dancing figure of Chāmundi, otherwise known as Durgā or Kālī, the tutelary goddess of Kṛishṇa Rāja, on the obverse. The quarter-rupee of this series bears the name of the Rāja, the date, and the mint in Persian on the reverse, while the smaller coins simply give the value and the word mayili in Kanarese. The meaning of this word, which is also extensively used on the copper coins, is not very clear. According to Rice (Mysore Gazetteer, 1897) it may mean Mayi, a contraction for Mayisur (Mysore) and li the locative suffix.

The earliest copper coin is probably the āne kāsī, or five-cash piece, with an elephant accompanied by the sun and moon on the obverse, and the name of the ruler in Dēvanāgarī characters on the reverse. This was followed by the mayili kāsū series of forty, twenty, ten, and five cash, also with an elephant obverse; the word Śrī in Kanarese is found between the sun and moon, and still later the word Chāmundi was added. The reverse of these coins at first bore inscriptions in Kanarese and English, giving the words mayili kāsū and the value, but later the letters Chā (Kan.), and still later the word Kṛishṇa (Kan.), were added.

The mayili kāsu series of twenty-five, twelve-and-a-half, and six-and-a-quarter cash, have the figure of a lion on the obverse, with the sun and moon and Śrī Chāmūndī (Kan.), or in the two smaller coins with the word Chāmūndī omitted. The reverse of the twenty-five cash piece bears the words Kṛishṇa mayili kāsu and the value in Kanarese, together with the value in English and ضرب مہی سوز, 'struck at Mysore'. In the two smaller coins the inscriptions are abbreviated and the English one omitted. On these coins and also on the elephant series the English words are frequently strangely blundered.

While the earlier coins were struck at the capital town, Mysore, the latest ones, issued from 1833 to 1843, when an independent coinage for the State came to an end, were coined at Bangalore, although the name of the earlier mint still occurs on their reverse. This series consists of twenty, ten, five, and two and a half cash pieces, and their obverse contains the figure of a lion with the words Śrī Chāmūndī (Kan.) above, shortened to Śrī in the three smaller coins, and the English date below. The reverse has inscriptions in Kanarese, English, and Persian, similar to those of the earlier lion series, but with the word Milay or more often Meilee in English characters added in the case of the twenty-cash piece.

The majority of the coins of Kṛishṇa Rāja are still met with in considerable abundance. Among those, however, which are more difficult to obtain may be mentioned the half-pagoda, forty-cash piece, and the elephant cash with a Dēvanāgarī inscription on the reverse (no. 227).

For assistance in drawing up these notes I am indebted to the work of numerous writers. I desire specially to acknowledge my obligation to the valuable brochure on the 'Coins of Tipū Sultān', by the Rev. G. P. Taylor, D.D. (Occasional Memoirs of the Numismatic Society of India, 1914).

MISCELLANEOUS SOUTH INDIAN COINS

INTRODUCTION

The coins here catalogued are arranged in four groups :—

- I. Coins issued by the French Compagnie des Indes ;
- II. Coins of the East India Company ;
- III. Coins of Travancore, Cochin, and Pudukkottai States ;
- IV. A coin of one of the Āli Rājas of Cannanore.

The coins of the first series, with the exception of a good set of rupees, are by no means representative of the issues from the Pondicherry mint. Those of the East India Company exhibit still greater deficiencies, and are practically confined to the silver coins issued nominally from the Arcot mint and the one-fifth rupees which circulated on the Malabar Coast. The coins of Mysore are dealt with separately in this volume ; those of Travancore and Cochin comprise only a few of the more modern types, and some coins from the former State have already appeared in the first volume of this Catalogue. These and other South Indian coins, notably some of the gold pagodas, are figured on Plate XXX of that volume.

The French obtained the right to coin rupees from Nawāb Dōst 'Alī Khān of Arcot in 1736, and the actual coinage commenced at Pondicherry in December of that year (Diary of Ānanda Ranga Pillai, vol. i, p. 8), i. e. in the year 1149 A.H., or the nineteenth year of the reign of Muḥammad Shāh. These rupees, which bear the distinctive mark of a crescent, were continued in the reigns of Aḥmad Shāh, 'Ālamgīr II, and Shāh 'Ālam II, except during the periods 1761-3, 1778-83, 1793-1802, and 1803-16, when Pondicherry was in British occupation. After the last restoration of the town, coinage was resumed in 1817, and the rupees from this period onwards up to 1839, when the mint was finally closed, bear the date 1221 A.H. and the forty-fifth or last regnal year of Shāh 'Ālam (A.D. 1806). The same inscription is met with on the obverse of these coins in the case of the first three emperors, while a different one is met with in those of Shāh 'Ālam ; the reverse inscription is the same in all. The collection does not contain any examples of the half or other divisions of the rupee, and it may be added that these coins are still unrepresented in the Madras Museum.

One of the most interesting coins in the collection is the large thin rupee (No. 39), which according to Zay was issued for the French settlement of Mahé on the Malabar Coast, ceded to France in 1726.

It differs from all the other coins of the Pondicherry mint in having a milled edge, and the size of the flan enables the entire inscription to be shown on each side. The rarity of this coin suggests that it may have been prepared experimentally, and in any case the distinctive peculiarities would probably handicap its use among people who were accustomed to thick unmilled coins. The Mahé fanams, of which five went to a rupee, exhibit on the obverse the quaint legend فرانس کنبی (Frans Kanpani = French Company), while the reverse bears the Hindustani name of the mint-town بهلچری (Bhulcheri = Pondicherry), the letter P and the date.

The Indo-French copper coins are represented by three dudus or four-kas pieces and a single-kas, all bearing the name of the mint-town in Tamil on the reverse. The only single-kas in the collection belongs to a type which is attributed by Zay to the Dutch, during their occupation of Pondicherry from 1693 to 1698, because it bears the so-called Kāli symbol which appears on the Negapatam copper coins. This device, which is possibly a very degenerate representation of the human figure found on many Chola, Pandyan, and Ceylon coins, was perhaps copied by the Dutch from the Tanjore gold fanams, but as the coin in question is still met with in considerable numbers it appears not unlikely that it was a true French issue.

The coins of the East India Company without date or indication of the mint, although they were all issued from Madras, consist of the single and half-fanams first struck during the reign of Charles II, and a small selection of the series with value expressed in English, Persian, Tamil, and Telugu, which appeared between 1807 and 1812. The two-anna piece (No. 7) is noticeable on account of its rarity.

The Company obtained permission to coin Arcot rupees from the Nawāb Sadutalla Khān Bahādur, Subah of Arcot, in November 1742, but the right does not appear to have been exercised till 1759, as the earliest coins bear the name of 'Ālamgir II and the sixth year of his reign. The thick unmilled rupee was probably in circulation from the latter date till its supersession by the oblique milled coins, early in the nineteenth century. The exact date on which the oblique or earliest milling was introduced has not been recorded, but it was followed in 1818 by the indented-cord variety. All the Arcot coins minted at Madras bear the lotus flower mint-mark, while the set issued from 1823 to 1825 at the Calcutta mint carries a cinquefoil; the larger coins of this issue are provided with straight milling, but in the two- and one-anna pieces it is oblique. Attention may be directed to two of the coins of the Arcot series (Nos. 13 and 17), in which there is an error in the date. It will be seen that while the old Arcot rupee weighed 177 grains, the oblique milled rupee was as much as ten grains in excess of this, and finally in the coins struck from 1818 onwards the weight was reduced to 180 grains. The coin numbered 21 is of quarter-rupee size, but weighs only $28\frac{1}{2}$ grains and is perhaps a proof; the rupee No. 11 and half-rupee No. 19 possibly belong to the same category and were in all probability not issued for use.

The silver coins which circulated on the Malabar Coast were struck at Bombay, and like the Mahé fanam already referred to, were equivalent in value to one-fifth of a rupee. They comprise two varieties which were issued in 1799 and 1805 respectively, for Tellicherry, and a third older type, without direct evidence of locality, which is usually attributed to Cannanore, though it probably had a wider circulation. This last coin appears to have been first issued during the reign of Muḥammad Shāh, and a specimen bearing the date 1181 A.H. (A.D. 1719) and the mint-name منبى (Munbai = Bombay) is known (vide S. Lane-Poole, Coins of the Moghul Emperors of Hindustan in the Brit. Mus., Pl. XXXI, No. 68).¹

The small series of Native State coins presents few features of interest; those of Travancore are all modern, while those of Cochin have already been described by Sir Walter Elliot. Of the latter State there are two varieties of double- and single-puttuns, viz. an earlier type coined from about 1790 onwards, with the curious arrangement of lines and dots met with on the well-known 'vīrarāya' gold fanams which has been variously interpreted as representing a cannon and shot, a plough, or the signs of the zodiac, and a later type coined in 1856-8, with the figure of Śiva. The two Pudukkottai coins, which represent the complete coinage of this State, consist of an earlier variety minted locally, and a later one coined in England since about 1890, each being equal in value to one-twentieth of an anna. Although the language of the State is Tamil, the coins bear a Telugu inscription, copied from some of the small Nayaka coins which previously had an extensive circulation in the neighbouring parts of Southern India.

The Āli Rājas 'or lords of the deep',² so called from their sovereignty over the Laccadive Islands, were Muḥammadan chiefs of some importance at Cannanore on whom the above title³ is said to have been conferred in the middle of the sixteenth century. Their silver coins, which frequently bear blundered dates, were, according to Marsden, issued at any rate as early as 1731 and as late as 1788; like the earlier East India Company and French Mahé issues, with which they no doubt competed, their value was one-fifth of a rupee.

² The word Āli is probably derived from the Malayālam āzhi, the sea.

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

THE coins described in this Section of the Catalogue are those struck at the mints of the various Native States in the Bombay Presidency and Western India generally, Rajputana and Central India. The series is far from being complete but is fairly representative, although some of the smaller States are still unrepresented in the collection.

These coins have been much neglected in the past, when information could have been more easily gathered; numismatists therefore owe a big debt of gratitude to James T. Prinsep for his essay entitled 'Useful Tables' published in 1834 by the Asiatic Society of Bengal. Since Prinsep's day, the neglect by other writers on Indian coins of this series has lost much information which can probably never be regained.

The decline of the Mughal Empire and the corresponding rise first of the Marāthās, and then of British power, marks the beginning of the period when the Native States began to issue their own coins; although some of the Hindu States may claim a greater antiquity, a century and a half practically covers the period of issue of the coins in this volume.

