INTRODUCTION.

As the third volume of the printed text finishes the third and fourth Ashtakas, and commences the fifth, I have thought it advisable to publish, on the present occasion, the translation of the third and fourth Ashtakas,* completing one half of the entire Rig-Veda,

The third Ashtaka comprehends the conclusion of the third Mundala, the fourth, and the commencement of the fifth: the rest of the fifth, and five of the six sections of the sixth Mandala, are comprised in the fourth Ashtaka.

It was remarked in the Introduction to the first Ashtaka, that the fifth Mandala was ascribed to Atrar and his sons, who were of rather equivocal nomenclature: this will be confirmed by the actual translation: and if the authorship of the Suktas be rightly, defined, Atra must have had a large family, as the names exceed forty, besides groups, as Prayaswats, Gaupaganas, Laupaganas, and Vasugus, each consisting of an indefinite number: several of the names, as Prayaswats, Prayaswata, Prayaswana, Prayaswana, are officially fabrication: we have also, in Archananas and Syavashwa, father and son, who could not both have been sons of Atra:

*I have made a change. I have made the volume end with the fifth Mandala.—H.R.B.

there is likewise the unusual occurrence of a female author of a Sukta, the lady Vishwavara. The common epithet of these persons, Atreya, does not, however, necessarily imply a son or daughter of Atri, and may be interpreted descendant or disciple: the latter is rendered most probable, as the list includes three Rajas among the Rishis, or Tryabuna, Trasadasyu, and Ashwambuna, who are the joint authors of a Sukta (p. 200): to one of them. Trasadasyu, a preceding Sukta also is ascribed. In all probability, however, there is little or no authority for the authorship of the Suktas of this Mandala, and their ascription to individuals is as arbitrary and unreal as that of any other portion, whether termed Ashtaka or Mandala.

Of the hundred and twenty-one Suktas of the third. Ashtaka, those addressed to Agni, either alone, or associated with some other deity, are forty-four; those to Indra, singly or with others, forty-eight; making together ninety-two; of the rest, five are addressed to the Vishwadevas, five to the Ashwins, five to the Ribhus, three to Dadhikra, three to Ushas, two to Savitri, and one each to the Yupa, or sacrificial post, to the Apris, to Mitra, to the Shyena or Hawk, to Heaven and Earth, to Vayu, and to Kshetrupati, or, the lord of the field, and the implements of agriculture.

The fourth Ashtaka comprehends one hundred and forty Suktas, of which AGNI and INDRA have a large proportion, although rather less considerable than in the third; the former is the deity of thirty-six Suktas, the latter, singly or in association with others, of forty-six, together eighty-two; of the remainder, the Vishwadevas have twelve Suktas dedicated to them, rather a larger number than usual, besides which, five other hymns are addressed to various divinities, much the same as the Vishwadevas; twelve Suktas have the Marcus for deities, and eleven Mitra and Varuna conjointly, which is something unusual; the Ashwins have six Suktas; Pushan four; the Dawn and Savitra two each; and Parjanya, Prithivi, Varuna, Saraswati, and the Cows.

With very few exceptions, there is little of novel interest in the Suktas of these two divisions, as regards their mythological bearings; the same attributes are ascribed to the same divinities and the same legends are repeated, which have occurred in the preceding Ashtakas ; the legendary exploits being sometimes, however, transferred to different actors, as in the case of the death of VEITEA being ascribed to AGNL instead of, as usual, to INDRA (p. 16, v. 4); and again, where DADHYANCH, the son of ATHARVAN, is said to have kindled the slayer of VRITBA. the destroyer of the cities of the Asuras, the exploits of INDRA are obviously assigned to AGNI (VI. 2. 1. 14)*: the observation made in the Introduction to the translation of the second Ashtaka may be here repeated. that the Suktas addressed to the principal divinities. especially to AGNI and INDRA, in these two divisions. deal more in general solicitation and panegyric, and are less rich in legend, than the Suktas of the first Ashtaka, with very rare, though not altogether unimportant exceptions.

In the hymns addressed to Agni the same attributes and allusions occur that are found in preceding Sultas, and enumerated in the Introduction to the first volume. We have perhaps more distinctly asserted his character of creator of the universe (p. 6, v. 5, p. 12, v. 4, p. 90, v. 15), and in his universality, as intimated in one hymn with more than ordinary mysticism (p. 22, v. 7, 8 and note), we have the rudimenta probably of the panthe-stic notion, which, as the word Vedanta imports, are based upon the Veda; the identification of Agni with other divinities, his being Indra, Vertra, Varuna, Arrahan. Rudra, is of the same tendency (p. 177, v. 1).

In like manner the attributes and exploits of INDRA, his slaying of Verrea, his recovery of the stolen cattle, his destruction of various Asuros, and of their cities, and his patronage of individual princes have all been told before, in general more fully: his drinking of the Soma juice is the subject of very many uninteresting stanzas, and most of the hymns of which he is the hero suggest little that is of additional value. In the aixteenth hymn of the first section of the fourth Ashtaku some novel circumstances are narrated of the Asuro Namuchi: mention has been made of him in the first and second sections, but here, for the first time, it is said of him, that he sends an army of women against INDRA, as if a nation of amazons were alluded to: the passage, however, is obscure, and the explanation imperfect (p. 205, v. 9).

In the sixth Sukta of the fifth section of the third Ashtaka there is also some additional legend which may be suspected of a historical bearing, however exaggerated. when it is related that INDRA was followed by a large host, thousands, in his attack upon the Asura Kuyava; and that, on another occasion, he destroyed fifty thousand Krishnas, or dark-complexioned Rakshasas, according to the Scholiast; one inference from these numbers is, that the Rishis of the time of the Veda were not unfamiliar with the levy of numerous bodies of combatants; and another, which is more important, is the probability that by Asuras and Rakshasas, nothing more is meant than hostile tribes or nations; the mortal Rajas, Kutsa, Rijishwan, SUDAS, and others, in whose defence or for whose benefit these adversaries are demolished, could scarcely have waged war with superhuman beings, could scarcely have incorred their cumity, except in their character of disturbers of sacrifices offered to the gods, meaning thereby, very possibly, the vet unconverted races of India opposed to Brahmanical rites; that we are to look upon them as principally if not exchaively human beings is most consistent with their being engaged in contests with human princes; and the identity is further established by the appellation of Dasyn being assigned to the Asura, SHAM-BARA (VI. 3, 8, 4).

Like AGNI, INDRA is identified with various persons and divinities; and in one hymn it is intimated that he is the only real object of adoration, to whomsoever else it may be nominally addressed, taking whatever manifestation he pleases, whether that of AGNI, VISHNI or Rudha (VI. 4, 4, 13); he is also represented in the same hymn as of a capricious temperament, neglecting those who serve him, and favouring those who pay him no adoration (VI. 4, 4, 17); a notion somewhat at variance with a doctrine previously inculcated, that the ceremonial worship of Indha is able to atome for the most atrocious crimes (note on V. 3, 2, 4).

The Suktas addressed to the other deities propitiated in the third and fourth Ashtukas are for the most part mere repetitions of those which have been given in the first and second; one of the two dedicated in the third Book to Savitri (III, 5, 9, 10) contains the verse that constitutes an essential part of the daily prayers of the Brahmans, and is especially known as the Gayatri: the commentators admit some variety of interpretation, but it probably meant, in its original use, a simple invocation of the sun to shed a benignant influence upon the customary offices of worship, and that it is still employed by the unphilosophical Hindus with merely that signification ; later notions, and especially those of the Vedanta, have operated to attach to the text an import it did not at first possess, and have converted it into a mystical propitiation of the spiritual origin and ossence of existence. OF BRAHMA.

The hymns addressed to Dadhikra, or Dadhikravan. contemplate the sun under the type of a horse, and in one of them (p. 151, IV. 4, 9, 5) occurs a stanza known as the Hansavati Rich, in which, under various appellations, the sun is considered to be identical with the Supreme Spirit, or Parabrahma, although it may be questionable how far the terms bore originally the significations which commentators have subsequently assigned them.

In the third Ashtaka are two Suktas, of which the Shyena, the hawk or kite, is said to be the deity of part of one, and of the whole of the other; the style of the hymns is rather mystical, and one interpretation identifies the bird with the Supreme Spirit; the general tenor, however, merely alludes to a legend told in the Aitareya Brahmana, an mentioned in a note (on III. 4, 5, 7), of the Soma plant having been brought from heaven by the Gayatri the metre personified, in the form of a hawk; a possible allegory connecting the use of hymns in the Gayatri measure with the early or original offering of the Soma libation at the worship of the gods.

Another novel Sukta in the third Ashtaka has for its object the sanctification of the lord of the field, and of the implements of agriculture; the spirit of mysticism identifies them with divinities, as Aont, India, Vayu, but whether the terms be understood literally or typically, the inference will be the same; the great importance attached by the Hindus of the Vaidik era to the operations of agriculture, and the fitness of the means used by them in the cultivation of the land. Of the hymn that follows this it is not easy to understand the purport, but it is chiefly in the praise of clarified butter, or Ghi, and may connect the labours of the herdsman with those of the plough; a Sukta addressed to the Cones (VI, 3, 5,) may be regarded as of a similar class, but it contains nothing peculiarly characteristic; the short hymn to Prithivi, the Earth (V. 6, 12.), might be classed with the agricultural, but it is very general and unmeaning.

In the two Ashtakas the Visuwadevas are the diviunties of seventeen Suktas, or, if we add the five addressed to various deities, who are, however, much the same as the Vishwadevas, twenty; they are for the most part the same deities as on their individual capacities elsewhere, AGNI, INDRA, VARUNA, ADITI, the Adityas, the MARUTS, and offer only their usual properties allusions: some of the hymns deal in mysticism, an accordingly obscure; and scattered through them are references to circumstances of general interest, but for the most part they add little to what has been elsewhere described. The same may be said of the Suklas to the MARUTS, the ASHWINS, the RIBBUS, whose attributes and exploits are more repetitions of what has gone before: the Suktas dedicated to PUSHAN more explicitly describe him as the guardian of roads and protector of tra cellers, indicating an interchange of domicale and intercor . . or traffic that could prevail only amongst a people advanced some way in civilization: Pushan appears also in a new character as the patron of conjurors (VI. 5. 5.), especially of those who discover stolen goods, an order of professors still familiar to the peoples of India.

A solitary passage, and one of which the commentator has given no satisfactory explanation, raises the number of the deities to an extent which is wholly incompatible with the ordinary enumeration; it is said at the close of the minth Sukta of the first chapter of the third Ashtaka (p. 5, v. 9) that three thousand three hundred and thirty-nine deities, devas, have done homage to Agniand appointed him their ministrant priest. Saxana refers for the confirmation of this statement to the Brihad Aranyaka, where something of the kind is found, but which cannot be regarded as authority for the text of the Veda: the ordinary enumeration of the classes of the subordinate divinities makes the authority for this enumeration as d in the Paranas; Vishna Par., p. 123, note.

Othough the texts of the Rig-Veda, more or less detached, are extensively employed in the ritual of the Brahmans, yet the allusions to ceremonial offices are very rare, and not always very explicit; of course commendations of the offering of the jaice of the Soma plant are constantly repeated, and its effects upon those who drink it, especially INDRA, are described in the usual exaggerated strain; there is also occasionally a palpable confusion of attributes with those of the moon, arising out of identity of matter (VI. 3, 16, 3). Clarified butter, or Gla is also not unfrequently named or alluded to; and in one instance we have a hymn to the Yupa, or post to which the victim is fastened, as typical of the Vanaspati, the lord of the wood, the tree out of which it has been fabricated. The practice of animal sacrifices on an extensive scale is affirmed in two places, in one of which (p. 202, v. 7) it is said, that three hundred buffaloes have been offered to INDRA as a burnt-offering, and in the other it is prayed that one hundred may be so offered; the phrase in both passages is dressing or cooking, (root pach); so that the offering, like that of other nations of antiquity, was no doubt partaken of by those presenting the holocaust; another Sukta (p. 17) is considered by the Scholinst as appropriate to an animal sacrifice, as it repeatedly specifies the presentation of the marrow or fat from the interior of the victim to Agni.

There is scarcely any indication of doctrinal or philosophical speculation, no allusion to the later notions of the several schools, except those expressions above noticed suggestive of the identity of all gods and of all beings; nor is there any hint of the metempsychosis, or of the doctrine which is intimately allied to it, of the repeated repoyation of the world; on the contrary, there is one remarkable passage which denies this elsewhere unquestioned proposition. It is there emphatically affirmed that the heaven and the earth were generated but once, as was the milk of Prishin, or the nourishment of the winds, that is to say, the rain; and that nothing similar was successively produced (VI. 4, 5, 22).

Various intimations are given, although less frequent or decisive than in the preceding Ashtakus, of the social condition of the Hindus of the Vaidik period: they confirm the conclusions previously drawn of the advanced state of civilization; cities are repeatedly mentioned, and although, as the objects of INDRA's hostility, they may be considered as cities in the clouds, the residences of the Asurus, yet the notion of such aggregations of any class of beings could alone have been suggested by actual observation, and the idea of cities in heaven could have been derived only from familiarity with similar assemblages upon earth; but, as above intimated, it is probable that by Asuras we are to understand, at least occasionally, the anti-vaidik people of India, and that theirs are the cities destroyed. It is also to be observed that the cities are destroyed on behalf or in defence of mortal princes, who could scarcely have beleaguered celestial towns, even with INDRA's assistance; indeed in one instance (p. 130, v. 3) it is said that, having destroyed uinety and nine out of the hundred cities of the Asura, Shambara, INDRA left the hundredth habitable for his protegé. Divodara, a terrestrial monarch to whom a metropolis in the firmament would have been of questionable advantage.

That the cities of those days consisted, to a great extent, of mud and mat hovels is very possible: they do so still: Benares, Agra, Delhi, even Calcutta, present numerous constructions of the very humblest class: but that they consisted of these exclusively is contradicted in several places. In one passage (p. 136, v. 20), the cities of Shambara that have been overturned are said to have consisted of stone: in another, the same cities are indicated by the appellative dehyah, the plustered intimating the use of lime, mortar, or stucco; in another, we have specified a structure with a thousand columns, which, whether a palace or a temple, must have been something very different from a cottage; and again, a supplication is put up for a large habitation, which could not be intended for a hut; cities with buildings of some pretence must obviously have been no ratities to the authors of the hymns of the Rig-Veda,

Notice has already been taken the large scale upon which even allowing for exaggeration, wars must have been carried on: a similar passage occurs (p. 136, v. 21), in which it is said that INDRA, for the sake of DABHITI. destroyed thirty thousand Dasas, slaves, or antivaidiks; the Scholiast says Rakshasas and others, but the text has only dasa, and Darsiti is a mortal. It is not however, only with Dasas and Dasyus that we find hostilities prevail and the Aryas seem to have been equally at variance amongst themselves. Indea is said, in one passage, to have slain two of their leaders on the Sharayu river, and in another to have destroyed alike both Aryan and Dasas (VI. 3, 10, 3); there seems, indeed, to have been considerable animosity prevailing amongst the people, and the gods are not unfrequently solicited to protect the worshipper against his own reighbours and relations. That the religion or the government did not always feel secure may be inferred from a passage in which INDRA is requested to protect the worshipper not only in war. but in peace, or amongst or against the people (VI. 3, 18, 5).

Of progress in the useful arts we have, as before occasional exemplifications. The practice of agriculture has already been noticed; the art of weaving is vary particularly mentioned, although in connexion with some mystical reference to creation or sacrifics; the sharpening of the edge of iron weapons makes it likely that steel is intended; and there is nothing surprising in this, as Indian steel was known to the Persians in the days of Ctesias; the melting of metallic substances was practised (V. 5. 1 — ery possibly of gold, for golden ornaments, golden can asses, are repeatedly mentioned; it might be thought that even coins were current, for amongst the presents made to the Risks of a Sukta ten purses are specified (VI. 4. 4. 22); the term kosayih may be interpreted, however, bags or chests, and they may have contained only a certain weight of precious metal.

The same (amiliarity with the sea that has been previously commented on occasionally occurs, with sufficient explicitness to leave no doubt of the meaning of the text; thus, in one place the rivers are said to rush to the ocean eager to mix with it (p. 44, v. 7); and again, the rivers disappear in the ocean, where also it is said that those desirous of profit are engaged in traversing the ocean, clearly indicating maritime traffic; the Maruta, or personified winds, are said to toss the clouds like ships or as the Scholiast amplifies a rather elliptical phrase, as the ocean tosses ships; in another place (VI. 2, 5, 12), although the particular expressions may be equivocal, yet it is undeniable that the passage is intended to convey the crossing of the ocean by certain individuals under the guidance of INDRA.

There are one or two curious passages relating to the laws of inheritance, and of simple contract, or buying and seiling; they may not be very precise or altogether intelligible, yet they are sufficiently so to show that legislative enactments were in existence, and that, with respect to these two subjects, the law was essentially the same as that which is laid down in the reputed writings of ancient legislators, and, to a certain extent, is still in force. A son, by virtue of holy acts, that is, it may be inferred, the worship of the manes, although not so specified, is the heir, to the exclusion of a daughter, as she, by marriage, conveys the property into a different family : she is, however, to be enriched with gifts, upon her marriage. it may be supposed by way of dower; in default of a direct male heir, the son of a daughter is to perform the rites, and consequently inherit the property; but this applies to the son of an appointed daughter," who, according to all the oldest authorities, was considered equal to a son; and the term used in the passage in question evidently comprehends this stipulation or appointment: the Shasadvahm is the transferrer of his daughter to another family, under agreement or stipulation, and thereby proceeds to, or establishes, the affiliation of a grandson; or as the Scholiast, no doubt quite correctly, states it, the father stipulates, I will give you my daughter, who has no brothers, on condition that the son who may be begotten on her may be my son also: now this, although ancient law, is a refinement upon the rules of inheritance. and is an unquestionable evidence of advanced civilization.

The law, that if a person have sold a commodity for less than its value, and repents of having done so.

&quot;The son of an appointed daughter is equal to the son of the body: he shall inherit as a son the estate of his father and of his maternal grandfather, who leaves no male issue."

he cannot reclaim the commodity sold, from the buyer, is apparently the law of the present day, though there be some difference of opinion; what has been sold, it is said, at a low price by an idiot, or one inebriate or insane, may be resumed compulsorily, if need be, from the buyer ; but it is then reasonably inferred, that if it be sold for a low price by a man sound of mind, the sale is valid: this is so far qualified, that if the sale have been made by mistake it may be cancelled; and in general, rescission of the sale or purchase of things not perishable is allowable within ten days, at the will of either of the parties : this is considered by Mill (History of India, Vol. 1, p. 232) as altogether incompatible with an age in which the divisions and refinements of industry have multiplied the number of exchanges; and he would, therefore, have looked upon the law, as it is laid down in the text of the Veda, making a sale and purchase, once concluded, unalterable, as a proof of an advanced era in the interchange of marketable commodities.

So far, therefore, the allusions to the social condition of the Hmdus are in harmony with those that have been previously noticed; and the same may be said of the references made to the tracts occupied by them, which were in the north-west and west of India, from the Punjab to the mouths of the Indus, their outlet to the ocean; we have the Yamuna mentioned once, the Ganges once: the Saraswati is often named in both her characters as a goddess and a river, and the Driskadimi, is in one place, associated with her as in Manu, along with another river not met with elsewhere, the Apaya; the Vipasha and Shatudri, or Boyah and Sutley, are interlocutors in a Sukta with the Rishi Vishwamitra, in which he entreats them to allow him to ford them with his attendants and waggons, being bound to the north-west, as he states. to collect the Soma plant. Other rivers are named, as the Rasa, Anitabha, Kubha (p. 244, v. 9), Parushni, and the Hariyupiya. or Yavyavati, the positions of which are no longer known, but which were probably in the west, and were feeders of the Indus. On the eastern bank of the Hariyupiya dwelt a people called Vrichivats, or Varasikhus, who were subjugated, with the aid of INDRA, by the Rajas Abhyavartin and Prastoka (VI. 3, 4, 6). and who we may suppose, therefore, not to have been Hindus.* A people called Rusamus, inhabiting, it is said, a country so called, must have been an orthodox race. presenting valuable gifts to the Rishi of a Sukta in which their liberality is enlogized (p. 206, v. 13); on the other hand it seems to be intimated, that the Hinduism of the Vedas had not spread into South Behar, when it is asked, what do the cattle for thee (INDRA), among the Kikalas (p. 65, v. 14), Kikata being the ordinary appellation of that province; and it is not incompatible with the apparent limitation of the Hindus in the time of the Vedas to the western countries, that their religion had not extended so far into the interior, especially into a country which is still partly covered by forest, and inhabited by barbarous tribes. Besides the rivers and races thus named, and for the most part peculiar to the Veda, we have a number of names of Rajas which are not met with elsewhere (pp. 200, 212, and VI. 3, 4.); the intermarriage of royal and saintly races, of which the Puranas afford examples, is of Vaidik authority, and is curiously illustrated by the story of Shyavashwa (p. 256).

A few legends of an interesting description occur in the Ashtakas now translated; thus, in the third (p. 63, HL 4. 15), we have a hymn of some length by Vishwamirra, which is usually regarded as authority for the existence of a violent feud between the author and the Rishs VASISHTHA, and their respective descendants, and to be the vehicle of such an imprecation upon the latter, that Brahmans, who profess to belong to the gotra, the traditional family or school of Vasishtha, will not read or transcribe the passages; the cause of quarrel is not alluded to in the Veda, but it is repeatedly detailed, with some variations, in the heroic poems and Puranas, The oldest form of the legend is, no doubt, that of the Ramayana, repeated in the Mahabharata, Adi Parya, where VISHWAMITBA, whilst yet in his original or Kshatriya character, attempts to carry off by violence the all-bestowing cow from the hermitage of Vasishtha, typifying. no doubt, a quarrel between the Brahmamcal and Kshatriya races for the dominion of the all-yielding earth; in which. however, it is very remarkable that the forces summoned to take the part of the Brahman are all foreigners, Shakas, Yacanas, Pahnavas, and Mlechchhas, or unconverted tribes, as Draviras, Paundras, Kiratus. Vishwamitra afterwards, by the force of penance, becoming a Brahman, appears in the Ramayana, and in the dramas thence derived, on very friendly terms with Vasishtha, as the Purchita or family priest of Dashanatha, but in the Mahabharata, Adi Parca, vol. 1, p. 243, and Shahya Parca, vol. 3, p. 361, we have repeated incidents of offence given, especially by Vishwamitra, by which Vasishtha is reduced to despair, and endeavours in vain to destroy himself. Some of these circumstances are subsequently alluded to.

Another legend worthy of notice is that of Vamadeva, who, whilst yet unborn, insists on coming into existence by his mother's side, an incident that may have been suggestive of the subsequent similarly marvellous birth of Buddha. Another incident adverted to is that of Vamadeva having, when hungry, cooked for his food the entrails of a dog, a circumstance repeated in the tenth book of Manu. Several allusions seem to indicate that the followers of the Vedas were not very sempulous as to the articles of their diet; in appears, for instance, that the flesh of the wild cattle was allowable (p. 122, v. 8); and, in one passage, even that of the cow is said to be the best of food (VI. 3, 16, 1).

The story of the Raja TRYABUNA, his Purchit, and the boy over whom the latter drives the former's car, involves a legal argument, which is amongst the subtleties of Hindu legislation; See Law Questions, Ballantyne's

Synopsis of Science, vol. 1, p. x.; the consequence, however, the cessation of the use of fire, is more remarkable. intimating possibly a sort of interdict, during which the performance of burnt-sacrifices was suspended; the story is rather obscurely narrated. We may advert to one more legend, as it is more particularly given by MANU (10, 107.); the Veda merely states the fact that BRA-RADWATA, the Rishi, accepted presents from a person named BRIBU: in MANU and in the Niti Manjari he is said to have been a carpenter or woodcutter; and in both these authorities the moral of the story is the legality of the acceptance of presents from persons of inferior caste, by Brahmans in time of distress; the latter qualification was probably unknown in the days of the Veda, when questions of impurity, whether of food or of caste, had not come to be entertained.

At the same time it may be doubted whether there are not in these two portions of the Rig-Veda, some intimation of the institution of caste, although not yet fully developed: the five classes, which sometimes signify different orders of created beings, can, in one or two passages, apply to human beings alone; whether to the four usual distinctions with the Nishada for the fifth is not explicitly asserted in the text, although it is so understood by the commentator. The designation of Brahmana not infrequently occurs, although its specific application may be questionable: in one passage (p. 153, v. I) we have the term Kshatriya, as the immediate dependant upon a Raja: Vish, meaning people in general, offers the rudiments of Vaishya, although rol prefisely the same word; we have not, however, met anywhere with the term Shudra, although the thing may be intended by the words Dasa and Dasih, slave and serviles; the absence of the appropriate appellation is, however, a reasonable argument against the recognition of the order to which it belongs; and it must be admitted that the indications of the four recognized castes are imperfect and inconclusive.

Whatever may be the case with the specification of caste, however, the same entire abstinence that has been heretofore observed from all allusion to the objects of worship consecrated by the Puranas and Tantras continues to prevail in the two additional sections now translated; and the personified triad of divine attributes, BRAHMA, VISHNU, SHIVA, in their capacities of creator, preserver, destroyer, with the popular forms of the two latter Krishna and the Linga, and all the manifestations of the bride of Mahadena, continue to be utterly unknown to the primitive texts of the religion of the Hindus.

H. H. WILSON,

NOTE TO THIS EDITION.

The alterations made in this volume follow the lines indicated in the Prefatory Note to Volume I, with the following addition:—

The third volume of the original edition is very bulky and contains the third and fourth Ashtakas. The fourth Ashtaka ends with the 61st Sukta of the sixth Mandalo. I finish this volume with the fifth Mandala. The Introduction naturally contains some references to the sixth Mandala, and these the reader will find in the next volume.

   the sagacious selector of treasures, the blackbacked, many-limbed (AGN) has granted them a place of rest for the cherishing of (their) rapid speed.
- The flowing (rivers) invigorating him, bear along the great son of Twasness, the undecaying upholder (of the world), radiant with various forms in the vicinity (of the firmament): Agni is associated with heaven and earth. as (a husband with) one only wife.

5. Men comprehend the service of the uninjurable showerer (of benefits), and exult in the commands of the mighty (AGNI): their frequent and earnest hymns of praise, bright and radiant, are illuminating heaven.

Verily (men) bring great delight to Agai by glorifying aloud the mighty parents (heaven and earth), when the shedder of rain approximates his own radiance to the worshipper, (wherewith) to invest the night.

7. Seven sages with five ministering priests attend the station that is prepared for the rapid (AoNI); the undecaying divine (sages), with their faces to the east, sprinkling (the libations), rejoice as they celebrate the worship of the gods.

8. I propitiate the two first divine offerers of sacrifice; the seven (priests) rejoice with the libation; the illustrious celebrators of holy worship, reciting (his) praises, have called Agnr the true (object) of every rite.

- 9. Divine invoker of the gods, the vast and widespreading rays shed (moisture) for thee, the mighty, the victorious, the wonderful, the showerer (of benefits); do thou who art all-knowing, joy-bestowing, bring hither the great gods, and beaven and earth.
- 10. Ever-moving (AGN1) may the mornings rise for us, abounding with oblations, with pious prayers, and with auspicious signs, and conferring wealth; and do thou, with the might of thy (diffusive flame), consume all ain on behalf of thy respectable (worshipper).

11. Grant, AGNI, to the offerer of the oblation, earth the bestower of cattle, the means of many (pious rites), such that it may be perpetual: may there be to us sons and grandsons, and may thy good-will ever be productive of benefits to us.

HL 1. 8.

The deity is considered to be the Fupz, or sacrificial post, diversified as single or as many; the Vishwaleaus are the deities of the eighth stanza; the Bishi is Vrsuwamrna; the metre of the third and seventh verses is Annahubh; of the reat, Trishtubh.

- Vanaspati, the devout anoint thee with sacred butter at the sacrifice; and whether thou standest erect, or thine abode be on the lap of this thy mother (earth), grant us riches.
- Standing on the east of the kindled (fire), dispensing food (as the source) of undecaying (health) and excellent progeny, keeping off our enemy at a distance, stand up for great auspiciousness.
- Be exalted, Vanaspati, upon this sacred spot of earth, being measured with careful measurement, and bestow food upon the offerer of the sacrifice.
- Well clad and hung with wreaths comes the youthful (pillar): most excellent it is as soon as generated; steadfast and wise venerators of the gods, meditating piously in their minds, raise it up.
- 5. Born (in the forest), and beautified in the sacrifice celebrated by men, it is (again) engendered for the sanctification of the days (of sacred rites): steadfast, active, and intelligent (priests) consecrate it with intelligence, and the devout worshipper recites its praise.

May those (posts) which devout men have cut down, or which. Vanaspatt, the axe has trimmed, may they standing resplendent with all their parts (entire) bestow upon us wealth with progeny.

 May those posts which have been cut down upon the earth, and which have been fabricated by the priests, those which are the accomplishers of the sacrifice, convey our acceptable (offering) to the gods.

8. May the leaders of the rite, the divine Adityas, Rudras, Vasus, Heaven and Earth, the Earth, the firmament, well pleased, protect our sacrifice; let them raise aloft the standard of the ceremony.

9. Arrayed in bright (garments), entire (in their parts), these pillars ranging in rows like swans, have come to us exected by pious sages on the east (of the fire); they proceed resplendent on the path of the gods.

10. Entire in all parts and girded with rings, they appear upon the earth like the horns of horned cattle; hearing (their praises) by the priests; may they protect us in battles.

 Vanaspati, mount up with a hundred branches, that we may mount with a thousand, thou whom the sharpened hatchet has brought for great auspiciousness.

III. 1, 9,

The delty is Auxi; the Rishi Vishwanitha; the metre Brikati, except in the last verse, in which it is Trishtubk.

 We thy mortal friends have recourse for our protection to thee, the divine, the grandson of the waters, the auspicious, the resplendent, the accessible, the sinless.

- Desirous as thou art of the forests since thou hast repaired to the maternal waters, AGN1, thy tarrying so far away is not to be endured; (in a moment) thou art here with us.
- Thou wishest exceedingly to convey satisfaction (to thy worshipper) and art thereto well-disposed; of those in whose friendship thou art cherished, some precede whilst others sit around.
- The benignant and long-lived deities have discovered thee. Acri, when required to go against their constant and assembled foes, hidden in the waters like a lion (in a cave).
- MATABISHWAN therefore brought for the gods from afar, Aont, hiding of himself, and generated by attrition, as (a father brings back) a fugitive (son).
- 6. Bearer of oblations, men apprehend thee (thus concealed) for the service of the gods, and that thou, youngest (of the deities) and friendly to mankind, mayest recompense by thy acts all their pious rites.
- Auspicious is thy worship for it prospers the ignorant (worshipper), wherefore animals reverence thee. AGNI, kindled in the beginning of the night.
- 8. Offer oblations to the object of holy sacrifice, the brilliant purifier, who is dormant (in fuel): worship quietly the pervader (of the rite), the messenger (of the gods), the rapid, the ancient deity who is entitled to laudation.
- 9. Three thousand three hundred and thirty-nine divinities have worshipped AGNI: they have sprinkled him with melted butter; they have spread for him the sacred grass; and have seated him upon it as their miniatrant priest.

HIL L 10.

The deity and Bishi as before : the matre is Ushnik.

- Thee, the king of men; Agni, the divine; prudent mortals kindle thee at the sacrifice.
- They praise thee as the priest, the invoker (of the gods) at sacrifices: shine forth the protector of the piousrite in thine own abode.
- He verily who presents oblations to thee, the knower of all things, he acquires (AGNI) excellent progeny: he prospers.
- May (AGNI), the banner of sacrifices, offering oblations on the part of the worshipper through (the ministry of) the seven officiating priests, come hither with the gods.
- Offer to the ministering AGNI as if to the Creator (of the world), the great praise recited of old, for the sake of animating the energies of the pious (worshippers).
- May our hymns exalt Agns, so that he may be born more worthy of praise, and may become manifest for (the purpose of bestowing) abundant food and riches.
- 7. Agni, thou art to be especially worshipped at the sacrifice: worship the gods (on behalf of) the devout (worshipper): thou shinest the invoker (of the gods) the exhibitator (of the pious) overcoming thy foes.
- Do thou, our purifier, light up for us a brilliant progeny: be ever nigh to those who praise thee for their wellbeing.
- The wise, intelligent, and vigilant (worshippers) kindle thee, such as thou (hast been described), the bearer of oblations, the immortal, generated by strength.

HL L IL

The deity and Riski as before; the metre is Gayatri.

- Agar, the invoker of the gods, the minister (of the gods), the supervisor of the sacrifice, understands the solemn rite in its due course.
- That AGNI, who is the bearer of oblations, the immortal, the desirer (of offerings), the messenger (of the gods), and is the receiver of sacrificial viands, is associated with understanding.
- Agnt, the ancient banner of sacrifice, knows (all things) through understanding; his radiance traverses (the darkness).
- The gods have made AGNI, who is the son of strength, the eternally-renowned, the knower of all that is born, the bearer (of oblations).
- Ages, the preceder of human beings, (ever) alert, the vehicle of their offerings, is ever new, is unsusceptible of harm.
- Agni, the most liberal contributor of food, is able to resist all assailants unharmed, the nourisher of the gods.
- From Again of purifying radiance the mortal presenter (of offerings) obtains by his conveyance (of them to the gods) abundant viands and a dwelling.
- May we, endowed with intelligence, obtain all good things by our praises of AGNI, to whom all is known.
- May we obtain, Agnt. all precious things (as booty) in battles, since the gods are concentrated in thee.

III. 1, 12.

The deities are INDRA and AUNT; the Bishi and metre as before.

- I. INDRA and AGNL come to this acceptable libation, (brought) by our praises from heaven, and induced by (our) devotion to drink of it.
- Indra and Agni, the conscious sacrifice associated with the worshipper proceeds to you; (summoned) by this (invocation), drink the libation.
- Urged by the energy of the sacrifice. I have recourse to Indra and Agni, the protectors of the pions: may they be satisfied with the Soma here presented.
- I invoke Indra and Agni, the discomfiters of foes, the destroyers of Vritra, the victorious, the invincible, the bestowers of most abundant food.
- 5. The reciters of prayers, the repeaters of praise, who are skilled in sacred song, worship you both: I have recourse to INDRA and AGNI for food.
- INDEA and AGNI, with one united effort you overthrew ninety cities ruled over by (your) foes.
- INDRA and AGNI the pious ministers, are present at our holy rite, according to the ways of worship.
- INDRA and AGNI, in you, vigour and food are abiding together, and therefore in you is deposited the dispensing of water.
- INDRA and AGNI, illuminators of heaven, be ever graced (with victory) in battles, for such thy prowess proclaims.

ANUVAKA II.

IH 2, 1,

- (Priests) utter devout (praises) to this your divine Agni, that so glorified he may come to us with the gods, and sit down on the sacrificial grass.
- 2. The observer of truth, of whom (are) heaven and earth, and whose vigour the protecting (deities) assist: him, the offerers of oblations adore, and those desirous of riches (have recourse) to him for protection.
- 3. He, the sage, is the director of those (who sacrifice), he is (the regulator) of sacrifices: worship him your (benefactor), the donor, who is the bestower of wealth.
- May that Agnt bestow upon us prosperous dwellings for our maintenance, so that from him infinite wealth, whether it may be in heaven or from earth, or in the waters (may come to us).
- The devout kindle (the fire) with his wealth-obtaining rites. (to worship) the radiant, unpreceded AGNI, the invoker (of the gods), the protector of men.
- Perfect our prayer. Invoker of the gods, as well as our hymns: AGNI, who increasest with the winds and art the giver of thousands, augment our felicity.
- Grant us indeed. AGNI, wealth (that may be counted) by thousands, and comprising offspring, nourishment, brilliant treasure, and vigour, and be infinite and inexhaustible.

III. 2. 2. /4

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Trishtubk.

- The invoker (of the gods), the exhibitantor (of his worshippers), the true, the offerer of sacrifice, the mostwise, the creator, is present at our sacred rites. AGNI, the son of strength, whose chariot is the lightning, whose hair is flame, manifests his glory on the earth.
- 2. I utter to thee the words of adoration, he pleased by them, observer of truth; endowed with strength, (they are addressed) to thee who art the expounder (of sacred rites); wise (as thou art) bring (hither) the wise; object of sacrifice, sit down in the midst upon the sacred grass for our protection.
- 3. May the food-bestowing day and night hasten to thee whilst thou, Aont, meetest them on the paths of the wind; since (the priests) ever worship thee preceding (them) with oblations, whilst they (united) like the pole (and the yoke of a waggon), abide successively in our dwelling.
- Vigorous AGNI, to thee MITRA and VARUNA, and all the Maruts, offer praise; since, son of strength, thou standest a sun, shedding (thy) rays with lustre on mankind.
- With uplifted hands, approaching thee with reverence, we present to thee to-day our oblation; do thou, who art wise, worship the gods with most devout mind and with unwearied praise.
- 6. From thee, verily, son of strength, many and various benefactions and various kinds of food devolve upon the devout (worshipper): do thou grant us, AGNI, infinite.

wealth, and (a son) observant of truth, with speech devoid of guile.

7. Divine (AGNI), mighty and omniscient, these (are the offerings) which we mortals present to thee in the sacrifice; do thou be cognizant of every respectable worshipper, and particle, immortal, of all (his offerings) on this occasion.

HI. 2. 3. 15

The deity is Aun; the Rishi is UTKILA of the Kala gorea, or family at the metre is Trishtubh.

- Radiant with great glory, repel the hostile Rakshasus and Pishachas: may I be in (the enjoyment) of the favour of the great (AGNI), the giver of prosperity, and in the service of (him who is) easily invoked.
- Consider thyself our protector at the breaking of the dawn to-day and when the sun has risen: AGNI, who art engendered with (embodied) form, be pleased with my constant praise, as a father (is pleased with) his sou.
- 3. Showerer (of benefits), beholder of men, radiant amidst darkness, shine, AGNI, with abundant (rays) in due order: granter of dwellings, conduct us (to good), keep off all ill, and youngest (of all the gods), gratify our desires for wealth.
- 4. Agni, who art irresistible and the showerer (of benefits), consume victorious all the cities (of the foe), and (all their) precious things: (do thou), the duly worshipped, the knower of all that is born, (be for us) the conductor of the first great preserving sacrifice.
- Destroyer (of the world), do thou who art endowed with intelligence and radiance, celebrate many faultless.

sacred rites in honour of the gods, and restraining (thy impatience), convey to them like a waggon our (sacrificial) food: illume (with thy rays) the beautiful heaven and earth.

- 6. Be propitious, showerer (of benefits); grant (abundant) food. Agnr; (make) heaven and earth yield us milk; divine (Agnr), associated with the gods, shining with bright radiance, let not the ill-will of any mortal prevail against us.
- 7. Grant, Agni, to the offerer of the oblation, earth the giver of cattle the means of many sacred rites, such that it may long endure: may there be to us sons and grandsons, and may thy favour, Agni, be productive of good unto us.

m. 2. 4: //

The deity and Rishi are the same; the motee of the odd verses is Bribati; of the even, Sato-bribati.

- This Agni, is the lord of heroism and of great good fortune; he is the lord of wealth comprising progeny and cattle; he is the lord of the slayers of VRITRA.
- Macuts, leaders (of rites), associate with this augmenter (of our prosperity), in whom (abide) riches contributing to felicity, ye who (are victorious) over (your) enemies in battle, who daily humble (your) foes.
- Do thou, opulent Agar, showever (of benefits), prosper us with riches comprising vigour, numerous progeny, health, and happiness.
- 4. He who is the maker pervades all worlds; he the enduring maker (of all) bears our offerings to the gods;

he is present with the devout (worshippers) and amidst the heroism and the devotions of men.

- 5. Consign us not, Aoxi, to malignity; (doom) us not to the absence of posterity; nor, son of strength, to the want of cattle, nor to reproach: drive away (all) animosities.
- Auspicious Agnt, bestow (upon us) at the rite, food (the source of) happiness and renown.

HL 2, 5, 17

The delty is ADM; the Riski is KATA, the son of VISHWARITEA; the metre Trisktubb.

- I. The righteous (AGNI) when first kindled on the several (altars) the object of adoration by all, whose hair is flame, and who is cleansed with butter, the purifier, the worthily-worshipped, is sprinkled with oblations for the worship of the gods.
- 2. As thou didst offer the burnt-offering, AGNL (on behalf of) earth; as thou, JATAVEDAS, who art cognizant (of sacred rites, didst offer sacrifice on behalf) of heaven; so with this oblation worship the gods, and perfect this rite to-day (as thou didst) that of MANU.
- 3. Three are thy existences Javavenas; three, Agni, are thy parent dawns; with them offer the oblation of the gods, and knowing (his wishes) be the bestower of happiness on the institutor of the sacrifice.
- JATAVEDAS, we venerate thee, glorifying the brilliant, beautiful, adorable Agni: the gods have made thee their messenger, the disinterested bearer of oblations, the centre of ambrosia;

5. He is the most diligent offerer of worship who is the presenter of oblations before thou art, and who in two places (the middling and the best) seated with the sacrificial food is (the source of) happiness (to the worshippers); do thou, cognizant (of the objects of devotion), efficiate in accordance with his piety, and thus render our rite acceptable to the gods.

III. 2. 6.

The deity, Richi and metre as before.

- Be favourably disposed, AGNI, on approaching us (at this rite); be the fulfiller (of our objects) like a friend (to a friend) or parents (to a child); since men are the grievous oppressors of men, do thou consume the foes who come against us.
- 2. Vex thoroughly, Agni, our assailing enemies, disappoint the purpose of the adversary who offers not worship; giver of dwellings, who art cognizant (of sacred rites), vex those who have no thought (of pious acts) so that thy undecaying, all-pervading (rays), may ever abide.
- 3. Desirous (of wealth) I offer to thee, AGNI, an oblation with butter and with fuel for thy speed and invigoration, praising thee with a holy prayer as much as I am able: (I propitiate thee) that thou mayest render this praise resplendent with infinite treasure.
- 4. Rise up, son of strength, with (thy) splendour when hymned, and bestow abundant food and wealth, Agni, upon the descendants of Vishwamitha celebrating thy praise; and grant them exemption from sickness and danger; Encourager of pious works (Agni), we repeatedly sprinkle thy substance (with milk and butter).

5. Liberal donor (of riches) bestow upon us the most precious of treasures, for therefore is it, AgNi, that thou art kindled; thou hast arms promptly stretched forth, whose (radiant) forms (bestow) wealth on the dwelling of thy fortunate adorer.

III. 2. 7.

The deity and metre as before; the Richi is Garmin, a son of Vishwampina.

- I have recourse in this sacrifice to Agni, the invoker and praiser (of the gods), the intelligent, the all-knowing, the unbeguiled; may be, the adorable, sacrifice for us to the gods, (and) accept the precious (offerings) we make for food and riches.
- Reverencing the gods, I place before thee, AGNI, the brilliant oblation-yielding, food-bestowing, buttercharged (offering); mayest thou (propitiated) by the presented wealth, sanctify (this) sacrifice by your circumambulation.
- 3. He who is protected, AGN1, by thee, becomes endowed with a most luminous mind; bestow upon him excellent progeny; may we ever be under the power of thee, who art the willing dispenser of riches; glorifying thee (may we be) the receptacles of wealth.
- 4. The ministering priests have concentered in thee, AGNI, who art divine, many hosts (of flames); do thou bring hither the gods, youngest (of the deities), that thou mayest worship to-day the divine effulgence.
- 5. Inasmuch as the attendant divine (priests) anoint thee as the invoker of the gods to offer worship in the sacrifice, therefore do thou assent to be our protector on this occasion, and grant abundant food to our descendants.

III. 2. s. 20

The Vishwaderus are the derties of the first and last stanzas; Aust the deity of the rest; the Riski and metre as before.

1. The bearer (of the oblation) invokes with praises at the break of day, Agni, the dawn, the Ashwins, and Dadhikra: may the resplendent divinities, desirous of our sacrifice, hear in unison (the invocation).

2. Agni, born of sacrifice, three are thy visads; three thine abiding places; three the tongues satisfying (the gods): three verily are thy forms, acceptable to the deities, and with them never heedless (of our wishes), be propitious to our praises.

Divine AGNI, knowing all that exists and distributor of food, many are the names of thee, who are immortal, satisfier of all men, friend of the suppliant, the gods have deposited in thee whatever are the delusions of the deluding (Rakshasas).

4. The divine Agni is the guide of devout men, as the sun is the regulator of the seasons: may he, the observer of truth, the slayer of Vertra, the ancient, the omniscient, convey his adorer (safe) over all difficulties.

 I invoke to this rite, Dalhikra, Agni, the divine Ushas, Brihaspati, the divine Savitri, the Ashwins, Mitra and Varuna, Bhaga, the Vasus, the Rudras, and Adityas.

HL 2. 9. 2/

The deity is Aux; the Riski, Garutt; the metre of the first and fourth verses is Trisklubb; of the second and third Annahlabb; and of the lifth Scho-brikets.

- I. Convey our sacrifice, JATAVEDAS, to the immortals, and do thou accept these oblations: AGNI, invoker (of the gods), seated (on the situr) first partake of the drops of the marrow and of the butter.
- The drops of the marrow charged with butter fall, purifier, to thee, at thine own rate, for the food of the gods: therefore grant us excellent affluence.
- 3. The drops (of marrow) dripping with butter are offered. Acros, to thee who art wise; thou the most excellent Rishi art kindled; be the protector of the sacrifice.
- Irrepressible and powerful AoNi, the drops of marrow and of butter distil for thee; therefore do thou, who are praised by sages, come with great splendour, and be pleased, ever intelligent AoNi, with our oblations.
- 5. We present to thee the densest marrow that has been extracted for thee from the interior (of the victim); granter of dwellings, the drops fall for thee upon the skin; distribute them amongst the gods.

III. 2. 10. 22

Five from are the deities; the Rishi as before; the metre of the fourth stanza is Assahlabb; of the rest Trishinks.

I. This is that Aont in whom Indra, desirous (of the oblation), placed the effused Some for (his own) belly: thou art praised by us. Jaravedas, enjoying the sacrificial food of many sorts like a rapid courser (enjoying many pleasures in battle).

- Adorable Agai, thy radiance that is in the heaven, on the earth, in the plants, in the waters, and wherewith thou overspreadest the firmament, that is shining and resplendent, overlooking man (vast as) the oceau.
- 3. Thou movest, Agni, to the vapour in heaven; thou congregatest the divinities who are the vital airs (of the body); thou animatest the waters in the bright region above the sun, as well as those that are in the firmament beneath.
- May the benignant fires termed purishyus, together with the instruments (that have dug the pits in which they are placed) combined, accept the sacrifice (and grant us) salutary and abundant food.
- 5. Grant. Agni, to the offerer of the oblation earth the giver of cattle, the means of many sacred rites, such that it may long endure: may there be to us sons and grandsons, and may thy favour, Agni, be productive of good unto us.

III. 2. 11. 23

The deity is AGN1; the Rishie are DEVASURAVAE, and DEVAVATA, sons of Bharata; the metre is Trishtubh, except in the third stanza, where it is Sato-bribate.

 Churned (by the friction of the sticks), duly placed in the sacrificial chamber, the young and sage leader of the rite, JATAVEDAS, the imperishable AGNL (blazing) amidst consuming forests, grants us on this occasion ambrosial (food).

- 2. The two sons of Bharata, Devashravas and Dewavata, have churned the very powerful and weslthbestowing Agni; look upon us, Agni, with vast riches, and be the bringer of food (to us) every day.
- The ten fingers have generated this ancient (AGNI); praise, Devashbavas, this well-born, beloved (son) of his parents, generated by Devavata, AGNI, who is the servant of men.
- I place thee in an excellent spot of earth on an auspicious day of days; do thou, Aunt, shine on the frequented (banks) of the Drishadvati, Apaya, and Saraswati, tivers.
- 5. Grant, AGNI, to the offerer of the oblation earth the giver of cattle, the means of many sacred rites, such that it may long endure: may there be to us sons and grand-sons, and may thy favour, AGNI, be productive of good unto us.

We of the race of Kushika offering oblations, desirous of wealth, having contemplated him in our minds, invoke with praises the divine Vaishwanara, the observer of truth, the cognizant of heaven, the bountiful, the charioteer, the frequenter (of sacrifices).

We invoke thee for our own protection and for the devotions of mankind, the radiant Aoni, Vaishwanara, the illuminator of the firmament, the adorable lord of sacred rites, the wise, the hearer (of supplications), the guest (of man), the quick-moving.

3. Vaishwanara is kindled in every age by the Kushikos as a neighing foal (is nourished) by its mother: may that Agni, vigilant amongst the immortals, give us wealth with excellent offspring and good horses.

 May the swift fires combined with the vigorous winds proceed to the pure (region of the water), uniting the drops (of rain); the Maruts irresistible, all-knowing, agitate the copious-shedding clouds.

5. The fire-beautified, all-agitating Maruts: we seek their fierce radiance for protection: they, the sons of Rudha, the bountiful Maruts, whose form is the rain, are loud like roaring lions.

6. We solicit the might of the Maruts, the irradiation of Aunt with solemn prayers in every assembly and company (of worshippers); those Maruts who have partlycoloured steeds, who are dispensers of unfailing wealth, firm (of purpose), and frequenters of sacrifices.

- 7. I. Agni, am by birth endowed with knowledge of all that exists: clarified butter is my eye: ambrosia is my mouth: I am the living breath of three-fold nature, the measure of the firmament, eternal warmth: I am also the oblation.
- 8. Agai, thoroughly comprehending the light that is tobe understood by the heart, has purified himself (by the three) purifying (forms); he has made himself most excellent treasure by (these) self-manifestations, and has thence contemplated heaven and earth.
- 9. Heaven and earth be kind to that sage who is us it were a many-channelled and inexhaustible stream (of knowledge); the parent (of his disciples), the collater of holy texts, rejoicing on the lap of his parents, whose words are truth.

- The months, the half months, (the gods) who are the receivers of oblations, with the butter-yielding kine, preside over your rite; the sacrificer, desirous of prosperity, worships the gods.
- I worship with praise the wise AoNI, the accomplisher of sacrifice, the possessor of happiness, the repository of wealth.

- May we offering oblations effect the detention of thee who art divine (until the completion of the rite), and may we (thereby) overcome all animosities.
- We solicit that AGNI, who is being kindled at the sacrifice, the purifier, the adorable, whose hair is flame.
- AGNL the bright-shining, the immortal, the cleanser with clarified butter, the fitly-invoked, the bearer of the oblation in the sacrifice.
- The exorcisers (of the demons), lifting up their ladles, and offering sacrifice, have called upon AGNI by this ceremony for their protection.
- The offerer of the oblation, the divine, immortal, AGNI, comes first (at the ceremony) directing solemnities by his experience.
- 8. The mighty Agnt is placed (foremost by the gods) in hattle; he is brought forward reverently at holy rites; for he is the sage fulfiller of the sacrifice.
- 9. He who has been made by the sacred rite, the choice (of the worshipper), who comprehends (within himself) the germ of all creatures, and whom the daughter of DAKSHA (receives) as the parent of the world.
- Aoni, strength-engendered, has (the daughter) of Dansha has sustained thee, the desirable, the resplendent, and longing (for the oblation).
- The wise (priests) performers (of the ceremony) kindle with oblations for the due celebration of the rite.
   AGNL the regulator (of all), the sender of the rain.
- 12. I adore at this sacrifice Acas the grandson of (sacrificial) food, shining above in the firmament, the creation of the wise.

- 13. Agns, who is to be worshipped with praise and with prostration, the dispeller of darkness, the beautiful, the showerer (of benefits) is kindled.
- 14. The offerers of oblations glorify that Aunt who is the showerer (of benefits) and is the bearer of the offerings to the gods as a horse (bears his rider to his home).
- 15. Showerer (of benefits) we profusely offering (oblations) kindle thee, mighty and resplendent Auxi, who art the sender of showers.

III. 2, 16, 2

The deity and Rishi am as before; the metre of the third stanza is Dahnis; of the fourth Trishinh; of the fifth Jugati; of the rest. Gayatri.

- Again, by whom all is known, who rewardest pious acts with wealth, accept our cakes offered with butter at the morning worship.
- The cakes and butter are dressed, Agni, and verily prepared for thes; accept them youngest (of the gods).
- Eat, Agni, the cakes and butter offered as the day disappears: thou, son of strength, art stationed (by us) at the sacrifice.
- Wise JATAYRDAS accept the cakes and butter offered in this sacrifice at the mid-day rite; prodent (worshippers), withhold not at solemn ceremonies the portion of thee who art mighty.
- 5. Be pleased, AGNI, son of strength, with the cakes and butter offered at the third (daily ascrifice), and do thou (propitiated) by praise convey the precious imperishable and awakening (oblation) to the immortal gods.

Again who art Jaravedas and art thriving upon oblations, accept the cakes and butter as the day disappears.

HL 2/17. 24

The derty is Assa, except in the lifth verse, where the officiating priest is suppressed to take his place; the Rishi is Visuwantraa; the metre of the first, fourth, touth, and twelfth stancas is Assahlash; of the eighth, sleventh, fourteenth, and fifteenth, Jaguti, and of the rest Trishtabh,

- This, the apparatus of attrition is ready; the generation (of the flame) is ready; take up this (stick) the protectress of mankind, and let us churn the fire as has been done of old.
- JATAVEDAS has been deposited in the two sticks as the embryo is deposited in pregnant women: AGNI is to be adored day by day by vigilant men laden with oblations.
- 3. Let the intelligent pricet place the lower of the sticks with the face upwards, the upper (with the surface) downwards, so that quickly impregnated it may generate the showerer (of benefits) Auxi: then the bright blazing son of Ina whose light dissipates the darkness is born of the wood of attrition.
- 4. Again who art Jaranedas, we place thee upon the earth in the centre, in the place of ILA, for the purpose of receiving the oblation.
- 5. Conductors of the rite, produce by attrition the farseeing, single-minded, intelligent, immortal, radiantlimbed AoNt; generate him, leaders (of the solemnity), in the first place the chief standard of the sacrifice, who is the source of felicity.

- 6. When they rub (the sticks) with their arms the radiant Agni bursts forth from the wood like a fleet courser, and like the many-coloured car of the Ashwins unresisted in its course. Agni spreads wide around consuming stones and trees.
- 7. As soon as born AGNI, shines intelligent, swift-moving-skilled in rites, praised by the wise, and liberal in gifts; (and it is he) whom the gods have held as the bearer of oblations at sacrifices, aderable and all-knowing.
- 8. Offerer of oblations sit down in thine own sphere, for thou art cognizant (of holy acts), and station the institutor of the ceremony in the chief place of the sacred rite: cherisher of the gods, worship the gods, AGNI, and bestow abundant food on the founder of the sacrifice.
- Produce, friends, smoke, the showerer (of benefits);
   indefatigable persist in the contest with (AGNI): the heroic AGNI is able to encounter hosts, and by him the gods overcome their foes.
- 10. This in every season, Agnt, is thy place, whence, as soon as generated, thou hast ever shone: knowing that to be so, Agnt, there abide, and thrive by our praises.
- 11. When (existing) as an embryo (in the wood), AGNI is called Tanunapat; when he is generated (he is called) the Asura-destroying Narashansa; when he has displayed (his energy) in the material firmament, Matarishwan; and the creation of the wind is in his rapid motion.
- 12. Again, who are pronounced by reverential attrition, and deposited with reverential care, and who are far-seeing, render our rites (exempt from defects), and worship the gods (on behalf) of the devout worshipper.

- 13. Mortals have begotten the immortals, the undecaying (AGNI), the devourer of oblations, the conveyance (by which they cross over sin), the ten sister fingers intertwined proclaim him born as if it was a male (infant).
- 14. Agns, who has seven ministering priests, shines eternally; when he has blazed upon the boson and lap of his mother (earth), he is vociferous (with delight); day by day he never slumbers after he is born from the interior of the (spark) emitting wood.
- 15. The Kushikas, the first-born of Brahma, armed against enemies like the energies of the Maruts, comprehend the universe; they have uttered the prayer accompanied by the oblation; they have one by one lighted Aont in this dwelling.
- 16. Again, offerer of oblations, cognizant of rites, inasmuch as we have recourse to thee to-day in this progressing sacrifice, therefore do thou steadily convey (the offering to the gods), or tranquilly be at rest, and knowing (the purport of our acts), and wise (in all respects), approach (and accept) the Some libution.

ANUVAKA III.

HL 3, 1, 2 7

The deity is I spira; the Right Vingwantina; the meter Trashtable.

 The bearers of the libations desire thee; thy friends pour forth the Soma juice; they offer copious oblations; (supported by thee) they endure patiently the calumny of men, for who is so renowned as thou art.

- 2. Master of tawny steeds, the remotest regions are not remote for thee; then come quickly with thy horses: to thee, the steady showever (of benefits), these sacrifices are presented; the stones (for bruising the Soma) are ready, as the fire is being kindled.
- 3. Showerer (of benefits, who art) Indea, the wearer of the helmet, the prefessor of opulence, the conveyer (of men beyond evil), the leader of the numerous troop (of the Maruts), the achiever of many great deeds, the devastator of hostile (regions), the terror of thy foes, where are those heroic deeds (which thou hast performed) against the mortal (Asuras) when opposed (by them in battle).
- Thou alone easting down the firmly-footed (Asuras) proceedest, destroying the Vritras, and obedient to thy command the heaven and earth and the mountains stood as if immoveable.
- 5. Thou alone, when invoked by many, and the slayer of Verrea by thy prowess, didst say firmly (to the gods), fear not! INDRA, endowed with opulence, vast is thy grasp, wherewith thou hast seized these unbounded regions, heaven and earth.
- 6. Let (thy car), INDRA, drawn by thy horses (rush) downwards (upon the Asuras); let thy destroying thunder-bolt fall upon thine enemies; slay those that assail in front or in rear, or that fly (from the combat); make the universe (the abode of) truth; (let such power) be concentred in thee.
- 7. The man to whom thou grantest, lord of power, (thy good-will), enjoys unprecedented domestic (prosperity): INDRA, who art invoked by many, thy auspicious tayour, which is obtained by oblations, is the giver of unbounded wealth.

- 8. INDRA, who art invoked by many, grind to deat the reviling malevolent Verrea opposing thes, dwelling with the mother of the Danavas, and increasing in might, until having deprived him of hand and foot, then hast destroyed him by thy strength.
- 9. Thou hast fixed tranquil in its position the vast unbounded and wandering earth: the showerer (of benefits) has upheld the heaven and the firmament: let the waters engendered by thee here descend.
- 10. The heavy cloud, the receptacle of the water, dreading (thee) its destroyer, opened out before (thou hadsteast thy bolt); then INDRA made easily-traversed paths for the waters to issue, and desirable and loud sounding they proceeded to the (waters of the earth) invoked of many.
- 11. INDRA alone has filled the two, both earth and heaven mutually combined, and abounding with wealth: do thou, hero, mounted in thy ear, come with thy harnessed borses from the firmament, impatient to be near us.
- 12. Sunya harms not the quarters (of the horizon), set open daily (for his journey), the progeny of Hanyasuwa; when he has traversed the roads (he is to travel), then he lets loose his horses, for such is his office.
- 13. All men are anxious to behold the great and variegated host (of the solar rays) at the issuing of the dawn after the night has been displaced; and when the morning has come, they recognize the many great and glorious acts of INDRA.

- 14. A great light has been shed upon the rivers; the cow yet immature grazes, charged with the ripe (milk), for INDRA has placed in the cow all this collected sweetness for food.
- 15. INDRA, be firm, for there are obstructors of (thy) path: secure to the worshipper and his friends (the means of completing) the sacrifice: mortal enemies bearing bows, armed with mischievous weapons, and coming with avilintent, must be destroyed (by thee).
- 16. The sound (of thy bolt) has been heard by the approaching foes; hurl upon them the consuming thunder-bolt, cut them up by the root, appose, Maghavan, overcome, slay the Rakshasas, complete (the sacrifice).
- 17. Pinck up the Rakshasas, INDRA, by the root; cut asunder the middle, blight the summit: to whatever remote (regions) thou hast driven the sinner, cast upon the enemy of the Veda thy consuming weapon.
- 18. Regulator (of the world provide us) with horses for our welfare, and when thou art seated near to us may we become mighty, enjoying abundant food, and ample riches, and may there be to us wealth accompanied by progeny.
- 19. Bring to us, Indra, splendid affluence; we rely on the bounty of thee who art fond of giving: our desire is as insatiable as the fire of the ocean; appeare it, lord of infinite riches.
- 20. Gratify this our desire (of wealth) with cows, with horses, with shining treasure, and make us renowned: the wise Kushikas, desirous of heaven, offer praise to thee, INDRA, with pious (prayers).

21. INDEA, lord of cattle, (divide the clouds and send us) rain, whence nutritious food may come to us: showever (of benefits), thou art spread through the sky, and powerful through truth: Maghavan, consider thyself as our protector.

22. We invoke for our protection the opulent INDRA, distinguished in this combat; the leader in the foodbestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

HL 3, 2,

The deity and Richi are the same, or the latter may be another Vishermitra, the son of Ishirutha, of the family of Kushika; the metre in Trishtubh.

- I. The sonless father, regulating (the contract), refers to his grandson, (the son) of his daughter, and relying on the efficiency of the rite, honours (his son-in-law) with valuable gifts: the father, trusting to the impregnation of the daughter, supports himself with a tranquil mind.
- 2. (A son) born of the body, does not transfer (paternal) wealth to a sister: he has made (her) the receptacle of the embryo of the husband: if the parents procreate children (of either sex), one is the performer of boly acts, the other is to be enriched (with gifts).
- For the worship of the resplendent (INDRA), AGNI, glowing with flame, has begotten mighty sons; great was the germ, and great was their birth, and great was their efficacy, for the worship of HARYASHWA.
- The victorious (Marus) associated (with India when contending with VRITRA) perceived a great light issuing from the darkness. The dawns recognizing him (as the sun) arose, and INDRA was the sole sovereign of the rays (of light).

- 5. The seven intelligent seges (the Angirasas) having ascertained that (the cows) were concealed in the strong (cavern), propitiated (INDRA) by mental devotion; they recovered them all by the path of sacrifice; for INDRA, knowing (their pions acts), and offering them homage, entered (the cave).
- 6. When Sarama discovered the broken (entrance) of the mountain, then INDRA made great and ample (provision) for her young, as previously (promised): then the sure-footed (animal), first recognizing their lowing, proceeded, and came to the presence of the imperishable kine.
- 7. The most sage (Inona), desirous of the friendshipof the (Angirasus), went to the cave, and the mountain yielded its contents to the valuant (deity), aided by the youthful Maruts, equally wishing (to conciliate the sages): the destroyer (of the Asuras) recovered (the cattle), and immediately Anomas became his worshipper.
- 8. May be who is the type of all that is excellent, the anticipator (of his foes), he who knows all that is born, who destroys Shushna, the far-seeing, the restorer of cattle, may be, a friend coming from heaven, honouring us as his friends, he free from all repreach.
- 9. The Angirasas, with minds intent on their cattle, (sat down to worship INDRA) with hymns, following the road to immortality: great was this their perseverance, by which they sought for months to accomplish (their ends).
- Contemplating their own (cattle) giving milk to their former progeny (the Angirasas) were delighted; their shouts spread through heaven and earth; they replaced the recovered kine in their places, and stationed guards over the cows.

- II. INDRA, the slayer of VRITRA, let loose the mileh kine, assisted by the Maruts, born for his aid, and entitled to praises and oblations, and the excellent (cows) contributing abundantly to sacred offerings, and yielding the butter of libation, milked for him sweet (sacrificial) food.
- 12. They (the Angirasus) performing pious acts made for their protector a spacious and splendid abode which they celebrated; seated (at the sacrifice) and supporting with the pillar (of the firmament) the purents (of all things heaven and earth), they established the rapid INDRA on high (in heaven).
- 13. Inasmuch as our devout praise has appointed a thriving ruler for the regulation of heaven and earth, to whom faultless and appropriate commendations (are due), therefore are all the energies of INDEA spontaneously, exerted.
- 11. I wish, INDRA, for thy friendship, and (the exercise of) thy powers: many horses come to the slayer of VRITRA; we after to thee, sage, great praise and oblations; consider thyself. Maghavan as our protector.
- 15. Wide fields, vast treasure, (spacious) pastures, has the much-knowing (INDRA) bestowed upon his friends; the radiant INDRA with the leaders (of rites, the Maruts) generated the sun, the dawn, the earth, and fire.
- 16. This lowly-minded Indea has created the widespread, commingled, all-delighting waters; and they, purifying the sweet (libations) with the sage purifiers, and being benevolent (to all), proceed with (the revolutions) of days and nights.

- 17. The two adorable (alternations of) day and night, upholding (all things) by the might of the sun, successively revolve: thy sincere and acceptable friends (the Maruts) are ready to encounter (thy foes) and maintain thy great-
- 18. Stayer of Vertea, do thou, who art long lived, the showever (of benefits), the giver of food, be the lord of our true praises, repairing (to the sacrifice), come to us great, with great, friendly, and auspicious protections.
- 19. Worshipping him with reverence, like an Angiras, I make the ancient (INDRA) renovate to accept the oblation; destroy the many impious oppressors (of thy worshippers), and bestow upon us, MAGHAYAN, thine own (wealth) for our acceptance.
- 20. Thy purifying waters have been spread abroad: fill their beds for our welfare: riding on thy car, defend us from the malevelent, and make us quickly the conquerors of cattle.
- 21. INDRA, the slayer of VRITRA, the lord of herds, his discovered the cattle, and by his radiant effulgence driven away the black (Asuras), and indicating with veracity (to the Asgirasus) the honest (kine), he shut the gate upon all their own cattle.
- 22. We invoke for our protection the opulent Indea, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 3. 3.

The deity, Riski, and metre the same.

- INDRA, lord of the Soma, drink this Soma juice which is grateful to thee at noon-day sacrifice; MAGHAVAN, partaker of the spiritless Soma, unyoke thy horses, and, filling their jaws (with fodder), exhibitante them at this ceremony.
- 2. INDRA, drink the Some juice mixed with milk, with butter-milk, or fresh; we offer it for thy exhibitantion, associated with the devout company of the Marats and the Rudras; drink it till thou art satisfied.
- 3. These are the Maruts, INDRA, who, worshipping thy prowers, augment thy withering force (by their aid): attended by the Rudras, drink, wielder of the thunderbolt, and handsome-chinned, at the noon-day sacrifice.
- Those were the Maruts who were the strength of INDRA, and gently encouraged him; animated by whom he pierced the vital part of Varraa, fancying himself invulnerable.
- 5. Phased with the sacrifice, as if it was that of Manu, drink. Index, the Soma juice, for the sake of perpetual vigour; come, lord of the tawny steeds, with the adorable Maruts, and with the traversers (of the air); send down the waters (of the firmament) to (blend with) the waters of the earth.
- Inasmuch as thou hast slain with active strife the slumbering, darkling, water-investing Verrea, thou hast let forth the bright waters like horses (rashing) into battle.
- Therefore we sacrifice with reverence to the vast and mighty INDRA, who is adorable, undecaying, young; whose magnitude the unbounded heaven and earth have not measured, nor can measure.

- 8. All the gods cannot detract from the many glorious exploits, and pious works of INDRA: he who has upheld earth, and heaven, and the firmament, and who, the performer of great deeds, has engendered the sun and the dawn.
- 9. Doer of no wrong, such was thy true greatness, that as soon as born, thou hast quaffed the Soma juice; neither the heavens, nor days, nor months, nor years, resist the force of thee who art mighty.
- 10. As soon as born in the highest heaven, thou hast quaffed, INDEA, the Soma juice for thy exhibitration; and when thou hadst pervaded the heaven and earth, thou becamest the primary artificer (of creation).
- 11. INDRA, from whom many are born; thou who art vigorous hast stain Ant, enveloping the slumbering water, and confiding in his provess; yet the heaven apprehended not thy greatness as thou remainedst concealing the earth by one of (thy) flames.
- 12. This our sacrifics, INDRA, is thy augmentation, for the rite in which the Soma is effused is acceptable to thee; do thou who art deserving of worship protect the worshipper by (the efficacy of) the worship, and may this sacrifice strengthen thy thunderbolt for the slaying of Am.
- 13. The worshipper, by his conservatory sacrifice, has made INDRA present; may I bring him to my presence to obtain new wealth, him who has been exalted by praises, whether ancient, mediaval, or recent.

14. When the thought of glorifying INDRA entered my mind, then I gave birth (to his praises): may I laud him before encountering distant (evil) days, whereby he may guide us beyond sin; for those on both sides of us invoke him, as (those on either bank of a river hail) a passenger in a boat.

15. The vase is filled for him (with Soma); welcome INDRA: I pour it out for thee to drink, as a water-carrier (pours water) from his bag: may the grateful Soma juice flow in reverence round INDRA for his exhilaration.

16. Invoked of many, the deep ocean arrests thee not, nor do the accompanying mountains (stay thee); and therefore, summoned by thy friends, thou hast repressed the strong flame abiding in the abyss.

17. We invoke for our protection the opulent India, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conquerer of wealth.

HI, 3, 4, 3

As this bymn consists of a dialogue between Vishionwitza and the rivers Vipush and Shutudri, they are considered to be respectively the Risks of the versus ascribed to either; the divinity is INDRA; the metre is Triskrabh, except in the last verse, in which it is Assusanabh.

 Rushing from the flanks of the mountains, eager (to reach the sea) like two mares with loosened rains contending (with each other in speed), like two fair mother cows (hastening) to caress (their culves), the Fipash and Shuudri, flow rapidly with (united) waters.

Impelled by INDRA, soliciting (his commands), you go to the ocean like charioteers (to their goal): flowing together, and swelling with (your) waves, bright (rivers), one of you proceeds to the other.

- I repaired to the most maternal river; I went to the wide auspicious Vipash, flowing together to a common receptacle, like parent cows (hastening to) cares the calf.
- 4. The rivers speak] Fertilizing (the land) with this (our) current, we are flowing to the receptacle which has been appointed by the deity (INDRA): the course appointed for our going (permits) not of delay: of what is the sage desirous, that he addresses the rivers?
- 5. VISHWAMITRA speaks] Rivers, charged with waterrest a moment from your course at my request, who go to gather the Soma (plant): I, the son of Kushika, desirous of protection, address with earnest prayer especially the river before me.
- 6. The rivers speak] Indra, the wielder of the thunder-bolt, dug our channels when he slew Am the blocker-up of rivers: the divine and well-handed Savirrat has led us (on our path), and obedient to his commands we flow (as) ample (streams).
- 7. VISHWAMITRA speaks] Ever is that heroic exploit of INDRA to be celebrated when he cut Am to pieces, and with his thunderbolt destroyed the surrounding (obstructors of the rain), whence the waters proceed in the direction they desire.
- 8. The rivers speak! Praiser of Indra, forget not this speech, nor the words that (thou hast addressed to us) for future ages (to reverence); celebrator (of holy rites), be favourable to us in solemn prayers; treat us not after the (arrogant fashion) of men; salutation be to thee!

 Vishwamitra speaks] Listen, sister (atreams), kindly to him who praises you; who has come from afar with a waggon and chariot; bow down lowisty; become easily fordable; remain, rivers; lower than the axle (of the wheel) with your currents.

10. The rivers speak] Hymner, we hear thy words, that thou hast come from afar with a waggon and a chariot; we how down before thee; like a woman nursing (her child), like a maiden bending to embrace a man. (so will we do) for thee.

11. Vishwamifra speaks | Since, rivers, (you have allowed me to cross), so may the Bharatas pass over (your united stream): may the troop desiring to cross the water, permitted (by you), and impelled by Indra, pass; then let the course appointed for your going (be resumed): I have recourse to the favour of you who are worthy of adoration.

12. The Bharatas seeking cattle passed over: the sage enjoyed the favour of the rivers: streams dispensing food, productive of wealth, spread abundance, fill (your beds), flow swiftly;

13. Let your waves (rivers) so flow that the pin of the yoke may be above (their) waters: leave the traces full, and may (the two streams), exempt from misfortune or defect, and uncensured, exhibit no (present) increase.

III. 3. 5. 3 L

Istona is the deity; the Rishi is Vinuwamirna; the metre Trishtubh.

1. INDRA, the destroyer of cities, possessed of wealth, manifesting (his greatness), merciless to his enemies, has overspread the day with his radiance: attracted by prayer, increasing in bulk, and armed with many weapons, he has delighted both beaven and earth.

- Decorating thee, I address sincere prayers to thee who art adorable and mighty, for the sake of (obtaining) food: thou, Indra, art the preceder of men the descendants of Manu, and of the descendants of the gods.
- 3. INDEA, of glorious deeds, destroyed VETRA: resistless in combat, he has overcome the deceivers resolved to consume him: he slew the mutilated (demon lurking) in the woods, and made manifest the (stolen) kine (that had been hidden) in the night.
- 4. INDRA, the giver of Swarga, generating the days, has subdued victorious with the eager (Angirasas) the hostile hosts, and illumining for man the banner of the days, he obtained light for the great conflict.
- INDRA cutered the confiding hostile (hosts) like a man distributing many (gifts) to (his) leaders; he has animated these dawns for the worshipper, and heightened their bright radiance (by his own).
- 6. They celebrate many great and glorious exploits of this mighty INDRA: he crushed the strong by his atrength, and, of overpowering process, he overcame the Dasyus by delusions.
- 7. Lord of the virtuous, fulfiller of the wishes of men, he gave to the gods the wealth (that had been won) in fierce battle, and therefore far-seeing sages glorify those his exploits with praises in the dwelling of the worshipper.
- Devout worshippers propitiate INDRA, the victorious, the excellent, the bestewer of strength, the enjoyer of heaven and the divine waters, and who was the giver of the earth and heaven and this (firmament to their inhabitants).

