The Indira Gandhi National Centre for the Arts (IGNCA), an autonomous organisation under the Ministry of Culture, Government of India is visualized as a Centre for encompassing the study of arts, each form in its own integrity, yet within a dimension of mutual inter-dependence and inter-relatedness. It serves as a major resource centre for all arts, specially written, oral and visual source materials. IGNCA is also a Centre for socio-cultural dialogue, knowledge and research to promote cultural rejuvenation and convergence of all art forms, which are placed within the context of natural and human environment of mutual inter-dependence, social structure and cosmology. It has a multi disciplinary approach towards all its programmes of research publications, exhibitions and performances.

The Regional Centre, Ranchi (RCR) was established in 2017 as one of the nine Regional Centres of the IGNCA. The RCR has been set up to preserve, conserve, study and disseminate the knowledge of the rich cultural heritage of the various ethnic communities particularly Jharkhand and its neighbouring states. RCR carries out field based research, documentation and dissemination of life style studies of various ethnic communities of Eastern India. The activities pursue imparting knowledge of rich cultural heritage and traditions. RCR conducts diverse programs of research, seminars, workshops, conferences, symposium, lectures and cultural performances in the field of tribal, folk, visual and performing arts in India.

The RCR strives to nurture the communication between traditional art and current philosophies to bridge the gap between indigenous culture and modern sciences and studies to explicate the formative and dynamic factors in the complex web of interactions between diverse social strata, communities and regions.