The right of striking coins had been jealously guarded by the Mughal rulers, but as their power declined the States that arose gradually assumed the right of striking their own currency. For economic perhaps as much as political reasons, these coins were at first issued in the prevailing Imperial type, usually that of Shāh 'Ālam, with the addition of a characteristic ornament or letter. This fact constitutes one of the most serious of the difficulties in allocating these coins; for it is not till nearly the end of the Mughal empire that the Emperor's name disappears from the coins of States which had long ceased to owe any allegiance to him. The types were frequently continued long after the death of the Mughal Emperor, and we have frequently impossible combinations of regnal and Hijra dates.

Less difficulty is experienced in attributing those currencies, chiefly of a later date, which bear the name and titles of the local rulers, &c., sometimes in several languages. Some inscriptions are bi-lingual, and in one case (Jāora) tri-lingual; the three different eras of Samvat, Hijra, and Anno Domini are sometimes inscribed on the same coin, and the date of each era is written in its own distinctive numerals. In this matter of dates many other anomalies exist; for example, the coins of Karauli State have the date A.D. in Persian numerals, these characters also being used for a date in the Samvat era on a coin of Indore. As the die used was regularly much larger than the flan, it is very usual to find the most necessary part of the legend omitted from a coin, namely the mint name, which is in most cases either at the extreme top or bottom of the die.

A further difficulty arises when the type of coin struck in one State is closely imitated by its neighbour. This occurs, for example, in the Bundi-Kotah series. The imitation of an older coin with the addition of a word or two is not unusual.

In Kutch and Kāthiāwār the coins of the later Sultāns of Gujarāt were adopted, Kutch using the type of Maḥmūd Shāh, while Nawānagar and Porbandar took for their currency that of Muẓaffār Shāh III, a Nāgarī inscription in the exergue indicating the actual issuer of the coin.

The ornaments in the field of a coin are sometimes an aid to its identification. Although many of the coins are identifiable from these, too great a reliance must not be put upon them. The mark or ornament most frequently met with is the trident or trisul of Śiva, but flags, sceptres, and swords are in great favour. The imperial umbrella or canopy is found on many, and was significant of the close affinity of the State using it to the paramount power, formerly Mughal, but latterly British. Other insignia of royalty found on the coins form a distinguishing feature, and in many cases denote a particular ruler, each ruler having his own special symbol. The coins of Bikānir State are a good instance of this, the later issues having some five or six symbols, each one being typical of a different ruler.

The growth of British influence among the Native States is generally traceable on their coins. As far back as 1849 Rēwa State struck coins with the name of the British Agent in charge there to show its loyalty. Bhartpur in 1858 issued coins with the head of Queen Victoria and her name and titles in Persian around; whilst in 1865 Bundi began a series, issued for several years, on which the words 'Queen Victoria' were inscribed and the Christian date given. During the next decade the paramount Power was recognized on the coins of many States. The inscriptions, both Persian and Nāgarī, acknowledged Her Majesty Victoria as Queen of India, later as Ḳaisar-i-Hind (Empress of India). This practice continued in the reign of Edward VII.

There are about one hundred Native States throughout India,¹ and nearly all of them claimed the right of striking their own money after their adhesion to Britain. This right was conceded to those who could vindicate their claim, but the numberless currencies in circulation caused much inconvenience. For a long time a uniform currency was demanded by traders. The Indian Government, therefore, in 1876, passed an Act in which they offered to strike, free of charge, coins for the Native States where the metal was sent for that purpose by the States to the Government mints. These coins were to be of a weight and fineness uniform with the British Indian currency, and were to be considered as legal tender anywhere in India. At this period thirty-four States still retained the privilege of coining, but Alwar and Bikanir alone accepted the conditions of the Act before its expiry, in 1893. The closing of the Government mints to free coinage, however, caused such a depreciation in the value of the Native States rupees that the Government were induced to agree to purchase at their market value the rupees of all those States who suffered thereby, on condition that they surrendered the right of coinage.

Most of them took advantage of the offer, and in answer to an inquiry of mine to the Government of India in 1913 concerning this matter, it was stated that the following States were the only ones remaining at that date which still possessed the privilege of coining their own money:

Haidarābād, Udaipur, Jaipur, Tonk, Orchhā, and Travancore in silver and copper; Kutch, Jaisalmir and Kishangarh in silver only - while Gwalior, Ratlām, and the Baroda Prant struck copper coins only.

The rupee is the currency unit throughout the whole of the Native States in this section with the exception of Kutch and Kāthiāwār.

The following is the usual table:

3 pāi	equal	1 paisa.
12 paisa	"	1 anna.
16 annas	"	1 rupee.
16 rupees	"	1 muhr.

Pāis and paisa and annas (generally) are of copper, rupees are of silver, and muhrs of gold. In Kutch and Kāthiāwār, the silver kōri is in use with its subdivision of 16 copper dhinglās.

A handbook dealing fully with the subject of the coins struck and used in the Native States and written by a competent authority is greatly needed. Much good work has however been done by the writers of the undermentioned works, which, although they do not cover the whole ground, have proved of valuable assistance in the preparation of this Catalogue, and as I have made full use of them I am anxious to acknowledge my indebtedness to their authors.

Prinsep and in Dr. Codrington's possession. To Mr. John Allan, Deputy-Keeper of Coins, British Museum, and Honorary Secretary of the Royal Numismatic Society, for assistance in many ways. To Mr. H. Nelson Wright, I. C. S., the author of the preceding Volumes II and III of this Catalogue, for help in the reading of several coins with Mughal legends, &c.; and finally to Dr. F. W. Thomas, Librarian, India Office Library, for the trouble taken by him to elucidate the readings of the Marāthā inscriptions on the Nasr coins of Indore.

The rulers of this Marāthā State are distinguished by the title of Gaikwāra: Dāmājī, the founder of the line, being the son of a gaikwār or cowherd. He so distinguished himself at the battle of Bālāpur in Berar, in 1721, between the forces of the Mughal emperor Muḥammad Shāh and those of the Nizām-al-mulk, deposed Viceroy of the Dekkan, that the Commander-in-Chief of the Marāthā army assisting the Nizām-al-mulk appointed him his second in command and gave him the title of 'Shamsher Bahādur' (distinguished swordsman).

About two years after this event Dāmājī died, his nephew Pilāji Rāo Gaikwār succeeding him in his lieutenancy to Trimbak Rāo the Senāpati. Their marauding expeditions in the neighbourhood of Gujarāt and collection of tolls on their own account met with the strong disapproval of the Peshwā, Bājī Rāo, the nominal ruler of the Marāthās, and in a battle fought near Baroda in 1731, the marauders and several other Marāthā chiefs who supported them were defeated and Trimbak Rāo killed. After the submission of the rebels an arrangement was made regarding the revenue accruing from the conquered territory, the infant son of Trimbak Rāo was made Senāpati, and Pilāji constituted Mutālīq, or agent for the infant with the additional title of 'Sena Khās Khel' (leader of the Sovereign band). The new authority was given the entire management of affairs in Gujarāt, but had to contribute half of the revenues to the Peshwā. Thus was laid the foundation of the present State. Baroda the capital came into their hands in 1732, the same year seeing the assassination of Pilāji and the accession of his son Dāmājī Rāo Gaikwār (II).

The coins of Baroda contained in the Indian Museum begin with those issued by Ānand Rāo and one appears to be known of earlier date. The type of these coins is of a distinctive character and was continued by his immediate successors.

The legends are in Persian and give the name and titles of the Mughal emperor Muḥammad Akbar II, his regnal year, the Hijrī date and two Nāgarī characters. The first of the characters represents the initial letter of the reigning Gāikwār's name, together with the sign of abbreviation, आ for Ānand, सा for Sayājī, ग for Ganpat, and so on. The meaning of the second letter जा (jā) on Ānand's coins is obscure, but the गा (gā) found on the coins of all the other rulers to Sayājī III is recognized as representing the initial letter Gā of Gāikwār. The scimeter occupies a prominent position on these and all other coins of Baroda.

During the reign of Sayājī II copper coins of several different types were struck in addition to the preceding, but are not represented in this collection. Various symbols appear on them, but all have the सा for Sayājī. These symbols include a sunface, a circle with rays, a large flag, a flag with two streamers, a flower, a scimeter, a large leaf, and one with an elephant. A further type in copper issued by Sayājī II with the legends of Muḥammad Akbar has as its device on the reverse a kind of ball with vertical lines, which Dr. G. P. Taylor in the article¹ on Baroda suggests may represent a shield or perhaps an elephant's footprint. The same type was also issued by his successors, Ganpat Rāo and Khande Rāo.

After the suppression of the Indian Mutiny the Mughal emperor's name was removed from the coins and replaced by the family title of the Gāikwārs, 'Senā Khās Khel, Shamsher Bahādur.' This change was made by Khande Rāo. Persian was at first still retained, but later the same ruler issued rupees of a European type with his name, titles, and motto in Marāṭhī on one side, and his name, mint, and date in Persian on the other.

All the coins of Baroda from this time onward bear the hereditary title, those of Mallār Rāo and the early ones of Sayājī Rāo being in Persian. The later coins of this ruler have a portrait bust of the Gāikwār on the rupee and its fractions, while the copper coins have a horse's hoof and scimeter as reverse type. The legends on both series are entirely in Marāṭhī with a Samvat date.

No gold coins have been struck at this mint except those used as Nazr or presentation pieces.

British Indian currency was introduced into Baroda State in 1901.²

Vakhatsinghji	1772-1816	Æ 2	Total 2

The coins of this State are very uncommon and, so far as known, of copper only. The Shāh Jahān mentioned on them is probably the usurper to the Mughal throne of Dehli, Shāh Jahān III, whose adherents proclaimed him as emperor after the murder of 'Ālamgīr II in 1759. The word Bāhādura in Nāgarī seems out of place on the coin, and with the G. 1 below awaits an explanation. The mint was closed in 1840 by order of the British Government.¹

The following statement under the heading of 'Bhownugger' is found in Hamilton's East India Gazetteer, 1828: 'One curious and not very creditable manufacture has long been established here, which is a mint for the fabrication of base money. where every sort of rupee current on the west side of India is so well counterfeited that even native bankers have been deceived. In 1812 the Rāja was not only suspected of conniving at the practice, but also for sharing in the profits'.

CAMBAY

Capital, Cambay (22° 18' 30" N., 72° 40' E.).

This State is in the province of Gujarāt, and its chief city Cambay or Khānbāyat is at the head of the Gulf of Cambay. Its rulers are Muhammadans of the Shīa' sect and bear the title of Nawāb.

Ja'afar 'Alī Khānjī	1841-1881	Æ 2 Total 2

Coins were struck at this mint by the Mughal Emperors from Shāh Jahān to 'Ālam II inclusive. On these it is always written Khānbāyat.