 He gave horses, he gave also the sun, and INDRA gave also the many-nourishing cow; he gave golden treasure, and having destroyed the Dasyus, he protected the Arya tribe.

10. INDRA bestowed plants and days, he gave trees and the firmament, he divided the cloud, he scattered opponents, he was the tamer of adversaries.

11. We invoke for our protection the opulent INDEA, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 3, 6,

The drity, Riski, and metre as before.

- Stay, India, having yoked the horses to the car, as VAYG stops when he has put to his steeds, and come to our presence; solicited by us to drink of the (Soma) bevarage, which with reverence we offer for thy exhilaration.
- I harness for thee, who art invoked by many, the swift gliding horses to the shafts of the car, that they may bear INDRA to this sacrifice that is prepared with all (that is required).
- 3. Showerer (of benefits), giver of food, guide hither thy vigorous horses, defending (us) against foes, and protect (thy worshippers): here unharness the bay steeds, and give them fodder, and do thou eat daily suitable food.

- 4. I harness with prayer thy horses, who are to be harnessed with prayer, who are allies and swift-paced in battle; arise, and, all-knowing INDRA, mounting on thy firm and easy chariot, come to the libation.
- Let not other sacrifies attract thy vigorous and smooth-backed steeds; disregarding others, come perpetually hither, that we may propitiate thee sufficiently with effused Soma libations.
- 6. This Some libation is for thee: come down, and, well disposed, drink of it unceasingly; seated on the sacred grass at this sacrifice, take, INDRA, this (libation) into your belly.
- 7. The sacred grass is strewn for thee; the Some juice, INDRA, is poured forth; the grain wherewith to feed thy horses is prepared; the oblations are offered to thee abiding on the sacred grass, who art praised of many, and (art) the showever (of benefits), attended by the Maruts.
- 8. The leaders (of the ceremony) have prepared for thee.
  INDRA, this (libation), sweetened with milk, the stones, the water: beautiful INDRA, who art favourably disposed, and who art wise, knowing well (the worship) that is necording to thy peculiar paths, come and drink of this libation.
- Associated, INDRA, with those Maruts with whom thou hast shared in the libation, who encouraged these (in battle), and are thy attendant troop, drink, desirous (of the beverage), the Soma juice, along with them, with the tongue of AGNL.
- Adorable INORA, drink of the effused libation, either by thine own effort, or through the tongue of AoN; drink it, Shakha, offered by the hand of the Adhearyn, or accept the presentation of the oblation (from the hand) of the Hotri.

11. We invoke for our protection the opulent Indea. distinguished in this combat; the leader in the foodbestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 3. 7. 3. 6

Deity, Rishi, and metre as before,

- Indea, who art constantly seeking (association) with your allies (the Maruts) accept this, our offering, (made) for the grant (from thee of riches); for thou art one who grows with augmenting energies, through reiterated libations, and hast been renowned for glorious deeds.
- 2. To INDRA have libations been presented in the days of old, whereby he liath become illustrious, the regulator of time, the granter of desires: accept, INDRA, these prescribed (offerings), and drink of this auspicious (beverage), expressed by the stones.
- Drink, INDRA, and thrive: thine are these (present) libations, as were the primitive libations: do thou, who art adorable, drink to-day the recent libations, as thou drankest those of old.
- 4. The great INDRA, the victorious in battle, the defier of foes; his fierce strength and resolute vigour are exerted; verily the earth does not contain him, neither (does the heaven), when the Soma libatious exhibitante the lord of the tawny steeds.

- 5. The mighty, fierce, auspicious Ledra, the showerer (of benefits), augments (in power) as he is animated for heroic (acts) by praise: his cattle are generated givers of food: many are his donations.
- 6. As the rivers pursue their course, the waters rush to the ocean, like the drivers of cars (to a goal), so the vast INDRA (hastens) from his dwelling (in the firmament), when the humble Soma libation propitiates him.
- 7. As the rivers are solicitons (to mix) with the ocean, so (are the priests) bearing the efficient libation to INDRA: holding in their hands they milk the Soma plant, and purify the sweet juices (as they fall) in drops through the purifying filters.
- 8. The stomach of INDRA (is) as capacious (a receptacle) of Soma, as a lake, for he has partaken of it at many sacrifices; and inasmuch as he has eaten the first (sacrificial) viands, he has been the slayer of VRUTHA, and has shared the Soma (with the gods).
- Quickly, Indra, bring (wealth); let no one impede thee, for we know thee to be the lord of wealth, of all treasures: and since, Indra, thy greatness is munificence, therefore, lord of the tawny steeds, grant us (riches).
- 10. Opulent INDRA, receiver of the spiritless Soma juice, give to us riches in universally desired quantity; grant us to live a hundred years; bestow upon us, INDRA with the handsome chin, numerous posterity.
- 11. We invoke for our protection the opulent Indradistinguished in this combat; the leader in the foodbestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 3, 8,

Duity and Rishi as before, the metro is Gaputri, except in the last verse, in which it is Annahtubh.

- We excite thee, Indra, to exert the strength that destroys Vertra, and overpowers hostile armies.
- May (thy) praisers, INDRA, who art worshipped in a hundred rites, direct thy mind and thine eyes towards us.
- We recite, INDRA, who art worshipped in a hundred rites, (thy many) names in all our hymns for strength to resist our focs.
- We repeat the praise of the many-lauded Indua.
   the supporter of man, invested with a hundred glories.
- I invoke thee, Indea, who art myoked of many for the slaving of VRITRA, and the granting of food (as the spoil) of battle.
- Be victorious, India, in battles: we solicit thee, object of many rites, to destroy VRITRA.
- Overcome, Indra, those who are adverse to us in riches, in battle, in hostile hosts, in strength.
- Drink, Indra, object of many rites, for our preservation, the most invigorating, fame-conferring, sleep-dispelling, Soma juice.
- INDRA, object of many rites, I regard the organs of sense that exist in the five races (of beings dependent) on thee, as thine.
- 10. May the abundant (sacrificial) food (we offer) reach thee, INDRA: grant us wealth that may not easily be surpassed: we augment thy vigour (by our offerings).

II. Come to us Shakba, whether from afar or nigh; whatever, India, wielder of the thunderbolt, be thy region, come from thence hither.

III. 3. 9. 2.2

The delty is India, associated in the last six verses with Varina; the Rishi is Pralapath, son of Vinewamtha, or the son of Vacu of the tree of Vinewamtha, either or both; or it may be Vinewamtha alone; the metre is Trishtubh.

- L. Repeat (to Indra) pious praise, as a carpenter (planes the wood), and engaging (zealously in sacred rites), as a quick horse bearing well his burthen; endowed with intelligence, and reflecting upon the future acts acceptable (to Indra), I desire to behold the sages (who have gone to heaven).
- 2. Ask of the lords (of earth, the holy teachers), the birth of those deified sages, who with well-governed minds, and diligent in sacred rites, fabricated the heavens; and may these propitiatory (praises), augmenting (thy power) and rapid as the wind, reach thee at this solemn rite.
- 3. Comprehending hidden (mysteries) here on earth, they have, through their power, made manifest (the things of) heaven and earth; they have set limits to them by their elements; they connected them both mutually united, wide spread and vast, and fixed the intermediate (firmament) to sustain them.
- 4. They all ornamented (Indea) standing (in his car); and, clothed in beauty, he proceeds self-radiant; wonderful are the acts of that showever (of benefits), the influencer (of consciences), who omniform, presides over the ambrosial (waters).

- 5. The showerer (of benefits), the preceder and elder (of the gods), generated (the waters): they are the abundant allayers of his thirst: sovereign Indra and Varuna, grandsons of heaven, you possess the wealth (that is to be acquired) by the rites of the splendid sacrifice.
- 6. Royal Indra and Varuna, embellish the three universal sacrifices (and make them) full (of all requisites) for this celebration: thou hast gone to the rite, for I have beheld in my mind, at this solemnity, the Gandharras with hair (waving) in the wind.
- 7. Those who, for (the sake of) the showerer (of benefits), milk the agreeable (produce) of the milch cow, (who is known) by (many) names, they invested with the diversified attempth (of the Asuras) and practising delusive art, have deposited their own nature in him.
- 8. No one (distinguishes) my golden lustre from that of this Savirra, in which (lustre) he has taken refuge; gratified by pious praise, he cherishes the all-fostering heaven and earth as a woman cherishes her offspring.
- You two secure the great felicity of the ancient (worshipper), that which is happiness in heaven; do you (therefore) be ever about us; all those who exercise illusion, contemplate the manifold exploits of the everlasting and blandly-speaking INDRA.
- 10. We invoke for our protection the opulent INDRA, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in hattles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

ANUVAKA IV.

III. 4. 1.

The deity, Riski, and metre the same.

- The praise that is prompted by the heart, and is untered by the reviters of sacred hymns, proceeds to the presence of the lord, and is his awakener when repeated at the sacrifice: be cognizant Indra, of this praise, which is born for thee.
- 2. That praise which is begotten before (the dawn) of day in the awakener of INORA, when repeated at the (morning) sacrifice: auspicious and clothed in white raiment is this our ancient and paternal hymn.
- 3. The parent of twins (the dawn), has brought forth the twin (Ashwins) on this occasion, (in the praise of whom) the tip of my tongue remains tremulous; they two, the dispersers of darkness, combine, assuming bodies as a pair (of twins) at the origin of the day.
- There are no revilers amongst men of those who were our progenitors and combistants for (the recovery of) the cattle; for the mighty INDRA, the achiever of great deeds, liberated for them the numerous herds.
- 5. A friend, accompanied by the faithful friends who had celebrated the nine months' rite, and tracking the cows upon their knees, and in like manner accompanied by those ten who had accomplished the ten months' rite, INDRA made manifest the true (light of the sun) (theretofore) dwelling in (the) darkness (of the cave).
- 6. INDRA discovered the awest milk secreted in the milch-cow, and thereupon, brought forth (from their concealment) the herd (of cattle) having feet and having hoofs; munificent (in gifts), he held in his right hand that which had been hidden in the cavern, which was concealed in the waters.

- 7. The discriminating (INDRA) has separated the light from the darkness: may we, removed afar from evil, be ever in security: INDRA, drinker of the Some juice, who art nourished by the beverage, be pleased with these praises of thy worshipper who is the discomfiter of his foes.
- 8. May light be spread throughout beaven and earth for (the promotion of the) sacrifice: may we be far removed from exceeding ill: Vasus, who are to be rendered present (by pious praise), bestow increasing affluence upon the man who is liberal of gifts,
- We invoke for our protection the opulent Indea, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 4, 2,

The delty and Rishi as before, the metre is Gayatri.

- We invoke thee, INDRA, showever (of benefits), to the effused libation: do thou drink of the exhibitating beverage.
- Indea, the praised of many, accept the effused Soma juice, the conferrer of knowledge; drink; imbibe the satisfactory draught.
- India, lord of men, who art praised (by the devoit) and aided by the gods, perfect this our sacrifice in which the oblation is offered (to thee).

 INDRA, lord of the virtuous, these effused Soma juices, exhibitating and brilliant: proceed to thy abode.

5. Receive, Indra, into thy stomach this excellent effused libation, these bright (drops) abide with thee in heaven.

6. INDRA, who art glorified with praise, drink this our libation, for thou art sprinkled with the drops of the exhibitanting (draught); the (sacrificial) food is verily purified by thee.

 The brilliant and imperishable (Soma juice), offered by the worshipper, encompasses INDRA; having drank of the libation, he increases (in vigour).

 Slayer of Verrea, whether from nigh or from nfar, come to us, accept these our praises.

Whether thou art called from nigh or from afar, or from mid space, come hither, INDRA, from thence.

III, 4, 3,

The deity, Risks, and metre as before,

 INDRA, wielder of the thunderbolt, come to me with thy horses, when invoked to drink the Soma at our (sacrifice).

The invoking priest is seated at the proper season;the sacred grass woven together has been spread; the stones are placed in contact for the morning (libation).

Bearer of prayers, these prayers are offered (by us):
 sit down on the sacred grass: partake, hero, of the oblation.

4. Slayer of VEITRA, INDRA, who art gratified by praise, be pleased with these our praises and prayers at our (daily) sacrifices.

- Our praises caress the mighty INDRA, the drinker of the Soma juice, as cows lick their calves.
- Be exhibitated bodily (by drinking) of the libation which we offer for the sake of ample wealth: expose not thine adorer to reproach.
- Devoted, Indra, to thee, and offering oblations, we glorify thee, giver of dwellings; do thou be favourably disposed to us.
- Lover of horses. Indra, loosen not your steeds whilst far from us, but come (with them) to our presence: enjoyer of the offering, be exhibitanted at this sacrifice.
- May thy long-maned and sleek-coated steeds bring thee down in thy easy chariot to sit upon the sacred grass.

HI, 4, 4,

The deity, Riski, and metre as before.

- Come, Indra, to this our effused Some juice mixed with milk and curds, with thy horses (yoked to thy car), which is favourably disposed to us.
- Come. Index. to the exhibitating (Soma) expressed by the stones, and poured upon the sacred grass: drink of it to satisfy, for there is plenty.
- May my praises, addressed from hence and in this manner, attain ISDRA, to bring him hither to drink the Some juice.
- We invoke INDRA to this rite with prayers to drink the Soma juice; may be, repeatedly invoked, come hither.
- 5. Indra, these Some juices are poured out: take them, SHATAKRATU, into thy stomach: thou who art rich in (abundant) food.

- 6. Far-seeing INDRA, we know thee to be victorious and winner of wealth in battles; therefore we ask of thee riches.
- 7. Having come (to our rite) drink, INDRA, this our (libation), effused by the stones, and mixed with milk and cards, and with barley.
- I offer to thee, India, this Soma juice for thy drinking, to be taken into its proper receptacle: may it delight thy heart.
- Descendants of Kusha, desirous of protection, we invoke thee, INDRA, who art of old, to drink of the libation.

III. 4. 5. 6 3

The delty and Rishi are the same, the metro is Trishiubh.

- Descend to us riding in thy ear, for verily thine is this ancient libation: unharness thy beloved and friendly (horses) near to the sacred grass, for these offerers of the oblation present it to thee.
- Passing by multitudes, come hither, noble Indra, with thy steeds, (to receive) our benedictions; for these praises, Indra, composed by the devout, invoke thee, propitiating thy friendship.
- 3. Divine INDRA, come quickly with thy steeds, and well pleased, to our food-augmenting sacrifice: offering (sacred) food with butter, I invoke thee verily with praises in the chamber of the sweet libations.
- 4. May these two vigorous friendly burthen-bearing and well-limbed steeds convey thee hither, where, INDRA, approving of the ceremony (in which the offering) is parched grain, may hear as a friend the praises, of his friend (the worshipper).

- 5. Possessor of wealth, accept of the spiritless Some juice; make me the protector, or rather a monarch of men; make me verily a holy sage, a drinker of the libation; make me verily the possessor of imperishable wealth.
- 6. May thy mighty horses, INDRA, harnessed (in thy car), and alike exhilarated (by the beverage), bring thee to our presence, for they are the destroyers (of the foes) of the showerer (of benefits), and kindly rubbed by his hand they traverse, going quickly, the regions of the sky, making them as it were twofold.
- 7. Drink, Indra, of the bountiful (libation) expressed by the beneficent (stones); that which the falcon has borne to thee desiring it, in whose exhibitation thou castest down (opposing) men, in whose exhibitation thou hast set open the clouds.
- 8. We invoke for our protection the opulent Indua, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 4. 6. 6 6

The deity and Riski as before, the metre is Brikati.

- May this desirable and gratifying Some expressed by the stones, be, INDRA, for thes: ascend the verdant chariot, and with thy tawny (steeds) come to us.
- 2. Desiring (the Soma), thou benourest the dawn; desiring the Soma, thou hast lighted up the sun; knowing and discriminating (all our wishes), lord of the tawny steeds, thou augmentest upon us all (sorts of) prosperity.

- 3. Index has upheld the yellow-rayed heaven; the verdant tinted earth; there is abundant pasture (for his steeds) in the two azure spheres of heaven and earth, between which Habi travels.
- 4. The azure-coloured showerer (of benefits), illumes, as soon as born, the whole luminous region: the lord of the tawny steeds holds in his hands the yellow weapon, the destroying thunderbolt.
- 5. INDRA has uncovered the desirable white-coloured, fast-flowing Some, effused by the expressing stones, and overlaid with the shining (milk and other liquids), in like manner as when, borne by his tawny steeds, he rescued the cattle.

m. 4. 7. 45

The deity, Riski, and metre are the same.

- Come, India, with thy expliring peacock-haired steeds; let no persons detain thee, as (fowlers) throwing snares catch a bird; pass them by (quickly) as (travellers cross) a desert.
- The devourer of Vartra, the fracturer of the cloud, the sender of the waters, the demolisher of cities, INDRA, the destroyer of powerful enemies, has mounted his chariot to urge his horses to our presence.
- 3. Thou cherishest the celebrator of the pious rite as (thou fillest) the deep seas (with water); or as a careful herdsman (cherishes) the cows: (thou imbibest the Soma) as cows (obtain) fodder, (and the juices flow into thee) as rivulets flow into a lake.

- Grant us riches, securing (us against foes), (as a father bestows) his portion on (a son) arrived at maturity: send down upon us. INDRA, wealth adequate (to our desires), as a crook brings down the ripe fruit from a tree.
- 5. Thou art possessed of opulence, INDRA; thou art the lord of heaven, auspicious and renowned; mayest thou who art adored of many, increasing in vigour, be to us a most (bountiful bestower) of food.

III. 4. 8. 4 6

The deity and Rishi are the same ; the motre is Trishtubh.

- Vast are the energies of thee, Indra, the warrior, (the showerer of benefits), the lord of wealth, the fierce; who art (both) young and old; the overcomer of foes, the undecaying, the wielder of the thunderbolt, and who art mighty and renowned.
- 2. Adorable and powerful INDRA, thou art great and magnificent, overcoming adversaries by thy prowess: thou alone art lord of all the world: do thou war (upon our enemies), and give safe dwellings to men.
- 3. The resplendent and every way unlimited INDRA, drinking the spiritless Soma juice, far surpasses the elements, (far exceeds) the gods in power: he is more vast than heaven and earth, or the widespread spacious firmament.
- The Soma juices daily poured out enter into the vast and profound INDRA, fierce from his birth, all-pervading, the protector of the pious (worshippers), as rivers flow.

 Which Soma, INDRA, the heaven and earth contain for thee, as a mother contains the embryo; showever (of benefits), the priests pour it out for thee, they purify it for thy drinking.

III. 4. 9. 47

The deity, Rishi, and metre are the same.

- I. INDRA, attended by the Maruts, the showerer (of benefits), drink the Somα offered after the other presentations, for thine exhibitation for battle; take into thy belly the (full) wave of the inehriating (Soma), for thou art lord of libations from the days of old.
- Indea, hero, rejoicing with and accompanied by the host of Maruts, drink the Soma, for thou art the slaver of Verrea, the sage; subdue our enemies, drive away the malevolent, make us safe on every side from peril.
- 3. Drinker of the Soma in season, drink with thy divine friend the Maruts the Soma that is presented by us; those Maruts whose aid you have enjoyed (in battle), and who, following thee, have given thee the strength whereby thou hast slain Vertea.
- 4. They who encouraged thee, Maghavan, to slay Am, who (aided thee) in the conflict with Shambara, and in the recovery of the cattle, and who, possessed of wisdom, contribute verily to thy exhibitation, with them, the troop of the Maruts, do thou Indea, drink the Soma.
- We invoke to this sacrifice for present protection INDRA, the chief of the Maruts, the showerer (of benefits); angmenting (in glory), overcoming many foes, divine regulator (of good and ill), the subduer of all (enemies), the fierce, the bestower of strength.

III. 4. 10. 68

The deity, Rishi, and motre as before.

- May the showerer (of rain), who, as soon as born, is the object of affection, protect the offerer of the effused libation; drink at will, INDRA, before (the other gods), of the pure Soma juice mixed with milk.
- 2. On the day on which thou wast born, thou didstdrink at will the mountain-abiding nectar of this Some plant, for thy youthful parent mother (ADTI), in the dwelling of thy great sire (KASHYAPA), gave it to thee before she gave the breast.
- 3. Approaching his mother he asked for food, and beheld the acrid Soma upon her bosom: eager he proceeds, dislodging the adversaries (of the gods); and, putting forth manifold (energy), he performed great (deeds).
- Fierce, rapid in assault, of overpowering strength, he made his form obedient to his will: having overcome. Twashtrar by his innate (vigour), and carried off the Soma juice, he drank it (deposited) in the ladles.
- 5. We invoke for our protection the opulent INDRAdistinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 4. 11.

The desty, Riski, and metre as before-

- I. I glorify the mighty INDRA, in whom all men, drinking the Soma juice, obtain their wishes; whom the powerful (heaven and earth) and the gods begot, the doer of great deeds, the slayer of the Vritras, who was fashioned by VIBBU (the creator).
- 2. Whom, when borne by his steeds, foremost and eminent in battles, breaking in two the (hostile host), no one ever surpasses: supreme in sway, attended by his faithful Marus, and hastening to combat, he has destroyed with foe-withering (energies) the existence of the Dasyu.
- 3. Vigorous, rushing through (hostile hosts), like a warhorse, he has pervaded heaven and earth, sending down rain: he is to be worshipped with oblations at the solemn (rite) like Beaca: he is as the father of those who adore (him): he is beautiful, worthy of invocation, the bestower of food.
- 4. The upholder of heaven and of the firmament, the wind, like a chariot traversing the upper (region) accompanied by the Vasus; the clother of the night (with gloom), the parent of the sun, the distributor of the portion (allotted to the pious), like the words (of the wealthy appropriating to all) the food.
- We invoke for our protection the opulent INDRA, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 4, 12.

The drity, Riski, and metre as before.

- I. May Indra drink the libation; he of whom is the Soma, having come to the sacrifice; he who is the repeller (of adversaries), the showever (of benefits), the lord of the Maruts; may he, the wide-pervading, be pleased with these (sacrificial) viands; may the oblation be adequate to the wants of his body.
- 2. I yoke (to thy ear), to bring thee quickly, thy two docile horses, whose speed thou hast of old employed: may thy horses, handsome INDRA, bring thee hither, and drink promptly of this well-effused agreeable libation.
- 3. His adorers support with cattle, INDRA, who is willing to bestow upon them their desires, and ready to come to the sacrifice, for the sake of obtaining eminent prosperity and prolonged life: acceptor of the spiritless Soma, who art the drinker of the Soma juice, and art exhilarated (by the draught), grant to us freely cattle in abundance.
- Gratify this our desire (of wealth) with cowa, with horses, with shining treasure, and make us renowned; the wise Kushikas, desirous of heaven, offer praise to thee, INDRA, with pious (prayers).
- 5. We invoke for our protection the opulent INDRA, distinguished in this combat, the leader in the food-bestowing (strife), hearing (our praises), terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, the conqueror of wealth.

III. 4, 13,

- Let abundant praises celebrate Indra, the stay of man, the possessor of opulence, the adorable, prospering with increase, the invoked of many, the immortal, who is daily to be propitiated with sacred hymna.
- 2. My praises constantly propitiate Indea, the object of many rites, the sender of rain, attended by the Maruts, the leader (of all), the giver of food, the destroyer of cities, the swift (in combat), the prompt (dispenser) of waters, the distributor of riches, the subduer of foes, the conferrer of heaven.
- 3. Index, the enfeebler (of adversaries), is praised as a mine of wealth; he is propitiated by righteous commendations; he is gratified in the dwelling of the offerer of oblations; glorify Index, the conqueror, the destroyer of his enumies.
- 4. The priests glorify thee, heroic leader of men, with praises and with prayers; INDRA, the author of many delusions, exerts himself for (the acquirement of) strength; he from of old is the lord of this (oblation).
- 5. Many are his prohibitions (against evil enjoined) to men: many are the treasures that the earth enshrines: for INDRA the heavens, the plants, the waters, men and priests, preserve their riches.
- 6. To thee, INDRA, (the pious) address prayers, and praises, and sacrifices: accept them, lord of horses: giver of dwellings, friend (of man), who art the pervader (of all things), partake of this present oblation, and grant food to the worshippers.

- 7. INDRA, accompanied by the Maruts, drink the Some at this ceremony as thou hast drunk of the libstion of the son of Sharyati: thy far-seeing and devout worshippers, being in security, adore thee through their offerings.
- 8. Do thou, INDRA, who art gratified by the beverage, drink the Soma that has been effused by us, together with thy friends, the Maruts, at this ceremony: thou who art invoked of many, and whom all the gods equipped as soon as born for the great battle (with the Asuras).
- Maruts, this is your friend for sending of the waters: they (the Maruts), the givers of strength, have yielded INDRA gratification: may the devourer of VRITRA drink with them the libation offered by the worshipper in his own abode.
- 10. Lord of riches, entitled to praise, this libation has been effused agreeably to (our) strength; do thou drink of it quickly.
- Invigorate thy body with the Soma that has been poured out as food for thee: may it exhilarate thee, delighting in the Soma draught.
- 12. May this libation, INDRA, penetrate to thy flariks; may it. (aided) by prayer, reach thy head; may it spread, hero, through thy arms, (that they may distribute) wealth.

III. 4. 14.

The deity and Rishi are the same; the motre of the first fourverses is Gayatri, of the sixth Jagati, of the fifth, seventh, and eighth-Trishtubh.

- Accept, Indra, at our morning sacrifies, this libation, combined with fresh burley, with parched grain and curds, and with cakes, and sanctified by holy prayer.
- Accept, INDRA, the prepared cakes and butter; eat them eagerly: the oblations flow for thee.
- Eat, INDRA, our (offered) cakes and butter; derive enjoyment from our praises, as a lover from his mistress,
- INDRA, renowned of old, accept our cakes and butter, offered at dawn; for great are thy deeds.
- 5. Partake, Indra, of the barley and the delicious cakes, and butter of the mid-day sacrifice, when thy zealous worshipper, hastening to adore thee, and eager as a bull, is present, and celebrates (thee) with hymns.
- 6. INDRA, who art praised of many, accept readily from our friend of barley, and cakes, and butter, offered at the third (or evening) sacrifice: laden with sacrificial viands, we approach with praises to thee, sage INDRA, who art accompanied by the Ribbus and by VAJA.
- 7. We have prepared the parched grain and curds for thee, associated with Pushan; the fried barley for thee, lord of the tawny horses, associated with thy steeds; attended by the troop of Maruts, eat the cakes; hero, who art wise, and the slayer of Vertea, drink the libation.
- Offer to him quickly (priests) the fried barley: offer to the most heroic of leaders the cakes and butter: may the like offerings, victorious INDRA, presented to thee daily, augment thy vigour for the drinking of the Some juice.

III. 4. 15.

INDMA and PARVAYA are the deities, the Rishi is, as before, VEHWA-MITTER: the metre of the tenth and sixteenth verses is Japan; of the thirteenth Gagutri; of the twelfih, twentieth, and twenty-second Anushtubh; of the eighteenth Brikati; of the twenty-third Trishitubh.

- I. Indea and Parvata, bring hither, in a spacious cardelightful visinds (generative of) good progeny: partake, derties, of the oblations (offered) at (our) sacrifices, and gratified by the (sacrificial) food, be elevated by our praises.
- 2. Tarry ewhile contentedly, Magnavas, (at our rite):
  go not away; for I offer to thee (the libation) of the copiously-effused Soma: powerful Indea. I lay hold of the skirts (of thy robe) with sweet-flavoured commendations, as a son (clings to the garment) of a father.
- Adheargu. let us two offer praise; do thou concur with me; let us address pleasing praise to Indra; sit down Indra, on the sacred grass (prepared by) the institutor of the rite; and may our commendations be most acceptable to Indra.
- 4. A man's wife, Maghavan, is his dwelling; verily she is his place of birth: thither let thy borses, harnessed (to thy cat), convey thee; we prepare the Soma Juice at the fit season; may Agai come as our messenger before thee.
- Depart, Maghayan; come India: both ways, protector, there is a motive for thee, whether it be standing in thy vast charior, or liberating thy neighing steed.

- 6. When thou hast drunk the Soma, then, INDRA, go home; an anapicious life (abides) pleasantly in thy dwelling; in either (case) there is the standing in thy car or liberating the steeds for provender.
- 7. These (sacrificers) are the Bhojas, of whom the diversified Angirasas (are the priests); and the heroic sons of the expeller (of the foes of the gods) from heaven, bestowing riches upon Vishwamitra at the sacrifice of a thousand (victims), prolong (his) life.
- 8. Maghavan becomes repeatedly (manifest) in various forms, practising delusions with respect to his own peculiar person; and invoked by his appropriate prayers, he comes in a moment from heaven to the three (daily rites), and, although observant of seasons, is the drinker (of the Soma) irrespective of season.
- The great Rishi the generator of the gods, the attracted by the deities, the overlooker of the leaders (at holy rites), Vishwamitra arrested the watery stream when he sacrificed for Sudas; Indra, with the Kushikas, was pleased.
- 10. Sages and saints overlookers of the leaders (of sacred rites), Kushikas, when the Soma is expressed with stones at the sacrifice, then exhilarating (the gods) with praises, sing the holy strain (aloud) like (screaming) swans, and, together with the gods, drink the sweet juice of the Soma.
- Approach, Kushikas, the steed of Subas; animate (him), and let him loose to (win) riches (for the raja); for the king (of the gods) has slain Varraa in the East, in the West, in the North, therefore let (Sunas) worship him in the best (regions) of the earth.

- I have made Indua glorified by these two, heaven and earth, and this prayer of Vishwamitha protects the race of Bharata.
- 13. The Vishwamitrus have addressed the prayer to INDRA, the wielder of the thunderbolt; may be therefore render us very opulent.
- 14. What do the eattle for thee among the Kikutas; they yield no milk to mix with the Soma, they need not the vessel (for the libation); bring them to us: (bring also) the wealth of the son of the usurer, and give us. Magnayax, (the possessions) of the low branches (of the community).
- 15. The daughter of Surva given by Jamanagan, gliding everywhere and dissipating ignorance, has emitted a mighty (sound), and has diffused ambrosial imperishable food amongst the gods.
- 16. May she, gliding everywhere, quickly bring us food (suited) to the five races of men; may she, the daughter of the sun whom the grey-haired Jamadagnis gave to me, (be) the bestower of new life.
- 17. May the horses be steady, the axle be strong, the pole be not defective, the yoke not be rotten; may INDRA preserve the two yoke-pins from decay; car with unmjured felloes, be ready for us.
- Give strength, INDRA, to our bodies; give strength to our vehicles; (give) strength to our sons and grandsons; that they may live (long); for thou are the giver of strength.
- Fix firmly the substance of the khayar (axie), give solidity to the shishu (floot) of the car; strong axle, strongly fixed by us, be strong; cast us not from out of our conveyance.

20. May this lord of the forest never desert us nor do us harm: may we travel prosperously home until the stopping (of the car), until the unharnessing (of the steeds).

- 21. INDRA, hero, possessor of wealth, protect us this day against our foes with many and excellent defences; may the vile wretch who hates us fall (before us); may the breath of life depart from him whom we hate.
- 22. As (the tree) suffers pain from the axe, as the Simul flower is (easily) cut off, as the injured cauldron leaking scatters foam, so may mine enemy perish.
- 23. Men. (the might) of the destroyer is not known to you: regarding him as a mere animal, they lead him away desirous (silently to complete his devotions): the wise condescend not to turn the foolish into ridicule, they do not lead the ass before the horse.
- 24. These sons of Bharata, Indra, understand severance (from the Vasishthus), not association (with them); they urge their steeds (against them) as against a constant foe; they bear a stout bow (for their destruction) in battle.

ANUVAKA V.

The deities are the Vishunderes; the Rishi is PRASAPATT, the som of either Vinewamirna or Vacu; the metre is Tricktobk.

 They recite repeatedly this gratifying praise to the great product of sacrifice (Agni): may be who (is endowed) with domestic radiance hear us: may the imperishable Agni, (endowed) with divine radiance, hear us.

- 2. Knowing their greatness, offer worship to the vast heaven and to the earth: my desire, wishing (for felicity) proceeds (to them), in whose praise the gods, desirons of adoration, delight together with their worshippers at the sacrifice.
- 3. Heaven and earth, may your truth be ever inviolable; be propitious to us for the due completion of the rite; this adoration (AGNI) is offered to heaven and earth; I worship (them) with (sacrificial) food; I solicit of them precious (wealth).
- 4. Heaven and earth, endowed with truth, they who are the ancient declarers of the truth, have obtained from you (what they desired); and so, earth, men cognizant (of the greatness of you both) have worshipped you for the sake of triumphing over (hostile) heroes in battle.
- 5. Who knows what is the truth, or who may here declare it I what is the proper path that leads to the gods I their inferior abiding places are beheld, as are those which (are situated) in superior mysterious rites.
- 6. The far-seeing beholder of mankind (the sun), surveys this heaven and earth, rejoicing when deficient in moisture in the womb of the waters (the firmament), both concurring in community (of function), although they occupy various dwellings, like the diversified nests of a bird.
- 7. Common (in function), disjoined, of distant termination, they remain vigilant in a permanent station: being, as it were, sisters, and ever young: they therefore address each other by twin appellations.
- These two keep all born things discrete, and, although comprehending the great divinities, are not distressed; all moving and stationary beings rest upon one (basis), whether animals, or birds, or creatures of various kinds.

- I consider at present the eternal and ancient sisterbood to us of thee, our great protectress and progenitrix, within whose vast and separated path thy enlogists, the gods, travel in their chariots.
- 10. I repeat this hymn, heaven and earth, to you; and may the soft-bellied, fire-tongued Mrraa, royal Varuna, the youthful Address, all cognizant of the past, and proclaiming (their own acts), hear it.
- 11. The golden-handed, soft-tongued Savirra is descending from heaven (to be present) thrice (daily) at the sacrifice; accept, Savirra, the praise (recited by) the worshippers, and thereupon grant to us all our desires.
- 12. May the divine Twashtrit, the able artificer, the dextrous-handed, the possessor of wealth, the observer of truth, bestow upon us those things (which are necessary) for our preservation: Ribbus, associated with Pushan, make as joyful, as they (the priests), with uplifted stones, prepare the sacred libation.
- 13. May the Maruts, whose cars are the lightning, who are armed with spears, resplendent, destroyers of foes, from whom the waters proceed, (who are) unresting and adorable, and may Saraswart hear (my prayer); and may you (Maruts), speedy in your liberality, bestow (upon us) riches and good offspring.
- 14. May (our) praises and prayers, the causes of good fortune, attain at this sacrifies Vienno, the object of many rites; he, the wide-stepping; whose commands the many-blending regions of space, the generators (of all beings), do not disobey.

- 15. Indea, invested with all energies, has filled both heaven and earth with his greatness; do thou, who are the destroyer of cities, the slaver of VRITHA, the leader of a conquering host, collect cattle and bestow them abundantly upon us.
- 16. Nasatyas, my protectors, inquirers (after the wishes) of your kinsman, beautiful is your cognate appellation of Assuvins; be to us the liberal donors of riches; do you, who are irresistible, protect the offerer (of the oblation) with unblameable (defences).
- 17. Sages acquainted with the past, excellent is that beautiful appellation under which you have both become gods in (the sphere of) INDRA; do thou, INDRA, the invoked of many, a friend, (associated) with the beloved RIBRUS, shape this prayer for our benefit.
- 18. May Aryaman, April, the adorable (gods), and the unimpeded functions of Varuna (protect) us; keep us from (following) the course unpropitious to offspring, and may our dwelling be abundant in progeny and cattle.
- 19. May the messenger of the gods, engendered in many places, everywhere proclaim us void of offence; may earth and heaven, the waters, the sun, and the vast firmament, with the constellations, hear us.
- 20. May the (divine) showevers (of benefits), the derives of the mountains, and those abiding in fixed habitations, propitiated by the sacrificial food, hear us; may Abrri, with the Adityas, hear us; may the Maruis grant us amspicious felicity.

- 21. May our path ever be easy of going, and provided with food: sprinkle, gods, the plants with sweet water: (safe) in thy friendship, AGNI, may my fortune never be impaired, but may I occupy a dwelling (abounding) with riches and ample food.
- 22. Taste (Agni) the oblations; make manifest (for us) abundant food: measure out the viands before us: thou overcomest all those (who are) our enemies in conflict: favourably inclined towards us lighten up all our (ceremonies) day by day.

III. 5. 2. 55

The delities are the Vishenderez: the Rishi is PRAJAPATI; the motre Trishtobh.

- When the preceding dawns appear, the great imperishable (light) is engendered in the (firmament, the) sphere of the waters, and then the worshipper is alert to perform the rites (due to) the gods, for great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 2. Let not the gods, Agni, now do us harm, nor the ancient progenitors, who have come to know the degree (of divinity); nor the manifester of light between the two ancient dwellings (earth and heaven, the sun); for great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 3. Variously do my manifold desires alight: present at the solemnity, I recite ancient (hymns): when the fire is kindled we speak indeed the truth, for great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 4. The universal sovereign is conveyed to many directions: he sleeps in the places of repose: he is connected.

with the forests; one mother (heaven) nourishes the child; the other (earth) gives him a dwelling; great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

- 5. Existing in ancient plants, abiding afterwards in new, he enters into the young (herbs) as soon as they are produced: unimpregnated they become pregnant and hear fruit: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 6. The child of two mothers sleeps in the west, but (in the morning) the single infant proceeds unobstructed (through the sky): these are the functions of Mirra and Varuna: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 7. The child of two mothers, the invoker of the gods at sacrifices, the universal sovereign, proceeds thenceforward (in the sky): the root (of all), he shides (in the houses of the pious): the reciters of pleasant (words) offer him agreeable (praises): great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 8. All (creatures) approaching too near his confines are beheld with their faces turned away as (an enemy) flies from a combatant: obvious (to all), he penetrates the water for its destruction; great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 9. In those (plants) the aged messenger (of the gods) constantly abides: mighty, he passes with the radiant (sun) through the regions of space; assuming various forms, he looks (complacently) upon us: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- Pervading and protecting (all), possessing grateful and immortal radiance, he preserves the supreme path

(of the rains), for Auni knows all these worlds: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

- II. The twin pair (day and night) adopt various forms: one of them shines brightly, the other is black: twin sisters are they, one black and the other white: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 12. Where the mother and the daughter, two productive milch kine, unite, they nourish each other: I worship them both in (the firmament), the dwelling of the waters: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 13. Licking the calf of the other, one of them lows aloud; the milch cow offers her udder for the one that is without moisture (the earth), and she (the earth) is refreshed by the milk of the rain; great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 14. The earth wears bodies of many forms; ahe abides on high cherishing her year and a half old (calf): knowing the abode of the truth (the sun). I offer worship: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 15. Like two (distinguishing) impressions, they (day and night) are placed visible in the midst (between heaven and earth), one hidden, one manifest: the path (of both) is common, and that is universal (for good and evil); great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 16. May the milch kine without their young, abiding (in the heaven), and though unmilked, yet yielding milk, and ever fresh and youthful, be shaken (so as to perform their functions): great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

- 17. When the showerer roars in other (regions) he sends down the rain upon a different herd for he is the victor, the anspicious, the sovereign: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.
- 18. We proclaim, people, the wealth of the hero, (INDRA), in horses; the gods know his (affluence); six, or five and five, harnessed to his car, convey him; great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

19. The divine Twashtrn the impeller (of all), the multiform, has begotten and nourished a numerous progeny, for all these worlds are of him; great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

20. He has fitted the two vast receptacles (heaven and earth) united (with creatures); they are both penetrated by his lustre; the hero spoiling the treasures (of the foe) is renowned; great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

21. Our king, the nourisher of all abides (in the firmament) nearest to this earth like a benevolent friend: the valiant (Maruts) precede him (when abroad), and dwell in his mansion: great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

22. The plants, INDRA, come to perfection by thee; from thee the waters (flow); earth bears her treasures for thee; may we thy friends, be sharers of these blessings; great and unequalled is the might of the gods.

HI. 5. 3.

The deities are the Vishwedecus; the Rishi is PRAJAPATT; the metre Trackfold.

- Neither the deceptive nor the resolute interrupt the primitive and permanent operations of the gods, nor do the innocuous heaven and earth (interrupt them), nor are the mountains standing (on the earth) to be bowed down.
- One stationary (year) sustains six burthens (in the seasons); the (solar) rays spread through that true and extensive (term); three revolving spheres are severally above, two of which are placed in secret, and one is visible.
- The three-breasted, the showerer (of rain), the omniform, the three-uddered, the parent of multiform progeny, the possessor of magnitude, followed by three hosts (the year), advances, the vigorous impregnator of the perpetual plants.
- 4. (The year) is awake, the path in the vicinity of those (plants): I call upon the beautiful name of the Adityas; the divine waters wandering severally (now) give it delight, and (now) depart from it.
- 5. Rivers, the dwelling-places of the intelligent gods are thrice three; the measurer of the three (worlds) is the sovereign at sacrifices: three female (divinities) of the waters charged with the rains descend from heaven at the thrice (repeated) solemnity.
- Savitre, descended from heaven, bestow upon us blessings thrice every day; Bhaga, saviour, grant us thrice a day riches of three elements; Dhishasa enable us to acquire (wealth);

- 7. May Savrrai bestow upon us wealth at the (three periods) of the day, for the well-handed Mitra and Varuna, the waters, the vast heaven and earth, solicit precious things from the liberality of Savirai.
- 8. Three are the excellent uninjurable bright regions, three scions of the powerful (year) are shining; practisers of truth, quick moving, of surpassing radiance; may the deities be present thrice daily at the sacrifice.

III. 5. 4. 57

The deities, Riski, and matre as before.

- May the discriminating Index apprehend my glorification (of the gods), which is (free) as a milch tow, grazing alone, without a cowherd, one who is readily milked, yielding abundant nourishment, and of whom Agar and Index (and we), are the commenders.
- 2. INDRA and PUSHAN, the showerers (of benefits), and the happy-handed Ashwins, well affected towards us, have milked the (cloud) reposing in heaven; wherefore, Vasus, universal deities, sporting on this (altar), may I here obtain the happiness derived from you.
- 3. The plants that desire for the showerer (INDRA) the power (of sending rain) appreciate, when manifest, the embryo (blossom) deposited in him: the kine desirous of reward come to the presence of the calf, invested with many forms.
- I glorify with praise the beautiful heaven and earth, taking in hand the stones (to express the libation) at the sacrifice, as these thy graceful, adorable, and manyblessing rays (AGNI) mount up for the good of man.

- With thy wide-sprending tongue, Agni, sweet and intelligent, which is renowned amongst the gods, bring hither all the adorable deities for our protection, and give them to drink of the sweet (libations).
- 6. Divine Agar, giver of dwellings, knower of all that exists, extend to us that benevolence which, unshared by others, cherishes us like the showers of the rain-cloud; that kindness which is beneficent for all mankind.

III. 5, 5,

The deities are the Jakiese, the Richi and metre as before.

- 1. The milch-cow (the dawn) yields the desired milk to the ancient (AGNI); the son of the south passes within (the firmament); the bright-houred (day) brings the illuminative (sun); the praiser awakes (to glorify) the Ashwins preceding the dawn.
- 2. The well-yoked (horses) bear you both in your truth-(preserving car); the offerings proceed towards you as (children to their parents); discard from us the disposition of the niggard; we have made ready for you our offering; come to our presence.
- 3. Dasnas, with well-yoked horses and well-constructed car, hear this praise of the worshipper, for have not the ancient sages declared you. Ashwins, to be most ready to come to the aid of the destitute?
- If you regard (my prayer), come with your quick steeds: all men. Asuwins, invoke you; to you they offer the sweet (Soma) juice mixed with milk, as friends (give gifts to friends): the sun is in advance, (therefore come to the rite).

- 5. Eclipsing (by your splendour) many regions, Ashwins, (come hither); loud praise awaits you opulent (Ashwins) amongst men; come to this rite by the paths traversed by the gods; here, Dashas, are ample stores of the exhilarating juices.
- Your ancient friendship is desirable and auspicious;
   your wealth, leaders (of rites), is in the family of Janku;
   renewing that auspicious friendship, may we, your associates, delight you with the sweet (Soma juice).
- 7. Ashwins, endowed with power, ever young, in whom is no untruth, unweared, munificent, accepters (of libations), drink with VAYO and your steeds, rejoicing together, of the Some libation offered at the close of day.
- 8. Ashwins, abundant (sacrificial) viands are presented to you, and blameless worshippers (salute you) with praises: your water-shedding car, attracted by the sacrificers, quickly compasses earth and heaven.
- Asswins, this most sweet Some is mixed; drink it; come to (our) dwelling; your car, repeatedly bestowing wealth, is coming to the appointed place of the offerer of the libation.

H1. 5. 6. 5

The duty is Mirra; the Kishi, Vinewanites; the motion of the first five verses is Trishfishi, of the last four Gagatri.

I. Mrrna, when praised, animates men to exertion: INDRA sustains both the earth and heaven: Mrrna looks upon men with unclosing eyes; offer to MITRA the oblations of clarified butter.

- May that mortal enjoy abundance, Mitra, who presents thee, Aditya, (with offerings) at the sacred rite; protected by thee he is not harmed; he is not overcome by any one; sin reaches him not, either from afar or nigh.
- May we, exempt from disease, rejoicing in (abundant) food, roaming free over the wide (expanse) of the earth. diligent in the worship of ADITYA, ever be in the good favour of MITRA.
- 4. This Mitra has been engendered adorable and to be served, the sovereign (over all), endowed with vigour, the creator (of the universe); may we ever be in the good favour, in the auspicious approbation, of this adorable (ADITYA).
- 5. The great ADITYA, the animator of men to exertion, is to be approached with reverence; he is the giver of happiness to him who praises him; offer with fire the acceptable libation to that most glorifiable MITEA.
- Desirable food and most renowned wealth are (the gifts) of the divine Mirray, the supporter of man.
- The renowned Mitra, who by his might presides over heaven, is he who presides over the earth by (the gift of) food.
- The five classes of men have repaired to the victorious Mitraa, for he supports all the gods.
- MITBA is he who amongst gods and men bestows food as the reward of pious acts upon the man who has prepared (for him) the lopped sacred grass.

III. 5. 7. 60

The deities of the first four verses are the RIBHUS, of the three last IMDRA; the Rishi is VIBHWAMITEA; the metre Japan.

- I. Your connexion (with the consequences of acts) RIBHUS is here (acknowledged) by the minds of all; desiring their share (of the sacrifice), oh men, they have come with a knowledge (of their claims) to these (rites); the sons of Sudhanwan, with the devices by which they are victorious over foes, you have accepted the share of the sacrifice.
- 2. With those faculties by which you have divided the ladles; with that intelligence wherewith you have covered the (dead) cow with skin; with that will by which you have fabricated the two horses (of INDRA); with those (means). RIBRUS, you have attained divinity.
- 3. The Rebus, the performers of (good) works, the grandsons of a man, have attained the friendship of Indra; they have perpetuated (existence): the sons of Sudhanwan have attained immortality; performers of pious acts influencing (the result), through their devotion (they have attained divinity) by their works.
- 4. Go with Indra in his chariot when the libation is poured out, and be (welcomed) with honour by the (worshipper) desiring (your favour): RIBHUS, sons of SUDHAN-WAN, bestowers (of the rewards of pious acts), your virtuous deeds, your great faculties, are not to be measured.
- INDRA, along with the food-bestowing RIBBUS, accept with both hands the (cup of the) effused Soma libation: excited Maghavan, by worship, rejoice with the human sons of Sudhanwan in the dwelling of the donor (of the offering),

- 6. INDRA, the praised of many, associated with Rman, and with Vala, exult with Shachi, at this our sacrifice; these self-revolving (days) are devoted to thee, as well as the ceremonies (addressed) to the gods, and the virtuous acts of man.
- 7. INDRA. with the food-bestowing RIBBUS rewarding (worship) with food, come hither to (receive) the reverential praise of the adorer, with a hundred quick-going steads, the indications (of the Maruts): come to the burnt offering of the sacrifice, yielding a thousand blassings to the sacrificer.

HI. 5. 8.

The skity is Unnae, the dawn; the Rishi as before; the matre Trichtuhh.

- Affluent Ushas, giver of sustemance, possessed of intelligence, be propitiated by the praise of him who lands thee, (and worships) with (sacrificial) food; divine Ushas, adored by all, who (though) ancient art (still) young, the object of manifold worship, thou art present at the recurring (morning) rite.
- 2. Ushas, who art divine and immortal mounted in a golden chariot, do thou shine radiant, causing to be heard the sounds of truth; may thy vigorous and well-trained horses bring thee, who art golden-haired, (hither).
- Usuas, who apreadest over all the regions, thou abidest on high, the ensign of the unmortal (sun), purposing to travel the same road, repeatedly turn back ever new. (revolving) like a wheel.

- 4. The opulent Usuas, the bride of the far-darting (sun), throwing off (darkness) like a garment, proceeds: diffusing her own (lustre), auspicious, promoting sacred acts, she is renowned to the ends of the heaven and of the earth.
- 5. Offer, with your prostrations, due praise to the divine Usnas, shining upon you: the repository of sweetness manifests her brightness aloft in the sky, and, radiant and lovely, lights the regions.
- 6. The possessor of truth is recognized in the sky by her rays: the possessor of wealth has taken a marvellous station in earth and heaven: AGNL soliciting alms of the radiant advancing Ushas; thou obtained thy desired treasure (of oblations).
- 7. The showerer (of rain, the sun), arging on the dawn, at the root of the truthful (day) hast pervaded the vast heaven and earth: the mighty Usnas, the golden light, as it were, of MITRA and VARUNA, diffuses her heatre in different directions.

III. 5. 9. 62

This byum is divided into six Trickus or triplets, the deities of which are severally, INDRA and VARUNA, BRIHABEATI, PUBLIAN, SAVITRI, Scota, and Metric and Varuna: Visit Manufact, is the High, or, according to some, the last triplet is assurbed to Jamadassen; the metre of the three first stances is Tricklabb, of this rest Gapotes.

1. INDRA and VARUNA, may these people who are relying upon you, and wandering about (in alarm), sustain no injury from a youthful (adversary); for where is that reputation (you enjoy) on account that you bestow sustenance on your friends,

- Most diligent (in pious rites) this (your worshipper).
   INDRA and VARUNA, desirous of wealth, incessantly invokes you for protection: associated with the Maruts, with heaven and earth, hear my invocation.
- 3. May there be to us, Indra and Varuna, such wealth (as we covet): may there be, Maruts, to us wealth (of cattle) and numerous descendants: may the delightful (wives of the gods) shelter us with dwellings: may Hotra and Bharati (enrich) us with gifts.
- 4. Brihaspati, friend of all the gods, accept our oblations; grant precious treasures to the offerer.
- Adore the pure Brihaspati at sacrifices with hymns:
   I solicit of him unsurpassable strength.
- The showerer (of benefits) on men, the omniform, the irreproachable, the excellent Britishati.
- Divine, resplendent, Pushan, this, thy most recent laudation, is uttered by us to thee.
- Be pleased by this my praise, and incline to this food-supplicating laudation as an uxorious (husband) to his wife.
- May that Pushan, who looks upon all the worlds, who thoroughly contemplates them, be our protector.
- We meditate on that desirable light of the divine SAVITER, who influences our pious rites.
- Desirous of food, we solicit with praise, of the divine SAVITBL, the gift of affluence.

 Devout and wise men, impelled by intelligence, adore the divine Saversi with sacrifices and sacred hymns.

13. Some, knowing the right path, proceeds (by it): he goes to the excellent seat of the gods, the place of sacrifice.

 May Soma grant to us and to (our) biped and quadruped animals, wholesome food.

15. May Soma, prolonging our lives and overcoming our adversaries, sit down in our place of sacrifice.

16. MITRA and VARUNA, sprinkle our cow-stalls with butter; performers of good works. (sprinkle) the worlds with honey.

 Performers of pure rites, glorified by many, exalted by adoration, (celebrated) by prolonged praises, you reign by the greatness of (your) strength.

 Glorified by Jamadagni, sit down in the place of sacrifice (the altar); drink, augmenters (of the reward) of sacrifice, the Soma libation.

FOURTH MANDALA.

ANUVAKA I.

IV. 1. 1.

The deity is Ager, or, it may be, VanuNa in the second, third, and fourth stausse: the Riebi is Vanadava: the metre of the first verse is Ashti; of the second, Attjagati; of the third, Dhriti; and Trichtabh of the met.

- I. Since the emulous gods ever excite thee. AGNI, who art a deity swift of motion, (to contest), therefore do (thy worshippers) urge thee by their devotions (to bring the deities to their sacrifices); adorable AGNI, they (the deities), have generated thee, immortal, divine, all-wise, as the present divinity among men; they have generated thee as the all-present and all-wise deity.
- 3. Bring to the presence of the worshippers, Aoni, thy brother Varuna, as a participator of the sacrifice, with a willing mind, the elder participator of the sacrifice; the ruler of the water, the Aditya, the supporter of menths sovereign venerated by mankind.
- 3. Friendly and beautiful (AGNI), bring thy friend (VARUNA) to our presence, as two strong horses convey the swift chariot along the road to its goal: thou receivest. AGNI, the gratifying (oblation) together with VARUNA, and with the all-illumining Maruts: grant, brilliant AGNI, happiness to our sons and grandsons; grant, beautiful AGNI, happiness to ourselves.
- 4. Mayest thou, Agni, who art wise, avert from us the wrath of the divine Varuna; do thou, who art the most frequent sacrificer, the most diligent bearer (of oblations), the most resplendent, liberate us from all animosities.

- 5. Do thou, AGNI, our preserver, be most night to us with thy protection at the breaking of this dawn: deprecate Varuna for us, and, propitiated (by our praise), feed upon the grateful (oblation), and be to us of auspicious invocation.
- 6. The glance of this auspicious deity, directed towards men, is most excellent, most wonderful, acceptable (to all), as the pure warm butter (from the milk) of the cow (is acceptable) to the deity; as the gift of a milch-cow (is to a man).
- 7. These are the supreme, true, and desirable births of this divine Agan, invested (with radiance) in the unbounded (firmament): pure, bright, radiant lord (of all), may be come (to our) sacrifice.
- 8. The messenger, the invoker (of the gods), riding in a golden chariot with a tongue of flame, he frequents all the chambers (of sacrifice); drawn by red horses, embodied, resplendent, always agreeable, as a dwelling well supplied with food.
- 9. Associated with sacrifice, and knowing those men (who are engaged in good works), they lead him with the strong cord (of praise); he, the divine Aont fulfilling (all desires), abides in the dwelling of this mortal, and obtains fellowship in his wealth.
- 10. May that wise AGNI conduct us to that wealth which is desired by the devout; he whom all the immortals have created for (the performance of) sacred rites; of whom heaven is the parent and progenitor, and whom (the priests) verily sprinkle (with oblations).

- 11. He is first engendered in the habitations (of the sacrificers; then upon his station, (the altar), the base of the vast firmament; without feet, without head, concealing his extremities, combining with amoke in the nest of the rain-cloud.
- 12. Radiance has first proceeded to thee, (AGNI), who art glorified by praise, in the womb of the water, in the nest of the min-cloud: the seven attached (priests) have engendered (praise) to the showever (of benefits), who is desirable, ever young, embodied, and resplendent.
- 13. In this world our mortal forefathers departed after instituting the sacred rite, when, calling upon the dawn, they extricated the milk-yielding kine, concealed among the rocks in the darkness (of the cave).
- 14. Rending the rocks, they worshipped (AGNI), and other (sages) taught everywhere their (acts): unprovided with the means of (extricating) the cattle, they glorified the author of success, whence they found the light, and were thus enabled (to worship him) with holy ceremonies.
- 15. Devoted (to Auxi), those leaders (of sacred rites), with minds intent upon (recovering) the cattle, forced open, by (the power) of divine prayer, the obstructing, compact, solid mountain confining the cows, a cow-pen full of kine.
- 16. They first have comprehended the name of the kine knowing the thrice seven excellent (forms) of the maternal (rhythm); then they glorified the conscious dawns, and the purple dawn appeared with the radiance of the sun.

17. The scattered darkness was destroyed; the firmament glowed with radiance; the lustre of the divine dawn arose; then the sun stood above the undecaying mountains, beholding all that was right or wrong among mankind.

18. Thereupon awaking, the (Angirasas) beheld (the cattle set free), and seized upon the precious treasures; the universal gods then came to all (their) dwellings; MITBA and VARUNA may your truth be (kept) to him who worships (you).

19. May I glorify the present radiant AoNI, the invoker (of the gods), the supporter of the universe, most deserving of adoration, without milking the pure udder (of the cow), without the purified food of the Soma offered in libation.

20. May Agni be the Aditi of all those to whom sacrifice is offered; may he be the guest of all men: receiving the (sacrificial) food of the devout, may he, to whom all is known, be the bestower of felicity.

IV. 1. 2.

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Trichtable.

 He who has been placed immortal among the mortals, the observer of truth, a deity triumphant among gods, the invoker of the gods, the most diligent sacrificer, Agni: he has been placed (upon the altar) to lighton (the ceremony) by his (lustre), and for the elevation of the worshipper, through oblations (in heaven).

- Agni, son of strength, generated to-day at this our rite, as intermediate between both (gods and men) thou proceedest, the invoker (of the gods), harnessing, graceful Agni, thy robust, vigorous, and resplendent steeds.
- I celebrate the raddy, food-bestowing, water-shedding, and swifter-than-thought-going, steeds of him who is the truth; harnessing the brilliant pair (to thy chariet), thou passest between the deities of whom thou art, and human worshippers.
- Possessed, Aoni, of good steeds, an excellent car, and abundant wealth, do thou, amidst these (worshippers) bring to the man who offers worthy oblations, Akyaman, Varuna, Mitha, Vishbu, the Maruts, or the Ashwins.
- 5. May the sacrifice, AGNI, be productive of cows, of sheep, of borses, and, celebrated by thy worshipper, aided by the priests, be ever uninterrupted: may itmighty AGNI, be productive of food and progeny, long continued, affluent, wide based, and held in full assembly.
- 6. Thou art the manificent recompenser of that man who, sweating (with toil), brings ther fuel, and for thy service causes his head to ache: protect him, AGNI, from every one that seeks to do him evil.
- 7. May a son, firm in (devotion) and fiberal (in offerings), be born to him who presents (sacrificial) food to thee when needing food, who gives thee constantly the exhibitating (Soma juice), who welcomes thee as a guest, and devoutly kindles thee in his mansion.
- Preserve from sin the liberal sacrificer who glorifies thee morning and evening, and, presenting oblations.

does what is acceptable to thee in his own abode, like a horse with golden caparisons.

- 9. Let not him who makes offerings to thee. AGNI, who art immortal, who with uplifted ladle pours out oblations repeating thy praise, ever want riches, and let not the wickedness of a malevolent (foe) circumvent him.
- 10. May that prayer be agreeable to thee, Agni, who art a gracious deity, (which is uttered) by the man with whose well-conducted sacrifice thou art well pleased, youngest (of the gods), of whose (rites) when worshipping thee may we be the promoters.
- 11. May the wise Agni discriminate between virtue and vice, between (virtuous and wicked) men, as a (groom distinguishes between) the strong and weak backs (of horses); eurich as with wealth accompanied by virtuous offspring; be bountiful to the liberal giver; shun him who gives not.
- 12. The unrevited sages abiding in the dwellings of man have glorified the sage (AGNI); therefore, lord of sacrifice, thou mayest proceed with swift-moving feet to behold the admirable and marvellous deities.
- 13. Resplendent Agni, youngest of the gods, the satisfier of (the desires of) men, who art easily to be conducted (to the ultar), bestow joy-yielding and abundant wealth for his preservation upon the worshipper who praises and worships thee and offers thee libations.
- 14. Therefore, Agnt, when we labour for thee with hands and feet, and all our members, the pious performers of rites, (the Angirasas), exercise their arms in the work (of attrition), as wheelwrights fabricate a car.

- 15. May we seven priests first in order engender from the maternal dawn the worshippers of the creator (AGNI); may we Angirasus be the sons of heaven, and, radiant, divide the wealth-containing mountain.
- 16. Thus, Agai, our excellent and ancient forefathers, calebrators of holy sacrifice, proceeded to (the region of) pure light, and, reciting prayers and dispersing gloom, they made manifest the purple (kine).
- 17. Performers of good works, brilliant and devout, the praises of the gods have freed their birth from impurity, as (a smith heats) iron: exciting Agni, elevating INDRA, and wandering about (in search), they have gone to the vast (hidden) herd of cattle.
- 18. Fierce (Agni), when (Indra) proclaimed the near presence of the hard of the kine of the divine (Angirasas) as a herd of cattle in a well-stored stall, the progeny of inortals were thereby enabled (to perform pious acts), and the master of the family rendered competent to (provide for) the increase of posterity and (the support of) dependants.
- 19. We have worshipped thee (AGNI), and have thereby become the performers of a good work, adoring the full and variously delighting AGNI, the beautiful lustre of the radiant divinity, when the brilliant dawns have arrayed (themselves) in light.
- 20. Creator, AGNL we have repeated these thy praises to thee who art all-wise; do thou accept them: blaze aloft; make us opulent; do thou who art worshipped by many bestow upon us ample wealth.

IV. L 3.

The deity, Riski, and metre as before.

- Secure Agni, the king of sacrifice, the afflicter (of foes), the invoker (of the gods), the distributor of food through heaven and earth, the golden-formed, for your protection, before (surprised by) sudden death.
- 2. This is the altar which we have decorated for thee, as a wife attached to her husband puts on elegant garments (to gratify him): maturer of good works, sit down in our presence invested (with radiance), while thy flames incline towards thee.
- 3. Repeat, oh priest, the praise, the prayer, to the attentive, the affable AGNI, the beholder of man, the giver of felicity, the divine, the immortal; to him whom the effuser of the libation, like the (bruising) stone, adores aloud.
- 4. Thou, Agni, presidest over this our rite: do thou, who art cognizant of truth, and the author of good works, recognize this our adoration, whenever these exhilarating prayers (are addressed) to thee, whenever friendly relations with thes are (established) in our dwelling.
- 5. Why, Agni, dost thou reproach us (for our sin) to Varuna, why to the beaven? what is our offence? why repeat it to the bountiful Mitea, to earth, to Arvanan, or to Bhaga?
- 6. Why repeat it when exalted in holy caremonies? why tell it to the mighty, benevolent, circumambient, truthful wind? why, Agni, to earth, why to man-destroying RUDBA?

- 7. Why to the great and nutriment-conveying Pushan! why to Rudha, the object of worship, the giver of the oblation (to the gods)? why to the many-hymned Vishku! why tell our sin to the extensive year!
- 8. Why tell it to the veracious company of the Marsits? why, even when asked, to the mighty sun! why repeat it to April, or to the swift wind? fulfil, all-knowing Jatanepas, (the worship) of heaven.
- 9. I solicit. Again the milk of the cow, essential for the sacrifice: yet immature, (she possesses) the sweet and ripe (fluid): black though she be, yet with her white nutritious milk she maintains mankind in existence.
- 10. The male Aoxi, the showerer (of benefits), has been sprinkled by the genuine sustaining milk; the giver of food proceeds unswerving (from his course), and the sun, the shedder of rain, has milked the white (fluid) of the udder (of the firmament).
- II. By the sacrifice, the Angirasas, rending the mountain asunder, have thrown it open, and returned with the rows; the leaders (of holy rites) have arrived happily at the dawn, and the sun was manifest as AGNI was engendered.
- 12. By sacrifice, Agni, the divine rivers, immortal, unobstructed, continue perpetually to flow with sweet waters, like a horse that is being urged in his speed."
  - 13. Go not ever, AGNI, to the sacrifice of any one who injures us; nor to that of a malevolent neighbour; nor to that of an (unnatural) relation: accept not the due (oblation) from an insincere brother; let us not derive enjoyment from the enemy of a friend.

- 14. Agai, worthily worshipped, conservator, conciliated (by our offerings), protect us with thy protections: enlighten us; entirely extirpate our sin; evercome the great and exulting Rakshasas.
- 15. Be propitiated, Agnt. by these hymns; accept, hero, these (sacrificial) viands (presented) with praises; be pleased, Angras, by our prayers; may the adoration addressed to the gods exalt thee.
- 16. Agai, erestor, to thee who art wise, acquainted with the past, I address, oh sage, these soliciting mysterious words, (these) ever to-be-recited poems, together with praises and prayers.

IV. L 4.

The delty is Agnt, the Rollshor-slayer; the Riski and rectre us before.

- Put forth thy strength, Agni, as a fowler spreads a capacious snare: proceed like a king attended by his followers on his elephant: thou art the scatterer (of thy foes): following the swift-moving host consums the Rakshasas with thy fiercest flames.
- Thy swift and errant flames descend (on every side): flerce-shining with vigour consume (the fee): scatter, AGNL with the ladle (of oblation), scorehing flames, and sparks, and brands.
- 3. Do thou, who art most rapid, direct thy (flames) against opposing (rays), and, unresisted, become the protector of this thy people against the calumnistor who is remote or who is nigh; let no malevelent (fee) prevail against us (who are) thy worshippers.

- 4. Sharp-weaponed AGNI, rise up; spread wide (thy flames) against (the Rakshasas); entirely consume the foes: blazing AGNI, burn down him who acts as an enemy towards us like a piece of dry timber.
- Rise up. Agni, chastise those who overpower us; manifest thy divine energies; slacken the strong (bow strings) of the malignant kings; destroy those (who are hostile), whether kindred or unallied.
- 6. He experiences thy good favour, youngest (of the gods), who offers praise to thee, a Brahman, coming quickly (to bestow felicity): to him are all prosperous days and wealth (of cattle) and treasures: do thou, as the lord of sacrifice, shine upon his dwelling.
- 7. May the liberal man ever be prosperous who propitiates thee with constant oblations and praises; may all the days in his arduous life be prosperous, and may this (his) sacrifice be (productive of reward).
- 8. I reverence thy good favour, Agn: may this reiterated and resounding hymn convey due praise to thy presence: may we be possessed of good horses and good cars, that we may pay thee homage; and do thou daily bestow upon us riches.
- 9. May every one of his own accord diligently worship thee, shining in the (hall) morning and evening, every day: thus, sporting in our dwellings, (enjoying) the wealth of (hostile) man, may we with happy hearts worship thee.
- 10. Thou, AGNI, art the protector of him who, possessed of good horses and a golden car, approaches thee with a chariot laden with wealth; thou art the friend of him who gratifies thee by the due performance of hospitality to thee.

- 11. Invoker (of the gods), youngest (of the deities): possessed of excellent wisdom, through the alliance (with thee produced)]by holy texts, which came to me from my father Gotama, I demolish the powerful (demons): do thou, who art the humbler (of foes), be cognizant of our praises.
- 12. All-wise AGNI, may thy protecting (raya), unalumbering, alert, propitious, unslothful, benignant, unwearied, co-operating, having taken their place (at this sacrifice), preserve us.
- 13. Those thy protecting (rays). AGNI, which, beholding (what had chanced), preserved the blind son of MAMATA from misfortune: he, knowing all things, cherished those benevolent (rays), and his enemies, intending to destroy him, wrought him no harm.
- 14. Agni, who art freed from shame, by thee we are made opulent; by thee we are protected; may we, through thy guidance, attain abundant food: cherisher of truth, destroy both (sorts of calumniators), those who are nigh, those who are ar off, and in due course fulfil (our desires).
- 15. May we propitiate thee. AGNI. by this fuel: accept the praise that is recited by us: consume the unadoring Rakshasas; thou who art to be honoured by (thy) friends, preserve us from the reproach of the oppressor and the reviler.

IV. 1. 5.

The deity is Aunt as Varsuwanaana; the Richi Vamaduva; the metre Trichfold.

1. How may we present rejoicing (fit offerings) to Agni, the showerer (of benefits); to Vaishwanara.

he, who, bright with great lustre, sustains the heaven, with his entire vast and insupportable (bulk), as a pillar (sustains a roof).

- Reproach not the divine (AGNI), who, accepting the oblation, has given this wealth to me, his mortal (worshipper) of mature (intellect); AGNI, who is wise; immortal, discriminating, (who is) Vaishwanana, chief conductor (of rites), the mighty.
- 3. May AGNI, filling both (the midding and most excellent condition), bright shining, of manifold vigour, the showerer of (benefits), the possessor of affluence, (who comprehends) by (his) wisdom the mysterious sacred hymn, as (they track) the footsteps of a (missing) cowreveal (the sense) to me.
- May the sharp-toothed AGNI, possessed of excellent wealth, consume with his fierce radiance those (adversaries) who injure the firm and valued glories of the sapient Varuna and Mitra.
- 5. Like women who have no brethren, going (about from their own to their father's house), women adverse to their lords going astray, so the wicked, false (in thought), false (in speech), they give birth to this deep abyss (of hell).
- Purifier, Agni, bestow on me, not neglecting thy worship, this acceptable and vast (wealth), like a heavy load on a feeble (bearer), together with invigorating food; (wealth), secure, abundant, tangible, and consisting of the seven elements.
- May our (self)-purifying praise, suited to his glory, and accompanied by worship, quickly attain to that omniform (Vaishwanara) whose swift-ascending brilliant (orb) is stationed on the east of the earth, to mount, like the sun, above the immoveable heaven.

- 8. What objection (can be offered) to this my assertion, that they affirm that the milk of the kine, which (the milkers) obtain like water, is placed in concealment (by Vaishwanaba), and cherishes the excellent and valued expanse of the wide earth.
- I recognize this adorable assemblage of the great (deities), which from of old the milk-shedding cow affects, shining above the region of water, (the firmament), in secret; swift gliding, swift moving.
- 10. Then, radiant in association with the parents, (heaven and earth), he is awakened (to drink) the agreeable secretion of the cow, and the tongue of the assidnous (performer of holy rites), the resplendent showerer (of benefits), approaching the excellent station of the maternal (cow), seeks to drink the milk.
- 11. Interrogated with respect, I declare the truth, that this (wealth is acquired), JATAVEDAS, by the praise of thee: thou rulest over it. (over) all that (it may be), the wealth that is in heaven or on earth.
- 12. What is the value of this (wealth) to us? what is its advantage? inform us, JATAVEDAS, for thou knowest; (tell us) what is the best (course) for us on this secret path, so that we may follow unreproached the direct road.
- 13. What is the limit, what are the objects, which is the desirable (end) to which we rush like swift (chargers) to the buttle? when for us will the divine dawns, the brides of the immortal (sun), overspread (the world) with light,

14. (Men are) not satisfied by unproductive, frivolous, inconclusive, scanty speech; then what, AoNI, do they here say to thee? devoid of the implements (of worship), let them suffer from distress.

15. For the prosperity of this (institutor of the rite), the host (of the flames) of the kindled (AGNI), the showerer (of benefits), the giver of dwellings, has blazed in the hall (of sacrifice); clothed in radiance, beautiful in semblance, and glorified by many, he shines like a man with opulence.

IV. 1. 6.

The deity is Aoxt, the Risks and meter as below,

 Again, injinistrant of the sacrifice, do thou who art entitled to worship, be above us in this offering to the gods; for thou prevailest over all that is desirable; thou inspirest the praise of the worshipper.

2. The unperplexed, the sagacious, exhilarating Aust.
the ministrant priest, has been placed amongst men for (the celebration of) sacrifices: like the sun, he aprends light above, and props the smoke above the sky like a pillar.

3. The fadle filled (with butter) is prepared: prompt (in act), opulent (with the oblation), the multiplying (priest), conducting (the worship) of the gods, circumambulates (the fire); the newly-trimmed post is set up, the impending shining axe falls upon the victims.

4. When the sacred grass is strewn and the fire is kindled, the Adharya rises, propitiating (the gods), and Aoxi, the offerer of the oblation, ancient and multiplying (the offering), thrice circumambulates (the victim) like a keeper of cattle.

- 5. Agni, the sacrificer, the exhibitantor, the sweetapoken, the object of sacrifice, moving measuredly, circumambulates (the victim) of his own (accord); the bright (rays) of him (fed) with (sacrificial) food, spread around; all the regions are alarmed when he blazes.
- Bright-shining AGNI, beautiful and auspicious is the semblance of thee, who art terrible and wide-spreading, for (the nights) hide not thy splendour with darkness, nor do the malignant (spirits) inflict any injury on thy person.
- 7. Of whom, progenitor (of mankind), the benevolence is never checked; whose parents need not urge him to exertion; so that the well-satisfied, purifying AGNI shines. like a friend amongst men, the descendants of MANU.
- 8. Agni, whom the twice five sisters dwelling amongst men, the descendants of Manu, have engendered, like females. (awaking) him at dawn, feeding on oblations, brilliant, of goodly aspect, and sharp as an axe.
- Thy horses, AoNI, breathing foam, red-coloured, straight-going, well-paced, bright-shining, vigorous, wellmembered, and of graceful form, are summoned to the worship of the goda.
- Those, thy rays. AGNI, triumphant, wide-spreading, radiant, adorable, go like hawk-faced horses (to their goal), loud-sounding like the company of the Marsts.
- 11. Well-kindled AGNL for thee the prayer has been composed: may (the priest) propitiate (thee) by (his) praise; the (sacrificer) offers worship: bestow upon us manifold (wealth); desiring (riches), men sit down adoring AGNL the invoker of the gods, the glorifier of mankind.

IV. 1. 7.

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre of the first stanza is Jagati, of the five following Annshtubh, and of the rest Trishtubh.

- This invoker of the gods and minister of frequent worship, who is to be glorified at sacrifices, has been placed first (of the gods) by the performers of the rite; the Auxi whom Apnavana and other Bhrigus lighted in the woods for the sake of all men, marvellous (in his acts), and sovereign (over all).
- When, AGNL is the light of thee, bright-shining, to be manifested; for therefore have mortals accepted thee as to be worshipped amongst mankind.
- Contemplating thee in every dwelling, truthful, intelligent, (brilliant with sparks) like the sky with stars, the perfector of all sacrifices.
- Men have brought, for the sake of all people, the swift messenger of the worshipper (to the gods), who (rules) over all mankind, the manifester, the resplendent.
- 5. They (the worshippers) have seated him in his due order, the invoker (of the gods), the intelligent, the agreeable, the purifyingly-radiant, the performer of frequent sacrifice, (brilliant) with seven flames.
- Him, abiding in the maternal (waters) and in the woods, loved, yet unapproached, wonderful, hidden in a cave, endowed with knowledge, seeking (oblations) from any quarter.
- 7. Whom, when they desist from slumber, the devout propitiate in the abode of water at every sacrifice: the mighty Agni, to whom oblitions are to be offered with reverence, who, truthful always, accepts the sacrifice.

- 8. Thou who art all-knowing understandest the functions of a messenger (of the gods) at the sacrifice: well informed of both heaven and earth, and the intermediate (firmament), and a most intelligent, ancient, and amplifying envoy, thou goest up the ascents of heaven.
- 9. Dark is the path of thee who art bright; the light is before thee; thy moving radiance is the chief of (all laminous) bodies: when the present (worshippers) take up the germ (in the sticks of attrition) thou art speedily generated, and becomest indeed the messenger (of the sacrifice).
- 10. The light of the speedily-generated is visible, and when the wind fans the flame, he (AGNI) spreads his blazing tongue amongst the trees, and with his (glowing) teeth consumes the standing (fuel his) food.
- 11. When quickly, with rapid (radiance), he has carried off his food, the mighty AoNI makes (himself) the fleet messenger (of the worshipper); consuming (the fuel), he allies himself with the force of the wind, and as (a horseman) urges his fast steed, so the rapid-going AgNI invigorates and urges (his flames).

IV. 1. 8.

The deity and Riski as before, the metre is Gayatri.

- I propitiate thee with praise, the messenger (of the gods), the omniscient, the bearer of oblations, the immortal, the chief sacrificer.
- 2. The mighty one knows how to bestow the (desired) wealth (upon the worshipper); he knows the ascents of heaven; may he bring the gods lather.

- He, the divine (Agni), knows how the gods are to be reverenced: to the sincere (worshipper) in his dwelling he gives the wealth that is desired.
- He is the invoker (of the gods), comprehending the deity of (their) messenger; and, knowing the ascent of the sky, he travels between earth and heaven.
- 5. May we be they who propitiate Agni with gifts of oblations, and who, cherishing him, feed him with fuel.
- They are renowned for riches and for progeny, who, venerating Agar, offer him oblations.
- May riches, envied by many, devolve upon us day by day, and (abundant) food await us.
- 8. May the wise Agni entirely obviate by his power the removable (ills) of men the descendants of Manu.

IV. 1. 9.

The deity, Riski, and metre as before.

- Agai, make us happy, for thou art mighty, (thou) who comest to this devout man to sit down on the sacred grass.
- May that AGNI, who is difficult to overcome, who is immortal, who is pre-eminent among men the descendants of MANU, become the messenger of all the gods.
- He is conveyed into the sacrificial hall as the Hotri to be adored at sacrifices, or an the Potri he sits down (on the sacred grass).
- Again may be the officiating priest at the sacrifice.
   or the master of the house in the sacrificial chamber, or be sits down as the Brahman.

- Thou, who art the director (of the ceremonial), acceptest the oblations of devoutly-worshipping men the descendants of Manu.
- Thou art willing (to fulfil) the office of messenger for the mortal whose oblations at the sacrifice thou art pleased to convey.

7. Be pleased by our sacrifice; (be pleased) Angiras, by our offering; hear our invocation.

8. May thy inviolable car, whereby thou defendest the donors of oblations, be everywhere around us.

IV. L. 10.

The deity and Rishi as before, the motre is Padapankti.

 We celebrate thee to-day, AGNI, who art like a horse (in conveying our burdens) with thy praises, conveying (our wishes to the gods), and (who art) like a benefactor, propitious and affectionate.

2. Be now the conveyer, AGNL of our auspicious, powerful, efficacious, truthful, and great sacrifice.

Again, who like the sun art light, propitiated by these our hymns, come to our presence with all thy hosts (of radiance).

 Glorifying thee, AGNI, to-day, with these our praises, may we offer thee (oblations): thy (flames), bright as those of the sun, roar aloud.

Thy lovely radiance, Agest, whether by day or by night, shines upon (all objects) like an ornament (to give them) beauty.

 Giver of sustenance, (Agan), thy favour is free from fault, like clarified butter: thy pure and golden lustre shines like an ornament.  Truthful Agni, verily thou removest from the mortal who institutes (thy) worship, whatever ain has been committed (by him) of old.

 May our friendly and fraternal attentions to you deities prove fortunate; for such (attentions shewn) in every sacrifice (form) our security in the sphere (of the gods).

ANUVAKA II.

The deity and Rishi as before, the metre is Trishtubh.

- Powerful Agni, thy auspicions radiance shines upon the proximity of the sun (by day); thy bright and visible (lustre) is conspicuous by night, as the bland and pleasing food (of sacrifice, the oblation) becomes manifest in thy form.
- Agnt, who art engendered repeatedly, and glorified by sacrifice, set open heaven to him who offers thee adoration: resplendent (Agni), Bestow upon us that ample and acceptable (wealth), which, radiant (deity), thouwith all the gods, hast given (to other worshippers).
- 3. The offerings (to the gods) are engendered. AGNI, of thee; from thee (proceed) praises; from thee effective prayers; from thee come a vigorous frame and wealth to the man who worships with sincerity and offers oblations.
- 4. From thee, who art vigorous, the conveyer of oblations, the vast, the granter of what is desired, is born (a son) of real strength; from thee comes wealth approved of by the gods, the source of happiness; from thee, Agni, (is obtained) a swift unarrested home.

- 5. Immortal AGNI, devout mortals worship with holy rites thee the first deity (of the gods), whose tongue exhilarates (them), the dissipator of sin, the lumiliator (of the demons), the lord of the mansion, the unperplexed.
- 6. Agni, son of strength, since thou protectest (thy worshippers), far (remove) from us all iniquity; far (remove from us) sin; far (from us) all evil thoughts; for prosperous is he of whom thou, who art radiant by night, promotest the well-being.

IV. 2. 2. /2

Deity, Riski, and metre as before.

 May be who with uplifted ladle kindles then, and thrice every day presents to thee the (sacrificial) food, knowing thy glory, JATAVEDAS, to be invigorated by the act, surpass (all others) in riches.

 He who, labouring diligently, brings thee fuel, honouring, AGNI, thy great glory; he who kindles thee in the evening and at dawn; he, prosperous and destroying his enemies, acquires riches.

3. Aonr is the possessor of great strength, of excellent food, of riches, the youngest (of the gods): abounding in sustenance, he gives to the mortal who worships himprecions (wealth) according to (his devotion).

- If, youngest (of the gods), with the inconsiderateness common to men, we have ever committed any offence against thee, make as free from the defects of earth; efface entirely, AGNI, our offences.
- 5. Let not us. AGNL who are thy friends, ever suffer harm from any great or comprehensive offence against either gods or men: bestow forgiveness upon our sons and grandsons, the reward of what has been well done.

 Adorable Vasus, in like manner as you have liberated the cow bound by the foot, so set us free entirely from sin; and may our existence. Agai, be prolonged.

IV. 2. 3.

The deity, Riski, and metre as before; or the deities may be considered as those specified or alluded to ju each stanza.

 Favourably-minded, Agn1 has manifested (his might) in regard to the wealth-bestowing procession of the resplendent dawns: proceed, Ashwins, to the dwelling of the pious (worshipper): the divine sun rises with splendour.

2. The divine Savirar diffuses his light on high, dispersing the dew, and like a vigorous (bull) ardent for the cow; then Varuna, and Mitra, and other (divinities), hasten to (fulfil) their offices when they elevate the sun in the sky.

 Seven great coursers convey that sun, whom the (deities), occupants of enduring mansions, and not heedless (of their offices), have formed for the driving away of darkness, (and who is) the animator of the whole world.

- 4. Divine (sun), thou proceedest with most powerful (horses), spreading thy web (of rays), and cutting down the black abode (of night): the tremulous rays of the sun throw off the darkness which is spread like a skin over the firmsment.
- 5. This sun, not far removed, and unobstructed, whether (looking) downwards or looking upwards, is harmed by no one; what is the power by which he travels? who has (truly) beheld him who, as the collective pillar of heaven, sustains the sky?

IV. 2. 4.

The deity or deities, the Richi, and metre as before.

- The resplendent AGNL by whom all is known, has manifested (his might) in regard to the dawns radiant with lustre: far-going NASATYAS, come with your ear to this our sacrifice.
- The divine Savirra displays his banner on high, diffusing light through all worlds: contemplating (all things), the sun has filled heaven and earth and the firmament with his rays.
- 3. The great and intelligent dawn, variegated with (many-coloured) rays of purple tint, bringing opulance, has come with (her) lustre: the divine Ushas, arousing (the sleepers), proceeds with her well-harnessed car (to distribute) (elicity.
- 4. May those robust and active horses bring you, (Ashwins), hither at the breaking of the dawn, and may these Soma juices prepared, showevers (of benefits), for your drinking, exhibitante you at this (our sacrifice).
- 5. This sun, not far removed and unobstructed, whether looking downwards or looking upwards, is harmed by no one; what is the power by which he travels I who has (truly) beheld him who, as the collective pillar of heaven, sustains the sky.

IV. 2, 5,

The deity of the first six stanzas is Aunt; of the two next Somana; of the two leat the Assuming; the Ricki is Vanantiva, the metre Gaguiri.

 Agni, the invoker (of the gods), like a horse (that bears a burden), is brought to our sacrifice; a deity adorable amongst deities.

- AGNI, thrice (a day), comes to our sacrifice like a charioteer, bearing the sacrificial food to the gods.
- The sage, AGNT, the lord of food, has encompassed the oblation, giving precious things to the donor.
- 4. Radiant is this AGNI, the subduer of foes, who is kindled on the (altar) of the east as (he was kindled) for Shinjaya, the son of Devayara.
- May the mortal who is strenuous (in worship) acquire authority over this Aoxi, the sharp-rayed, the showever (of benefits).
- They diligently worship him daily who is like a horse (to convey oblations), who is liberal and resplendent is the son of heaven, (the sun).
- When the prince, the son of Sahadeva, promised (to present) me with two horses, I withdrew not when called before him.
- But immediately accepted those two excellent and well-trained horses from the prince, the son of Sahadeva.
- Divine Ashwins, may this prince, Somaka, the son of Sahadeva, your (worshipper), enjoy long life.
- Divine Ashwins, do you two make the prince, the son of Sahaneva, long-lived.

IV. 2. 6.

The deity is Inona; the Richi as before; the metre is Trishtabh.

I. May the truthful Machavan, the accepter of the spiritless Soma. come to us; may his horses hasten to us; to him we offer this sacrifice, the very potent beverage: may he grant the fulfilment of our desites.

- 2. Hero, Indra, set us free to-day to give thee exhilaration at this sacrifice, as (they let loose a horse) at the end of the road; may the worshipper, like Usmanas, repeat an acceptable prayer to thee, the knower (of all things), the destroyer of the Asuras.
- 3. Like a sage (knowing) what is hidden, and fulfilling sacred rites, so the showerer (of benefits), quaffing copiously the effused (libation), exults (in the draught), and this generates the seven efficient (rays) from heaven, which, being glorified, have made (manifest) the objects of (human) perception by day.
- 4. When the vast luminous heaven manifested by the rays (of light) is displayed, then are (the deities) resplendent according to (their heavenly) abode: the chief of leaders, (INDRA), in his approach has scattered the thick glooms so that men may see.
- 5. INDRA, the accepter of the stale Soma, sustains infinite greatness, and has filled both heaven and earth by his magnitude; therefore has the vastness of him who has surpassed all the regions, exceeded (the world).
- 6. Knowing all things profitable for men. Shakha has, with his willing friends (the Marous), sent forth the waters, for they, with (loud) shouts, divided the clouds, and, desiring (to fulfil) their office, set open the pasturage of the cows (of the Angirasas).
- 7. Thy protecting thunderbolt has slain Verrea, obstructing the (issue of the waters), the conscious earth (co-operating) with (thee): valiant hero, preserver (of the regions), send down by thy strength the waters of the firmament.

- 8. Invoked of many, when thou hadst divided the cloud for (the escape of) the waters, Sarama appeared before thee; and thou, the bringer of abundant food, hast shewn us favour, dividing the clouds and glorified by the Angirasas.
- 9. Maghayan, who are honoured by men, thou hast repaired to the presence of the sage for (the sake of) bestowing (upon him) wealth, and when soliciting (thee) in his need (for aid): defending (him) with thy protection, the guileful, impious Dasyu has been destroyed in the contest for the spoil.
- 10. With a mind resolved on killing the Dasya, thou camest (to his dwelling), and Kursa was eager for thy friendship; now have you two alighted in his (INDRA's), habitation, and, being entirely similar in form, the truthful woman has been perplexed (to discriminate between you).
- 11. Thou goest with Kursa in the same chariot, determined to defend him; (thou who ari) the termienter (of foes), the lord of horses (of the speed) of the wind; on the same day wherein, yoking (to the car) the straightgoing steeds, as if to receive food, the sage (Kursa) has been enabled to cross over (the sea) of calamity.
- 12. For Kursa, thou hast slain the unhappy Shushna, and, in the forepart of the day, attended by thousands, (thou hast slain) Kurava with the thunderbolt; thou hast swiftly destroyed the Dasyus, and thou hast cut them to pieces in the battle, with the wheel (of the chariot of) the sun.
- 13. Thou hast subjugated Pirku and the mighty Miligaya for the sake of Riushwan, the son of Vidature :

thou hast slain the fifty thousand Krishnas; and, as old age (destroys) life, thou hast demolished the cities (of Shambara).

14. While having (thy) person in the proximity of the sun, thy form becomes redolent of ambrosia, and thou art like the cervine elephant, consuming the strength (of the strong), and art like a terrible lion when wielding thy weapons.

15. Relying (upon INDRA) for protection, and desirons of riches, (pious men) repair to him soliciting his presence in the sacrifice, as if in the battle; asking for food, celebrating his praise with hymns, for he is the refuge (of his worshippers), and resembles the grateful and lovely (goddess) of nutrition.

16. Let us invoke that gracious INDRA who has made so many things good for man; who, bestowing enviable opulence, quickly brings acceptable food to a worshipper like me.

17. Hero, INDRA, when in any conflict of men the sharp thunderbolt falls in the midst (of them), and when, lord, there is a termble battle, then the defender of our persons is made known.

18. Be thou the protector of the pious acts of Vamaduva; be thou in battle an unfailing friend; we come to thee, eminent in wisdom; mayest thou be ever benignant to thy prosecr.

19. In every battle, Magnavan, may we along with those men who trust in thee and offer rich gifts, like those who are resplendent with riches, triumphing over their foes, glorify thee many nights and years. 20. Therefore we offer to the vigorous Indea, the showerer (of benefits), holy adoration, that he may never withdraw his friendly (actions) from us, and that he may be our powerful protector, the defender of (our) persons, as the Bhrigus (fabricate) a car (for use).

21. Glorified (in the past), glorified, INDBA, at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water); Lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee; may we, possessed of chariots, be ever delighted in (thy) praise.

IV. 2. 7. 17

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is also the same, except in the differenth verse, in which it is First.

 Thou, INDRA, art mighty; the vast earth confesses to thee (thy) strength, as doth the heaven; thou hast slain VHITRA by thy vigour, thou hast set free the rivers arrested by AHI.

2. At the birth of thee who art resplendent, trembled the heaven (and) trembled the earth through fear of thy wrath; the mighty clouds were confined; they destroyed (the distress of drought), spreading the waters over the dry places.

3. The subduer of foes, manifesting his energy and hurling his thunderbolt, shattered the mountain by his strength: he slew Varrax with the thunderbolt, exulting, and the waters whose obstructor was destroyed rushed forth with rapidity.

Heaven, thy progenitor, conceived (I have obtained).
 a worthy son; the maker of Ixona was the accomplisher.

of a most excellent work; he who begot the adorable (INDRA), armed with the thunderbolt, irremovable from his station, and endowed with greatness.

- All men, praising the munificence of the divine MAGHAVAN, verily glorify him who alone casts down many, INDRA, the king of men, the adored of many.
- 6. Truly are all libations his; the inebriating draughts are truly most exhilarating to the mighty INDRA: truly art thou the lord of wealth, of (all sorts of) treasures: thou, INDRA, supportest all people by the gift (of riches).
- 7. (We praise) the slayer of many foes, the courageous, the discomfiter (of enemies), the great, the unbounded, the showever (of benefits), the wielder of the bright thunderbolt, him who is the destroyer of Vertra, the bestower of food, the giver of wealth, Mauhavan the possessor of riches.
- b. This Maghavan, who destroys assembled hosts, is he who is renowned as chief in battles; he brings the food which he bestows (upon the worshipper); may we be held dear in his friendship.
- 10. This (INDRA), is renowned, whether conquering or slaying (his foes), or whether in conflict he recovers the cattle; when INDRA truly entertains anger, all that is stationary or moveable is in fear of him.
- II. Indea, the lord of opulence, who has overcome many (enamies), has completely won (their) cattle, (their) gold, (their) horses; chief leader by his energies, praised by these his worshippers, he is the distributor of riches, the bestower of wealth.

12. Some portion (of his strength) INDRA derives from his mother, some portion from his father: he who, though his progenitor, has begotten (the world), and animates its vigour repeatedly, as the wind is driven by thundering clouds.

13. Thou art the Maghavan who makes one man destitute, another prosperous, who (scatters from his worshipper) the accumulated dust (of sin), the destroyer (of foes), like the heaven with the thunderbolt, Maghavan conducts his worshipper to wealth.

14. He has hurled the wheel (of the chariot) of the sun, and has stopped ETASA going forth to (battle): the dark undulating cloud bedews him, (staying) at the root of radiance in the regions of its waters;

15. As the sacrificer (pours the oblation) at night upon the fire.

16. May we (who are) wishing for cattle, for horsesfor food, for wives, through his friendship induce INDRA, the showever (of benefits), the giver of wives, the unweared granter of protection, to come down, as a backet (is lowered) into a well.

17. Be our preserver, thou who art looking (benevolently upon) all; a kinsman (to us); a supervisor (of all things), a bestower of felicity on those who are worthy (to offer) libations; a friend, a protector, a defender in the highest degree amongst defenders, a creator; (be thou, who bestowest) the world of beaven upon him who desires it, the giver to us of food.

18. Regard thyself as a protector of those who desire thy friendship; be a friend deserving of commendation: grant. INDRA, food to him who praises (thee); suffering difficulties, we make our supplications to thee, worshipping thee with these holy rites.

- 19. When INDRA, the possessor of opulence, is glorified, he singly destroys many unyielding foes: the worshipper is dear to him (who relies) on his protection, and neither gods nor men molest him.
- 20. The many-voiced Indra, the possessor of opulence, the supporter of men, the irresistible, bestows upon us, when praised by us, assured (rewards); thou, (INDBA), art the king of men; grant to us abundantly that greatfame which (is due) to (thy) worshipper.
- 21. Glorified (in the past), glorified INDBA, at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water); lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee: may we, possessed of chariots, be ever diligent in thy praise.

IV. 2. 8. 18

INDEA, ADIT, and VANADEVS are both the deities and Hishie of the Subla, as it consists of a dialogue amongst them: the metre is Trieduck.

- I. INDRA speaks.] This is the old and recognized path by which all the gods are born; so, when full-grown, let him be born in the same manner; let him not cause the loss of this his mother.
- 2. Vamadeva speaks.] Let me not come forth by this path, for it is difficult (of issue): let me come forth obliquely from the side: many acts unperformed by others are to be accomplished by me: let me contend (in war) with one (enemy), in controversy with one opponent.

- 3. He. (INDRA): has asserted (that it will) cause the death of my mother: let me not proceed by the usual way, but proceed quickly, according (to my will): in the dwelling of Twashtra Indra drank the costly Some from the vessels of the offerers.
- 4. April speaks.] What irregular act has be committed whom (I, his mother.) bore for a thousand months and for many years! there is no analogy between him and those who have been or will be born.
- 5. Deeming it disreputable (that he should be brought forth) in secret, his mother endowed (INDRA) with (extraordinary) vigour: therefore, as soon as born he spring up of his own second, invested with splendour, and filled both heaven and earth.
- 6. These (rivers) flew murmuring as if, being filled with water, they were uttering sounds (of joy): ask them what is this they say; what is the encompassing cloud that the waters break through !
- 7. What do the sacred expiratory strains declare to me! the waters receive the reproach of INDEA: my son has slain Verrea with the mighty thunderbolt; he has set those rivers free.
- 8. Vamadeva speaks.] Exulting, the youthful mother brought thee forth: exulting, Kushava swallowed thee; exulting, the waters gave delight to the infant; Indha, exulting, rose up by his strength.
- VYANSA, exulting and striking (hard blows), smote thee, Maghavan, upon the jaw; wherenpon, being so smitten, thou provedst the stronger, and didst crush the head of the slave with the thunderbolt.

- 10. As a heifer bears a calf, his mother, (ADITI), bore INDRA, mature (in years), strong, irresistible, vigorous, energetic, invincible, (destined) to follow his own course, heedful of his person.
- 11. His mother inquired of the mighty Indra, have these deities deserted thee, my son? then Indra said. Vishnu, my friend. (if thou) purpose slaying VRITRA. exert thy greatest provess.
- 12. Who has made thy mother a widow! who has sought to slay the sleeping and the waking! what deity has been more gracious than thou, since thou hast slain the father, having seized him by the foot?
- 13. In extreme destitution I have cooked the entrails of a dog: I have not found a comforter among the gods: I have beheld my wife disrespected: then the falcon, (INDRA), has brought to me sweet water.

IV. 2. 9. 19

The deity is INDRA; the Richi VAMADEVA; the metre Trichtubk.

- INDRA, wielder of the thunderbolt, all the protecting deities who are reverently invoked, and both the heaven and the earth, glorify thee who art verily one alone, mighty, vast, and pleasing of aspect, for the destruction of VEITEA.
- 2. As elders (semi forth their young), so the gods have sent thee (against VRTRA): thence thou becamest, INDRA who art the abode of truth, the sovereign of the world: thou hast slain the slumbering Am for (the release of) the water, and hast marked out (the channels of) the all delighting rivers.

- On the day of full moon thou hast slain with the thunderbolt the insatiable, unnerved, ignorant, un-apprehending, alumbering Aur, obstructing the gliding-downward-flowing (streams).
- 4. INDRA, by his strength, has agitated the exhausted firmament, as wind, by its violent (gusts, agitates) the water: exulting in his strength, he has divided the solid (clouds), and has shattered the peaks of the mountains.
- 5. The Marcus have hastened to thee like mothers to their young: like chariots they have rushed in along (with thee); thou, INDRA, hast satisfied the flowing streams; thou hast shattered the clouds: thou hast set free the obstructed rivers.
- 6. Thou hast made the vast, all-cherishing, and exuberant earth, delighted with (abundant) food, and tremulous water, for (the sake of) Turviti and Vayya; thou hast made the rivers easy to be crossed.
- 7. Index has filled the youthful rivers, the parents of plenty, the corroders (of their banks), like armies destructive (of their foes): he has inundated the dry lands, and (satisfied) the thirsty travellers; he has milked the barren cows whom the Asuras had become the lords of.
- 8. Having slain Veitra, he has liberated many mornings and years (that had been) swallowed up by darkness, and has set the rivers free: Indea has released the impresoned rivers, encompassed (by the cloud), to flow upon the earth.
- 9. Lord of horses, thou hast brought the son of Acrau from his dwelling, where he was being devoured by the ants: when extricated, although blind, he distinguished the serpent; and when he came forth the joints that had been sundered in the ant-hill were restrung.

- 10. The sage, (VAMADEVA), knowing, royal INDRA, the ancient deeds of thee who art all-wise, has proclaimed the actions, such as thou hast performed them, generative of rain, self-evolved, and beneficial to man,
- 11. Glorified (in the past), glorified, INDRA, at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water): lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee; may we, possessed of chariots, be ever diligent in thy praise.

IV. 2. 10. 20

The daity, Rivas, and motro as before.

- May the illustrious Index, the granter of desires, come to us, whether from afar or nigh, for our protection: he who is the lord of men, armed with the thunderbolt, overcoming his foes in conflict and in combats, (attended) by the most illustrious (Marurs).
- May Index. looking down upon us, come with his steeds to our presence for our protection and enrichment; may the mighty thunderer, the possessor of wealth, (aiding us) in battle, be present at this our sacrifice.
- 3. Thou, Ixona, placing us before thee, shalt receive this sacrifice, our holy offering; and as the huntsman (kills his game), may we, thy worshippers, holder of the thunderbolt, for the acquirement of riches through thee, be victorious in battle.
- INDRA, the giver of food, be near to us, favourably disposed; and, anxious for our (good), drink of the effused.

prepared, exhilarating Soma, and be pleased by the (sacrificial) food (offered) with the moon-day hymn.

- 5. Like a man boasting of his wife, I glorify that INDRA who is invoked of many, who is hymned by recent sages, (who is) like a tree with ripe fruit, like a victorious (warrior), skilful in arms.
- 6. He who is vast and self-sustained like a mountain, the radiant and formidable Inona, born of old for the destruction (of the foes of the gods), the wielder of the ancient thunderbolt, charged with splendour, like a jar (filled) with water.
- 7. Of whom there is no opposer by (reason of) his birth, nor any destroyer of the wealth that accomplishes (pious works): powerful and resplendent (INDRA), the invoked of many, do thou who art the showerer (of benefits) bestow upon us riches.

8. Thou rulest over the riches and the dwellings of men; thou art the rescuer of the herd of cattle; thou art the giver of instruction, the smiter in battles, and the distributor of great heaps of riches.

- 9. By what wisdom is he who is most wise renowned? by that wherewith the mighty INDRA repeatedly does (great things): he is the especial effacer of the manifold sin of the worshipper, and bestows wealth upon his adorer.
- 10. Harm us not, but cherish us, Indra: bestow upon us that abundant wealth which it is thine to give to the donor (of the oblation): praising thee, we celebrate thee at this sacred rite, which is new and excellent, and (at which the oblation) is proper to be presented.

11. Glorified (in the past), glorified, INDBA, at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water): lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee: may we possessed of chariots, be ever delighted in (thy) praise.

IV. 2. H.

The deity, Riski, and metre as before.

- May India come to us for our protection, and being praised (by us), may the mighty hero be exhibitated along with (us )at this rite; he whose energies are many: may he, like the radiant sun, recruit his own overpowering vigour.
- Glorify the powerful leaders of that renowned and opulent (INDRA), whose victorious and protecting energy rules over men, like a universal sovereign entitled to veneration.
- 3. May Indua, accompanied by the Marcus, come quickly for our protection, from the heaven, from the earth, from the firmament, or from the waters; from the sphere of the sun, from (any) distant region, from the abode of the mins.
- We glorify, in solemn rites, this INDRA who rules over substantial, abundant riches; who by his prowess is victor over (hostile) hosts; who by his munificence brings excellent (wealth) to the presence (of his worshippers).

 Let the invoking priest bring to our dwellings that (INDRA) who, firmly fixing the (world), returns food for (sacrificial food), and (utters) a voice enjoining (msn) to worship; he who is to be propitiated by praises, who is adored by many.

- 6. When the repeaters of (his) commendations, abiding in the dwelling of the worshipper, approach INDRA with praise, may he who is our (great) sustainer in conflicts, whose wrath is difficult to be (appeased), become the ministering priest of the master of the house.
- -7. True it is that this might of the sou of the protector of the world, the showerer (of benefits), affects for his advantage the offerer of praise: it (prevails) in the secret (thoughts) of the worshipper, and in his dwelling, for (the accomplishment of his) pious acts, (the attainment of his) desires, and his delight.
- 8. Inasmuch as he has opened the doors of the cloud, and has supplied the rapid courses of the waters with (additional) torrents, so when the pious have recourse to INDBA for food, he finds (it) in the haunt of the Gaura and Gavaya.
- 9. Thy auspicious hands, INDRA, are the doers of good deeds: thy two hands, INDRA, are the extenders of wealth to him who praises thee; what, INDRA, is this delay I why dost thou not exhibit as if why art thou not delighted to make us gifts?
- 10. Thus (glorified). INDRA, who is faithful (to his word), the lord of wealth, the slayer of VETTRA, bestows riches on man; so thou, the praised of many, give us riches for our pious acts, that I may eat of thy divine food.
- Glorified (in the past), glorified, INDRA, at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water): lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee; may we, possessed of chariots, be ever delighted in (thy) praise.

ANUVAKA III.

IV. 3, 1.

The deity, Risks, and motice as before.

- Since the great and mighty INDRA is propitiated by our (oblations), since he desires (them) from us, may he, the possessor of opulence, who comes wielding the thunderbolt by his strength, accept the (sacrificial) food, the hymn, the Soma libation, and the prayers.
- 2. The showerer (of benefits), easting with his hands the quadrangular bolt that causes rain, fierce, the chief of leaders, the achiever of (glorious) acts, is desirous of the prosperity of the investing Parushni (river), whose (bordering) districts he has frequented through regard.
- 3. Who divine, most divine, as soon as born (was endowed) with abundant viands, and great energies, holding in his arms the willing thunderbolt, and causing by his strength (both) heaven and earth to tremble.
- 4. All the high places, and the many low places, the heaven and the earth, trembled (through fear) of the mighty (INDRA) at his birth; the strong (INDRA) cherishes the parents of the moving (sun), and the winds, like men, make a noise in their peregrination.
- 5. Of thee, Indua, who art mighty, great are the deeds, and to be proclaimed at all sacrifices, imamuch as, high-minded hero, thou, sustaining (the world), hast by thy strength slain Au with the resistless thunderbolt.

6. Most powerful INDRA, all these, thy exploits, are verily true: (through fear of thee), the showerer (of benefits), the cows shed (milk) from their udders: then, benevolent-minded (INDRA), the rivers, fearing thee, flow with rapidity.

 Then, Indra, lord of horses, the divine sister (rivers) praise (thee) for thy protection when thou didst set them free to flow, after having been impeded (by Verea) through a long confinement.

8. The exhibitating Soma juice has been expressed:
now may the current flow to thee, and may the expistory power of the illustrious atterer of praise be directed towards us, as the quick rider holds firmly the reins of the stead.

- Enduring Indra, bestow upon us energies, excellent, superior, powerful; bring under subjection to us enemies, deserving of death; demolish the weapon of the malevolent man.
- Hear our praises, INDRA, and bestow upon us many kinds of food: fulfil all our desires, and know thyself, MAGHAVAN, to be to us the donor of cattle.
- 11. Glorified (in the past), glorified, Indra, at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water): lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee; may we possessed of chariots, be ever diligent in (thy) praise.

IV. 3. 2.

The deity, Riski and metre as before; or the deity of the third, minth, and tenth verses may be Rits.

- In what manner may (any one) extol the mighty INDRA? at the sacrifice of what worshipper may be, propitiated, be present, drinking the sacrificial Soma beverage, desirous of the (sacred) food, and pleased (by the oblation)? the mighty INDRA is borne (to the rite) for the purpose of bestowing brilliant wealth.
- 2. What here has enjoyed his fellowship (in battle)? who has been a sharer in his benevolent thoughts? when does any one appreciate his wonderful bounty? when is he (present) for the promotion of the prosperity of the man who glorifies and worships him?
- 3. How is it that INDBA hears (the worshipper) who invokes him? and, hearing, how does he know his necessities? what are his gifts of old; why have they termed him the fulfiller (of the desires) of him who offers praise?
- 4. How does he who glorifies INDRA, and is diligent in his worship, although encountering opposition, obtain from him wealth ? may the divine INDRA be the approximator of my praises, when accepting the sacrificial food he is propitiated towards me.
- 5. When, in what manner, at the dawning of this morning, has the divine INDRA accepted the friendship of a mortal I when, and in what manner, (is) his friendship (manifested) to the friends who have spread out the desirable and suitable (offering) before him I
- 6. May we in any manner proclaim thy friendship for thy friends I when may (we make known) thy fraternal regard ! the efforts of the well-looking INDRA are for the happiness of all: the wonderful form of the moving (INDRA) is, like the sun, ever wished for.

- Resolving to kill the oppressing, malevolent (Rakshasi), not acknowledging Indra, he sharpened his sharp weapons for (her) destruction, and the fierce (Indra), the canceller of debts, has kept afar the unknown dawns in which the debts (are to be paid).
- Many are the waters of Rita: the adoration of Rita destroys iniquities; the intelligent and brilliant praise of Rita has opened the deaf (ears) of man.
- Many are the stable, sustaining, delightful forms of the embodied Rita: by Rita are (the pious) expectant of food; by Rita have the kine entered into the sacrifice.
- 10. The (worshipper) subjecting Rita (to his will) verily enjoys Rita: the strangth of Rita is (developed) with speed, and is desirous of (possessing) water: to Rita belong the wide and profound heaven and earth: supreme milch kine, they yield their milk to Rita.
- 11. Glorified (in the past), glorified. Expra, at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water); lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee; may we, possessed of chariots, be ever diligent in thy praise.

IV. 3. 3.

The deity, Riski, and matre as before,

1. What suitable praise may bring the son of strength, INDRA, before us, to give us wealth: the hero, the lord of eattle, is the donor, oh man, of the wealth of his adversaries to him who glorifies him.

- 2. He. Indra, is to be invoked for the destruction of Veiter: he, the deservedly praised, is to be worshipped; the real donor of wealth, he, Maghavan, gives wealth, (acquired) in battle, to the mortal who offers him prayer and libations.
- 3. Men verily call upon him in battle; the (devout) inflicters of austerity upon their persons constitute him their preserver; when both (the worshipper and the priest) approach together the bountiful INDEA, men (succeed) in (obtaining) the gift of sons and grandsons.
- 4. Powerful Indra, men variously dispersed, come mutually together to celebrate sacred rites for the sake of obtaining rain; when men who are combatants assemble in battle, there are some of them who rely upon Indra.
- 5. Thereupon some verily worship the powerful (INDRA); thereupon one man prepares the buttered cake that he may offer it to (INDRA); thereupon the offerer of the Soma he distinguishes from him who presents no libation; thereupon some one rejoices to worship the showever (of benefits).
- India bestows wealth upon him who offers a libation to him, desiring it, though in another sphere; and, with an humble mind, makes him who is devoted to him his friend in combats.
- 7. INDRA accepting graciously the praises of his devoted (worshipper), who to-day pours out the libation to him, who toasts the buttered cakes, or fries the barley for INDRA, exercises towards him the power that grants his desires.

- 8. When the destroyer (of enemies) distinguishes a mortal foe; when the lord is engaged in the long (continued) battle, (his) bride summons to the dwelling the showerer (of benefits), encompassed by the offerers of the libation.
- 9. A man has realized a small price for an article of great value, and again coming (to the buyer he says) this has not been sold; I require the full price; but he does not recover a small price by a large (equivalent): whether helpless or elever they adhere to their bargain.
- 10. Who buys this, my Indra, with ten milch kine? when he shall have slain (your) foes, then let (the purchaser) give him again to me.
- 11. Glorified (in the past), glorified, INDRA at present, satisfy thy worshipper with food, as rivers (are filled with water): lord of horses, a new hymn has been made for thee; may we, possessed of chariots, be ever diligent in thy praise.

IV. 3. 4. 25

The shrity, Risks, and matre as before.

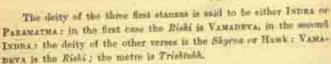

- What friend of man, or worshipper of the gods, deserving the friendship of INDRA, has to-day enjoyed (it)? or what offerer of the libation on the kindled fire praises him (sufficiently) for his great and unbounded protection?
- 2. Who has reverenced with (suitable) words the (denty) worthy of the libation I who is devoted (to him) I who supports the cattle (given by him) I who desires the society of INDRA ! who his friendship ! who his fraternity! who (has recourse) to the sage INDRA for protection !

- 3. Who solicits to-day the protection of the gods? who glorifies the Adityas, Aditi, light? of whose effused libation do the Ashwins, Indra, Adni, drink at will, propitiated by his praise?
- May Agni, the bearer of oblations, grant him felicity, and long behold the rising aun (in the dwelling of him) who says, let us offer libations to Indra, leader (of rites), the friend of man, the chief leader amongst leaders.
- 5. Him neither many nor few can molest; may Additional grant him infinite happiness; the performer of pious acts is dear (to Indra); dear to Indra is he whose mind is intent upon him; dear is he who approaches him with homage; dear to him is the offerer of the libation.
- 6. This here, INDRA, the prompt discomfiter (of fees), who is to be approached with homoge, grants special maturity to the presenter of the libation: he is not the kinsman, nor friend, nor relative, of him who offers no oblation (to him): he is difficult of access, and the punisher of him who repeats not (his) praise.
- 7. (INDRA), the drinker of the effused Soma, contracts no friendship with the wealthy trader who offers not any libation; he takes away his wealth; destroys him when destitute; but he is a special (friend) to him who presents the libation and oblation.
- S. The most exalted, the most humble, (invoke) INDRA; the middle (classes) invoke INDRA; those going, those stopping, (invoke) INDRA; those dwelling at home, those going to battle, (invoke) INDRA; men needing food invoke INDRA,

IV. 3. 5. 26

- I have been Manu and Surya: I am the wise Rishi, Karshiyar: I have befriended Kursa, the son of Arjuni:
   am the far-seeing Ushanas; so behold me.
- I gave the earth to the venerable (Manu); I have bestowed min upon the mortal who presents (oblations);
   I have let forth the sounding waters; the gods obey my will.
- 3. Exhilarated (by the Soma beverage) I have destroyed the ninety and nine cities of Shambara; the hundredth I gave to be occupied by Divodasa when I protected him, Atilbigea, at his sacrifice.
- May this bird, Maruts, be pre-eminent over (other) hawks, since with a wheelless car the swift-winged bore the Soma, accepted by the gods, to MANU.
- 5. When the bird, intimidating (its guardians), carried off from hence (the Soma) it was at large: (flying) swift as thought along the vast path (of the firmament), it went rapidly with the sweet Soma plant, and the hawks thence acquired celebrity in this world.
- The straight-flying hawk, conveying the Some plant from afar; the bird, attended by the gods, brought.

resolute of purpose, the adorable, exhilarating Soma, having taken it from that lofty heaven,

7. Having taken it, the hawk brought the Soma with him to a thousand and ten thousand sacrifices, and this being provided, the performer of many (great) deeds, the unbewildered (INDRA) destroyed, in the exhibitation of the Soma, (his) bewildered foes.

IV. 3. 6.

The feity is the Hawk, or Parabrahous under that personification; the Rishi is Vasanuva; the metre is Trishlabh, except in the fast verse, in which it is Shakuuri.

- Being still in the germ, I have known all the births of these divinities in their order: a hundred bodies of iron confined me, but as a hawk I came forth with speed.
- 2. That embryo did not beguile me into satisfaction, but by the keen energy (of divine wisdom). I triumphed over it: the impeller of all, the sustainer of many, abandoned the foes (of knowledge), and, expanding, passed beyond the winds (of worldly troubles).
- 3. When the hawk acreamed (with exultation) on his descent from heaven, and (the guardians of the Soma) perceived that the Soma was (carried away) by it, then, the archer Krishanu, pursuing with the speed of thought, and stringing his bow, let fly an arrow against it.
- 4. The straight-flying hawk carried off the Some from above the vast heaven, as (the Ashwins carried off) Bhujyu from the region of Indra, and a falling feather from the middle of the bird dropped from him wounded in the conflict.

5. Now may Maghavan accept the pure nutritions (sacrificial) food in a white pitcher, mixed with milk and euros, offered by the priests; the upper part of the sweet (beverage) to drink for his exhibitation: may the hero accept (it) to drink for (his) exhibitation.

IV. 3. 7. 77

The deities are Istons and Some , Risks and metre as before.

- 1. Through that friendship, Soma, which has united ther with thy (friend) INDRA, he has made the waters flow for man; he has slain Am; he has sent forth the seven rivers, and has opened the shut-up sources (of the streams).
- 2. With thee, Soma, for his ally, Indra has quickly taken off by force the wheel of the chariot of the sun, abiding above with the vant and stationary (firmament): the everywhere going wheel (of the car) of the great oppressor has been taken away.
- 3. INDEA has slain the Dasyus, Soma, in battle: AGNI has consumed them before the noon: he (INDEA) has destroyed the whole of many thousands, as (robbers are the destroyers of those) going upon (their own) business, in a difficult and dangerous (place).
- 4. INDRA, then hast made these Dasyus devoid of all (good qualities); then hast made the servile races abject: may you, (Soma and INDRA), repel (and) destroy (your) enemies: accept (our) homage for their destruction.
- 5. Possessors of wealth, destroyers of foes, Indea and Soma, it is indeed true that you have distributed great numbers of horses, and of the cattle which had been concealed, and the land which you had recovered by your strength.

IV. 3. 8.

- Honoured with accepted (sacrificial) viands, come, INDRA, exulting, with thy steeds, to our many rites for our protection; thou who art the lord, glorified by hymns, whose wealth is truth.
- May Indra, the friend of man, the omniscient, come to the sacrifice when invoked by the offerers of libations; he who is possessed of good horses, who is fearless, honoured by the effusers of libations, who rejoices with the heroes (the Maruts).
- 3. Let (his worshipper) cause his ears to listen so as to invigorate him (by praise), and to give him pleasure in every acceptable place; and being well moistened with the Soma juice, may the vigorous INDRA render the holy places (conducive) to our wealth, and free from danger.
- 4. (That INDRA), who repairs to the suppliant for (his) protection, to the sage in this manner invoking and praising him; he who, armed with the thunderholt, places, of his own accord, hundreds and thousands of swift-going (horses) in the shafts (of their cars).
- Opulent Indra, may we, who are protected by thee, who are intelligent, devout, and offerers of praise, be participant with thee for the sake of distributing brilliant wealth, and abundant food, entitled to (our) commendation.

IV. 3. 9. 30

The delty and Rishi as before; the metre is Gayatri, except in the last stanza, in which it is Anushlubb.

- There is no one. INDRA, superior to thee; no one more excellent (than thou); slayer of Vritra there is no one, verily, such as thou art.
- Verily men are attached to thee as are all the wheels (to the body of the waggon): in truth thou art great and renowned.
- Verily all the gods, with thee (for) their strength, have warred (with the Asuras); wherefore thou hast destroyed by day and by night.
- In which (contests), for the sake of Kuisa and his allies, thou hast stolen, Indra, the (wheel of the car) of the sun.
- In which (contests), thou singly indeed hast warred with all those opposing the gods: thou, INDRA, hast slain the malignant.
- In which (contests), INDBA, thou hast, for the sake of a mortal, discomfitted the sun, and hast protected ETASA by (thine) exploits.
- Wherefore, slayer of VRITRA, opulent INDRA, hast thou thereupon become most incensed, and, in consequence, hast slain the son of DANU (VRITRA) in this firmament.
  - 8. Inasmuch, Indra, as thou hast displayed such manly prowess, thou hast slain the woman, the daughter of the sky, when meditating mischief.

9. Thou, INDRA, who art mighty, hast enriched the glorious dawn, the daughter of heaven.

 The terrified Usuas descended from the broken waggon when the (showerer of benefits) had smashed it.

Then her shattered waggon reposed (on the bank) of the Vipash (river), and she departed from afar.

12. Thou hast spread abroad upon the earth, by thy contrivance, the swollen Sindhu when arrested (on its course).

13. By valour thou hast carried off the wealth of Shushna, when thou hadst demolished his cities.

14. Thou hast slain the slave Shambara, the son Kulitara, hurling him from off the huge mountain.

15. Thou hast slain the five hundreds and thousands (of the followers) of the slave VARCHIN, (surrounding) him like the fellies (round the spokes of the wheel).

 Thou, Indra, who art Shutakratu, hast made Paravris, the son of Agru, participant in sacred bymns.

 The lord of acts, the wise Indra, has borne across (their difficulties), Turvasas and Yanu, when denied inauguration.

 Thou hast slain at once those two Aryas, ARNA and CHITRARATHA, (dwelling) on the opposite (bank) of the Sarayu.

19. Slayer of VRITEA, thou hast restored the (one who was) blind, the (other who was) lame, both abandoned (by their kin): (it is not possible) to exceed the happiness that is given by thee.

- Indra has overturned a hundred stone-built cities.
   for Divodas, the donor of oblations.
- He put to sleep, by delusion, with his destructive (weapons), thirty thousand of the servile (races), for the sake of DABHITI.
- 22. Slayer of Verrea, thou art the same (to all the worshippers), the lord of cattle, who castest down all these (thine enemies).
- 23. When, indeed, Indeed, thou excitest thy vigorous manhood, there is no one at the present time who may resist it.
- 24. Destroyer of foes, may the devine Abyaman distribute thy precious wealth; (may) Pushan (bestow it), (may) Bhaga (bestow it); may the toothiess deity bestow the desired wealth.

IV. 3. 10.

The drity, Riaki, and metre as before; but verses three, four, and five are in a variety of Gapatri, termed Padanicrit, having seven instead of eight syllables in each of the three divisions.

- By what means may be who is ever augmenting, who is wonderful, who is our friend, be present with us, by what most effective rite?
- What genuine and most esteemed of the exhilarating juices of the (accrificial) beverage may inspirit thee todemolish the substantial treasures (of the foe).
- Do thou, the protector of us thy friends and praisers, be present with a hundred protections.
- (Induced) by the praises of men, return like a revolving wheel to us, dependent (upon thy favour).

- 5. Thou comest in a downward (direction) to sacred rites, as if to thine own station: I glorify thee together with the sun.
- When thy praises, and these sacred rites, Indra, are addressed to thee, they first belong to thee, and next to Surva.
- Lord of holy acts, they call thee Magnavas, the munificent, the resplendent.
- And verily thou givest promptly abundant wealth to him who praises thee and offers thee libations.
- Adversaries diminish not thy hundred-fold opulence, nor resist the energies of thee opposing (them);
- May thy hundred, thy thousand, protections preserve us; may all (thy) desires (be for our defence).
- 11. Select us, INDRA, on this occasion, for thy friendship, for (our) welfare, for vast and splendid riches.
- 12. Favour us, INDRA, daily with infinite riches; (protect) us with all protections.
- With fresh protections, INDRA, like a warrior, open for us those pastures filled with cattle.
- 14. May our chariot, INDRA, foe-repelling, brilliant, unfailing, proceed (everywhere), possessing us of cattleand of horses.
- 15. Surva, make our fame exalted among the gods, as (thou hast placed) the sky, the shedder of most copious rain, above (all other regions).

IV. 3. 11. 22.

The deity, Riski, and moter as before.

- Indra, slayer of Vertra, come to us quickly: thou who art mighty, (come) with mighty protections.
- Wonderful INDRA, wanderer at times (through space), thou art verily the granter of (our) desires, and doest what is marvellous for the protection (of those who are engaged) in wondrous works,
- Thou destroyest by thy might the fierce assailing foe, associated with the humble friends who are along with thee,
- 4. We, INDRA, are along with thee; we zealously glorify thee; do verily protect us all,
- Wielder of the thunderbolt, do thou come to us with wondrous, irreproachable, irresistible protections.
- May we, Indra, be the friends of one like thee, possessed of cattle, allied (to him) for (the sake of) abundant food.
- For thou alone, INDBA, art lord over food combined with cattle; therefore do thou grant us ample food.
- None change thy purpose, INDRA, object of laudation, when, being praised, thou desirest to bestow wealth upon the praisers,
- The Gotamas glorify thee, Indra, with praise, that thou mayest grant wealth, and for the sake of abundant food.
- 10. We proclaim thy prowess, whereby exhilarated (by the Soma), and having gone against them, thou hast demolished the servile cities.

- The pious celebrate thy manly exploits, Indra, object of laudation, when the juices (of the Soma) are effused.
- The Gotamas, offerers of praise, exalt thee, Indea; bestow upon them food and posterity.
- Although, Indra, thou art the common property of (all) worshippers, we invoke thee (such) as thou art (for ourselves).
- 14. Giver of dwellings, be present with us; drinker of the Soma, be exhibited by the beverage of the juices.
- 15. May the praise (of us) who are devoted (to thee), INDRA, give thee to us: guide thy horses towards us.
- Eat (INDRA) our cakes and butter; be pleased by our praises as a libertine (by the caresses) of a woman.
- We solicit, Indra for a thousand well-trained, swift-going horses, for a hundred jars of Soma juice.
- 18. We seek to bring down from thee, thousands and hundreds of cattle; may riches come to us from thee.
- 19. May we obtain from thee, ten golden ewers, for thou, slayer of VEITEA, art a bountiful giver.
- 20. A bountiful giver art thou, INDRA; give bountifully to us; (give) not little; bring much; for verily thou desirest to give much.
- Verily thou art renowned amongst many as a bountiful giver; hero, slayer of Vartes, make us shareres in wealth.
- 22. Wise INDRA, I praise thy brown (horses); bestower of kine, (who art) not regardless (of thy worshippers); with those two steeds terrify not our cattle.

- Like two puppers on an arranged, new, and slender stage, thy two brown (steeds) are brilliant at sacrifices.
- 24. Thy two innocuous brown (steeds) are sufficient at sacrifices for me, whether going (to them) in (a waggon drawn by) oxen, or going without (such) a conveyance.

ANUVAKA IV. 33

IV. 4. 1.

The deities are the RIERUS; the Riski is VAMADEVA; the metre. is Triestubi.

- I send my prayer as a messenger to the RIBHUS;
   I solicit (of them) the milch cow, the yielder of the white milk, for the dilution (of the Soma libation); for they, as swift as the wind, the doers of good works, were borne quickly across the firmament by rapid steeds.
- When the RIBHUS, by honouring their parents with renovated (youth), and by other works, had achieved enough, they thereupon proceeded to the society of the gods, and, considerate, they bring nourishment to the devout (worshipper).
- May they who rendered their decrepid and dropsy parents, when, like two dry posts, again perpetually young, Vaja, Vibriwan, and Ribhu associated with Indradrinkers of the Soma juice, protect our secrifice.
- Inasmuch as for a year the Runus preserved the (dead) cow, inasmuch as for a year they invested it with flesh, inasmuch as for a year they continued its beauty, they obtained by their acts immortality.
  - 5. The eldest said, let us make two ladles; the youngest-said, let us make three: Twashtri, Ribhus, has applauded your proposal.

- 6. The men, (the RIBHUS), spake the truth, for such (ladles) they made, and thereupon the RIBHUS partook of that libation: Twashth, beholding the four ladles, brilliant as day, was content.
- 7. When the Ribhus, reposing for twelve days, remained in the hospitality of the unconcealable (sun), they rendered the fields fertile, they led forth the rivers, plants sprung upon the waste, and waters (spread over) the low (places).
- 8. May those RIBHUS who constructed the firm-abiding, wheel-conducting car; who formed the all-impelling multi-form milch cow; they who are the bestowers of food, the doers of great deeds, and dexterous of hand, fabricate for us riches.
- The gods were pleased by their works, illustrious in act and in thought: Vaja was the artificer of the gods, Bibliukshin of Indra, Vibhwan of Varona.
- 10. May those RIBHUS who gratified the horses (of INDRA) by pious praise, who constructed for INDRA his two docile steeds, bestow upon us satisty of riches, and wealth (of cattle), like those who devise prosperity for a friend.

II. The gods verily have given you the beverage at the (third sacrifice of the) day, and its exhibitation, not through regard, but (as the gift of one) wearied out (by penance); RIBHUS, who are so (eminent), grant us, verily, wealth at this third (diurnal) sacrifice.

IV. 4, 2.

The deities, Riski, and matie as before.

- RIBHU, VIBHWAN, VAJA, and INDRA, do you come to this our sacrifice, to distribute precious things, for the divine work has indeed now desired the drinking (of the Some) on the (appointed hours of the) days; therefore the exhibitating draughts are collected for you.
- Resplendent with (sacrificial) food, prescient of your (celestial) birth, be exhibitanted. Ringus along with the Rirus: the inebriating draughts are collected for you as well as pious praise: do you confer upon us riches with excellent posterity.
- 3. This sacrifice, Ribhus, has been instituted for you, the which you, who are eminently resplendent, have accepted after the manner of men; before you have the propitiatory (libations) been placed, for Value, you are all entitled to precedence.
- 4. Now, leaders (of rites), the treasure that ought to be presented is to be given to the mortal performing (the sacred rite), the offerer (of the libation): drink, Varas, (drink). Ribhus; I present it to you at the third solemn (diurnal) ceremony for your exhibitation.
- 5. Vajas, Ribbussians, leaders (of rites), come to us enlogizing exceeding wealth: these draughts (of Soma) proceed to you at the decline of day, like newly-delivered cows to their stalls.
- Sons of strength, come to this sacrifice, invoked with veneration; givers of precious things, associated with INDRA, with whom you are intelligent, participate in being gratified (by the libation), drink of the sweet Some juice.

- 7. Sympathizing in satisfaction with Varuna, drink. Indea, the Soma juice; drink it, thou who art entitled to praise, sympathizing with the Maruts; drink, sympathizing with the first drinkers, with the drinkers (at the sacrifices) of the Ritus; sympathizing with the protectresses of the wives (of the gods), the giver of wealth.
- 8. Ribbits, be exhibited, sympathizing with the Adityas, sympathizing with the Parentas, sympathizing with the divine Savitra, sympathizing with the wealth-bestowing (deities of the) rivers.
- 9. Ribbus, who by your assistance (gratified) the Ashwiss, who (renovated your) parents, who (restored) the cow, who fabricated the horses, who made amour (for the gods), who separated earth and heaven, and who, the all-pervading leaders (of ribs), accomplished (acts productive of) good results.
- 10. Ribhus, who possess wealth, comprising cattle, food, progeny, dwellings, and abundant sustenance, do you, who are the first drinkers (of the Soma), bestow upon us, when exhilarated, (that wealth, and upon those) who land your liberality.
- 11. Ribbus go not away; let us not leave you (thirsting); (be present) unreproached at this sucrifice; be exhibitated, deities, along with INDRA, with the MARUTS, and with (other) brilliant (divinities), for the distribution of wealth.

IV. 4. 3.

Delties, Riski, and metre as before.

Come hither, sons of strength, sons of Sudhanwan;
 Brinius, keep not away; may the exhibitanting juices proceed to you at this sacrifice, after the munificent India.

- 2. May the munificence of the RIBHUS come to me on this occasion, (since) there has been the drinking of the effused Soma, in consequence of one ladle having been made fourfold by their dexterous and excellent work.
- 3. You have made the ladle fourfold, and have said (to AGNI), assent (to the division): therefore have you gone, Vajas, the path of the immortals: dexteroushanded Rinnus (you have joined) the company of the gods.
- What sort of ladle was that which by skill you have made four I now pour forth the Soma for their exhibitantion: drink, Ribnus, of the sweet Soma libation.
- 5. By your (marvellous) deeds you have made your parents young; by your deeds you have made the ladle (fit) for the drinking of the gods: by your deeds you have made the two horses, the bearers of INDRA, swifter than (an arrow from) a bow, RIBBUS, who are rich in (sacrificial) food.
- 6. Distributors of food, Ribhus, showerers (of benefits), exhibitated (by the Soma draught), fabricate wealth, comprising all posterity for him who pours out for your exultation, the acrid libation at the decline of day.
- 7. Drink, lord of horses, INDRA, the libation offered at dawn; the noon-day libation is alone for thee; but (in the evening) drink with the munificent RIBHUS, whom, INDRA, thou hast made thy friends by good deeds.
- 8. Do you, sons of strength, who have become gods by (your good deeds), soaring aloft in the sky like falcons, bestow upon us riches; sons of Sudhanwan, you have become immortals.

 Dexterous-handed since you have instituted through desirs of good works, the third sacrifice, which is the bestower of wealth, therefore, RIBHUS, drink this effused Some with exhibitanted senses.

IV. 4. 4. 36

The deities and Bishi as before; the matre is Jagati, in the last wers: Trishtubh.

- I. The glorious three-wheeled car (of the Ashwins made, Ribbus, by you), traverses the firmament without horses, without reins: great was that proclamation of your divine (power), by which, Ribbus, you cherish heaven and earth.
- We invoke you respectfully. Vajas and Ribhus, to drink of this libation, for you are the wise sages who, by mental meditation, made the well-constructed undeviating car (of the Ashwins).
- Therefore, Vaja, Ribhu, Vibhwan, was your greatness proclaimed amongst the gods, that you made your aged and infirm parents again young (and able) to go (where they would).
- 4. You have made the single ladle four-fold: by your (marvellous) acts you have clothed the cow with a (new) hide; therefore you have obtained immortality amongst the gods: such acts, Valas and Rienus, are to be eagerly glorified.
- From the RIBHUS may wealth, the best and most productive of food, (come to me); that which the leaders (of rites) renowned together with the Varas, have engendered; that which has been fabricated by Vibhwan and is to be celebrated at sacrifices; that which, deities, you protect, that is to be beheld.

- 6. He is vigorous and skilled in war, he is a Rishi worthy of homage, he is a hero, the discomfitter of foes, invincible in battles, he is possessed of ample wealth, and (is blessed) with excellent posterity, whom Vaja and Vinnwan, whom the Ribhus protect.
- 7. An excellent and agreeable form has been assumed by you: (this is our own) praise: Varas and Rinnusbe gratified (thereby), for you are wise, experienced, and intelligent: such we make you known (to be) by this (our) prayer.
- 8. Do you who are wise, (bestow) upon us, in requital of our praises, all enjoyments that are good for man, and fabricate for us, Rinnus, riches and food, resplendent, invigorating, overpowering (foes), and most excellent.
- Gratified (by our worship), fabricate for us, on this occasion, progeny, and wealth, and reputation, with numerous adherents; grant to us, Rienus, abundant sustenance wherewith we may greatly excel others.

IV. 4. 5. 37

Detties and Riski, as before; the metro of the first four verses is Truskinth, of the rest Association.

 Divine Vajas, Ribhus, come to our sacrifice by the path travelled by the gods, inasmuch as you, gracious (Ribhus), have maintained sacrifice amongst the people, (the progeny) of Manu, for (the sake of) securing the prosperous course of days.

- 2. May these sacrifices be (acceptable) to you in heart and mind: may to-day the sufficient (juices) mixed with butter flow to you: the full libations are prepared for you: may they, when drank, animate you for glorious deeds.
- 3. As the offering suited to the gods at the third (daily) sacrifice supports you, Vajas, Ribhukshans; as the praise (then recited supports you): therefore, like Manu, I offer you the Soma juice, along with the very radiant (deities) among the people assembled at the solemnity.
- 4. Valins, you are borne by stout horses mounted on a brilliant car, have jaws of iron, and are possessed of treasures: sons of Indra, grandsons of strength, this last sacrifice is for your exhibitation.
- We invoke you. RIBHUKSHANS, for splendid wealth, mutually co-operating, most invigorating in war, affecting the senses, over munificent, and comprehending horses.
- May the man whom you, Russus and Indra, favour, be over liberal by his acts, and possessed of a horse at the sacrifice.
- Vajas, Ribhusshans, direct us in the way to sacrifice; for you, who are intelligent, being glorified (by us), are able to traverse all the quarters (of space).
- 8. Vajas, Ribburshans, Indra, Nasatyas, command that ample wealth with horses be sent to men for their enrichment.

IV. 4. 6. 38

The deities of the first verse are Heaven and Earth, of the rest. Dadhikra; the Bishi is VAMADEVA: the metre Trishlabh,

I. TRASADASYU has bestowed upon many the ancient (gifts) which were obtained by the liberal (prince) through your (favour, Heaven and Earth) you two have given a horse, a son, a weapon (for the destruction) of the Dasyus, fierce and foe-subduing.

- And you two have given the swift Dadhikra, the repeller of many (foes), the defender of all men, the straightgoing, the graceful-moving, the resplendent, the rapid, the destroyer of enemies like a heroic prince.
- Whom all men, rejoicing, praise, rushing everywhere, as if down a precipice, springing with his feet like a hero eager for war, drawing a car, and going as swift as the wind,
- 4. Who, opposing the mingled multitude in battles, rushes eager, passing through the regions, whose vigour is manifest, who, understanding what is to be known, puts to shame the adversary of the (pious) man.
- 5. Whom men call after in battles, as after a thief carrying off a garment, or as (after) a hungry hawk pouncing (upon his prey): they call after him, hastening to obtain food, or a herd of cattle.
- 6. And who, issuing forth the first in those encounters, rushes in various directions with rows of chariots; like an elegant (courser), friendly to man, decorated with a garland, raising the dust, and champing his bit.
- 7. And that swift (horse) enduring in battle, bestowing food, and doing service with his limbs, rushing swiftly upon the quick-moving (host of the enemy), going straight onward, and tossing up the dust, throws it above his brows.
- And the adversaries of that foe-de-troying steed, like (those )of the brilliant thunderbolt, are alarmed; for when he contends, even against thousands on every side, then, rousing (his spirit), he is fearful and irresistible.

- 9. Men praise the overpowering rapidity of that fleet (steed), who is the accomplisher (of the desires) of mankind, and, following him to battle, they have said. Dadhikra with (his) thousands has gone forth against the foc.
- 10. Dadhikra has apread abroad the five classes of beings by his strength, as the sun (diffuses) the waters by his radiance: may he, the giver of hundereds and thousands, associate these praises with agreeable (rewards).

IV. 4. 7.

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre the same, except in the last verse, in which it is doubleable.

- Verily we praise that swift Dadhikra and scatter (provender before him) from beaven and earth: may the gloom-dispelling dawns preserve for me (all good things), and bear me beyond all evils.
- Fulfiller of religious rites, I reiterate the praise of the great Dadhikra, the liberal, many-honoured showever (of benefits), whom Mitra and Varuna gave for the good of many, the transporter (beyond calamity), as brilliant as Aon;
- May Appri, consentient with Mitra and Varuna, render him free from sin who has performed the worship of the steed Dadhikra, when the fire has been kindled at the opening of the dawn.
- 4. Whilst we glorify the name of the great Dadhikra, the means of sustenance and of strength, the prosperity of those who praise (him), let us invoke (also) for our welfare Varuna, Mitra. Agni. and Indra, the bearer of the thunderbolt.

- 5. Those who are preparing for battle, those who are proceeding to sacrifice, both invoke (Dadhikra) as if (he was) Indra: Mitra and Varuna have given to us the horse Dadhikra as an encourager to man.
- 6. I have celebrated the praise of Dadhikra, the rapid and victorious steed: may be make our mouths fragrant, may be prolong our lives.

IV. 4, 8,

The deity and Bishi as before; the metre of the first verse is Trichtable, of the rest Jagati.

- May we repeatedly recite (the praise) of Dadhikravon; may all rising dawns excite me (to the adoration) of the waters, of Agni, of Ushas, of Surva, of Brihaspati, and of Jishnu, the son of Angiras.
- 2. May Dadhikeavan, the active, the cheresher, the giver of cattle, who abides with the devout, the swift-going, be willing to accept (the sacrificial) food at the time of the desirable dawn; may be who is true, moving, rapid, and leaping like a grasshopper, produce (for us) food, strength, heaven.
- 3. And after him who is quick-going, hastening, eager (to arrive at his goal, men) follow (as other birds pursue) the flight of a swift (bird) striving together to keep up by the side of Dadikravan the transporter (of others) as swift as a hawk.

- 4. And that horse bound by his neck, his flanks, his mouth, accelerates his paces: Dadhikra increasing in vigour after the (sacred rite), following the windings of the roads, goes still more rapidly.
- 5. He is Hansa, (the sun), dwelling in light; Vasu, (the wind), dwelling in the firmament; the invoker of the gods (AGNI), dwelling on the altar; the guest (of the worshipper), dwelling in the house (as the culinary fire); the dweller amongst men, (as consciousness), the dweller in the most excellent (orb, the sun), the dweller in truth, the dweller in the sky (the air), born in the waters, in the rays of light, in the verity (of manifestation) in the (eastern) mountain, the truth (itself).

IV. 4. 9.

INDRA and VARUNA are the deities; the Rishi is VAMADEVA; the mates Trishtubis.

- INDRA (and VARUNA), VARUNA (and INDRA), what praise of you accompanied by oblations may obtain for us felicity, (such as) the immortal invoker of the gods, (AGNI, may bestow): may (the praise) which is addressed by us to you both, INDRA and VARUNA, sanctified by acts and prompted by veneration, touch your hearts.
- Divine Indra and Varuna, the mortal diligent in offering (you) sacrificial food, who has through friendship made you his kinsmen, destroys (his own) sins, and his enemies in battle; and by your great favours he becomes renowned.
- Indea and Varuna (you are) most liberal givers of wealth to men praising you in various ways, when as friends well plied with (sacrificial) food, you are exhibitated by the Soma juice effused through friendship.

- 4. Fierce Indra and Varuna you hurled the bright-shining and most mighty thunderbolt against this (our foe), who is difficult to be resisted by us; (who is) rapacious, malevolent; grant us strength to overcome him.
- 5. INDBA and VARUNA, be the exciters of this our praise, as the bull is of the milch cows; may that cow (of praise) yield us (reward), like a large cow that has gone forth to pasture, whose thousand channels (are filled) with milk.
- May Indra and Varuna, the overthrowers (of foes), be around us with (their) protections; (that thereby we may have) good sons and grandsons, and fertile lands, and long life, and virility.
- 7. Desirous of (possessing) cattle, we have recourse to you, Indra and Varuna, for full protection, you who are powerful and kind as (kinsmen); we have recourse to you, adorable heroes, for (your) friendship and affection, (to you who are), like parents, givers of happiness.
- 8. Liberal givers, those (our) praises soliciting (abundant) food have proceeded to you for (your) protection; longing for you as (soldiers long) for battle, and as cattle approach the Some for (its) advantage, so my heartfelt hymns (approach) INDRA and VARUNA.
- These my earnest praises approach Indra and Varuna, desirous to obtain wealth, as dependants attend (upon an opulent man) for the sake of riches, like humble (females) begging for food.
- 10. May we of our own (right) be the masters of permanent riches, comprising horses, chariots, and nourishment:

may those two, traversing (the regions), direct their Nigut steeds towards us, associating (them) with riches and with recent protections.

11. Mighty India and Varuna, come to us in battle with (your) powerful protections, and where the bright (weapons) play amidst the (hostile) hosts, may we be triumphant in that conflict (through) your (favour).

IV. 4, 10, 42

The Riski is the royal sage Thatabasyu: as the first six vernesser in his own proise, he is considered to be the divinity size: of the other four attabase the deities are Ixna and Vanewa; the metre is Triskfubb.

- Twofold is my empire, that of the whole Kshatriya race, and all the immortals are ours: the gods associate me with the acts of Varuna: I rule over (those) of the proximate form of man.
- I am the king Varuna; on me (the gods) bestow those principal energies (that are) destructive of the Asuras; (they) associate me with the worship of Varuna;
   I rule over (the acts) of the proximate form of man.
- 3. I am Indra, I am Varuna, I am those two in greatness: (I am) the vast, profound, beautiful, heaven and earth: intelligent, I give like Twashirm animation to all beings: I uphold earth and heaven.
- 4. I have distributed the moisture shedding waters; I have upheld the sky as the abode of the water; by the water I have become the preserver of the water, the son of April, illustrating the threefold elementary space.
  - 5. Warriors well mounted, ardent for contest, invoke me: selected (combatants invoke) me in battle: L the affluent INDRA, instigate the conflict, and, endowed with victorious prowess, I raise up the dust (in the battle).

- 6. I have done all these (deeds): no one resists my divine, unsurpassed vigour; and when the Soma juices, when sacred songs, exhilarate me, then the unbounded heaven and earth are both alarmed.
- All beings recognize thee (Varuna), and thou, worshipper, addressest these (encomiums) to Varuna: thou, INDRA, art renowned as slaying Vritra; thou hast set the obstructed rivers free to flow.
- 8. The seven Riskis were the protectors of this our (kingdom) when the son of DURGARA was in bonds: performing worship they obtained for (his queen) from the favour of INDRA and VARUNA, TRASADASYU, like INDRA the slayer of foes, dwelling near the gods.
- The wife of Purukursa propitiated you two, Indra and Varuna, with oblations and prostrations, and therefore you gave her the king Trasadasyu, the slayer of foes, dwelling near the gods.
- 10. May we, glorifying you both, be delighted by riches; may the gods be pleased by oblations, the cows by pasture: and do you, Indra and Varuna, daily grant us that same milch cow, (riches), free from any imperfection.

IV. 4. 11.

The deities are the Asswira, the Richie are Purpuittes and Araserma, some of Suitorna; the motre is Trichfold.

1. Which of those who are entitled to sacrifice will listen (to our prayers) I which of the gods will hear our praise? which will be propitisted (by it)? upon the heart of whom among the immortals may we impress the devout affectionate adoration, accompanied by sacred oblations?

- 2. Who will make us happy? which of the gods is the most prompt to come to our sacrifice? which the most willing to grant us felicity? what chariot do they say is quick and drawn by rapid steeds? that which the daughter of Surya selected.
- Moving, you proceed rapidly by day, as INDRA, at the end of the night, (manifests his) power; descended from heaven, divine, of graceful motion, (Ashwins), by which of (your) acts are you most distinguished?
- t. What may be the fit measure (of your merits)? invoked by what praises do you come to us! who (can exist as) the object of your great wrath! Daskas, dispensers of sweet (water), defend us with your protection.
- 5. Your chariot travels widely round the heaven until it places you beyond the firmament: dispensers of sweet (water, the priests) are diluting the Soma juice with milk, that the boiled (barley) may be united with the libation offered to you.
- 6. The flowing (stream) has sprinkled your steeds with moisture: the radiant horses (like) birds (in swiftness) pass on, bright with lustre; well known is that quickmoving charriot, whereby you became the lords of Sukka.
- 7. May the earnest praise, distributers of food, wherewith I associate you both like-minded at this sacrifice, be (beneficial) to us: do you protect your worshipper: my desire, Nasaryas, directed towards you is gratified.

IV. 4, 121

The deities, Rieki, and metre as before.

- We invoke, Ashwins, to-day, your rapid car, the associator of the solar ray: the banked car which bears Surva, vast, wealthy, and laden with praises.
- Asawins, grandsons of heaven, divinities, you enjoy that glory by your actions, that (sacrificial) food is administered to your persons, and powerful horses draw you in your chariot.
- What offerer of oblations addresses you to-day with hymns for the sake (of obtaining) protection, for the drinking of the Soma, or for the ancient fulfilment of the sacrifice? what offerer of adoration may bring you ASHWINS (to this rite).
- Nasatyas, who are manifold, come with your golden chariot to this sacrifice; drink of the sweet Soma beverage, and give precious things to the man who celebrates (your worship).
- Come to our presence, whether from heaven or earth, with your well-constructed golden chariot: let not other devout worshippers detain you, for a prior attraction awaits you (here).
- Dasras, mete out for us both great opulence, comprising many descendants, since the leaders of the rite (the Purumilhas), have addressed to you, Ashwass, their praise, and the Ajamilhas have united with it their laudation.
- May the earnest praise wherewith, distributers of food. I associate you both like-minded at this sacrifice.

be (beneficial) to us; do you protect your worshipper; my desire, Nasaryas, directed towards you is gratified.

IV. 4, 13,

The deities as before; the Rishi is Vanisheva; the metro of the test verse is Trishingh, of the rest Jugati.

- The sun rises: your chariot, (Ashwins), traversing (the regions), is associated with the divine (orb) on the summit (of the eastern mountain): in it are the three analogous kinds of food, and the leather vessel of the sweet Some juice appears as the fourth,
- Your food-bearing, Soma-laden, well-horsed chariets, appear at the opening of the dawn, scattering the surrounding darkness like the sun, and apreading bright radiance over the firmament.
- 3. Drink of the Soma juice with mouths (fit (or) imbibing the beverage; harness your beloved chariot for the Soma juice; (come to the dwelling) of the sacrificer; enliven the path with the Soma; bring, Asuwiss, the leather vessels filled with the Soma juice.
- 4. Come to sacrifices as flies to honey, (with those horses) that are swift of speed, gentle, unrefractory, golden-winged, bearers (of burtliens), wakers at dawn, dispensers of water, exulting and sipping the Soma juice.
- 5. The sacred fires, the instruments of holy sacrifice, the conveyers of libations, praise the associated Ashwins at the break of day, when the observant (priest) the conductor of the rite, with washed hands has expressed by the (grinding) stones the sweet-favoured Some juice.