The founder of the present dynasty was Mirza Ja'afar Khān, a former Governor of Gujarāt, but no coins are known earlier than the silver piece of Ja'afar 'Alī described below.

In the cabinet of Mr. A. Master, I.C.S., are some paisa struck at Cambay, of which he has kindly sent me a description. Several have the words 'Sri sal' or 'sava' in the Gujarātī character struck incuse with blank reverse, others have the same obverse and شاه on reverse, while another with the same reverse has on its obverse the legend, 'Sri Khānbhat bandar san 1948 nī sal' (blessed port of Cambay, year of sambat, 1948 = A. D. 1891) in Gujarātī. All of these are thick, dumpy pieces of irregular form, but a further variety is of the modern circular thin type reading on obverse راست کہنبايت and 'Paissa san 1963' in Gujarātī on the reverse.

COINS OF GAMBAY

CHHOTA UDAIPŪR

Principal town, Chhota Udaipūr (22° 20' N., 74° 1' E.).

This State was founded in 1484 by some Chauhān Rājputs, who on their expulsion from their ancient territories at Ājmir in 1244, took possession of Chāmpāner, from which they were driven out later by Maḥmūd Bigār, finally settling in their present position.

Prithirajji, the founder, was succeeded by several chiefs whose names are unknown, followed in the eighteenth century by Bājirāwal, Dārjan, Amar, Abhāya, and Rāya, all of indefinite reign.

These rulers bear the title of Mahārāwal.

The only coin in this collection is a two-paisa copper piece, with legends in the Gujarāṭi character. The 'one' paisa is known, as are also some of earlier type and larger in size. There are several in the British Museum cabinet, and in Lord Grantley's collection was one weighing 224 grains. All are recognized as belonging to this State, but the Gujarāṭi legends they bear form such a confusing jumble that it is difficult either to read or describe them.

JANJIRA

Capital, Janjira (18° 18' N., 73° E.).

The rulers of this State bear the title of Nawāb. They possessed themselves of the island of Janjira and the fort of Dandā Rājpur about A. D. 1489, subsequently coming under the rule of the Kings of Bijapur. Janjira was the only State in the West unconquered by the Marathas.

Junāgādh or Junāgarh is a first-class State in Kāthiāwār, and is now ruled by the descendants of Sher Khān Bābī, a soldier of fortune, by whom it was seized about 1735. The title of the ruler is Nawāb.

Like many cities of the Native States, Junāgarh was a mint under the Mughāl Emperors, coins being struck here from the reign of Shāh Jahān to Muḥammad Shāh. The coins of the present dynasty began, it is believed, in 1829, and we are told by Dr. O. Codrington in his article on 'The Coinages of Kutch and Kāthiāwār' that the then Dīwān designed the first coin, which had on the obverse श्री हाटकेवराय नमः, and on the reverse श्री रघुनाथाय नमः, but as these legends were salutations to Hindu gods the Muhammadan Nawāb forbade its circulation. This coin is not represented in this collection. The Dīwān then issued the coin called the 'Dīwān Sāi Kori', which, with little alteration, was continued until 1875. Dr. Codrington points out that the बा (Bā) stands for the initial letters of the Bābī family and गढ़ (gaḍ) represents Junāgaḍ, the name of the place. The same type was issued in copper, but the copper coins in the Museum are of a later date and different type, and are bilingual. The allusion on them to सोरठ सरकार (Sōraṭha sarkāra) is doubtless a reminder that Junāgarh, with the other chiefships, Porbandar and Jetpūr, is in the Sōraṭh division of Kāthiāwār.

KOLHĀPUR

Capital, Kolhāpur (16° 42' N., 17° 16' E.).

The present Rājā of this State traces his descent from the great Sivaji, founder of the Kingdom of Sātara and of Marāthā power in India. Kolhāpur formerly formed part of the kingdom, but broke away from the parent State in 1731 and was recognized as independent.

On the death of Sivaji's grandson in 1760 the direct line became extinct. One of the Bhonsla family was adopted as heir and bore the name of Sivaji.

The period in which the Panhāla rupee or 'Hukari' was first struck cannot be stated with certainty, but the legends upon it show that it was issued not earlier than the reign of the Emperor Shāh 'Ālam, 1759-1806.

Minor varieties may be distinguished.

Prinsep in his 'Useful Tables' gives two mints, Panhāla and Marech (Mirāj, Sātāra States). In his manuscript book of impressions of casts from the coins¹ he illustrates a third one, Marauli.

The Hon. Justice Ranade, in a paper read to the Bombay Asiatic Society, says: 'This mint (Panhāla) was subsequently removed to Kolhāpur, when the Rājās made it their capital, and this Kolhāpur mint continued in working order till about 1850. The Panhāla and the other rupees continued in circulation till 1860, when all the local currencies were withdrawn and sent to the Bank of Bombay to be coined into Queen's rupees.'² According to the Imperial Gazetteer, xv, p. 386, the Kolhāpur mint was abolished in 1839.

KUTCH

Capital, Bhūj (23° 15' N., 69° 48' 30" E.).

Kutch, Cutch (or Kachchh, the sea-coast land) is a Native State in Gujarāt province, of which Bhūj is the capital. Its rulers are known as Rāos and are a branch of the Jarejā Rājput. They are said to have come from Sind in the fifteenth century, and at first were divided into three branches, but in 1540 Khengārjī succeeded in making himself sole master.

Kutch, Porbandar, and Nawānagar, as previously mentioned, have a currency system peculiarly their own. The unit is the silver kori and bears no historical relation to the rupee, which is equal to about 2½ koris. Coins of lesser value are the half-kori in silver and the dhingla, dokda, and trambiya in copper. Two of the last equal one dokda, and three one dhingla, while twenty-four dokdas go to the kori. Gold koris have also been struck. The early coins of this State were copied from those of Mahmūd Shāh II of Gujarāt, of which Kutch formed part. Bhārmalji II seems to have adopted those of Ahmad Shāh II as his model, but Desalji II broke away entirely from the Gujarāt type and fell into line with most of the States in acknowledging Muḥammad Akbar on his coins as supreme ruler. The Mughal Emperor's name appeared on the coins until the Mutiny, but Prāgmālji II shortly after issued a very handsome coinage bearing the name and titles of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, copied later by his successor, Khengārji III, until 1877, when the change of title from ملك معظمه to that of قيصر هند was shown on the coins.

NAWĀNAGAR

Capital, Nawānagar (22° 26' 30" N., 70° 16' 30" E.).

This State is in the north-west of the Kāthiāwār peninsula, and was founded by one Jām Raval in 1540. Its rulers are called Jāms and are Jadeja Rājputs.

The coins of this State, until some twenty years ago, were all of one type, and that a borrowed one. The design was taken from a Gujarāt coin of Muzaḥfar Shāh III, reading مظفر شاه السلطان (cf. I. M. Cat., vol. ii, Pl. X. 109). Below this was added in Nāgarī श्री जामजी on the reverse. This type was copied and re-copied until little remained of the original design except the vertical strokes. Coins of this type were struck at various times in gold, silver, and copper. About the middle of Vibhāji's reign a change was made. The obverse has the ruler's name, &c., &c., श्री जाम विभाजी and the reverse the denomination कोरी १, and mint नवानगर above and Samvat १९३६ below. Another issue later appeared with a partial reversion to the earlier type, مظفر شاه given, accompanied with जामजी, the reverse showing still more of the early legends, only सं १९४६ appearing in Nāgarī below the Persian inscription to mark the change from the conventional type. A fine series of copper coins were issued during the same ruler's reign.

RĀDHANPUR

Capital, Rāadhanpur (23° 49' 30" N., 71° 38' 40" E.).

This State is in the Palanpur division and, like Junāgarh, is ruled by a descendant of the celebrated Bābī family. The head of the family was Bahādur Khān, a Persian by race, one of whose descendants, Ja'afar Khān, received a grant of Rāadhanpur and other districts from the Emperor Aurangzeb in 1723. This prince's grandson, Jawān Marda Khān, was appointed Governor of Gujarāt, with the title of Nawāb by Muḥammad Shāh, the reigning Emperor.

The obverse gives the name or title of Victoria, the reverse those of the reigning rāja. Copper paisa are known of both Zorāwar and Bismilla. They are thick and mis-shapen with uniface impressions of गो and जी. There is also a quarter-anna of similar type to No. 261, but dated 1780.

MARĀTHĀ STATES

SĀTĀRA

Capital, Sātāra (17° 41' 25" N., 74° 2' 10" E.).

Sātāra, which is now entirely in British hands, was formerly the centre of Marāthā power, the great Sivāji being its founder.¹ At his death in 1680 practically the whole of the Konkan from Gandāvi in the north to Ponda in the south was under his rule, as well as several provinces in the interior. The decay of the Mughal Empire from 1700 to 1750 marks the period during which the Marāthās gradually rose to supremacy. About the same period the rule of the Sātāra rājās over the Marāthās declined and gave way before the Peshwās, or 'Mayors of the Palace', Balaji, the first Peshwā usurping power at the expense of his master.

The rule of the Peshwā was, however, not supreme, for as the Marāthā power grew other Hindu leaders joined, and thus formed a great Marāthā confederation which in 1795 had reached its zenith, and assumed such large proportions that it dominated all Central India. The leaders of this confederation were the ancestors of most of the Marāthā rulers of to-day, comprising the Holkar of Indore, the Sindhia of Gwālior, the Gāekwār of Baroda, the Puār family of Dewās and Dhār, and the Bhonslas of Nagpūr. Although the power of the confederacy was broken by the Afghān invader, Ahmad Shāh, at Panipat, in 1761, it was not until their defeat by the British in 1818 that the confederacy was dissolved. In 1822 the Sātara territory was handed to the titular Rājā by the British, but in consequence of his intrigues he was deposed in 1839. His brother was then placed on the throne, but dying in 1848 without a male heir the control of the State was resumed by the British.

In his article on the 'Currencies and Mints under Marāthā rule'¹ Mr. Justice Ranade asserts that gold, silver, and copper coins were struck by Sivāji at Rāigad, where his mint was set up: no satisfactory attribution of coins to Sivāji has yet been made. The copper coins of the State are called Shivārāyi paisa on account of the inscription they bear, and were current for a century or more. The name 'Shīva' on them is variously written शिव, श्रीव, सिव, सीव, and the termination 'pati' of 'Chatrapati' छात्रपति is often found bungled. Mr. Ranade continues, 'As regards the silver rupee coined at Rāigad, it is impossible to say what inscription it bore, as no specimens of Sivāji's rupee are now available. The likelihood is that it had Persian inscriptions, because all the later coins issued under the authority of the Peshwā's and the great Marāthā chiefs bore such inscriptions'. Shāhu set up a mint at Sātāra from which gold, silver, and copper coins were issued, but after his death (1749) it was transferred to Poona by the Peshwās. A mint was also opened at Bagalkot (Bijapūr district) in about 1753 and the Mulharshāhi rupee struck there. In the reign of the last Peshwā, Bajī Rāo, the Chandorī rupee took the place of the Mulharshāhi and was coined both at Poona and Sātāra, the Poona mint being finally closed in 1835 and the Bagalkot and Sī Sikkā rupees of Kolaba withdrawn from circulation.² None of these coins has been identified so far except perhaps the last, which seems to agree in description with Prinsep's (q. v.) Wabjaum issues.

Many small mints were in existence in the Southern Marāthā territory, but were all closed in 1765 and a central one opened at Dhārwar. The coins struck at Kolaba, Sangli, Mirāj, and Panhāla have been mentioned under the headings of Janjira and Kolhāpur, while those here catalogued belong more particularly to the Kingdom of Sātāra.

Wai (17° 56' 50" N., 73° 56' E.).

This is the chief town of Wai, sub-division of Sātāra district, Bombay Presidency. Mr. Ranade says that 'The Ankushi rupee, so-called on account of the ankush or elephant goad which it bore on the inscription, was issued by the Rastes from their mint at Vāi (Wai).¹ Prinsep says the 'Ankosi' or 'Chinsoory' rupee was struck at Poona.² There is little doubt that this coin had a very large circulation in Sātāra and Kolhāpur, and small variations in type suggest its being imitated by various neighbouring mints.

POONA

Poona ($18^{\circ} 30' 41''$ N., $73^{\circ} 55' 21''$ E.).

Chief town of Poona District, Bombay Presidency. The Marāthā coins of the mint are common, but show little variety. Copper paisa known as the 'Spectacles pice' from their containing a mint-mark like a pair of spectacles or scissors in their inscription, are mentioned by Prinsep, and the piece in this Catalogue, besides having the same mark has been read as ضرب پونہ, i. e. struck at Poona, but the date, 1244 A.H. (A.D. 1828), raises a difficulty, as on the deposition of the Peshwā Bājī Rāo, in 1818, the city became British.

The rupee catalogued here was identified by Prinsep as of Nagpur mintage in his 'Useful Tables', and illustrated on Pl. II, No. 10, but a similar piece, which shows the mint plainly, gave Mr. Nelson Wright the opportunity of finally locating it. It is to be found in vol. III. of this Catalogue, Pl. XVII, No. 2080. He suggests that it may have been struck at Bombay by the East India Company. As, however, the Marāthās were in power at this period¹ up to the very walls of Surāt, it is more than probable that these coins were struck by them as the mint-mark suggests.

AJMĪR

Ajmīr was a regular mint of the Mughal emperors down to the reign of Shah 'Ālam II. Coins 1-2 (Pl. XVII. 2) are struck in the name of the latter, presumably the latest issue for the Rathors of Jodhpur. No. 3 (Pl. XVII. 1) is the Śrīshāhi of Ajmīr, said by Prinsep to have been 'introduced by Tantia'.¹ While the jhār (𑂔𑂱𑂰) suggests Jaipur or at least Rathor influence, the date 1203:31, the year of the Marāthā conquest, and the Śrī suggest it was issued by the Marāthās immediately after their conquest of Ajmīr, and its comparative commonness suggests that the type was continued by them unchanged till Ajmīr passed to the British in 1818.

ALWAR

Capital, Alwar (27° 34' 4" N., 76° 38' 28" E.).

This State was founded in 1772 by Pratāp Singh, a Narūka Rājput, who at first possessed but two and a half villages, but during the contentions between the Jāts, Mughals, and Marāthās, about that period, managed to possess himself of the greater part of the territory which forms the southern part of the present State.¹ In the Marāthā war of 1803–1806 Bakhtāwar Singh took the side of the British, who rewarded him with the northern part, and took the State under their protection. On the occasion of Queen Victoria's Jubilee the ruler was granted the title of Mahārāja.²

The mint was at Rājgarh and the coins of Alwar were struck there from its opening in 1772 until 1877, when Alwar accepted the Government's offer to coin the State's money at Calcutta. The Rājgarh mint was closed except for a formal issue once a year, not for circulation, and the new coinage thenceforward struck at Calcutta.³

The coins of Sheodān Singh bear the inscriptions—obverse 'Auspicious coin of Her Majesty the Queen, England the seat of Empire, in the Christian year 1867'; reverse 'Struck at Rājgarh in the -th year of the reign of the great King Mahārāo-Rāj Sheodān Singh'.

Similar inscriptions are used on the succeeding ruler's coins.

Copper coins are known of Pratāp Singh and Bakhtāwar with the name of Shāh 'Ālam, while Bāni Singh's coins bear the name of Muḥammad Bahādur.⁴

BĀNSWĀRA

Capital, Bānswāra (23° 30' N., 74° 24' E.).

The chiefs of Bānswāra belong to the Sesodia Rājputs of Dūngarpur. of which they are the junior branch, becoming detached from the latter State on the death of Udaya Singh in 1528. Bānswāra became partly subject to the Marāthās towards the close of the eighteenth century and paid tribute to the Chief of Dhār. A treaty was concluded with the British Government in 1818. The rulers have the title of Mahārāwal.¹

Lakshman struck coins in 1870 which are known by the name of Lakshman shāhi. The rupee and its divisions are illustrated by Webb² but are not represented in this collection. The inscriptions on both silver and copper have so far baffled interpretation. Webb³ states that 'in former days the Salim Shāhi rupee (see Partābgarh) was coined at Bānswāra; it certainly was the rupee of the State, and still has a large circulation in the Mahārāwal's territory'.

BHARTPUR

Capital, Bhartpur (27° 13' 5" N., 77° 32' 20" E.).

Out of the anarchy following the death of the Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb in 1707 small kingdoms arose, among them being the State of Bhartpur, which was founded by Churāman, a Jāt, but he was dispossessed by his brother Badan Singh, who was then proclaimed leader of the Jāts at Dīg, with the title of Thākūr.¹ About 1760 Sūraj Mal extended it further, the process being continued by his fourth son, Ranjit Singh, who for services rendered to General Perron was rewarded with more territory, and thus formed the present State.

According to Webb² the State in early days had two mints, viz., Dīg and Bhartpur, and he gives 1763 as the date at which both mints commenced to strike coins. Neither of these names appear on the coins however till quite recent times. Instead we have Maha Indrapur and Braj Indrapur. The earliest coins in this catalogue are of copper, but in vol. III Mr. H. Nelson Wright describes a rupee dated 1174 (A.D. 1760) with the usual Mughal legends and in the name of Shāh Jahān III. Those that follow in both vol. III and this volume are of similar type, but in Shāh 'Ālam's name, and in the three metals, gold, silver, and copper, while both mints appear until we come to the coins of Jaswant Singh. These are of an entirely different type. On the obverse is the portrait of Queen Victoria, with a Persian legend around: obverse 'In the year 1858 of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, lawful sovereign of England'. On the reverse is its continuation, 'Struck at Bhartpur, 1910 (samvat) by Jaswant Singh Bahādur, Invincible in War, Braj Indrapur'.

Webb² states that the Dīg mint closed in 1878 and Bhartpur in 1883.

BĪKANĪR

Capital, Bikanīr (28° 0' N., 73° 22' E.).

The rulers of Bikanīr are of the Rahtor clan of Rājputs, and, with those of Jodhpur, have a common parentage in Jodha, the founder of the latter State, both claiming direct descent from Rāma.

The mint at Bikanīr appears to have been opened about 1760, for although a sanad is said to have been granted to Gaj Singh by the Emperor 'Ālamgir II between the years 1754 and 1759, giving him permission to coin money,¹ the only name mentioned on the coins down to 1859 is that of the Emperor Shāh 'Ālam, whose reign commenced in 1759. Gold coins have never been minted here, but from the time of Gaj Singh onward its rulers have struck both silver and copper. Besides the ordinary rupee of each ruler there has always been issued a 'nazr' or presentation coin.¹ The successive mint-marks are given by Webb,² as follows:

Gaj Singh, a patākā (or flag)	𐀓
Sūrat Singh, a trident	𐀔
Ratan Singh, a kīrnia (turban star)	𐀕
Sardār Singh, a chhātā (umbrella)	𐀖
Dūngar Singh, a chaurī (fly whisk)	𐀗
Ganga Singh, a morchhal (peacock-feather fly whisk)	𐀘

In the year 1859 Sardār Singh introduced coins of a new type, and on them acknowledged Britain's supremacy in India in place of the Mughal rule recently swept away at the close of the Indian Mutiny. On these pieces Victoria is styled 'Ornament of the thrones of India and England', with the date A.D. 1859, and Samvat, 1916, the type being continued by Dūngar Singh and Ganga Singh, and with the same date, the different rulers' coins being, as before, only identifiable in having an additional symbol for each succeeding prince.

In 1893 Bikanīr accepted the offer of the Government of India to strike coins, and in No. 34 (Pl. XIV. 8) is shown the new type, having a bust of the Empress on the obverse with the name of Mahārāja Ganga Singh in Nāgarī and Persian on the reverse. Copper coins of the value of one quarter anna and half-pice were also struck at Calcutta in 1895 of similar size and weight to the Imperial issues.

BÜNDI

Capital, Būndi (25° 27' N., 75° 40' 37" E.).

The Chiefs of Būndi, whose title is that of Mahārāo Rājā are of the Hārā sept of the great clan of Chauhān Rājputs, and the country occupied by them for many centuries is called Harāotī.

In the early part of the seventeenth century Harāotī was divided into the two kingdoms of Būndi and Kotah (q. v.).

No coins are known of either Būndi or Kotah until the reign of Shāh 'Ālam (1759–1806). The coins in names of 'Ālam II and Akbar II attributed to Būndi and to Kotah by Prinsep and Webb seem to be identical. Rām Singh was the first ruler to strike coins distinctively for Būndi, and on them Her Majesty Victoria is acknowledged as Queen. 'Victoria Queen' on the obverse, and 'Rām Singh, Lord of Būndi, worshipper of Rāṅgeśa' in Nāgari occupies the reverse. Similar coins were issued in name of Edward, Emperor.

DHOLPUR

Capital, Dholpur (26° 42' N., 77° 56' E.).

The reigning family of Dholpur are Jāts of the Bamrāolia family, of the Deswāl tribe.