- 6. The near-advancing (rays), dispersing (the darkness) by the (light of day), are overspreading the firmament with lastre like the sun; the sun, harnessing his horses, (proceeds on his way); do you make known all his paths by (following) after (him) with sacrificial food.
- 7. Celebrating (sacred) rites. I glorify you, Ashwins: well-horsed and undecaying is that chariot, whereby you quickly traverse the regions (of space), and come to (our sacrifice) abounding in oblations, promptly passing away, and the yielder of enjoyment.

ANUVAKA V.

IV. 5. 1.

The deities are Indua and Vavy, except in the first verse, which is addressed to Vavy alone; the Rishi is Vamanava; the metre Gayatri.

- 1. Drink first, VAYU, the effused libation of the Some at the rites that secure heaven, for thou verily art the first drinker.
- VAYU, who art drawn by the Niguts, and hast INDRA for charioteer, come (for the fulfilment) of our numerous wishes, and do thou (and INDRA) drink of the libation.
- INDRA and VAYU, may a thousand steeds, eager for food, bring you to drink the Some.
- Mount, Innua and Vayu, the golden-seated chariot, propitious to sacrifice, soaring to heaven.
- INDRA and VAYU, come with your very strong chariot to the sacrifice; come hither.
- INDRA and VAYU, this (libation) is poured out: sympathizing with the gods, drink it in the dwelling of the donor.

 Hither be your course; here, INDRA and VAYU, be the letting of your horses loose, for your drinking of the Soma.

IV. 5, 2.

The deities and Risks as before; the motre is Annaklubb.

- Purified (by hely acts) I bring to thee, VAYU, the Soma, first (offered to thee at sacrifices) that seek to gain heaven: deity, who art ever longed for, come with thy Night steeds to drink the Soma juice.
- Indea and Vayu, you are fit for the drinking of these Somo libations, for the drops flow towards you as waters (run) together into a deep place.
- Indra and Vavu who are lords of strength, vigorous, and drwn by the Nigut steeds, come (riding in) the same car: drink the Some for our protection.
- Leaders (of rites), conveyers of sacrifices, INDRA and VAYU, give to us for the offerer (of the oblation), those Nigntz which are your (steeds), and are desired of many.

IV. 5. 3.

The deity is VAYU; the Rishs and metro are the same as in the last.

- Drink. Vaxu, the oblations yet untasted, like (a prince) the terrifier of loss: (bestow) upon the worshipper wealth: come with thy brilliant car to drink the Soma juice.
- VAYU, who art the represser of calumnies, who art drawn by the Niguts, and hast INDRA for thy charioteer, come with thy brilliant car to drink the Soma juice.

- 3. The dark nurses of wealth, the universal forms (heaven and earth), attend upon thee; come VAYU with thy brilliant car to drink the Soma juice.
- May the ninety-nine steeds harnessed together, that are as swift as thought, convey thee: come, VAYU, with thy brilliant car, to drink the Soma juice.
- Harness, VAYU, a hundred plump steeds, or even a thousand, and let thy chariot come with rapidity (hither).

IV. 5. 4. 99

The deline are Innea and Bumaspatt; the Rishi is Vamadeva; the metre Gegetri.

 (I present) the agreeable oblation to your mouths, INDRA and BRIHASPATI, and the hymn and the exhibitanting beverage are offered.

2. This delicious Soma is effused, INDRA and BRIDASPATI, for you, for (your) drinking and exhibitation.

3. INDEA and BRIHASPATI, come to our dwelling.

INDRA and BRIHASPATI, come to our dwelling, drinkers of Soma, to drink the Soma juice.

 Grant to us. Indra and Brihaspati, riches comprising a hundred (cattle), a thousand horses.

 Indra and Brishaspati, we invoke you with praises, when the libation is effused, to drink of this Soma juice.

 Drink, Indra and Brihaspati. the Soma in the dwelling of the donor, and be exhibitated in his abode.

IV. 5. 5.

The deity of the first mine verses is Burnasparr slone, and of the last two conjointly with Isona; the Bishi is as before; the metre is Trishtabh.

- The ancient sages, illustrious, intelligent, have placed before (them) the pleasing-tongued Brihaspati, who propped up by (his) strength the ends of the earth, and who abides with noise in the three regions.
- Brihaspatt, protect the fruit-yielding, progressive, uninjured, ample sacrifice of this (thy worshipper, at which) they who are the terrifiers (of foes), the delighters of thee who art possessed of great wisdom, glorify (thee) in our behalf.
- 3. Those (steeds), BRIHASPATI, which had come from that distant (region), the best (of all), have sat down in connection with the ceremony, and to thee the Soma juices expressed by the stones flow copiously, (accompanied) by the sounds of praise, like deep wells that supply water.
- BRIHASPATI, when first being born in the highest heaven of supreme light, seven-mouthed, multiform, (combined) with sound, and Beven-rayed, has subdued the darkness.
- (Aided) by the praised and brilliant troop (of the Angirasas), he destroyed with sound the mischievous Bala: Brisahpati, shouting aloud, set free the boonbestowing, oblation-supplying kine.
- 6. Thus may we offer worship with sacrifices, with oblations, with praise, to the paternal, universal deity, the showerer (of benefits); and may we, BRIHASPATI, become possessed of riches, and be blessed with excellent progeny and valiant descendants.

 That prince overcomes by his strength and prowess all hostile people, who cherishes liberally Britishari, and glorifies and honours him as the first sharer (of the offering).

Verily he abides prosperous in his own abode; for him the earth bears fruit at all seasons; to him (his) subjects willingly pay homage, the prince, to whom the Brahmana first, (duly reverenced), repairs.

 Unopposed he is the master of the riches of hostile people, and of his own subjects: the Raja who bestows riches upon the Brahmana seeking his protection, him the gods protect.

10. Brihaspati, do thou and Indra, both exulting and showering riches, drink the Soma at this sacrifice; may the all-pervading drops enter you; bestow upon us riches comprising all male descendants.

11. BRIHASPATI. INDRA, elevate us: may the favourable disposition of you both be combined for us: protect our rites: be awake to our handations, confound the arrogant (fees) of us who are the donors (of oblations).

IV. 5. 6. 5/

The delty is the Dawn; the Risks, is Vanapuva; the metre

 This widely-spread and sense-heatowing light has sprung up in the east from out the darkness; verily the brilliant Dawns, the daughters of heaven, are giving to man (the faculty to act).

The many-limbed Dawns rise up in the east, like the pillars planted at sacrifices (round the altar); radiant and purifying, they are manifested, opening the gates of the obstructing gloom.

- The gloom-dispelling, affluent Dawns animate the pious worshippers to offer (sacrificial) treasure; may the churlish (traffickers) sleep on unawakened, in the unlovely depth of darkness.
- 4. Divine Dawns, may your chariot, whether old or new, be frequent at this day's (worship), wherewith, affluent Dawns, possessing riches, (you shine) upon the seven-mouthed (troop of the) Angirasas, the observers of the nine or ten days' rite.
- Divine Dawns, with horses that frequent sacrifices you quickly travel round the regions (of space): awake the sleeping being, whether biped or quadruped, to pursue (his functions).
- 6. Where is that ancient one of those (Dawns), through whom the works of the Ribhus were accomplished? for as the bright Dawns happily proceed, they are not distinguished, being alike and undecaying.
- 7. Verily those auspicious Dawns have been of old, rich with desired blessings, truthful (bestowers) of the results of sacrifice; at which the sacrificer, adoring with (silent) praise, glorifying (with hymns), has quickly obtained wealth.
- 8. They spread around of similar form, (coming) from the east, (coming) from the same region alike renowned: the divine Dawns, arousing the assembly of the sacrifice, are glorified like the (rays) creative of the waters.
- 9. Those Dawns proceed verily all alike, of similar form.

of infinite bues, pure, bright, illumining, concealing by their radiant persons the very great gloom.

- Divine, resplendent daughters of heaven, bestow upon us wealth, comprehending progeny; awaking you for our benefit, may we be the lords of excellent descendants.
- 11. Daughters of heaven, resplendent Dawns, I address you (as) the announcer of the sacrifice: may we be (the possessors) of celebrity amongst men, and may beaven and the divine earth prepetuate (it).

IV. 5. 7.

52

The deity and Riski as before; the metre is Gayatri.

- The daughter of heaven has been seen; the kind conductress (of men), the parent (of benefits.) shedding radiance upon (the departure of her) sister night.
- Like a beautiful mare, the radiant mother of the rays of light, the object of sacrifice, (she) is the friend of the Ashwina.
- Thou art the friend of the Ashwins: thou art the mother of the rays of light: thou, Ushas, rulest over riches.
- With praises we awaken thee, thou who art endowed with truth; thee, baffler of unimosities, the restorer of consciousness.
- The auspicious rays are visible like showers of rain, the dawn has filled (the world) with ample light.
- Brilliant Usuas, filling (the world with light), thou dispersest the darkness with radiance: thereafter protect the oblation.

7. Thou overspreadest, Usuas, the heaven with mys, as well as the vast and beloved firmament with pure lustre.

IV. 5. 8.

The deity is Savirni; the Riski Vamannya; the metre Jaguii.

- We solicit of the divine, powerful, and intelligent Savirai that desirable and ample (wealth), along with which he grants a dwelling to the offerer of the oblation of his own accord; may the great deity grant us such every day.
- The supporter of heaven, the protector of the world, the wise (Savitra) puts on his golden armour: discriminator (of objects), filling (the world with light), Savitra has engendered great and laudable felicity.
- 3. The divine (Savirri) fills (with radiance) the celestial and terrestrial regions, and boasts of his own function: Savirri puts forth his arms for (the work of) production, regulating the world, and animating it with light.
- 4. The divine Savirai unrestrained, illumining the regions, protects the righteous acts (of men); he extends his arms for (the direction of) the people of the earth: observant of obligations, he rules over the wide world.
- 5. Savirri, encompassing them by his magnitude, pervades the three (divisions of the) firmament, the three worlds, the three heilliant spheres, the three heavens, the threefold earth: may he, by his three functions, of his own (pleasure) protect us.
- May that divine Savitri, who is the source of great happiness, the engenderer (of good works), the comprehender (of all beings), the regulator of both the moveable and the stationary, grant us happiness in the three worlds, and (be) to us for the destruction of sin.

7. May the divine Savirra approach along with the Ritus, prosper our dwelling, and bestow upon us good progeny and food: may he be favourable to us by night and by day: may he heap upon us wealth comprehending offspring.

IV. 5, 9.

The drity and Bishi are the same; the metre is also Jaguti, except in the last verse, in which it is Trishtubh.

- The divine Savirai has been manifested: he is at once to be glorified by us: he is to be praised by the priests at the present (rite), and at the close (of the day), in order that he who apportions precious things to the descendants of Manu may bestow upon us, on this occasion, most excellent wealth.
- First thou engenderest for the adorable gods the best portion, immortality; then, SAVITRI, thou settestopen (the day) to the donor (of the oblation), and (grantest) successive existences to men.
- 3. If, Savitre, through ignorance, through pride in feeble or powerful (dependants), or through human infirmity, we have committed (offence) against thy divine person, or against gods or men, do thou on this occasion hold us to be unoffending.
- (It is) not (fit) to obstruct (the acts) of the divine SAVITRI, since by them he upholds the whole world, whereby his gracious hand spreads fertility over the extent of the earth, and the magnitude of the heaven; such is his true (power).

- 5. Thou elevatest those, of whom INDRA is chief, above the vast clouds: for these, (thy worshippers), thou providest dwelling (places) filled with habitations: as when advancing they detained thee, so in like manner at thy command they stayed.
- May Indra, heaven and earth, Sindhu with the waters, and Addri with the Addrivas, bestow happiness upon us, who, offering libations, Savitra, pour out the auspicious Soma, day by day, thrice a day.

IV. 5, 16.

The deities are the VISHWADEVAS; the Biehi as before; the metro of the first seven verses is Trishtubh, of the last three Gayatri.

- 1. Which of you, Vasus, is a defender? which is a protector? heaven and earth and Aduri preserve us: defend us, Mitra and Varuna, from the strong man: who is it, gods, that offers you wealth at the sacrifice?
- 2. The (deities) who bestow ancient places (of enjoyment on their worshippers), and (with minds) unperplexed, are the separators of light (from darkness); they, the eternal distributors (of rewards), grant (what is desired), and shine of pleasing aspect, the true (recompensers) of pious acts.
- I adore the venerated Apiri, the Sindhu and the divine Sicasti for their friendship: (I praise you) both.
   Day and Night, that you may protect us unimpeded; night and morning do (what we desire).

- 4. ARYAMAN and VARUNA instruct us in the path (of worship): AGNI, the lord of food, points out the way to happiness: INDRA and VISHNU, being glorified, bestow upon us desirable prosperity comprehending descendants and strength.
- 5. I have recourse to the protection of Parvata, of the Marcus, and of the divine protector, Bhaga: may the lord (Varuna) preserve us from human wretchedness, and may Mitra defend us with a friendly regard.
- 6. Divine Heaven and Earth. I praise you together with Amburnaya for those (good things that are) desired, as those desirous of acquiring (riches) praise the ocean on traversing it (in which) the sounding rivers disappear.
- 7. May the divine ADTI, with the gods, preserve us: may the ever-attentive protecting (deity, INDRA,) protect us: we are not able to withhold the elevated (sacrificial) food of MITRA, of VARUNA, of AGNI.
- 8. Agni is lord over treasure: Agni (is lord) over great good fortune: may be bestow them upon us.
- Opulent Users, truth-speaking, food-aboundingbestow upon us many good things.
- May Savitel Bhaga, Varuna, Mitea, Arvaman.
   Indra, come to us with the wealth (that each bestows).

The deities are Heaven and Earth; the Rishi as before; the metre of the three had stanzas is Gayatri, of the rest Trishtubh.

 Vast and most excellent Heaven and Earth, be present with splendour at this (sacrifice, attracted) by sanctifying hymns; since that the showerer sounds everywhere with (his) heralds, the rapid (winds), passing through the two spacious and mighty (regions).

- May the divine, adorable, benevolent, fertilizing, truthful, unoppressive Heaven and Earth, the leaders of sacrifice, whose sons are the gods, be present with the adroable gods, (attracted) by sanctifying hymns.
- 3. Verily he was the doer of a good work in the regions, who generated these two. Heaven and Earth, and, firm of purpose, gave an impulse by his deed to the two vast, immoveable, beautiful, unsupported worlds.
- 4. May Heaven and Earth, vast, universal, adorable, united in satisfaction, and disposed to give us food, protect us with our spacious dwellings, inhabited by our wives, and may we for our (pious) acts be possessed of chariots and slaves.
- We offer earnest praise to you both, resplendent (Heaven and Earth); we approach you who are pure, to offer adoration.
- Mutually sanctifying (each other) of your own substance, you shine by your own power, and ever bear away the offering.
- Mighty (Heaven and Earth), you fulfil the desires of your friend: distributing food and giving sustonance, you have sat down at the sacrifice.

TV. 5, 12,

The deities, as will appear from the bymn, are so only in relation to the stances referring to them, being, in fact, personifications of eircumatances connected with agriculture; and accordingly it is said in the Grikya Sutrus that each varue is to be silently repeated, with an oblation to the, at the commencement of ploughing: the deity then of the first three verses is termed Keketraputi; of the fourth, Shuna; of the fifth and eighth, Sausachira; of the sixth and account, Situ; the Richs is, as before, Vananava; the metre of the first, fourth, sixth, and seventh verses is Anuchtuble, of the rest Trishtuble.

- With the master of the field, our friend, we triumph; may be bestow upon us cattle, horses, nourishment, for by such (gifts) be makes us happy.
- Lord of the field, bestow upon us sweet abundant, (water), as the milch cow (yields her) milk, dropping like honey, bland as butter: may the lords of the water make us happy.
- 3. May the herbs (of the field) be sweet for us; may the heavens, the waters, the firman; ent, be kind to us; may the lord of the field be gracious to us; let us, undeterred (by foes), have recourse to him.
- 4. May the oxen (draw) happily, the men (labour) happily; the plough furrow happily; may the traces bind happily; wield the goad happily.
- Shuna and Shira be pleased by this our praise, and consequently sprinkle this (earth) with the water which you have created in heaven.
- Auspicious Sita, be present, we glorify thee: that thou mayest be propitious to us, that thou mayest yield us abundant fruit.

- May Indra take hold of Sita; may Pushan guide her; may she, well stored with water, yield it as milk, year after year.
- 8. May the ploughshares break up our land happily; may the ploughman go happily with the oxen; may PARJANYA (water the earth) with sweet showers happily; grant, Shuna and Shira, prosperity to us.

IV. 5, 13.

A choice of deities is proposed, either AGNI, SURVA, Water, the Cow, or Charified Butter (Ghrita); the Rishi is as before; the metre Trishtabh, of the last verse Jagati.

- The sweet water swells up from the firmament: by the (solar) ray (man) obtains immortality: that which is the secret name of clarified butter is the tongue of the gods, the navel of ambrosia.
- 3. We celebrate the name Ghrita at this sacrifice, we offer it with adoration: may the four-horned Brahma listen to its being glorified: the fair-complexioned deity perfects this rite.
- 3. Four are his horns; three are his feet; his heads are two, his hands are seven; the triple-bound showerer (of benefits) roars aloud: the mighty deity has entered amongst men.
- 4. The gods discovered the Ghi concealed by the Panis, placed three-fold in the cow: INDRA generated one (portion), Surva another, the (other gods) fabricated one from the resplendent (Auni), for the sake of the oblation.
- 5. These hundred-channelled showers fall from the heart-delighting firmament, unobserved by the hostile (cloud): I look upon these showers of Ghi. (and behold) the golden Vetasa in the midst of them.

- 6. They flow uninterruptedly like pleasing rivers, parified by the mind that is seated in the heart; these streams of Ghi descend (upon the fire), like deer flying from the hunter.
- 7. The streams of Ghi fall copious, swift as the winds and rapid as the waters of a river down a declivity, breaking through the confining banks, and burrying on with their wayes, like a high-spirited steed.
- The streams of Ghi incline to Agni as devoted wives, auspicious and smiling, to a husband: they feed (the flame) like fuel, and JATAVEDAS, propitiated, accepts them.
- I contemplate these streams of Ghi as they flow from where the Soma is effused, where the sacrifice (is solemnized), as maidens decorating themselves with unguents to go to the bridegroom.
- 10. (Priests) address the pious praise, (the source) of herds of cattle; bestow upon us suspicious riches; convey this our sacrifice to the gods, (whereat) the streams of Ghi with sweetness descend.
- 11. The whole world, (AGN1), finds an asylum in thine effulgence, whether it be in the ocean, in the heart (of man), in the life (of living beings), in the assemblage of the waters, or in warfare: may we attain that sweetflavoured wave which is established in thy (essence).

FIFTH MANDALA.

ANUVAKA I.

V. 1. 1.

The deity is Auri; the Rishie are Bunns and Gavinnruma, of the race of Arn; the metre is Trishinkh.

- Agast is awakened by the fuel (supplied by) the priests at the dawn, approaching like a cow (to pasture); his flames rise up to the sky like stately (trees) throwing aloft their branches.
- 2. The offerer of the oblation is awakened for the worship of the gods: favourably minded, AGNI has risen up with the dawn; the radiant vigour of the kindled (fire) is manifested; the great deity has been liberated from the darkness.
- 3. When AGNI has seized upon the (confining) girdle of the aggregated (world), then, bright-shining, he makes all manifest with brilliant rays: thereupon the precious food-desiring (oblation) is added (to the flame), and AGNI, soaring aloft, drinks it as it is (spread out) recumbent by the ladles.
- 4. The minds of the devout turn to AGNI, as the eyes (of men) look towards the sun; when the multiform (heaven and earth) bring him forth along with the dawn, he is born as a white courser in the beginning of the days.
- (Agni), capable of birth, is born in the beginning of the days; radiant, he is deposited in the friendly woods, and then the adorable Agni; the offerer of the oblation, displaying seven precious (rays), is seated in every house.

- 6. The adorable Agar, the offerer of the oblation, has sat down in a fragrant place on the top of his mother (earth): youthful, wise, many-stationed, the celebrator of sacrifice, the sustainer (of all), kindled (he abides) amongst men.
- 7. They glorify at present with hymns that Agni, who is intelligent, the fulfiller (of desires) at sacrifices, the offerer of oblations, who has charged heaven and earth with water, and whom they always worship with clarified butter as the bestower of food.
- 8. Entitled to worship, he is worshipped in his own (abode); humble-minded, eminent amongst sages, our auspicious guest, the thousand-rayed, the showerer (of benefits), of well-known might, thou, Agni, surpassest all others in strength.
- (Too) quickly, AGNI, dost thou pass to others from him to whom thou hast been manifest: most beautiful, adorable, radiant, many-shining, the loved of people, the guest of men.
- 10. To thee, youngest (of the gods), men present oblations, whether nigh or from far; accept the praise of him who most extols thee; for the felicity (which thou conferrest). Agai, is great, vast, anspicious.
- 11. Ascend to-day, radiant AGN1, thy resplendent, well-conducted chariot, together with the adorable (gods): cognizant of the ways (of worship), bring hither, by the vast firmament, the gods to partake of the oblation.
- 12. We have uttered aloud this encomiastic praise to the wise, holy, vigorous (AGNI), the showerer (of benefits) ::

GAVISHTHIBA offers with reverence (this) praise to AGNI. like the wide-sojourning (sun), effulgent in the sky.

V. 1. 2.

The deity is AGNT; the Riebi is Kumana, the sou of ATM, or VERSHA, the son of Jana, or both; the metre is Trishinbh, except in the last verse, in which it is Shakeuri.

- The young mother cherishes her mutilated boy in secret, and gives him not up to the father: men behold not his mutilated form, but (see him) when placed before (them) in an unresting (position).
- Young mother, what boy is this whom thou, (become) a malevolent spirit, fosterest? the mighty (queen) has given him birth; the embryo has thriven through many years: I have seen him born as the mother brought him forth.
- 3. I have seen him from a near place, golden-toothed, bright-coloured, wielding (flames like) weapons, (when) offering to him the ambrosial, all-diffusing (oblation); what can those who acknowledge not INDRA, who repeat not his pmise, do unto me.
- 4. I have seen him passing secretly from place (to place) like a herd (of cattle), shining brightly of his own accord: they apprehended not those (flames of his), but he has (again) been born, and they which had become grey-haired are (once more) young.
- 5. Who have dismitted my people from the cattle !
  was there not for them an invincible protector ! may they who have seized upon that (people) perish, for he who knows (our wishes) approaches to (protect) the cattle.

- 6. Enemies have secreted amongst mortals, the king of living beings, the asylum of men: may the prayers of Arm set him free; may those who revile be reviled.
- 7. Thou hast liberated the fettered Shunahshera from a thousand stakes, for he was patient in endurance: so, AGNL free us from our bonds, having sat down here (at our sacrifice), intelligent offerer of oblations.
- 8. When angered, (AGNI), depart from me: the protector of the worship of the gods, (INDRA), has spoken to me: the wise INDRA has looked upon thee, and, instructed by him, I have come, AGNI, to thee.
- Agni shines with great and varied radiance; he makes all things manifest by his might; he overcomes andivine malignant delusions; he sharpens his horns for the destruction of the Rakshasas.
- 10. May thy roaring (flames). AGNI, be manifest in the sky as sharp weapons wherewith to slay the Rakshasas: in his exhilaration his shining (rays) inflict (destruction), and undivine opposing (hosts) arrest him not.
- 11. This praise have I, a devout worshipper, composed for thee, (AGNI), who art born with many (faculties), as a steady dexterous (artisan fabricates) a car: if, divine AGNI, thou approve of it, then may we obtain abundant flowing water.
- 12. The many-necked, the showerer (of benefits), ever increasing, collects together the wealth of the enemy without opposition; the immortals have enjoined Agni that he will bestow happiness on the man who offers sacrifice; that he will bestow happiness on the man who offers oblations.

V. 1. 3.

The drity is AGN1; the Riski, VASURBRUTA, of the race of AGN1; the metre is Trisktuhk.

- I. Thou, Agni, art born Varuna, thou becomest Mitra when kindled: in thee, son of strength, art all the gods: thou art Indra, son of strength, to the mortal who presents (oblations).
- 2. Thou art ARVAMAN in relation to maidens; thou bearest, enjoyer of sacrificial food, a mysterious name; they amoint thee, like a welcome friend, with milk and butter, when thou makest husband and wife of one mind.
- 3. For thy glory the Maruts sweep (the firmament), when thy birth, Rudka, is beautiful and wonderful; the middle step of Vishand has been placed, so thou cherishest the mysterious name of the waters.
- 4. Divine (AGNI), the gods, (made) comely by thy glory, and bearing (the) great (affection), sip the ambrosia: men adore AGNI, the conveyer of the burnt-offering, presenting oblations on behalf of the institutor of the rite, desirous of (its) reward.
- 5. There is no more venerable offerer of oblations, AGNI, than thou, nor (one) prior to thee; neither, giver of food, is any one subsequent (to be more glorified by hymns): the man of whom thou art the guest destroys bostile men by sacrifice.
- 6. May we, desirous of wealth, Agni, and arousing thee by oblations, secure in thy protection, acquire (riches): may we (be victorious) in battle, (successful) in sacrifices every day; and may we, son of strength, obtain with riches male (descendants).

- May Agnt inflict (evil) upon the evil-doer who commits offence or wickedness against us: destroy, sagacious Agnt, the calumniator who injures us in these two ways.
- 8. Former (worshippers) constituting thee, divine (AGNI), the messenger (of the gods), have worshipped thee with oblations at the dawn of day; when thou proceedest to the place (of the aggregation) of the wealth (of sacrifice), bright-shining, kindled by the mortals who have given thee an abode.
- 9. Convey him (to safety) in war, son of strength, who like a wise son offers to thee (reverence) as to a father; when, sagacious Agnt, dost thou look upon us; when, director of sacrifice, dost thou direct us (to good ways).
- 10. Glorifying thee, he offers the copious oblation, it, bestower of dwellings, thou as a father art pleased to accept it: AGNL ever augmenting, and desirous (to befriend), by his might, the devout (worshipper, offering) copious oblations, bestows upon him happiness.
- II. Agni, youngest (of the gods), verily thou bearest thine adorer (safe) beyond all calamities: thieves have been detected, and hostile men with covert evil intentions, have been avoided (by us).
- 12. These (encomiums) are directed towards thee, but perhaps an offence has thereby been uttered to (thee), the giver of dwellings: may Aont, augmenting (by our praise), yield us not up to the maligner or the malevolent.

V. L. C.

The doity, Riski, and untre as before,

- J. Royal AGNL I glorify at sacrifices thee who art the lord of vast riches; may we who are in want of food obtain food through thee, and (through thee) may we overcome hosts of (hostile) men.
- 3. May the undecaying AGNI, the bearer of oblations, be a lather to us, all-pervading and resplendent (may be be) to as of pleasing aspect; supply as plentifully with lood in return for our well-maintained household fire; grant as viand abundantly.
- You (priests) possess the wise lord of human beings, the pure, the purifying. Acrt, cherished with oblations of butter, the offerer of the burnt-offering, the all-knowing; he among the gods bestows desirable (riches).
- 4. Be propitiated, AGNI, sharing in satisfaction with ILA, vicing with the rays of the sun: be gratified, JATA-VEDAS, by our fuel, and bring the gods to partake of the oblation.
- 5. Propitiated, lowly-minded, a guest in the dwelling, come, thou who art wise, to this our sacrifice; having destroyed, AGNI, all our adversaries, bring off the possessions of those who hear us enmity.
- 6. Demolish, Aont, with thy weapon, the Dasyc, appropriating the sustenance to thins own person; and inamuch, son of strength, as thou satisfiest the gods, so do thou, Aont, chief of leaders, protect us in battle.
- 7. We worship thee, AGNI, with hymns; we (worship hee), purifier, and of auspicious fustre, with oblations; bestow upon us all desired riches; bestow upon us all sorts of wealth.

- 8. Accept, Agai, our sacrifice: son of strength, the abider in the three regions, (accept our) oblation: may we be (regarded) amongst the gods as doers of good: cherish us with triply-protected felicity.
- 9. Thou conveyest us, JATAVEDAS, across all intolerable svils, as (people are carried) over a river by a boat: AGNL who art glorified by us with reverence, such as (that shewn) by ATRL know thyself the protector of our persons.
- 10. Inasmuch as I who am a mortal earnestly invoke thee who art an immortal, praising thee with a devoted heart; therefore, Jaranepas, grant us food, and may I obtain immortality through my posterity.
- Upon whatsoever performer of good works thou, AGNI, who art JATAVEDAS, castest a favourable regard, he enjoys welfare, and riches, comprehending horses, cattle, sons, and male descendants.

V. 1. 5.

The deities are the Aprie; the Hishi is Vasusanuva, the metre Gagatri.

 Offer abundant butter to the resplendent Susa-MIDDHA, to AGNI, to JATAVEDAS.

 Narashansa animates this sacrifice, he who is uninjurable, who verily is wise and sweet-handed.

 Agnt, who art Ilira, bring hither the wonderful and friendly India, with his easy-going chariots for our protection.

- (Grass), soft as wool, be spread; the worshippers praise thee; be to us radiant (grass the source of) liberality.
- Open divine doors, our passages to preservation;fill full the sacrifice (with its rewards).
- We glorify the evening and the morning, lovely, food-bestowing, mighty, the mothers of sacrifice.
- Praised (by us), divine invokers of the gods, come, moving on the path of the wind, to this sacrifice of our patron.
- May Ila, Saraswatt, Mart, the three goddesses who are the sources of happiness, sit down, benevolent, upon the sacred grass.
- Twasurm, being propitions, thou who art diffusive in kindness, come of thine own accord, protect us in repeated sacrifices.
- Wherever thou knowest, Vanaspati, the secret forms of the gods to be, thither convey the oblations.
- 11. The oblation is offered with reverence to AGNI, to VARUNA; with reverence to INDRA, to the Marsus; with reverence to the gods.

V. 1, 6,

The deity is Ann; the Hishi as before; the matre is Panish,

- I glorify that AGNI who is the giver of dwellings; to whom, as to their home, the mileh kine, the light-faced steeds, the constant offerers of oblations, repair; do thou, (AGNI), bring food to thins adurers.
- He is AGNI, who is praised as the giver of dwellings, to whom the milch kine, the light-faced steeds, the well-born, devout worshippers repair; do thou, Aost, bring food to thine adorers.

- 3. Agai, the all-beholding, gives, verily, to the man (who worships him, a son) possessing abundant food: Agai, when propitiated, proceeds (to bestow) that wealth which is of its own nature precious; do thou. Agai, bring food to thine adorers.
- 4. We kindle thee, divine AGNI, bright, undecaying, so that thy glorious blaze shines in heaven; do thoubring food to thine adorers.
- 5. To thee, radiant AcNt, lord of light, giver of pleasure, destroyer (of foes), protector of man, the bearer of oblations, to thee the oblation is offered with the sacred verse; do thou bring food to thine adorers.
- 6. These fires cherish all that is precious in the fires (of sacrifice); they give delight; they spread abroad; they crave perpetually (sacrificial) food; bring. AGNI, food to thine adorers.
- These thy flames, Agni, fed with abundant food, increase, as, by their descent, they seek the pastures of the hoofed cattle; bring, Agni, food to thine adorers.
- 8. Grant, Agni, to us who praise thee, new dwellings, and (abundant) food: may we be those who worship thee, having thee for a messenger (to the gods) in every house: bring, Agni, food to thine adorers.
- Giver of delight, thou receivest into thy mouth the two ladles (full) of butter; so mayest thou fulfil (our desires), lord of atrength, at our solemn rites; bring. AGNI, food to thine adorers.

10. Thus have they repaired to AoNi with praises and with sacrifices successively, and have established (the manner of his worship); and he has given us male descendants, and wealth of fleet horses; bring, AoNi, food tothine adorers.

V. L. 7.

The deity as before; the Rishi is Isma, of the race of Arm; the motre is Anushtubh, except in the last verse, in which it is Punkti.

- Friends, offer fitting praise and food to AONI, the most liberal benefactor of men, the powerful son of strength.
- Where is (the deity) upon whose presence the rejoicing conductors (of the ceremony) are offering homage in the half of sacrifice, (he) whom they kindle, and living beings generate.
- When we present to him (sacrificial) food, when the accepts) the oblations of men, then by the power of the brilliant (viands), he assumes the radiance of the rite.
- Verily he gives a signal by night to one who is far off, when he, the purifier, the undecaying, consumes the forest lords.
- 5. At whose worship (the priests) pour the dripping (butter) upon the flames, and (the drops) mount upon the fire as if they were its own numerous offspring, as (boys ride) upon the back (of a father).
- Him whom the desired of many, the (devout) man recognizes as the sustainer of all, the flavourer of food, the provider of dwellings for men.

- He crops the dry ground strewn (with grass and wood), like an animal grazing; he with a golden beard, with shining teeth, vast, and of irresistible strength.
- 8. Bright as an axe is he to whom the (worshipper), like ATRI, proceeds (to offer worship): he whom his prolific mother has brought forth, bestowing (a benefactor on the world), when (AGNI) obtains (sacrificial) food.
- To thee, Aoni, the accepter of the oblation, the upholder (of all), there is pleasure (from our praise): do thou bestow upon these thy worshippers wealth, and food, and a heart (grateful for thy favour).
- 10. May the sage who is in this manner the offerer of exclusive praise (Agni, to thee), accept the cattle which are to be given to thee; and thereupon may Arri overcome (hostile) men.

V. I. 8.

The deity and Riski as before; the metre is Jagati.

- Manifester of strength, AoNI, ancient worshippers have kindled thee of old for their preservation: thee, the delighter of many, the adorable, the all-sustaining, the lowly-minded, the lord of the house, the excellent.
- Men have established thee, (AGNI), their ancient guest, as the lord of the house; (thee), the blazing-haired, the vast bannered, the multiform, the dispenser of wealth, the bestower of happiness, the kind protector, the destruction of decaying (trees).
- 3. Human beings glorify thee, AGNI, the appreciator of burnt-offerings, the discriminator (of truth), the most liberal giver of precious (things), abiding (awhile), auspicious one, in secret. (at other times) visible to all, loud sounding, offering worship, thriving upon clarified butter.

- 4. We approach thee, all-sustaining Agni, adoring thee in many ways with hymns and with prostrations: do thou, Angras, when kindled, be propitious to us: may the divine (Agni be pleased) by the (sacrificial) food (offered by the) worshipper, and by the bright flames (of his sacrifice).
- 5. Agn; the praised of many, thou who art multiform, givest of old food to every mortal; thou reignest with strength over the various (sacrificial) viands; the splendour of thee when blazing brightly is not rivalled (by any).
- 6. AGNL youngest (of the deities), the gods have made thee, when kindled, their messenger, the bearer of oblations; thee, who art rapid in movement, and of whom butter is the source, they have made, when invoked, the brilliant eye (of the universe), instigated by the understanding.
- 7. The ancient seekers after happiness have kindled thee, Agni, when invoked, (and fed thee) with abundant fuel; and thou (thereby) increasing, and supplied with shrubs, art dominant over all terrestrial viands.

V. 1. 9.

The deity is AGNI; GAYA, of the race of ATRI, is the Riski; the metre of the fifth and seventh stances is Funkti, of the rost Assessable.

 Mortals bearing oblations glorify thee, AGNI, the divine: I praise thee, JATAVEDAS, for that thou conveyest successively oblations (to the gods).

- 2. Agni is the invoker of the gods (on behalf of) him, the donor (of the oblation), the abode (of the fruit of good works), by whom the sacred grass has been strewn; (he) in whom congregate all sacrifices securing food and fame.
- 3. He (it is) whom the two sticks have engendered like a new-born habe; the supporter of men the descendants of Manu, the fit object of sacrifice.
- 4. Thou art laid hold of with difficulty like the young of tortnously-twining (snakes); thou who art the consumer of many forests, as an animal is of fodder.
- 5. Of whom smoke-emitting, the flames intensely collect; then, when diffused in the three regions, Agni inflates himself in the firmament, like the blower of a bellows, and sharpens (his flames), as (the fire blazes from the blast) of the blower.
- By the protections of thee, AGNL, the friend (of all), and by our praises (of thee), may we pass safe from the evil acts of men, as if from malignant (enemies).
- 7. Powerful Agni, bestow upon us the institutors (of pious rites), that wealth (which we desire): may be discomfit (our foes): may be cherish us: may be be ever ready to bestow upon us food: and do thou, Agni, he present in battles for our success.

V. I. 10.

The deity, Riski, and metre as before.

Agai, of irresistible prowess, bring to us most powerful treasure; (invest us) with surrounding wealth; mark out the paths to abundance.

- 2. Marvellous Agni, (gratified) by our acts. (produce) in us greatness of vigour; in thee abides the strength destroying evil spirits; thou who art to be worshipped. like MITER, art the door (of great deeds).
- 3. Augment, AGNI, our dwelling and prosperity, for the devout men (who have propitiated thee) by their praises have acquired riches.
- 4. Delightful AGNI, those men who glorify thee with hymns become rich in horses, and are invigorated with (foe-destroying) energies; and their great renown, spread through the firmament, armses (thee) of thine own accord.
- 5. These thy bright and fierce flames, AGNI, spread around like the circumambient lightnings, and are like a rattling chariot rushing (into battle) for booty.
- 6. Be prompt, Auxi, for our protection, and for the gift of poverty-repelling (riches); and may our pious (descendants be able to) compass all their desires.
- 7. Agni, who art Angiras, glorified in the past, glorified (at present), invoker (of the gods), bring unto us riches (enabling us) to overcome the mighty: give to thy praisers (ability) to praise thee, and be (at hand) for our success in battles.

V. 1, 11.

The desty is Aunt; the Right is Sutamburana, of the pace of Ather. the metre is Jagari.

1. The vigilant, the powerful AoNI, the protector of man, has been engendered for the present prosperity (of the world): fed with butter, (blazing) with intense (radiance) reaching to the sky, the pure Auni shines brilliantly for the Bharatas.

- 2. The priests have first kindled, in three places, Agni, the banner of sacrifice, the family priest, (riding) in the same car with Indea and the gods: he, the performer of pious acts, the invoker (of the gods), has sat down on the sacred grass for the (celebration of the) rite.
- 3. Thou art born unobstructed of two mothers: pure, adorable, wise, thou hast sprung up from (the devotion of) the householder: they have augmented thee with butter: AGNI, to whom burnt-offerings are made, the smoke is thy banner spread abroad in the sky.
- 4. May AGNI, the fulfiller (of all desires), come to our sacrifice; men cherish AGNI in every dwelling; AGNI, the bearer of oblations, has become the messenger (of the gods); those adoring AGNI adore him as the accomplisher of the sacrifice.
- To thee, Agni, this most sweet speech (is addressed); may this praise be gratification to thy heart: pious hymns fill thee, and augment thes with vigour, as large rivers (replenish) the sea.
- 6. The Angirasas discovered thee, AGNI. hidden in secret, and taking refuge from wood to wood; thou art generated, being churned with great force; therefore they have called thee, ANGIRAS, the son of strength.

V. 1, 12,

The deity, Riski, and metre as before.

 I offer to the great, the adorable AGNI, the rainer of water, the vigorous, the showerer (of benefits), the present acceptable praise, like well-purified butter (poured) at sacrifices into his mouth.

- 2. Agnt, who knowest (the purpose of) the sacrifice, assent to this rite: be favourable to the copious showers of water: (endowed) with strength, (I undertake) not (to obstruct) sacred acts, nor adjure the rite with both (truth and untruth), but (repeat the praise) of the resplendent showerer (of benefits).
- 3. Agni, bestower of water, by what (act of) truth mayest thou, who art adorable, be cognizant of our adoration; may the divine Agni, the guardian of the seasons, recognize me: I (know) him not (yet) as the lord of the riches of which I am the possessor.
- 4. Who. Agnt. among thy (followers) are the imprisoners of foes? who among them are the protectors (of men), the splendid distributors of gifts! who among them defend the asserter of untruth! who are the encouragers of evil deeds?
- * 5. These thy friends, AGNI, everywhere dispersed, were formerly unhappy (in abandoning thy worship), but are again fortunate (by its renewal): may they who, with (censorious) words, impute fraudulent (practices) to me who pursue a straight path, bring evil upon themselves.
- 6. May the dwelling of him. Agni, who celebrates thy worship with reverence, of him who protects the sacrifice (offered) to the resplendent showerer (of benefits), be well stored; and may a virtuous successor of the man who diligently worships thee come in his place.

V. 1, 13,

The deity and Biski as before; the metre is Gaputri.

- Adoring thee, AGNI, we invoke thee: adoring thee we kindle thee, adoring thee for protection.
- Desirous of wealth, we recite to-day the effectual praise of the divine Aont. (whose radiance) reaches the sky.
- May Agan, who amongst men is the invoker of the gods, accept our praises; may be offer sacrifice to the divine beings.
- 4. Thou, Agni, art mighty and gracious, the (ministrant) priest, the desired (of all): through thee worshippers complete the sacrifice.
- Wise worshippers exalt thee, AGNI, the bountiful giver of food, the deservedly lauded; do thou bestow upon us excellent strength.
- Agni, thou encompassest the gods as the circumference (surrounds) the spokes (of a wheel); bestow manifold wealth upon us.

V. 1. 14.

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before,

- I. Waken the immortal AGNI with praise, that, being kindled, he may bear our oblations to the gods.
- Mortals worship him, an immortal divinity, at their sacrifices, most adorable among the human race.
- Numerous (worshippers), pouring out butter from the (sacrificial) ladle, glorify him, the divine AGNI, that he may convey their oblation (to the gods).

- 4. Aont, as soon as born, blazes brightly, destroying the Dasyus, and (dispersing) the darkness by his lustre; he has discovered the cows, the waters, the sun.
- Worship the adorable AGNI, the sage, whose summit blazes with butter; may be hear and comprehend my invocation.
- They have augmented AGNL the beholder of all, with oblations and with praises, along with the gods, the objects of pious meditations, desirous of praise.

ANUVAKA II.

V. 2. 1.

The deity is AGNI; the Rishi DUANUNA, of the family of ANGHANI, the metre is Trishtshh,

- I offer praise to AGNI, the creator, the far-seeing, the adorable, the renowned, the first (of the gods); he who is propitiated by oblations, the strong, the giver of happiness, the possessor of riches, the receiver of oblations, the bestower of dwellings.
- 2. They are detaining by sacrifice the true recipient (of offerings) in the most eminent place of the ceremony, who brings together the leaders (of the rite), the unborn with the born, (or gods and men), as scated at the solemnity which is the stay of heaven.
- 3. They who (present) to the chief (of the gods) the great food (of sacrifice), unattainable (by the Rakshasas), enjoy forms exempt from defect: may that new-born Agni scatter assembled (hosts): let them stand from around me, as (deer avoid) an angry lion.
- When, everywhere predominating, thou cherishest all men like a mother, and (art implored by all) to behold and to support them; and when, being detained, thou maturest every kind of food, then, multiform (AGNI), thou comprisest (all beings) in thyself.

5. Divine AGNI, may the (sacrificial) food, the vast yielder (of benefits to men), the sustainer of riches, support the utmost of thy vigour; and do thou, considering (the means of acquiring) great riches, like a third keeping concealed the article (he has stolen), be propitious to ATRI.

V. 2. 2.

The deity as before; the Riski is Punn, of the race of Arm; the metre is Annaktubă, except in the last verse, in which it is Pankti.

- Offer abundant (sacrificial) food to the brilliant divine Aoni, whom mortals have placed before them by praises as a friend.
- For that AGNI. (endowed) with the lustre of the strength of his arms, is the ministrant priest of mortals, who (presents) the oblation to the gods in succession, and like Buaga distributes desirable wealth.
- (May we be assiduous) in the praise, (and cherished) in the friendship, of that very radiant possessor of wealth, on whom, lond-sounding and all-ruling, (his) universal (worshippers) have conferred vigour.
- Now verily, AGNI, (be disposed) for bestowing excellent strength on these (thy worshippers): heaven and earth have invested him with glory like the vast (sun).
- 5. Glorified by us, AGNI, come quickly, and bring us desirable wealth: we who (are thy worshippers), we (who are thine) adorers, offer thee welcome together with oblations: be thou favourable to us; be (our) success in battles.

V 2 3.

The deity, Rishi, and metre as before.

- Divine Aont, a mortal thus with sacrifices (calls upon thee) who art endowed with lustre for protection;
   Puru adores Aont for protection when the sacred rite is solemnized.
- 2. Performer of various functions, who art deservedly renowned, thou praisest by thy words that Agni, who is possessed of wonderful splendour; who is exempt from pain; who is adorable and supreme in understanding.
- 3. He who is endowed with vigour, is (glorified) by praise, and by whose radiance, like that of the sky, the rays of light shine brightly: by his lustre, verily, (the sun is luminous).
- 4. By the worship of him who is pleasing of aspect, the provident (heap) wealth in their cars: AGNI, to whom oblations are due, is then glorified by all people.
- 5. Quickly, (Agni, give us) desirable (wealth), such as the devout, combining with (pious) praise, (obtain): son of strength, (be favourable) to (my) desires; protect us (from calamity); be alert for our prosperity; comefor our success in battles.

V. 2. 4.

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is Dwars, of the race of Arm.

 Let AoN; the beloved of many, the guest of man, be present at dawn; he who, immortal, desires the oblations of mortals. Be (willing to make) a grant of thine own strength to Dwrra, the bearer of the pure oblations; for he, unmortal Agni, thy diligent praiser, brings to thee continually the Some juice.

 I invoke thee bright-shining, through a long life, with praise, (for the benefit) of the affluent, that their chariot, giver of horses, may proceed unimpeded.

4. Amongst whom the ceremonial of many kinds is observed; who perpetuate the sacred hymns by their recital; by them the sacrificial viands are placed upon the strewn grass (at the sacrifice which) leads (the worshipper) to heaven.

 Immortal AGNI, bestow upon those opulent men, who, upon (my) praise (of thee), gave to me fifty horses, and brilliant, ample, and abundant food, (supporting numerous) dependants.

V. 2, 5.

The deity as before; the Riski is named Vavar; the metre of the two first stammas is Gayntes, of the two next Assahlabh, and of the rifth Viratrupo.

 Unprosperous circumstances affect Vaver: may the accepter (of oblations) become cognizant (of them), as, reclining on the lap of his mother, he beholds all things.

They who know (thy power) invoke thee incessantly and nourish (thy) strength (by oblations); they dwell in an impregnable city.

 Living men, with collars of gold, earnest in praise, desirous of food, augment by this laudation the vigour of thee abiding in the white firmament.

- 4. May (AGNI) with his two relatives, (heaven and earth), hear this faultless (praise), acceptable as milk; he who, like the mixed oblation, is filled with food, and, unsubdued, is ever the subduer of his foes.
- Radiant (Aoni), who art made manifest by the wind, and art sporting smidst the ashes (of the forest), be present with us; and may the fierce flery flames, destructive of foes, be gentle to this thy worshipper.

V. 2. 6.

The deity as before: certain persons of the race of Arm, called Prayessule, are the Rishis; the metre of the last stanza is Paulti, of the rest Annahubb.

- That (sacrificial) wealth, Agar, bounteous giver of food, of which thou approvest, and which deserves to be commended by our praises, do thou convey to the gods.
- 2. May those presperous men who do not offer oblations to thee become destitute of great strength, and may (the followers) of other (than Vaidik) observances incur (thy) enmity and punishment.
- We, Prayassats, have recourse to thee, the invoker (of the gods), the means of strength; we glorify thee first at sacrifices with praise.
- 4. Possessor of strength, day by day so (provide), that we may enjoy thy protection; doer of good deeds, may we (be deserving) of wealth through sacrifice, and may we be happy with cattle, happy with male descendants.

V. 2. 7.

The delty as before; the Rishi is Sass; the matre as before.

 Like Manu, we meditate. Aunt, upon thee, like Manu, we kindle thee: worship the gods on behalf of the (worshipper), devout as Manu.

When thou art pleased, AGNI, thou shinest upon the human race: well-born, feeder upon clarified butter, the ladles are constantly uplifted to thee.

 All the consentient divinities have made thee their messenger; therefore the pious worship thee who art divine, wise AONI, at sacrifices.

 Man praises thee, divine Agni, to convey his offerings to the gods: bright Agni, blaze when kindled: take thy seat in the chamber (of sacrifice), in the chamber of the sincere Sasa.

V. 2. 8.

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is Vishwasaman.

 Sing, Vishwasaman, like Atri, (a hymn) to the dispenser of purifying light: (to him) who is to be praised at sacrifices, the invoker of the gods, the most adorable by man.

Cherish the divine Agni, by whom all that exists is known, the priest (of the rite): may the sacrifice most suitable for the gods duly this day proceed to them.

Men have recourse to thee, divine AGNI, who art of intelligent mind, for security: we praise thee who art most excellent, seeking thy protection.

Agai, son of strength, recognize the words of thisour (laudation); handsome-chinned, lord of the dwelling.

the sons of ATHI exalt thee, such (as thou art), by their praises: they embellish thee by their hymns.

V. 2. 9.

The deity and metre as before; the Rishi is DYUMNA.

- Bestow, Agnt, upon DYUMNA a son, overcoming foes by his prowess; one who may with glory subdue all men in battle.
- Mighty Aoni, grant us a son able to encounter hosts; for thou art true and wonderful, and the giver of food with cattle.
- All men concurring in satisfaction, bearing the cupt sacred grass, solicit thee, as the kind invoker of the gods, to the chambers (of sacrifice) for infinite wealth.
- 4. May the (sage) on whom all men rely possess forsubduing strength; radiant Aonr, so shine in our habitations that they may abound in riches; shine, purifying Aonr, dispensing light.

V. 2, 10,

The deity is AGRI; the Rishis are termed GAUPATANAS and LAU-SAYAMAS, and are four in number, named severally, BANDRU, SURAN-DRU, SHRUTAHANDRU, and VIPHAHANDRU, to each of whom a ball stanza of the two stanzas of which the Sulfa consists is attributed; the metro is Viraj.

- 1. 2. Agns, who art to be adored, be ever nigh to us, our protector and benefactor: do thou, who art the giver of dwellings and dispenser of food, be present with us: bestow upon us most brilliant wealth.
- 3, 4. Understand us. AGNT; hear our invocation; defend us from all malevolent (people); most bright and resplendent AGNI, we earnestly solicit thee for the happiness (of ourselves) and our friends.

V. 2. 11.

The deity as before; the Riskie am those of the race of ATA1 named Vasuven; the metre is Annahubb.

- Celebrate the divine Aoxt for his protection: may he who presides over dwellings grant (our desires): may the son of the Rishis, the observers of truth, save us from those who hate us.
- That Aoni is true whom the ancients, whom the gods have kindled, as the bright-tongued invoker of the gods, radiant with holy splendours.
- Agni, to be propitiated by praises, (gratified) by our choicest and most excellent adoration and hymns, bestow upon us riches.
- Again shines amongst the gods; Again is present amongst mortals; Again is the bearer of our oblations; glorify Again with praises.
- May AGN1 bestow upon the donor (of the oblation) a son, abounding in food, abounding in devotion, excellent, unharmed, conferring honour upon his progenitors.
- 6. May Agni bestow a son, the protector of the good, who, with his followers, may be victorious in battle : may be bestow a swift-footed steed, conquering, unconquered.
- That (praise) which best conveys (our veneration, is due) to Aon; affluent in splendour, grant us. (Aon), great (wealth), for from thee vast riches and ample food proceed.

- Brilliant, Agnt, are thy rays: mighty art thou termed, like the stone (that bruises the Some), and thy voice spontaneously spreads through the sky like thunder.
- Thus we, Vasuyus, glorify the vigorous Agni: may he, the performer of great deeds, enable us to pass over all our enemies as (we cross a river) with a boat.

V. 2. 12.

The deity and Rishis as before; the metre is Gajouri.

- Divine purifier, Agni, with thy radiant and pleasing tongue, bring hither and worship the gods.
- Feeder upon butter, bright and variegated radiance we solicit thee, the beholder of heaven, to (partake of) the (sacrificial) food.
- We kindle thee at the sacrifice, wise AGNI, whose food is the oblation, who art brilliant and vast.
- Come, Agni, with all the gods, to the donor (of the oblation): we have recourse to thee as their invoker,
- To the institutor of the rife, pouring out the libation, bring excellent vigour; sit down with the gods upon the sacred grass.
- Victor over thousands, thou favourest, when kindled, our holy rites, the honoured messenger of the gods.
- Reverence AGNI, by whom all that is, is known, the bearer of oblations, the youngest of the gods, the divine, the ministrant priest.
- 8. May the sacrifice most solemnly offered by the devout duly proceed to day (to the gods): spread the sacred grass for their seat.

 May the MARUTS, the ASHWINS, MITRA, VARUNA, the gods, with all their attendants, sit down upon this grass.

V. 2; 13:

The desty as before, but in the sixth stanza Indua is associated with Admi; the Riskis are three Rajas, Taxanuna, the son of Taxanuna, Taxanunu, the son of Pununuma, and Ashwamenus, the son of Bhanara; or Avni alone may be the Riski; the metre of the three first stanzas is Tricktubh, of the last three Anushtubh.

- I. AGNI, who art the protector of the good, most wise, powerful, and opulent; TRYARUNA, the son of TRIVRISHNA, has become renowned, VAISHWANABA, in that he has bestowed upon me a pair of cattle with a waggon, and with ten thousands of treasure.
- Agni, Vaishwanana, who art deservedly praised and exalted (by us), bestow happiness upon Tryanuna, who gives me hundreds (of Summas), twenty cattle, and a pair of burden bearing horses.
- 3. As TRYARUNA, pleased by the culogies of me who have many children, presses with earnest (mind, gifts upon me), so does TRASADASYU, desirous, AGNI, of thy valued favour through thine exceeding praise.
- 4. When Ashwamedha gives to him who solicits of him as a benefactor, saying (bestow wealth) upon me, and comes (to him) with a verse (in thy praise), do thou. Agai, grant intelligence to (the Roja) who wishes to offer sacrifice (to thee).
- Whose hundred robust oxen yield me delight, as the triple-mixed Soma, the offering of ASHWAMEDHA (gratifies thee).

 Indra and Agni. bestow upon the munificent Ashwamepha infinite wealth with excellent posterity, undecaying as the sun in heaven.

V. 2, 14.

The deity as before; the Rishi is Visuwavana, a lady of the family of Arm; the metre of the first and third stauras is Trichtable, of the second Japani, of the fourth Annahrable, and of the two last Gayatri.

 Agni, when kindled, spreads listre through the firmament, and shines widely in the presence of the dawn: Vishwavana, facing the east, glorifying the gods with praises, and bearing the ladle with the oblation, proceeds (to the sacred firs).

2. When about to be kindled, AGNI, thou rulest over ambrosial (water): thou art present with the offerer of the oblation for his welfare: he to whom thou repairest acquires universal wealth; he places before thee, AGNI, the dues of hospitality.

3. Repress, AGNI. (our foes to ensure our) exceeding prosperity: may thy riches ever be excellent: preserve in concord the relation of man and wife, and overpower the energies of the hostile.

 I praise the glory, AGNI, of thee when kindled and blazing fiercely: thou art the affluent showever (of benefits), thou art fitly lighted at sacrifices.

AGN1, who art kindled and invoked, worship the gods at the holy rite, for thou art the bearer of the oblation.

Offer worship and adoration to Agni when the sacrifice is solemnized: select the bearer of the oblation to the gods.

V. 2. 15.

The deity is INDRA, but one hemistich may be assigned to Usnawas; the Richi is Gararytt, of the race of Shaktr; the metre is Trichtubk.

- In the adoration of the gods by Manu there are three effulgences, and they, (the Manurs), uphold three luminaries in heaven; the Manurs of pure energy worship thee, for thou, INDRA, art their intelligent Rishs.
- When the Maruts worship Indra, exulting and drinking of the effused libation, he grasps the thunderbolt wherewith he destroys Aut, and sets the abundant waters free to flow.
- Or, mighty Maruts, and thou also, Indra, drink of this my copiously-effused libation: then the offered libation obtains cattle for the offerer, and Indra, drinking of it, kills Ahr.
- 4. Thereupon he fixed firmly heaven and earth, and, resolutely advancing, filled (VBITRA), like a deer, with terror: stripping off his covering, INDRA slew the DANAVA, endeavouring to hide, and panting with affright.
- 5. Then, for this exploit, all the gods gave thee. MAGHAVAN, in succession, the Soma beverage; whence thou hast retarded, for the sake of ETASA, the advancing horses of the sun.
- 6. Whereupon Maghavan has destroyed with his thunderbolt at once his (Shambaba's) ninety and nine cities; the Mahuts glorifying Indra in a common dwelling with the Trishtubh hymn, he destroyed the bright (city of the Asura).
- To aid (the undertaking of) his friend. Agai, the friend (of INDRA), has quickly consumed three hundred buffaloes; and INDRA, for the destruction of VRITRAhas at once quaffed three vessels of Some, offered by MANU.

- 8. When thou hadst eaten the flesh of the three hundred buffaloes, when thou who art Magnavan hadst drank the three vessels of Soma, when he had slain Anr. then all the gods summoned Indra, full of food, as if he had been a servant, to the battle.
- When, Indra, thou and Ushanas, with vigorous and rapid courses went to the dwelling of Kutsa, then, destroying his foes, you went in one chariot with Kutsa, and the gods, and verily thou hast slain Shushna.
- 10. Thou hast formerly detached one wheel (of the ear) of Sukva; another thou hast given to Kursa where with to acquire wealth; with the thunderbolt thou hast confounded the voiceless Dasyus, thou hast destroyed in battle the speech-bereft (loes).
- 11. May the praises of Gauriviti exalt thee: thou hast humbled Pipru for the son of Vidathin: Rijishwan preparing dressed viands, has, through thy friendship, brought thee (to his presence), and thou hast drunk of his libation.
- 12. The observers of the nine month's celebration, those of the ten months, pouring out libations, worship INDRA with hymns: the leaders (of rites), glorifying himhave set open the cave (concealing the cattle).
- 13. Although, knowing the heroic acts which, Magnavan, thou hast performed, how may I adequately offer thee adoration: most mighty INDRA, we ever celebrate at sacred rites the recent exploits which thou hast achieved.

14. Unmatched (by any), thou hast done, INDRA, all these many (deeds) by thine inmate energy; wielder of the thunderbolt, whatever thou, the humbler of (foes), hast undertaken, there is no one the arrester of this thy prowess.

15. Most mighty INDRA, be pleased to accept the prayers which we are about to offer, and the present praises which we repeat: firm, doing pious acts, and desirous of wealth. I have fabricated acceptable and pious works like (rich) garments, and like a chariot.

V. 2. 16.

The deity as before, or it may be the Reja REMANCHAYA, who is occasionally pressed; the Rishi is Bassau; the metra Trishtubh.

- I. Where is that hero? who has seen INDRA seated in his easy chariot, travelling with his horses, the thunderer, the invoked of many, who, desirous of the libation, is proceeding with riches to the habitation (of his worshipper) for his preservation?
- 2. I have looked down upon the secret and fearful place of his abiding; I have repaired, desiring him, (to the place of) the self-sustainer; I have inquired (of him) from others: they, the leaders (of rites), the searchers after wisdom, have said to me, let us have recourse to INDRA.
- 3. When the libation is offered, India, we celebrate thy exploits; those (exploits) which thou hast been pleased (to achieve) for us; let him who is ignorant acquire knowledge (of them); let him who is acquainted (with them) make them known; this Maghayan (is) the lord of hosts.

- 4. As soon as generated, India, thou hast made thy mind resolved: thou hast gone alone to contend against numerous (foes): thou hast rent asunder the rock by thy strength: thou hast rescued the herd of milk-yielding kine.
- 5. When then last been born most excellent and supreme, bearing a name widely renowned, then the gods have been in dread of INDRA, and he has subjugated all the waters, the brides of the slave (Veitra).
- 6. These devoted Maruts eulogise thee with piouspraise, and pour out to thee the sacrificial food: INDRA has overcome by his devices the guileful Art, harassing the gods and arresting the waters.
- 7. Maghavan, who art glorified by us, assailing with the thunderbolt the antagonist (of the gods), thou hast slain those who were ever hostile (to thee) from thy birth: desiring to do good to Manu, thou hast bruised the head of the slave Namuch.
- 8. Verily thou hast made me, Indra, thy associate when grinding the head of the slave Namuchi like a sounding and rolling cloud; and the heaven and earth (have been caused) by the Maruts (to revolve like a wheel).
- 9. The slave (NAMUCHI) made women his weapons: what will his female hosts do unto me? the two his best beloved, (INDBA) confined in the inner apartments, and then went forth to combat against the Dasyu.
- 10. When the cows were separated from their calves, they wandered about hither and thither; but when the well-offered libations had exhibited him, then INDRA, with his vigorous (Maruts), reunited them (with their calves).

- 11. When the libations effused by Barrier had exhibitrated him, the showerer (of benefits) shouted aloud in the combats: INDRA, the destroyer of cities, quaffing (the Soma), restored to him his milk-yielding cattle.
- 12. The Rusamas giving me four thousand cows. Aost. have done well: we have accepted the wealth, the donation of the leader of leaders RINANCHAYA.
- 13. The Rusamas, AGNI, have presented to me a beautiful abode, with thousands of cattle: the sharp librations have exhibitated INDRA upon the breaking up of the (gloom-)investing night.
- 14. The (gloom-)investing night has dispersed with the dawn (upon the appearance of) RINANCHAYA, the Roja of the Rusamas: Bannau being summoned, going like a fleet courser, has received the four thousand (cattle).
- 15. We have accepted. AGNI, the four thousand cattle from the Rusamas: and the glowing, the golden ewer prepared for the solemnity, we who are wise have accepted it.

V. 2. 17.

The delty is Ixona; the Risks is Avance, of the race of Arm; the metro is Trisksubh.

- INDRA, the possessor of opulence, directs downwards the car over which, intended (to receive sacrificial) viands, he presides: he proceeds unimpeded, the first of the gods, driving (his enemies before him), as a herdsman drives the herds of cattle.
- 2. Hasten to us, lord of horses: be not indifferent to us; distributor of manifold wealth, befriend us; for there is nothing else that is better, INDRA, than thou; thou hast given wives to those who were without women.

- 3. When the light (of the sun) overpowers the light (of the dawn) INDRA grants all (sorts of) wealth (to the worshipper); he has liberated the milch-kine from the interior of the obstructing (mountain); he dissipates the enveloping darkness with light.
- 4. The Ribbus have fabricated thy car, Indra, the invoked of many, adapted to its horses: Twashtrii (has made) thy radiant thunderbolt: the venerable (Angirasas), praising Indra with hymns, have given him vigour for the destruction of Am.
- 5. When the Maruts, the showerers (of benefits), glorify thee, Indra, the showerer (of desires), with praises, and the exulting stones delight (to bruise the Somo), then, without horses, without chariots, they, the parifying (Maruts), dispatched by Indra, have overcome the Dasyus.
- 6. I celebrate, Maghavan, thine ancient exploits, and those which thou hast newly achieved; wielder of the thunderbolt, subjugating both heaven and earth, thou hast distributed the wonderfully bountiful waters to man.
- 7. Handsome and sagacious Indra, this is thy deed, that, slaying Am, thou hast here displayed thy vigour: thou hast arrested the devices of Shushna urging the combat: thou hast overcome the Dasyus.
- 8. Thou, Indea, (abiding on the further bank), hast rendered the fertilizing waters agreeable to Yanu and Turvasu: you two, (Indra and Kutsa), have assailed the fierce (Shushna), and, (having slain him), thou hast conveyed Kursa (to his dwelling), and Usnanas and the gods have therefore honoured you both.

- 9. May your steeds bring you both, Indra and Kutsa, riding in one chariot, to the worshipper: you have expelled him (Shushna) from the waters, from his proper abode; you have driven the glooms (of ignorance) from the heart of the affluent (adorer).
- 10. The sage Avasyu has obtained docile horses, endowed (with the speed) of the wind; all thine adorers, INDRA, in this world, thy friends, augment thy vigour by their praises.
- 11. He, (Indra), has formerly arrested in battle the rapid chariot of the sun; ETASA has borne away the wheel, and (with it Indra) demolishes (his foes); may he, giving us precedence, be propitiated by our rite.
- 12. INDRA, oh people, has come to see you, wishing to behold his friend the offerer of the libation; let the creaking stones, for whose rotation the priests hasten, supply the altar.
- 13. Immortal (Indea), let not the mortals who are wishing, anxiously wishing for thee, fall into sin; be indeed pleased with the sacrificers, and grant vigour to those men amongst whom may we be (especially) thine,

V. 2. 18,

The deity is the same; the Rishi is Cave; the motre Tricktoba,

1. Thou, INDRA, hast rent the cloud asunder, thou hast set open the flood-gates, thou hast liberated the obstructed streams, thou hast opened the vast cloud, and hast given vent to the showers, having slain the Danaus.

- 2. Thou, thunderer, (hast set free) the obstructed clouds in their seasons; thou hast invigorated the strength of the cloud: fierce INDRA, destroying the mighty AHI when slumbering (in the waters), thou hast established the reputation of thy prowess.
- Indea, by his prowess, has annihilated the weapon of that mighty beast, from whom another more powerful, conceiving himself one and unmatched, was generated.
- 4. The wielder of the thunderbolt, the render of the rain-cloud, has destroyed with his bolt the mighty Shushna, the wrath-born (son) of the Danaea, the walker in darkness, the protector of the showering cloud, exhibitating himself with the food of these (living creatures).
- 5. Thou hast discovered. INDRA, by his acts, the secret vital part of him who thought himself invulnerable, when, powerful INDRA, in the exhibitation of the Soma, thou hast detected him preparing for combat in his dark abode.
- 6. INDRA, the showerer (of benefits) exhibitated by the effused juices, uplifting (his thunderbolt), has slain him enjoying the dews of the firmament, sleeping (amidst the waters), and thriving in sunless darkness.
- When INDRA raised his powerful irresistible weapon against the mighty Danava, when he struck him with the blow of the thunderbolt, he made him the lowest of all creatures.
- 8. The fierce Indra seized upon him, that vast moving (VRITRA), when slumbering, (after) having drunk the Soma, subduing (his foes), and enveloping (the world), and then slew him with his great weapon in battle, footless, measureless, speechless.

9. Who may resist the withering might of that INDRA: he, single and irresistible, carries off the riches (of the enemy): these two divine (beings, heaven and earth), proceed swiftly through fear of the strength of the quickmoving INDRA.

10. The divine, self-sustaining (heaven) comes to him; the moving (earth), like a loving (w.fe), resigns herself to INDRA; when he shares all his vigour with these (his people), then, in due succession, men offer reverence to the potent INDRA.

- 11. Verily I hear of thee as chief amongst men, the protector of the good, friendly to the five classes of beings, the begotten, the renowned; may my (progeny), representing (their wishes), and uttering his praises night and day, propitiate the glorified INDRA.
- 12. I hear of thee influencing (creatures) according to the season, and giving riches to the p.ous; but what do thy devoted friends (obtain), who have entrusted their desires, Indra, to thee.

ANUVAKA III.

V. 3. 1.

The deity is Indra; the Biski is Samvanana, the sum of Peararatt; the metre is Trishtable.

 Feeble as I am. I offer praise to the great and vigorous INDRA, for this purpose, (that he may grant) strength to (our) people: he who, associated with the MARUIS, shews favour to this person when praised for the sake of sustenance.

- Thou, INDEA, meditating upon us, fastenest the traces of thy horses, (incited), showever (of benefits), by those praises in which thou takest suitable delight, and do thou therefore overcome (for us) hostile men.
- 3. Since, mighty INDRA, those who, differing from us, and not united with thee through their lack of devotion, are not thine; therefore, divine holder of the thunderbolt, who art possessed of excellent horses, ascend the car, whose reins thou guidest, (to come to our sacrifice).
- 4. Inaxmuch, Indra, as many praises are thine, therefore, combating for the sake of (shedding) water on fertile (lands), thou hast effected (the discomfiture of its obstructors); thou, who art the showever (of benefits), hast, on behalf of the sun, destroyed in his own dwelling the very name of (the Asura), Dasa, in battle.
- 5. We, INDRA, are thine, and thine are they who are the leaders (of rites), promoters of (thy) strength, and willing applicants (to thee): all-powerful INDRA, may adherents worthy of commendation, and faithful, come to us, like BHAGA, in battles.
- Glorious, INDRA, is thy strength, exulting, immortal, and clothing (the world with light): do thou give us riches, and brilliant wealth, and I will greatly praise the munificence of the opulent lord.
- 7. Hero, India, with thy protection defend us, praising and worshipping (thee), and be propitiated (by drinking) of the well-effused and agreeable Some juice that yields (a defensive) covering in combat.
- May those ten bright houses, the gift to me of the pious gold-possessing Transadasvu, the son of Purukutsa.

of the race of Girikshita, convey me (to the sacrifice), and may I proceed quickly with the rites.

- 9. Or may those bay, well-actioned horses, the donation of Vidatha, the son of Marutashwa, (convey me); or (may) the thousands (of treasure) which he was bestowing upon and giving to me, entitled to respect, and the ornaments which he presented (to decorate) the person, (contribute to the ceremony).
- (0) Or may the bright and active steeds bestowed upon me by Dhwanya, the son of Lakshmana (bear me): the riches, endowed with greatness, that have been presented, have passed (to the dwelling) of the Rishi Samvarana, like cows to their stalls.

V. 3. 2. 3 4

The deity and Bishi as before; the metre is Jagati, except in the last verse, in which it is Tricktubs.

The undecaying, heaven-conferring, unlimited (sacrificial) food, goes to the tamer (of enemies), whose adversaries are unborn: therefore (priests) pour out (the libation), dress (the cakes and butter), diligently discharge (your offices) to him who is the accepter of prayer, who is glorified by many.

 Maghavan, who fills his belly with the Soma, is exhibitrated (by drinking) of the sweet-suvoured beverage, whereupon he has lifted up his destructive thousandedged weapon, desiring to slay (the Asura) MRIGA.

 He who pours out the libation to that Indra, by day or by night, undoubtedly becomes illustrious: Shakka disregards the man who is proud of his descendants and vain of his person, and who, though wealthy, is the friend of the base.

- Shakha does not turn away from him whose father, whose mother, whose brother he has slain, but is willing to accept his offerings; the regulator (of acts), the bestower of riches, does not turn away from iniquity.
- 5. He desires not (association in) enterprises with five or with ten; he associates not with the man who does not present libations; and cherishes not (his dependants); nay, the terrifler (of foes) punishes him or slays him, but he places the devont man in a pasturage stocked with cattle.
- 6. Thinning (his enemies) in battle, and accelerating the wheels (of his car), he turns away from him who offers no libation, and augments (the prosperity of) the offerer: INDRA, the subduer of all, the formidable, the lord, conducts the Dasa at his pleasure.
- 7. He proceeds to plunder the wealth of the (avaricious), and bestows the riches that are prized by man upon the donor (of the libation): every man is involved in great difficulty who provokes the might of INDRA to wrath.
- 8. When INDRA, the possessor of opulence, discriminates between two men, both wealthy, and exerting themselves (against each other) for the sake of valuable cattle, he takes one of them as his associate, causing (his adversaries) to tremble, and the agitator (of the clouds), together with the Maru'rs, bestows upon him herds of cattle.
- I. Arya. Agnt, praise Shatri, the son of Agniverha.
   the bestower of thousands, a type for comparison; may the collected waters yield him abundance; may wealth, and strength, and glory be upon him.

V. 3. 3.

- Perfect for our protection, Exden, that thine act which is most effective; which is the subduer of men; holy, and difficult to be encountered in battles.
- Whatever protections, INDRA, may be thine, whether four, or, hero, three, or those accorded to the five (classes) of men, bestow them freely upon us.
- We invoke the desirable protection of thee, the most liberal showerer (of benefits); that (protection) which thou, the distributor of rain, the quick destroyer (of foes), grantest. (associated) with the present (MARUTS).
- 4. Thou art the showerer (of benefits); thou art born to (bestow) riches; thy strength rains (blessings); thy self-invigorated mind is the restrainer (of adversaries); thy manhood, INDBA, is the destroyer of multitudes.
- INDRA, wielder of the thunderbolt, rider in an allpervading car, object of many rites, and ford of strength, proceed against the mortal who entertains hostility towards thee.
- Slayer of Varras, men with dipped sacred grass invoke thee, who art fierce and foremost among many, for aid in battle.

- Defend, INDRA, our chariot, difficult (to be stopped), mingling foremost in combats, followed by attendants, and eagerly striving for repeated spoil.
- Come, Indra, to us; defend by thy providence our car: we contemplate in thee who, most mighty one, art divine, all desirable vigour: (to thee), who art divine, we offer praise.

V. 3. 4. 36

The deity and Rishi as before; the matre is Trishbubh.

- May that Indea who is the donor of wealth, who knows (how) to distribute riches, come (to our sacrifice) marching boldly like a warrior; and may he, being thirsty, and desirous (of the draught), drink of the effused Some juice.
- 2. Hero, lord of horses, may the Some ascend to thy destructive jaw, as if to the summit of a mountain: may we all, royal INDRA, who art invoked of many, give pleasure to thee with our hymns, as to horses with fodder.
- 3. Wielder of the thunderbolt, the invoked of many, my mind trembles through dread of poverty like a whirling wheel: Maghayan, ever prosperous, may thy worshipper, Puruvasu, praise thee promptly and abundantly, seated in thy chariot.
- 4. This thine adorer, Indra, like the stone (that expresses the Soma juice), urges praise to thee, participating in the great (reward): thou bestowest Machavan, riches with thy left hand, thou bestowest them, lord of horses, with the right: be not reluctant.

- 5. May the effective sulogium meit thee, the showerer (of benefits): thou, the showerer, art borne (to the sacrifice) by vigorous steeds: sender of rain, thou of the handsome chin, wielder of the thunderbolt, showerer, whose car showers down (blessings), do thou defend as in battle.
- 6. Maruts, may all men how in obedience to that youthful Shrutarhatha, the possessor of abundance, who has bestowed (upon us) two hay steeds accompanied by three hundred (cattle).

v. s. s. 3.7

The deity and matre as before; the Rishi is Arms

- I. The piously worshipped (AGNI), when invoked, glistening with the oblation, vies with the splendour of the sun: may the dawns rise innexious to him who says, let us offer oblations to INDRA.
- 2. He whose fire is kindled, whose sacred grass is strewn, offers worship: he whose stone is uplifted, whose Soma juice is effused, offers praise; the priest, of whom the stones utter the sounds of bruising, descends with the oblation (for previous ablution) to the stream.
- 3. The bride (of Indra), devoted to her lord, attends him (to the rite), who thus brings (with him) his accompanying queen: may his car convey to us ample food; may it sound loudly; may it scatter around many thousands (of riches).
- 4. That prince suffers no evil in whose realm INDRA drinks the sharp Soma juice mixed with milk: attended by faithful (followers), he moves (in all directions): he destroys his enemy, he protects his subjects; enjoying prosperity, he cherishes the name of (INDRA).

5. He cherishes (his kin); he (reigns) in welfare and prosperity; he is victorious in present and continuous (time); dear is he to the sun, dear to Agni, who, with prepared libation, offers it to INDRA.

V. 3. 6.

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Awashtalih.

- INDRA of many exploits, liberal is the distribution of thine abundant riches; therefore, all-beholder, possessor of excellent wealth, bestow upon us opulence.
- Although, most mighty INDRA, thou possessest well-known abundance (of food), yet golden-hued (deity) it is most notoriously reported as difficult (to be procured).
- 3. Wielder of the thunderbolt, thine are the strong (Mazurs), who are adorable, and whose exploits are renowned; both divinities, (thou and they), rule at pleasure over heaven and earth.
- Slayer of VRITRA, bring to us, thy (worshippers), the wealth of any powerful (man) whatsoever, for thou art disposed to enrich us.
- May we, Shatakratu, speedily (partake of) thy felicity through these our prayers: may we be well secured. Indra. (by thee): may we be carefully protected, hero, by thee.

V 3 7

The delty and Ricki as before; the metre also is the same, except in the last verse, in which it is Paulti.

- Wonderful India, wielder of the thunderbolt, since precious treasure is to be distributed by thee, bestow it, possessor of riches, with both hands, upon us.
- Whatever food thou considerest desirable, INDEA, bestow it: let us be to thee (in the relation of thy) gift of unlimited sustenance.
- Since thy bountiful and praiseworthy will is notorious and vast, therefore, thunderer, thou hast made ready for bestowing upon us substantial food.
- With ancient (hymns) the pious approach Indra, to laud him who is most worthy of the beverage (the offering) of you who are opulent; (him) who is the king of men.
- 5. To that INDRA is the poetical and articulate prayer to be recited; to him the conveyers of pious praise, the sons of ATRI, raise their hymns; the sons of ATRI illume their hymns.

V. 3. 8.

INDEA is the divinity of the first four verses, Sunya of the fifth.

ATH of the last four, but he is also the Rishi of the whole; the metre of the three first stanzas in Ushnik, of the lifth and ninth Aussatuble, of the rest Tricktable.

 Come, Indra, (to our sacrifice); drink, lord of the Some, of the juice expressed by the stones; showerer (of benefits), utter destroyer of Vertra, (come) with the showering (Maruts).

- The stone is the showerer, the insbriation is the showerer, this effused Sama is the showerer; showerer (of benefits), INDRA, utter destroyer of VRITRA, come with the showering (MARUIS).
- Effusing the libation, I invoke thee, the showerer (of benefits), for thy marvellous protections; showerer (of benefits), INDRA, utter destroyer of VRITRA, come with the showering (MARUTS).
- 4. May the accepter of the spiritless libation, the wielder of the thunderbolt, the showerer (of benefits), the overcomer of quick-(flying foes), the mighty, the monarch, the slayer of Vertex, the drinker of the Soma, having harnessed his horses, come down (to us): may INDEA be exhibited at the mid-day sacrifice.
- When, Surva, the son of the Asura Swarehanu, overspread thee with darkness, the worlds were beheld like one bewildered, knowing not his place.
- 6. When, INDRA, thou wast dissipating those illusions of Swarhhamu which were spread below the sun, then ATRI, by his fourth sacred prayer, discovered the sun concealed by the darkness impeding his functions.
- 7. Surva speaks): Let not the violator, Atra, through hunger, swallow with fearful (darkness) me who am thine; thou art Mitra, whose wealth is truth; do thou and the royal Varuna both protect me.
- 8. Then the Brahman. (ATRI), applying the stonestogether, propitiating the gods with praise, and adoring them with reverence, placed the eye of Surva in the sky: he dispersed the delusions of Swarbhanu.

 The sun, whom the Asura. Swannanu, had enveloped with darkness, the sons of Arms subsequently recovered; no others were able (to effect his release).

V 3. 9.

The deities are the Vishwadevas; the Rishi is Brauma; the metre is Trishinoh, except in the exteenth and seventeenth verses, in which it is Alijogeti, and in the twentieth, in which it is Viraj, and of one bemistich.

- Who, Mitra and Varuna, desiring to sacrifice to you, (is able to do so)? do you, whether (abiding) in the region of heaven, or of the vast earth, or of the firmament, protect us, and give to the donor (of the oblation), and to the sacrificer, cattle and food.
- May those divinities, Mitra, Varuna, Arvaman, Avu, Indra, Ribhurshin, the Maruts who accept pious praise, be pleased by our adorations, partaking of the gratification afforded to Rudha, the showerer (of benefits).
- 3. I invoke you, Ashwins, the restrainers (of desire), for the acceleration of your chariot with the swiftness of the wind: (priests) offer praise and oblations to the celestial electroyer of life, to the accomplisher of the sacrifice.
- 4. May the divine accepter of sacrifice, of whom the Kanwas are the priests, Trita, Vayu, and Agni, concurring in satisfaction with (the ruler of) heaven, or (Surya and) Pushan, and Bhaga, and they who are the protectors of the universe, (come quickly) to the sacrifice, as the fleetest coursers rush to battle.
- Manuts, do you bring wealth comprising horses: to acquire and preserve riches the wise man offers you praise:

may the ministrant priest, (ATRI), of the son of Ushis (Kakshivar), be made happy by those swift-going (horses) which are the swift-going (horses), Makurs, of you who are rapid in motion.

- 6 Prevail, (priests), by your prayers, on Vavu, the divine, the fulfiller of desires, the adorable, to harness his chariot: may the light-moving accepters of sacrifice, the lovely and excellent wives (of the gods), come hither to our rite.
- 7. Mighty Day and Night, to you, along with the adorable (deities) of heaven, I present (the oblation) with prayers delighting and explicit: knowing, like two sages, all (that is required), do you bring (it) to the worshipper for his sacrifice.
- 8. I glorify you, leaders (of rites), cherishers (of many), gratifying (with oblations, you) Twashtra the lord of foundations, and the goddess of speech, bestower of opulence, and sharer in the satisfaction (of the other divinities); also the lords of the forest, and the herbs, that I may obtain riches.
- 9. May the Parcalas be (bountiful) to us in liberal donations; may they be favourable (to us) who are the establishers (of the world) like heroes; may the adored and adorable (deity), who is accessible (to all), who is friendly to man, ever grant us increase, being propitiated by our praise.
- 10. I glorify with unqualified praise the embryo of the earth-fertilizing rain, the grandson of the waters, Aoni, who is threefold, who rages (upon me) not, when travelling, with (his) withering rays, but, bright-haired, consumes the forests.

- 11. How can we offer (fit praise) to the mighty posterity of RUDRA, or to the all-knowing BRAGA, for (the sake of obtaining) riches: may the waters, may the plants, protect us, and the heaven, the woods, and the mountains, whose tresses are trees.
- 12. May the lord of v.gour. (VAYU), hear our prayers; he who traverses the firmament, the circumambient: may the waters hear, bright as cities, flowing round the towering mountains.
- 13. Mighty Maruts, of goodly aspect, quickly hear (the praises) that we who repair to you repeat, offering acceptable (oblations): (the Maruts) coming hither, well disposed, come down to us; (destroying) with their weapons the mortals opposed to them. (overcome) by agitation.
- 14. I offer adoration to the company of the Marurs cleserving of sacred sacrifice, to obtain the waters, whether born of heaven or earth: may my praises prosper: may the joy-bestowing heavens (flourish): may the rivers cherished (by the Marurs) be filled with water.
- 15. My praise has been continually proffered as a protectross, powerful with (the means of) preservation: may the maternal and venerable earth accept our (praises), and, (pleased) with her pious (worshippers) be (to us) straight-handed, and the giver of good.
- 16. How may we (duly) worship the liberal (Makurs) with praise, how adore the Makurs with present praise in a fitting manner, the glorious Makurs with present praise? may AHIRBUDHNYA contrive not for our harm; may be be the destroyer (of our enemies).

- 17. The mortal (sacrificer) worships you, gods, at all times for progeny and cattle: verily, gods, the mortal worships you: may Nierri, on this occasion, sustain my body with salutary food, and keep off decay.
- 18. Divine Vasus, may we obtain from the adorable cow invigorating and mind-sustaining food: may that liberal and benignant goddess, hastening (hither), come for our felicity.
- 19. May Ita, the mother of the herd, and Unvasus, with the rivers, be favourable to us: may the bright-shining Unvasus (come), commanding our devotion, and investing the worshipper with light.
- May she cherish us (as the servants) of our patron URJAVYA.

V. 3. 10. 42

The deities and Richi as before; the metre is Trishtubh.

- May our most animating praise, together with our offerings, successfully attain Varuna, Mitha. Bhaga, and Aditi: may the ministrant of the five (vital airs, Vayu), the dweller in the dappled (firmament), he whose path is unimpeded, who is the giver of life, the bestower of happiness, hear.
- May Approacept my affectionate and devoted praise, as a mother (the endeatments of) a son; the pleasing, delightful prayer that is approved of by the gods I address to Varuna and Mitra.

- Celebrate, (priests), the most prophetic of the prophets; imbue him with the sweet libation, and may the divine Savirer bestow upon us ample, beneficial, and delightful riches.
- 4. With a (willing) mind, INDRA, thou associatest us with cattle, with pions (priests) and, lord of steeds, with prosperity, with (sacrificial) food that is agreeable to the gods, and with the favour of the adorable deities.
- May the divine Bhaga, Savitra, the lord of wealth. Ansha, Indra (the slayer) of Vritra, (all) the conquerors of riches, Ribhurshin, Vaja, and also Purandhi, immortals, lastening (to our sacrifice) preserve us.
- We celebrate the exploits of Marutwar, the unrecoiling, the victorious, the undecaying: neither the ancients. Magnayan, northeir successors, have attained thy prowess, nor has any one recent attained it.
- Glorify the first donor of precious treasure. Brihaspari, the distributer of riches, the bestower of great happiness upon him who recites or chanta (his praise), who comes laden with ample wealth to his invoker.
- 8. Associated, BRIDASPATI, with thy protections, (men) are unharmed (by foes), and become opulent and blessed with descendants; may wealth devolve on those who are generous, and givers of horses, of cows, of clothes.
- 9. Render transitory the riches of those who partake of enjoyment without giving satisfaction (to those who are eminent) by holy hymns: put apart from the sun those who perform not sacred rites, and who, though prospering in their posterity, are the adversaries of prayer.

- 10. Send. MARUTS, into darkness, with (cars) devoid of wheels, the man who invites the Rakshasas to the food of the gods; (him also) who reviles me when offering praise to you; whilst sweating, he toils (to realize) vain desires.
- 11. Praise him who has the sure arrow, the strong bow, who presides over all sanitary drugs; worship Rudha for a comprehensive and sound understanding; adore the powerful divinity with prostrations.
- 12. May the dexterous-handed, humble-minded artisans (of the gods, the RIBHUS); may the wives of the showerer (INDRA); may the rivers carved out by VIEHU; may SARASWATI and the brilliant RAKA, the illustrious granters of desires, be willing to grant us riches.
- 13. To the great protector, (Indra), I offer devoutly pious praise, new and originated (at this time): to him, the showerer, who, for his daughter (earth), giving form to the rivers, has provided this water for our (use).
- 14. May thy pious praise, oh worshipper, assuredly reach the thundering, roaring lord of ILA, who, impelling the clouds and distributing the rain, proceeds, illuminating the heaven and earth with lightning.
- 15. May this hymn reach up to the presence of the might of the Manurs, the youthful sons of Rudea: the desire of riches incites me to holiness: glorify those who go to sacrifice on spotted steeds.
- 16. May this hymn attain (the divinities) of earth and heaven, the trees, the herbs, for (the sake of) wealth: may each individual deity be successfully invoked by me; let not mother earth take us into unfavourable thought.

17. May we ever, gods, enjoy great and uninterrupted felicity.

18. May we ever be participant of the unprecedented, joy-conferring, and well-guided protection of the ASHWINS; bring to us, immortal (ASHWINS), riches, male progeny, and all good things.

V. 3, 11,

The deities us before; The Riski is Arnt; the metre is Trisktuhk.

- May the mitch kine, quick-moving, doing no harm, come to us. (laden) with their sweet fluid: the wise worshipper invokes the seven vast and joy-diffusing (rivers) for the sake of ample riches.
- (I purpose) to approach with pious praise, and with oblations, for (the sake of) the uninjured heaven and earth: may the paternal (heaven), and the sweet-spoken, freehanded, maternal (earth), both enjoying renown, defend us in every battle.
- Priests, who are preparing (the libation), first offer to Vayu the delightful and brilliant (Soma); and do thou, divine Vayu, like the Hotri, first drink of this sweet juice, which) we offer for thine exhibitation.
- 4. The ten expressers of the juice, (the fingers), and the two arms of the priest, which are the dexterous immolators of the Soma, take hold of the stone: the exulting, skilful-fingered (priest) milks the mountain-born juice of the sweet Soma, and that Soma (yields its) pure juice.
- 5. The Some has been effused, (INDRA), for thy gratificution, for (giving thee) strength in action, and for thy great exhibitation; therefore, INDRA, when invoked by us, put to thy two beloved, docile, well-trained horses in thy car, and come down.

- 6. Agai, being well pleased with us, bring to us, by paths frequented by the gods, the divine (female) Gaz, mighty and omnipresent, to whom oblations are offered with reverence, who is vast and cognizant of rites, to partake of the exhibitation of the sweet Soma.
- 7. The vessel which the priests, celebrating (it), supply with butter, as if roasting a marrow-yielding animal with fire, has been placed, desirous of the sacrifice, upon the fire, like a son upon the lap of his father.
- 8. May this adoring, earnest, and gratifying praise go like a messenger to summon the Ashwins hither: come, Ashwins, givers of happiness, riding in one chariot, come down to the deposited (Soma), as the bolt (is essential) to the axie of the waggon.
- I offer adoration to the powerful and rapid Pushan, and to (the powerful and rapid) Vayu, who are both instigators of the desire of wealth and of food, (who are both) distributors of riches.
- 10. Bring hither Jatavedas, who art invoked by us all, the Maruts, under their several names and forms: come, all ye Maruts, with all your protecting faculties, to the sacrifice, the praises, and the adoration of the worshipper.
- 11. May the radiant Saraswari come to the sacrifice from the heavens or the spacious firmament: may the goddess, the showever of water, propitiated by our invocution, and desirous of our gratifying praises, hear.

- 12. (Priests) place the mighty Brihaspati, the creator, whose back is dark blue, in the chamber (of sacrifice): let us worship him who is seated in the interior of the mansion, everywhere shining, golden-hued, resplendent.
- 13. May the sustainer of all, (AGNI), the greatly radiant, the delighter, come, with all his protecting (faculties), when invoked; he who is clothed with flames and with plants; who is irresistible; who has horns of three colours; the showerer (of benefits), the accepter of oblations.
- 14. The holders of the (sacrificial) ladles, the ministrant priests of the man (who institutes the rite), have repaired to the bright and most excellent place of the maternal (earth): offerers of the oblation, they foster the tender infant, (AGNI), with worship, as people rub (the limbs of a child to promote his) existence.
- 15. Married pairs, worn by devout rites, jointly offer abundant sacrificial food, AGNI, to thee who art mighty: may each individual divinity be successfully invoked by me: let them not take us into unfavourable thought.
- May we ever, gods, enjo great and uninterrupted felicity.
- 17. May we ever be participant of the unprecedented, joy-conferring, and well-guiding protection of the Ashwins: bring to us, immortal (Ashwins), riches, male progeny, and all good things.

V. 3. 12.

The deities are the same; the Richi is Avarrana of the race of Karuvara; the metre of the fourteenth and fifteenth verses is Trishtable, of the rest Jaguti.

- I. In like manner as the ancient (sages), those our predecessors, as all sages, and those of the present period, (have obtained their wishes by his praise), so do thou by praise extract (my desires) from him who is the oldest and best (of the gods), who is seated on the sacred grass, who is cognizant of heaven, coming to our presence, vigorous, swift, victorious, for by such praises thou exaltest him.
- 2. Do thou, (INDRA), who art radiant in heaven, spread through the regions, for the good (of mankind), those the beautiful (waters) of the unyielding cloud: doer of good deeds, thou art the preserver (of men), not (destined) for their detriment: thou art superior to all delusions; thy name abides in the world of truth.
- 3. He, (AGNI), is associated with the perpetual oblation that is the true (source of good); the sustainer of all, he is of unrestricted movement, the offerer (of burnt-offerings), the cherisher of strength; gliding especially over the sacred grass, the showever (of benefits); an infant, a youth, exempt from decay, whose place is among plants.
- 4. These well-combined rays (of the sun) are descending with intent to proceed on the path (of the sacrifice), amplifiers of the ceremony for this (its institutor): operating with these swift-moving, all-regulating rays, he. (ADITYA), steals the waters (that flow) in low places.
- 5. Object of honest sulogium, (Auxi), thou shinest amongst the reciters of thy praises when the Soma is received at its effusion by the wooden (cups), and thou, accepting (the beverage), art animated by the heart-affecting (praises): giver of life, increase in the sacrifice thy protecting flames.

- Such as (the deity) is beheld, such is he said (to be):
  they abide with concentrated splendour in the waters:
  (may they bestow) upon us honourable and ample (riches), great energy, numerous male offspring, and undecaying vigour.
- 7. The sage SCRYA, advancing, accompanied by his bride, (the dawn), proceeds boldly, intent on combat with his enemies: may be on whom riches are dependent, secure our entire felicity, (and grant) a brilliant and everywhere protecting mansion.
- 8. The (pious man) proceeds to thee, most excellent (of the gods, who art indicated) by the sign of this moving (revolution); who art hymned by the Riskis in whose praises thy name (is glorified); he obtains that blessing by his devotion, on whatsoever (his desire) has been fixed; and he also, who of his own accord offers (worship), acquires abundant (reward).
- 9. The chiefest of these (our praises) proceed to the ocean-like sun; that chamber of sacrifice fails not in which (his praises) are prolonged; there the heart's desire of the worshipper is not disappointed where the mind is known to be attached to the pure (sun).
- 10. He verily (is to be glorified): let us, with the plessant thoughts of KSHTRA. MANASA, AVADA, YAJATA. SADBRI, and AVATRARA, fill up the invigorating food, (the portion) to be shared by the wise.

- 11. Swift is the excessive and girth-distending inebristion of Vishwavana, Yajata, and Mayin; (by drinking) of these (juices) they urge one another to drink: they find the copious draught the prompt giver of intexication.
- 12. May Sadaprina, Yajata, Bahuvrikta, Shrutavit, Tarva, associated with you, destroy your foes; the Riski obtains his desires in both (worlds), and shines brightly, whenever he adores with well-mingled (offerings and praises) the host (of heaven).
- 13. Sutambiana is the ministrant priest of the institutor of the sacrifice, the causer of the upward ascent of all holy rites: the milch-cow offers juicy (milk); the milk is distributed: announcing this in order, (Avatsana) studies (the holy texts) without repose.
- 14. Him who is ever vigilant, holy verses desire: to him who is ever vigilant sacred songs proceed: him who is ever vigilant the Soma thus addresses, I am always abiding in thy fellowship.
- 15. Agni is ever vigilant, and him holy verses desire; Agni is ever vigilant, and to him sacred songs proceed; Agni is ever vigilant, and him the Soma thus addresses, I am ever abiding in thy fellowship.

ANUVAKA IV.

V. 4. 1.

The deities are the Vennwadevas; the High in Sadapuna; the metre is Trickfalk.

 (Indba) recovered (the hidden cattle), hurling his thunderbolt from heaven at the prayers of the Angirasas; the rays of the approaching dawn are spread around; the divine sun, scattering the clustered gloom, has risen and set open the doors of (the habitations of) men.

- 2. The sun distributes his radiance as if it was a substance: the parent of the rays of light, (the dawn), knowing his approach, comes from the spacious (firmament): the rivers with running waters flow, breaking down their banks: the heaven is stable like a well-constructed pillar.
- 3. To me, when offering praise, as to an ancient author of sacred songs, the burthen of the cloud (descends); the cloud parts (with its burthen); the sky performs (its office): the assiduously worshipping Angurasas are exhausted by much (adoration).
- Indra and Agri, I invoke you for my salvation with well-uttered words, agreeable to the gods; for verily, sages excelling in sacrifice, and diligently adoring, worship you with sacred songs, prompt as the Maruts (in devotion).
- 5. Come to-day quickly: let us be engaged in pious acts: let us entirely annihilate the hostile: let us keep off all sacred enemies: let us hasten to the presence of the institutor of the rite.
- 6. Come, friends, let us celebrate that solemn rite which was effectual in setting open the (secret) stalls of the (stolen) cattle; by which Manu overcame Vishishipra; by which the merchant, going to the wood (for it), obtained the water.
- 7. At this sacrifice the stone (set in motion) by the hands (of the priests) makes a noise, whereby the ninemonths ministrants celebrated the ten-months worship; when Sarama, going to the ceremony, discovered the cattle, and Anguras rendered all the rites effective.

- 8. When all the Angirasas, on the opening of this adorable dawn, came in contact with the (discovered) cattle, then milk and the rest were offered in the august assembly, for Sarama had found cows by the path of truth.
- 9. May Surya, lord of seven steeds, arrive, for he has a distant goal (to reach) by a tedious route: fleet as a hawk he pounces upon the offered (sacrificial) food; ever young and far-seeing, he shines, moving amidst rays of light.
- 10. Surva has ascended above the glistening water, as soon as he has put to his bright-backed steeds: sage (worshippers) have drawn him, like a ship, across the sea: the waters, hearing his commands, have come down.
- 11. I offer to you, (gods), for the sake of water, an all-bestowing sacrifice, whereby the nine-months ministranta have completed the ten-months rite: may we, by this sacrifice, be the protected of the gods: may we, by this sacrifice, cross over the boundaries of sin.

V. 4. 2. 96

The duities of the first six stances are the Viriwannevan, of the last two the wives of the gods; the Rishi is Pharmanarra; the metre of the second and eighth stances is Tricktobb, of the rest Joyati.

 The sage, (Pratikshatra), has, of his own accord, attached himself to the burthen (of sacrifice), like a horse (to a chariot): I support that transcendent and preservative load: I do not desire release from it, nor yet its reiterated imposition; the sage, going first, conducts (men) by the right path.

- Agni. Indra. Varuna, Mitra, gods, confer (upon us) strength: or, company of the Maruts, or Vishnu, (bestow it): and may both the Nasatyas, Rudra, the wives of the gods, Pushan, Bhaga, Saraswati, be pleased (by our adoration).
- 3. I invoke for protection Indra and Aont, Mitra and Varuna, Aditi, Swar, Earth. Henres, the Maruts, the clouds, the waters, Vishnu, Pushan, Brahmanaspatt, and Savith.
- 4. Or may Vishnu grant us felicity, or the innoxious wind, or Some the bestower of riches; or may the Ribbus, the Ashwins, Twashtri, or Vibitwan be lavourably disposed to our enrichment.
- 5. Or may the adorable, heaven abiding company of the Marcurs, come to us to take their seats on the sacred grass; or may BRIHASPATI, PUSHAN, VARUNA, MITRA. ARYAMAN, bestow upon us domestic happiness.
- 6. Or may the glorious mountains, the beneficent rivers, be to us for our preservation; may Bhaga, the apportioner of wealth, come with abundance and protection; may this wide-pervading April hear my invocation.
- 7. May the wives of the gods, desiring (our homage), defend us: may they so protect us that (we may obtain) vigorous (offspring) and abundant food: whether terrestrial, or those in charge of the waters (in the firmament), do you, goddesses, earnestly invoked, bestow upon us felicity.

8. Or may the goddesses, the wives of the gods, accept (the offering): INDRANI, AGNAYI, the radiant ASHWINI, RODASI, VARUNANI, may each hear (our prayer): may the goddesses partake (of the oblation): may the (personified) season of the wives of the gods, accept it.

V. 4. 3.

The deities are the Vringwangyan: the Highl is Pratinatus; the metre is Trisblubb.

- Arousing (men to their labours), the adorable (Dawn) comes from the heaven, a mighty mother, the awakener of her daughter (earth); pious, ever young, and glorified, (she comes), when invoked, to the chamber of sacrifice with the protecting (gods).
- The rays (of light) extending round, fulfilling their duty (of bringing on the day), abiding in contact with the orb of the immortal (sun), unlimited and diffusive, spread everywhere through heaven and earth.
- 3. The showerer (of rain), the shedder of dew, the radiant and quick-going (car) has entered the region of the paternal east: the many-tinted and pervading (luminary) proceeds to both extremities of the firmament, (and so) preserves (the world).
- 4. The four (chief priests) sustain him (with oblations and praises), seeking their own welfare: the ten (regions of space) invigorate him, their embryo, to travel (his daily course): his three elementary rays swiftly traverse the boundaries of the sky.
- 5 (Behold), men, this indescribable form from which the rivers (spring), and where the waters dwell; which (form, the firmament), the two, (day and night), associated and equally allied, as well as other (sensons), born (of it, as of a parent), here and there sustain.

- 6. To him (worshippers) multiply praises and acts of adoration: for (him as for) a son, the (divine) mothers weave garments (of light): rejoicing in the contact of their impregnation, the wives of the sun, (the solar rays), come to our presence by the path of the sky.
- 7. May this (hymn), MITRA and VARUNA, be valued (by you): may it, AoNi, be valued (by thee) as the means to us of happiness unmixed: may we (thence) obtain stability and permanence: reverence be to thee, radiant and mighty asylum (of the universe).

V. 4. 4.

The deities as before; the Riski is PRATIBILARY; the metre Jagoti.

- I. When may we offer adoration to the benevolent splendour, strong in its own (strength), self-sustaining with food, deserving of worship; when the delusive (energy of AGNI), investing (the heavens), spreads the waters above the clouds over the unbounded firmament.
- 2. These dawns diffuse the consciousness that is apprehended by pious men, and (overspread) the whole world with uniform, investing (light): the devout man disregards the dawns which have turned back, and (those which) are to come, and improves (his understanding) by those which have proceeded.
- (Animated) by the libations offered by day and by night, (INDRA) sharpens his vast thunderbolt against the beguiler (VRITEA); he whose hundred (rays) attend him in his own abode, sending away, and bringing back (revolving) days.

- 4. (I behold) the practice of that (Aoxi) as of a deputy: I celebrate the host (of rays) of that (resplendent) form, (designed) for the enjoyment (of mankind): if he be with (the worshipper), he bestows upon the man who invokes him at a sacrifice such opulence as a mansion abounding with food.
- 5. Blazing with his (fiery) tongue in the four quarters (of the horizon) he proceeds (to the sacrifice), wearing beautiful (lustre), the disperser of darkness, extirpating foes: we know him not (as endowed) with manhood, whereby this adorable Savirui bestows desirable (wealth).

V. 4. 5. 49

The delties are the same ; the Rishi is PRATURARDA; the metre is Trishbob.

- For you, (worshippers), I approach to-day the divine SAVITRI and BHAGA, the distributors of precious (wealth) amongst men: Ashwins, (leaders of rites), enjoyers of many (good things), desiring your friendship, I solicit your daily presence.
- 2. Knowing the approach of the expeller (of the foes of the gods from heaven), worship the divine Savirra with holy hymns: praise him with reverence, distinguishing him as distributing precious (treasures) amongst men.
- 3. Pushan, Bhaga, Adiri, bestow (severally) excellent viands: the fierce (sun) robes (h'mself with radiance):

the good-looking (deities), Indra. Visunu, Varuna, Mitra, Agni, give birth to happy days.

- 4. May the irreproachable Savirui (grant) us that desirable (wealth): may the flowing rivers hasten to (convey) it to us; for which purpose I, the ministering priest of the sacrifice, repeat (pious praises): affluent in food, may we be the lords of (manifold) riches.
- 5. May ample wealth devolve upon those who have presented victims to the Vasus, and upon those who have repeated praises to MITRA and VARUNA: confer upon them, (gods), felicity, and may we rejoice in the protection of heaven and earth.

V. 4. 6.

The deities as before: the Rishi is Swart: the metre is Annohtable, except in the fifth starts, in which it is Paralti.

- Let every man solicit the friendship of the divine leader (of heaven, the sun): let every man desire (of him) riches: let him request affluence (wherewith) to nourish (his descendants).
- Divine (leader of heaven), these (worshippers) are thine, and (so are they) who praise these (other gods); these (both) we associate with opulence, we (seck) to unite with (our) desires.
- Worship, therefore, the leaders (of our rites), our guests, (the gods), and the wives (of the deities): may the (divine) discriminator drive to a distance every adversary, (and all our) enemies.
- Whence the victim fit to be bound, the subject (of the sacrifice), has been stationed (at the sacrificial) post): he, (Savirra), with mind well disposed towards the worshipper, the donor of dwellings and descendants is like a elever wife, the bestower (of wealth).

5. Leader (of heaven), may this thy protecting chariot, laden with riches, (come for our) happiness; praisers of the honoured (Savitra), we glorify him for felicity through well-being; praisers of the gods, we glorify (them).

V. 4. 7.

The deities and Richi as before; the metre of the first four stauras is Gaputri, of the next six Ushnih, of the next three Trisbush, and of the last Anushtubh.

 Come. Acxi, with all the protecting deities, to drink the libation: come with the gods.

 (Gods who are) devontly praised and worshipped in truth, come to the sacrifice, and drink the libation with the tongue of AGNI.

3. Sage and aderable Agnt, come with the wise and early-stirring divinities to drink the Some libation.

 This Soma juice, effused into the ladles, is poured out into the vase, acceptable to INDRA and VAYU.

 Come. VAYU. propitions to the offerer of the libation, to partake of the sacrificial food, and drink of the effused juice.

 INDRA and VAYU, you ought to drink of these libations: be gratified by them, benevolent (divinities), and partake of the sacrificial food.

7. The Some juices mixed with curds are poured out to INDRA and to VAYU: the sacrificial visuals proceed to you as rivers flow downwards.

- Accompanied by all the gods, accompanied by the Ashwins, and by Ushas, come. Agni, and, like Arm, delight in the libation.
- Accompanied by MITRA and VARUNA, accompanied by Soma and VISHNU, come, Agni, and, like ATRI, delight in the libation.
- 10. Accompanied by ADF A and the VASUS, accompanied by INDEA and by VAYU, come, AGNL and, like ATRL delight in the libation.
- 11. May the Ashwins contribute to our prosperity:
  may Bhaga, and the divine Aditi (contribute) to (our) prosperity: may the irresistible Vishnu, the scatterer (of foes), bestow upon us prosperity: may the conscious Heaven and Earth (bestow upon us) prosperity.
- 12. We glorify VAYU for prosperity, Soma for prosperity, he who is the protector of the world: (we praise) Brihaspart (attended by) all the companies (of the deities), for prosperity, and for our prosperity may the Address be ours.
- 13. May all the gods be with us to-day for our prosperity; may Agnr, the benefactor of all men, and giver of dwellings. (be with us) for (our) prosperity; may the divine Ribbus protect us for (our) prosperity; may RUDBA preserve us from iniquity for (our) prosperity.
- 14. Mitra and Varuna, grant us prosperity: Path (of the firmament), and Goddess of riches, (grant us) prosperity: may Indra and Agni (grant us) prosperity: Aditi, bestow prosperity upon us.

15. May we ever follow prosperously our path, like the sun and the moon: may we be associated with a requiting grateful and recognisant (kinsman).

V. 4. 8.

The deities are the Manura; the Richt is Survayanuwa; the metre of the eixth and seventh stauras is Pundti, of the rest Anushinka.

- Offer worship with perseverance, Shyavashwa, to the praise-deserving Maruts; they who are adorable and delight in the daily offered and inoffensive sacrificial food.
- They are the firm friends of steady vigour, who, proceeding resolute on their way, willingly protect (our) numerous (descendants).
- Gliding along, and shedding moisture, they pass through the nights: therefore we now celebrate the might of the Martins, manifested in both heaven and earth.
- 4. We enjoin you. (priests), to offer earnestly praise and sacrifice to the Makurs, who, through all human ages, protect the mortal worshipper from harm.
- Offer sacrifice to the adorable Maruts, who (have come) from heaven, who are worthy of worship, munificent leaders (of rites), and possessors of unequalled strength.
- 6. Leaders (of the rains), the mighty Marurs shine with brilliant ornaments and weapons, and hurl javeline (at their foes, the clouds): the lightnings, like roaring (torrents), daily follow the Marurs: the radiance of the resplendent (cohort) spontaneously breaks forth.
- The Marurs, who are of the earth are augmented, so are those in the vast firmament: they increase in the force of the rivers, and in the aggregate of the spacious heaven.

8. Glorify the truth-invigorated and infinite strength of the Marurs, for they, the leaders (of the rains), gliding along, are labouring voluntarily for (our) good,

9. Whether they (abide) on the Parushni (river), or, purifying (all), they clothe themselves with light, or whether they break through the clouds with strength by the wheels of their chariots.

10. (Whether), following the paths that lead (to us), or that spread diversely, or those that sink into the hollows (of the mountain), or those that extend smoothly, they, (however) scattered, accept the sacrifice for my benefit, (when invoked by these appellations).

11. Now, leaders (of the rains), they support (the world): now, blending together, they bear (the oblation) : now, situated remote, (they aphold distant objects); so may their manifold forms be manifest.

12. The reciters of sacred metres, desirous of water, and celebrating (the MARUTS), have drawn them to (provide) a well (for GOTAMA); some of them. (invisible) as thieves, have been my defenders; some have been (obvious) to view through the light (of life).

13. Glorify, Rishi, with grateful praise, the company of the Marces, who are manifest, bright with lightning lances, who are wise, and the creators (of all things).

14. Approach. Rishi, with offerings and with praise, the company of the Manurs like a friend; come, sustaining (MARUTS), with your strength, from heaven or (any other region), glorified by our hymns.

- 15. Glorifying them promptly, desiring not to bring (other) deities to (his) presence, let (the worshipper) associate his gifts with those wise (divinities) renowned for their velocity, and distributors (of rewards).
- 16. To me, inquiring of their kindred, the sage (Maruts) have uttered a reply; they have declared Prishn; (to be their) mother; the mighty ones have declared the foodbestowing Rudha (to be their) father.
- 17. May the seven times seven all-potent (MARUTS, aggregated as) a single troop, bestow upon me hundreds (of cattle): may I possess wealth of cows, renowned upon the (banks of) the Yamuna; may I possess wealth of horses.

V. 4. 9.

The deities and Riski as before; the metre varies; that of the first, fifth, tenth, eleventh, and fifteenth verses is Kakubh; of the sixth, seventh, much, thirteenth, and fourteenth is Sambrikati; of the eighth and twelfth Gayatri; of the occount Brikati; of the third Asusktubh; and of the fourth Paramaknik.

- 1. Who knows the birth of these (MARCTS)? who has formerly been (participant) of the enjoyments of the Maruts (by whom) the spotted deer are harnessed (to their chariots)?
- Who has heard them, when standing in their cars, (declare) whither they go ! upon what liberal worshapper do their kindred rains descend together with manifold food !
- To me have they spoken; they who came to me with radiant steeds to (drink) the exhibiting beverage; to me (they have said), when beholding them, who are the formless leaders (of rites), and friends of man, repeat our praise.

- (The praise of them) who are all self-irradiating, splendid in ornaments, in arms, in garlands, in breastplates, in bracelets, in chariots, in bows.
- I contemplate your chariots, munificent Manurs, with delight, like wandering lights in the rains.
- 6. Leaders (of the rain), munificent givers, they cause that which is the treasury (of water) to fall from the sky for (the benefit of) the donor (of the offering): they let hoose the rain cloud, and the shedders of rain spread (everywhere) with (abundant) water.
- 7. The gliding (torrents), issuing (from the clouds)overspread the firmament with water, as milch-cows (yield milk), and like rapid horses let loose upon the road, the rivers rush in various directions.
- 8. Come, Maruts, from heaven, from the firmaments, or from this (earth); tarry not far off.
- Let not the Rasa, the Anitabha, the Kubha, or the wide-roving ocean delay you: let not the watery Sarays oppose you: may the happiness of your (approach) be ours.
- 10. I praise that brilliant company of the Marrys, who have your strength of recent chariots, you whom the rains attend.
- Let us wait with sacred praises and holy rites upon your several strength, and separate troop, and individual company.
- 12. To what well-born and oblation-giving (worshipper) will the MARUTS proceed to-day in this their car?

- 13. With the same (goodwill) that you bestow imperishable grain-seed upon a son or grandson, bestow it upon us, for we ask of you life-sustaining and auspicious wealth.
- 14. May we overcome our secret and reviling adversaries. having departed from iniquity by good deeds: may we possess. Manurs, through the rain (sent by you), unmixed happiness, water, cattle, and herbs.
- 15. Renowned (host of) Maruts, leaders (of rites), that mortal is favoured by the gods, and blessed with progeny, whom you protect: may we be such as he is.
- 16. Praise the givers of enjoyment, (the MARUTS), at the sacrifice of this worshipper, (for they) delight in (pious praise), like cattle in fodder: wherefore call upon them as if upon old friends; praise them, desirous of praise, with a sacred hymn.

V. 4. 10. 54

The deities and Riski as before; the metre is Jagati, in the fourteenth stanza Trisktobi.

- I. Offer praise to the company of the Maruts, the self-irradiating, the precipitators of mountains: present liberal oblations to the assungers of heat, to those who come from the sky, to whom selemn rites are familiar, to the givers of abundant food.
- 2. Your (cohort), MARUTS, is conspicuous, mighty, shedding water and augmenting food: yoking your hotses (to your ears), spreading everywhere, and combined with the lightning, the triple (stationed company) mars aloud, and the circumambient waters fail upon the earth.

- 3. The Marcus (appear) radiant with lightning, leaders (of the rain), armed with weapons of adamant, blazing with the wind, the precipitators of mountains, the repeated distributors of water, wielders of the thunderbolt, roaring in concert, combining (to send rain), and of exceeding strength.
- 4. Powerful Rudhas, you urge on the nights and days, the firmament and the worlds; agitators (of all things), you tose the clouds like ships (in the sea), so (you throw down) the strong places (of the enemy); but, Maruts, you do no harm.
- 5. Your prowess, Maruis, has spread wide your glory as the sun (sends afar his) radiance, or the white (horses of the gods travel far ) in their course; of unbounded lustre, you clove the cloud withholding the waters.
- 6. Manura, dispensers of rain, your strength is manifested when, shaking the water-laden cloud, you let loose the shower: conjointly propitiated, conduct us by an easy path leading to prosperity, as the eye (shows the way).
- The sage, or the sovereign, whom you, Maruts, direct, is never overcome nor slain; he perishes not, nor suffers pain, nor undergoes injury, nor are his riches or his safety imperilled.
- 8. Lords of the Nigut steeds, overcomers of multitudes leaders (of rites), radiant as the Adityas, are the dispensers of water: when sovereign lords, they fill the clouds, and, loud sounding, moisten the earth with sweet (watery) sustenance.
- 9. This wide-extended earth is for the Marurs; the spacious heaven is for the spreading winds; the paths of the firmament are provided (for their course); for them the expanding clouds quickly bestow (their gifts).

- 10. Manuts of combined strength, leaders of the universe, guides of heaven, when the sun has risen you rejoice (in the Soma beverage), then your rapid steeds know no relaxation, but quickly you reach the limits of this road (to the sacrifice).
- 11. Lances (gleam), Manurs, upon your shoulders, anklets on your feet, golden cuirasses on your breasts, and pure (waters shine) in your chariots; lightnings blazing with fire glow in your hands, and golden tiaras are towering on your heads.
- 12. Maruts, when moving, you agitate the heaven of unchecked radiance, and (stir) the bright water: when you combine your energies and are shining brilliantly, and when purposing to send down rain, you utter a loud shout.
- 13. May we, who are possessed of chariots, intelligent Marurs, become (proprietors) of wealth, comprising food bestowed by you; of wealth that vanishes not, as Tibrya (declines not) from the sky; therefore, Marurs, gratify us with infinite (riches).
- 14. You bestow, MARUTS, wealth and enviable posterity; you protect the sage learned in the Soma: you grant horses and food to (me) the ministrant priest; you render a prince prosperous.
- 15. Therefore do I solicit wealth of you, who are prompt to grant protection, whereby we may multiply our descendants, as the sun (spreads wide his rays): be propitiated, Maruts, by this my praise, by the efficacy whereof may we pass over a hundred winters.

V. 4. 11. 5 5

The deities and Riski as before; the metre of the last verm is Trisktable, of the reet Jagati.

- The adorable Manurs, armed with bright lances and cuirassed with golden breast-plates, enjoy vigorous existence: may the cars of the quick-moving (Manurs) arrive for our good.
- 2. Marces, you have of yourselves maintained your vigour according as you judge (fit): you shine most mighty and vast, and you pervade the firmament with your power: may the cars of the quick-moving (Marces) arrive for our good.
- 3. Born simultaneously, mighty, co-dispensers of moisture, they have grown exceedingly in glory; leaders (of rites), and radiant (are they) as the rays of the sun; may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 4. Your might, MARUTS, is to be glorified: it is to be contemplated like the orb of the sun: sustain us ever in immortality: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- 5. You send (the rain), MARUTS, from the firmament: charged with the waters you shower down the rain: destroyers of foes, your milch kine are never dry: may the cars of the quick-moving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.
- When you yoke your spotted mares to the poles (of your chariots), you lay aside your golden breast-plates.

for you dissipate all hostility: may the cars of the quickmoving (MARUTS) arrive for our good.

- 7. Let not the mountains, let not the rivers, arrest you; whither you purpose, (Maruts), thither repair, and compass heaven and earth; may the cars of the quick-moving (Maruts) arrive for our good.
- 8. Whatever (rite has been addressed to you). Maruts, of old; whatever is recent; whatever (hymn) is recited. Vasus, whatever prayer is repeated, do you be cognizant of all: may the cars of the quick-moving (Maruts) arrive for our good.
- Send us felicity. Manurs; harm us not: bestow upon us exceeding happiness: reward our adoration by your friendship; may the cars of the quick-moving (Manurs) arrive for our good.
- 10. Do you, MARUTS, conduct us to opulence: propitiated by our praises, extricate us from sin: accept, adorable (MARUTS), our offered oblation, and may we be she possessors of riches.

V. 4. 12. 56

The deities and Riski as before; the third and eleventh verses are in the Satobrikati, the rest in the Brikati metre.

- I invoke. Agni, the victorious company (of the Maruts) decorated with brilliant ornaments: (I invoke them), the people of the Maruts, to descend to-day from above the shining heaven.
- In whatever manner thou honourest the (Makurs Agni), in thy heart, may they come to me as benefactors:

gratify, (by oblations), those fierce-looking Maruts, who most promptly come to thy invocations.

- 3. As the (people of the) earth having a powerful lordhave recourse to him when oppressed (by others), so comes (the host of the Makurs) exulting to us; your company, Makurs, active as fire, is as difficult to be resisted as a formidable ox.
- They who with ease destroy (their foes) by their prowess, like horses difficult to be restrained, they send down by their movements the vast and sounding waterladen cloud.
- Rise up (Marcus): verily by my praises I invoke the mighty and unpreceded (troop) of these exalted (Marcus) like a heap of waters.
- 6. Yoke the bright steeds to the car; yoke the red steeds to the cars; yoke the swift pair of horses to bear the burthen; the strong bearing to bear the burthen.
- 7. And let not that horse, bright-shining, loud-neighing, of graceful form, who has been placed (in harness), delay you, Manurs, on your journey: urge him on in the car.
- We invoke the food-laden chariot of the Maruts, in which Rodasi stood with the Maruts, bearing the delicious (waters).
- I invoke that, your cohort, gracing the chariots brilliant and adorable, amidst which the rain-bestowing (goddess), of goodly origin, and auspicious, is worshipped together with the Maruts.

ANUVAKA V.

V. 5, 1.

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre of the first six versus is Japon, of the two last Trishlubb.

- Rudras, servants of Indra. mutually kind, riding in golden cars, come to the accessible (sacrifice): this our praise is addressed to you: (come to us as you came) from heaven. (bringing) oozing water to the thirsty (Gotama). longing for moisture.
- Intelligent Marcus, you are armed with swords, with lances, with bows, with arrows, with quivers; you are well mounted and have handsome chariots; some of PRISHINI, you are well armed; come for our good.
- 3. You agitate the clouds in the sky: (you give) wealth to the donor (of oblations): through fear of your approach the forests bow down: sous of PRISHNI, you incense the earth when, for the purpose of (sending) water, you, fierce (MARUTS), yoke your spotted steeds.
- 4. The Maruts, radiant with light, purifiers of the rain, like twins of goodly aspect and graceful form, masters of tawny and of ruddy steeds, devoid of guile, thinners (of foes), and vast in magnitude as the sky.
  - 5. Shedders of abundant showers, wearers of ornaments, munificent, of brilliant aspect, of inexhaustible wealth, well descended by birth, wearing golden breast-plates, entitled to adoration, (coming) from heaven, accept the ambrosial oblation.
  - Lances rest, Maruts, upon your shoulders; strength (of) foe-destroying power is seated in your arms; golden (tiarns) are on your heads, weapons are placed in your chariots, all glory is assembled in your limbs.

- Maruts, bestow upon us affluence, comprehending cattle, horses, cars, treasure, and male descendants; sons of Rudra, grant us distinction; may I ever enjoy your divine protection.
- 8. Ho. Marcurs, leaders (of rites), be propitious to us, you who are infinitely opulent, immortal, shedders of rain, renowned for truth, wise, young, greatly glorified, and worshipped with copious oblations.

V. 5. 2.

The deities and Risks as before; the metre is Trisklubb.

- I praise to-day that brilliant company of the adorable Marurs, lords of swift horses, who pass along in strength, who, self-radiant, preside over the ambrosial rain.
- 2. Adore, priest, the resplendent and powerful company, whose arms (are decorated) with bracelets, whose function is the agitation (of the trees), who are wise, and by whom wealth is conferred: they who are bestowers of felicity, whose greatness is unbounded: glorify the opulent leaders (of rites).
- May the universal Marurs, who arge on the rain, come to you to-day laden with water: Marurs, who are wise and young, be pleased by this fire which is kindled for you.
- Adorable Maruts, you cause (a son) to be born to the man (who worships you), a ruler, an over-comer of fors, and modelled by Vibriwan: from you, Maruts, comes a valiant descendant, strong-fisted, mighty-armed from you (he acquires) an excellent steed.

- 5. Lake the spokes of a wheel, none (of you) are inferior (to the rest), but equal as days (of like duration); the sons of PRISHNI are born all alike, none inferior in splendour; rapid in speed, the MARCIS, of their own free favour, send down (the rains).
- 6. When. Maruts, you come with stout-axled cars drawn by spotted steeds, then the waters descend, the forests are damaged, and the bright showever (of the rain), influenced by the solar rays, may emit a downward sound.
- 7. On their approach the earth becomes capable of fertility, and they deposit in her water as their germ, as the husband generates the embryo of the child; they have harnessed their horses fleet as the wind; the sons of Rudka have emitted their perspiration, (the rain).
- 8. Ho. Maruts, leaders (of rites), he propitious to us, you who are infinitely opulent, immortal, shedders of rain, renowned for truth, wise, young, greatly glorified, and worshipped with copious oblations.

V. 5. 3.

Deities and Bishs as before; the meter is Jagati, except in the last verse, in which it is Trishtabh.

 The priest glorifies you, Marcus, for the good of the donor of the oblation: offer worship to the shining (heaven): I bring offerings to the earth: they, the Marcus, scatter the rapid (rain); they traverse the firmament; they combine their own radiance with (that of) the clouds.

- 2. From their approach the earth trembles with fear, as a crowded boat goes quivering (through the water): visible from afar, they are recognized by their movements: the Manurs, leaders (of rites), pass between (heaven and earth) to the selemu sacrifice.
- 3. You bear, for your decoration, an excellent (diadem) like the horn of cattle: as the sun, the eye (of day, dispenses light), so (are you diligent) in the distribution of the rains: graceful are you, and rapid as horses, and, like (pious) mortals, you, leaders (of rites), consider (holy ceremonies) for their glory.
- 4. Who may exalt the great excellencies of you who are adorable! who may (offer you fitting) praises! who (glorify your) manly (deeds)! for you make the earth tremble like a ray (of light) when you confer the gift (of rain) for (the diffusion of) fertility.
- Resplendent as steeds, of one kindred, they engage in combat like valiant heroes; like (prosperous) men, they, the leaders (of rites), have increased (in power), and cover the eye of the sun with showers.
- 6. None of them are older, none younger (than the others): the destroyers of (foes), none hold a middle (rank), but all excel in glory: honourable by birth, having Prishni for your mother, do you, Martis, favourable to man, come from heaven to our presence.
- 7. Like birds (that fly) in rows they pass along in their strength above the vast summit (of the sky) to the ends of the firmament; their horses have caused the waters of the cloud to descend, as both (gods and mortals) know.

8. May the heaven and the earth yield (rain) for our sustenance: may the wonderfully bounteous dawns exert themselves (for our good): may these sons of RUDRA, lauded, Rishi, (by thee), send down the celestial rain.

V. 5. 4.

The derities are the Maruts, especially as associated with Aust; the Rishs is as before; the metro of the seventh and eighth verses is Japani; of the rest Trishtubh.

- I adore the protecting Agri with hymns: may he, propitiated on this occasion, approve of our acts:
  I offer (worship with praises), intended to obtain food, as if (proceeding) with cars (to the goal), circumambulating
  (the fire): may I exalt the praise of the Maruts.
- Fierce Maruts, sons of Rudra, who ride in easy chariots (drawn by) celebrated steeds, (at your coming) the woods bow down with fear, the earth trembles, and the mountains (shake).
- 3. The mountain, vast and lofty (though it be), is alarmed at your noise, and the summit of the firmament trembles when, lance-armed Manuts, you are sporting: you rush along together like waters.
- 4. Like wealthy bridegrooms who have decorated their persons with golden (ornaments) and purifying waters, so the noble and powerful Manurs, associated together in their chariots, have made great (preparation) in their several persons for their embellishment.
- 5. They are brothers, of whom no one is the elder, no one the younger, but who grew up together for their mutual prosperity: may their father, Rudra, ever youthful, the doer of good deeds, and Passani, (their mother), easy to be milked, grant favourable days for (the sake of) the Maruts.

6. Auspicious Manurs, whether you abide in the upper, the middle, or the lower heaven, (come). Runnas, to us from thence; and do thou. Agai, accept the oblation which this day we offer,

7. Maruts, who are omniscient, since you and Agni abide above the summits of the upper (region) of the aky, do you who cause (your enemies) to tremble, and are the consumers of (our) foes, do you, being pleased, bestow upon the sacrificer who offers you oblations desirable wealth.

8. Agni, drink the Some-juice, rejoicing, along with the Maruts, resplendent, adorable, associated in troops, purifying all, animating and long-lived: drink, Vaishwanana, who art identified with the ancient emblem (of flame).

V. 5, 5,

The deities are various: these of the first four, and the eleventh to the mixteenth verses are the Marcurs; the several persons whose names occur in the other stanzas are considered to be their divinities; the Eichi is Shyayamawa; the metre of the fifth stanza is Associable, of the ninth Sabdriñati, of the rest Gaystri: the occasion of the hymn, according to the Scholinst, is a wonderful old story, related by those learned in source fore: a priest of the family of Aym, named Archananas, having been employed as Hotel by the Rajis, Raymaviri, the son of Darbuya, saw at the commonial the daughter of the Rajis, and, being pleased by her appearance, asked her as a wife for his son Shyayama: Raymaviri was disposed to assent, but thought it proper first to consult his queen, who objected to the match that Shyavashwa. was not a Riski, no maiden of their hours having ever been given in marriage to a less maintly personage; to qualify himself, therefore, as a Richi, Shyayashwa engaged in a course of rigorous austerity, and wandered about soliciting alms; among others, he begged alms of SHASHIYASI, the queen of TARANYA Roje, who, conducting him to her husband, said, a Riski has arrived : the Raja replied, treat him with reverence; and Sussurrast, with her husband's permission, gave him a herd of cattle and costly ornaments; the Raja also bestowed upon him whatever he asked for, and then sent him enwards to his younger brother, PHRUMILITA : on his way SHYAVARHWA met the MARUTS, whom he hymned, and was by them acknowledged to be a Richi; he was also made the Seer (draship) or author of Suites of the Veda; RATESVITI then, with the concurrence of his wife, gave him his daughter to wife: this hymn was composed in honour of the benefactors of the Richi.

- 1. Who are you, most excellent leaders (of rites), who come one by one from a region exceedingly remote !
- 2. Where are your horses? where your reins? what is your capability? where are you going? the saddle is on the back (of the steeds), the bridle in their nostrils.
- The goad is (applied) to their flanks: the drivers force them to spread their thighs apart, like women in bringing forth children.
- 4. Heroes, friendly to man, of honourable birth, you are as if blazing with fire.
- She, (Shashiyasi), who has thrown her arms round the hero Taranta, who was eulogized by Shyavashwa, has given me cattle comprising horses, and cows, and hundreds of sheep.
- 6. Shashiyasi, though a female, is more excellent than a man who reverences not the gods, nor bestows wealth.

- For she discerns one who suffers pain, one who is in want, or one desirous (of any thing), and directs her mind towards the gods.
- And, eulogizing (him), I proclaim that the man, her (other) half is, (as it were), uncommended, for he is ever the same in munificent donations.
- Young and affable, she has explained to me, Shyavashwa, the road, and two ruddy horses have borne me to the valiant and renowned Publiminha.
- Who, the son of Vidadashwa, has given me a hundred (head) of cattle, and, like Tabanta, many precious gifts.
- 11. Those (Marcurs) who are brought hither by swift horses, drinking the inebriating juice, receive here glorification.
- 12. They by whose glory heaven and earth are surpassed; who shine splendid in their chariots like the radiant (sun) in the heaven above.
- That company of Marors, ever young, riding in bright chariots, irreproachable, auspicious, motive, unobstructed.
- 14. Who knows of a certainty their (abode), where the intimidators (of their loss) rejoice? born for (the distribution of) water, exempt from defects.
- 15. Desirous of praise, you are the guides (to happiness) of the man who propitiates (you) by this pious rite: you are bearers of invocations to the sacrifice.
- 16. Do you, who are destroyers of the malevolent, abounding in wealth, and entitled to adoration, bestow upon us desirable riches.

17. Bear to Darbhya, oh night, turning away (from me to him), this my enlogy (of the Marurs); convey my praises, goddess, as a charioteer (conveys the contents of his vehicle to their destination).

18. And say on my behalf to RATHAVITI, when the libation is poured out, my love (for your daughter) does not depart.

 This opulent Rathaviti dwells upon the (banks of the) Gomati (river), and has his home on (the skirts of) the (Himulaya) mountains.

V. 5. 6.

- I have beheld the permanent orb of the sun, your (dwelling place), concealed by water, where (the hymns of the pious) liberate (his) steeds; where a thousand rays abide together; the one most excellent of the (embodied) forms of the gods.
- 2. Exceeding is that your greatness. MITRA and VARUNA, whereby the ever moving sun has, through (succeeding) days, milked forth the stationary waters: you augment all the (world-illumining) rays of the self-revolving (sun): the one chariot of you two (perpetually) goes round.
- Royal Mitra and Varuna, you uphold, by your energies, earth and heaven; prompt benefactors, cause the plants to grow, give nourishment to the cattle, send down the min.
- May your easily-harnessed horses bear you both (hither), and with well-guided reins come down; the embodied form of water follows you, the rivers flow as of

- 5. Augmenting the well-known and ample form (of man), in like manner as the sacred grass is preserved by prayer, do you. Mitra and Varuna, who are invigorated by (sacrificial) viands, and abound in food, ascend your car in the midst of the place of sacrifice.
- 6. Be open-handed and benignant to the performer of plous acts, whom you protect in the midst of the place of sacrifice; for you two, who are sovereigns, and free fromwrath, uphold together a mansion of a thousand columns.
- 7. The substance (of their chariot) is of gold; its pillars are of iron, and it shines in the firmament like lightning; may we load the vehicle with the libation in an auspicious place, or in the sacrificial hall, (where the columns) are erected.
- At the break of dawn, at the rising of the sun, ascend, MITRA and VARUNA, your golden-bodied, iron-pillared ear, and thence behold the earth and its inhabitants.
- 9. Munificent Mitra and Varuna, protectors of the universe, (it is yours to grant) exceeding and perfect felicity, such as it is impossible to disturb; bless us with that (felicity), and may we ever be (possessed) of the riches we desire, and be confident of victory (over our enemies).

V. 5. 7.

The deities are Mitta and Varuna; the Riski in Auchananas; the metre is Jagati.

 Guardians of water, observers of truth, you ascend your car in the highest heaven; to him whom you, Mitha and VABUNA, protect, the rain sends down the sweet (shower) from the sky.

- Imperial rulers of this world, you shine, MITRA and VARUNA, at this sacrifice, the beholders of heaven; we ask of you the wealth (that is) rain, and immortality, for your forms traverse earth and heaven.
- 3. Imperial and mighty showerers, lords of heaven and earth, beholders of the universe, you approach, Mitea and Varuna, with variegated clouds to hear the sound (of your praises), and cause the sky to (send down) rain by the power of the emitter of showers.
- Your device, Mitra and Varuna, is manifested in heaven, when the light (that is) the sun, your wonderful weapon, moves (in the firmament): him you invest in the sky with the cloud (and) with rain; and (thy) sweet drops, Parjanya, fall (at their desire).
- 5. The Maruts harness their easy-going chariot, Mutra and Varuna, for (the emission of) water, as a hero (harnesses his war-car); their forms traverse the different spheres to distribute the rain; do you, therefore, supreme rulers, shed upon us water from heaven.
- 6. The cloud, (through your will), MITRA and VARUNA, utters a wonderful sound, indicative of radiance, and announcing (abundant) food: the MARUTS thoroughly invest the clouds with (their) devices, and, (along with them), you two cause the purple and faultless sky to send down rain.
- 7. Sapient Mitra and Varuna, by your office you protect pious rites, through the power of the emitter of showers: you illumine the whole world with water; you sustain the sun, the adorable chariot in the sky.

V. 5. 8. 64

The detties and Riski as before; the metre is danskinkle, except in the last verse, in which it is Paulti.

- We invoke you, MITRA and VARUNA, with this hymn;
   each the discomfiter of foes, the conductor to heaven, like (two herdsmen) driving, by (the strength of their) arms, the herds of cattle before them.
- Do you two, with discriminating hand, bestow apon me, your worshipper, (what I desire); for the desirable felicity (that is given by you) spreads through all lands.
- That I may now pursue the (right) direction, may proceed by the path of Mitra, for all (good things) are aggregated in the happiness, (the gift) of that beloved and benignant (deity).
- 4. May I obtain from you. MITRA and VARUNA, by my praise, such wealth as to excite envy in the dwellings of the rich and the devout.
- Come, Mitra, (come). Varuna, with your splendour to our assembly, and augment (the prosperity) of the affluent (worshipper), and of (those who are) your friends in their respective abodes.
- 6: You. Mitra and Varuna, bring us strength and abundant (food) for (those praises) which (we offer): be largely bountiful to us in food, in riches, in prosperity.
- Deities who are to be worshipped at the sacrifice to the gods, at the (first) shining ray (of light) at dawn.

behold my Some libration poured cut; hasten, with rapid steeds, leaders (of rites), propitious to Archananas.

V. 5, 9. 6

The deities are the same; the Riski is RATABANNA; the metre is Annahlubh.

- He who knows (how to honour you two), amongst the gods, is the performer of good works: let him communicate (that knowledge) to us, he of whom the graceful Varuna or Mitra accepts the landation.
- They two, verily excelling in radiance, royal (deities), who hear (invocations) from the greatest distance, lords of the virtuous, favourers of the sacrifice, are in movement (for the good of) each individual man.
- Approaching you, ancient (divinities). I invoke you together for protection: possessed of good steeds. (we praise you) who are provident to give us food.
- 4. Metra grants even to the sinful (worshipper) the (means of) repairing to his spacious dwelling; the favour of Mitra, the destroyer of foes, is (granted) to (his) adorer.
- 5. May we ever be in the comprehensive guardianship of MITRA, and, free from sin, enjoy, (MITRA), thy protection, being at the same time the children of VARUNA.
- 6. You come, Mitra and Varuna, to this man, and guide him (to his desires): deny us not when we are rich (in offerings): (deny us not), who are (the sons) of Rishis: protect us in the presenting of the libation.

V. 5, 10,

The deities and Rishi as before; the metre is daushtubb.

- Man, endowed with intelligence, (adore) the two deities, the performers of good deeds, the destroyers of foes; offer (oblations) to the adorable accepter of (sacrificial) food, to VARUNA, whose form is water.
- Inasmuch as you two are possessed of irresistible and Asura-subduing strength, therefore has holy sacrifice been established amongst men, as the sun (has been placed) in the sky.

3. We glorify you both, that your chariots may precede ours by a long distance; accepting the pious worship of RATAHAVVA with (his) praises.

- 4. Now. adorable and wonderful deities, (propitiated) by the former (praises) of (me, your) worshipper, do you, who are of pure vigour, consider with approving minds (the adoration) of these men.
- 5. Earth, in thee is alumdant water for the necessities of the Rishis: the two active (deities) dispense by their movements sufficiently copious (rain).
- We and the devout (invoke) you, MITRA and VARUNA, who are far-seeing; may we proceed to your spacious and much frequented kingdom.

v. b. ii. 6

The deities and metre as before: the Richi is YAPATA.

 Divine sons of Aditi. Mitea. Varuna. Aryaman, verily you are possessed, at the present time, of perfect, adorable, vast, exceeding strength.

- When you come. Varuna and Mitra, to the delightful place of sacrifice, then supporters of men, destroyers of foes, you bring felicity.
- MITRA. VARUNA. ARYAMAN, who are possessed of omniscience, are all associated at our rites, as if in (their respective) stations, and protect the worshipper from the malignant.
- 4. They verily are observers of truth, distributors of water, protectors of holy rites amongst men: guides in the right way, liberal donors, and benefactors even of the sinner (who worships them).
- Which of you. Mitra and Varuna, has not been celebrated in (our) praise, for therefore do our thoughts tend towards you; the thoughts of the race of Atri tend towards you.

V. 5, 12,

The deities and Rishi as before; the matre is Gagates,

- Sing loud with lusty praise to MITRA and to VARUNA: (come), mighty deities, to the great sacrifice.
- The Mitra and Varuna, who are both sovereign rulers, originators of the rain, eminent deities among the gods.
- 3. They two are able (to grant us) of great terrestrial and celestial riches: great is your might among the gods.
- 4. Rewarding with rain the holy rite, they favour the zealous worshipper: benevolent deities, may you prosper.
- Senders of rain from heaven, granters of desires, lords of sustenance, suited to the liberal donors (of oblations), they ascend their spacious car.

V. 5, 13,

The deities are the same; the Riski is CHARRY; the metry Trick-

- MITRA and VARUNA, you uphold the three realms of light, the three heavens, the three regions (of the earth), augmenting the force of the vigorous (INDRA), and protecting the imperishable rite.
- MITRA and VARUNA, the cows are full of milk through your (command), and the rivers yield through your (will) sweet water: through you the three radiant receptacles and showevers of rain stand severally in their three spheres.
- 3. I invoke the divine and bright Aditi at dawn, and at mid-day, when the sun is high: I worship you, MITEA and VARUNA, at all seasons, for the sake of riches, for sons and grandsons, for prosperity and happiness.
- 4. I worship you two, divine Adityas, who are upholders of the celestial and terrestrial worlds: the immortal gods impair not, MITRA and VARUNA, your eternal works.

V. 5. 14.

The drities and Rishi as before; the metre is Gayatri.

- May I. Mitra and Varuna, enjoy your favour, through which there is assuredly protection.
- Benignant (deities), may we obtain from you, (who are) such (deities), food for our sustenance: may we: RUDRAS, be yours.
- Protect us with your protections: preserve us with kind preservation: may we, with our descendants, overcome the Dasyus.

 Workers of wondrous deeds, let us not depend upon the bounty of any other (than you), either in our persons, or with our sons and grandsons.

V. 5, 15,

The deities and metre as before; the Sishi is BARDVHIETA.

- MITRA and VARUNA, scatterers of foes, destroyers of enemies, come to this our accessible sacrifice.
- Sagacious Mitra and Varuna, you reign over all: bestow fulness, lords, upon our ancient rites.
- Come, MITRA and VARUNA, to our effused libation, to drink of the Soma of the offerer.

V. 5. 16.

The deities and Rishi as before; the matre is Ushnik.

- We invoke MITRA and VARUNA with hymns, like (our progenitor) ATRI: do you sit down upon the sacred grass to drink the Soma libration.
- Steady are you in your functions, whom men animate by (their) devotion: come and sit down upon the sacred grass to drink the Soma libation.
- May Mitra and Varuna, accept with satisfaction our sacrifice: come and sit down upon the sacred grass to drink the Soma libation.

ANUVAKA VI.

V. 6. L.

The delties are the Asswers; the Riski is PAURA; the metre

- Whether, Ashwins, you are at present far off, whether you are nigh, whether you are (straying) in many places, or whether you are in mid-air, do you, who partake of many offerings, come hither.
- 2. I approach you (to invite you) hither, you who are the encouragers of many; (who are) the achievers of many (great) exploits, most excellent and irresistible: I invoke you, who are most mighty, for protection.
- You have arrested one luminous wheel of (your) ear for illumining the form (of the sun), whilst with the other you traverse the spheres (to regulate) by your power the ages of mankind.
- 4. May the praise, universal (deities), wherewith I land you, be agreeable to you, as offered by this (your worshipper); and do you, who are severally born, and free from blame bestow upon us food.
- When Surva has ascended your ever easy-moving car, then bright-waving, resplendent rays (of light) encompass you.
- 6. Leaders (of rites), ATRI recognized (your benevolence) with (a grateful) mind on account of the relief (you afforded him), when, Nasaryas, through his praise of you, he found the (fiery) heat innocuous.
- Your strong, lofty, moving, ever-progressing (car) has been renowned at sacrifices ever sines; Ashwins, leaders (of rites). Athr was rescued by your acts.

- Mixers of the Some-juice, Rupras, (our) nutritious (adoration) bedows you well with the libation, when you traverse (the limits) of the firmament, and the prepared viands (of the sacrifice) support you.
- Truly have they called you, Ashwins, the bestowers of felicity; such may you be when carnestly invoked to our sacrifice; bountiful bestowers of felicity at our sacrifice.
- 10. May these praises exalting the Asirwixs be productive of happiness, the praises that we fabricate as (a wheelwright) a car: we proclaim aloud fervent adoration.

V. 6. 2. 74

The deities, Riski, and metre as before.

- Divine Address, affluent in praise, descended this day from heaven upon the earth, hear that (laudation) which, liberal showerers (of benefits). Arm ever addresses to you.
- 2. The divine Nasatyas, where are they † where are they heard of in heaven ! to what worshipper do you come ! who may be the associate of your praises †
- 3. To whom do you proceed ! to whom do you repair ? to (go to) whose presence do you harness your car ! by whose prayers are you gratified ? we are auxious for your arrival.
- Pauras, send to Paura the rain-shedding cloud; drive it to him who is engaged in sacrifice, as (hunterschase) a lion in a forest.

- You stripped off (his aged form) like a cuirass from the decrepid Chyavana, so that, when you had rendered him again a youth, he attracted the desires of women.
- 6. A glorifier of you both is here: may we be (retained) in your sight for the sake of prosperity: hear to-day (my invocation): come hither with your protections, you who are affluent in food.
- 7. Who among many mortals has this day (best) propitiated you? what wise man (has best propitiated you) who are reverenced by the wise? what (worshipper has best propitiated you) by sacrifice, you who are affluent in food?
- May your car, Ashwins, the swiftest of the cars (of the gods), come hither well-disposed towards us, the discomfiter of numerous (foes), glorified amongst mem.
- May our repeated adoration of you two, who are desirous of the libation, be productive of felicity: descending to our presence, and exceeding in wisdom, travel with rapid (steeds), swift as two falcons.
- Ashwins, wherever you may be, hear this invocation: the excellent sacrificial offerings, longing for your proximity, reach you.

V. 6. 3. 75

The deities as before; the Riski is Avasyn; the metre is Panific

 The Rishi, your worshipper, Ashwins, graces your beloved chariot, the showerer (of benefits), the vehicle of wealth, with praises: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.

- Passing by (other worshippers), come, Ashwins, hither, so that I may ever overcome all (adversaries): Dashas, riding in a golden chariot, distributors of wealth, propellers of rivers, masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- Come, Ashwins, bring for us precious treasures:
   Rudras, riding in a golden chariot, propitiated (by sacrifice), affluent with food, masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 4. Showerers of wealth, the praise of your worshipper is addressed to your chariot; (to it), as well as to you, does this distinguished, devoted, embedied (adorer) offer sacrificial food: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- With mind attentive (to praise), riding in ears, swiftmoving, listening to invocations, you hastened with your steeds to the single-purposed Chyavana: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 6. Ashwins, leaders (of rites), may your horses, harnessed at will, of wondrous beauty, and of rapid course, bring you hither with good gifts to drink (of the proffered beverage); masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- Ashwins, come hither: Nasatvas, be not unpropitious: invincible lords, come from hidden (regions) to our sacrificial hall: master of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- Invincible Ashwins, lords of water, favour Avasyu, glorifying you at this sacrifice: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.
- 9. The dawn has come: the Agni of the season, blazing with the oblation, has been placed (upon the altar):

showerers of wealth, subduers of foes, your immertal chariot has been harnessed: masters of mystic lore, hear my invocation.

v. s. i. 76

The delties are the same; the Rishi is BHAUMYA; the metre

 Agai lights up the face of the dawns; the devout praisers of the pious have risen up; therefore, Ashwins, lords of the chariot, descending, come hither to-day to the splendid sacrifice, perfect (in all its parts).

Harm not, Ashwins, the perfected (rite), but coming now most quickly, be glorified on this occasion: be present at the opening of the day, with protection against destitution, and be prompt to bestow happiness upon the donor (of the offering).

3. Whether you come at the (milking time) of the cattle, at the dawn of day, at noon, when the sun is high, or by day or by night, (come) with felicitous protection: the drinking of the Soma has not now extended beyond the Ashwins.

4. This station, Ashwins, is your ancient abode; these are your mansions, this your dwelling; come from the vast firmament, (overspread) by clouds (filled) with water, bringing to us food and strength.

5. May we be united with the Ashwins by their special protection, which is the source of happiness and guide to good; bestow upon us, immortals, wealth and posterity, and all good things.

V. 6, 5,

Delties, Riski, and metre as before.

- Worship the two who come first (of the gods) at dawn; let them drink before the greedy withholders (of the offering); for the Ashwins verily claim the morning sacrifice; the ancient sages praised them (at dawn).
- 2. Worship the Ashwins at early dawn; offer them oblations: the evening is not for the gods; it is unacceptable to them; and whether it be any other than ourselves who worships them or propitiates them, the worshipper who is foremost (in his devotion) is the most approved of.
- Your car, Ashwins, approaches, coated with gold, honey-tinted, water-shedding, laden with ambrosia, as quick as thought, as rapid as the wind, wherewith you pass over all obstacles.
- 4. He who, in the appointment (of the offerings), presents to the Nasatxas the most ample (share) of (the sacrificial) food, who gives (them) the largest portion of the viands, secures, by his acts, the welfare of his son, and ever has the advantage of those who light no sacred fires.
- 5. May we be united with the Ashwins, by their special protection, which is the source of happiness, the guide to good: bestow upon us, immortals, wealth and all good things.