Dholpur has had a chequered history, for it resisted Babur, Aurangzeb's sons fought for mastery within its territory, and during the forty-five years succeeding 1761 changed its master five times. In 1775 it was seized by Mirzā Najaf Khān, and then fell into the hands of Sindhia. In 1806 the English united Dholpur, Bāri, Rājākhera, and Sir Muttra's territories into one State, and made it over to Mahārānā Kirat Singh in exchange for his territory of Gōhad, which was given up to Sindhia, to whose family it still belongs.

The Dholpur mint was opened in 1804 and the coins struck there are known as 'tamanchā' on account of the tamanchā or 'pistol' shown on them, which is also the mark of the State.¹ Silver coins only have been struck at this mint, which ceased its operations in 1857.²

JAIPUR

Capital, Jaipur (Jeypore) (26° 55' N., 75° 52' E.).

The Mahārāja of Jaipur is the chief of the Kachwāha Rājputs and claims descent from Rāma. The name of the State 'Jaipur' is usually preceded by the word 'Sawāi' (one and a quarter), the title given by Muḥammad Shāh to Jai Singh II, which signified that the latter was superior in knowledge and authority to his fellows. This prince, who ascended the throne in 1699, was remarkable for his scientific skill in mathematics and astronomy, and caused several observatories to be built. He also removed his capital from Amber, the ancient seat of the kingdom, to a new site, and in 1728 laid the foundations of the present city of Jaipur, which is considered to be the finest of modern Hindu cities.

It has been said that the Jaipur mint was opened by Jai Singh II, but Webb¹ was unable to believe this, and the earliest known coins are those of Isvari Singh, which were struck in the name of the Emperor Muḥammed Shāh (1719-1748). These have been recorded by Mr. Nelson Wright in vol. III of this Catalogue and are of usual Mughal type. Similar coins in all three metals have been struck by the successors of Isvari in the name of the Emperor contemporary with those of the rulers of Jaipur until the middle of the reign of Rām Singh, when Queen Victoria's name was substituted for that of the Emperor Bahādur and the supremacy of Britain acknowledged. On the obverse of the coin (No. 22) is the Persian inscription which Webb translates into English, 'Struck at Sawāi Jaipur in the year 1868, by permission of the Great Queen of the Empire of Inglistan, Victoria', the reverse side continuing, 'In the 31st year of the fortunate reign of Mahārāo-rāj Rām Singh' (p. 75, No. 3). Coins of this type were struck in the three metals as before, the same design being used on the rupees of his successor Mādhō Singh II. Webb says 'In addition to the Jaipur-town mint, mints have, during this century (the nineteenth) been worked at Mādhupūr, Jikur, Būpas, Surujghar, and Charanā in Khetri. The two latter were closed in 1869, the others at an earlier but now unknown date'. The characteristic mint-mark of the State is a 'jhār' or spray of six branches .

SAWĀI MADHUPUR MINT (?)

Akbar II 5 R.

The coins of the type PL. XVIII. 2 are attributed by Prinsep (p. 67) and Webb (Pl. VIII. 3) to Kotah, but they bear a strong resemblance to the coins of Jaipur, and have the lotus-bud  on the obverse also found on definite Jaipur coins as is the jhār (). The coins usually read سواى only if the die ever really bore more. It may be suggested that they are of Sawāi Madhupur, which is known to have been a Jaipur mint.

The earliest coins of Jaisalmir are those known by the name of 'Akhai Shāhi', so-called on account of their having been struck originally by Akhai Singh. They are of the usual Mughal type, and there is little to distinguish them from the coins of Muḥammad Shāh of Dehli mint, from which they were copied with the exception of the marks in the exergue on the reverse. The striking of these coins was prohibited by the Dehli court, but they were issued in defiance of the prohibition and enjoyed a large circulation throughout Sind, Bahāwalpūr, and the Jaisalmir district, their issue being continued by Mūlraj and his successors until 1860, when coins were struck in Queen Victoria's name with inscriptions, obverse, 'Auspicious coins of Victoria, lawful Queen of England, Her Majesty, exalted in rank', with the reverse continuing, 'Struck in the House of Government, Jaisalmer, in the 22nd year of her auspicious reign'.¹ Copper coins called 'Dodia' are known to have been struck here. They are marked with a design which is very similar in appearance to that on the dhingla paisa of Mewār. Forty of them equal one anna. It is said that they were issued in 1660 and again in 1836.²

JHĀLAWĀR

Capital, Jhālra Patan (24° 32' N., 76° 12' E.).

The ruling family of Jhālrawār belong to the Jhāla clan of Rājputa, and the title of their chieftain is that of Mahārāja Rāna.

This State, originally a part of Kotah, came into existence in 1837 and was founded in memory of the services rendered to Kotah by Zālim Singh, the famous Regent and administrator for over forty-five years. The grandson of Zālim Singh was placed upon the throne thus created with the title of Rāj Rana.

The State began to strike coins at a very early stage of its existence, probably the first year, the coins struck being known later as 'Madan Shāhi'. They resemble the coins of Kotah of that period except that they bear the mint-name Jhālāwār. The copper paisa are square.

In 1858 the new Madan Shāhi coins were issued in the name of Queen Victoria.

JODHPUR (MĀRWĀR)

Capital, Jodhpur (26° 17' N., 73° 4' E.).

The State of Mār wār is better known by the name of its capital, Jodhpur, which was built by Rāo Jōdhā in 1459 and named after him.

The rulers of this State are entitled Mahārājas and are chiefs of the Rāthor clan of Rājputs, to whom the territory belongs. Like their neighbours at Udaipur they claim direct descent from Rāma.

No coins can be attributed to this State prior to those of Vijaya Singh, although Tod in his Rajasthan says that Ajit coined money in 1720. The mint of Vijaya Singh was opened in 1761 at the capital, and gold, silver, and copper coins were struck there from that time until quite recently. Mints were also opened at Pāli, Nagor, and Sujat, but apparently at a subsequent date,¹ these subsidiary mints striking in silver and copper only.

The coins in the Indian Museum begin with those of Vijaya, which are called 'Bijy shāhi'. They contain the usual legend of Shāh 'Ālam, the Mughal emperor, who was contemporary with Vijaya: 'Auspicious coin of the noble monarch, Shāh 'Ālam', with the reverse 'Struck in the house of victory, Jodhpur, in the year of his fortunate reign'. Coins bearing this inscription but varying their regnal dates were struck through the successive reigns of Bhīm Singh, Mān Singh, and Takhat Singh until 1858, when as usual the Mughal title gave place to that of Queen Victoria. The obverse reads 'During the auspicious reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria of England and India', and the reverse, 'Struck at Jodhpur by Mahārājādhirājā Śrī Takht Singh Bahādur' and in Nāgarī श्री माताजी = 'Śrī Mātāji'. Coins with similar readings were also issued by Jaswant Singh with the alteration of name and Samvat date, the latter taking its place on all coins struck by the Durbar from Samvat 1918 (A.D. 1863). The special marks of the State are the 'Jhār'    (or spray) and 'Khāndā'  (or sword), and their position on the coins is of much assistance in identifying the mint at which they were struck, especially when supplemented with the private mark of the 'Dāroga'. Each mint-master or 'Dāroga' put a special device of his own on the coins struck by him during his term of office, and Captain Webb in his work² gives the following examples of some of the marks used by them together with their names, and the period during which they were mint-masters.

³ These rupees are known as 'Lullulia', and on account of the baseness of the metal composing them are avoided by traders. Webb, p. 45.

The position of the dāroga's mark in relation to the 'jhār' and sword as a means of identifying the mint has also been indicated in the same valuable work:¹

Jodhpur coins have the dāroga's mark adjacent to the jhār, both being on the obverse.

Pāli coins have the dāroga's mark on the obverse whilst the jhār is on the reverse, next to the sword.

Nāgor coins have parts (but sometimes entire) of the jhār and sword above the Nāgori letters on the reverse and no sword below.

Sūjat coins sometimes bear a 'kaṭār' (dagger), the dāroga's mark being near to the jhār on the obverse. Others also have श्री माहादेवजी (Śrī Mahādevajī) on the obverse, with श्री माताजी (Śrī Mātājī) on the reverse.

There are no coins of either Nāgor or Sūjat in the collection here catalogued, but several of Pāli, e.g. No. 18 having ضرب ہالی ماروار = ('Struck at Pāli in Marwar'). In 1858 the name of Queen Victoria was substituted for that of the Mughal emperor at Jodhpur, but the change was not so promptly made at the other mints.²

The mint at Nāgor was closed in 1872, and that at Sūjat in 1888,³ but the Jodhpur and Pāli mints were still active in 1893.

The earliest coins known of this State bear the name of Shāh 'Ālam and according to their regnal year were struck by Mānak Pāl. They bear some resemblance to the coins of Jaipur, but the 'jhār' (𑂔𑂱𑂰) is distinctive. The issues of Harbaksh and Pratāp can only be distinguished from each other by the regnal year of Akbar II, but on the coins of Madan Pāl and his successors the initial letter of the ruler's name in Nāgarī distinguishes the issuer.

In 1859 coins of a new type were issued on which Queen Victoria was recognized as suzerain, the legend on the obverse reading 'of the Empress, lawful Queen of England, year 1859'. The reverse continues 'عرب کرولی سنہ جلوس مہمنت'.

مانوس 'Struck at Karali in the -th year of his fortunate reign'.
The 1859 (۱۸۵۹) is on some dies wrongly written 1852 (۱۸۵۲).

In 1891 Bhanwar Pāl struck coins reading on the obverse 'Her Majesty, the Empress of India, year 1891', with a reverse similar to the previous issue.

It may be mentioned that Karali is written both کرولی and قرولی.

The old Kuchāwan rupee or bopushahi is a copy of the Ajmer rupee of year 31 of Shāh 'Ālam with the mint-mark a sword (س) over the 1 of Shāh on the obverse. It is believed to have been struck in the reign of Surāj Mal¹ and its issue was continued without alteration by his successors until the reign of Kesri Singh. During the latter's reign new coins were struck acknowledging British supremacy upon them, with the Persian inscriptions, obverse 'Her Majesty Queen Victoria of England and India'; reverse 'Struck at Kuchāwan, dependency of Jodhpur, year of Jesus, 1863'.

Webb, p. 51, has an interesting note on the circulation of this rupee which he says is 'current in Kuchāwan territory, in Kishengarh, and dependency of Mārwar'.