V. 6. 6.

The deities us before; the Rishi is Marravanuar; the metre of the three first stauras is Ushnib, of the fourth Trishnibh, of the rest Annahubh.

- Ashwins, come hither: Nasatyas, be not ill-disposed; alight like two swans upon the effused libations.
- Like two deer, Ashwins, like two wild cattle on (fresh) pasture; like two swans alight upon the effused libation.
- Ashwins, affluent in food, be propitiated at your pleasure by the sacrifice: alight like two swans upon the effused libation.
- 4. Inasmuch as ATRI, escaping by your aid from the fire of chaff, conciliates you, like a wife soliciting (the affection of a husband), therefore come with (your) propitious cars, with the new-born rapidity of the falcon.
- Open, Vanaspati, like the womb of a parturient female: hear, Ashwins, my invocation; set Saptavadhri free.
- Ashwins, by your devices sunder the wicker-work for (the liberation of the) terrified, imploring Rishi, Sarravapher.
- As the wind ruffles the lake on every side, so may thy womb be stimulated, and the conception of the months come forth.
- As the wind, as the wood, as the ocean are agitated, so do thou, gestation of ten months, invested with the uterine membranes, descend.
  - 9. May the boy who has reposed for ten months in the bosom of his mother come forth, alive, unharmed, living, from a living (parent).

V. 6. 7.

The deity is the Dawn; the Rishi Sarrasunavan; the metre is Paulti.

- Radiant Ushas, wake us up to-day for (the acquisition of) ample riches, in like manner as thou hast awakened us (of old): bright-born, and praised sincerely for (the gift of) horses, shew favour to Satyashravas, the son of Vayya.
- Daughter of heaven, who hast dawned upon Sunitha, the son of Shuchadratha, bright-born, and praised sincerely for (the gift of) horses, dawn upon the powerful son of Vayya, Satyashbayas.
- Daughter of heaven, who art the bringer of opulence, dawn upon us to-day, as, bright-born, and praised for the gift of) horses, thou hast dawned upon the powerful Satyashrayas, the son of VAYYA.
- 4. The offerers of oblations who eulogize thee, lustrous Ushas, with sacred hymns, become prosperous with affluence, (through thy favour), bestower of wealth, brightborn goddess, (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.
- 5. These, thy assembled (worshippers), who stand before thee to distribute wealth, entertain towards us kindly intentions, offering unlimited riches; bright-born goddess. (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.
- Affinent Usuas, bestow upon these (thy) devout adorers food and posterity, so that, being opulent, they may, without stint, bestow riches upon us; bright-born goddess (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses,

 Affluent Ushas, bring wealth and abundant food to those who, liberal givers, bestow upon us riches with horses and cattle: bright-born goddess (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.

8. Daughter of heaven, bring to us food and cattle, together with the pure rays of the sun, and the radiant flames (of the kindled fires); bright-born goddess, (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.

 Daughter of heaven. Dawn! delay not our (sacred) rite; let not the sun scorch thee with his ray, as (a prince punishes) a thief, or (subdues) an enemy; bright-born goddess, (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.

10. Thou, Ushas, art able to give (us) whatever, indeed, (has been solicited), and much (that has not been asked for); for, radiant (divinity), who art dawning upon thing adorers, thou art never cruel (to them); bright-born goddess (who art) sincerely praised for (the gift of) horses.

V. 6. 8. 8

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre is Trishnable,

 The wise priests celebrate with hymns the divine, bright-charioted; expanded Dawn; worshipped with holy worship, purple-tinted, radiant, leading on the sun.

The lovely Dawn, arousing man, goes before (the sun) preparing practicable paths, riding in a spacious chariot; vast, expanding everywhere, she diffuses light at the commencement of the days.

- 3. Harnessing the purple oxen to her car, unwearied she renders riches perpetual: a goddess, praised of many, and cherished by all, she shines, manifesting the paths that lead to good.
- 4. Lucidly white is she, occupying the two (regions, the upper and middle firmament), and manifesting her person from the east; she traverses the path of the sun as if knowing (his course), and harms not the quarters of the horizon.
- 5. Exhibiting her person like a well-attired female, she stands before our eyes, (gracefully) inclining like (a woman who has been) bathing; dispersing the hostile glooms, USHAS, the daughter of heaven, comes with radiance.
- 6. Ushas, the daughter of heaven, tending to the west puts forth her beauty like a (well-dressed) woman, bestowing precious treasures upon the offerer of adoration; she, ever youthful, brings back the light as (she has done) of old.

V. 6. 9. 87

The deity is Savrent; the Rishi Shvavasuwa; the matre Jaguit,

- 1. The wise apply their minds; they perform sacred rites for the propitiation of the intelligent, great, adorable Savirer: he alone, knowing their functions, directs the priests: verily, great is the praise of the divine Savirer.
- 2. The wise Savitri comprehends all forms (in himself): he has engendered what is good for biped and quadruped; the adorable Savitri has illumed the heaven, and shines in sequence to the passage of the Dawn.
  - 3. After the passage of which divine (being) the other deities proceed to (obtain) majesty with power; he who by his greatness has measured out the terrestrial regions, the divine Savitri, (is) resplendent.

- Either thou traversest, Savitri, the three regions, or combinest with the rays of Surva; or thou passest, between the night on either hand; or thou, divine Savitri, art Mitra, through thy (benevolent) functions.
- 5. Thou alone rulest over (the actions of) living beings: thou art Pushan, divine (Savieri), by thy movements; thou art sovereign over the whole world: Savavashwa offers praise, Savieri, to thee.

V. 6, 10.

The deity and Rishi as before; the metre of the first verse is Annahimble of the rest Gayatri.

- We solicit of the divine Savirai enjoyable (wealth): may we receive from Buaga that which is excellent, allsustaining, destructive of foes.
- Nothing impairs the sovereignty of this Savitra, which is most especially renowned and beloved.
- That Savitre, who is Bhaga, bestows precious treasure on the donor of the offering; we solicit (of him) a valuable portion.
- Grant us to-day, divine Savirai, affluence with progeny, and drive away evil dreams.
- 5. Remove from us, divine Savirai, all misfortunes: bestow upon us that which is good.
- Let us be void of offence towards ADTH, according to the will of the divine SAVITRI: may we be possessed of all-desired (riches).

- We glorify to-day with hymns Savire, the protector of the good, the observer of truth, (identical with) all the gods.
- The divine object of meditation, Savirei, who, ever vigilant, precedes both night and day.
- Savirat, who proclaims his glory to all these living beings, and gives them life.

V. 6, 11, 83

The deity is Parlanya; the Riski Bhacha; the metre of the first six verses is Trinkingh, of the minth Ameshtabh, of the rest Jagati

- I address the mighty Parjanya who is present: praise him with these hymns; worship him with reverence, him who is the thunderer, the showever, the bountiful, who impregnates the plants with rain.
- 2. He strikes down the trees, he destroys the Rakshasas, he terrifies the whole world by his mighty weapon: even the innocent man flies from the sender of rain, when Parlanya, thundering, slays the wicked.
- 3. As a charioteer, urging his horses with his whipbrings into view the messenger (of war), so Parjanya, (driving the clouds before him), makes manifest the messengers of the rain; the roaring of the lion-(like cloud) proclaims from afar that Parjanya overspreads the sky with rainy clouds.
- 4. The winds blow strong, the lightnings flash, the plants spring up, the firmament dissolves: earth becomes (fit) for all creatures when Panjanya fertilizes the soil with showers.

- 5. Do thou, Parjanya, through whose function the earth is bowed down; through whose function hoofed cattle thrive; through whose function plants assume all kinds of forms, grant us great felicity.
- 6. Send down for us, MARUTS, the rain from heaven; drops of the rainy charger descend; come down PARJANYA, sprinkling water by this thundering (cloud); thou who art the sender of rain, our protector.
- 7. Cry aloud over (the earth); thunder; impregnate the plants; traverse (the sky) with thy water-laden chariot, draw open the tight-fastened, downward-turned water bag, and may the high and low places be made level.
- Raise on high the mighty sheath (of rain), pour down (its, contents); let the rivers flow unimpeded to the east; saturate with water both heaven and earth, and let there be abundant beverage for the kine.
- When, Paranya, sounding loud and thundering, thou destroyest the wicked (clouds), this whole (world) rejoices, and all that is upon the earth.
- 10. Thou hast rained: now check well the rain; thou hast made the deserts capable of being crossed: thou hast given birth to plans for (man's) enjoyment: verily thou hast obtained laudation from the people.

V. 6, 12, 84

The delty is PETERIVE; the Riski BRAUNA; the metre Annahlubb.

 Verily thou sustainest here, Parrilly, the fracture of the mountains; mighty and most excellent, thou are she who delightest the earth by thy greatness.

- Wanderer in various ways thy worshippers hymn thee with (sacred) songs; thee who, bright-hued, tossest the swollen (cloud) like a neighing horse.
- Thou who, with solid earth, sustainest by thy strength the forest lords, when the showers of thy cloudfall from the shining sky.

V. 6. 13. 25

The deity is VARUNA; the Richi Arm; the metre Trichlubk.

- Offer a solemn, profound, and acceptable prayer to the imperial and renowned VARUNA, who has spread the firmament as a bed for the sun, as the immolator (spreads) the skin of the victim.
- 2. He has extended the firmament over the tops of the trees, has given strength to horses, milk to cows, determination to the heart; he has placed fire in the waters, the sun in heaven, the Soma-plant in the mountain.
- 3. Varuna has set free the (water of the) downward opening cloud for the (benefit of the) heaven, the earth, and the firmament; thence is he monarch of all the world, watering the soil as the rain bedews the barley.
- 4. Varuna waters earth, mid-air, and heaven, when he pleases (to send forth) the milk (of the cloud): thereupon the mountains clothe (their summits) with the rain-cloud, and the hero, (Marcus), exulting in their strength, compel (the clouds) to relax.
- 5. I proclaim this great device of the renowned Varuna, the destroyer of the Asuras, who, abiding in the midheaven, has meted the firmament by the sun, as if by a measure.

- 6. No one has counteracted the device of the most sagacious divinity, whereby the lucid water-shedding rivers do not fill the ocean with water.
- If. Varuna, we have ever committed an offence against a benefactor, a friend, a companion, a brother, a near neighbour, or, Varuna, a dumb man, remove it from us.
- 8. If, like gamesters, who cheat at play, (we commit offences) knowingly, or (those) of which we know not, do thou, divine Varuna, extricate us from them all, as if from loosened (bonds), so that we may be dear, Varuna, to thee.

V. 6. 14.

"The delites are INDEA and AUNI; the Riski is ATRI; the metre is Anusktubb, except in the last verse, in which it is Virat-pures.

- Index and Agni, the mortal whom you both protect scatters the substantial treasures (of his enemies), as TRITA (confutes) the words (of his opponents).
- We invoke the two, Indra and Agni, who are irresistible in conflicts, who are renowned in battles, who protect the five (classes of) men.
- Overpowering is the might of these two; the bright (lightning) is shining in the hands of Maghayan, as they go together in one chariot for the (recovery of the) cows, and the destruction of Veitra.
- We invoke you both, Indra and Agni, for (sending) your chariots to the combat, lords of moveable wealth, all-knowing, most deserving of praise.
  - 5. I adore you, irresistible deities, for (the sake of obtaining) horses; you who are increasing day by day like mortals, who are worthy of worship, like two Adityas.

6. The invigorating oblation has been offered like the Some-juice expressed by the sounding stones; do you bestow food upon the pious; great riches upon those who praise you; bestow food also upon those who praise you.

V. 6, 15,

- May the voice-born praises of Evayamarut reach you, Vishnu, attended by the Maruts: (may they reach) the strong, the adorable, the brilliantly-adorned, the vigorous, praise-loving, cloud-scattering, quick-moving company of the Maruts.
- 2. Evayamarut glorifies those who are manifested with the great (Indra), who appear spontaneously and speedily with the knowledge (that the sacrifice is prepared); your strength in action, Maruts, is not to be resisted, (though qualified) by (your) infinite liberality; you are immoveable as mountains.
- 3. Evavamaruz glorifies with praise those who, (coming) brilliant and happy from the vast heaven, hear (his invocation); in whose dwelling there is no one able to disturb them, and who, like self-radiant fires, are the impellers of the rivers.
- 4. That wide-spreading troop (of Manuts) has issued from a spacious common dwelling-place. (where) EVAYA-MARUT (awaits them) when their car has been spontaneously harnessed with its rapid horses; and, emulous, vigorous, and conferring happiness, they sally forth.

- 5. Let not the sound (of your approach, Maruts), which is mighty, the announcer of rain, the shedder of light, diffusive, loud, alarm Evayamarut: that sound wherewith, overcoming (your foes), you who are self-irradiating, lasting-rayed, ornamented with golden ornaments, self-weaponed, bestowing food, accomplish your functions.
- 6. Possessors of vast strength, may your unbounded greatness; your brilliant vigour, protect EVAYAMARUT; for you are regulators for overseeing (what is fit for) the limits of the sacrifice; preserve us from those who revile us, you, who are like blazing fires.
- 7. May those Budeas, the objects of worship, like resplendent fires, protect Evavamarur: they, whose ethereal dwelling, extended and wide, has been made illustrious (by them), and of whom, exempt from blame, the mighty energies (are manifested) in their courses.
- Maruts, devoid of enuity, come to our proffered praise, hear the invocation of your adorer, Evanament: do you, who are associated in the worship of Vishnu, drive away, as warriors (scatter their enemies), our secret foes.
- Adorable Marcus come to our sacrifice, so that it may be prosperous: hear, undeterred by Rakshasis, the invocation of Evayamarur: abiding like lofty mountains in mid-heaven, do you, who are profoundly wise, be ever intolerant of the reviler.

END OF THE FIFTH MANDALA.

NOTES ON VOLUME III.

NOTES ON VOLUME III.

PAGE 1.

 Shitiprishthasya dhaseh; Agni is understood, so is rashmayah, rays, according to Sayana: he explains dhasi by sarsasya dharayitri.

Sapta can't the commentator explains by sarpanamathava nadih; otherwise sapta might be thought to mean seven, its more usual acceptation.

 THE MILCH KINE.—Dhenavah; but Sayana considers it as an adjective equivalent to prinayitryah, propitiators, pleasers.

 Atasasya dhaseh is explained satatagamanasya poshanartham, for the sake of cherishing of the perpetual going.

PAGE 2.

- ONE ONLY WIFE.—We have in the text nothing more than Ekons ice, like one, the pronoun being feminine. The commentator adds, yatha puman ckam pravishati, as a man cohabits with one woman.
- Five Ministering Priests.—Adhearyubhik panchabhik sapta viprah; this excludes, according to the scholiast, the Udgatri and his class.

PAGE 3.

11. This verse is the burden of several Suktas in the preceding Ashtaka, see vol. ii, pp. 196, 204, 206. Sayana rather varies his interpretation in some respects upon this recurrence of the verse; thus he translates in the former, Ila.

by Bhumi, earth; here he calls her a female divinity in the form of a cow, gorupum devatam, and he connects vijova with anumati, good-will, explaining it avandhya, may it be not barren, productive; see Introduction, vol. ii, p. xx.

 Vanaspati, lit. forest lord, is here said to mean the post of wood to which the victim is tied: the verse is quoted in the Astarogs Brahmana, IL 2, and is similarly expounded in the Nirukta, 8, 18.

PAGE 5.

- (IN A MOMENT) THOU ART, ETC.—That is, according to the Scholinst, although not yet kindled, yet as soon as the attrition of the touchwood takes place Agni appears.
- 3. Some precede whilst others, erc.—According to Sayana allusion is made to the sixteen priests, of whom the Adhwarya and eleven others take an active part in the ceremonial, whilst the Udgatrs and other three are sitting by, engaged in the regital of the prayers and hymns.
- 5. A Fugnive (Son).—The text has only assistantain two, like one going; the scholiast supplies the father and son; or it might be thought to indicate master and slave.
- Animals Pashavah; according to the comment, bipeds as well as quadrupeds.
- 9. Three Thousand, etc.—Sayana quotes the Brihad Aranyaka for this enumeration, Adhyaya v. Brahmana, but that work gives apparently 3333, or according to the gloss of Anandagiri 3336, but in the following verses the number is, as usual, specified as thirty-three; the eight Vasus, eleven Rudras, and twelve Adityas, with Indra and Prajapati: the verse occurs in the Yajush, xxxiii. 7, where Mahidhara explains part of the increase by multiplying the thirty-three by ten for the gassis of the deities, making not very correctly 333; and repeating this number twice, once for their multiplication by Brahma, Vishnu, and Rudra, and again by their Shaktis; nassion ankas-trivriddha syur-devanom dasha-airgansih, to Brahma Vishnu Rudranam shaktinum varnabhedatah iti te cha 333, 333, 333, etavanto bhacanti, the explanation is not very clear.

- 2. Is associated with Understanding. Dhiga summinum, that is, according to Sagana, Agai is fully aware of the objects of the ceremony, and a wish is implied that he may communicate similar knowledge to its performers, ton tadrik projuancian karote: Mahidhara understands it somewhat differently in form, though the same in substance, as, through knowledge Agai associates with the gods, for the purpose of conveying the oblations to them.—Yajuek, XXII. 16.
- Traverses (the Darksess).—Arthon hyanga tarani, his meaning or object is crossing, or that which crosses; his light or radiance is the end or object of Agni, which passes over or through, darkness understood.
- Vishum Manushinam, according to Sayana, means, men the descendants of Manu, Manur jatanam.
- This and the two preceding occur in the Sama-Veda,

 Girbhir nabho mrengam; sambhajanigum somam prati usmadiyabhik stutirupabhir, ragbhir, akutau; nabho, nabhasah meargasthanad ayutam; called by our praises, come you two from the place of Smarge to this enjoyable Soma, in Sugara's explanation: the verse occurs both in the Sama-Veda, II. 19, and Yajur-Veda, vii. 31: Mahidhara tries to give a different sense to Nabha, which he identifies with Aditys, and conjectures a comparison understood, as, come to the Soma which is like the desirable sun, or it may mean, he says, three dwelling in beaven: Nabhahathah the gods: Come to the Soma that is sought for by the gods.

- 5. Jaritah sacha yajna jigati chetanah; the expression is rather obscure: yajna und chetana are both applied by Sayana to the Same as the material of the sacrifice, yajna-sadhanam, and the animator or giver of consciousness to the organs of perception; indeignam chetayita, and the cooperator with the worshipper in obtaining heaven or other benefits—jaritah sacha swargadiphalapraptau sahayo bhutah; this and the next stanza occur in the Sama, IL 20, 21; Protessor Benfey has understood it differently.

 PRECEDING.—Pureyam—the Scholiust explains sayam pratah kalayoh pureyam, that is, Aust is worshipped at dawn before the day, and in the evening before the night. Thou standest a Sun. Tishink surya: the latter is variously explained by the Scholiast us, su, good, and argu, master; or us, urger, impeller, preraka, or vigour, energy, eirya.

 With Updiffed Hands.—Yajur-Veda, xviii. 75: Mahidhara explains Uttonahastah, with open hands, not nigmostly:

Oblation.—Kamam: both commentators consider this synonymous here with oblation, purodashadihavis, as that which is desirable to the gods, kamaniyam.

PAGE 11.

- BE COGNIZANT, ETC.—Vishwasya surathasya bodhi; the scholast explains the verb, know that I am his protector, gopayita bhasami-iti budhyaswa: Suratha is literally one who has a good chariot, and is so rendered in the commentary shobhasayanopetasya.
- Dwisho rakshass amicah: Sayam explains amica either as an epithet of the Rakshasas, free from sickness, vigorous, strong; or it may be a synonyme of Pishachika, as hovering about the sacrifice in order to interrupt it: Makidham, Yajur-Veda, II. 49, gives it the sense of cyadhi, sickness, keep off diseases, vyadhanscha badhaswa.
- WHEN THE SUN HAS RISKS.—Some, says the Scholiast, perform the worship of fire before sun-rise, some after the sun has risen.

With a body, that is, with flames; or it may mean self-born, mayambhu, according to the comment.

As a Farnes: STC.—Januares tunnyam, gatha pita putram scrate, janua, being put for janaka.

 THE FIRST GREAT PRESERVING SACRIFICE.—Of the Jyotishtoma, which, according to another text, is the first and most important of sacrifices.

  - 2. See NEVE on the Doinge.
- Times Existences.—Tringayanski, three lives, as supported by butter, by fuel, and by the Some plant.

PARENT DAWNS.—Tisro ajanteushases; Ajani may mean sisters of mothers: the dawns personified as the parents or sisters of AGNL as prior or anheequent to the lighting of the sacrificial fire in early morning; why "three" does not appear, unless the three diurnal fires are alluded to: as sisters, a text is quoted by Sayana assigning them separate offices; Prajam eka rakshaty-urjam eka, rashtram eka rakshati, one preserves the people, one vigour, one the kingdom.

  place, according to Sayana, it implies a certain divinity, Kaschid-devah.
  - 2. THREE VIANDS -- Botter, fuel, and the Some.

THESE ADDING PLACES.—Three alters, or the three daily sacrifices, or the three worlds.

THREE TONGUES.—The three fires, Garhapatyo, Aha-caniga, and Dakshina.

THREE FORMS.—The three fires termed Panaka, Panamana, and Shuchi.

 Many are the Names of Thre.—Rhurini name, for namen's the commentator explains the substantive by tejansi splendours.

THE GODS HAVE DEPOSITED. ETC. Therefore Agni is able to counteract their devices for disturbing sacrifices.

- 5. Ofishtham to madhyato meda adhirefam; the medas or copa is described as the fatty matter that infricates the abdomen like coagulated butter; it is evidently the same that is described in the Old Testament as "the fat that covereth the inwards, and all the fat that is upon the inwards." Levit iv: 2, etc.
- III. 2. 10.—Punchischitirupa agrayo denda, cash verse it is tast being separately recited as the Adhesiya emistracts.

a pit or an altar, ishtaka, for collecting chayana or chits, a sacrificial fire; the hymn occurs in the same order in the Yajush, xxx. 47, 51.

1. PLACED.—Dadhe jathare, swadare dadhare; but the verb is also applied to yasmin, the fire in which the Some was placed.

Sahasrinam sajam atyam na suptim sasaran, enjoying a thousand-fold food like a quick-going horse: like a honse that enjoys various properties in lattle, is Sayana's explanation, sahasram nanarupatam guddhe yo bhajati sa sahasri, tam ashuumima; which does not much illustrate the comparison: Mahidhara gives the words an entirely different sense: Sahasrinam, he attaches to somam, worthy or fit for a thousand libations, somam sahasrarham; atyam and saptim to vajam, food, exhilarating, madakuram, and satisfying, triptikaram; na, meaning 'now,' samprati.

 In the Heaven, erc.—Agai, severally, as the sun, as sacrificial fire, as the fire that is illuminated by attrition from wood, as submarine fire and as wind.

Overlooking Man (Vast as) the Ocean.—Twesha so bhanur arnavo srichakshah, is explained by Sagana, diptiman sur bhasumano urinam drashta samudravan mahan, shining verily and resplendent this beholder of men great like the ocean: Mahidham does not differ materially but explains arnavah by arnavsi, udakani yatra santi, the place where the waters are: after this verse the priest adds, idrisho waste bhanus, tam eveshtakarupum upadadhami, such being thy lustre, I place it in the form of the Ishtaka.

VAPOUR IN HEAVEN.—That is, in the form of smake.
 CONGREGATEST THE DIVINITIES.—Decan uchishe dhishnya ye: Makidhara agrees with Sayana in explaining dhishnya by prana, or the deeps presiding over the vital aim, pranabhimanino deeah : uchishe the latter renders, semawan karoshi,

The Bright Region above the Sun.—Rochase parastal saryusys: Rochana is said to be the loke or region where the fary radiance burns, Rochana namayam loke yatra agregam jyotis tapati, above the sun, suryusyoparishtat

Porishvas — Purishyaso agrayah: Sayma explains the term, sikata sammishrah, mixed with anni: Mahidhara, pushubhyo hitah, good for animals: Purisham occurs in the Nirukta amount the synonymes of water, and is elsewhere explained as that which pleases or which fills—Nir. ii. 22.

With the Instruments.—Prantinethik sajoshasah, the first, Sagano explains, mritkhananasathanathutair abhrya-dibhih; abhrya and others, which are the implements for digging the earth: Mahidhara explains it by manansi, minds, being pleased in mind, manasa pritiyuktah; his interpretation, bowever, seems to rest on a fancied etymology, pra-prakathena minanti-sambhajanti sishayan, what especially apprehend objects of sense.

- OBSERVER OF TRUTH.—Anushatya, from anu and satya: in this and similar compounds which are of frequent recurrence, the notion, at least according to the Scholiast, is not that of observing truth in the abstract, but of keeping faith with the sacrificer, by giving him the desired recompense to which he is justly entitled.
- THE ADDRABLE LORD OF SACRED RITES.—BRIDAS-PATI, explained here Bribato yajnasya patim, the lord of the great sacrifice; tutpalakataya swaminam, lord through protecting it.

7. I. AGNI, AM BY BIRTH, ETC.—Agni asmi januaran jataweda; or it may mean, I. Agni, am by birth Jatavedas Charperd Burren is my Exe, erc.—This is a somewhat mystical description of the universality of Agai in the double capacity of the enjoyer and enjoyed, the food and the feeder, and in the three forms of fire, e.t., and the sun, presiding over earth, unid-heaven, and heaven; the eye of Agai is the light of all, which light is fed by oblations of butter; ambrosia is the reward of pions acts or enjoyment of heaven and the like, which is procurable through oblations to fire, as if through his mouth or countenance, american me usus; arkastridiatuh; arka is explained jagatsrashta pranah, world-creating vital air.

which, becoming threefold, is Vayu, in the firmament, Agui, on earth, and Adityr as the source of eternal warmth and life. Sayana furnishes another and more simple illustration of some of the phraseology, or, as the eye lights up the world, so gher thrown upon the fire causes it to burn fiercer and dispense more light : america he explains also by prabka, light, light is in my countenance : tridhatu he refers to the three vital airs termed prana, apana, and egana; the identity with the air and the aun is similarly explained; the verse occurs in the Yajush XVIII 66, where Mahidhara interprets it differently; according to him, it is the yajamana who identifies himself with Agni, saying, I am by birth, Agni, or of the form of Agni, Agnirups, the lord of all that is born, the sacrifice (urks), the three vedas, the measure of the water, the eternal sun; ghee is the eye; that is, I behold the offerer of ghee on the fire; I convert the oblation that is put into my mouth into ambrosis; thus there is no duality between Agni and the individual, ourmatmanyagnyadwaitam.

- 8. Having by self-contemplation recognized his identity with the three manifestations, Agni, Vayn, and Aditys, he comes to know his identity with the universe, as by the text, atment vignate servem idem vignatum blavets, the self being known, all this (universe) is known.
- That Sage—That is, Vishoumitro himself: in consequence of his discovery that Vaishounara is Para-brokma the supreme epitit: as it would be scarcely decorous to say so much in his own commendation this stunza may be accribed to Brahous.
- 1. The Monries, erc.—Pro so saje abhidyaso havishmento phritachya; the Scholiast explains saje by masah, months, and abhidyasah by ardhamasah, half months; havishmanta, literally, havify the havis or oblation of hutter, he considers an epithet of devak, gods, upon the authority of the Taittiriya; but they also explain it by pashavak, animals yielding milk, of which the hours is made, in which the Vagasaneyis concur; Ghritachi he renders Gau, but the Vajasaneya is quoted for its meaning, Sruk, a ladle : there is no verb, but pra is regarded as implying prabhavanti all these preside over your sacrificing: the explanation of Sayana is that of the Taittiriya Brahmana, but the lime is obscure, the words in the senses given are unusual, and the whole is elliptical

3. Animositiks — Directionsi, leatreds : Sayona proposes papani, sins.

6. The Exorcisens Sabadhah, repelling the disturbers of sacred rites by repeating the mantra or charm for their destruction, is Sayana's explanation, rakshoghnamuntrochcharanena tadvishayabadhah.

7. By His Expendences.—Magaga, monally illusion of guile : it is here explained karmavishayajnanam, knowledge of the objects of sacred rites.

- 9. As the Parent of the World. Dakshasya pitaram tana is explained by Sayana as dakshasya prajapater tanaye. the daughter of the Prajapati Daksha; that is, the earth, here identified with the altar, enlirupa; she sustains, dharayati, understood, him, Agai, the protector or futher of the world, sarvasya jagatah palakam dhamyati; this and the two preceding stanzas occur in the Samun II. 827, 829.
  - ILA As before, earth or the altar.
- 13. Grandson or Foon. Urjo vapatam, or the son of the oblation, as blatting when fed by butter and the like; or the descent may be differently accounted for, from the oblation proceeds Aditya, and from Aditya, Agni.

THE CREATION OF THE WISE.—Kavikution, of whom, barayah the wise, that is the adheorys, and the rest, are the makets, kartorah, by their tubbing the sticks to evolve flame.

- 1. THE APPARATUS OF ATTRITION IS READY—Astidam adhimanthanam asti prajananum kritam: Adhimanthana is the stick, the string, and the like placed upon the two pieces of wood to assist in their attrition: Prajananam may have its general sense of begetting, or it denotes a tult of dry grass used to catch and communicate the flame: Same-Veda, 1. 79.

IN THE CHIEF PLACE OF THE SACRED RITE.—Sadaya yajnam sukritasya yonan; yajna, according to Sayana, is put for the yajnamana, yajnasya kartanum, who is to be stationed uttameloke, in the best place, or that which enjoys the fruit of the holy rite, sukritajanyopabhogasya sthane; Mahidhara says, sukrita yonih means the krishnajina, the black antelogabide.

- PRODUCE SMOKE Krinota dhumam, produce fire, by metonymy.
- 10. THY PLACE.—Sayana says this alludes to the Arani, the stick of ectasa or asherattha, or other trees: Mahidhara, Yajur Veda, III. 14, explains it the Garhapatya, or household fire: he renders the concluding phrase also differently, give us increase of riches.
- Tanuxapat,—He who does not consume the persons

3. THE WEARER OF THE HELMET.—Sushipra, in more than one previous passage, has been explained, having a handsome nose or chin, for which Sayana here also quotes the Nicukia, vl. 17, but he proposes a new mounting, shire-strangm a guard of the head, a helmet.

THE CONVEYOR OF MEN BEYOND EVEL - Turutra may also be rendered, he by whom the gods surpass or defeat the Assers.

7. Which is obtained by Oblations. Sumulinghritachi: the application of the spithet is not very obvious, that which goes to or obtains clarified butter, havir anchati, prapnoti, but it is not applicable to anything else in the hemistich.

8. HAVING DEPRIVED HIM OF HAND, ETC. - Sahadanum Exhipantum sampinak kanarum : this is the usual allegory of the destruction of the cloud, but several of the terms admit of different tenderings; Sahadanu, with those proceeding from Durer, as in a former passage [ ? ]; or it may mean, unite I with the Denavas, or, according to Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda, xviii. 60, it may be simply saless from sales, strength: Exhigantam, according to Sayana, is bulhamanam, rainopposing: Mahidham explains it nikatavartamamem, being near to: Kunzru may be a proper name, that of an Asura, a noisy one, kemenashilam or evil-speaking, durenchamdraum, or, according to Yaska, parikusnana, loui-sounding : Sagana also gives as another interpretation ; crush the increasing cloud shedding water, saladanum udakadanopetum; abiling in the sky, kshiyantam, abashe nicementum; and thundering, kunarum, garjantam

10. THE HEAVY CLOUD.—Alatrino balak, the first is explained, a cloud, and the second, that which by its abundance of water is able to do mischief; the verse is similarly explained by Yaska, Nir. vi. 2, but the construction and phraseology both make it somewhat obscure.

Destrance and Loud-sounding, etc.—Prison purulutam, vaniedhamantih is explained vananiyah shabdayamanas-ta apah puruhutam bahubhirahutam perthiwam udakam abhyagachchan, as in the text.

- MORTAL ENEMIES. Martyssah: Sayana explains it here, Marayitarah, killers, murderers.
- 17. The Exemy of the Veda.—Brahmadsoishe: Sayana tendors a brahmanadsweshakarins, or him who entertains hatred against the brahman; but brahma may mean the prayer of the Vedas, or the Vedas, which is here the more likely meaning, or at least the religion or ritual of the followers of the Veda.

PAGE 31.

- 2. 3.—Many of the verses in this hymn are of more than usual obsourity.
- 1. The Sonless Father.—Shandschnih: the latter is said to be the father of a daughter only, not of a son, because he conveys away (whati, propagati) his property through his married daughter into another family: shasad, shasti, he supulates, that his daughter's son, his grandson, dubitur mapatyam, shall be his son, a mode of affiliation recognized by law; and, telying on an heir thus obtained, and one who can perform his funeral rites, he is satisfied.
- Boan or the Bony. -Tunnah, same as tanujah; na jamaya riktham araik, if there be a son the inheritance does not go to the sister, jamaya, bhayingai.

HE HAS MADE HER THE RECEPTACE.—And by so doing he makes her sanskrita,—he secures for her one of the essential purificatory rites. If the Parents Procheste Childeen.—Yadi matero janayani inhaim; here value is explained offspring, or rather, male offspring, a son, whilst arabatis said to mean a daughter; but it may imply both, as having been borns by the wife, and the context requires this meaning; for the one, the son, the performer of obsequial and other rites, is the heir, whilst the other is rindhan, ridhyamana, to be increased or made wealthy, with dresses, ornaments, and the like.

1 AND 2.—These two verses, if rightly interpreted, are wholly unconnected with the subject of the Sukta, and come in without any apparent object; they are very obscure, and are only made somewhat intelligible by interpretations which seem to be arbitrary, and are very unusual, although not pseculiar to Sayona, his explanations being based on those of Yaska. Niv., III. 4—6.

PAGE 32.

- 6. See vol. i, p. 7 (I. 2. 3. 5); the verse occurs also in Yajur Veda, xxxiii 59, where the commentator gives, besides the usual legendary illustration, a different and more mystical interpretation, explaining summa by cock, speech, that in which the gods suharmmente, delight together; the other phrases are explained not very distinctly, to the same purport.
- 8. FAR-SERING. Padavik, kavidama, most wise or farseeing us to the past, from pada, av object, and wik, who knows.

May He he Bree from all Reproach. Muncharmincadgut, always, nituram, be free, munchatu-from such a fault as that of the nature of the death of Veitra: Veitravadharupad-doshat; but this is a Paurunik notion, Veitra, assording to the Purados, being a Brahman, and by killing him Indra was guitty of the hemous sin of Brahmahatya.

PROCEED WITH DAYS AND NUMBER — Dyubhir-himantyaktubhik, they go with days and nights: according to the Scholiast, they regulate by day and night the respective functions of all the world: ratridivam survam jagat sear swa vyaparaprawanam kurwanti, they make the whole world diligent in its respective functions by night and day.

 DAY AND NIGHT.—The text has Ubbe krishne, both the blacks, meaning, the Scholiast affirms, aboratre, day and night.

By the Might of the Sun.—Suryasya makana; the commentator identifies Surya with Indra, the impeller, preraka, of the world.

21. He Shut the Gate upon All, erc.—Dunishche vishen arrived apa seah; that is, according to Sayana, having placed the cattle in the cow-pens, he covered or closed the doors; waje gah sthapayitea tani dwaranyachchhaditavan.

- III. 3. 4. SHUTUDRI According to the legend cited by Sayana, given also by Yasko, Nir. 11. 24, Vishscanitra, the family priest of Sulas, the son of Pignezna, having pained much wealth in his service, was returning with it home, when his road brought him to the confluence of the Vipash and Shutudri; in order to make them fordable, he addressed to them the first stanzas of this hyun, to which they replied, and allowed him and his followers to cross.

THE RIVER BEFORE ME. That is, the Shutudri.

 THE BLOCKER-UP OF RIVERS.—The cloud imprisoring the water of the rains.

SAVITEL—Sayana considers Savitrs as an epithet of INDRA, the impeller or animator of the world. Savita sarvasya jagatah prerakah: the Nirukto has a similar explanation, 11. 26.

Page 39.

- With a Waggon and Charlot.—Anasa rathena: the commentator, and Yaska also, separate these words. shakatina rathena che, by a carr and a carriage: the anns, a carr or waggon, or truck, would be for the conveyance of the Soma plant.
- 10. For THEE Te is repeated at the end of the line without any apparent connexion, according to the Scholmst it is repeated out of respect, to its pureruktir-adarartham.
- 11. The Buaratas.—The Bharatas are said to be of the same race as Visheamitra: Bharatakulaja madiyak sarve; but possibly nothing more is meant than those who were the bearers of Visheamitra's goods and chaltels; for his connexion with the Bharatas is somewhat remote; besides which their family priest was Vasishtha. Makabkarata Adi Parva, v. 3734; it is also to be observed that the word in the text is Bharata, whilst the name of the race is most correctly Bharata, with the first vowel long, although the short vowel is also allowable by the rules of derivation.

13. THE PIN.—Shamya, yugakila: the commentator explains it also as the ropes that are fastened to the ends of the yoke, the traces, yugyakataparshundisamlayna rajjavah, but he renders yoktroni, which immediately occurs, in the same manner, and that is more properly the traces:

Exhibit so Presert Increase.—Me shound order: Sayana explains shound by someidthm, increase, referring, most probably, merely to the present moment—meaning, may the rivers not so rise as to prevent his passage, otherwise it might be thought to convey a wish that the river might never suffer any diminution, taking shound in the sense of shounds, emptiness. Professor Roth has translated the Sulta in his Litteratur der Veda, p. 101; there are of course differences of interpretation between us, especially when he corrects both Soyana and Yaska, p. 10.5.

PAGE 40.

- ARMED WITH MANY WEAPONS Bhuridatra : datra, from do, to cut, is explained a weapon.
- THE PRECEDER OF MEX.—Purcayava, agrato gunta, the goer before: there is no other explanation.
- ILLUMINING THE BANNES OF THE DAYS Prorochayan Leturs aknow, lighting up, according to the comment, surya, or the sun.
- To the Gons.—Developed: Sayana explains it stotrebbyah, to the projects or worshippers.

IN THE DWELLING OF THE WORSHIPPER. Vivasuatah sadane; vivasuatah is here explained, of whom dwelling, essatah where various (vi) religious rites are performed.

PAGE 41.

THE ARVA TRIBE.—Aryam varnam: Sayana considers this as implying only the best tribe, or order, uttamam varnam, or the three first castes collectively.

 Ear Suitable Food. Sadrishir addhi-dhamb, ent suitable grains, that is, according to the Scholiast, fried barley, bhrishtagavan.

- 6. Yajur-Veda, XXVI. 23.
- 8. KNOWING WELL (THE WORSHIP). ETC.—Projection pathys and seeth, that is, according to the Scholiast, rightly apprehending the praises which are due or peculiar, and which are offered with the rites enjoined by the Vedas.

PAGE 43.

- 2. Hath become Liaustrious, etc.—Ribbur yebhih, prishaparea vihayah, with which (libations) he is Ribbu, or, as the Scholinat explains it, diplah, enlightered, also vrishaparea, or he on whom the rainy season, and other divisions of time, pareau, depend; or, in fact, time itself, kalatmakah, and vihaya, who abandons or resigns to those who ask anything, that which they desire: the two first, Ribba and Vrishaparea, may also be considered as proper names or appellations of Indua.
- 2. Expressed by the Stones, Vrishadhutasymprishnah, show the usual predilection for, wish, showering, raining: the literal acceptation of these terms would be of rain-shaken rainer, but the second is explained, the Soma, that bestows meargo, and such other benefits, and the first gravabhir-abhishutam, juice expressed by the stones used for the purpose; the same idea of their being showerers, or bestowers of blessings, suggesting this appellation of them.

PAGE 44.

 Many and His Donations.—Dakshing asys purels: according to Sayana, these are both epithets of gazah, bahryusta gavo dakshinah prajayante, those many cows, givers (of milk and the like) are born; but dakshina more usually means the fee or present to Brahmans or priests at sacrifices.

- 6. WHEN THE HUMBLE SOMA LIBRATION PROFITTATES HIM.—According to the Scholiast, the comparison is to this effect, as small rivers and scanty waters contribute to the vast ocean, so the Some juice, however insignificant, contributes to the gratification of the great Indea.
- As Capacious or Soma as a Lake Hrada iro Enkshayah somulhanah; beilies, udarani, is used in the plural, to intimate capaciousness for holding the Soma.

PAGE 15.

- Worshipped in a Hundred Rives.—Shalakratu is a name of India, or it may be used as an epithet, he to whom a hundred (i.e., many) sacrifices are offered, or by whom many great acts are performed.
- 8. SLEEP-DEFFELLING SOMA JUNCE—According to Sagana, drinking the Soma is preventive of sleep, pilah somah swapnaniwaraka, PAGE 46.

 As a Quick House.—The institutor of the rite is supposed here to address the officiating priests, orging them to be diffigent labourers, like the excepture or the pack-house.

Acrs Acceptance to Indea, etc.—Abhipriyani marmrishat param lavin ichehhami sandrishs: the makning is not very obvious, and the coherence still less so, although we have the additional aid of the explanation of the passage in the Aitareya Brahmana, vi. 20: priyani is said by Sayana to be Indrasya priyatamani, and parami to imply attamani, best and most dear to Indra, karmani, acts; or possess may mean the acts to be done on subsequent days, attaresheahassa kriyamanani; kasi, which is usually explained kranta darshi a seer of the past, is said to mean here a holy person who, for his assistants devotion, has artained defication, yak purvamanushtithuysjand devabluyam agamat; so the Brahmana, yeeri tens Rishayah purve pretacte mi kavayah.

- THEY HAVE SET LIMITS, ETC.—Sam matrablis mamire, is explained, matrabbih rodasgeni igathaga parichchhimne chakrah, with the elements they made determinate divisions of heaven and earth by so much, that is, to a definite limit or extent.
- The Influences of Consciences.—The text has only asurasya; the comment explains it by prevakasya antaryamilaya, impeller, from being in the inner spirit.

PAGE 47.

- 6. The Gandharvas, erc.—Gandharvan vayukeshan; the Gandharvas, according to the Scholiust, are the guardians of the Soma. Somarukshakun: he quotes the Taittiviyakas for the specification of similar beings, although the particular name is not given: Swanabhrajan, bambhare, husta, suhasta, krishanah, etc vah somakrayanas, tan rakshadhwam mu vodabhan.
- This stanza is singularly obscure, and is very imperlectly explained by the commentators.
- 8. This Savith.—Asya savitar nakir me: Savitri, according to the Scholiast, here means Indra, savasya jaguto antaryamitaya prerayitar Indrasya, of Indra the impeller, through his being the internal pervader of the whole world: this verse is little less unintelligible than the preceding.
- 9. ALL THOSE WHO EXERCISE ILLUSION.—Vishee maginah, the Scholiast explains, sarre devah, all the gods: maga sometimes signifies wisdom, intelligence, so that it might be rendered also the wise; in the ordinary sense of mage it may mean all the deceivers, or Asures: the whole of this Sukta is very obscure.

PAGE 48.

2. Auspicious and Clothed in White Raiment.— Bhadra custrani arjuma casanu-cook: speech suspicious, wearing white garments, that is, bejonsi, according to the Scholiast, splendours, energies.

Our Ancient and Paternal Hymn.—Pitrya dhih, pitrikramagala stuti, praise come in the succession of progenitors.

- At the Origin of the Day.—The Ashwins are especially worshipped at the morning ceremony.
  - 5. THE FARTHFUL FRIENDS.—The Angirasus.

TEN MONTHS' RITE — Navagrah and Dashagrah : see vol. 1, p. 94 (I. 11, 5, 4), and rote (p. 276).

PAGE 49.

- HE HELD IN HIS RIGHT HAND.—That is, he delivered the rains from their imprisonment in the clouds of the firmament.
- 1. INDRA.—The commentary here gives various etymologies of the name Indra, taken from Yaska and the Taittirigo arangako, viz., he who spects (ramate) in the Somajuice (fudu); or he who shows this (idam) universe; or he who divides (drinati), or gives (dadati), or takes (dadhati), or causes to worship (darayati), or possesses (dharayati) spirituous liquor (iram), or who runs or passes (dranati) the Soma juice (indau); or kindles or animates (indahe) living beings; or he who beholds the pure spirit, or Brahma, which is this (idam) universe: the grammarians derive it from idi to rule with the affix ran.

3. IMBRE - Vrishasson, sprinkle, shower, that is, into the stomach, so that it may not, according to the Schulinst, descend below the stomach-

PAGE 50.

4. THY ABODE.-Kshayum tava; kshaya, an abode, here means Indea's belly, jathara,

3. BEARER OF PRAYERS. - Brohmavohah, stotrani vahati, who bears or receives praises; or it may mean brahmona stotrenn prapyate, who is attained by praise or prayer.

PAGE 51.

7. DEVOTED TO THEE - Tuesqueak, from them thou with kyach aff., converting it to Twoyn: so, presently, armayuh, devoted or inclined to us; these are not infrequent eridik forms, but do not nearr elsewhere.

PAGE 53.

5. OR RATHER A MONABUR OF MEN. Kuvid mam gopum kurase junasya kuvid rajanam: kuvid is here explained by

- api, surely, verily, MAKING THEM AS IT WERE TWOFOLD. - Pra pe dieite diese ringenti; sarva disho dwita, dwidham, yathu bhwesti tatha probarshous suthaganti, they especially make all the quarters of the horizon double, so that it (the sky) becomes two-fold : such is Sagana's explanation; what it means exactly it is difficult to comprehend.
- 7. THAT WHICH THE FALCON, ETC.—This alludes to a legand briefly told in the Adareya Brahmuna, Panchika m. Adhyaya 13, and which is amplified by the Scholinst on that work : the Some plant grew formerly, it is said, only in heaven! the Rishis and the gods considered how it might be brought down to earth, and desired the Chhandasas, the metres of the Vedas, to bring it: changing themselves to birds (Suparnas), they undertook the office: the only one who succeeded, however, was the Guyatri, in the shape of a hawk (shyeni), and she was wounded by an arrow shot by one of the Somandas, or Gundharvas, the guardians of the Soma, thence termed Somabhrajas, which cut off a nail of her left toot: the icher from the wound became the was or adops of the burnt-offering: other metamorphoses are detailed.

III. 4. 6.—The main purport of this hymn seems to be to ring the changes on the derivatives of the root kri, to take, as in a former one it was upon those of the root wrish, to shower thus we have hargitah, taking, captivating, desirable; shower thus we have hargitah, taking, captivating, desirable; shower thus we have hargitah, taking, captivating, desirable; harst, the stone that bruises the Some plant; also, India's horses in the dual or plural, hari, harayah ragain, harit, green, harginahuah, he who has the horses called hari; hardhayanam, yellow-rayed, harisurpasses, green-coloured, and so on, in every one of the five verses.

- Seguna cites another text in support of India's discovering or ancovering the hidden Soma, in which, however, the act is ascribed to Pushen, see vol. i, p. 28, v. 14. (I. 5, 6, 14).
- 1. PEACOCK-HATHED.—Mayura-romabbih, with hair like the feathers of the peacock.

The verse occurs twice in the Sama-Veile, i. 246; v. 1068; once in the Yajush, xx. 53; Mahidham agrees with Sagara in the interpretation.

3. The verse is unintelligible without such filling up of the several ellipses as the Scholiast suggests; we may say, however, of it, as of many other passeges, with Professor Benfey, doch bleibt die wendung dunkel; Sama-Veda, II. 1070; the same has also the preceding verse, II. 1069.

- Yajur-Voda, vii. 38: there is a slight variety of reading, pratipat for pradicat, Mahidhara renders the first and other lunar days or tithis, until the full moon, during which offerings of Samu are daily presented: Yaska agrees, with the Rich Nir., rv. 8.
- 2. Drive away the Malevolert—Apsindamen mridhah may also mean, drive away all those who are engaged in battle, i.e., enemies; or keep off from us battles; mridh, meaning war, battle, sangrama; the Yajush has this verse also, vii. 37, and Mahidham explains it to the same purport.

- 4. The construction here makes the sense very doubtful: prishtah undhwo ratho no vagur cusubhir nigutean; it would seem as if Indra was also designated here as Vagu; the Vasus are said to be the Maruts; besides the explanation followed in the text. Sayana has another, as, Vagu, having the Niguts for his steeds, moves like a chariot on high, so does Indra, accompanied by the Maruts.

- 1. Sama-Veda, 1. 374.
- 3. As a MINE OF WEALTH .- Akare vasoh, or, according to Sayana, he is praised to procure his aid in battle, which, when successful, is the source of wealth or booty; Aktryate yuddhartham dhanam atra ityakaro yuddham, he is celebrated for the sake of war, for therein is wealth, therefore akara is the same as yuddha; or vasah jarayitri may be put together, weakener of the foe, vasa here meaning enemy.

5. MANY ARE HIS PROHIBITIONS.—Purvir asya nishshidho martyeshu is explained nanaprakarani anushasaneni. various kinds of commands or regulations: a similar phrase in a former passage, vol. 1, p. 12, verse 5, purunishshidha, has been rendered, repeller of many focs: there is no material incompatibility, the latter being a compound epithet, and the substantive in both cases being derived from shidh to succeed, to go, with the preposition wir, out, ex. to exclude to prohibit.

3. Do Thou Concur with Mr. Prati me grinihi; the Hotel is supposed to speak to the Adhwarys to direct their joint performance of some part of the ceremony.

1. His Place of Bintit - Jaya id astam sed u yonih. the apropos of this is not very evident; astam the commentator explains by griham, and he quotes the Smriti for the identity of house and housewife, grihair griham uchyate iti smeltch; the notion that a man is born of his wife avidently originates in the fanciful etymology of Jaya, a wife, from jan, to be born, as it is first found in the Brahmana-

Tasgam punar navo hhutwa dashame masi jayate,

Tud jaya jaya bhawati, und nayam jayate punah.

Again, in her being renewed (as a son) he is born in the tenth month.

And a wife therefore becomes jayo, because he is again born in her :

from this, passing probably through the Sutms, we have the same in Manu IX. 18.

Patir bhargam sampravishya yarbho bhatweha jayate Jayayas taddhi jayatsam yad asyam juyate puneh

5. BOYH WAYS - Ubhayaten to arthum, according to the Scholiast, Indra's wife awaits his return, the Some liberion invites his stay.

PROTECTOR -Bhratar, lit. brother, but here explained poshaka nourisher. PAGE 64.

7. THESE SACRIFICERS ARE THE BHOJAS, ETC.—The text is merely Ime Bhoja angiraso cirupa : the Scholiast explainthe former, Kshatriya descendants of Sudos: Sandasah kshatriya, yagam kurvanah instituting the sacrifics at which the latter, Medhatithi, and the rest of the race of Asgiras, were their Yajakas, or officiating priests.

THE EXPELSES. - Rudra ; his sons are the Maruts:

SACRIFICE OF A THOUSAND VICTIMS.—Saharrasave, according to the comment, the ashwamedha.

9. The Generator of the Gods.—Devajah is explained by Sayana, the generator of radiances or energies, tejasam janayitri: the compound is not devaja god-born, nor was janayitri of divine parentage: Deva-juta, which follows, is explained taistejobhir-akrishta, drawn or attracted by those energies.

ARRESTED THE WATERY STREAM.—Astabhnat sindhum armivam: he is said to have stopped the current of the confluence of the Vipaska and Shotudri rivers.

Indra with the Kushikas was Pleased — Apriyayata kushikabhir Indra: Sayana explains this, Kushikagotrotpannair-rishibhth saha, with the Rishis of the race of Kushika, or it might be tendered, pleased by the Kushikas.

PAGE 65.

12. Made Indra Grossfer — Indram attashtarum; the verb is the third preterite of the causal, I have caused to be praised; or if taken is place of the present tense by Vaidik licence, it may be, according to the commentator, I praise Indra, abiding between heaven and earth, i.e., in the firmament.

The verses to this, from verse 9, inclusive, are translated by Professor Roth: Liter, and Gesch, der Veds, 105.

13. THE VISHWAMITRAS.—The Bharatas, or descendants of Bharata, are in one same the descendants of Vishwamitra. Bharata being the son of Shakuwtala, the daughter of the sage-Maha. Adi P.: the same authority, however, makes Vasishtha the family priest of the Bharatas, and their restorer to dominion from which they had been expelled by the Punchalas.—Bid., 3735.

- 14. The Kikatas—The Kikatas are said by Sayana, following Yaska, Nir., vi. 32, to be countries inhabited by Asaryus, people who do not parform worship, who are infidely, nastikas: Kikata is usually identified with South Bahar, showing, apparently, that Vaidik Hindmen had not reached the province when this was said; or as Kikata was the fountain head of Buddhism, it might be asserted that the Buddhists were here alluded to, if it were not wholly incompatible with all received notions of the earlier date of the Vedas.
- 14. No tapanti gharmani: Yaska explains the last harmyam, a house; but Sayana calls it a vessel termed Mahavira, used at the rite called Pragrihya, pragrihyakhwakarmopayuktam mahavirapatram, which the cattle do not warm by yielding their milk to it.

Usuran — Abham pramagandasya redas: maganda is explained by both scholissts, kusidia, or usurer, one who says to hunself, the money that goes from me will come back doubled, and pra, prefixed, is equivalent to a patronymic.

Low Branches of the Community.—Naichashakham, that which belongs to a low (nicha) branch, or class (shakha); the posterity born of Shudras and the like.

15. Given by Jamadagni—Jamadagni-datta, according to Sayana, may mean, given by the Rishis, those who maintain a blazing joinat-juvalet, fire, Agni; a sense confirmed by the use of the plural in the next verse; the daughter of Surya, so given, is said to be speech, or its personification, vak-devata. MIGHTY SOURS.—The sound of thumber or the like in the eky.

FOOD AMONG THE GODS.—As the prayer or exclamation which accompanies the form offering.

16 Five Races or Men.—Panchajangasa krishtishu: here therefore, the five distinctions are restricted to human beings, confirming the Schulinst's notion that the four castes and barbarians are intended.

DAUGHTER OF THE SUS.—Pakshya, the daughter of Paksha: pakshanivvahakasya, the distributor of the parts (of the year !), that is, suryasya, of the sun.

BESTOWER OF NEW LIFE. - Navyam ayar dadhana, having new life or food: the Scholiast adds, mama kuruna bhavatu.

THE HORSES.—Grean-yachchhata, iti, gamu ashwanz.
 gamu implies, those who go, or, in this place, horses.

CAR BE READY FOR Us.—Vishuumitra, says the commentator, being about to depart from the sacrifice of Sudas, invokes good fortune for his conveyance.

19. Khavar and Sishu. — Khadirasys samm is the text, the resence of the khadira, mimosa enterha, of which the Scholiast says the bolt of the axle is made, whilst the Shinshapa, Dilbergia sizu furnishes wood for the floor: these are still timber-trees in common use.

PAGE 66:

- 20. This Lord of the Fonest Vanaspati, that is, here, the timber of which the car is made.
- 23. The construction is elliptical: the ellipse is supplied by the Scholiast, as the tree is out down by the axe, so may the enemy be out down; as one outs off without difficulty the flower of the Simbola, so may be be destroyed; as the caudiron (alkha) when struck (probata), and thence leaking (yeshant, srauanthi), scatters foam or breath from its mouth, so (deschia madiya, mantrasamarthyene prahatah san, phenam mukhad udgiratu) may that hater, struck by the power of my prayer, vomit foam from his mouth.

- 23. According to Sayana, the passage alludes to a legend of Visheamitra having been seized and bound by the followers of Vasishtha, when observing a vow of silence these were his reflections on the occasion; disputaging the rivalry of Vasishtha with himself, as if between an are and a horse; some of the terms are unusual; sayakasya, commenty, of an arrow, is explained agreeably to its etymology from so, to destroy, acasanakarisah, of the finisher or destroyer, that is, of Visheamitra : Lodham nagenti, they lead the sage, deriving lodks from lubilham, dearons that his penance might not be frustrated, topusah kahayo ma bhud iti, lobhena tushuim sthitam Rishim poshum manyamana, thinking the Rishi silent through his desire, to be an animal, i.e., stupid. Yaska interprets the phrase in the same manner, Lubdham rights naganti pashum mangamanah, thay take away the desitting Risks, thinking him an animal: in the second half the words are also of unusual application: no arajinam tajina hasayanti : Sayana darives vajina from each, speed, with ina uffix, and interprets if airming, all-knowing : the contrary, avajina, by murkha, a foot.
  - 24. Sone of Bharata.—The sone of Bharata are the descendants of Visheamitra whose enmity to the race of Vasishtha is here decidedly expressed; this and the preceding stanzas are regarded as imprecations denounced by Visheamitra against Vasishtha, with whom he had quarrelled on account of his disciple the Raja Sudas.

The Anukramaniko observes—the last verses of this hymn have the sense of imprecations: they are immical to the Vasishthas, and the Vasishthas hear them not ; antyn obhishaparthas to vasishthadiseshinyah na vasishthah shrinwanti : the commentator on the Index cites this verse of the Brikaddevata in confirmation; shatadha hhidyate murdha kirtanena shrutena va, tesham balah pramiyante tanmat tas tu nu kirtuyet, the head is aplit a hundred times by reciting or listening to them, and his children perish; therefore let not a man repeat them; the commentator on the Nirukta, when he comes to the passage, lotham rishim mayonth, passes it by without animadversion, expressly because he says the verses are inimical to the Vasishthas and he is of the race of Vasishtha, of the Kapishthalo branch, So Vasishthadweshi rik-aham cha. kapishthalo Vasishthah, atas ta na nirbravimi; it is not unusual for transcribers to amit these passages altogether, as noticed by Professor Roth, and by Professor Muller; see the various readings of the latter, Rig-Veda, vol. 11. Introduction, D. 56.

Page 67.

 My Desire Process.—Komo me ichchun churuti, lit. my destre wishing goes, or exists; the Scholiust adds to ichchan, survau bhogan, all enjoyments, but this does not make the expression more definite.

5. ABIDING PLACES ARE BEHELD.—As the constellations.

SUPERIOR MYSTERIOUS RITES. In the latter case they are made known, it is said, by the Veda.

6. In Community of Function.—In the interchange of moisture.

7. Heaver and earth are the personifications here alluded to.

- 9. PROTECTRESS AND PRODESTIBLE. Mahab pilor jamitur, jami tan nah is explained mahatyah palayitryah janayitryastawa, of thee, that is, of the heaven; jami is put for jamituam or bhaginituam, eisterhood, the condition of a celative or sister; this will not allow of pitri and janitri being rendered father and progenitor, else we have had Dyus, heaven, which is here addressed, characterized by these attributes; see vol. II. p. 76, v. 33.
- PROCLAIMING (THEIR OWN ACTS).—Paprathanah is explained as in the text, suani suani karmani prathayantah.

- 17. That Beautiful Appellation.—Charu name may be explained agreeable or acceptable act or devotion, name karma namenum va, charu, manuharam; by which the Ashwins attained deification, gene devotion prapmutha; but in the preceding verse we have the similar phrase, sajatyam charu name, explained sajate bhavam kamaniyam, descrable cognate appellation.
- 18. Keep us from the Course Unpropertious to Offsering.—Yuyota no anapatyani gantoh; anapatyani is explained putranam ahitani karmani tanmargat prithak kurula.
- 20. Abiding in Fixed Habitations.—Dhrawkshemacuh, nishchalasthanah, those of fixed places: it may be, perhaps, an epithet of the preceding parcutasuh.

- THEY NOURISH EACH OTHER.—Earth and heaven by the interchange of moisture.
- 13. Licking the Call, etc.—This is rather obscurely expressed: the call is said to be Agni; the cow with milk is the sky, whose udder is the cloud, whence the rain of which the earth is in want descends; Ritusya sa payusa pineatelo, is also explained Jalaurijita prithing-adityusyadakesa sakta bhavati curshakule, the earth without water is sprinkled by the water of the sun in the rainy season.
- THE EASTH.—The text has Padya, which Sayana explains Bhumi, deriving it from pud, or foot, the earth, according to a text of the 10th Mamfala, having been created from the feet of the Creator: the 10th Mandela, however, is of questionable authority.

ABDES ON HIGH. On the altar.

YEAR AND A HALF OLD CALE.—Tryncim, sardhasamentsaravaguske sutsoh, a cull a year and a half old; s.e., the sun of that period, or it may apply to the sur, as the protector (avih) of the three (trs) worlds.

THE ABODE OF THE TRUTH, Rilasya sadman, Satyabhutasyadityasya sthanam, the place of the sun, who is one with the truth.

 THE MILCH KINE.—Either the regions of space of the clouds.

- 17. Upon a Different Henry—Anyasmin yathe, a herd, or troop, of regions, according to Sayana, disham wrinds.
- 18. Six on Five.—Sholka yuktah panchapancha vahanti; that is, either the six seasons of the year, or, by combining the cold and dewy seasons, five; these are figuratively India's horses.
- 20. The Two Vast Receptacies.—Chamma, the two vessels in which gods and men eat, chammany adanty anayor demannishyah; this would imply vessels or lailles, but the Scholiast also proposes, the two that are eaten or enjoyed by living beings; that is, heaven and earth.

PAGE 74.

- The condition of all created things in earth and heaven, and the elevation of the mountains, are the work of the gods, and no one can make them otherwise.
- ONE IS VISIBLE—Heaven and the firmament are not wholly discernible, earth is.

- 3. THE THREE-BREASTED.—That is, as subsequently specified, the year, personified: the number three, repeatedly mentioned, is said to apply to the seasons of the year, reduced from the usual number of aix to three, the hot, rainy, and cold, by merging into them, severally, the vernal, autumnal, and dewy.
- ADITYAS.—That is, according to the Scholiast, upon the months over which the twelve Adition preside.

Now give it Delight and now Depart from it.— During the four months of the year when the mins fall the rivers are filled; during the other eight they are more or less dried up.

Each of the three Lokas has three divisions: this is a piece of information addressed to the rivers, Sindharak being in the vocative case.

THE MEASURER OF THE THREE WORLDS.—The aun or the year.

THREE FEMALE DIVINITIES.—The Scholinst says they are He, Sarassenti, and Bhorati.

6. Riches of Three Elements - Tridhata rayas, eattle, gold, and gems.

DHISHANA.—The goddess of speech.

PAGE 75.

8. THERE... BRIGHT REGIONS.—Heaven, earth, firma-

THREE SCIONS OF THE YEAR. Agri, Vayu. and Surya, according to Seyona: the text calls them asserance viru: asserance explained kalatma somentages, the year, identical with time: tasya putrah, its sons.

3. THE CALF INVESTED WITH MANY FORMS. The vegetable world, as characterized by rice, barley, wild rice, and the like; wihiyavanisundi-phala-lakshanam, putram, tanayam, vatsam iva.

PAGE 76:

 The Son of the South.—Dakshinayah putrah; that is, Ushasah putrah Surya, the sun, the son of the dawn.

PAGE 77.

- Stores of the Exhibition Juices. Nidhayo madhunam: according to Sayana, nidhi is here a kind of vessel, patravisheshah.
- 6. Your Wealth is in the Family or Jahru.— Yuvor dravinam Jahnovyam: the latter is derived from Jahnu, and is explained merely by Jahnukulajayam; in her born in the race of Jahnu: it might imply the Ganges. Jahnavi, if we had reason to suppose the legend of her origin from Jahnu was known to the Vedas: of course it was familiar to Sayana.
- THE APPOINTED PLACE.—Nightritam, according to Yaska, Nov., XII. 7, is the place of agreement, nor ityeshah, namityetanya sthane: it may be rendered by griba, house.
- MITRA.—Mitra is said here to signify the sun, he who is measured or appreciated (migate) by all, and who preserves (trayate) the world, by bestowing rain: much the same remiering of the text is given by Yaska, Nic., x. 22.

PAGE 78.

- ROAMING FREE.—Mitajnavah: mitajanuka with measured knees. literally: which Sayana explains, yathakamam sarvatra gachchhantah, going everywhere at pleasure.
- 6. Yajush, n. 62: Mahidhara renders anal by its more usual sense of protection, not as Sayuna, annam, food; and dyumnam, which the latter renders by dhanam, wealth, the former makes either fame or food, yasho annam m: the epithet sanasi, which Sayana makes saraih sambhajaniyam.

Mahidhara explains, sanatanam, eternal, upon the authority of Yaska, who includes it, he says, among the synonymes of purana, old; it is not, however, found there, Nigh, III 27.

PAGE 79.

1. Your Connexton.—Fo bandhuta might mean, your affinity or friendship, but the Scholast explains it, they who connect acts with their fruits. badhnanti phalena formani.

You have accepted the Share of the Sacrifice. Yajniyam bhugam anasha: Sayana here explains the verb as if it were in the second pars, plur, of the reduplicate preterite, gugam vyaptah stha, you have pervaded; the Veda conjugating ash in the Parasmaipada, instead of Atmanepada, as is usual; so in the third stanza we have samanashah instead of samanashire: the passage has been cited in a former page, vol. 1, p. 49, note on 1, 5, 3, 8, and is there somewhat incorrectly translated: in Sukta 161, v. 6, we have yajniyam bhugam nitama explained also praprinta, obtain; see the hymna to the Ribhus in the first volume, I, 5, 3, and second volume, I, 22, 5; also Grammar, 2nd Ed., p. 241.

 PERPETUATED — Dadhaneire, as in the former case adharayanta, vol. 1. p. 24, v. 8, has no accusative: the Scholiast, as before, supplies present vitality, meaning immoral life, as follows.

THEY HAVE ATTAINED DIVINITY,—See also vol. 1, p. 167, v. 4.

PAGE 80.

- 6. SHACHL Or Shachi may mean kurman, act, rite.
- Foon nestowing Ringus Ribbishir enjobis vajayea, implies a quibble upon the word raje; which is the name of one of the Ribbas, put for all, but means, in its more usual sense, food,

2. Causing UP to Be HEARD THE SOUNDS OF TRUTH.— Suscife iraquesti: the phrase has occurred before, vol. 1, p. 175, v. 12, where it is rendered, awakener of pleasant voices, in the sense explained note on 4, p. 326, the dawn exciting or awakening the true or agreeable cries of beasts and birds.

PAGE SI.

5. The Reformation of Sweetness.—Madhaiha rather puzzles the Scholiast: madha may menn, he says, sweet words of praise, madharani statilakshanani sakyani, or simply praise, stoma; or, without referring to its etymology, it may be a name of Ushas: dha is that which has or holds.

LIGHTS THE REGIONS.—As in S. 49, v. 4, of the first Ashtaka, vol. I, p. 72.

- THY DESIRED TREASURE—That is, the sacrificial fire is kindled at dawn.
- THE TEUTHFUL DAY.—Ritarya, satyabhulasya: it is identified with truth as the season of the performance of religious rites.

PAGE 82.

- 3. (Wives of the Gods).—The text has only Variatrik; the Scholiast explains it sureally sambhajariya, desapatayak, to be admired by all; the wives of the gods; which agrees with the specification of the two goddesses that follows.
- 10. This is the celebrated verse of the Vedan which forms part of the daily devotions of the Brahmans, and was first made known to English readers by Sir W. Jones' translation of a paraphrastic interpretation; he renders it. Let us adore the supremacy of that divine sun, the godhead, who illuminates all, who recreates all, from whom all proceed, to whom all must return whom we invoke to direct our understandings aright in our progress towards his holy sear-(Works, Svo. vol. xiii, p. 367): the text has merely Tat miritur varenyam bhargo devasya dhimahi, dhiyo yo nah prachodayat: the last member may be also rendered, who may animate or enlighten our intellects; the verse occurs in the Yajush, III. 35, and in the Saman, II. 8, 12; both commentators are agreed to understand by Savitvi, the soul, as one with the soul of the world. Brahma, but various meanings are also given; thus, Sosana has, we meditate on the light which is one with Brahma, his own light, which, from its consuming influence on ignorance and its consequences, is termed Bhargas, and is that which is desirable, from its being to be known or worshipped by all (correspond) the property of the supreme being, (parameticana), the creater of the world, and the animator, impeller, or urger (suriers), through the internally abiding spirit (antorgami) of all creatures: again, yak, although masculine, may, by Vandik license, be the relative to the neuter noun hlarges, that light which animates all (dhigah) acts (karmani), or illumes all understandings (buddhih); again, dernsyn sevituh may mean. of the bright or radiant ann, as the progenitor of all; sarrasya prasavitur, and bhargas may be understood as the sphere or orb of light, the consumer of sine, papeness brieflam tejo-mandalam: again, bhargas may be interpreted, lead, and the prayer may only implore the sun to provide unstenance, taxya prasadad annadilakshanam phalam dhimahi. tanga adharabhuta bhavema, we unticipate from his favour the reward that is characterized by food and the like, that is, may we be supported by him: Mahidhara, in his comment on the same text in the Yojush, notices similar varieties of Interpretation

PAGE 83.

16. Sprinkle the Worlds with Honry.—Ghritain gavyatim alchalam, madhea rajansi; gavyati is explained either gavam margam, or gonizasasthanam, and the prayer implies, according to the Scholiast, give us cows abounding in milk: the verse occurs in the Yajar and Same-Vedas; the commentator on the former explains Gavyati either the path or sacrifice, or a field, and, in the latter case, explains, ghritain pure water, sprinkle our pastures with rain: Mr. Stevenson accordingly renders it, irrigate the pasture lands with showers, and refresh with waters the two worlds.

17 and 18. These two last verses occur also in the Sama-Veda II. 14, 15: as the author of the hymn is Vishwamitra, the Schohast proposes another interpretation of Jamadagnina, as an epithet of Vishwamitra, he by whom the fire has been kindled: see former note, III. 4, 15, 15.

FOURTH MANDALA.

PAGE 84.

- THE RMULOUS GODS, ETC.—Samanyaro devisas term nyerire: samanyarah is explained by the Scholiast, spardhemanah vieing with.
- 2. We have in this and the next stanza the same device that has occurred in the 127th (I. 19. 1) and following Suktar of the first Mandala, vol. α, p. 11, which are written in the same long and complex metre, the repetition at the end of the line of the three or four proceeding words; thus we have here adevam januta prachetasum, vishwam adevam januta prachetasum, with the sense partially modified in the repetition, at least according to the Scholiast.

PAGE 85.

- 5. Defrecate Varuna for us.—Am yakahea no Varunam; Sayana explains the verb by vinashaya, destroy, and the object is Varuna-kritam, that which has been done by Varuna, as disease inflicted by him, such as dropsy; or the term may imply papam, sin; this and the preceding occur, Yajush, xxx. 3, 4.
- BIRTHS OF AGNI.—As Agni, Vayu, and Suryu, or it may refer to the places of his manifestation, or earth, firmsment, and heaven: see vol. 1. p. 145, v. 3.

PAGE 86.

- 13. OUR MORTAL FOREFATHERS.—The Angirasas: the purport of this and the next verse is obviously the attribution of the origin of fire-worship of Angiras and his followers.
- 16. Comprehended the Name of the Kine—Te manwate prathemen name dhench: according to Segona, dhench may mean each, speech, and with name, statisedhakam shebdomatram, mere sound as the means of praise: it may also have its ordinary sense, the passage referring to the ancient nomenclature of cattle, as attered by the Angirams as Elimurabhi, gaugulu. gandhini. etc.

THRICE SEVER.—There are twenty-one metres of the Veitas.

PAGE 87

- 19. Without the Purified Food.—According to the Scholiast, this implies that no offering is made to Agni on the occasion; praise alone is addressed to him.
- 20. MAY AGNI BE THE ADTRI May be be the cherisher of the gods as if he were Aditi their mother; or Aditi may mean the earth, that is, their stay or support; Mahidhara, on this verse, Yajur-Veda, xxxIII 16, explains it etymologically; without a delect, gasga khandanou must, ading, not mean or hise.

RECEIVING THE SACRIFICIAL FOOD,—Demons are arrivanal, according to Sayana, is participating in the sacrificial food of the worshippers: Mahidhara explairs it, delivering the oblations offered to the gods, i.e., through fire.

1. Among the Montal.—Or among mortal organs of sense, Agni being that of speech; agreeably to the text, Agnic-rag-bhutun mukham pravishat.

PAGE SS.

- 3. Thos Passest between the Deities.—Autoripase yashmanscha devan visha a chu martan, thou goest between, you the gods, and men; you, is specified from Agni's being a divinity; he goes to men to receive the oblation, and to the gods, of whom he is one, to bear it to them.
- In Full Assembly, Sabhavan, in the presence of spectators, upadrashtri sabharupayaktah.
- 6. MUNIFICENT RECOMPENSER—Suntawn propul is explained, dhannen palayitri, wealthy preserver.

PAGE 89.

- 8. A Horse with Golden Caparisons.—Asheo in secdame hemyasum, that is, according to the Scholiast, successnimita-kakshyman, having a girth made of gold, applying the epithet to the horse, although separated by size dame, in his own house.
- 11. This passage is elliptically and metaphorically expressed, chittim, achittim, chinavadei-eidean, may the sage (Agni) distinguish that which is to be known, chittim justanyam punyam or virtue, and achittim achetaniyam not to be thought of, or pupum, sin: or chittim and achittim may be explained by justum and opnatum, knowledge and ignorance; martan, mortals or men, has no epithuts; the Scholiest supplies them; the comparison runs, prishtherovita crijina cha, like backs bright, (kantani) und ill-bearing (duranhani); for the borses and the groom, (asheapaka), we are indebted to Sayana.

Dicasputra angiraso bhavena, or may we, the sons of heaven, be Angirasus; or, according to the Scholiast, bhatmantah, presented of superior power; according to a text cited by the Commentator, which, however, is not very exploit, the Angirasus are the sons of Aditys, angiramm unlitysputratuam amnayate; the text is tasya yed retah prothaman unladipyata tad asan adityo abhavat, ityapakramya ye ungara asans te angiraso abhavat, that which was his seed was first manifested as Adityo, thence, in succession, those which were the cinders became the Angiranus 2 see vol. 1, p. 198, note on 5.

WEALTH-CONTAINING MOUNTAIN Addring rujema dhantnam, may allude to the rock in which the coses were hidden, or odes may be rendered cloud (megha), by the disruption of which rain is made to fall.

Suchid agen didbitim: diptam sthanam tejus chagaeschlan: Mahidham, Yajur, XIX. 69, explains this by ravi-sumdalam, the orb of the sun, and gives a different interpretation to the last phrases; may we, dividing the rays of the sun, and piereing the earth (with sacrificial pests and the like), also proceed by the path of the gods, or to heaven: it is rather a bold interpretation, however, to convert aparama, the third plur of the third preterite, into aparrimmah, first plur, of the present with the sense of the potential; this and the three tollowing verses occur in the Atheror-Veda, XVIII. 3, 21, 24.

18. HERD OF CAPTLE IN A WELL-STORED STALL-Ayntheco Eshumati pushroh akhyat devanus grij-janimanti, is, literally, like a herd in food-possessing animals, he has said of the gods that which birth is night; janima, Sayana interprets go-sangham, and makes out the rest as above; or he proposes an alternative, not more intelligible; the second half of the stanza is equally obscure as the first; martanum chid ureaskirakriprun widhe chid arga upurasuu anoh; areaskik is rendered by Sayana, prajo, progen), as if it was the nominative, instead of being the accus. plural; and if so, there is no nom, to akripron, were made able: the word is remarkable, and is made more so by Sayana's reference to Yaska, Nic. v. I. where the word means, as usual, Apsgras, and the stymology is urcobbye ashenta, or urubhyam ashenta, who pervades or proceeds from the thigh, conformably to the Pauranik legend of her birth from the thigh of Narayana: see also the Vikramorvaski of Kalidasa, which shows the legend to be of some antiquity,

PAGE 91.

- Before Supper Dearn.—Para tanagitaes achittat, lit, before the unconsciousness of the thunderbolt; implying, according to the Scholiast, a state of unconsciousness, or death as sudden as if the work of the thunderbolt.
- To Max-destroying Rudea.—Rudeago weighte, the man-slayer, Rudea; the Scholiast says, of wicked men-

PAGE 52.

7. To the Extensive Year.—Sharove bribatyoi: sharuh, sharut, samuntawah, or sharu, may mean mirrit, the female personification of evil, who, by some unaccountable madvertence, I have turned, in a former passage, into a male.

deity: see vol. 1. p. 57, verse 6: nirriti does occur, however, in the masculine; as in the scholia on the Taittiriya Yajush, 1. 2, 11: nirritir yajnavighati rakshasah, an evil spirit disturbing sacrifice. Cal. Ed. p. 405: and in the comment of Bharataseau on the word nairrita in the Amarakosha, 1. 1, 56, he gives nirriti as synonymous with nairrita; nirritir can nairrita iti va, citing the Ratnakosha in confirmation, nairritas tu khasaputro rakshasa nirritis-cha sah, Nairrita, the son of Khasa, a Rakshasa, he is also Nirriti; in the passage of the first Ashtaka adverted to, the epithets are feminine, and the change of sex is unwarranted.

- The Sux Milken, etc.—Duduke prishes-udhas: Prishes here, according to the comment, is a synonyme of Sucya.
- 11. The Sun was Manifest as Agni was engenbered.—Alluding to the early morning sacrifics with fire, probably instituted by the Angienses.

PAGE 93.

- 16. Even to be Recited Poems, Ninekana (m). Lavgani; nitaram vaktaogani, kavibbik kritani, those which are made by poets ever to be recited.
- 1. Like a King attended, etc.—Rajemmaran übbena; the latter (übbe) may mean fearless, (host understood) gatabhayena, or, as immal, hastina; ama has also different interpretations, a minister, for amatga, or ama, an associate; or sickness, inflicting it on the foe; the verse occurs in the Nirukta, vi. 13, and is explained as in the text; and again in the Yajush, xiii. 9, with, upon the whole, a similar explanation.

FOLLOWING THE SWIFT-MOVING HOST.—Trishwim and praxitim drumanth is explained by Sayana, kshipraga manim probrishian sensor unageshchine: Yaska puts the two first into the third case, trisheys and prasitys, but does not give any meaning to the latter; the first he explains quick; Sayana also gives the reading, and explains the nous by scatatoga gutys, with extended or continuous march: Maksathure gives prasifs the import it had in the first part of the verse, a not, a snare; this and the three following verses occur in the Yajush, XIII. 10, 13; the explanation occasionally dightly varies.

7. Direct thy Flames against Opposing Rays.

Prati spasho visrija: spashah is explained by Sagans, parabadhakan rashmir, or he says it may mean charms, spies, sent to determine between true and false, satgan-ritavivekurtham; so Mahidhara interprets it, prasidhin, but he understands by it hinders, imprisoners, bandhanakritoh.

PAGE 94.

 Who acts as an Enemy.—Aratim chakre may also mean who annuls or prevents our donation, one who makes a gift no gift.

 WHETHER KINDRED ON ALLED. Jamim ajamim, bandhum abandhum; or it may mean whether formerly overcome or not; Mahidhara explains it pumaraktam apunaraktam, repeated or not repeated; or punak punastaditam staditum, repeatedly chastised or not chastised.

6. A BRAHMAN COMING QUICKLY.—Feate brahmane:

to the greatly augmented.

Shine upon his Dwelling.—Aryo vi duro abhidgaut, is also, as Sayana observes, differently rendered by same, he the worshipper especially shines over his house, aryo yojamano grilan abhi visheshena dyotate.  Good Hosses and Good Cars.—This, according to the Scholisst, is metaphorical for, may we, being with sons, grandsons, and the like, worship thee.

PAGE 95.

13. PRESERVED THE BLIND SON, ETC.—Allusion is made, according to the commentator, to the well-known fifthy legend of the birth of Dirghatamas, who, it is here said by Sagana, recovered his sight by worshipping Agni.

Cherished those Benevolent Rays.—Rarakska tan sukrito vishwavedas; it is not very clear whether vishwavedas applies to Agni or to Dirghalamas; Sayana, by inserting bhavan, your honour, adopts the former, but it seems questionable.

PAGE 96.

 Filling Born — Dieiburha, is explained by the Scholiast, dwayer madhyamottamayoh ethonogoh parivridhah.

Who Comprehens etc.—Some-make padem no gole apagulham visiduan agair makeum predu socian munisham; the detached position of several of these words makes the sense somewhat unsertain; manisham, the Scholinst connects with Sama, and explains it justiceyam, what is to be known; apagulham atyuntarahasyam he would seem to attach to padam, but both renderings are perhaps questionable.

5. False in Thousar, False in Spence.—Anritah, manasasatyarahita; asstyah, suchikasatyarahitah.

This Deer Aress or Held.—Idam padam ajimate gabhiram, they engender this deep station, that is, according to Sayana, narakasthanam.

 THE SEVEN ELEMENTS.—Soptadhatu, the Scholiast says, means seven sorts of animals, agreeably to the text. Sapta gramyah pashwah saptaranyah, seven tame, seven wild

 VAISHWANARA - Vaishwanara is here said to be understood in the sense of the sun, upon the authority of Yaska, or, according to different opinions, the word expresses again as lightning; or aditya.

Above the Immovemble Heaven.—Sasanya charmon adhi prishneh the Scholinst explains sumpata in nishchulasya dyulokasya upari charanaya, for going above the immovemble heaven like the sun.

- Assemblage of the Great (Derties). Mahamanikum, the solar orb, according to the Scholiast identified with weishwanara, suryamandalam vaishwanara.
- 10. Assiduous (Performes).—The text has only prayatesya, which the commentator amplifies into abstrate yeafirupeas siyotasya exishwanarasya, of exishwanara active in the form of the abstractive fire and the rest.

PAGE 98.

- 14 LET THEM SUFFER FROM DISTRESS.—That is, if they pretend to worship Agai without the oblation, and other materials of a burnt offering, they cannot expect his favour.
- 15. Shines like a Man with Opulence.—Kahitir-ma raya, like a raja, or the like, with wealth of cattle and treasure, rayashouding dhanesa rajodiriva.
- PREVAILEST OVER ALL THAT IS DESIRABLE Vishimum abhyasi manma: the last is interpreted by Sayana, mananiyam shatrunam dhanam abhibhawasi, thou conquerest the desirable wealth of foes.
- THERCE CIRCUMAMBULATES.—The expression is not very clear, Paryagnistrivishtyeti, Agni goes round, having thrice returned, triv-avribse pargets or trivis pargagail krigate, Agai is thrice made around, which would imply that the fire was thrice circumambulated; the next stanza, however, clearly shows that it is Agai who goes round, either the altar or the victim: Sayana says the latter, parito gachchhati parkum.

PAGE 99.

- BRIGHT RAYS....FED WITH, ETC.—Asya cajino na shoku may also be rendered ashuu ina diptayo dravanti, his raya apread fast like horses.
- 7. Whose Parents need not unge.—No metera pitars un chid inten, nor mother and father, i.e., heaven and earth, are quickly powerful in urging him; yanga preshane kshiprum een no probhamatah, is Saguna's interpretation.

DESCENDANTS OF MANC.—Manushishu vikshu, may mean only human beings.

8. Twice Five Sisters. The fingers employed in producing fire by attrition.

LIKE FEMALES AWAKING HIM AT DAWN,—Usharbudham atkaryo na dantam, striya ina nishasi budhyamanam hacisham bhakishakam: there is no verb, unless jijanan is borrowed from the first half of the stanza: the meaning of danta may be also questionable.

11. THE PRAYER HAS BEEN COMPOSED.—Akari Brahma, the prayer or praise has been made; rather unfavourable to the doutrine of the uncreated origin of the Veda.

PAGE 100:

 THE RITE.—According to Mahidhura, Yajur-Veda,
 III. 15, the Agni here intended is the Aharaniya which is kindled before the Dakshina. APNAVANA AND OTHER BHRIDGE — Apnacano bhrigavah: according to Sayana, Apnavanah is the name of a Rishi of the family of Bhrigu: Mahidhara makes it the plur. apnacanah, and other Rishis, and the Bhrigus: he says it may also them putrementah, having sons, an epithet of the Bhrigus.

 Messenger of the Worshipper. — Datam vivasscatah: the second is explained manushyasya yajamanasya, of the man, of the worshipper.

THE RESPLENDENT,—Bhrigavanam-bhrigavad-acharantam, going like Bhriga, that is, dipyamanam-ityartha, shining, or being kindled.

 Loved Xet Unapproached. Vitam-kentom; asritam, dahabhayadasseitam, bright or beloved, not honoured or served, through fear of being burnt.

SEEKING OBLATIONS FROM ANY QUARTER.—Kuchid arthinum: the first is for kwachit, anywhere, anyhow; seeking fuel, butter, etc., sumidajpatikavih swikurvantum.

- 8. Entirety obviate the Removable Ilis.—Atikshiprena vidlogati, is explained kshepyangenwinashagitum arhani duritani atishayena masayata, may be entirely destroy the evils which are capable of being destroyed.
- Sama-Veda, I. 23: Professor Benfey's text reads, Mahan asyaya adexayam: Professor Muller has mahanasi ya im-a-devayam.
- Hotel and Point.—Two of the sixteen priests are here named; the Hotel is the offerer of the oblation; the function of the Potel doubtful.

4. The Oppiciating Priest at the Sacrifice.—Uta gna again adherer: the meaning of gun is, usually, decopatal, a wife of a deity, agreeably to which, one tendering suggested by Sayana is again yaje decopatain yajati, Agai worships the wives of the gods at the sacrifice; or, as an alternative, gna, as equivalent to gachchhan, going, may designate the adhwarys, who moves about at the ceremonial.

PAGE 103.

- THE DIRECTOR (OF THE CEREMONIAL).—Upanakta, the priest who pronounces the formulæ of sacrifice, or he may be the Brahma, or the Sadasya, directing what is to be done.
  - 8. The verse occurs in the Yajush, III. 36.
- 1. Yajush, xv. 44: as the text is very elliptical, Mahidhara has a somewhat different explanation: thus, of ashwam na, like a horse, he says it alludes to the Ashwamedhika horse, as the priests celebrate him at the sacrifice: Sayana explains the simile, Agni is the bearer of oblations as a horse is of burthers, bodharam ashwamica tatha hawisho xahakam: of the epithet of stomaih, or ohaih, both agree in deriving it from maha, to hear, but one explains it bearing, or causing to acquire, fruit or reward; the other, exasting to attain to Indra and the test, Indradi-prapakaih: kratum na, Sayana renders upakarhamamica, like a benefactor; Mahidhara explains it sacrifice, may we celebrate or augment that thy sacrifice. Agni, with praises, etc.; the verse occurs also in Sama-Veda, t. 434, n. 1127.
- This and the preceding occur in Yajur-Voda, xv. 45 and 46, and Sama-Voda, n. 1128, 1129.

8. In the Street of the Gods. So Sayana explains, no nabhih sadane; nabhi, bandhasam, binding or fastening:

devanam sthane, in the place of the gods, and sasminnudhan, surmsmin gajne, in every sacrifice.

1. By DAY, By Night. That is, obletions are to be offered with fire both morning and evening.

3. THE OFFERINGS (TO THE GODS).—Kavya for kavyanis explained by Sayana, acts in connection with fire, such as bringing the deities, conveying oblations and the like, or it may mean the functions of the adheavyu; otherwise it might have been thought to refer to the kavya, or offerings to the Pitrix or numes.

PAGE 105.

WHOSE TONGUE EXHILARATES THEM.—By taking as their mouth the oblation.

THE HUMILIATOR OF DEMONS.—Dununasam has various meanings: rakshasam damanakarana-manasopetum, being intent on destroying the Rakshasas, having a mind for taming, or a tamed or humble mind, a liberal or a domestic mind.

- 2. PROSPEROUS AND DESTROYING HIS EXEMIES, ACQUIRES RICHES.—Doska shivah sahasah suna yam dem a chit sachase swasti: Sayana refers shivah to Agni, as shiva-kara, making happy, but then there is no antecedent to sam, whom.
- The Possesson of Great Stresson.—Bribatah Eshatrigasya is explained by the Scholinst. mahabi balasya.
- FREE FROM THE DEFECTS OF EARTH.—Adder anagare is rendered by Sayana, bhumer anagasah, paparahitan: in what sense the sins of earth, or against the earth, is to be understood, must be a matter of conjecture.

PAGE 106.

 REWARD OF WHAT HAS BEEN WELL DONE.—Yachehlar tokaya, tanayoya, sam yoh: sam the Scholiust explains by paparapodramana shantim, expiation or pacification of violences of the nature of sin, and yoh, sukritotpaditam sukham, happiness produced by what is done well.

- This is apparently a mere paraphrestic announcement that the dawn having appeared the morning fire is to be lighted.
- 2. HABTEN TO FULFIL THEIR OFFICES.—Yat surgam divy-arobanti the Scholiast explains, yada rashmogah surgasya arahanam karayanti, when the rays of light cause the ascent of the sun, otherwise the nominative of the verb might be thought to be Mitra, Varuna, and the rest, Mitra being the deity presiding over the day, Varuna over the night.

PAGE 107.

- 5. See the preceding hymn.
- Is brought to our Sacrifice. Parisipate has, however, a technical import, implying a formal ceremonial, the bringing of the fire taken from the household fire wherewith to light the averificial fire, saji and being a borse; that is, whom they load as a horse bringing a load; Agni being brought to become the bearer of the oblation, hasir vahanah.

PAGE 108.

- Fojur-Veda, H. 35, Same-Veda, I. 30; the sommentator on the latter interprets the year paryekramit as taking the offerings for conveyance to the gods.
- Shiniava.—A certain Somogoji: we have several princes of the name in the Puranas, but none distinguished by this patronymio: the Scinjugas are also a people in the west of India: Vishus P. 193.
- 7. I withonew not Achehho na huta ndarum is explained, abhimukhena kumarena huta san tavashtuvalabdhw na mirgatanon asmi, being called by the present prince, I did not go forth without receiving the two horses.

 SPIRITLESS Soma.—Rijishin, poss. from Rijisha, wigatasurah somah, the Soma of which the essence in gone.

PAGE 109.

- The Seven Represent Rays, etc.—Ajijanat sopta karun ahna chich-chakrur vayuna grinantah is rather obscure: it is explained by the Scholisst as in the text.
- (INDRA).—The Scholinst says Surga, but this can only be as identical with Indra, to whom the hymn is addressed.

PAGE 110.

- THE SAGE.—The text has Lavim, usually rendered kranta-darshi, the seer of the past; but according to the commentator it is here a synonyme of Kutsa; as in the next stanza.
- 10. Kursa.—A Rajorshi, the son, it is here said, of Ruru, also a royal saint: frequent mention of the name has occurred, see Index, vols. L and H, but it is borne by different persons: Kutsa, the author of several Suktas (vol. L p. 151), being termed the son of Angiras; whilst (ibid. p. 173) we have a Kutsa, son of Arjuna.
- 40. The Trotheol. Woman has been perfected.— After the destruction of the enemies of Kutsa, Indra conveyed him to his palace, where Shachi, the wife of Indra, could not tell which was her husband as they were both exactly alike.
  - Shushna.—Vol. I. pp. 75, 156; vol. II. pp. 97, 151.
     Kuyaya.—Vol. I. p. 156; vol. II. p. 157.

WITH THE WHEEL OF THE CHARIOT OF THE SUN.—Vol. II. p. 21, v. 9, p. 97, v. 4.  Mrigage is said to be the name of an Arms: Pipru has frequently been named. Vidathin is the name of a Rojo.

PAGE 111.

FIFTY THOUSAND KRISHNAS.—Vol. 1, p. 151, v. 1.: these are here also said to be Rakshasus of a black colour, Erishnavarnani Rakshassi: the legend aliuded to formerly specified but 10,000: here we have panchashat sahasra.

- 14. Like the Cervine Elephant:—Mrigo so hasti is explained gaja-vishesha, mriga icu, a sort of elephant like a deer: quare if the Sivatherium existed in the time of this Sukta.
  - 15. THE GODDESS OF NUTATION.—The goddess Lakehai.

PAGE 113.

- 20. As the Bhritous parricular a Car for Use—Bhriqueo na vatham is all we have in the text: the Scholiast explains the first diptas-takshanah, bright or dexterous carpenters: the object of the comparison is not very obvious, but apparently it intends, that as a wheelwright makes a chariot for a special purpose, so the worshipper performs worship in order to secure Indra's favour.
- 21. A New Hymn has been made for Thee Akura Brahma: the phrase has occurred before.
- Heaven, Thy Phonentron, erc.—Suring to junita mangata dyauh: the commentator renders dyau by dyctamana, and considers junita to imply Projupaté.

PAGE 114.

 His Phogeniros. — Projapati, again, according to the Scholast.

As THE WIND IS DRIVEN BY THUNDERING CLOUDS.— The simile is, however, applied to Indra by the Scholiast in another sense; as the wind is impelled by thunder-clouds, so Indra is influenced by the hymns of the worshippers-

14. STOPPED ETESA, ETC.—See vol. 1, 11, 4, 15, vol. II, p. 21, v. 9, p. 97, v. 4

firmametit.

15. Asiknyam yajamano na hota: the commentator considers hote as put for hoterum, the nom, for the accus., and explains it the invoker, Agni, aboutaram agnim; he supplies also the copulative, sinchuti somum, he sprinkles the Some; the stanza consists but of one pade, and is considered to refer to the preceding one.

PAGE 115.

21. The same as the last verse of the preceding Sukta-SUKTA 8 .- According to the legend recited by Suyana, the Riski, Vamadeva, whilst yet in the womb, was reluctant to be born in the usual manner, and resolved to come into the world through his mother's side : aware of his purpose, the mother prayed to Aditi, who thereupon came, with her son Indra, to expostulate with the Rishi; this is the subject of the Sukta; the interesting part of this absurd story is its accordance with the birth of Shakya, according to the Buddhists, who may possibly have borrowed the notion from the Veda:

PAGE 116:

S. INDRA DRANK THE COSTLY SOMA.—Here, Sayawa observes. Vamadera vindicates his own wilfulness by the example of Indra, who came to Treashtri's house uninvited, and, by force, drank the Some prepared for other gods.

4. THERE IS NO ANALOGY, ETC .- Aditi defends her son upon the plea that, as his period of gestation was marvellous, his actions are not to be compared with those of any others.

- 5. In SECRET.—In the privacy of the lying-in chamber, anworthy of so great a divinity.
- 6. Ask them what is this they say.—That is, they are proclaiming the greatness of Indra, by which, and not by their own efforts, they have been extricated from the cloud.
- The Sacred Strains Declare—Kinn shall assert visits are certain verses repeated at some sacrifices to Indra and the Morats in their honour, and are tantamount to an acquittal of the charge imputed to Indra, and here anticipated by Aditi of brahmanicide, Vritra being a Brahman; the crime was transferred to the waters in the shape of foam; these explanations are rather, perhaps, derived from the Pauranik developments of the original legends, imperfectly handed down.
- 8 AND ff.—The rest of the Sukta is by the Rishi in praise of Indra.
- Kushava.—The commentator says a Rakshasi, whom Indra, although at first swallowed by her, drove out of the lying-in chamber.

VYANSA.—The name of a Rakshasa who also attempted to destroy the infant Indre.

PAGE 117.

- 12. Since thou hast Stain the Father.—Yat prokshinah pitaram padagrihya: the particulars of this incident are not related by Sayana, who contents himself with saying the allusions are variously explained by Taittirigakas— Taittiriya Sanhita, vt. t. III. 6.
- 13. In EXTREME DESTITUTION, ETC.—So Manu has, Vamadeva, who well knew right and wrong, was by no means rendered impure, though destrous, when oppressed with hunger, of eating the flesh of dogs for the preservation of his life, x. 106; ichchhan attum, wishing to eat, might be considered equivocal, but the text here states show outrant peche, I cooked the entails of a dog.

THE FALCON.-That is, swift as a hawk, shyeno-mit zhighragamindrah. PAGE 118.

3. ON THE DAY OF THE FULL MOON. - Aparton is the phrase of the text, explained pournamasyum

6. TURVITI AND VAYYA -See Vol. 1, p. 82, v. 6, p. 92,

v. 11 7. HE HAS MILKED THE BARREN COWS. - Adhok staryo dansupatnih, that is, he has removed the barrenness occasioned by the grief of their separation by rescuing the cattle carried off by the Pani.

9. Agant.—The commentator has only a certain female,

Agru nama kachit

WHERE HE WAS BEING DEVOURED BY THE ASTR-Vamribhir-adanam, upajihvikabhir-adyamanam: Sayana evidently understands by upapiheika, the white ant, as he explains, niveshanat, calmikakhyat sthanat: urlmika is the familiar term for a hillock thrown up by the insect.

PAGE 119:

THE SERPENT, -Ahim, explained surpain: the presence of a snake in an ant-hill is still a popular notion.

THE JOINTS WERE RESTRUNG.—The phraseology is partly doubtful: ukhachhit samaranta peren, Sayana interprets it valmikahhyaya ukhuyas chhedakani parvani samagachchhanta the joints which had been relaxed or corroded by the insects of the ukha, or ant-hill, were re-united by Indra.

11. See p. 115:

 Yajur-Veda, xx. 48, 49: in the first. Makidhara supplies balaik instead of marudbhik as the subst. to ojishthebhik; and in the second renders sujasates for the sake of bestowing food.

PAGE 120.

4. With the Noon-Day Hymn.—Samundhasa mamadah prishthyena: prishthyam is termed the madhyandinusawana udgatribhirudgiyamanam stotram.

PAGE 121.

 Alono with Us.—Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda, XX. 17, says, with the gods, densih saha; Sayana has asmabhik saha.

LIKE THE RADIANT SUN.—Dyour no kshatram abhibhuti pushgat: Mahidhara connects the simile with what precedes, whose many exploits (are celebrated) like the heaven: he refers, also, kshatram to the sacrificer, may be, (Indra), cherish (our) strength.

- 2. The Powenson Leadens. Frishnyani aria, balabhutan netrin, that is, the Maruts.
- 5. UTTERS A VOICE ENJOINING MEN TO WORSHIP.

  Vachum junagan yajadhyayi: the speech of Indra is the thunder, the effect of which is to induce the parcus decrumcultor et infrequent, whether Roman or Hindu, retrorsum vola dare.

PAGE 122.

6. Or THE WORSHIPPER Authograms, from ushij, a priest, one who employs priests.

INDRA.—Adri is the name in the text, a name, it is said of Indra, from dri to divide, to tear, as foes.

 THE PROTECTOR OF THE WORLD,—Bharenea is explained as the patronymic of Bharenea, which means jagualbharts, the protector of the world, or Projoputi.

IN THE SECRET THOUGHTS.-The text has only guha pra, which Sayana expands into guharupa-hridaye prabhavati: it, that is, the strength, balam, of Indra, prevails or presides over the heart, in the nature of secreey or mystery.

7. This verse is somewhat obscurely expressed; the purport, according to the Scholizst, is, that the might of Indra always protects his worshipper. Indrasya balam sarrada yajamanam palayati.

- 8. HE PINDS IT IN THE HAUNT OF GAURA AND GAVATA -Vidat gaurasya gavayasya gahe: vidat here has no government, and gold for grika, a dwelling, is a strange term as applicable to the Gaura and Garaya which Sayana says, are two species of wrigs, a deer, or any wild animal; but they are in fact two kinds of wild cattle. Bos-gavans, or Gavans-frontalis, and Bibos gaurus, or B. cavifrons, confounding the latter also with the Bibos asil of Silhet: the purport of the expression, according to the Scholiast, is, that Indra obtains those two animals tau dwan pashu labhate, either for himself as sacrificial flesh, or for his worshippers, some of whom, at least, even now, would not object to eat the flesh of the wild oxen.
- 10. BESTOWS RICHES ON MAN. Various purare kah, manushyaya dhanam karoti; it might be thought to referto a descendant of Puru, but the first vowel of Puru is short.

PAGE 123.

I. FOOD, HYMN, SOME AND PRAYERS.-Alluding to the four-fold forms of offering worship, Brahma, Stoma, Soma, and Uktha: the first is said to be the cakes steeped in butter and the like offerings or oblations; the second, the praise that is recited aloud; the third, the libation of the Soma juice; and the fourth, the praise or prayer that is repeated silently or in a lower tone, not chaunted or sung.

 The Investing Parushnin - Urnum parushnin is explained achhadikam paramatim nadim, the river having joints or bends covering—the comment does not say what.

Whose Bordering Districts he has frequented.

The phraseology here is somewhat obscure, and the Schohast does not materially enlighten us: the text is, pasyah parcons sukhyoya ciege; lit., whose joints through friendship he has approached: Sayana explains it, yasyah nadyah bhimum deshan sukhikarmane samerilaran, the separate dustricts of which river he has, for the sake of friendly acts, covered or concealed.

4. PARENTS OF THE MOVING SUN.—Matara bharati
goh: the latter Sayana explains gunduh suryosya.

PAGE 124.

8. The phraseology is very obscure in some parts; shami shashamanasya shaktih is explained by Sayana, shamanam sturatah stuti-kasma, but what this means, especially in connection with what follows, asmadryak shushu-chanasya yamya, it is difficult to say.

PAGE 126.

- 7. RESOLVING TO KILL ETC.—Jighanson-druham, dhawrasam, anindram: the last of the three epithets determines the gender of the party, but we have no other clue: the Scholiast supplies Rakskasim: who she may be is cowhenintimated; but from what follows it may be thought to mean death, the debt of nature, the payment of what Indra's favour delays by prolonging life; but this is mere conjecture; the comment is of no avail.
- Rita Rita ordinarily means sacrifice, or truth, or water; here it may apply, according to Sayona, to Indea.

or to Aditys, or to the three former personified as divinities: the following stanzas are a succession of changes on the word.

- THE KINE ENTERED INTO THE SACRIFICE.—As presents made to the officiating priests; or the phrase may mean also, the rays of light have entered into the water, guru ritam aciccibut, rashmaya udakam aciccibut.
- 10. Desirous of Possessino Water.—Ritasya shushmas-turya-u-gavayuh: is rather enigmatic; the Scholiast explains it as in the text, shushmo, balam, turayas turnamgavyuh-u-charths; jalakamascha bhavati.

PAGE 127.

3. Inplicted of Austerity upon these Persons— Rivikuonsas-tanuah, are explained by Sagana, meakiyani sharirani tapusa rechayanto yajamanah, worshippers emaciating their own bodies by penance: if correctly interpreted, therefore, we have the ascetic penances of the Hindus, recognized by the text of the Veda.

PAGE 128.

- 8. WHEN THE LORD IS ENGAGED IN THE LONG BATTLE.

   Dirgham yad ajim abhyakhyad arya: Sayana explains arya by seami, lord, that is, Indea; and Patni, in the following passage, he says, is Indea's wife; but it would be more consistent with the concluding passage to render arya as the name of the orthodox Hindu, in whose behalf his wife propitiates Indea.
- 9. A MAN HAS REALIZED, ETC.—The text is bhugusa teamam acharat kanigas: lit, by much a man acquires a little, wealth or value: kaschid pangena dravgena alpataram mulyam prapnoti: the kaschit must be understood, therefore.

of the vendor, which is consistent with what follows in this and the next verse; the meaning of this and the following verse is thus explained, according to Segano, by ancient ucharyas, skilled in religious doctrines; one (a vendor) who takes a small price for valuable goods, comes afterwards to the buyer, and says, this has not been sold by me, and, so saying, he requires the balance of the price; but he, the vendor, does not recover the full price, not does he get back the article; according to the bargain between them it may not be otherwise; the sale has taken place, and if the bargain has been kept, then it has only to be considered that such is the object of the price, and that is the conclusion; a bargain has been made, and the (stipulated) price given; therefore, in the first place, an agreement is to be made by me; so reflecting, Vamadera, having by much praise got Indra into his possession or subjugation, purposes to make a bargain when about to dispose of him, as in verse 10.

PAGE 129.

- Light. Jyotie; but the commentator explains it water; Jyotie udakam.
- AND LONG BEHOLD THE RESING SUN.—That is, may the sacred fire long be kindled in the house of the sacrificer at the hour of sunrise.

PAGE 130.

I This and the two following verses are attributed either to Indra or to Vamadem: in the latter case it is said the sage uttered them while yet in the womb, knowledge of truth being generated in him, and enabling him to identify himself with universal existence: through the eye of supreme truth I am everything, paramacthalrishtys kritmem sham asmityarthan; we have here, therefore, the basis of the pantheistic Vedanta.

- To THE VENERABLE MANU.—The text has only aryaya, the Scholinst supplies Manure,
  - 3. Shambara See vol. I. p. 75, v. 6.
- 4. With a Wheeless Car.—Achakraya wadhaya is explained, chakrarahitena rathena, with a car without wheels: the text has harpam, but the Scholiast says this is a metonymy for the Soma, which, as we have before seen, (note on III, 4, 5, 7), is said to have been brought from heaven by the Gayatri, in the form of a hawk; according to Sayana we are to understand here by the hawk the Supreme Spirit, Parabrahus, but this seems to be the notion of a later day.

PAGE 131.

- 1. But as a Hawk I came forth with Speed.—That is, according to the Scholiast, urtil the sage comprehended the difference between the body and soul, and learned that soul was unconfined, he was subject to repeated births; but in this stage he acquired divine knowledge, and burst through his bonds with the force and celerity of a hawk from its nest; as the Nitimanjari says, Vamadera shyenarapem asthaya garbhad-yogana niheritah, Vamadera, having assumed the form of a hawk, came forth from the womb by the power of Yoga.
- 2. The Imperior of All.—The Paramatma, or Supreme Spirit.

BEYOND THE WINDS.—The vital sits, or life, the cause of worldly existence, which is pain.

The Aitarcya Brahmana, as above mentioned, narrates this incident in the same manner.

4. Antah-parnam, ton-madhye sthitam: the Brahmana says, as we have seen, one nail of the left-foot, but the shaft was broken by the collision, the fragments of the mail became the quills of the fretful porcupine, those of the arrow. water-snakes, flying foxes, and worms;

PAGE 132:

 THE EVERYWHERE-GOING WHEEL, ETC.—Make druke, prabhutasya drogdhuh, of the very mighty oppressor or tyrant, alluding probably to his heat

3. Before the Noon .- Pura madhyandinat: in the forenoon, when the Some is drunk, and thence Indra and Agni have been invigorated.

AS ROBBERS ARE THE DESTROYERS OF THOSE, ETC. The text has only durge durane kratum an putam, as of those gone on account of business in a difficult place; where protection is difficult, Sayana supplies, from robbers.

4. THOU HAST MADE THE SERVILE RACES ABJECT. - Visho darir-akrinoraprashastah: dasih as the adjective of rishah, prajah, people, men, is explained, karmahinah having no special or religiously instituted rites or functions, which is not incompatible with the literal purport, slave, or servile; aproshastah is rendered garhitah, reviled, vile; the expression is important as marking the existence of low and service olassen.

PAGE 133;

3. THE HOLY PLACES. - Suturba, abobhavaní tirthavi; the phrase would imply that there were places of pilgrimage at this period.

5. The phraseology is rather doubtful, brikaddirungs rays akayyas, a davane purukshah, which is explained, mahaddipter asumantat stutyasya bahusunanya dhanasya dane nimitte bhejanasas-team bhajamana bhavena; may we be enjoying thes for the sake of the gift of wealth of much food, every way commendable and very brilliant.

PAGE 134.

- Superior to thee more excellent than thou.
   Same-Veda, t. 203: Bentoy's text reads uttaram and jyayas in the neuter: instead of uttara and jyayan in the masculine, as in the Rich.
- Thou hast stolen the sun, but this is explained by Sagana by the more usual legend.

PAGE 135.

- The Daughter of the Sky.—The dawn, extinguished by the ascendency of India throughout the day.
- 12. The Swollen Sindro when Arrested.—Sindhum vibalyam vitasthamm; vigatabalyamstham, whose youth was passed, i.e., who was full of water, sampurnajolam, and vitishthamanam, stopping or being stopped.
- 16. Participant in Sacred Hymns.—See above, Sukto XIX. verse 9.
- Aparayat, he enabled to cross; according to the Scholiast, he made them worthy to be inaugurated, or crowned, which they were not at first, as the text implies, by amatarau, not bathers; alluding to their exclusion from the succession in favour of the youngest son Puru by their father Yayati; see Vishnu Purana, p. 4**.
- 18. Those T ___EYAS.—The Scholiast renders argaaryabhimanau: aryanabhimaninau, presuming on their dignity as argas, and being without any faith or devotion

19. BLIND AND LAME.-We have here another, and somewhat contradictory statement from that of a former passage, when the blindness and lameness were attributed to one person, Paraerij, Vol. n. 142, verse 12, and note; here we have not only the dual, jokita for jokitou, but also dies for diese, the two, which agrees better with the still earlier allusion to the same defects in two different individuals; Vol. L 170, verse 8, and note.

PAGE 136.

- 20. Stone-Built Cities, Ashmanmayinam puram: whether the notion of masonry be confined to the walls, or extended to the dwellings, it indicates familiarity with something more substantial than mud hovels.
- 24. The text has comorn pusho camon bhago camon decah karulati; the triple repetition of mena, cananipum, dhanam, would seem to separate not only Bhana, but Karulati from Pushan, but if the last be rightly rendered by krittadanta or adantaka, the broken-toothed, or toothless, it applies to Pushon: the attribute has not occurred before, though the Scholiast quotes the Veda for it, Pusha prapishtahhago adantako hityadi shrutishu; according to the Puranas, Pushan had his teeth knocked out by Virabhadra's followers at Daksha's sacrifice: Vishnu Pur. 67, note 6.
  - 1. This seems to be a popular stanza; it occurs twice in the Sama-Veda, 1 169, 232; once in the Yajush, 27, 29, and once in the Atharem, xx. 134; L.

2 and 3.—The same may be said of these two staurss ; they both occur in the other three Vedas, Sana-Veda, it. 33, 34; Yajur-Veda, 27, 40, 41; Atharea-Veda, 122, 2, 3. PAGE 138.

1. COME TO US QUICKLY. Annakam ardham, asmakam comipum, near to us: Mahidhara explains ardha, dwellingplace, nivasa desham, or hall of worship, deva-yajana-desham; it is properly, a half, whence Benfey renders it seite, but this is merely inferential, like the interpretations of Mahidhara, Sama-Veda, t. 181, Vajur-Veda, 33, 65.

PAGE 139.

- 17. Jass.—Khari, a certain measure; by metonymy, a jar or ever, drona-kalasha, holding such a quantity; in modern use it is the name of a grain measure, equal to sixteen dronas, or about three bushels.
- 22. Not regardless of the Worshippers.—He napat na patayitah, statrin azinashayitah, kintu palayitar, ityarthah; oh thou, not casting down, not injuring or destroying, those who praise, that is, cherishing them.

PAGE 140:

23. Kaninakeva vidradhe nave drupade arbhake; nave and arbhake have their usual meanings, new, small; kaninake is explained by shalabhanjike, dolls or puppets; vidradhe by wyadhe, arrayed, or arranged; and drupade by drumakhussthane sthite, standing on a place fixed, termed either a tree, or from a tree, a plank or platform, probably, answering to a stage on which puppets were exhibited.

SURTA-THE RIBHUS.—See vol. L 5. 5.

 WERE BORNE QUICKLY, ETC.—As applicable to the desired mortals, it alludes to their being transported to the aphere of the gods; if the rays of the sun are to be understood.
 it implies merely their dispersion through the sky.

PAGE 141.

7. See vol. u. p. 65, v. 11.

11. Wearied out by Penasce - Rite shruntasya sakhbhavanti decah, the gods are not through friendship, shrautat topo yuktot rite, except one wearied by penance, which would seem to apply to the worshipper; but again he says, etc. abranto ato doduk, they, wearied out, therefore gave.

PAGE 149.

- I. THE DIVINE WORD HAS DESIRED THE DRINKING. Drishana deni: in the Aitareya Brahmana it is said, Prajapati said to Savitri, these are thy fellow-students; do thou drink with them.
- 2 PRESCRENT OF YOUR CELESTIAL BIRTH Vidorage janmanah is explained, jananasya devation lakshanasya, devatica-propries januaritah, knowing the attainment of deification.

PAGE 143

- 7. SYMPATHIZING .- It is not easy to find an equivalent for Sajoshuh although the sense is obvious enough: sajosha Indra Varunena somam puhi, is, literally, India, who art co-pleased with Varana, drink the libstion; implying that they both derive the like satisfaction from the beverage which they imbibe together.
- 7. THE RITES. Ritupalibilit is explained, ritugajadesaili the defties to whom the Rifu sacrifice is dedicated,

THE WIVES OF THE GODS - Graspatnibhik: gna is usually rendered the wives of the gods: the compound is here explained stringurpalayitrysh, the female protectors of women: it may imply the goddesses, but there is no authority for such an interpretation.

8. WITH THE PARVATAS. - Poroutebhih, partoundhhih, partunyarchyamunair-devavisheshaik; a sort of derties to be worshipped at the Pareas, certain periods of the mouth, as the new and full moon, etc.

- 9. Accompliance Acrs productive or Good Results.—Swapatyani chakruh: according to the Scholiast, swapatana-mahamani karmani, acts, the means of accomplishing their good offspring or consequences: according to Sayana, also the relative ye refers to the antecedent in the next verse, te agrepat, they the first drinkers, the Soma being first offered at the evening sacrifice to the Ribhus.
- 1. AFTER THE MUNIFICENT INDRA.—Indram anu, Indram anusritys or anugumantu: having followed, or may they come after, Indra; or it would be more consistent to render it, may they come after (you) to Indra, etc., see the preceding note.

- WITH NUMEROUS ADHERENTS.—Shrace-virgout might be rendered food-comprehending-off-spring, but as praja has been already specified, the Scholiast interprets virgout, viros habens, by bhrityadibhirupetam, endowed with dependents,
- I. Ribbus.—The text has Ribbukshah which is properly the nom. sing. of Ribbukshin, a name of Indra: here Sayana identifies it with Ribbasah, the plur. nom. of Ribbus; in some of the following verses of this hymn the word appears as Ribbukshanah, the nom. or voc. plural of Ribbukshin substituting optionally, the short for the long vowel in the antepenultimate, Ribbukshanah for Ribbukshanah; see Sanskrit Gr., 2nd. edit., p. 460.

PAGE 147.

3. I offer you, etc.—Julee manusheat uparasu vikshu yushme sucha bribuddiveshu somam: the meaning is not very clear: upara is explained, those who are pleased or sport near the worship of the gods, decayajana samipe ramantah; tasu vikshu-prajasu, in or among such people:

brihaddiceshu, Sayana considers an epithet of deceshu understood:

4. Possessed of Treasures .- Vajinah, the possessors either of horses or food, is here used somewhat irregularly for Vaja: ayakshipra, according to the commentator, means as hard or strong as iron, ayovat, sarobhutaehiprah: sunishkah having good nishkas, a certain weight of gold, if not a coin-

Sons of Indra, Grandsons of Strength.—The text has here the nouns in the singular, son of Indra, son or grandson of strength, and inconsistently follows with val-cos, you, in the plural,

THIS LAST SACRIFICE -Ityagriyam, agre bhavum, would mean the first, the preceding, but Sayana explains it, triliyam arrunam, which is most consistent with the worship of the Ribhus.

- 5. SPLENDID WEALTH, ETC Such are the explanations of the epithets given to rayim, wealth, ribhum, yujam, sajintomum, indraswantam, sadasitanom, ashwinum, explained as in the text.
- 6. A Horse at the Sacrifice Medhasate so areato: perhaps a horse fit for the ashwamedha is implied.

PAGE 148.

I. HEAVEN AND EARTH. They are not named in the text, but the dual pron. cam, of you two, is supposed to imply them.

YOU TWO HAVE GIVEN A HORSE A SON, So Soughn explains the kahetrusum and urverasum of the text, deriving them from kshetru, land, urvara, fertile soil, and san, to give : why these should signify ashers and putra is not very obvious.

2. DADHIKHA -- Dudhikra, or us also read, Dudhikrovon, is given in the Nighastu of Yaska amongst the synonymesof askers, a horse: the form is noted in Panini, III. 2. 67; according to Mahidhara on Rick 6, of Sukta vII, Yajush, 23, 32, the etymology is dadhi, who beats, who carries his rider, and krama, to go; according to the Aitareya Brahmana, III. 15. 5, Agni, in the form of a horse, destroyed the Asuras by the desire of Bhuradwaja.

- 4. Puts to Shame the Adversary of the Pious Man. Vidatha nichikyat tiro aratim paryyapa ayoh, is explained judavyani janam, aramanam, arim ea, tiraskaroti stoturmanushyasya, knowing things cognizable, who disgrates the apponent, or the foc of the man, the praiser.
- 5. They call after him hastening, etc.—Shravaschachchha pashumachcha yutham, is explained annam kirttim va pashumud yutham cha achchha ubhilakshya gachchhantam suam unukroshauti, they call after him, that is Dudhikra, going, having in view either food or fame, or a herd consisting of cattle: Sayana rests his interpretation on that of Yaska, Nir. iv. 24: perhaps the anukroshanti should be again supplied as applicable to the pashumad-yutham.

PAGE 149.

 ADITI.—Aditi is considered by Sayana as an appellative, akhandaniya, the indivisible or infrangible, that is, Dadhikra.

PAGE 150.

- Or those who Paaise Him.—The text has marutam nama bhadram: Sayana explains marutam by stotrinam, of the praisers.
- MAY HE MAKE OUR MOUTHS FRAGRANT.—The mouth having been defiled by the use of inelegant language, according to Mahidhara: the verse occurs in the Sama-Veda, I 358; Yajush, 23, 32; and Atharvan, XX, 127, 3; according to the commentator on the Yajush, it is to be recited at the ashwamedha when the priests bring the queen away from the horse.

3. And appear him who is, etc.—This is a very elliptical passage: asya dravatas-turanyatahparnam no ver-anu vati pragardhinah, bit, of him running, quick-going, as after the flight of a bird, go they eager; the Scholiast supplies the ellipse, and as the verb anuyati is in the singular, he supplies a nominative, sarvah janah, every man.

As Swift as a Hawk.—Shyenasyeva dhrajato ankasam pari Dodhikraenah sahorja taritratah, literally, as of a hawk quick-going with respect to the insertion of the foot or to the breast, ankasam-padadharam urah-pradesham va of Dadhikravan, together with strength, or for the sake of strength together, enabling to cross: it is not easy to make any sense of this even with the help of the Scholinst, although there is nothing very difficult in the words: Mahidhara, Yajush, 9. 15, explains ankasam pari, a horse's trappings, the cloth, channel tail, etc., costrachamaradikam, over all his body, which fly open as the horse gallops, like the wings of a bird, whilst the horse himself has the speed of the hawk.

5. This stanza is knewn as the Hansavati Rich, and occurs twice in the Yajush, 10, 24, and 12, 14, as well as in the Aitareys Brahmana, IV, 20, 1; and although the commentators vary a little in their interpretation of the individual terms, they agree as to the purport of the whole, the identification of Adityo, or the sun in the type Dudhikro with Parabrahms, or the universal deity, and consequently his identity with all the other types of the supreme being; these terms are thus specified,—1. Hanse, from has to go, he who goes eternally to destroy, who destroys individually, or it is resolvable.

into aham, I, and sa, he, that is, I am that, the supreme: 2. Fasu, the appointer of the stations of all creatures, or all men, or that which abides (vasati) at all times, sarvada: 3. Hota, or sacrificer; and 4. Atithi, or quest, meaning in both cases Agai, or fire, first as the sacrificial, and secondly as culinary, fire; 5. Neishad the dweller among men, is explained Chaitanya, consciousness, or Prana, vitality, or, according to Sagana in the scholia on the Brahmana, sight, or the eye, according to the text "the sun, becoming the eye (of the world), entered into the two eyes (of man)";6. Varasad is uniformly rendered the dweller in the most excellent station, that is, the solar orb: 7. Ritosad is he who is present in truth, or in water, or in sacrifice; the comment on the Brahmana interprets truth. the text of the Veda, vedavahya: 8. Vyomasad, the dweller in the sky, has its literal meaning everywhere; only Soums makes it out to be the wind: 9. Abjah, who is born in the midst of the water, as, according to another text, udakamudhye khalvoyam jayate, Makidhara says, in the form of a fish, etc.; the Brahmana intimates that this refers to the apparent rising of the sun from the ocean and setting in the same; 10. Gojah, born amaist, goshu, rays; Mahidhara says, govi, prithicyam, in the earth, being identical with the elements: 11. Ritajoh, born of truth, from being visible by all, not invisible like Indra and the rest, is Sayana's explanation in this place; in his scholia on the Brahmana be interprets it, born from the mantres of the Vedas: Il. Adrija, mountain born, that is, in the eastern mountain, where he rises: Mahidhara says, born in stone in the farm of Agni, as if alluding to flint; or adri, having for one meaning a cloud, he may be said to be generated in the clouds in the form of rain: finally he is Ritam, truth, that is, according to Sayana, in both his comments, sound truth; or Parabrahma, as by another text, "Satyam juanum amuntam Brahma," truth, wisdom, infinitude, Brahma; and as he explains it in this text, abadhyam aureadhishthanam Brahma tatuam, the indefeasible, all-regulating principle, Brahma; so in his gloss on the Brahmana, truth, he says, is of two kinds, vyacuharikam, truth in speech and worldly dealings, and paramarthikam, or Parabrahma, the supreme universal spirit; he notices, also, the reading of another Shakha or Ritam brihat, which is followed in the Yajush, and is explained by Makidhara the all-pervading, the infinite survegatam aparyantam, that is, Parabrahmarupa; Aditya in the form of Parabrahma.

 Isulra ko case Varuna: the single names of the two deities being put in the dual form, implies the nomination of both.

PAGE 152.

6. Be abound us.—Paritakmyayam: it is rendered paritakane, which is not more intelligible: paritakma occurs also in the sense of night, in which case it may mean, may Indra and Varuna protect us in the night against evil spirits.

Long Live.—Sure drishike is the text, which is interpreted surgespe chirakaladarshanaya, for the sight of the sunfor a long time, i.e., chirajiwanaya, for long life.

Longing for You.—Yawayuh is explained, yumun kamayamanah.

APPROACH THE SOMA FOR ITS ADVANTAGE—Seige na gaves upo somem asthub, alluding to the mixture of milk and curds with the Some libation, dadhyadishrayanaya.

As Dependants attend upon an Opulent Man.

Joshtara iea casco, scoaka dhanikam seaminam: as servante upon a rich master, or as derived from jush, to please, joshtarah may be rendered flatterers, parasites.

LIKE HUMBLE FEMALES.—Raghvir-iva shravaso bhikshamanah; raghvir iva laghvya iva, like light or trivial: there is no substantive, but the appallative is feminine.

 May we or our own BE, Etc.—Toman patagak syama: that is, according to the Scholiast, without any effort or labour, aprayatnena.

PAGE 153.

I. Tworold is My Empire, etc.—Mama duita rashtram kshatriyasya viskwayoh: here, therefore, we have a positive indication of the military and regal order.

ALL THE IMMORTALS ARE OURS.—Vishue amrita yatha wah: therefore he is king also over Swarga.

THE GODS ASSOCIATE HE WITH THE ACTS OF VARUNA— Kratum suchante Varunasya devah, rajami krishter-upamasya wereh: except the last word, which the Scholiast renders rupa, form, there is nothing unusual in the terms; but even with the explanations attempted by Sayana, the purport of the sentence is quite unintelligibile, beyond its being probably the identity of Varuna and Trasadasya, as asserted in the next verse.

 As THE ABODE OF THE WATER.—Sadane ritarya may also imply, for the place or sphere of the sun, the word rita being used here and in the following passages either for udaka or additys.

That is, according to Sayana, for me the creator has made the three worlds, madarthom eco kshityadilokatrayan akarshit parameshwarah.

PAGE 154.

8. Trasadasyu.—Purukutsa, son of Durguka, being a prisoner, it is not said on what occasion, his queen proprieted the seven Rishis to obtain a son who might take his father's place: they advised her to worship Indra and Varuna, in consequence of which Trasadasyu was born.

- 9. Dwelling Near the Gods.—Ardhadevan is explained devanam sample variamanum; or we might render it, demi-god, though such an appellation would not apply to Indra, to whom Trasadasyu is compared; on the contrary, Indra is declared to be one half of all the gods, and therefore entitled to the largest share of offerings, yot sarvesham artham Indrah prati tasmad Indra decutanam bhogishthabhaktamak.
- FREE FROM ANY IMPERFECTION.—Anaposphurantim ahinsitam, unharmed, according to Sayana: Makidhara, Yajur-Veda, 7, 10, explains it, not going to another, ananyayaminam.

- BY WHICH OF YOUR ACTS ARE YOU MOST DISTINGUISHED.—Kaya shachinam bhavathah shachishtha; shachinam yushmat sambandhinam karmanam shaktinam va. nets or energies connected with you.
- The Flowing (Stream).—Sindhu: but it may here mean either water in general, or a cloud.

PAGE 156.

- Associator of the Solar Ray Sangatim goh, is only explained, goh sangamayitaram, the bringer into union, or associator of Go; what the latter is intended for is not explained, and the translation is purely conjectural, founded upon the connection of the Ashwins with light, or the sun.
- POWERFUL HORSEL—Kakukasak, is explained makanto askwak, or it may be praises, stutayak.
- For Us Born.—The two Rishis, the authors of the Sukta.

PAGE 157.

1. There Analogous Kinds or Food.—Prikshaso mithuna trayah: mithuna is properly twins, or a pair, but it may be used according to Sayana, for a greater number of analogous or connected objects, as mata pita putrastadeva mithunam, mother, father, son, constitute a twin or pair; the three sorts of food are said to be ashanam, pansan, khedah: in what the last differs from the first is not specified.

PAGE 159.

 PUBLIFIED BY HOLY ACTS.—Shukrah watacharyadina dipto aham, illustrious by observing vows, etc.

I sense to Thee the Soma, First Offerend. Again to madhue agram: this is consistent with the passages in the preceding hymn; also Sama-Veda, ii. 975: according to Sayana, madhuch here is for madhum, the gen. for the acc.; but this is not necessary, as, I bring to you of the Soma would be no unusual construction: Agami is explained prapayami, and agram, itarebhyah purcum: Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda 27, 30, has a partly different version: may the cup (shukra-graha) come to thee, ayani, agachchhatu, which is the essence, of the Soma, agram, marabhutah madhunah rasasya.

1. LIKE A PRINCE THE TRESPERS OF FORE. Vipo na.

is explained shatrimam vepayita rajeve.

2. Who are the Reflesser of Calumnies. Niryurvano ashastik are considered by Sayana equivalent to abhishastir nuksheshena niyojayan, but what either signifies is very doubtful; the translation of the text is only a substitute for a blank.

PAGE 160.

5. The Dark Nurses of Whalth.—Krishne vasualiti. krishnavarne vasunam dhatryan is Sayana's explanation.

PAGE 161.

- 1. Who abides with Noise in the Teree Regions.— Trishadhasho ravena, trisha allanesha vartumano ravenaivam tishthatetyanena shabdena.
- SEVEN-MOUTHED.—The seven metres are said to be his mouths.
- Universal Drift, Vishwadernya, an appellation of Brikaspati, because, as the deity presiding over mantras, he is the same with every deity; or dem may here, it is said, mean praise, he who has the praise of all.

PAGE 162.

- 9. This and the two preceding stanzas are cited in the Astareya Brahmana, viii, 5, 24, 26, as authority for the indispensable employment by a prince of a Brahmana as Purchit, or priest, to conduct solemn rites on his behalf; "the gods eat not the food of a Raja who has no Purchita; therefore, when about to sacrifice, let him appoint (lit. place before) a Brahmana, no have apurchitasya Rajno devo annum adanti, tasmad Raja yakshyamana Brahmanam puro dadhita; Sayana, in commenting upon the verses cited, adopts some explanations differing from those here followed, but the variations are not of any great moment; as Ila, food, instead of Earth, his food increases at all seasons; and sajanya, allies of his enemies, instead of his own people; wherever Brahma occurs he renders it Brahmana.
- Are giving Man the Faculty to Act.—Galum krimaven januyo; that is, yajamananam yamanadi-vyaparasamarthyam akurum; they give to the offerers of sacrifice the ability to perform the acts of going and the like.

PAGE 163.

3. THE CHURLISH TRAFFICKERS.—Panoys in the text, vanigah in the comment; that is, according to the latter, adatarah, non-givers.

4. SEVEN-MOUTHED ANGIRASAS. Repeating the seven

egidik metres

3. Sama-Veda, verses 1075-77.

4. THE BAFFLER OF ANIMOSITIES - Yavayad-discrba sam: according to the Scholiast, the Dawn puts to flight those engmiss who had been endeavouring to destroy their adversaries during the night.

5. LIKE SHOWERS OF RAIN. Gavam sarga na; the first is here explained by ulakanam, (see above, verse 2), of waters; udakanam sargah means, according to Sayana, parshadharah.

PAGE 165.

- 1. MAY THE GREAT DEITY GRANT US SUCH EVERY DAY. Tuchchhardir no mahan udayan devo aktubhih; chhardih is explained by grika, a house, or it may mean light : aktubhik is lit, by nights, by metonymy for days.
- 5. Puts on His Golden Armour .- Pishangam drapim prati munchate, is explained by Sayana, hiranmayam kavacham achchhadayati pratyudayam, every morning he puts on a golden cuirass.

- PUTS FORTH HIS ARMS Bahu penseak, he puts forthhis rays.
- THERE DIVISIONS OF THE FIRMAMENT.—According to the Scholinst the untariksha is divided between Vayu, Vidyut, and Varuna, in three portions.

THREE BRILLIANT SPHERES.—The regions of Agni, Vayu, and Surya: see Vol. II, p. 165, verse 8, and notes.

THREE HEAVENS.—The lolos of Indra, Prajapati, and the Satya loka,

THE THERE-FOLD EARTH.—These are not particularized.

THERE FUNCTIONS.—Those of distributing heat, rain, and cold, according to Sayana.

PAGE 166.

 THOU ENGENDEREST.—Success, from se, to bear or bring forth: it becomes here a pet term, and, in one or other inflexion, recurs in the three verses following, requiring a modified translation.

Successive Existences.—Anuchina jivita; jiritanyanukramayuktani, that is, in the order of fathers, sons, etc.: the verse occurs Yajur-Veda, 33. 54, and is somewhat differently explained by Mahidhara: damanam, which Sayana renders dataram: he explains rashmizamuham, collection of rays: the latter part of the hemistich he therefore reads, thou spreadest abroad thy rays, and excitest amongst men the consequent offices of vitality, that is, the daily duties following on the return of morning.

5. In Like Manner at the Command they Staved.

Yatha-yatha-patayantah, suchchantas, tsam viyemire essies.

tasthuh, accaya te; tacamejunya ecom con tishthanti: it does not appear very clearly who are alluded to, but possibly it applies to the worshippers.

 Appri.—Dyambhumi adite trasitham nah: adite, undivided, indivisible, may be an epithet here, according to the comment, of heaven and earth.

Who is it, Gods, that Offers you.—Ko to adheore series that detail may also mean, which of you gods bestows wealth at the sacrifice?

- There is no peculiar difficulty in the words of this stanza, but its purport is not the less doubtful.
- 3. Swasti Swastim is explained, sukhanimsum, etannamikam devim, the abode of happiness; well-being is its usual acceptation, but it is said to be here a goddess so named.

PAGE 168.

6. As Those Desirous of Acquiero Riches Praise The Ocean.—Samudram on suncharant sanishyroah is explained, dhananam sumbhaktum ichchantah samudramadhyagamanaya samudram yatha stavanti, as those wishing to possess riches for the sake of going through the midst of the ocean praise the ocean; that which follows is less obvious: gharmamenraso nadyo apavran, is rendered, diptadhwanayo nadyo apavringantiti paraksha ira, but there is no copulative; the Scholiast refers the phrase to the deities, may they, Heaven and Earth, cherish or replenish the rivers.

PAGE 169.

DIVINE, ADORABLE, ETC.—Devi-gajate, aminuti, ukshamane, ritavari, adruhu, deva-putre, yajnasya netri, are the epithets; literally, the shining, or, as usually rendered in this translation, divine, objects of worship, unharming.

sprinkling (rain, and therefore fertilizing), possessing truth, or water, or sacrifice, not oppressing or violent, having gods for sons, leaders or investigators, or subjects of sacrifice.

6. MUTUALLY SANCTIFYING EACH OTHER—Pinane tanual mithah, according to the Scholiast, may be differently explained; it may apply to the worship or the worshipper, purifying them severally by each individual form, seekigaga murigathodhagantan gajamanam es; or it may apply to the regions, heaven and earth, the former purifying or fertilizing the latter by rain, the latter supporting the former by cultivation; dgauh swokiyemsarena bhuwum, sa cha makiyems karshyems, the comment adds, chandramusi sthitena diwum, by that which is in the sky or the moon, the sense of which is not obvious; the phrase is probably incomplete, being a quotation; these three versus occur in the Sama-Veda, II. 946, 947, 948.

1. WITH THE MASTER OF THE FIELD -Kehetrasya paties may be understood in its literal acception, or as intending Rules or Agai.

 BEKIND.—This, as well as the epithet of the Kshetrapart that follows, is the same as that of the herbs, madhumat, literally, having sweetness.

4. HAPPILY.—Shanam rahah shunam murah, etc.: shunam the Scholiast renders sukham, sukham yathu bhacati tathu, so that pleasure is or may be: as a personification it in the divinity through whose favour the work goes well, sukha-krid devah, who may be either Vagu or Indox.

5. Shuna and Sira.—Shunasiran is here given in the dual as the name of two divinities, of whom Shuna, according to Shunaka, is the dyadecah, the deity of the sky, that is, Indra, when Sira will be Vaya, according to Sayana: Yaska Nirukta, 9, 40. makes Shuna, Vaya, and Sua, Aditya: in ordinary acceptation. Shunasira is a name of Indra.

6. Sign.—Sita is usually a furrow, and in that sense it occurs as a personification of the deity, or object of four stanzas in the Yajush, 12, 69—72, four furrows being drawn at the ceremony at which these stanzas are to be recited; but in the next stanza Sayana explains it the wood supporting the furrow, sitalharakashtham, which Indra is to take hold of, Indra griknatu; unless kashtha in the fem, retain its usual acceptation of quarter of the horizon, when Site may mean the sky, as in the next line, sa, she, is interpreted by the Scholiast, dyau, the sky.

PAGE 171.

7 AND 8.—The two last verses occur also in the Athareus, tm. 17, 4, m. 17, 13.

1. THE SWEET WATER SWELLS UP FROM THE FIRMA-MENT. Samudrad-urmir-madhuman udarat; the meaning. according to the Scholiast, varies greatly according to the signification given to samulra; as, samodante asmin vajamanah that in which worshippers delight, sacrificial fire ; or, samudrad-drawants apah, that from which waters rush, celestial fire, lightning; sermi in the first case may imply reward or consequence, in the latter, rain ; and in the latter sense of urmi, samudra may have one of its more ordinary meanings, antariksha, the firmament; the passage, it is said, may be also made to apply to other objects of the hymn; as, for instance, samulta may imply, etymologically, the udder of the cow, whence flows milk, somudrocati, from which come urms, ghi or butter; the whole hymn occurs in the Yajush. 17, 89-09, where Mahidhara limits the objects to two, Ghi and Agni, atra annadhyasena ghritam stuyate pranadhyasena cha agaih: as the representative of food, ghi is here praised, as that of vitality, Agai: accordingly the phrase is differently interpreted: samudra is the ocean of ghi, from which it rises as its wave, samudrad ghrita-mayad madhuman rasavan urmir-udagachchhat, and, having so arisen, it pervades immortality by Agai, as the life of the world with whom it is combined: udgatys cha sa urmir-ansuna jagatpranabhutenagaina, samaikibhuya umritatwam vyapnoti: it may be doubted if this is more intelligible than Sayana's, but it is clear that both the commentators intend Agai, with whom ghi, as the material of the oblation, is meant to be identified.

- 1. That which is the Secret Name, erc.—Ghritasya nama guhyam yad asti jihou decanam amritasya nabhih; that is, the material of sacrifice commonly called ghi is, in the mantras of the Veda, designated the tongue of the gods, being used metonymically for Agni; also the navel or binding, that is, the means of securing immortality for him who offers it in oblations.
- The Four-horned Brahma—Brahma chutuh-shringah: Brahma is explained by Sayano as usual, parieridhe devah, the augmented, developed, or great deity: his four horns are the four Vedas: Mahidhara separates the attribute as presently to be noticed, and explains Brahma by Ritcij, priest.

Annid-gaura etat: the text gives Sayana's explanation; Mahidhara explains gaura by yajna, and attaches to it the epithets chotuh shringa, the sacrifice with four pricess, obtains the object for which it is solemnized: the stanza, according to Sayana, applies especially to Agains the sun: Madhidhara apparently refers it to ghi: the former, however, declares it applicable to all the subjects of the hymn following the etymology of the Nirukta.

3. Sayawa, in conformity with the opinion of Yaska and others, applies this verse also preferentially to Agni. identified either with Yajna or with Aditys: the four horns of the former are the four Vedas; of the latter, the four cardinal points of the horizon; the three feet of Yajna arr the three daily sacrifices; of Adityo, morning, noon, evening; the two heads of Yajna are two particular ceremonies termed Brahmandanam and Pravargys; of Aditys, day and night; the seven hands of Yajna are the seven metres; of Aditys the seven rays, or the six seasons and their aggregate, or the year, as the seventh : the term wrishabha phalamam surshite, the rainer of rewards, applies to either; and so does revarite, he roars, implying the noise made by the repetition of the mantras of the Vedas ; the three bonds of Yajna are, mantra, kalpo, and Brahmana, the prayer, the ceremonial, the rationale; of Adityo, the three regions, earth, mid-air, and heaven: Mahidhara limits wishabka, kamanam varshita to Yajna. and explains the attributes accordingly, but with an occasional difference : the four borns are the priests, the Hotri, Udgatri, Adhwarys, and Brahma; the three feet are the three Vedas; the two heads the Havirdhana and Pravargya rites; the hands are the seven priests, or seven metres; the three bonds the three daily sacrifices; he somewhat gratuitously also applies the terms to grammatical speech, the four horns being name. verbs, prepositions, and particles; the three feet, either the three persons or the three times ; the two heads, the agent and the object; the seven hands, the seven cases; and the three bindings, the three numbers; but this is an uncalled-for display of ingenuity: Yazko applies the verse to Yome.

and is chiefly followed in his explanation of the terms by Muhidhara, Nirukta, 13, 7.

- 4. The Panis are as usual explained Assaus: the three forms or states in which the ghi was deposited in the cow were milk, cards, and butter, of which Indra engendered jujana, milk, Surga butter, and the gods (devasah) labricated (tatakshuh) cards from the shining, cenat, that is, Agai: Mahidhara renders demanh dwijatuyah, the twice-born, but does not differ materially in the rest.
- 5. According to the sense given to samedra, the showers, first indicated by the epithet shata eraja, implying merely copious, may be either of water or ghi: celasa is said to be a name of Agni, either as lightning or the sun, or the fire of sacrifice: Mahidham very superfinously, and incompatibly with his explanation of the objects of the Sukta chooses, to understand, as one meaning, eta arshanti, eacha sulgachehhanti, these words originate from the ocean of the water of faith, parified by the metres and other supplementary portions of the Vedas, amidst which words the Rishi sees the golden form of Agni, for Agni is the deity presiding over speech, or holy texts, agnir hi sucham adhiekthatri devoto: he gives as an alternative, however, a similar interpretation to that of Sayana.

6. Sayana considers that in this verse the ghi that is poured from the ladle on the fire is alluded to: Mahidhara interprets dhena, which Sayana makes an epithet of suridah, and rendere principally, by exchah, words, texts, which he says flow like rivers, freed from error by the heart and the mind; separating antar-hrida by the copulative from manusa, manusa cha, whilst Sayana makes the former the adjective of the latter, antarkrida manasa, kridayamadhyagatena chittera, by the mind gone within the heart.

 Swift as the Wind. Vatapramigal, vayueat prakrishtavega; Mahidhara refers the comparison to similar, a river agitated by the wind.

BREAKING THROUGH THE CONFINING BANKS.—Kashtha bhindan urmibhih pineumunah: kashtha according to Sayana, means limitating circles, maryudabhutan paridhin, limits within which the flowing butter increases with its juices; Mahidhara makes it part of the comparison, with the rapidity of the steed rushing into the boundaries of the battle, kashtha meaning sungrama-pradeshan: according to Sayana, ghrita may here also mean water, when sindhu will imply the antariksha.

(Perests).—The text has no nominative; Sayana supplies Riteijah, priests; Mahidhara, demh. gcds, which agrees better with part of what follows:

The Prous Praise the Source of Herds of Cattle.

Sushtutim gavyam of im: the latter Sayana renders governbandhinam sunghalam, the number or collection relating to cattle; or, he says, it may mean abundance of water; Mahidhara divides the terms, and explains Agni by yajna, (sacrifice), and gavya by ghi; gods, approach the pious praise, and, the sacrifice at which ghi is offered.

11. Dhamam to vishwam bhuvonom adhisritam: the first is explained by Sayana, tejah-sthane, in the place of brightness or heat; Mahidhara, by vibhutyam, superhuman power; the purport is the identification of all things with dgni, present in the ocean as submarine five; in men, as vaishwanara, which is an etymological pun from vishwa, all, and wara a man; in life, ayushi, as the vital principle, or ayus may mean food, anna, when the digestive fire is intended; in the assembled waters or the firmament, as lightning; in war, as the metaphorical fire of valour.

That Sweet-Flavoured Wave-Urmin ya abbritak i the wave which is so deposited, sthapitah, may imply either the batter of the oblation, or water in the shape of rain.

IV. 5. 13.—This Sukta, which is probably ancient, is a good specimen of Vaidik vagueness, and mystification, and of the straits to which commentators are put to extract an intelligible meaning from the text.

- Sama-Veda, I. 73, II. 1096, Yajur-Veda, 15. 24:
   Mahidhara explains prati dhenum ayatim ushasam, as the cow is awakened in the morning by the calf, and men by day break: he differs also in the explanation of the simile in the

1. According to what is no doubt the most accurate interpretation of this verse, and of those which follow, they contain only a metaphorically obscure allusion to the lighting of the sacrificial fire; the mother is the two pieces of touchwood, which retain fire, the child, and will not spontaneously: give it up to the father, the payamana, until forced by attrition : till then, also, people, the priests, do not hehold it, but they see it when burating into ignition ; this, however, has not satisfied the commentators, and a curious and strange legend has been devised for the interpretation of the text, or has been, perhaps, applied to it by way of explanation, having been previously current; it is more probably, however, suggested by, than suggestive of, the verses: Sayana quotes the Shatyayana Brahmana as the authority; the story is this; Rajo Tryarana, the son of Trivrishna, of the race of Ikshwakus, had for his Purchit Vrisha, the son of Jara : it was the custom. it is said, when a Roje and his Purckit went out in the same chariot, that the latter should drive, and, on an occasion of this kind, the charrot went over a Brahman boy who was playing in the road, and killed him : a dispute ensued between the Raja and the priest as to which was the murderer, the former accessing the latter because he was driving, the Purchit retorting, that as the chariot was the Roja's, he was the responsible person; they referred the matter to an assembly of the Ikshwakus, who decided against the Purchit: Vriehn restored the boy to life by the prayer thenceforth called after him the Varsha-saman, but being offended with the Ikshwakus for what he considered their partiality, fire thenceforth ceases to perform its functions in their dwellings, and the cooking of their food and other offices ceased; attributing this to the displeasure of the Rishi, the Ikshwakus respectfully invoked his presence, and, with the same mantra, he prayed that the energy of fire would be restored to them, which accordingly took place; this energy or activity is designated by the unusual term of Haras, Agner huras; so far the legend is intelligible, but what follows is rather obscure: Sayona proceeds: so singing, the Richi having seen distinctly the Brahmanicide become the wife of king Trasadasya, in the garb of a Pishachi. and that she, having taken the Horns away from the firechamber, was concealing it in her regal clothing (kushipou r) he, having propitiated that Horas by the Varsha Sama, reunited it with Agni, upon which the offices of fire, in cooking and the like, were disulerged as before; Sagana adds to his version a quotation from the Tandyo which stops with the restoration of the boy to life; the Niti-manjari cites the legand from the Bribad-devata, the first part of which is the same as that given above, but there is some slight variation in the conclusion : after the decision against the Purchit, this authority continues, the Athoreus having seen (or composed) the Angirasa mantrus, restored the boy to life, but being in wrath, he deserted the king, and went to another country; upon his departure, the Horax or function of Agas ceased, and there were no more burnt-offerings; the Raja, being much distressed, went to the Rishi, and pacified and brought him back, and prevailed upon him to become his Purchit once more: still the fire withheld its activity, until the Rishi discovered that the queen was in reality a Pishachi, with whom the Haras had associated, and was seated on the threne with her, and hidden in her robe: on discovering this, the Rishi repeated the second stanza of this Sukta, "Young mother, etc.," to which Haras, in the form of a boy, replied: the Rishi then recited the ninth stanza, "Agai shines etc.," on which the flame burst forth and consumed the Pishachi, after which things went on as before: if there be any meaning in this legend, it may possibly intimate some quarrel between the princes and priests, and a consequent temporary discontinuance of worship with fire.

See the preceding note: in this and several other stanzas the allusion to the product of fire by attrition is blended with reference to the circumstances told in the legend as above particularized.

4. Passing like a Herd of Cattle-Going from pasture to pasture.

GREY-HARRED ARE Young.—Paliknir-id yucatayo bhaconti: the flames which had been so often produced may be considered as aged, or as the text, literally, grey-headed; or allusion is intended to the suspension of the functions of fire, as in the legend.

Who have Disurited My People from the Cattle.
 —Ke me maryaham vigaranta gobhih: what enemies have despoiled my kingdom, is the explanation of Sayana.

AN INVINCIBLE PROTECTOR.—That is, Agni.

 Shunahshepa.—See vol. 1, p. 29 and note on the Sukta; the text here divides the two parts of the name, as Shunashchichchhepa, interposing chit, a general particle, by Paidik license. 12. That he will Bestow Happiness, etc.—Barkishmats manage sharma ganual is repeated with a slight variation of the first word, havishmale, in the repetition.

- THOU ART ARYAMAN IN RELATION TO MAIDENS.
   Twom aryama yat kaninam: as regulator of the ceremony the nuptial fire may be regarded as Aryamon; the stanza is to be recited at marriages.

WITH MILE AND BUTTER. -Anjanti mitram mulhitam ne gobhik: the last, lit. with cows, is put by metonymy for the products of the cow.

3. THY BIRTH IS BEAUTIFUL AND WONDERFUL. - Agni.

as the lightning.