The coins of this State were formerly struck at three mints, viz., Kotah-city, Jhālra Patan, and Gāgraun, but in 1870 the Political Agent reported to the Government that there was only one mint in the State, that at Kotah-city.¹

The coins of Kota in the name of the 'Empress of England' bear the same symbols (🕌 🕌) as the earlier coins of Bundi, and they seem to have the same mint, written بندي instead of بوند. The attribution to Kota seems guaranteed by all the authorities however, although the mint-name is certainly not كوله as read by Webb.

Three mints have been worked in Mewār—at Chitor, Udaipur, and Bhilwāra. The early pieces issued are of Shāh 'Ālam's types. The 'Chitorī' rupee can be identified by its having five strokes over the 'h' of 'Badshāh', while the 'Udaipuri' has in addition to the strokes a 'jhār' and a star. The 'Bhilwāri' rupee is a copy of the Shāhjahānābad type of Shāh 'Ālam. The Chitor and Bhilwāra mints have been closed for many years, the latter before 1870, but the Udaipur mint was in operation as recently as 1913. In the early part of the nineteenth century Bhīm Singh issued the coin known as the 'Chandori' rupee, which was struck at the Udaipur mint and current during his reign, and also those of his successors, Jawān Singh and Sardār Singh, but was withdrawn and melted down by Swarūp Singh.¹ For this reason the coin is of some rarity and is not represented here. The currency issued by Swarūp Singh to take the place of those melted was called the New Chandori (No. 534) and was struck at Udaipur also. It is said that the marks on them have no special significance. In 1851 or 1852 the same ruler issued coins of another new type (No. 550), which were struck in gold and silver, the latter in various denominations.

The Nāgarī inscription upon the obverse is 'Chitrakūta Udayapūra' and the design below is supposed to represent mountains. The reverse reads 'Dosti Landhana' (Friend of London).

Although the State seems to have been well supplied with currency in the shape of silver, and gold too for that matter, it does not seem to have considered copper coins to be of much importance. The 'Bhilwāra' paisa was certainly struck in the principality, but it appears to have had a greater circulation in the Bhilwara district than in Mewār proper, while the 'Trisulia' and 'Dhingla' paisa were not struck at the State mints but coined by the 'Sonars' or goldsmiths of Chitor and Umarda (a village near Udaipur) respectively. All three of these types have been continually struck since the days of Shāh 'Ālam and are still in use.

SHĀHPUR (MEWĀR STATE)

Capital, Shāhpur (27° 23' 45" N., 76° 1' E.).

The ruling family of this State belong to the Sesodia Rājput clan. Its chief has the title of Rājādhirāj and is feudatory to both Udaipur and the British Government.

Coins in gold, silver, and copper have been struck at this mint, the first two of them being of the same type as those issued by 'Ālamgir II of Shāhjahanābād mint but with a small trisul as mint-mark. The copper coins are indescribable, but have Shāh 'Ālam's legends in bungled Persian script. The mint was closed in 1870 by order of the British Government.

PARTĀBGARH (PRATĀPGARH)

Capital, Partābgarh (17° 56' N., 73° 38' 30" E.).

The Mahārāwa of Partābgarh comes of the same stock as Udaya Singh, the Rāna of Udaipur, and is therefore a chief of the royal Sesodia clan of Rājputs.

The Partābgarh mint was opened by Salīm Singh in or about 1784, and the coins then struck were called 'Salīm shāhi'. The rupees and their subdivisions attained great popularity and were current also in Dūngarpur, Bānswārā, and a large part of Mālwa. The old 'Salīm shāhi', as the original coins were called, bore the legends of Shāh 'Ālam and were dated 1119. The mint-name when present is ديگر; their peculiar epigraphy renders their identification an easy matter when it is absent, as is usual. They bear the regnal years 26 and 29 although the Hijri date is the same on both. Another issue of them was made in the reign of Sawant Singh, dated 1236 (i. e. A.D. 1820), with the regnal date 45, which could not possibly refer to Shāh 'Ālam. The same date was retained in the coins issued by Udaya Singh somewhere about 1870, the full legend reading بادشاہ غازی سکہ مبارک شاہ لندن ۱۲۳۶ 'Auspicious coin of the victorious monarch, the sovereign of London, 1236'. Copper coins of an earlier reign than that of Udaya Singh have so far been unidentified, but during his period, 1864–1890, two different types were struck, the first apparently dated 1935 Samvat (A.D. 1878). The obverse of this has a rude representation of a sunface with hands (?) and an inscription in Nāgarī with Samvat date on the reverse. The second issue has a sunface also but of different type, and with two swords below. On the other side the Samvat date, 1943 (A.D. 1886) is given within an oval with 'Partābgarh' 'State' above and below. Coins of this type are not represented in this collection.

TONK

Capital, Tonk (26° 10' 43" N., 75° 50' 6" E.).

This State is the only Muhammadan principality in Rājputāna. It is not in one large portion but scattered about in six divisions, Tonk, Aligarh, Rāmpūra, Nimbhora, Pirawa, Chapra, and Sironj which are separated from each other by distances varying from 20 to 250 miles.

Its rulers bear the title of Nawāb and are Pathāns of the Boner tribe. The State of Tonk was founded in 1806 by Amīr Khān, who, for services rendered to Holkar, received Tonk in return, augmented later by the gift by the British Government of Rampura Fort and Aligarh-Rāmpūra.

					<hr/> 18 <hr/>

The currency issued by this State during the reigns of the first three of the Khāns, appears to have been struck at Sironj, a Mughal mint from the time of Akbar but infrequently used. On the accession of Ibrāhīm 'Alī the mint was transferred from Sironj to the capital, and توںک appears in the legend instead of سرونج previously used.

The earliest coins of this State in the collection are those of Wazīr Muḥammad and are of Mughal type, bearing the legends of Muḥammad Akbar with the usual mint formula. After 1858 the obverse legend bears the name of Queen Victoria, '(In the) reign of Her Majesty, Queen of the Kingdom, exalted in position, Victoria, struck at Sironj'. On the reverse are given the Nawāb's name and titles, and Hijri date, 'Muḥammad, Naṣrat Jang Bahādur, Wazīr Khān, Proprietor of the State, year 1277'. His successor, Muḥammad 'Alī, issued coins bearing a similar legend on the obverse to those just described, but the reverse legend continued, 'Brave, furious in war, Nawāb Muḥammad 'Alī Khān, Wazīr, Proprietor of the State, 1288'. The date must be an error for he was deposed in 1285 (= A.D. 1867). The coins of his successor, the present ruler, Ibrāhīm 'Alī, bear nearly the same inscription as the last on the obverse, but terminate دار الریاست توںک 'Seat of the State, Tōnk', and conclude the legend on the other side with a couplet which the late Mr. C. J. Rodgers¹ rendered as:

BHOPĀL

Capital, Bhopāl (23° 15' 35" N., 77° 25' 56" E.).

This State was founded by Dost Muḥammad, an Afghān officer in the service of Aurangzeb, who took advantage of the dissensions in the Mughal empire at that period (1690), to seize Bhopāl and make himself independent.

The coins of Bhopāl in this collection begin with those of the reign of Kudsia Begam. They bear the usual legend of Muḥammad Akbar and are of the mint of Daulatgarh with the characteristic mint-mark of Bhopāl. Later coins do not bear the ruler's name, but give the Hijri date and denomination. The word تدس or تدسي on the coins of Sikandar may refer to the purity of the metal, or to Kudsia Begam the first queen.

This mint has at different periods struck its coinage in all three metals, i. e. gold, silver, and copper, and continued operations until late in the reign of Shāh Jahān Begam. Since 1897 the British rupee has been the only legal tender.¹

The coins (Nos. 705, 706) in the collection were sent to the Museum through the Bundelkhand Agency as specimens of the current 'Ratan shāhi' struck at Bijāwar. They are apparently an imitation of the Chhatarpur rupee (see p. 291 f.). The Bijāwar mint was closed in 1897.

SRĪNAGAR IN BUNDELKHAND

Many of the smaller States in Central India, but especially in Bundelkhand, have never had a coinage of their own, but made free use of the currency struck by their more powerful neighbours. The coins described below were very popular in these States, and circulated there under various names, such as the 'Srinagri', 'Jai Rām shāhī', 'Chickara', and 'Ratan shāhī' rupees. These are all of one type and were struck at Srīnagar, a decayed town in the Hamīrpūr District, U.P., which was founded in the early part of the eighteenth century by Mohan Singh, illegitimate son of Chhatar Sāl. The pieces in the collection were apparently sent to the Museum at the request of the authorities as specimens of local currency. Copper coins (Nos. 16-24) were also struck in large numbers from the Srīnagar mint, bearing the device of a trident on one side and lotus bud on the other.

The trident of Śiva was a favourite emblem of the Marāthās and the coins on which it appears, both rupees and paīsa, are generally called Balashāhī.¹

¹ Prinsep in his Useful Tables (pp. 24, 25) says that the word 'Balasahy' is derived from the name of Bālājī, Pandit, the officer who was in charge of the Peshwā's various mints.

CHHATARPUR

Capital, Chhatarpur (24° 54' N., 79° 38' E.).

The Mahārāja of Chhatarpur is of the Puār tribe of Rājputs, whose ancestor in the days of Marāṭhā disturbance dispossessed the descendant of Chhatar Sāl then ruling, and was granted a 'sanad' by the British Government in 1806.

Ruler.	A.D.	Number of coins in collection.
Jagat Singh	1854	Æ 26	Total 26

The rupees struck at Chhatarpur¹ until 1882, when the mint was closed by order of the Government, bore the couplet of Shāh 'Ālam II.

The 'Rājā shāhī', as the Chhatarpur coin is called, is of a very distinctive type and easily recognized, for in the centre of the field between the words باد and لم a flower with a long stalk is exhibited, which appears to represent the helianthus or sunflower. The legend on the reverse is the usual formula with mint چہترپور.

DATIĀ

Capital, Datiā (25° 40' N., 78° 30' E.).

The Mahārāja of Datiā belongs to the great Bundela Rājput family. The State was founded in 1735 by Bhagwan Dās, the son of Narsingh Deo of Orchhā.

Ruler.	A. D.	Number of coins in collection.
Vijaya Bahādur .	1839	Æ 27	Æ 1	Total 28

Two distinct types of coin are reputed to have been struck by this State, one of them being called the 'Rājā Shāhi' (Nos. 11-12), and the other the 'Gaja Shāhi' (Nos. 13-28), which imitate the coins of Orchhā (q. v.). The 'Rājā Shāhi' is an imitation of a coin struck by Shāh 'Ālam at an unknown mint, with the date 1178 and of the sixth year of his reign. Both types are easily recognizable and have been struck and circulated for probably the best part of the nineteenth century. They are issued in various sizes from the rupee to two annas. In addition to these the 'Bālāshāhi' rupee is current in Datiā and throughout Bundelkhand, as is also the 'Srinagri', while the 'Tegh shāhi' paīsa (No. 28) is said to be of Datiā mintage.