Cherishest the Mysterious Name of the Waters— Pasi guhyam nama gonam: Sayana renders it udakanam guhyam namani rakshari, but gives no explanation.

PAGE 178.

THE CALUMNIATOR.—Abhishastim etam, is, properly this calumny, but as the antecedent of yah, he who, in the masculine, the relative requires the sense of abhishastri, accuser or calumniator.

In these Two Ways -Offence, agas or aparadha, and sin or wretchedness, enas, or papa.

 PROCEEDEST TO THE WEALTH OF SACRIFICE— Sansthe yad Agni iyase rayinam: lit, to the heap of riches, but the riches, according to the Scholiast, are here those of the oblation, havirlakshananam.

KINDLED BY MORTALS, ETC. Martair remahir idhyamanah: the second, according to Sayana, is an epithet of the first, meaning, camkaik, placing or fixing in an abode or place of dwelling, i.e., either the altar, or the chamber of sacrifice.

- 9. As to a Father.—So in v. 2 of the next Sukta, may the bearer of the oblation, the undecaying Agni, be a father to us; or the relationship may be reversed; protect him, Agni, who, like a father, cherishes thee as a son. Agni being generated and maintained by the sacrificer; as, by another text, thou art the son of him who maintains thee.
- 10. He Offers the Copious Oblation Rhuri name randamano dadhati: nama, the Scholiast says, may mean oblation, havis; or it may be rendered, praising thy many names he offers oblations.
- 12. PERHAPS AN OFFENCE HAS, ETC.—Vasure or lad id ago avachi, is explained, that which is an offensive expression may have been spoken to Vasu, commonly rendered giver of dwellings, by our saying or intimating, idam dehi, give this; or it may be rendered, this offence which has been offered to us by our enemies, has been reported to Agni.

3. THE WISE LORD OF HUMAN BRINGS.—In the first verse we had consupation common, the lord of riches, of riches; so here we have a similar redundancy of construction, eisham eishpation, the lord of men, of men.

 APPROPRIATING THE SUSTENANCE TO THINE OWN PERSON.—Vayah krinvanas tunve sucayai; or by tanu may be understood patm, a son, or the yajamana in that relation.

8. CHERISH US WITH TRIPLY-PROTECTED FELICITY.— Tri-wruthenn sharmann, with three defended; that is, preserved by act, thought, and speech; or if sharman be rendered by house, griba, it may be understood, protect us by or in a three-roofed, or three-storied dwelling, i.e., trichchhadichkena grihena, i.e., a spanious mansion.

- 10. IMMORTALITY.—The immortality that is defined as the unbroken succession of descendants, ameritations santatyavichchhedalakahanum; another text to the same effect is cited, prajam anu prajamte tad u te martyamritam, when progeny is born after progeny, that verily is the immortality of thy mortality.
- 11. These last two stanzas are to be recited at the sacrifice for obtaining sons, putrakameshts.

- 7. ON THE PATH OF THE WIND. Vatasya patinan may mean, with the swiftness of the wind, or through the firmament.

To this Sacrifice of our Patron. - Manusho no gojnam, lit, to the encrifice of our man; that is, of the yajamana.

- 10. Yatra vettha devanam guhyanamani: the last is explained repeat, forms, but no further interpretation of the phrase occurs; it is not specified as a faculty of Vanaspoti in any preceding hymn to the Apris, although, as in them, Vanasputi here represents Agni as identified with the macrificial post, or yupo, or, as the Scholiast here says, the deity presiding over it, gupabhimani deca.
- H. To AGNL-The term is Sieake, who here, as heretofore, is an Apri, or personification of Agni.
- F. To whom, RIC .- Yam astom yanti dhenavah : astom, which is repeated in the text with each nominative, is explained survesham grihavad ashrayabhutam, he who is become the house-like asylum of all: the verse occurs Samo-Veda, 1, 425, II, 1087 and Yajur-Veda, 15, 41: Mahidharaalso renders astam by griham.

- 7. They seek the Pastures of the Hoofen Cattle.—Ye paticabhih shaphanam eraja bhuranta gonam is explained by Sayana, ye rashmayah, those rays which patanaih, by fallings, ichchhanti yuthani shaphanam gonam, wish for or proceed to the berds of hoofed cattle; an explanation which does not render the sense more obvious: it means, he adds, that the spreading flames long for the burnt-offering, ayate junta homaya kankshanti-ityarthah.
- THE TWO LADLES.—Termed juhu and upableit, twoladles used for pouring the oiled butter upon the fire.
- Sama-Veda, 11, 374. Yajur-Veda, 15, 43; Mahidhare explains abhe darri, two hands serving as ladies;

 THE POWERFUL SON OF STRENGTH.—Urjo naptre. Soyana renders, balasya putraya; Muhidhara, Yajush, 15. 39, translates Urj, water, and the appellative, grandson of water, timber being the offspring of water, and fire the offspring of fuel.

- 3. Assumes the Radiance of the Rite.—Ritarge rashmim adade is variously explained by the Scholiset, he accepts the ray that is the apprehender or absorber, grahaka, of water, alluding to the production of rain as the result of burnt-offerings; or he becomes endowed with the energy generative of the reward of the sacrifice, phalajanakam tejah swikritavam; or, again, he accepts the praise which is, as it were, the lustre or ray of the sacrifice.
- 5. As Boys Ride upon the Back of a Father.—Bhuma prishthera, is, literally, like many or much on the back: the Scholiast explains bhuma as signifying offspring, or that which is many, bahu bhacatiti bhuma apatyam; and prishtha, he adds, implies the backs of the father, pituh prishthedeshan ica; as boys mount upon the fathers' side, so do the flames, putra yatha piturankam archanti tad vat.

- 7. He Crors the Day Ground.—Dhawwakshilam dati:
  dhanwa the commentator explains a place without water, nirudakapradesham; and akshilam, trinakashihadibhir akshiptam, tossed over with grass, timber, and the like.
- 8. Beight as an Axe.—Shuchi sma yasma atrivat pra smadhitive rigate; it is not very obvious whether the comparisons apply to Agns, or the worshipper; they might both be understood by the worshipper, eager to offer oblation as an axe to cut; or both might be applied to Agns; atri, meaning an eater, or devouver, or an animal eating grass; it seems, however, most reasonable to apply atrivat to the vajamana, and meadhiti to Agns.

- 10. MAY ISHA OVERCOME HOSTILE MES.—Ishah sazahyan nrin: ishah may be, according to Sayana, the Rishi of the Sukta: or derived from ish, and being the accus, plut, it may be an epithet of arin, encountering or opposing men.
- 2. The Desirection of Decayino Trees. Jarudeisham in literally, that which is poison to the old; the commentator explains it jarutam wikehapum epopulum, the pervader or consumer of old trees; or it may mean jirnodakam, that by which water is dried up.

PAGE 185.

- 7. Any dominant over all Temperatal Viands. Abhi junyansi parthies vi tishthase: Saysna explains junyansi by annani, food, entables; and parthies by critishah, trees; or he admits it to be an epithet of junyansi, earthly entables, as the oakes and butter presented in sacrifices with fire.
- V.1.9. Here seems the 4rm Ashtaka. The grammatical portion of Songana's commentary, which is very full in the first and second Ashtakas, is suspended in the MSS, of the third; it is resumed in the beginning of the fourth, but is only occasionally repeated.
- JATAVEDAS.—In addition to previous explanations, the name is here said to imply, he whom all know to be identical with all that exists; or, wedas may mean wealth, when it will signify, he from whom all wealth is generated.

PAUR 186

4. Like the Young of Tosthousey Twining Snakes.— Putro on histogenom, like the son of the crocked-going; the Scholiast says, like a young snake, balasarpak; or it may mean the celt of rearing and plunging horses, of those notbroken in, askikshitabalasheak. 5. WHEN DIFFUSED IN THE THREE REGIONS.—Yadim aha trito diei upadhamati is explained, trishu sthanazhu vyuptah, spread in the three regions; or, trini sthanani atitys, having gone beyond the three regions; otmanam upa vardhayati, he blows up or enlarges himself.

As THE FIRE BLAZES FROM THE BLAST OF THE BLOWER.— The text has shishite dhmatari, he sharpens as in a blower; which the Scholinst explains, like the fire, which, in the proximity of one blowing with a bellows, blazes up, so Agni sharpens his flames, or of himself adds to their intensity.

- Do THOU BE PRESENT.—The confusion of the second and third person is that of the original.
- Sama-Veda, t. 81: there is a slight difference in the text of the second half of the stanza

PAGE 187.

- THE DOES (OF GREAT DEEDS)—The text has only known for knowns; the acts alluded to are such as driving away the Rakshauss or other disturbers of religious rites.
- 4. Arouses (Ther) of thine own Accord.—Disashchid yesham brikat sukiritiv bodhati tmass: the application of the two last words is somewhat doubtful; Sayana disconnects them from the preceding, and supplies the name of the Rishi of the Sukia. Gaya, as the nominative of bodhati; crumvidham trans Gayastmane swayam em bodhayati, Gaya of his own accord, or of himself, as it were, arouses thee, dgai, as described.
- Sama-Veda, n. 257. Yajur-Veda, 15. 27: Mahidhara agrees with Sayana in interpreting Bharatas by Riticiks, or priests: he differs slightly in some other respects, rendering the stanza, Agri has been engendered by the priests for the present sacrifice: he shines so brilliantly, that with his flames he touches the sky, the patron of the sacrificer, vigilant dexterous, fed with butter, pure.

PAGE 188.

- Have first kindled in Three Places.—Trishadhashe similhire, that is, as the three fires, the Garhapatya, Ahavaniya, and Dakshina.
- 3. Born of Two Mothers.—The two sticks of attrition. Thou has sprung up from the Devotion of the Householder.—Udatishtho vicasvatah; the latter is said to designate the Yajamana, from his especially, vi, abiding, casata, in the chamber where the agnihotra, and other rites with fire, are celebrated.
- Sama-Veda, H. 258. Yajur-Veda, 15. 28: Mahidhura agrees with Sayana: he adds as the explanation of guha, apsu, in the waters, referring to the familiar legend, see vol. I, pp. 198 and 199 note.

PAGE 189.

 Showers of Water.—When the author of a Sukto takes a fancy for the word rita, probably, in one of its meanings, the Latin ritus, it is difficult to follow him in respect of its various significations of sacrifice, praise, truth, water: ritasya dhara, however, necessarily implies the last.

WITH BOTH TRUTH AND UNTRUTH.—The text is very elliptical and obscure: naham yatum sahasu na dwayena ritam sapami arushasya wrishnah: it is, literally, not I to go by strength, not by the two I swear, the sacrifice of the shining showerer: Sayana supplies yukta, joined or endowed sahasa, with strength, and makes yatum mean to injure, or injury of pious acts, connecting it with sapami, which he renders by sprishami or knrowi, I touch or do; I do not proceed to injure sacred offices; by the two, he explains sutyernritabhyam, by truth and untruth, that is, avaidikom krityam na sapami, na karomi. I perform not any act not enjoined by the Veda: ritum here he interprets praise, and again attaches to it sepami, without the negative, I vow or repeat the praise of Agni.

- 4. I (KNOW) HIM NOT AS THE LORD, ETC .- No aham patim sanituh asya rayah; the verb is understood; the Scholiast renders it bhajamanasya osya mama rayah swaminam tam agnim aham na janami, I do not know that Agni, the master of the riches of this one, or me, the enjoyer: what it means is not very obvious.
- 4. Who among them, ETC.—The two last are persons not worshipping Agmi; but the verse may be also thus rendered, who are they that confine their focs I who are they that preserve men from uttering untruth I who are they that vindicate people from calumny? they are, Agni, thy worshippers.

2. This and the two next verses occur Sama-Veda, 11. 755-757. PAGE 191.

- 2. THEY ARE DETAINING BY SACRIFICE, RTC.—Rilend ritam dharanam dharayantah; they, the Yajamanaa, hold or detain, ritam dharunam, gajnasya dharakam satyam, the true holder of sacrifice, that is, Agai, by the ceremony, parame oyomani, uthrishte sthane, in the best place, that is, the altar-
- 3. ENJOY FORMS EXEMPT FROM DEFECT. Anhogueux taneas-tanuate, are explained by Sayana, mastanur-anhasa viyojika vistararyanti, they effect the extension of their own persons, disjoined by or separated from sin; the sense is not very obvious.

PAGE 192.

- 4. Thou Mathrest every Kind or Food.—Vayo cayo james yad dadhanak; the Scholiast interprets yada dharyamana bharasi tada sarram annam jarayasi, when thou art being detained, then thou causest all food to decay, i.e., to digest.
- 5. Like a Thier, erc.—This may, perhaps, also imply that wealth bestowed upon the Riski is deposited in a secure receptable, like the hidden booty of a thief, padam no tayur guham dadhanah, but the whole Sukta is obscurely worded.
- Sama-Veda, r. 88: the latter reads prashastage, for praise, instead of prashastibhih, by praises.
- Bhaga, —Bhaga, according to Sayana, here means Surga.
- Like the Vast Suk.—The text has only yahvan no, like the great; the Scholiast has mahantam susyam ira, like the great ann.

PAGE 193.

- PERFORMER OF VARIOUS FUNCTIONS.—Vidharman: it applies either to the Rishi or the yajamana.
- 3. By HIS LUSTRE, VERILY, THE SUN IS LUMINOUS.— The text has only asya case a archisha, va asa being put for on assa; literally, by the light of him, he verily; assau, he, according to the commentator, designates the sun; and the entire phrase is, by the light of him, that is, of Agni, the sun becomes radiant; adityo archishman bhavati.
- BE ALERT FOR OUR PROSPERTY.—Shagdhi eventure: the commentator says the verb may here be put for the first person, and mean yache. I ask for, or it may mean, as translated, shakto bhave, be able.
- Sama-Veda, t. 85; the reading of the second half of the stanza somewhat differs; our text is vishcani ye amorty.

havya martyeshu rangati; the Sama has sishve yasminnamartye kanyam martasa indhati, in or upon all that which is: immortal, mortals offer oblations.

- 4. HE WHO, LIKE THE MIXED OBLATION, IS FILLED WITH Food. -Gharmo na cajajatharah, he in whose helly is food like the gharmah; besides its ordinary sense of warm, bot, and that of day, assigned to it by Yaska, the word has other meanings: Sayana apparently identifies it with the ceremony called Peavangya, pravargya ica gharmo yatha havyenojyenapayosa sikta, like the Pravargya the gharma, sprinkled with the obiation butter and milk : perhaps we should read praying at the Praying, for, by a subsequent passage. gâmma means a vessel, a pitcher.
- 1. Fajur-Vella, 19, 64: instead of enjasatama, the printed Fajush reads kavyavahona, conveyer of offerings to the manes:
- 3. PRAYASVATS. Programmatch is, literally, those having food, annavantah.

1. A Sox -The text has rayin, rea, riches, but the Scholiast understands it metaphorically, and renders it putrum, a son, a meaning consistent with what follows.

I and 2.—These two verses seem to be favourites; the first pada of the first occurs twice in the Sama-Veda, I, 448, II. 457; the second once, II. 458; the second pada of the second stanza occurs in the same, m. 459; we have both of them twice in the Yajush, 3, 25, 15, 48: Mahidhara's explanation is much the same as Sayana's, except in one or two words; as earuthyah in the first line of the first stanza; Sayana explains it varaniyah, sambhajaniyah, that which is to be chosen, to be enjoyed, to be worshipped: Mahidhara interprets it favourable or auspirious to the family or the house, varutha meaning, he says, either putra-samuha, an assemblage of sons, or griha, a house; Sayana also gives as an alternative, endowed or inclosed with circumferences or defences, paridhibhir witah, alluding, perhaps, to the common import of varutha the fender of a carriage; again, vasushravas, in the second line of the first verse, which Sayana interprets eyaptannah. he by whom food is dispensed, Mahidhara explains renowned for wealth.

 THE SON OF THE RISHES.—Agni is termed the son of the Rishis, as generated by their rubbing the sticks together which produce fire.

 That Agni is Thur.—Satya: by true, in this and other passages, is meant, it is said, one who does not fail to bestow upon his worshippers the recompense of their

 This and the preceding verse are directed to be recited at a sacrifice performed to obtain male offspring.

putrakameshti.

7. Sama-Veda, I. 86. Yajur-Veda, 26. 12: Mahidhara differs from Saysna in his interpretation of this verse in several respects: considering the first line, yad vahishtham tail agnaye brihad archa vibhavaso, to he addressed to the Udgatri, he renders it, sing to Agni, that Brihad-sama (a hymn of the Samu-Veda), which is the most effectual means of obtaining our desires; and he refers the vocative, Vibhavaso, to the second line in which a more important variation occurs: it runs, mahishi ioa tund rayistuad caja udirate: Sayana makes mahishi the adjective of rayi, great riches, and observes of ioa that it is a pleonasm, iveti puranah: Mahidhara under stands it as denoting a comparison, and explains the passage, as the first-married bride proceeds from her home to her husband, prathamapurinita stri grihat patim prati udgackchhati, so riches and food proceed to the worshipper. Agni, from thee: the necessity of supplying a whole sentence is rather against this rendering, and mahishi as an adjective is of not unfrequent occurrence.

V. 2. 13. THYABUNA, ETC.—Of these princes we have yet met only with the second, vol. 1, 1, 16, 7, 14; in the Vishnu Purana a Trayyaruna occurs, (p. 371), but he is the son of Tridhanwan, and the seventh in descent from Trasadasyu, with whom, therefore, he could not be contemporary; so that either the Veda or the Purana is wrong; the latter enumerates a Trayyaruna among the Vyasar, p. 373; no other authority gives Bharata a son named Ashwamedha.

ATRI ALONE MAY BE THE RISHL.—For in fact the Rojas are rather the Devatos, they do not commemorate their own donations: it is Atri, or some member of his family, who speaks.

2. HUNDREDS OF SUVARNAS.—The text has only shatani, the hundreds: the Scholiast adds aucornonam, of sucarnas: it is not impossible, however, that pieces of money are intended; for if we may trust Arrian, the Hindus had coined money before Alexander: the people of Sambas, Raja of Sindomana, present him with told money.

TRIPLE-MIXED SOMA-Mixed with cords, milk, and purched grain.

PAGE 201.

- I. Bearing the Ladle with the Orlation.—Havisha ghritachi is explained by the Scholiast purodashadilakshonena yuktoga ghritachya szucha sahita, with the ladle of ghi connected with the cakes and other articles of the oblation; the whole passage is remarkable, whether this explanation be admitted or not, as it leaves no doubt that a female is described as discharging the offices of a priest worshipping the gods at dawn with hymns and oblations; besides Vishumara being feminine, the epithets prachi ilana ghritachi are of the same gender; the term is explained, the repeller of all enemies of the nature of sin, survam api paparupam shatrum mrayitri; we have no further clue to her history than that the is an Atreyi, of the race of Atri.
- PRESERVE IN CONCORD THE RELATION OF MAN AND WIFE.—Sam jaspatyam suyamam Eurushva, make perfect the well-connected duty of wife and husband, an appropriate prayer for a female, Yajur-Veda, 33, 12.
- 6. Select the Beares of the Oblation to the Gods.—According to the Taittiriya, there are three kinds of sacrificial fire; the havyavahana, which receives the oblation intended for the gods; the kavyavahana, that intended for the Pitris; and the Saharakshas, that intended for the Asses: the worshipper is therefore directed on this occasion to select the first.

PAGE 202.

- THERE LUMINARIES.—The sum, the wind, and fire: the same are probably intended by the similar phrase preceding tryaryama-trial arganumi tejansi, according to Sayana.
- 3. Obtains Cattle for the Offeren. Manushe ga avindat, gajamanaya vedayati ga, may also mean rain, dhenurvrishtilakshanani udakani va.
- CITIES.—The text has bhogan, meaning, according to Sayens, cities, when the scate accent is on the last vowel, bhogan ityantodattah purawachunah.
- HAS QUICKLY CONSUMED.—Apachat, has rousted or digested; we have here a sort of hecatomb.

PAGE 203.

- WHEN HE HAD SLAIN AHL—Or perhaps you ahim jaghana might be rendered, that he should kill Ahi.
- dasgan amrinah: anasa, Sayana says, means asyarahitan, davoid or deprived of words, asya, face or mouth, being put by metenymy for shabda, the sound that comes from the mouth, articulate speech, alluding possibly to the mouthivated dialects of the barbarous tribes, barbarism and uncultivated speech being identical, in the opinion of the Hindus, as in the familiar term for a barbarian, mlechekka, which is derived from the root mleckekk, to speak rudely: Professor Mulier, Universal History of Mas. 1, 346, referring to this text, proposes to separate anasa into a, non, nasa, the nose, noseless, alluding to that feature in the aborigines, as contrasted with the more prominent nose of the arga race: the proposal is ingenious, but it seems more likely that Soyana is right, as we have the Dasyas presently called also mridhramichus, hinsitumqindriyan, having defective organa of speech.

PAGE 204.

15. LIEB GARMENTS AND LIKE A CHARIOT.—Praises and hymns, the Scholast says, are compared to garments, as being fit to be received as a respectful present, upasanhara-vadgrahyuni: if correct, this shows the custom of presenting honorary dresses to be of Indian origin and considerable antiquity: the same are compared to a chariot, as the means of conveying Indra and the gods to sacrifices.

PAGE 205.

6. MARUTS.—Or Maruts may here signify praisets, worshippers, stotarnk.

7. Desiring to no good to Manu.—Manuer gatum ichehhan: gatum is explained sukham, but the Scholiast identifies Manu with the Rishs of the Sukto, namuchina apahritagodhanaya mahyam, to me whose wealth of cattle has been carried off by Namuchi, an Asura who has been before named.

 Lief a Sounding and Rolling Cloud, —Ashmanam chit swaryam varthamanam; Sayana renders the two first megham iva, like a cloud.

9. WHAT WILL HIS FEMALE HOSTS DO UNTO ME !- Indea is supposed to say this.

THE TWO HIS HEST BELOVED, ETC.—These legends are apparently Vaidik, except the decapitation of Namuchi by Indra, which is related in the Gada section of the Shalyo Parca of the Mahabharato, where it is related that Namuchi, through fear of Indra, took refuge in the solar rays: Indra promised that he would not harm him if he came forth, but broke his promise, and, on Namuchi's issuing forth, out off his head : by this he incurred the guilt of Brahmanicide, for Namuchi, it is said, was a Brahman, but Indro was taught expiation of his sin by Brahma.

THE RUSAMAS. The Rusamus, according to Sayana, are the people of a country of the same name, the principality of Rinanchaya.

13. In this, the next, and the last stanza, Agni appears as the decate, although not so specified by the index.

15. THE GOLDEN EWER PREPARED FOR THE SOLEMNITY. -Gharmash-chit taptah pravrije ya azid ayasmayah : according to the commentator, ayasmaya, properly, made of iron, is here, made of gold, hiranyamaya, kalasha, a ewer : gharmashchit he explains mahavira ins, that is, like the ewer, or vessel so termed, containing a mixture of Somu, melted butter and milk, perhaps put upon the fire, as by a text cited in the note of Sayana on v. 7. of Sukta XLIII. and ghra ityatapat tad gharmasya gharmatwam iti shruti; see also Sukta XIX 1; prawije for the prawirgys ceremony.

PAGE 207.

2. THOU HAST GIVEN WINES, ETC. Amenan-schipinnitiates chakartha; mena is here used in the sense of stri. woman in general, and juni, as usual, in that of wife; the commentator explains it apagatastrikanshchu jayawata karoshi. thou makest sundry persons, from whom women are separated, possessed of wives.

3. THE RIBBUS. The text has answell, which the Scho-liast explains manushyah, and applies to Ribberrak

THE VENERABLE (ANGIRASAS). - Brahmanah : Brahmans is the expression of the text, explained by the Scholiast angirasah; the verse occurs, with the hemistichs transposed, Sama-Veda, 1 139, 440.

 HAST ARRESTED THE DEVICES OF SHUBHNA.— Shushnasya chit pari mayak nyribhnah: Sayana explaina mayah by yuvatih, young damsels, thou hast seized upon, or carried off, the young women of Shushna.

-Page 208.

- To THE WORSHIPPER. Karne valuate: karna is explained stotri, praiser, stotrani karoti, or yajamana, the institutor or maker of the rite.
- 11. ETASHA HAS BORNE AWAY THE WHEEL.—Bharach-chakram Blackah: according to the comment, Etashah is put for Etashaya, he, Imira, has taken the wheel for Etasha; ace vol. 1, p. 194, v. 13.
- THE FLOOD-GATES.—Kham, the holes or interstices of the clouds.
  - 1. Sama-Veda, t. 315.

PAGE 200.

- From the body of Vritra, it is said, sprang the more powerful asura, Shushur, that is, allegorically, the exhaustion of the clouds was followed by a drought, which Indra, or the atmosphere, had then to remedy.
- 4. The Profector of the Showering Choun.— Miho-napatam, meghasya rakshitarum: mapat, here meaning patri, a protector, a preserver, as in the Brahmana cited by the Scholiast, prano vai tanumapat so hi tanvah pati: vital air is called the body-preserver, for it preserves the limbs.
- FOOTLESS, MEASURELESS, Specchess Apoilam amatram mridhravacham; here amatram is said to signify amatram aparimanam, without measure, or, perhaps, bulk.

PAGE 210.

 Associated with the Maruts.—Samarya, as an epithet of Indra, is of somewhat doubtful meaning: Sayana gives three explanations, martgath, state ishin, makitah, together with mortals, that is, with worshippers, yaddhamanair-maradalibhih, with the Maruts and other combatants, or samera-arhah, fit for or suited to war.

PAGE 211.

- 3. This verse occurs in the Yajush, 10, 22, with some variety of reading, chiefly in the first hemistich, as ma to Indra te cayans Turashad symbtase absahmate vidasama, which Mahidham interprets, Indra Turashat, may we who are thine, may we, unattached (to thy car), never perish, like that which is not of the nature of spiritual existence; in the second line we have rashmin swashwan rems with good horses, instead of rashmin summes sweshwas.
- ALL-POWERFUL INDEX. Ahishushma, a rather unusual epithet of Indra: the Scholiast explains it, survato egoptabala, of all-pervailing strength.

LIKE BRAGA IN BATTLES.—Satire Bhago no havyork probbritheshu church may be explained differently, as probbrithe signifies war or sacrifice: may a faithful follower or ally, satira-bhrityodih, come. like Bhaga, as an associate, churu ampunto, to be commended, havyo, in sacrifices, or defied, pratichatairahudavyo, in battles; as the divine Bhaga come as our ally, so may followers and others come.

EXULTING.—Neitamana is, interally dancing, arityan.
 BEILLIANT WEALTH.—Enim rayim is, interally, white riches; quere, if silver money be intended.

PAGE 212.

 VIDATHA, THE SON OF MARUTABHWA.—We have had Vidathin before, Sukta XXIX. verse 11, the father of Rijishwan; these names are not found in the principal Puranas. BESTOWING UPON AND GIVING TO ME. Chyanatana dadana, causing to alight upon, giving.

- 10. DHWANYA. THE SON OF LAKSHMANA.—We have here, also, an unusual name in Dhuanga, and Lakshmana must be a different person from the brother of Rama.
- Thousand edged.—Sahasra bhrishtim, the Scholinst interprets uparimita tojas, of unbounded lustre.
- 3. PROUD OF HIS DESCRIDANTS AND VAIN OF HIS PERSON.—Tatanushtim, tanushubhram, are explained, he who desires, (cashti) an extended (tata) race (santatim) and he whose person (tanu) is decorated (shubhra) with ornaments, and in both implying swaposhakam ayajvanam, a self-cherisher not offering sacrifice.

PAGE 213.

 Does not Tunn Away.—Na ata ishate, he does not lear, or does not go up, or from hence: na bibbeti na gackchhati va is the explanation of the Scholiast.

Whose Brother he has slain.—Available has no other nominative than Shakra, but in the second line we have so kilvished ishete, he. Indra, does not go from sin, sin being put for sinner, that is, from one who is a parricide or the like, pitradi-widha-yuktat, that is, he does not turn away from him who has committed these crimes: the reason also is given, esti ideasya prayata, for verily he desires his offerings, prayatani danani: the doctrine, therefore, is here inculcated, that devotional merit compensates for want of moral merit: the converse is also implied by the passage quoted by Sayana from the Vedas, that sanctity does not compensate for want of devotion; Indra being represented as saying, I gave to the wolves the Paulamas in the firmament, and the Yatis, the kalakanjyas, and arunmukhas upon earth; because. Sayana observes, these Yatis did not worship or praise him.

 AGNL—Indra is intended, according to the Scholinst, as identical with Agni; of the following names, Agnivesha appears in the Puranas as a Rishi, a son of Brahma, but here his son at least must be a Raja.

PAGE 214.

 FOUR, THESE OR. FIVE ULASSES.—Whatever favours may be granted to the four castes, the three lokus, or the five orders of men, pancha kshitinam.

PAGE 215.

- Our Chartor.—Am ratham: the latter may also signify, the Scholiast suggests, a son, he whose nature it is to give delight to his parents, ranhanaswabhavam, putram.
- Ascend to Thy Destructive Jaw.—Hanu shipre arruhat: as the two nouns have usually the same sense, as Sayana observes, one should be regarded as the epithet of the other, and he therefore explains hanu as the means of destroying, or destructive, hananasudhanam.
- Teneduce Dread of Poverty. Amateria: amate is explained either daridryam, poverty, or astori, one who does not praise or worship.

I. Since Parcious Treasure is to an distributed by Three-Mehonasti two datam radhas, is explained by Sayana, manhaniyam dhanam treaya datavyum, praiseable wealth is to be given to thee: Yaska gives a like interpretation, but notices another interpretation of mehanasti, me ihu nasti, what is not in this world, or on this occasion, mine, Nirukta, IV. 4: the verse occurs, Samu Veda, I. 345, II. 523.

- 2. Gift of Unlimited Sustenance. Tasya akuparasya damme, in the giving of that unlimited food, annasya: Yaska would fill up the ellipse with danasya, gift: he explains akupara by durapara, or mahapara, having a distant or great opposite boundary, whence it is also an appellative of the sum and of the ocean: it also means a tortoise, one who does not go into a well, kupa: the verse occurs Sama-Veda, IL 523.
- BOUNTIFUL Ditsu, desiderative of da, desiring to give, an spithet of manas, mind or will: Benfey's text of the Samu reads dikshu, m. 524.

- The Showener Either of the Some juice, or the benefits derivable from offering it; but here is the usual misuse of prishe.
- ACCEPTER OF THE SPIRITLESS LIBATION. Rijishin: the possessor or ruler of the rijisha, which is here explained gatasira somerase, or that which has been offered at the morning and mid-day extensories, and of which the residue is now presented at the evening sacrifice.
- 5. SWARBHAND. Searbhanu is a name of Rahu, the personified ascending node, and the causer of an eclipse: he was a son of Kashyapa, by Danu, the mother of the Danaeas, or Asuras: Vishnu Pur. p. 147: another genealogy makes him the son of Viprachitti, by Sinhika, the sister of Hiranyahashipu, ibid., p. 148.
- BY HIS FOURTH SACRED PRAYER.—That is, by the four stanzas of this hymn, from the fifth to this eighth.

PAGE 220.

 DIVINITIES WHO ACCEPT PIOUS PRAISE.—According to the commentator, divinities are of two orders, those who share praises, stotrobhajak, and those who share oblations havirbhajak; the first is here alluded to:

RUDBA THE SHOWERER.—This last clause may be considered as applying especially to the Maruts as the sons of Rudra.

- The Celestial Destroyen of Life.—Disc asuroya is explained dyotamanaya pranapahartre, that is, to Rudra; and yajyave, yaga-sadhakaya: or Asura may be rendered pranadatri, the giver of life, when it will imply Surya or Vayu.
- TRITA -Or Trito may be an epithet of Vayu, the threefold, pervading the three regions of heaven, mid-air, and earth.

PAGE 221.

9: The Parvaras.—The clouds, according to the com-

In Liberal Donations.—Tuje nas-tune: tane is rendered by vistrite, expanded, and tuje by dane, gift, or tuje may mean son, and tane grandson.

ESTABLISHERS OF THE WORLD-LIKE HEROES.—Ye misure no virah, jagato susayitarah vira icu is the explanation of the Scholinst.

Accessible to All. Aptyo gajatah; according to Sayans, the first means aptacyah sorveih, to be obtained by all; the second, yajaniya, to be worshipped, that is, Aditya.

PROPERTIANED BY OUR PRAISE -Nah shansom abhishtau our praise in seeking or approaching; the want of a verb renders this somewhat doubtful.

 Earth-Perthizing Rain.—Vrishno bhomyasya garbham: bhunya, Sayana explains by, either suited to the earth or the firmament, bhumir-antariksham; in the latter case the embryo of the firmamental rain will mean Agri as the lightning, according to Saguna.

PAGE 222.

WITH HIS WITHERING RAYS.—Grinite Agni etari no shushaih; mayi gantari na kruthyati sukhakarai rashmibhih, who is not angry upon me when going with his agreeable rays; but this seems inconsistent with the sense given to the verb: shusha, drying up, would be more congruous.

 BRIGHT AS CITIES.—Puro no shubbra, purani iter dipta, shining like cities.

15. As a Protectness.—Varutri, asmad upadravavarayitri, what or who keeps off oppression upon us.

PAGE 223.

17. NIRRITI -See note on IV. L 3, 7.

19. ILA AND URVASHI.—Ilo may here be the earth, or the daughter of Manu, in the form of a cow, the mother of the herd, yuthasya mata; or the latter may be explained nirmatri, she who measures; or yutha may be applied to the company of the Maruts, when Ita, it is said, may be madhyamika each, middle, articulate or human speech; or the latter sense may be applied to Urvashi.

INVESTING THE WORSHIPPER WITH LIGHT — Abhyurnwana prabhritasya ayah: the latter, the commentator says, is to be read ayam, in the accusative, man, or the Yajamana: prabhrita, upon the authority of Yaska, Nirukta, II. 49, may mean either light, tejas, or water, udakam, and, being in the genitive, requires some such term as danena, by the pift of, to be supplied; or the ellipse may be filled up by yajaam, when the sentence will be, covering or protecting the sacrifics of the man making the offering.

20. URJAVYA.—Sishaktu na urjavyasya pushtek : urjavya is the name of a Raja; pushtek is for poshakasya, one who cherishes or patronizes: the nominative to the verb may be either Urvashi or IIa, or the Marudganah, the company of the Maruts.

3. The Most Propheric of the Prophers.—Kavitaman kavinam: kavi, as before observed, is usually explained kranta-darshi, a seer or shewer of the past, whence may be inferred the application of his knowledge to the future,

"Till old experience doth attain,"
To something of prophetic strain."

4. Yajur-Feda, 2. 15: there are one or two varieties of reading, but they are not of any importance.

 RIBHCKEHIN — Ribhukshin is usually considered to be a name of Indra, but here it implies Ribhu, whilst Purandhi is equivalent to Vibhu, making, with Vaja, the triad.

9. Put apart from the Sun: Surgul yavayance, make them separate condemn them to darkness.

Adversaries of Prayer.—Brahmadiceshtrin, Sayana says, may mean listers of Brahmans, or of mantras, that is, in the latter case, of the Vedas.

PAGE 226.

 The Milch Kine.—Dhemitch, according to Sayana, here means rivers, and the rest of the stanza harmonizes with his interpretation.

3. First Drink of this Sweet Juice.—The Scholiast states that Vaya's drinking first of the Some is repeatedly enjoined, asakrit propanchitam.

4. Some yields its Pure Juice.—The text has only shukram auchub, which is thus explained, so che unshub shukram nirmalam rasem dugdhe, and that Soun has mitked the pure juice; or Anshu may be an epithet of Adhunrya, the extensively present priest, anshur vyapto adhunryah.

PAGE 227.

- GNA Gna is a synonyme of stri, a woman, a wife :
  it commonly expresses the wife of a deity: here, Sayana sayx, it is a proper name, Gnam, etannamikam devatam.
  - 7. THE VESSEL-Gharma: see V. 2, 16, 15,
- 8. As the Bolt to the Axle of the Waggon. As the eart cannot move if the axle of the wheel is not fastened by the pin or bolt, so the offering of the Somo is without efficacy unless the Ashwinz be present.

Page 228.

- 12. Whose Back is Dank Blue.—That is, who is enveloped in smoke: from this and other attributes specified, and his presence in the sacrificial chamber, the Scholiast reasonably infers that Brihaspati is Agni, itsuli linguir-upy agnir-eva Brihaspatih.
- 13. Horns of There Colours, Tridhatu thringah, his flames of three colours, red, white, and black (or smoke).
  - 14. THE EXCELLENT PLACE.—That is, to the fire altar.
- As Proper Rub the Limbs, etc.—Sishum mirjanti ayaro na mee, gatha munushya shishum casaya mirjanti: they rub the infant has double application, to the first kindling of Agni by attrition, and to the new-born babe.
- 15. Jointly offer......Sacrificial Food.—Conformably to the text, Jayapati again adadhiyatam, let husband and wife worship or keep up Agai; the right of the wife to take part in fire-worship is laid down in the sixth chapter of the Mimansa.
  - 15. See verse 16 of the preceding Sukta.
  - 16. See verse 17 of the preceding Sukta.

- By such Prairies Thou Examples Him.—Or one year varibase may be applied to Indra, thou prosperent, Indra, by such prairies; this is Mahidhara's explanation, which differs in some other respects from that of Sayana, Yajur-Veda, 7, 12.
- 5. The whole of this verse is singularly obscure; it is literally, seizing with the trees the seized in the effined, the produce of the branching, in the embryos of the mind wellmoving, (or) well praised, among the speech holders, straightsung, thou shinest; augment the protectresses, the life in the sacrifice; it exhibits no little ingenuity in the Scholiast to have reduced this to any thing like intelligibility.

PAGE 230.

8. By the Sign of This Moving Revolution.—Asya yatunasya ketuna is the text; the explanation is karmano-dayadilakshanena, characterized by functions such as rising and the like.

HE ALSO ..... Acquires Abundant Reward. Ya u sucayam enhate so aram karat, he who, not urged by another, entertains of his own mind the hope of reward, he does much, or enough: atyartham karati is one explanation; another is, atyartham kuryat, let him do much, or enough: neither is very explicit.

 KSHATRA, MANASA, ETC.—These, according to the Scholinet, are the names of the Rishis.

PAGE 231

11. Swift is..... Incharation—Shyena asam aditih bakshyo madah: shyena is interpreted shighta, quick, and aditi, ntisumriddhah: asam, of these, implies the Soma juices; mada, intoxication, is the devota of the verse.

- 12. SADAPRINA, ETC.—Names of Rishis again-
- 14. The Ministrant Priest.—Sutambharo yajamanaya satpatië; the last, according to Sayana, is put for hotri; the first is the name of a Rishi; its etymological purport, the bearer or offerer of the libration, is possibly only a metaphorical personation, and, with the context, though mystically expressed, merely describes the effusion of the Soma.

PAGE 232.

 Ancient Author of Sacred Songs.—Mahimum janushe purviyaye, statinam atpadayitee pratnaya, to an ancient bogetter or producer of praises.

 VISHISHIPRA.—Manur-vizhishiprum jigaya: Manu conquered the enemy without a chin, or as shipru means also a nose, it might mean noscless: Sayana also says Indra and Vritra may be here intended.

By which the Merchant, etc.—Vanij-rankur apapurisham: the Scholinst says this allodes to the story of kukshican: see Vol. 1, p. 171, verse 11.

 Ten-Months Wosship.—Or, when the priests of both the nine and ten months rites offered worship; see Vol. 1, p. 276, note on I. H. 5, 4.

PAGE 233.

SARAMA.—Sarama, according to Sayana, may here signify either flowing, culogistic, or sacred speech, sharanashila staticupa cak, or, as usual, the bitch of Indra.

10. Surva has Ascended, etc.—Surve are at that is, the commentator says, he has become everywhere visible; but it looks very like an allusion to the sun's rising apparently out of the sea.

PAGE 234.

 Swar.—Swar is a name of Aditya according to both commentators, this and the preceding stanza occurring also in the Yajuah, 33, 48, 49.

PAGE 235.

 Rodasi — According to Yaska, she is the wife of Rudra: we have had her before as the bride of the Maruts, Vol. II, 1, 23, 3-5.

MAY THE GODDESSES PARTAKE. - Vyantu devik, may the goddesses cut, Nirukta, xII. 46.

The Season of the Wives of the Gods,—Ya ritur jaminam, that which is the time of the wives of the gods, that is, the goddesses presiding over it: yo decajayanam kalastadabhimana devyah

- Awakener of Her Daughter. Dubitur bodhayanti, bhumys bodham kurcana, making the awaking of the daughter, the comment says, of the earth: in a subsequent passage quoted by Sayana we have Ushas called divor dubita bhumnasya patui, the daughter of heaven, the bride of earth: also is most usually designated the daughter of heaven: see Vol. n. 1. 18. 4. 3.
- 3. MANY-TINTED AND PERVADING LUMINARY.—Prishnir ashma vichakrame rajaspatyantau, also Yajur-Veda, 17, 10, where, besides the explanation given by Sayana, as in the translation, Mahidhara takes the word ashma, rendered by him as by Sayana, vyapaka, or sarcatra vyapta, pervading; also in its usual sense of stone, aliming, he says, to a pashana, or stone, which in some ceremonies is placed in the Ahavaniya fire, and to it he applies the epithets that are, in the other interpretation, ascribed to Surya; Sayana probably refers to this when he intimates that ashma may also imply a simile, the term of comparison being dropped, luptopense va ashma sadvishah.

The Four Chief Priests.—The text has only chatesinh, four the comment supplies Ritrijah.

HIS THERE ELEMENTARY RAYS -Tridhatavo gavah, supposed to be the causes of cold, heat, and rain.

 (Bunold).—It may be rendered, also, men, look at the form which is to be seen; the text has no verb.

PAGE 236.

- 5. Here and There Sustain.—It is not very clear what is intended, but apparently the Scholiast understands it to mean that the firmament is amprorted or maintained in its place by the various changes of times and seasons which it may be considered to generate.
  - 1. This is addressed to Agni as the lightning.
- 2. THE DAWSS WHICH HAVE, ETC.—Apo, apachic apara apojati; the Scholinst renders apachih by pratinivrittamukhih, apara by agaminir-ushasah, and the verb by apachalayati, he causes to go away, he sends away future dawns with averted faces; the first apa is considered a pleanasm.

IMPROVES HIS UNDERSTANDING, ETC.—Pra purcubhistirate: pratirate is explained vardhayati was munisham, or swayam wirdhate.

PAGE 237.

4. As or a Depury.—Tam asya ritim parashor-ica: the text has no verb: the comment supplies pashyami, and interprets parashu by praticidhi, a deputy, a substitute: in like manner as a deputy fulfils the will of his master, so the functions of Agri make him the deputy or representative of the yajamana; or parashu may imply an axe, as usual, which accomplishes the object of the wood-cutter, as Agnidoes that of the sacrificer.

5. WE KNOW HIM NOT AS ENDOWED, ETC.—No tasya vidme purushatvata vayam: the Scholiast mays tasya is for tam, we do not know him, joined with or possessed of guktam, manliness, purushatvana, or the property of fulfilling desires.

1. DETRIBUTORS OF PERCIOUS WEALTH.—This function has been before assigned to Bhaga. Sukta XLVI, verse 6: he was there named Bhaga vibhakta explained dhananam vibhagakartta: here be is designated rateam vibhajantam: the Scholuszt first applies rateam to havish, the oblation; but he also says gajamanartham dhanam vibhajantam: see also Mandala iv. 17, 11, where he is called raya vibhakta.

3. Bestow Excellent Viands.—Adatraya dayate curyani: the first is explained adanigani, entables: the verb also, it is said, may be governed by Agni understood, when the phrase will mean, Agni consumes excellent consumable timbers, varaniyani kashthani dahate; in that case the other torms, usually proper names, will become epithets, meaning the nourishing, the desirable, the uninjurable Agni.

 PRESENTED VICTIMS TO THE VASUE.—Pra ye resubhya ivada namah; isad namah are interpreted gamananal annam, food having motion, that is, perhuatmakam, the same with animals.

1. Yajur-Veda, L 8.

2. We Skek to Unite with Our Desires, Te rayo. to his priche michemahi sachathysi, is not very perspicuous, and the explanation of Sayana, followed in the translation, does not materially improve it, to abhaye dhanena sachemahi, to hi to aparchaniyah sarraih kamaih sarquehchhemahi.

- Worshir, Therefore, etc.—Ato sa a aris atithis, atah patnir dashasyata; the verb may be differently interpreted, and the text imply, bestow upon us male descendants, guests, and wives.
- 4. Whence the Victim, Erc.—Yatra valuar abhibitak might mean, where the fire is placed, but Sayana interprets valua, yajnasya codha, the bearer of the sacrifice which, from the following epithet, drongs, fit for the tree, that is, for the yupa, or post to which the animal is tied, he concludes must mean pashs, the victim.

PAGE 239.

- LIKE A CLEVER WIFE.—Arna dhireva, aranakushala yoshidiva, like a woman skilful in going or in pleasing: the sense of arana is, however, doubtful.
- The Protecting Deities.—Umethih, rakshakath: we have had the umas before as a class of deities, sometimes identified with the Pitris: see Vol. II, note on III. 1, 6, 8.

PAGE 240.

- LIKE ATRI, DELIGHT IN THE LIBATION.—Atri may be also used for the sacrifice of the Rishi; delight as at the yajna of Atri.
- 11. MAY THE ASHWINS CONTRIBUTE TO OUR POSTERITY.

  The term in this and the following similar passages is always smusti-swasti no minitam ashwina, interpreted avinasham kshemam, imperishable prosperity, or, literally, well-being, welfare.
- 14. Path of the Firmament and Goddess of Riches. —Pathye, Revall, are considered as two proper names, Pathya that of a goddess presiding over the Antariksha, and Revall, of a goddess presiding over riches: it may be doubted if there is any better authority for these divinities than etymology.

PAGE 241.

- Kinsman.—Punardadata, aghnata, janata, with one who gives again, one who does not kill or harm, usually, one who loss not make an evil return to kindness, one who is grateful, although Sayana here explains it, one who does not inflict injury by long-suspended anger: janata, by one knowing, he says, is meant one who does not cut an old acquaintance, madigned-chirakalam gatah ko ayam iti sandcham akurcutu, by one who does not feel any doubt, saying, who is this of mine that has been long since gone away: to these designations, bandhujana, a kinsman, is to be applied, bandhujanena sangamemahi.
- THE MARUTS WHO ARE OF THE EARTH. Ye parthies, prithivisambaddhah, connected with the earth.

PAGE 343.

Urna vasata shundhyuvah, diptih shodhikah uchchhadayanti: purifiers they put on light: the last is perhaps a more correct form of the noun than sundhyuvah, as formerly given, Vol. II, p. 213, note on 4.

- 10. The Paries that Lead Us, etc.—The words so rendered are Apathagah, Vipathagah, Antaspathah, Anupathah, which may also be considered as the proper names of these four orders of the Maruts.
- 11. They Uphold the Distant Objects.—The text has only adha paravatah, the latter being formed from paravat, duradeshah, a distant place or country, tat sumbandhinah being in relation to it; that is, according to Sayana, the winds being in the firmament give support to the distant stars and planets.

12. A Well for Gotama. See vol. 1, p. 127, verse II

 LIKE & FRIEND.—Militam on may also be rendered adityom ion, like the sun.

PAGE 243.

- 16. Seven Times Seven.—According to another text, there are seven troops of the Maruts, each consisting of seven, making up the usual number of forty-nine, suggesting, most probably, rather than suggested by, the absurd legend given in the Paranas, Vishue Pur. 101.
- 17. Upon the Banks of the Yamuna, -Yamunayam adki shrutam radko guvyam is rather a remarkable passage, as if an allusion were intended to Gokula, the scene of Krishna's boyhood.

PAGE 244.

- 3. Formerss Areparah, alepa, may meen intangible.
- 4. In Bracelets.—Khadishu; in a former passage khadi was interpreted hasta transka, a guard for the hand or arm, Vol. II, p. 87, verse 3; it is here rendered hastapadasthita katahah, rings for the hands or feet, bracelets or anklets.
- RABA, ANTTABHA. KUBHA.—Names of rivers, according to the comment.

THE WIDE ROVING OCEAN.—Kramuk sindhuh is explained surgetra kramanah samudra, the everywhere-going ocean.

PAGE 245.

- 13. IMPERISHABLE GRAIN-SEED.—Dhangom bijam obshitam: unperishing grain-seed is the literal interpretation: perhaps a copulative is required, grain and seed, only, in fact, the grain is the seed.
- To WHOM SOLEMS RIVES ARE FAMILIAR.—Prishthayajoane; by whom the sacrifices called Prishtha are made; these are said to be six, of which two only are specified by the Scholiust, Rathantara and Brihat Shatprishthaih Rathantarabrihadadibhir ijanaya.

PAGE 246.

B. This Wide-extended Earth—Procedurit prithici: a set of changes is here rung upon the double compound, pra-cut, having extent, extension, and cut, again, having or possessing, pracadent, extensive, or it may imply, having pre-eminence, as indicated by pra, pra: another meaning is also given to it, tat-pura, being subject to it, as the earth is subject to the Maruts, or they pervade the whole earth, tritsuum bhumim eyapaneants: so the heaven is pracadents, spacious, or subject to the pravats, pravadbhyah, the pre-eminent or spreading Maruts, and so on.

PAGE 247.

- 10. LEADERS OF THE UNIVERSE. Saurannah is interpreted survasya neturah, leaders of all; divo narah, isaders of heaven, follows.
- 11. Golden Tiaras are Towering on Your Heads— Shiprah shirshasu vitata hirangayayih: shipra is explained uzhnishamayyah, composed of turbuns or head-dresses,
- 12 AND STIR THE BRIGHT WATER. Rushot pippulam, shubbracarnam udakam, or it may be applied to nakam, the heaven of bright water, the firmament.

You UTTRE A LOUD SHOUT.—The text changes the person of the verb, yat succenti ghoshum, when they sound a noise; and this suggests to the Scholiast to propose other explanations, as when they, the Amras, make a fearful noise, or when the worshippers after loud praises.

13. Tishva — Tishya is said by Sayana to be a synonyme of Adding: in its ordinary acceptation it is the eighth lunar mansion: the appropriation is of some interest, as affording evidence of the existence of the astronomical divisions of the moon's path in the days of the Veda.

14. The Sage Learned in the Sama Samuriprom, samman rividham prerayitaram, the prompter or instigator, in various ways, of the Sama hymns.

PAGE 250.

- 3. As the People of the Easth, etc.—Milhushmative prithivi parahata is explained probalasuamika prithivi parair-anymir abhibhuta, the earth having a powerful master when oppressed by others: earth, says Sayana, is put for its inhabitants, praja, people or subjects, who, when oppressed, have recourse to their own ruler, sa yatka successminum upadruta abhigachchhats.
- Like Horses.—The text has gazak, which the Scholinst translates by askwok, horses.
- LIKE A HEAP OF WATERS.—Garam sargam is a may be also rendered, like a herd of cattle.
- 8. Romast.—The wife of Rudra, and mother of the
- THE RAIN-BESTOWING GODDESS.—Milhushi is considered to be another name of Rodasi, the wife of Midheat, an appellation of Rudra.

PAGE 251.

1. The comparison is very elliptically intimated, and requires to be largely assisted by the comment: it is, literally, this our praise is addressed to you as to the thirsty, from heaven, rushing waters to the water-wishing: Sayana explains it as alluding to the legend of the well brought by the Marute to Gotama when suffering from thirst: see Vol. 1, p. 127.

PAGE 252.

- 8. Worshipped with Copious Oblations. Britat ukshamanah may also mean sprinkling much water, udakam sinchantah.
- Modelled by Vibbus, a skilful artist; fabricated by him, implies, according to the comment, very perfect or handsome, tena nirmitam atyartharupavantam.

PAGE 253.

- 6. MAY EMIT a DOWNWARD SOUND.—Accorigo vrishabhah krandatu dyauh: dyaur—crishabhah, mean, it is said, the shining showerer, that is, Parjanya, or Indra, in that capacity, usriyah, in connection with the usra or rays of the sun, acakrandata, acanmukham shabdayata, may sound with his face turned downwards, vrishtyartham, for the sake of rain.
- THEIR PERSPIRATION.—Swedam swedasthaniyam varsham, rain in place of perspiration.
- Worshipped with Copious Oblations —Repeated from the last verse of the preceding Sukta.
- The Priest.—Spash, nom. spat, for sprashta, one who touches the oblation, or the fire, an unusual term for the Hotri.

PAGE 254.

7. Both Gors and Mortals.—The text has only ubhaye yatha width, as both know: Sayana explains it, men of course know by perception the setting in of the rains; the gods know it by the agrayana and other sacrifices which are offered at that season.

PAGE 256.

V. 5. 5. (INTRODUCTORY NOTE), A WONDERFUL OLD STORY.—Soyana calls it, ashcharyam purawrittam ahuragamaparagah, those who have gone through the agamas have related a wonderful old occurrence.

PAGE 257.

 Though a Female.—Uto the stri Shashiyasi: tea is said here to mean eka, one which is equivalent to the indefinite article.

PAGE 258.

 HES OTHER HALF — Nemah is the term in the text, meaning, literally, half as it is said in the Smriti, ardham sharirasya bharya, a wife is the half of the body (of the husband);

PAGE 259.

 DARBHYA.—The patronymic is also read in some places Dalbhyo.

On Night.—Upon concluding the praises of the Maruts, and thus having strained the rank of a Rishi. Shyavashwa summons the night, here called Urneys, to convey the intelligence to Rathaviti, who gives him his daughter, with many valuable presents, but at the end of the retemony the Rishi departed for the woods to resume his austerities; it is not said if he took his wife with him, but it is to be so inferred.

- 19. Gomati Riven.—Gomatih, according to the comment, means, having water, rivers, being in the plural; as the name of a river it would be the Gomati river in Onde, which rises in the skirts of the first range of the Himalays; or it may be a river of the same appellation more to the northwest, rising in Kuin, a leesler of the Beyah or Vyasa.
- I HAVE BEHRLD..... OF THE SUN—See Vol. 1.
   p. 178, verse I.

His STERDS.—Which are said to be attempted to be detained by a class of Asuras termed Mandehaz.

Most Excellent of the Embotico Forms of the Gods.—Decomm shreshtham capusham is also explained the best of the embodied or light-possessing deities, that is, of Agni and others, decomm capushmatam tejorulam agregadinam prashasyam; or it may apply to the sun only, the mandala, the orb, the visible form, as it were, of the sun, mandalam his varyasya capusthaniyam.

2. The ONE Charlot of You Two Goes Round-Vam ckah pavir a manata: post is the siremaference of a wheel, put by metonymy for the chariot; as Sayana explains the phrase, uneagor cke rathe anakramanena parithramate.

PAGE 260.

5. AUGMENTING THE WELL-KNOWS AND AMPLE FORM.

Skrutam amatim annuvaridhad-urvim, which the Scholiust interprets, vishrutam shariradiptim annuvaridhagantau, augmenting the renowned bodily lustre, and separates arvim, tad void urvim pulsyantau, but gives no equivalent for the word, which usually means great: the passage is obscure.

ASCEND YOUR CAR, ETC.—Garte mitro usathe: garta, it is said here means ratha, a car: Nirukta, 3, 5, and as it recurs in verse S, archatho Varuna, Mitra, gartam.

- 6. Mansios of a Thousand Columns.—Kshaham sahasrashhuam, unckaushtambhakastambhapetam saudhadirupam griham, a house, such as a palace and the like, possessing many supporting pillars; the expression is noticeable as indicating the existence of stately edifices: Sayana purposes also to render kshaham by dhanam, wealth, or balam, strength, applying the last to the ratha, the strong chariot of the deities supported by innumerable columns.
- 8. Atash chakshathe aditim ditim cha, is explained, aditim, akhandaniyam blumim, the indivisible earth, and ditim, khandaniyam prajadikam, the divisible people and the test; the starm occurs in the Yajush, 10, 15, with a various reading of the first half; but Makidhara explains additim by adinam, not base, that is, vihitanushthataram, one who follows what is prescribed, that is, performs his religious duties, and ditim by dinam, base, or nastikavrittam, an infidel; the phrase meaning that Mitra and Varuna observe that this man is a sinner, that man righteous, ayam papi, ayam punyawan.

PAGE 261.

- Your Forms Thaverse Earth and Heaven.— Vam tangavah, vistrita rashmayah, the expanding rays.
- 3. By the Power of the Emitter of Showers.— Asurasya mayaya is explained udaka nirasituh parjanyasya samarthyena, by the power of Parjanya, the caster-forth of water, influenced by Mitra and Varuna as the deities presiding over day and night

PAGE 262.

See Vol. I, p. 132, verse 1.

PAGE 263.

- WITH RAPID STEEDS.—Hastibhih podbhih, literally, with hands, with feet, that is, according to the Scholiast, with those having four feet, that is, with horses.
- THE CHILDREN OF VARUNA.—Varunashesharah: shesha is said to mean apatya, offspring.

PAGE 264:

 VARUNA, WHOSE FORM IS WATER. - Variety ritaperhase, inlakam eva rupam yasya, of whom the form is verily water.

PAGE 265.

Even of the Sinner.—Anhaschit, papine api, even of the sinner; Sayana adds swastotuh, of your own praiser, but it may be doubted if this qualification is necessary.

V. 5. 12.—All the verses of this Sukta occur in the Sama-

Veda, IL 493, 494, 495, and 818, 819,

4. They Favour the Zralous Worshipper.—Ritam ritera sapanta ishiram daksham ashate is explained adakena nimittena yajnam sprishantau cahanavantam prawiddham yajamanam havis en vyapnutah, they two, for the sake of water, touching or affecting the sacrifice, they pervade the inquiring, powerful institutor of the rite, they reward him: or it may be, they pervade or accept the efficacious, adequate oblation.

PAGE 266.

- Augmenting the Force of the Vigorous Indra.
   Vavridhanan amatim kshatriyanya: amati is usually rendered form, rupa; kshatriyanya the Scholiast explains: possessed of strength, kshatram, balam, an attribute, and here an appellative of Indra; or it may mean, he says, the kshatriya; or military caste.
- STAND SEVERALLY IN THEIR THREE SPHERES -Agni, Vayu, and Aditya, present, severally, upon the earth, in the mid-air, and in heaven.
  - FOR PROSPERTY AND HAPPINESS.—The text is show yoh, which is explained arishtashamanaya, sukhasya mishranayo cha, for the alleviation or prevention of calamity, and for the mixture or association of happiness.
    - 3. Sama-Veda, 11. 335-337.

PAGE 268.

3. You have Arrested One Luminous Wheel, etc.— Irmu anyad capushe vapush-chakram rathasya yemathuh : the passage is obscure, even with the aid of the Scholiast: irms he renders, rupus, form, rupushe, adityasya shohkayai, for the beauty or listre of the sun; supus, he considers equivalent to capushmat, having light or listre, luminous, as an epithet of chakram: the fixing of one wheel of the ear of the Ashwins has been alluded to before; see Vol. 1, page 40, vecse 19.

THE AGES OF MANKIND, —Naturato yang is the derivative of habitche, manuskye, man; yang for yangani, is explained as used by metonymy for the divisions of time in general, as morning, noon, night, or the sacrifices offered at stated periods.

- RESPLENDENT RAYS OF LIGHT ENCOMPASS YOU.— Pari vam anusha vayo ghrina varanta atapah may also be rendered, according to Sayana, the radiant horses, cayah, ashwah, ghrina, bright, scorchers, atapah, of enemies, accompany you.
  - See Vol. 1, p. 170, verse 7, and p. 180, verse 8, PAGE 269.

 MIXEUS OF THE SOMA JUNCE.—Madhugurah, somader mishrayidarau, mixers, or causers of the mixing of Soma and other things.

- DESCENDED......UPON THE EARTH.—Kushthah, the singular used for the dual, bhumau tishthantau, being upon the earth; or ku may be equivalent to kwa, where, where are you two abiding?
- 4. PAURA.—Pauram chid udaprutam, paura pauraya jinerathah: the name of the Rishi is here, according to the Scholiast, arbitrarily applied, first to the Ashwins, because they are in relation with Paura as the author of the Sukta; and although the text gives Paura in the vocative singular, it is to be understood in the dual, Paura, therefore, being Ashurins: next it implies, as Paurem, a cloud, from its being solicited by the Riski for the fall of rain, as implied by the last term, Pauraya, to me the Riski so called.

4. As..... A LION IN A FOREST.—Sinham is druhaspade: the latter is rendered a place of difficult access, a thicker: the comment supplies, for the government of the accusative, yatha balad chyanayanti shurah, as heroes hard down a lion by their strength.

PAGE 270.

- See Vol. 1, p. 180, verse 10 and note.
- 8. Angusho martyezhu, yujamanezhu, madhye stutyah, to be praised amongst worshippers, or augusha may be a substantive meaning starce or stoma, praise, may the praise of the ear of the Ashwins amongst men, or by the priests, be beneficial to us, asmoyuh.
- Vascir u shu com bhujah princhanti su cam pricha, is explained as in the text, cassir bhujah being rendered by prashasyani dhanani havirlakshanani, excellent riches, characterized by the oblation, that is, sacrificial offerings, and princhanti by propuwanti, obtain or reach being prichah, yucum proptum kamayamanah, desiring to reach you; Sayana suggests also another explanation; the worshippers, su prichah, who enjoy massir-bhujah, wealth of sacrificial offerings, bring them into due contact with you, sum sushthe samparchayanti.
- MASTERS OF MYSTIC LORE, HEAR MY INVOCATION— Madhei mama shautam havam: the first is explained, madhevidga veditaran: see Vol. 1, I. 17, 1, 12 and note: the verse occurs twice in the Sama-Veda, 1, 118, 11 1093.

PAGE 271.

- This and the preceding occur in the Sama-Veda, II.
   1094-95
- Distinguished, Devoted, Embodied (Adores).— The epithets are unusual, kakuha, mriga, sapusha, explained severally by the commentator, mahan, great, mrigayita, searcher, sapushman, having body, yajamana is understood.
- BLAZING WITH THE OBLATION.—Rushet pashs might mean blazing with the victim; but the Scholiast inteprets pashs here either by rashmi, a ray, or havish, oblation.

PAGE 273.

Agai Lights of the Face of the Dawns.—Abhati agair-ushasam anikam: the latter is interpreted mukham, or the verse may be rendered. Agai, the face or beginning of the dawns, shines.

Come Hither To-day to the Erc.—Pipicansam gharmam achehha, that is, according to the Scholiast, meangaik parivridham pradiptam gapuam, to the bright sacrifice, vast or developed with all its members; or pipicansam may imply appayitam, neurished, with the Soma Juice or with clarified butter; gharma, again, may also mean the vessel so called, or the Pravargya ceremony, at which it is used, being fed or nourished, pipicansam, with the butter and curds it contains.

- With Protection against Destitution,—Asses agamishtha pratyavartim: varti, it is said, means jivanum, living or livelihood; avarti, the contrary, the want of it.
- WHETHER YOU COME, ETC.—The day is divisible into two, three, five, or fifteen parts: here the five-fold distinction is alluded to: udita surgasya is explained the afternoon, atyanta pravriddhasamayah aparahus ityarthah.

The Drinking of the Some.... Ashwins.—Nedanine pitir ashwina tatana: it is related that the other gods refused to admit the participation of the Ashwins in the Some libration at these hours, but on the present occasion they are not passed over: idanim api itaradevanam panam na tanotyashwinam wihaya, but now the drinking of the other gods does not extend, having omitted the two Ashwins.

PAGE 273.

- The Archert Sages Karoyah purvubhajah: kari is said to mean one learned in the Vedas, on the authority of the Aitarcya Brahmana, ye va anuchanas-te kavayah, those who are anuchanas are kavis, and anuchana is explained in the commentary on the same work, shadangasahita vedadhyoyinah, students of the Vedas with the six supplements.
- The Evening is not for the Gods.—Conformably to another text, purvalence and decamin, the forenoon verily in for the gods.

PAGE 271.

- Swans.—The honsa, the swan or goose, is supposed to be a connoisseur in pure water.
- 2. Like Two Wild Cattle.—Like two Gauss, Box Gorgue.
- PIRE OF CHART.—See Vol. 1, p. 180, verse 8: the fire is here called ribisam, tushagnim, a fire of chaff.
- 5. Ancient chroniclers, puravidah, says Sayana, tell this story; the sons of the brothers of Saptandhri being determined (it is not stated why) to prevent his having intercourse with his wife, shut him up every night in a large basket, which they looked and scaled, letting him out in the morning; in this dilemms the Rishi prayed to the Ashwins, who came to his succour, and enabled him to get out of his cage during the night, he returning to it at day-break: in this stanze he first addresses the basket, petika, as a form of Vanaspati, lord of forests, and then invokes the Ashwins.

This verse, somewhat modified, occurs in the Yajush, 98.

This and the two stanzes preceding are termed by Sagana the gurbhashravingupanishad, the liturgy of child-birth.

PAGE 275.

- Sama-Veda, I. 421, II. 1090; the concluding phrase is the burden of the following verses, sujate, asheasunrite: sujate, well-born, is explained shobhanapradur bhute, becoming manifest with splendour or light: asheasunrite, she whose praise for the sake of horses is affectionate and true, asheartha prigasatyatmika stutivag-yasyah sa.
  - Sama-Veda, H 1091, 1092.
- 5. These Thy Assembled Worshippers.—Yach chid hite guns ine chiadoganti maghattage, parichid vashtago dadhur dadato radho ahrayam: Sayana seems rather dubious as to the proper sense of several of these words: maghattage may mean dhanadanaya or dhanacattuaya, for giving or for possessing wealth: pari chid vashtago dadhuh is explained, asman coa kamayamanah parito dharayanti, desirous of or being kind to us, they support us every way, and dadato radho ahrayam may mean giving wealth that is not to be wasted or taken away, or of which there is no need to be ashamed: the sum of the meaning, agreeably to the Scholinst, is, all they who, offering oblations, worship the dawn, receive the reward for the benefit of us, or of me, that is, of the author of the hymn, ge tunn havir-dadatah stavanti to suree apy-asmadartham phalam dharayanti.

PAGE 277.

- 1. The verse occurs in the Yajush, 5, 14, and a there somewhat differently explained; viprasus bribate eipashchitah, which Sayusus regards as epithets of Savitri, are connected by Mahidhara, with vipra, and are rendered the priests of the eminent and wise (institutor of the rite); again, in the second hemistich it is not clear whom the commentator understands by eko cayunavid, the only one, knowing knowledge, although he possibly concurs with our Scholiast in identifying Savitri with Brahme.
- 2. Savithe Companies All Forms in Himself.— Vishwa rupani pratimunchate, he liberates, severally, all forms; that is, according to Sayana, atmani badhauti or dharayati he binds or holds in himself: Mahidhara, Yajur-Veda, 13-3, explains it, he makes all forms manifest in their own substance, by removing darkness.

Has Illumed the Heaves.—Nakam eyakhyat, swargam prakashayati, he makes manifest Swarge as the reward of the Yajamana.

3: Yayush, 11. 6: sa etashah sunitri: Sayuna explains sunitah by etavaruah shubhrah, shubhamana, white-coloured, bright, shining: Mahidhara resolves it into etad, this, this world, and shets, who reposes it, who pervades; or, as etasha ordinarily means a horse, Nighanta, 1, 14, it may be intended to designate the sun under that form.

PAGE 278.

- 4. Sunya.—According to Sayana, Santri is especially the sun before rising; Surya is the sun in general.
- ENJOYABLE WEALTH.—The text has bhojanam, most usually food, but it is here explained bhoggum, to be enjoyed, that is, dhanam wealth.

- That Savitri Who is Braga.—So Savita Bhaga: or the latter may be an attributive, bhajaniya, to be worshipped, or shared, or desired.
- Drive Away Evil Dreams —Para dulahwapnyam sum: Sayana considers the second equivalent to darideyam, poverty: the verse occurs in the Sama-Veda, I. 141.
- That which is Good,—Bhadram, progeny, cattle, dwelling, as by the text, praja.vai, bhadram, pashave bhadram, griham bhadram iti.
- 6. To the Will of the Divine Savieri.—Devasya savituh save; the last is explained by the Scholiast anujuayam satyam, his will or assent existing; Addit is said to mean here blumi, the earth.

PAGE 279.

- 7 ALL THE GODS. Vishwadevam, as by the text, Tam hi sarvatmaticad Indram, Mitram, Varunam, Agnim ahuh, they have verily called him Indra, etc., from his identity with all.
- 1. Paranya.—Parjunya is Indra in his character of the sender of rain: Sayana cites Yaska, Nirukta, 10, 10, for various fanciful etymologies, as par, derived from trip, to satisfy, by revaring the final consonant of the latter, and rejecting its initial, janga may imply either victor, jeta, or generator, janayita, or impeller, prarjayita, of fluids, rasanam: the usual Unadi derivation is quite as probable, which refers it to vrish, to rain, p being substituted for u, ri becoming the guma, ar, and sh being changed to j, anya is the affix.
- 3. THE MESSENGER OF WAR.—The text has only duton, which the Scholiast interprets bhatan, warriors.

PAGE 280.

 DROPS OF THE RAINY CHARGER. Vishoo ashmusya: Sayana, however, explains the latter vyapukasya, of the pervading rain.

9. DESTROYEST THE WICKED CLOUDS.—Hanes dushkritah, the wicked, here means, according to the Scholiast, the clouds not yielding their water.

 Parthivi.—According to Sayana, Prithivi may here admit a two-fold meaning, and apply also to the antariksham, or firmament, when the subsequent phrases, parcatanam khidram bibharshi, will mean, thou sustainest the fracture, or opening of the clouds, and maken jinoshi bhumim, thou delightest the earth with great or abundant rain.

PAGE 281.

 FIRMAMENT AS A BED FOR THE SUN.—See Vol. i, p. 30, v. 8 and note.

 He has placed Fire in the Waters — Either the lightning amidst the rain, or the submarine fire; the Yajush, L. 31, reads vikshu for apmi, he placed in people, or human beings, digestive fire.

Some Plant in the Mountain.—Some adrau: the Some creeper, Makidhara observes, grows in the clefts of the stones of mountains, paratanam paskanasandhishu somacallya utpadyamanatwat.

3. As the Rain Bedews the Babley.—Yavam no crishtir, equaliti bhuma: Sayana is disposed to render swichts by sekta, the sprinkler, the man, puman, who waters the soil, but this does not seem necessary, and it is not so explained in the Nirukta, 10. 4-

PAGE 282.

 But these wonderful acts, according to Sayana, are not the acts of Varuna, but of Paramerhavara, the Supreme Being, from his existing in the forms of Varusa and others, karma Parameshwarasyaiwa uchitam na Varusasya, tasya Varusadirupawashanat.

A BENEFACTOR, A FRIEND. Aryamyam mirryom.
 according to Sayana, are the same as Aryaman and Mitra, the final ya being pleonastic; the first he explains by datri.

a giver, or by gure, a spiritual preceptor.

A Dumn Max.—Varumaranam va: the Pada separates the word into Varuma and Aranam: the meaning of the latter is somewhat uncertain: Sayana explains it as ashabdam, not having sound or speech, or as adataram, not giving, niggardly; but neither is quite satisfactory.

- As Terra Confutes the Words of His Opponents.—Vanir-im Trital: the comment explains this, Trita rishi prativadavakpuni prabhicatti, as the Rishi Trita breaks or refutes controversial arguments; or Trita may mean Agni, who, in the three regions, disregards or dissipates represelves.
- The Five Classes of Mes. Panche charabanih: this precludes all allusion to mythological beings.

PAGE 285.

- Like Two Adiryas. Ansers: ansa is the name of one of the twelve Adiryas, here put in the dual, ansa ica, for any two.
- Like the Soma Juice Expressed. Ghritam no pular adribbib; mention of the stones restricts the sense of ghritam to the Soma efficien.
- V. 6. 15.—This Sukto is more than ordinarily obscure, abounding in unusual words, and unconnected and ungrainmatical constructions; thus the name of the Richi. Evapumerut, remains unaltered in its case termination, whatever may be its syntactical connection with the rost of the sentence; this possibly has led Professor Benfey to regard it as an opithet of the Marute in the vocative singular, and to translate it sturmvoll Marut, but this would not get quit of the grammatical incompatibility, as the Marute are always designated in the plural, except when spoken of as a game, a troop or company; moreover, there is no authority for giving to Benya the sense of stormy; Sayana is sufficiently explicit, and he only follows the Anukramani, Suktam Benyamarutakhyasya Atreyasya Munerarsham, the Sukta has for its Rishi the muni of the race of Atri, who is named Evayamarut.

- 1. Vishnu Attended by the Maruts.—Vishnove Marutoute; vishnove is considered by the Scholinst us the adjective to the pervading, vyaptaya, that is, Indra, of whom Maratest is a usual designation: he admits, however, as an alternative, Vishnove va. or to Vishno; also Same-Veda, 1.462
- 3. In Whose Dwelling them is, etc.—No yeshum irisulhashe ishte is explained by Sayana, Marutan swakiye nicase tishtatom prerita no ishte on ishte chalarytum, there is no impeller who has power to cause the movement of the Maruts when abiding in their own abode.

THEFELERS OF THE RIVERS.—That is, the lightning, as associated with rain, may be considered as giving impulse to the rivers.