DEWĀS

Capital, Dewās (22° 58' N., 76° 6' E.).

This State is remarkable in that it has two chiefs for its rulers with the title of Rāja, but the rule of each is distinctly limited to his own district. They are Marāthās of the Puār Rājput race, and descendants of the same ancestor as the Rāja of Dhār. In order to distinguish their relationship they are called 'Bābā Sāhib' and 'Dādā Sāhib' respectively, which means 'Father' and 'elder brother'. Their position in the State is known to Europeans as the Senior and Junior branches of Dewās, while the two reside in different palaces in the capital, the city of Dewās. The State was founded about 1726 by Tukoji and Jiwāji, two brothers, who had accompanied the army of the Peshwā Bāji Rao in its victorious campaign against Mālwa, and received in return for their services the districts of Dewās, Sarangpur, and Allote.

SENIOR BRANCH.	A.D.	JUNIOR BRANCH.	A.D.
Krishnaji II	1860-1864	Nārāyan Rao	1864

This State has never had a mint but made use of the currency struck in the mints of the States in the neighbourhood. Copper paisa, however, are known to have been struck locally at Allote in Dewās (Senior Branch), of which an account was furnished by the Minister to the Rāja of Dewās (Junior Branch), and published in the Numismatic Supplement, No. IV, to the J.A.S. Bengal, 1904, § 30. The Allote paisa (Nos. 1-3) in the collection are apparently the identical specimens that were made use of in the account, and were afterwards sent to the Museum by the writer, Mr. W. E. Jardine, through Mr. H. Nelson Wright. These coins appear to have been issued for some considerable period, most probably generations, and were still being issued in 1904, the contract for their manufacture being given to the local bankers. In 1888 copper coins were struck at Calcutta by the Indian Government for both the Senior and Junior branches. A description of the quarter anna struck for the Junior branch will be found in the catalogue, but the issue for each branch consisted of the half-pice and one-twelfth anna as well as the quarter anna.

DHARCapital, Dhār (23° 36' N., 75° 4' E.).

The Rāja of Dhār is a Puār Rājput and of the same stock as the rulers of Dewās, the dynasty of the present State of Dhār having been founded by Anand Rao, a Marāthā leader, who in 1749 received the territory as a grant from the Peshwā Bāji Rao.

Anand Rao III	1857	Æ 5	Total 5

Dhār has never struck coins in gold or silver, but in copper only; the date at which the mint was opened is uncertain. The earliest in the collection are those of Anand Rao III, which exhibit the figure of Hanumān, the monkey god, and bear a Muhammadan date in Hindu numerals, san 1289 (= A.D. 1872).

In 1887 copper coins were struck by the Government at the Calcutta mint for the use of this State. These are similar to the ordinary British Indian copper coins, viz. quarter anna, half pice, and one-twelfth anna, with the addition of the legend 'Dhār State'. In 1895 the British rupee was made sole legal tender.

GWALIOR

Mints, Gwalior (26° 13' N., 78° 12' E.) and Ujjain (23° 11' 10" N., 75° 51' 45" E.).

Gwalior State was founded by Ranoji, the son of the headman of a village in the Sātāra district, who in 1714 became slipper-bearer to Bālāji Vishvanāth, the first Peshwā. From this humble position, from which the name 'Sindhia' is derived, he gradually rose in favour until under the second Peshwā, Bāji Rao, he became one of the foremost leaders of the Marāthās who at this period were rapidly becoming masters of Central India.

The coins of the Mughal Emperors of Gwalior mint have been described in vol. III. The series described in this volume begin with the rupees and paisa issued by Daulat Rao, in the name of Shāh 'Ālam's successor, Muḥammad Akbar. The mint-marks on the coins include the word श्री = 'Śri' on coins attributed to Baija Bai (wife of Daulat Rao, who became regent during her son Jankoji's minority), जे = 'Je' for Jankoji, जी = 'Ji' for Jayaji (II), and मा = 'Mā' for Mādhō, and all of them are usually accompanied by a sign (☞) intended to represent a bow and arrow, up or down. The copper coins struck during the reign of Jankoji, or possibly his predecessor, have in addition to fragments of Mughal legends, the trident of Śiva on one side (卐), and a spear-head (♣) and three-pronged sceptre (☙) on the other. To this group I have added some paisa (Nos. 50-52), with a reverse of a similar type to those just described, although it is equally possible that they were issued at Orchha or some other Central Indian mint. Jayāji struck copper coins of a similar type to those of Jankoji, but included the letter जी (= ji) and a cobra among the emblems, while in 1863 paṣa were issued with his initial above a cobra, and a trident and sceptre to left and right respectively. The reverse has the initial letters बा of his titles 'Alījāh' and 'Bahādur' (Exalted, Invincible), above a trident. The Gwalior State mints occasionally strike coins in gold, but for special purposes only. In 1893 the coining of silver by these mints was stopped and the British rupee made the only legal tender, but copper coins are still issued from the State mint. Those struck in 1896 have an inscription in Nāgarī reading, 'Śrī Mādho Rao M[ahārāja] Sīnde Alījā Bahādur' with 'Gwāliyar pao (₹) anna samvat 1953' on the reverse, while others of a recent date exhibit the bust of His Highness with the legend, 'Śrī Mādho Rao Sīnde, Alījā, Bahādur, Gwāliyar', on the obverse, with a coat of arms and supporters on the reverse together with the value in Nāgarī 'Pao anna' and Persian 'Yak paṣā', concluding with the date 'Samvat 1970' in Nāgarī.

Ujjain was in ancient times the capital of Mālwa and one of the seven sacred cities of the Hindus. In 1792 Ujjain was taken and burnt by Holkar, but later fell into the hands of his rival, Sindhia, whose capital it remained until 1810, when Daulat Rao transferred the government to Gwalior, which took its place as the most important mint of Gwalior state.

In vol. III Mr. H. Nelson Wright has described the Mughal issues of Ujjain mint down to the reign of Shāh 'Ālam and at the same time draws attention to the fact that the coins issued in the name of this ruler were struck by the Marāthās in the reign of Daulat Rao Sindhia. The series now described are of the same series and profess to be struck by Shāh 'Ālam at Dār al-Faṭḥ Ujjain.

The square-shaped copper coins 53, 54 (Pl. XXII. 10) are probably of Ujjain mint and perhaps bore Shāh 'Ālam inscriptions, but this and the exact date are uncertain.

The mint 'Jainagar' upon these coins has been identified with Bajranggarh, a subah of Gwalior, under the Gūna sub-agency. The legends upon all the coins are practically identical (except the dates) and may be translated as: 'On this coin is the stamp the — year of Maharaja Jai Singh Jainagar' on the obverse, and finish on the other side, 'Obtaining strength from the powerful and magnificent son of the air' (i.e. Hanumān). (See R. Burn in J.A.S.B., vol. 66, pp. 275 ff.).

NARWAR

Narwar (Gwalior State) ($25^{\circ} 39' 2''$ N., $77^{\circ} 56' 57''$ E.).

This town is of great antiquity. Towards the end of the eighteenth century the Marāthās gained possession of it, and it was guaranteed by the British to Daulat Rao by the treaty of Allahābād (1805). The two coins catalogued here were struck by the Kachwaha dynasty in name of Shāh 'Ālam II, before the Marāthā conquest

INDORE

Capital, Indore ($22^{\circ} 42' N.$, $75^{\circ} 54' E.$).

This Marāthā State was founded by Malhār Rao Holkar, who was born in a village named Hōl, from whence the dynastic title 'Holkar' is derived, the village being situated on the river Nira in the Deccan. Malhār entered the service of the Peshwā in 1724, at the age of 31, and in 1728 was rewarded for his services with the grant of twelve parganas to the north of Narbadā, which may be considered as the foundation of the future State. His career from this period was a series of successes. After the defeat of the Marāthās at the battle of Pānipat in 1761 by Ahmad Shāh Durrānī, the Marāthā leader retired to Indore, where four years later he died.

The capital was built by Ahalyā Bai, his daughter-in-law, who on his decease assumed the administration of Indore, and in conjunction with her commander-in-chief, Tukōji Rao, prosperously ruled the State for thirty years. On her death in 1795 dissensions arose, and the throne was seized by Jaswant Rao. His accession to the gaddi was opposed by Sindhia and the Peshwā, whom he met and defeated in 1802. Later the British intervened, and war was carried on between the Holkar army and the British for a number of years with varying results, until at length in 1818, Indore was made a feudatory State, and the British Government recognized as the paramount power.

The coinage of the state of Indore dates from the time of Ahalyā Bai, who apparently had two mints, viz. Maheshwar and Indore; to the latter she gave the name of Malhār-nagar. The coins struck at these mints have the same legends, the mint legend on both being ضرب ملهارةنگر = 'struck at Malhār-nagar'. Those struck at Maheshwar and known as 'Maheshwari' have as ornament the 'yoni linga', while those struck at the capital bear the 'sunface' as their principal mint-mark. The mint on the former is usually written ملهارة. Coins of the latter type were issued for well over a century. The legends of Shāh 'Ālam remain with the Hijri date on the obverse. The regnal years are those of Shāh 'Ālam II in Jasvant Rao's reign. In Malhār Rao's reign the reverse dates run from 1167/8 A.H., and we have dates like 1230:62; 1232:65. In Tukōji's reign they seem to date from Shāh 'Ālam again, and we have dates like 1280:110; 1289:115; 1292:115. The coins (Pl. XXIII, 2, 3) of Jasvant Rao interrupt the regular series. Plate XXIII. 2 has Sanskrit legends translated by Cunningham¹ as follows: 'By the permission of the king of Indraprastha (Dehli) the Emperor of the world, this coin has been struck by the renowned Yaswant whose heart is as the black bee of the lotus foot of Lakshmikant, to circulate throughout the earth. Śāka 17-28' (= A. D. 1806). The next coin (Pl. XXIII. 3) was struck in the following year, and has the following legend obv.: 'Muhammad Akbar, Lord of the second conjunction from the beginning to the end, Sultān, struck this auspicious currency', rev. 'Struck at Indore in the second year of the fortunate reign of Jaswant Rao Holkar Mahārāja, Bahādur, in trust for the Lord of the Khalifate, the exalted Prince'. In 1859 (?) copper coins of new type were struck by Tukoji having the Bull and 'linga' with Shāh 'Ālam legends, and the value 'Half anna' in Nāgarī (Pl. XXIII. 6).

There are several pieces in the collection (Pl. XXIII. 7, 11, XXIV. 1, &c.) all of which have in the centre of the obverse the word Mudra ('coin or seal'), with a sunface occupying a similar position on the reverse, and marginal legends in Nāgarī. These pieces appear to have been struck in honour of the celebrated lady Ahalyā Bai, daughter-in-law of Malhār Rao (1765-1793). The earliest of this type in the collection (No. 102) is dated Śāka 1790 (= A. D. 1858), and is commemorative of the 'Holkar at the Pūkharāj festival' with 'Victory to Ahalyā, follower of Śamkarā'. Nos. (103) and (104) have 'Lady Mallāri Ahalyā' and 'By favour of the Lady Mallāri Ahalyā' respectively, while No. (104) reads 'Lord of the province of Indore' and 'Lady Mallāri Ahalyā daughter-in-law of Śrī Mahārāja'. While these Mudra pieces were evidently struck as Nazr, some appear to have been used as currency.

The half and quarter rupees issued in A. H. 1280 call for notice not only on account of their unusual size and thinness, but also for their Shāh 'Ālam legends and regnal date, 110.

The accession of Śivājī Rao in 1886 brought a further type to Indore. The name of Shāh 'Ālam is still retained on the one side, while the other has a sunface and the marginal Nāgarī inscription 'Mahārāja Śivājī Rao Holkar' and Samvat date. This was the last of the type, for in 1899 a rupee of a very handsome appearance was struck bearing a bust of the Hōlkar and the circular Nāgarī legend: 'Srimat Śivājī Rao Mahārāja Holkar, Indore, 1956' (Samvat). The reverse has a coat of arms and other insignia together with a label and the motto: 'The Lord of Umā (i.e. Śiva) has said, "Greatness (or glory) is to be won by beginning from God".' The legends on the copper coins are varied, the earliest one reading: Obv. 'Srimat Mahārāo Holkar 1943', and Rev. 'one half anna Indore'. Another of the same year bears the legend on Obv. 'Srimat Mahārāo Holkar, Sarkar Indore', and Rev. 'Ardhā ana, s. 1943'. Smaller coins of the same type have 'Pao ana s. 1943' on the reverse of the quarter anna, the set being complete with the $\frac{1}{2}$ pice No. (1012) reading: ' $\frac{1}{2}$ Dehli ka paisā. s. 1944'. Another reading is given on the quarter anna No. (1013): 'Srimat Mahārāja Śivājirāo Holkar Indore', also issued in 1944 (s.). Three years later, in 1902,¹ the Indore mint was closed by arrangement with the British Government and the Imperial rupee made legal tender in the state.

JAORĀ

Capital, Jaorā (23° 37' N., 75° 8' E.).

This state was founded by Nawāb Ghafūr Khān who was in possession of the territory when Mālwa was divided after the battle of Mehidpur in 1818, the possession of Jaorā being confirmed to the Nawāb by the British Government.

The date at which this mint began operations is unknown, but it was probably not before the reign of Muhammad Ismā'il, and it is unlikely that any other coins than those of copper have been struck there. There is an earlier paisa of Jaorā in the British Museum, which has a flag and chakra (or wheel) on one side with the legend سرکار = struck by the Sarkār, and نواب جاورا سنہ ۱۲۹۵ = 'Nawāb of Jaorā year 1295' (= A. D. 1878) on the other.

The copper coins of a later date are in two sizes, and bear inscriptions in three languages, viz. English, Persian, and Hindi.

ORCHHĀ

Capital, Tehri (Tikamgarh) (24° 44' 30" N., 78° 52' 50" E.).

The Mahārāja of Orchhā is the head of the family of the Bundelā chiefs ruling in Bundelkhand, of which Orchhā is the parent state.

The founder of the state was Rudra Pratāp. British supremacy was not established over the state until 1818.

The mint was originally situated at Orchhā, the old capital, but during the last century it was removed to its present site at Tehri, where it still exercises its prerogative of coining. The pieces in the collection bear the legends of Shāh 'Ālam, and are known as 'Gaja shāhī' on account of the Gaja or mace which is the symbol in the mint. The legends are the usual couplet of Shāh 'Ālam.

The Rewah mint has only struck copper.

The paisas of Jai Singh have for their inscription on the obverse 'Struck at Rewān', but there are two varieties of reverse. One has 'Samvat 1890', while the other has an emblem or mark like the Nāgarī numeral 9 = 1.

The coins of Vishvanath have on the obverse 'Sika Rivā; Jado

Vishvanath Singh' in Nagari; the legend on the reverse is a transliteration of श्री रामाधिकारी. In 1849 Raghū Singh struck the coins which bear the figure of a lion and couple his name on the obverse with that of the British agent for the province, 'Mr. Bushby', on the reverse.

Capital, Sailāna (23° 30' 30" N., 75° 0' 45" E.).

The Rāja of Sailāna is a Rājput of the Rāthōr clan, and a descendant of Jodha, the founder of Jodhpur. His ancestor Ratan Singh obtained from the Emperor Shāh Jahān in 1631 the state of Ratlām, which then included the two modern states of Sailāna and Sitāmau. In 1709 on the death of Keshrī Singh of Ratlām, his eldest son Man Singh succeeded him as Rāja of Ratlām, while his younger son Jai Singh became Rāja of Sailāna.

Mint, Balwantnagar (= Jhānsi) (25° 25' N., 78° 35' E.).

Jhānsi with its capital of the same name, locally known as Balwantnagar, the name that appears on the coins, issued coins in name of Shāh 'Ālam II. It was brought under Marāthā rule in 1766 and remained under the Peshwā till 1817, when the British acquired sovereign rights, while recognizing the hereditary title of the Marāthā governor. The mint was abolished in 1826 (Prinsep, ii, p. 56). The rupees are locally known as nānāshāhī. The pieces in this Catalogue may be attributed to the following Peshwā rulers:

MISCELLANEOUS MARĀTHĀ MINTS

Under this head may be classed a group of Marāṭhā mints which issued coins, mainly rupees, at the end of the eighteenth century, pieces closely connected in style and by the common possession of the symbols ♪ and ✱ (whence the name Balashāhi). These mints are: Jalaun, Kalpi, Kunch, Garhā Mandla (Balanagar Gadha) and Ravashnagar Sāgor [cf. also Srinagar, pp. 288, 290].

JALAUN

Prinsep (ii, p. 30) mentions Srinagar in addition to Jalaun the capital as a mint of Jalaun, and there is a close resemblance between their issues. Some of the coins below may really be of Srinagar and vice versa. At the period of issue of the coins it was a Marāṭhā state; in the early nineteenth century portions of it passed to British Bundelkhand. The mints of Kalpi and Kunch may be included under Jalaun state.

MANDLĀ

Mint, Mandlā Bālānagar Gadhā (22° 36' N., 80° 23' E.).

Mandlā, on the coins Bālānagar-Gadhā, is the capital of Mandlā district. The last Gond-Rājput king was deposed by the Marāthās in 1781, and the district was under the control of the Peshwās till 1818 when it was taken by the British. The coins here described belong to the Marāthā period. According to Prinsep (Useful Tables, p. 29) 'Garrah Mandlā' mint was the Peshwā's mint for Sagar from 1779 until the latter mint was opened in 1824 and 'coined about seventeen lakhs of Bālāshāhī rupees per annum'. The dates on the coins, however, show that the mints were working concurrently.

SAUGOR (SĀGAR)

Ravashnagar Sāgar (23° 51' N., 78° 45' E.).

Saugor (Sāgar) is the principal town in the Saugor district which was conquered by the Marāthā Peshwā in 1735, whose lieutenant Govind Rao, did much for the development of the city. The latter's descendants held it till it was ceded to the British in 1818. Prinsep's reference to this and the Mandla mint is not very clear:—"The Sāgar mint was set up in 1779 by the Peshwā's officer at Garrah Mandla and coined about seventeen lakhs of Bālāsāhi rupees per annum. Its operation continued under Mr. Maddock who, to counteract the forgery going on at Garrah, inserted the word "Sagar" in small

English characters on the die. The new Sāgar mint erected in 1824 is now rapidly removing all the old coins from circulation (Useful Tables, p. 29, cf. p. 28).'

Hunter also tells us that the mint continued under British rule. 'In 1820 a large building was erected (in Sāgar) for a mint where 400 men were employed in coining; but after some ten or twelve years the business was transferred to Calcutta' (I. G., 1887, xii, p. 109).

MISCELLANEOUS AND UNATTRIBUTED

Nos. 1, 2, 3, are probably the Śrī sikka rupees of Poona (Prinsep, U.T., p. 58). No. 4 bearing the mint-name Dilshādābād is attributed by Mr. Viccajee in his valuable monograph: 'Notes on the Hand-Minting of coins of India' to Gopalpett and Latur, the Marāthā syllables गो and ल being the initials of these two places. Nos. 5-9 are of Chandor and, according to Prinsep (ii, p. 58), were current in the Northern Konkan. No. 10 is quite uncertain. It appears to be a rare mint; a specimen in the British Museum suggests that the mint-name has the prefix بلدة. Nos. 11-14, 15, 16, 20, and 21-3 are equally uncertain. Nos. 24-7 are 'Chandoli' rupees, according to Prinsep, and were current in Gwalior. The mint-names seem to begin with لا on such specimens as have traces of it. Nos. 28-9 are according to Prinsep's notes on his coins in the British Museum 'Chalan (i.e. current) in the Doab'. The mint looks like کروان or کروال but has not been identified.

In conclusion we have a number of uncertain copper of which it should be possible to identify No. 30 accurately. The others suggest Ujjain or some Gwalior mint.

INDEX VI. TYPES

A.

Arms of Indore 332.

— Gwalior, 311.

— Awadh, 27-36, 49-57.

Two fishes facing one another enclose date and support a kaṭār, surmounted by a crown. A tiger on either side, with head turned outwards, holding a pennant, as supporters, 27-36.

As above, but the two fish enclose a kaṭār instead of the regnal year. Crown instead of kaṭār above fish, and umbrella above crown, 37-40.

In centre one fish surmounted by numeral supporters, two women bareheaded, with hands supporting crown, 41-44.

A fish surmounted by a crown, surmounted by an umbrella—two curved swords enclosing the whole, 45-48.

Supporters, two mermaids holding clubs outwards and pennants inwards. Between staffs of pennants, a shield or boss in centre: above shield a crown surmounted by an umbrella: below, two swords and crossed clubs, 49-57.
